GERMAN REPLY FRIENDLY, BUT AMOUNTS TO REFUSAL

Declares England Has Made Blockade Necessary—Wants Neutrals To Protest

SUGGESTS THAT U.S. WARSHIPS CONVOY BOATS

Intimates Neutral Countries Have Been More Prompt To Protest To Her Than To England

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Feb. 18.—The reply of Germany to the protest of the United States against a blockade of British waters is couched in the most friendly terms, but firmly maintains the position of Germany as already announced. The answer which is a lengthy document was converted into code at the United States embassy under the direction of Ambassador Gerard and has been transmitted in full to Washington.

The note explains that German's proposed action is rendered necessary by Great Britain's policy of attempting to cut off the food supply for the German civilian population by a method never recognized in international law. England's course in ordering merchantment to fly neutral flags equipping them with artillery with orders to destroy submarines, the German reply contends, renders nugatory the right of search, thus giving Germany the right to attack English shipping.

Germany holds that she cannot abandon that right under the stress which England has forced on her since Germany must compel the nations with which she is at war to return to the recognized principles of international law and restore the freedom of seas, she argues that the stand she takes is necessary. The note recommends that the United States send warships to England to convoy merchant vessels through the danger zone as security against attack with the understanding that the vessels thus guarded shall carry no war supplies.

Urges Pressure on England.
Hope is expressed that the American government will understand the position in which Germany has been placed and appreciate the reason for its course. The reply closes with an expression of the hope that the United States may prevail upon Great Britain to return to the principles of international law recognized prior to the outbreak of the war and in particular obtain the observance of the London declaration by belligerents opposing to neutrals.

If this were done, the German note explains, Germany would be enabled to import food supplies and raw materials. Germany would recognize in this an invaluable service toward a more humane conduct of the war which is in accordance with the new situation thus created. The note says:

"The procedure announced by the German admiralty which was fully explained in the note of the fourth instant is in no way directed against legitimate commerce and legitimate shipping of neutrals, but represents a measure of self-defense imposed on Germany by her vital interests against England's methods of warfare which is contrary to international law and which so far no protest by neutrals has succeeded in bringing back to the generally recognized principles of law as existing before the outbreak of the war."

Neutrals Attitude Criticized.
"Neutrals have been unable to prevent the interruption of their commerce with Germany, which is contrary to international law. Germany is as good as cut off from her overseas supply by the silent or protesting toleration of neutrals not only in regard to such goods as are only conditional contraband but as to such as are not contraband at all. Great Britain on the other hand is with the toleration of neutral governments not only supplied with such as are not contraband or only conditional contraband, but with goods as are regarded by Great Britain, if sent to Germany, as absolute contraband."

BATTLE AT MOUNT VYSCHKOFF

German Attacks Said To Have Been Repulsed and Large Number Taken Prisoners

By Associated Press.
Petrograd, Feb. 18.—The general staff of the Russian army issues the following communication:
"On the right bank of the Vistula the fighting has been going on in almost the same localities with great ferocity in certain sections. In the region of Nieman river we have found only patrols of the enemy. On the left bank of the Vistula there has been no change. In Galicia we repulsed an attack on the Khavze-Vikortsch front, with great losses to the enemy. Further to the east the enemy endeavored to attack us in the region of Louvoustouenne but without success. In repelling this attack we made prisoners of ten officers and 1400 soldiers and captured three guns."
"On the front from Kosonaska to Mount Vyschkoff the Germans delivered a series of determined spirited attacks, forcing themselves vigorously in the direction of Mount Vyschkoff. All these advances were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy. Almost an entire battalion was put to the bayonet. The rest of the Germans were made prisoners. There is no change in Bukovina."

Gains in Champagne, at Perthes and at Milancourt Are Claimed in Report

By Associated Press.
Paris, Feb. 18.—The French official statement reads:
"From the sea to the Oise nothing was confirmed last night. It has been confirmed that the successful surprise movement which made us master of the lines of German trenches to the north of Arras, northwest of Rollincourt inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. We captured a bomb thrower and several hundred bombs."
"In Champagne in the region of Perthes, all the territory conquered by us yesterday and the day before has been retained. Among the numerous prisoners made by us February 16 and 17 were officers and men of the Sixth and Eighth corps of the active army and of the Eighth, Tenth and Twelfth regiments of the reserve army. In the Argonne we have also maintained the advances we won in the forest of Lagurvie."

"We have made an advance of about 400 yards to the north of Milancourt and we have made almost as much at a point to the south of the forest of Deforeges. All these gains have been retained by us. From the forest to the Vosges there is nothing to report."

CHARGE AGAINST HENRIETTA PRIEST

REV. FATHER KLINE IS ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT ALLEGING ARSON

FOLLOWS SCHOOL HOUSE FIRE

Building Owned By Him Destroyed In October—Deputy State Fire Marshal Is Complainant

Special to The Times.
Henrietta, Texas, Feb. 18.—Rev. Philip J. Kline for the past three years priest at the Catholic church here, has been bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $1000, following his arrest on a charge of arson. The complaint was filed by P. H. Pennington, deputy state fire marshal, following an investigation by the latter into the burning of the old school building in this city on October 9, 1914.

Father Kline has made no statement since his arrest. During the investigation he made a sworn statement covering his movements on the day of the fire.

Two Attempts Made.
There were two attempts to burn the building, the first being made on October 5. This fire was discovered and extinguished before making much headway. When it caught fire the second time, at seven o'clock in the evening of October 9, it burned very quickly.

Following the fire an investigation was instituted by the insuring company and the deputy fire marshal made three trips here to investigate. On his third trip he filed the complaint. The priest's case will await the action of the grand jury, which convenes April 29.

Father Kline easily made bond and was promptly released. The affair has caused considerable excitement here. Father Kline is one of the best known members of the Catholic clergy in Northwest Texas and his friends have announced their determination to stand firmly by him in his trouble.

SYRIAN REFUGEES BROUGHT TO EGYPT

AMERICAN CRUISER TENNESSEE BRINGS LARGE NUMBER OF ISRAELITES

FALSE REPORTS OF VICTORY

Turks Publish Claims of Sweeping Successes—No Atrocities But Many Persons Maltreated

By Associated Press.
Alexandria, Egypt, Feb. 18.—Passengers by the American cruiser Tennessee which has been bringing refugees from the coast of Syria to Egypt are authority for the statement that while no actual atrocities have been committed by the Turks in Syria a number of persons have been maltreated.

The population of Syria, although fanatical, is remaining calm. The Tennessee arrived here yesterday from the Syrian coast. Reports of a great Turkish victory in Egypt printed in letters of gold have been posted in Jaffa. The people have been told that Jerusalem and Suez have been occupied by the Turks who are now marching on Cairo. Graphic descriptions of the alleged sinking of several British cruisers in the Suez Canal caused the greatest jubilation. The Turkish casualties in these engagements were given as ten men killed and 25 wounded. There was great rejoicing also at Jerusalem.

Purpose of Egyptian Campaign.
Nationalists of the entente powers were insulted by the populace and compelled to remain indoors. It appears, according to information brought by refugees on the Tennessee that while the Porte was anxious to attack Egypt the Germans desired merely to menace the British and compel them to hold troops in Egypt. The Germans who participated in the fighting still speak of the hardships of the trip across the desert and some of them expressed the opinion that Turkish success was impossible. It is said there were 600 German officers and men in the Turkish army, which undertook the expedition to Egypt. This army consists of 7,000 well trained Anatolians with a number of Arabs and Bedouins.

All the refugees on the Tennessee were Israelites no Christians being allowed to leave.

REPUBLICANS NOT RELAXING

Would Continue Their Filibuster If Such a Course Were To Be Decided Upon

By Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 18.—One basis on which leaders were negotiating today on the ship bill was a proposal to send it to conference for ten days, work on the thirteen pending appropriation bills in the meantime and then debate the ship bill for the remaining hour of the session. Republicans show no indication to relax their filibuster if that plan is followed.

WILSON UNDERSTOOD NOT TO FAVOR EXTRA SESSION

Fate of Ship Bill Will Be Decided at This Session, It Is Now Believed

By Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 18.—President Wilson virtually has decided not to call an extra session of Congress no matter what the fate of the ship bill is. No official announcement has been made but in congressional quarters his intention is well understood.

ENGLAND NOW AWAITING RESULT OF GERMAN DECREE

Effects Of Blockade Now In Force To Be Seen—Shippers Profess To Feel No Alarm

MERCHANTMEN MAY TAKE OFFENSIVE MEASURES

Heavy Russian Losses In East Prussia Conceded, But Germany Not Credited With Great Victory

By Associated Press.
London, Feb. 18.—The blockade of the United Kingdom by Germany is on. With the dawn of February 18 there went into effect the German notice warning neutral shipping to avoid British waters; what will be the effect of this declaration will take a day or two to demonstrate.

British ships profess to feel no alarm, but nevertheless all passenger traffic from England to Holland has been tied up. The lines to Scandinavia, however, continue to run. The cross-channel services have announced that their schedules will be maintained as usual.

Just as the countryside was placarded with cuts and descriptions of the British and German aircraft when air raids were uppermost in the public mind, illustrations showing the British and German submarines are now being distributed to acquaint the skippers of merchant vessels with the appearance of their own and hostile undersea vessels, so that they will not fire or attempt to ram a British submarine by mistake.

In many quarters the demand is increasing that masters of ships hold up or threatened by submarines should be allowed to use the offensive measures and various private rewards totaling several thousand pounds still stand, to be taken down by the first British skipper destroying a hostile submarine. It is not known what the admiralty instructions to skippers are although a hint of what is expected of them was found in the recent action of the captain of the British steamer Laertes who refused to surrender to a German submarine.

The British press now concedes that Russians must have lost heavily in their retreat in East Prussia, but the newspapers refuse to credit Field Marshal Von Hindenburg with a great victory, pending the outcome of the rear guard action before the fortified line on the Nieman river. It is argued by British military experts that Germany's double flanking movement apparently has failed and this view also is held at Petrograd.

In the Champagne and Argonne regions in the western theatre the Germans seem to be putting forth all their strength to capture the ground they are reported to have lost last week.

DANGER OF TURCO-GREEK BREACH ENDS WITH OFFICIAL APOLOGY

By Associated Press.
London, Feb. 18.—Turkey yielded to the demand for satisfaction made by Greece because of the insult offered an attaché of the Greek legation at Constantinople. The director-general of police of Constantinople, it is officially announced, has visited the Greek legation in that city and in the presence of all the members of the staff, formally expressed his regret at the insult offered the Greek naval attaché. He promised further that an official communication to this end would be published in the press. The incident now is regarded as closed.

The Greek minister to Turkey left Constantinople last week leaving his secretary of legation in charge because the Porte was slow in carrying out its agreement to give satisfaction for an insult offered the Greek naval attaché.

THE MISANTHROPE

By ETHEL WARD MESERVEY.

(Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Vapid, profitless, almost unendurable," was the way Ralph Burt described life as it presented itself to his distorted view.

Then he became very much ashamed of the misanthropic utterance. He glanced about his lonely but elegant home, he looked into a mirror and noted the unusual glow of health upon his cheeks, he realized that he had not a real care in the world. Outside the birds were singing, the flowers blooming, all radiant nature breathing purity, peace and promise. The sun shone at its brightest. Its rays glorified the reddest garden. Beyond it lay a sportsman's paradise—stables, kennels, garage and hangar. It represented the latest facilities for pleasure.

"Yes, with all this, I may well be ashamed of myself for finding nothing worth living for!" murmured Burt self-reproachfully.

Burt went out to the spot where the hangar was located. With the assistance of his hired man the superb biplane he operated was wheeled out.

He had become quite an expert aviator and enjoyed his air trips greatly. Under his expert direction the machine struck an upward lateral course, a thing of life and beauty. He enjoyed the rare exhibition of pure air and bird-like speed immensely.

Ten miles accomplished, Burt vied to plan to a meadow stretch to adjust a trivial defect in the control mechanism. He had just got in trim to resume his cloud work, when a shout down the highway attracted his attention.

With both interest and indignation the amateur aviator observed a lad of about fourteen running towards him as if for his life.

Struggling behind him, but in hot pursuit, were three men. They were shouting and gesticulating. One carried a cane, which he waved menacingly. A second had picked up a lot of stones. These he hurled with varied aim after the running boy.

"You young rascal!" roared the man in advance. "Drop it, I tell you, or I'll have you jailed!"

But the little fellow never heeded the threatening cries and actions of his pursuers. He forged straight ahead, momentarily nearing the spot where Burt stood.

"This way! This way!" shouted Burt, as the boy came nearer. "Climb under the fence."

"Oh! oh!" yelled the lad just at that moment in frantic pain.

"Brace up!" cried Burt, leaning over and hitting the lad clear of the entangling wires. "Now, then, who are those men?"

"Villains! They'll kill me—and you, too. Oh, they're coming!"

They were, indeed, but Burt was going. He lifted the helpless lad in his arms bodily, and made a run for the biplane.

"Don't get frightened," he ordered, placing his charge in the seat behind the pilot post and hurriedly strapping him in.

"Quick, mister! oh, quick as you can!" insisted his passenger, with a terrified glance at the fence.

The three pursuers had arrived. One tried to jump the fence and his feet tripped and he fell with a thud. A second attempted to crawl under the lower wire and his clothing had become entangled.

"Don't you interfere with that boy or you'll be liable to the law!" he shouted at Burt.

The latter paid no attention to the threat. He sprang to the pilot seat. Chug-chug—whirr! and the biplane went aloft like an arrow.

The dismayed and chagrined men below vainly vented their wrath on the rescuer who had baffled them. The little fellow sat spellbound with delight at the rare sensation of an air fight he had never dreamed of. For the first time in his life Ralph Burt had found his mind invested with real human interest. It elevated him. An actor in an exciting and unusual circumstance, he was eager to learn what lay behind the strange incident of the hour.

Soon he knew all about it, for when the biplane landed on home ground he took his passenger into his library and questioned him as to his story.

It came out that he and his sister, Eleanor, were practically prisoners in the power of one of his three pursuers, Giles Warden. Feasting foul play, the sisters had that day given him the will of her dead father, with the injunction to place it in the hands of some lawyer for safety and action. Hence the pursuit.

"Righting a wrong—quite heroic!" commented Burt's lawyer, when he was made aware of the facts in the case. "Why, your new experience has made you look like a new man. I'll soon have this affair straightened out."

It was with a good deal of surprise that Ralph met "Sister Eleanor" a week later. He had supposed her to be a little girl. Instead, confusedly, he listened to the ardent thanks of a beautiful young lady.

"You have saved Miss Morley from captivity and the loss of her fortune," advised the lawyer. "She may continue to need a friend."

Day by day Ralph Burt's heart warmed to new impulses. There came a snail-paced, hesitating acquaintance. It was when Eleanor became something more than a friend—his wife.

At The Theaters

The Lydia Margaret.

The Lydia Margaret has an unusually attractive bill to offer today. Cleo Madison, star of the "Trey O' Hearts" serial plays the lead in a two part special "A Woman's Debt." The new bill opening today has received flattering press notices and both sets have been very favorably mentioned. Advance notices follow:

"The Capital City Trio, an aggregation of clever singers will offer twelve minutes of harmony and hilarity and some good eccentric comedy and patter that is most entertaining. Their offering really is a treat to all lovers of good, clean singing and harmony and will have to be seen to be appreciated. They will appear at the last half of this week in an 'emulsion of mirth, melody and smiles,' the latter seems to be contagious as they will keep their onlookers in a continuous uproar of laughter and long after they have left the city this trio will be remembered."

"Little Miss DeFogis, who will appear at the Lydia Margaret three days commencing today has an exceptional voice, which combined with the strength and virility of the dramatic tone. Some of the songs she will sing will border upon grand opera, but in addition to those she will render a number of the wondrously sweet and beautiful ballads which have contributed so much to her success. And there will be quite a number of comedy character songs, which depend for their success more upon the art of the singer than the music. This latter artist also is an accomplished dancer, wearing some of the most beautiful gowns ever exhibited in Wichita Falls, and these were not made in Paris, either, they came from a greater mecca of style and art—good old New York town."

The Empress.

Today's program is full of fun, three reels of Keystone, one "The Simple Life" features Fatty and Mabel and the other reel a comedy is full of giggles to the very last foot. The program is completed by a two part Reliance drama of newspaper life, with Irene Hunt playing the part of the "sob sister." A story of this picture, "The Exposure" follows:

Joe and Helen have a lovers' quarrel and separate. Six years later Joe is a successful reporter on a large daily. She is sent West to cover a big graft story. On the evening of her arrival, she is taken out to dinner by a man named Phelan, who borrows her pad to write a note to a man at the next table. Afterwards by deciphering the impression left on the next sheet of her pad, Helen finds her clue. That night she sees and hears the graft money passed—but the man who receives it is Joe Reed. The following day, however, she and Joe meet, and she learns that he has taken the money in order to expose the graft city councilmen. They go together to the editor of the leading daily, deposit the money and the affidavit in the office safe—and Helen writes the story. Then she summons detectives, and motors to the chamber of the city council just in time to save Joe from arrest. The other members are taken in custody by the detectives. At the same time the boys can be heard calling the extra with Helen's story in it.

The Gem.

Eulalie-Jensen, William Dunn and Arthur Ashley are featured in a two part Vitagraph drama, "Out of the Past."

Rosa, Cyril Benton's Italian-American wife, is happy in the possession of a good husband, home and little child. One night, during Benton's absence from home, Rosa is confronted by two midnight intruders, one of whom reveals himself as Giorgio, an old rejected lover of the girl, who threatens, in the event of her failure to turn over the contents of her husband's safe, to tell Benton how, years ago, she had killed her first husband, and so tarnish her name that even the legitimacy of her five year old child will be questioned. The cornered woman explains passionately that her crime was perpetrated in self-defense, that he, Giorgio, knows it, having been an eye witness. She begs him to spare her life, telling how she found a good home and sympathetic friends in Benton and his mother. The latter died and Benton ultimately married her. Rosa ends up her recital by gratefully begging Giorgio to go. The other intruder steps out at this point. He is Luigi, her father, whom she had thought killed in a brawl years ago, but who had, instead, recovered from the effects of the light and joined Giorgio as a partner in crime. The old man's latent parental instincts are brought out, and he favors leaving the girl in peace. Giorgio, however, refuses to be deprived of his prey and tries to force the safe combination from Rosa. Her father, rushing to her assistance, engages in a stiletto duel with the rascal. Giorgio returns unexpectedly. He rushes in and Rosa cries, "I managed to kill one, but the other overpowered me." Luigi, without a word, accepts the situation and surrenders as a common burglar for his daughter's sake.

Alburtis, Pa.—"I am a teacher in the public schools and I got into a very nervous, run down condition. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I was tired all the time."

"My sister told me how Vinol had built up her nephew and asked me to try it. I did so, and within a week after taking Vinol my appetite improved and I could sleep all right and how I feel well and strong."

"Vinol is certainly a fine medicine and what the doctors say it is a good tonic."—Rosa M. Keller, Alburtis, Pa.

The reason Vinol restored Miss Keller to her normal health was because in a natural manner it sharpened her appetite, added digestion, strengthened her nerves, and as a result brought the refreshing sleep she needed.

A Westerner. My fathers sleep 'er the sunrise plains And each one sleeps alone. Their trails may dim to the grass and rains. For I choose to make my own. I lay proud claim to the blood and name. But I lean on no dead kin. My name is mine for the praise or scorn. And the world began when I was born And the world is mine to win.

They built high towns on their old log sills Where the great slow rivers gleamed. But with new live rock from the savage hills They built as they only dreamed. The fire scars die where "trail camp" lies Till the rails glide down the pass; The desert springs into fruit and wheat. And I lay the stones of a solid street On yesterday's untrod grass.

I waste no thought on my neighbor's birth, Or the way he makes his prayer. I grant him a white Mandu' room on earth If his game is only square. While he plays it straight, I call him mate. If he cheats, I drop him flat; All rank but this is a worm's tie For all clean men are as good as I, And the kind is only that.

I dream no dreams of a nursemaid state, That will spoon me out my food; A stout heart sings in the fray with fate. And the shock and sweat are good. From noon to noon all earthly boon That I ask my God to spare. Is a little daily bread in store. With room to feed the strong for more. And the weak shall get their share.

The sunrise plains are a tender haze And the sunset seas are gray. But I sit here where the bright skies blaze Over me and the big today. What use to me is the vague "MAY BE," Or the mournful "might have been," For the sun wheels swift from morn till noon, And the world began when I was born. And the world is mine to win. Charles B. Clark, Jr.

ED HOWARD, Manager

In the Bosom of the Comanches, is the title of a neatly printed and well illustrated volume of 145 pages written by a man who, with his sister, was taken captive by the Indians in one of their raids in Wise county in the year 1865 after they (the Indians) had killed his mother and burned their home. This man, the author of the book is Mr. T. A. Babb, for years a resident of this city, but now of Amarillo. The Times has not yet had time to review the book but knowing the author and having often heard the story from him or members of his family, feels sure that the story cannot be overdrawn or exaggerated.

J. A. Ford, owner of a peach orchard near Pauls Valley, Okla., has struck upon a rather novel idea of saving his fruit crop from the early frosts, and has decided to bury twenty-five pounds of ice about the roots of each tree with the expectation that the ice will retard budding until all danger from frost is passed. It is entirely a new idea and so far as this paper is aware, is original with Mr. Ford, but inasmuch as it is not copyrighted, others might experiment with it, and watch the results. If it succeeds, the problem of saving our fruit crops will be solved.

REGULATION OF JITNEY CARS.

The following under the above caption taken from the Waco Tribune applies equally to conditions in Wichita Falls. If street railways are city builders, and most of us know they are, how can we expect those who have their money tied up in a street railway system to make additional improvements in the service and additional extensions of the system when the earnings on their present investment is not paying a decent rate of interest. The Times is not sure whether the matter of regulating jitney-car service is contemplated by the city officials. But the Times does not hesitate to say that it believes the jitneys should be regulated.

The regulation of the jitney cars is becoming a matter of municipal action in the various towns of the State and the city of Wichita Falls has the subject under consideration. There is no doubt that public conveniences of every kind ought to be under some character of regulation. Livery hacks are controlled, street cars are controlled, and there is an oversight of the job system which are ready to haul anything for anybody at any time. The jitneys use the paved streets, they stand at the curb at popular corners and they are conducting a commercial business for profit. There is danger of pedestrians and other cars, and in some towns several accidents have occurred and have resulted in personal injury with no chance for the injured person to get relief in damages, because the jitney owner was not bonded. The jitney is in direct competition with the street car company, yet it is not under the same regulation and control: the jitney owner runs his car when and where he pleases, yet the street car company must maintain a schedule, must conform to certain regulations as to character of construction, and must respond in damages when an injury occurs. The street car is the forerunner of extensions and developments. We could not have had Highland Place without the street car; we could not have built up College Heights without the street car; we could not have had Provident Heights without the street car. The jitney does not encourage new additions and homes far out from town. Therefore the street car company is entitled to some consideration in the matter of competition that is presented by the operation of the jitneys. The street car service we expect to have with us always. If the jitneys destroy the business of the street car company, it will reduce the number of cars being operated and many men will be thrown out of work who now have good places, who have families and who are trained to the handling of street cars. Jitneys, being public service concerns, are subject to regulation. The Fort Worth commission has just passed an ordinance regulating them, and its terms appeal to the Tribune as being fair to all concerned. Its provisions are respectfully referred to the Waco city commission. It requires every jitney bus to carry $5,000 indemnity insurance against the injury of any one person, $10,000 against personal injuries in any one accident, and $1,000 against property damage. Five passenger cars must pay a tax of $10 a year, seven passenger cars $20 and other cars $30. Every jitney must travel over a fixed route, carry a destination sign and have "motor bus" painted on the rear. Every car must be run for twelve consecutive hours, with a reasonable allowance for breakdowns, meals, etc.

Here are some more "items" in the deficiency appropriation for the governor's mansion during Governor Colquitt's regime: Sept. 10, piano $500; Jan. 21, Victrola and records, $249.50; Feb. 17, Victrola records, $14.25; Dec. 2, roses $35.40; Jan. 1, work on piano, $12; June 11, merchandise, $344.70; June 13, merchandise, $99.18; Jan. 25, invitations and envelopes $53.40; Jan. 25, Driskell Hotel, $288.90. Representative Middleton is the man who stirred up what one correspondent describes as "the greatest and at the same time the funniest hornet's nest ever to be espied in the politics of Texas." "Where will it end," he goes on to say, "nobody seems to know, but there is unanimity in the belief that it does not lead directly to the United States Senate." Gov. Colquitt is still busy in the North and East demolishing the Wilson administration. Meanwhile efforts are under way, as the legislative probe begins to indicate, to do some demolition down in these here parts of an administration that is not Wilson's—Denton Record and Chronicle.

Oh, hush up, Will. Governor Ferguson says that if the legislature has the right to appropriate money to pay for ice water in the capitol, it has the right to pay for punch in the governor's mansion. The amount of the "punch" is not to be taken into consideration. Therefore, if the governor wants champagne instead of punch served at his banquet the state must foot the bill. If Governor Ferguson wants five thousand dollars worth of groceries a year for family use instead of the two thousand dollars worth that Governor Colquitt used, the tax payers will be called on to foot the bill. If Governor Ferguson wants a $1500 grand instead of a $500 spright piano that Colquitt was content with it's the people's business to furnish it. That's business, and the people of Texas elected Ferguson to give them a "business administration." Let the people foot the bills. Let the people rule. Shut up, Will.—Bonham News.

By Associated Press. London, Feb. 18.—The immediate effect of the German submarine blockade of the British Isles, beginning today, was to tie up all passenger traffic from England to Holland. The Scandinavian liners, however, have not as yet been affected. Both the Zeeand and Batavier lines have cancelled all passenger service to Holland, although they are continuing their freight and mail service. The Wilson line, to Scandinavian ports, is running as usual.

Special to The Times. Austin, Texas, Feb. 18.—One of the most interesting contests of the present legislature is brewing over the proposed amendment to the constitution, separating the State University and A. & M. College. The resolution has been reported favorably in the House, and while friends of the University are not opposing the proposition in principle, they do not feel that the resolution in its present form is fair to the University. It is thought likely that some compromise will be reached and that the resolution will be submitted.

SOME FARMERS TO PLANT SPRING WHEAT

PRESENT PROSPECTS PLEASING

Total acreage Estimated at 100,000 and Recent Rains Have Done Much Good

A number of Wichita county farmers, it is said, are preparing to sow spring wheat this year. Spring wheat raising has seldom been attempted in this section but the high prices that are in prospect makes the undertaking look profitable. Macaroni wheat will be sown. This wheat has been selling at a higher price than ordinary wheat. It is raised extensively in the upper Panhandle and is said to yield well.

Heath of the Young Men's Business League at Vernon and Mayor of that city were here this week to confer with Mayor Britain about the amendment to the anti pollution bill being pushed in Wichita Falls. Vernon finds herself in the same position as Wichita Falls in reference to the disposal of the town's sewage. The amendment, Mayor Britain told the visitors, would exempt Vernon as well as Wichita Falls and other cities where the conditions are the same.

A party of members of the Electric lodge of the American Yeomen came down this afternoon to attend the Yeomen meeting here tonight when officers of the national organization will be in attendance. Among the Electric Yeomen who came in this afternoon were: Joe Lowe, Walter Lowe, Burgess McDonald, Ab Lockley, Ernest Pugh, E. S. Volter, Charles McManus, Howard Giles, J. J. Irby, G. H. Lear, W. I. Williams, Miss Helen Cook, Mrs. Lowden, Mrs. Beiram, J. B. Moore, Mrs. C. O. Groves, Len Shepherd, Miss Bertie Irby, E. R. Roy and Miss Annie Minniman.

Simple Test for Water's Purity. It is sometimes useful to be able to obtain an idea of the purity or otherwise of a given water supply without incurring the expense of a full chemical and bacteriological analysis. Among the constituents of sewage are phosphates in comparative abundance. If a clear-glass bottle is nearly filled with the water to be tested, a lump or two of sugar added, and the whole corked tightly and placed in a sunny place for two or three days, the water should remain quite clear. If, however, it contains phosphates in excess, a milky mass will have developed in it, in which case the suspicion of contamination would be sufficiently confirmed to warrant a full analysis of the water supply before any more of it is used for drinking purposes.

World's Debt to the Unfit. The world owes much to the physically unfit. It would be less worth living in today but for the brilliant consumptives and cripples and blind and deaf men who have enriched it. In our craze for efficiency and for standardizing everything we are in danger of forgetting that there are other things in the world, too.

We cannot do without the consumptive Stevensons, the anemic Voltaires, the blind Miltons, the deaf Beethovens, the clubfoot Byrons, the helpless Precotts. A rule that would have deprived Heine of an education would have been costly to the world.

The Out-of-Doors Girl. There is no anatomical reason why a girl should not throw a ball as well as a boy, according to Leslie's Weekly. All she needs is the chance to do it. Beginning with dancing and games in the kindergarten, and continuing with gymnastics and athletic leagues in grammar schools, high schools and colleges, we are giving more attention to physical training than ever before in this country. Already this is beginning to show in a more vigorous type of both men and women.

Mayor Ben Schwieger and Attorney Martin Alday were in from Burkburnett today.

TACT KEYSTONE OF SUCCESS

Well Called Magic Gift That "Makes the Wheels of the World Go Round."

Tact is the sense of touch, declares a writer in the London Globe. Climbing plants, women and churchmen possess it. Ivy, the Miss Berrys and Cardinal Masarin live for all time as models of tact and wariness. It is a delusion that a strong man needs no tact. To break through the panels of the door of a room one wishes to enter rather than turn the handle, is no mark of strength. Queen Elizabeth had little political wisdom; but her political tact was matchless. Her love letters to the duke of Anjou and to her other swains are models of the answers a virgin queen should give to pushful lovers. Mr. Gladstone's acute and flexible logic could support, with equal and tactful force, opposite sides of every possible question. Huxley, one of the greatest men of the nineteenth century, was a marvel of perception, quick and sure. Not his intellect but his abounding kindness made him a man of infinite capacity.

The absence of tact is indicated by bad manners, by lounging, by inattention, by hesitation, by shyness and by coming down late to breakfast. Unpunctuality and colossal selfishness in the young man of the present day do not necessarily imply that the sinner against society cannot exercise tact when he wishes to do so. He is merely out of practice. Tact, like love, makes the wheels of the world go round. Anyone who has been in touch with embassies, with governors of colonies, with viceroynes, or with courts is struck with the supreme importance attaching to the virtues of tactfulness and address. The latter quality is more physical than mental. It denotes skill practically applied to meet a certain end. Only a tactful man can successfully deal with a difficult question sprung upon him at short notice.

IMPROVED STILL DID WORK

Inventive Coolie Helped Medical Missionary Out of an Exceedingly Tight Place.

In a life-and-death battle with a cholera epidemic in Hunan province, China, in which an American medical missionary was the leading figure, one of the most serious difficulties was met successfully by one of the mental hospital coolies, according to a writer in the World's Work. Since every patient had to have from one pint to several quarts of distilled water with salt in it, the water could not be distilled fast enough. For two days the staff struggled along with makeshifts while thinking up a plan to build a still for little money without the loss of time.

The still was simplicity itself. For cooking food the Chinese use large flat saucerlike pans, made of iron. With one of these above and another below, the coolie made a drum of galvanized iron with a hole in the side for a trough. Into the lower pan hot water for boiling was poured. Underneath a hot fire sent up a constant steam vapor. The upper kettle was kept cool by frequent changings of cold water. The vapor from the lower kettle, condensed on the lower surface of the cool upper kettle, dripped off into the trough, and filled bottle after bottle with distilled water.

New Year's Resolutions. We make them and we break them but there is one resolution that we should make and keep—and that is to trade at home. Every merchant and business man living in the city of Wichita Falls is dependent upon you for patronage. Without them you could not exist. Without them you could not have the fine city that you do. In trading at home, however, you must demand equal values, dollar for dollar, that you would get in Dallas or St. Louis. With a fair comparison I will guarantee you are getting that or should for the business men of your city can buy just as cheap in Eastern markets as Dallas men can and the business man here can operate with much less expense than the big city house does. Now the holiday season is over. Many of you received photographs from friends at a distance. It is up to you to reciprocate in kind. We can assure you that our fine work in our studio as you can get in Dallas or Fort Worth and we do not have the heavy operating expense the city studio have, consequently we divide the profits with you. Give us a trial. We will convince you and when we see you we will all be happy. Call and see us. It costs you nothing. The photos of your friends speak for themselves. Remember the place. J. M. HAVIS. The Portrait Man 710 1/2 Indiana Ave.

With the Eight-Cylinder Cadillac, bad roads lose their terror and hills seem almost to flatten out before you, so easily, so quietly and with so little apparent effort does the car surmount them.

HORSE SHOEOING. I have in my employ one of the most competent horse-shoers in the State. If you send your horses to me, the work of shoeing them will be done by an expert in that line. I have customers who I have been shoeing for in that line for 15 years and they are still with me. Ask them. My shop is located at 607 Indiana Ave. Phone 1790. A. J. SEITZ.

"YOUR TIME"

Is too valuable to leave your business and go out on the street and run down or hunt a transfer or baggage wagon. USE YOUR TELEPHONE and call 444 or 14. We are in our office always and need YOUR business. YOU WILL NEVER FIND US STANDING ON STREET CORNERS.

Not mere patching but honest-to-God vulcanizing. We have two men that do nothing but look after the rubber work of this place. We have no roustabout kid who lights a gasoline vulcanizer and runs around the corner to collect a bill from some Deadbeat and burns up your tube in his absence.

SOME FOLKS say that to remember the dead is folly and that they don't want any fuss about their remains. That's all right, we won't make any, but we notice that these same good folks have their loved ones buried with the sacred rites of religion, and cover their mounds with flowers, as token of their love. You may try to fool yourself into believing that this ends it all, or that there is nothing after death, yet that unexplainable something within you cries out against your folly and you can't even make yourself believe it, much less someone else. We are working for those who believe in REMEMBERING THEIR LOVED ONES. Have you a sacred mound that needs attention? Phone us. We decorate and beautify to your satisfaction.
