SIR JOHN FRENCH REPORTS SUCCESSES

SAYS GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED AND THAT ENGLISH TROOPS MADE PROGRESS

ENGLISH AIRMEN ARE ACTIVE

Many Stations in Belgium Held By Germans Bombed—Other Reports

By Associated Press. London, April 27.—The following report has been received from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces at the front under today's date: "Yesterday all German attacks northeast of Ypres were repulsed. In the afternoon our troops took the offensive and made progress near St. Julien and to the west of that place. The French co-operated on our left, and further to the north they retook He'Saa. "In the course of yesterday's fighting our artillery took full advantage of several opportunities for inflicting severe casualties on the enemy. On the remainder of the front there is nothing to report. "In addition to the destruction of Courtrai Junction mentioned in the communication last night, our airmen yesterday and last night successfully bombed stations and junctions at the following places: Tourcoing, Roubaix, Ingelmunster, Staden, Langemark, Thilly and Roulers, all Belgian towns held by the Germans.

BELGIAN CLAIM TO HAVE REPELLED GERMAN ATTACKS

By Associated Press. London, April 27.—The Belgian official communication under date of April 26 says: "Last night our infantry repulsed three attacks made south of Dixmude by the Germans who again are using asphyxiating gases. The Germans suffered heavy losses. Monday along our front the enemy's artillery showed a certain amount of activity. Our artillery repulsed with success, and by a strong attack aided the French troops to attack Lizerne, which on Sunday fell into the hands of the enemy but which was wrested from them again Monday afternoon.

FRENCH CLAIM CONTINUED PROGRESS NORTH OF YPRES

By Associated Press. Paris, April 27.—The French official report today says: "There is nothing to add to our communication of last night except that we consolidated our positions, continued to make progress to the north of Ypres and also on the Heights of the Meuse. The summit of Hartmanns-Wellerkopf taken from us yesterday morning was recaptured by our troops last night. We also took some prisoners."

BOMB PLOT DISCOVERED IN TURKISH CAPITAL

Explosives Found in Ministry of War Room—Believed Aimed at Young Turks

By Associated Press. Paris, April 27.—A powerful clock work bomb was found hidden yesterday in the ministry of war room at Constantinople, according to a dispatch from Saloniki. It was timed to explode at an hour when the council would be in session. The meetings of the body are attended by Enver Pasha, Turkish premier and German military adviser, Gen. Von Kluck and General Von Sanders. An investigation is said to have disclosed that the bomb was placed by a sweep who had come to clean the chimney, and who then disappeared. Several ministers or officials connected with the ministry of war have been arrested on suspicion of being his accomplices. The police believe that the plot was directed against the young Turks and the Germans.

GERMAN RUSH IN FLANDERS HALTED

NOT CLEAR FROM STATEMENTS WHETHER ALLIES DID ANYTHING ELSE

GERMAN PURPOSE UNKNOWN

Suspected in London That Movement Only Feint Preparatory to Blow Elsewhere

By Associated Press. London, April 27.—The German rush in Flanders has halted at least for a moment. Official communication from the German, French, British and Belgian war departments bring out this point although it is not clear whether the allies have accomplished anything of importance further than to check the German advance. Both the British and the French claim that part of the lost territory has been recaptured. It is said further that the French have recaptured Hartmanns-Wellerkopf. London is speculating whether the fierce German attacks in Flanders mark an attempt to force a way to the English channel or is merely a feint preparatory to striking a blow elsewhere on the 600 mile front. "It is assumed that land fighting is progressing in connection with the allies' new attempt to gain the Dardanelles and Constantinople. Nothing is known of the scope or the details of the operations further than announcing yesterday that an army was being landed on Gallipoli peninsula.

3 MORE BODIES RECOVERED FROM AUSTIN FLOOD

65 Houses on Waller Creek Swept From Foundations and Loss Close to $1,500,000

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, April 27.—Three more bodies had been recovered today about 17 miles down the Colorado all being unidentified negroes. No rain fell yesterday or today for the first time in more than a week and the work of reinterment was begun. More than 1100 people have been given relief. Examination disclosed today that 65 houses on Waller creek either were destroyed or were swept from their foundations. Damage in Austin is not far from a million and a half dollars. Train service has been restored except on the I. & G. N. W. hauls in the city and both north and south on this line are of a character which will require several days to repair.

MORE CATTLE IN GERMANY THAN BEFORE THE WAR

By Associated Press. Berlin.—The German government found that notwithstanding the war, the usual live-stock census about the beginning of last December. The most striking feature of the census figures, which have just been published, is a gain of 823,000 in the number of cattle over the census of December 1913. By far the larger part of this gain—namely, 655,000 head—was made in young animals between three months and two years old. This was due undoubtedly to the prohibition at the outbreak of the war of the slaughter of calves, in order to better conserve the meat supply. In calves less than three months old the gain was 165,000 head. The net results of the census of cattle was that the aggregate increased from 20,994,344 to 21,817,769 head. There was a small decrease in the number of hogs, the total falling by 319,500 to 25,329,627 head. The decrease was wholly in pigs less than six months old, the number of which was reduced by 611,200 head during the year. Even sheep showed a smaller reduction than usual. Last December there were 5,448,699 head, which compared with 5,529,809 at the end of 1913, and 5,803,400 at the end of 1912. From these statistics it is evident that the war had made no impression upon Germany's meat supply up to the first week in December.

RUSSIANS PUSHING ON TOWARD UZOK PASS

Austro-German Casualties in Last Two Days Reported to Number 20,000

By Associated Press. Geneva, April 27.—The Russians have been pushing a strong offensive movement against Uzok in the Carpathian mountains, according to a telegram received by the Tribune at Geneva. The Austro-German casualties there in the last two days, a dispatch says, number 20,000 men. Melting snow has hindered the Russian advance between St. Stry and Matarmos.

By Associated Press. London, April 27.—Exportation of raw cotton from the United Kingdom was prohibited today. The British public demanded this prohibition to prevent cotton from reaching Germany.

GERMANS EVERYWHERE CLAIM SUCCESSES

REPULSE ATTACKS OF ALLIES NEAR YPRES WITH EXTRAORDINARILY HEAVY LOSS

CAPTURE 50 MACHINE GUNS

Admit Evacuation of Lizerne But Claim Still To Hold Bridge Over Canal

By Associated Press. Berlin, April 27.—The German official report of the progress of war says: "Strong British attacks on the new German lines near Ypres broke down completely with extraordinarily heavy losses. The Germans evacuated Lizerne before the French attack but still hold the bridge across the Yser at Lizerne. Twelve miles of Ypres the Germans are waging a big artillery bombardment on the railway junction with much success. The British attacked in Flanders with very strong forces against the new line of our positions north and northeast of Ypres which runs by way of St. Julien. These assaulting parties were attacked in the rear by German artillery southeast of Ypres and broke down completely under our fire with extraordinarily heavy losses. "The enemy's fire completely demoralized houses in Lizerne, which we had evacuated during the night. The bridge held situated on the west bank of the canal immediately to the east of Lizerne still is held by us. In engagements already fought at Ypres our troops have taken 50 machine guns and we also secured further advantages. "In nocturnal hand to hand fighting we were successful in the wood of La Potre. The enemy repeatedly commenced attacks last night on Hartmanns-Wellerkopf; all his attacks failed.

SOUTH TEXAS SCENE OF FLOOD DAMAGE

TRINITY, BRAZOS AND COLORADO ARE ALL OUT OF BANKS DOING DAMAGE

LOSS OF LIFE IS NOT LARGE

Not Believed Floods Will Reach Proportions of Those of 1913—Crop Damage Heavy

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, April 27.—Reports today from the flooded districts on the whole are regarded as encouraging and it was believed that no repetition of the 1913 disaster would result although conditions are rapidly approaching those of 1914. The center of flood danger now is in the territory included in Brazos, Burleson, Milam, Washington, Bastrop, Waller and Wharton counties, where the trustrate draws are all out of their banks and large areas of the farming land have been flooded. The Brazos is rising rapidly in lower central Texas. The Trinity is out of its banks as far south as Long Lake. The Colorado is away out of its banks and enormous damage has resulted along its course. From all points come reports of crop destruction, livestock loss and abandoned homes but no additional loss of life has been reported. Railroads continue to be sufferers as washouts are being reported hourly. "Virtually no lines are attempting to maintain train schedules.

THE REAL ISSUE

"The paramount issue before the American people today is not the tariff, nor corporation control, nor any of those other political or economic problems which newspapers and politicians discuss so glibly. The real issue is not political, nor even economic. The paramount issue is the psychological issue of personal, fundamental honesty. Is the individual citizen willing to produce all the wealth he requires and to work and vote to render it impossible for anyone, by any financial hocus-pocus, to acquire wealth that he has not produced? That's the issue. Along that line will be fought the battle for the control of that twilight zone in business where 'dog eat dog' is still too often the rule. When a coherent and masterful majority of our people gets the full significance of this issue and insists that he who produces more than he acquires is a public benefactor, but that he who acquires more than he produces is a social parasite, then means will be found of ridding our civilization of the predatory business type, and of giving each individual the full product of his toil of brain or brawn. It is to this end that all the beneficent social forces of our day are treading.

SCHOOLS EMIGRATION BUREAU

Dr. J. D. Eggleston, president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, told the delegates here today that ninety-seven out of every hundred school children "go forth into life unable to apply their so-called education to the immediate problem of making a living, the problem that immediately confronts them."

"A PURELY ACADEMIC COURSE OF STUDY—THE KIND WE NOW HAVE"—SAID THE DOCTOR, "CAUSES THE SCHOOL TO BECOME AN ACTIVE EMIGRATION BUREAU AND EITHER DEPOPULATES THE COMMUNITY OR KEEPS IT AT THE LEAST AT A STAGNANT STANDSTILL."

Year after year, he declared, educators with the assist of parents force children to go to school and "acquire arithmetics and adenoids, history and bookworm, algebra and astigmatism, cane root and consumption, Caesar and spinal curvature."

The speaker said manual training could be started with "a boy, a broom-handle and a knife" and that popular co-operation with the destruction and extension work now in the hands of the agricultural colleges would make farming communities "blossom like the rose."

He urged that every city, town and village have school systems by which young and old, men and women, might not only learn to read, write and figure, but to improve and perfect themselves in whatever line of work they choose for a living.

FARMER GETS ONLY 45 CENTS OF DOLLAR

MIDDLEMEN GET REMAINDER—IN DENMARK FARMER GETS 85 CENTS

FARMER IS LOWEST PAID

Kansas Man Says Remedy is For Farmer to Put Finished Product On Market

By Associated Press. Muskogee, Okla., April 27.—The farmer is the lowest paid business man in the world and his crying need is efficient organization on the farm to encourage him to produce the best and to produce something all the time, according to Charles Dillon, of Topeka, Kan., editor of agricultural papers, who addressed the Southern Commercial Congress here today. Mr. Dillon suggested that because of differences in effective organization a farmer in Denmark gets 85 cents out of every dollar the consumer pays for his produce while the American farmer gets but 45 cents. The remedy, he said, was to modify the system of farming so as to produce more livestock and relatively less hay, grain and cotton for the market, and to finish and standardize the products on the farm, instead of leaving the grading and refining of products to an army of people in the cities.

Assistant Secretary Vrooman, of the department of agriculture, spoke for the national administrative President Wilson and Secretary Houston were unable to attend.

Mr. Vrooman said in part: "Now as in the past, we find several distinct types of business organization; that founded upon privilege, that founded upon unrestricted competition, that founded upon regulated competition and the entire country spirit and method of co-operation."

The Real Issue.

"The paramount issue before the American people today is not the tariff, nor corporation control, nor any of those other political or economic problems which newspapers and politicians discuss so glibly. The real issue is not political, nor even economic. The paramount issue is the psychological issue of personal, fundamental honesty. Is the individual citizen willing to produce all the wealth he requires and to work and vote to render it impossible for anyone, by any financial hocus-pocus, to acquire wealth that he has not produced? That's the issue. Along that line will be fought the battle for the control of that twilight zone in business where 'dog eat dog' is still too often the rule. When a coherent and masterful majority of our people gets the full significance of this issue and insists that he who produces more than he acquires is a public benefactor, but that he who acquires more than he produces is a social parasite, then means will be found of ridding our civilization of the predatory business type, and of giving each individual the full product of his toil of brain or brawn. It is to this end that all the beneficent social forces of our day are treading.

"Regulated competition is unquestionably better than irresponsible and uncontrolled competition. Moreover, by the slow, sure means of experience, federal and state control of business is becoming at once more elastic and more effective. But the perfecting of the mechanism of such control can ever overcome the inherent limitations of this method of promoting social and economic justice.

"As President Wilson has indicated, the time is ripe for a co-operation that is not exclusive or oppressive, but rather inclusive and beneficent. Founded on the principle of the open door, and dispensing its profits among all who participate in its activities according to the measure of their participation."

Schools Emigration Bureau.

Dr. J. D. Eggleston, president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, told the delegates here today that ninety-seven out of every hundred school children "go forth into life unable to apply their so-called education to the immediate problem of making a living, the problem that immediately confronts them."

"A purely academic course of study—the kind we now have"—said the doctor, "causes the school to become an active emigration bureau and either depopulates the community or keeps it at the least at a stagnant standstill."

Year after year, he declared, educators with the assist of parents force children to go to school and "acquire arithmetics and adenoids, history and bookworm, algebra and astigmatism, cane root and consumption, Caesar and spinal curvature."

At The Theaters

The Lydia Margaret.
Hong Fong, Chinese funny man, certainly afforded a heap of entertainment last night at the Lydia Margaret with his Oriental wit and his songs and parodies. He is a distinct novelty and as such was appreciated. Novelty seems to be the forward in the vaudeville bill at this theatre for this week; as the Crusaders, a man and a woman who sing old fashioned songs, have an act that is unique and pleasing. Their act is a charming, witty and picturesque costume. With this vaudeville is a picture bill headed by a Cleo Madison story, "The Human Menace."

Real life only too often duplicates the so-called "impossible" situations which are frequently depicted in photographs. Tonight one sees at his neighborhood theatre a drama which tells a story which seems to bear all the earmarks of being the product of a feverish scenario writer's brain. Next morning at breakfast Doubting Thomas reads in his morning paper of a happening in real life duplicating, with the possible exception of names, the situations of the photoplay he had seen the night before.

Cleo Madison and Joe King are featured in a modern social drama which has had its counterpart situations many times in real life. This is a reel drama is "The Human Menace." The scenario of the drama is by Bess Meredith and the production by Wilfred Lucas. Edward Sloman, Margaret House, Hylda Hollis, Laura Oakley and Ray Hansford play the minor roles with distinction.

At the Big Tent
Rentford's second week here closed Saturday night, the company playing to a capacity house and then some. The third week started on auspiciously, the Monday night play being up to the usual standards. Tonight the offering will be the laugh-provoking comedy, "What Happened to Smith." Just what happened to Smith has not been given out but it was enough, as can be witnessed tonight. The results of the happenings and Smith's part in them will satisfy the most critical. Wednesday a matinee will be given, with "Lena Rivers" as the offering.

The Empress.
Francella Billington and Frank Bennett are featured in "The Green Idol" a two part drama, exposing the fraud of the so-called seers of the occult. Winifred Greenwood and Ed Coxon are to be seen in one reel American drama, one of the series of short stories which show the wonderful art of these two favorites and a Keystone comedy "Hogan Out West" completes the program. The new "made in Wichita" song, "The Bloom of the Roses Has Faded Away" will be introduced to the public Friday night at this theatre. Messrs. Hein and Katz are the authors.

The Majestic.
There were some who attended the production of "Hypocrites" yesterday at the Majestic Theatre who were not impressed, but for the thinkers there are a stupendous sermon in each scene of the picture. Christ's words, his wrath on the scribes and Pharisees, calling them "hypocrites" and from that time forth those who have followed in his calling have had the same reproach for the double dealers. The picture opens with a prologue, taken from ancient days. A monk, sculptor has created a figure of Truth which is unveiled on a public festival. The people, their eyes blinded by pettiness, are shocked by his conception of Truth and stone him. Only two women, a nun, the emblem of purity and a scarlet woman, veiled in all evil, are able to gaze at Truth without offense. The picture then comes down to the present day, the monk being embodied in a minister of the gospel in a modern city church. He preaches a great sermon one morning, like unto one preached by the Galilean centuries ago, but moves no one except to scorn. The preacher continues his message of Truth which the people will not hear and the different classes of hypocrites with which he deals are graphically pictured. The points are clearly made and the audience does not fail to go home. "Hypocrites" will be shown again today.

The Gem.
Gertrude McCoy and Augustus Phillips are featured in a two-part Edison "Tragedy of the Rails." A synopsis follows:
Belle, a telephone operator at a small railroad station, notices an announcement of a coming masquerade. She decides to attend the affair with Bob Hillman, an engineer. So she takes her evening's clothes. Bob dresses as a monk and they attend the ball together.
Arrayed in man's clothes and a long black mask, Belle is lured by the other girls to go into the men's smoking room. She enters without hesitation. The other girls laugh at her but move no one except to scorn. The preacher continues his message of Truth which the people will not hear and the different classes of hypocrites with which he deals are graphically pictured. The points are clearly made and the audience does not fail to go home. "Hypocrites" will be shown again today.

BLANCHE SWEET FEATURED AT EMPRESS WEDNESDAY

The first Wednesday Paramount feature will be played tomorrow, the Empress management having secured the twice-a-week Paramount feature service. Blanche Sweet and House Peters are featured in "The Warrens of Virginia."

Agatha Warren, daughter of the aristocratic Southern General Warren, has before the Civil War, fallen in love with Ned Burton of New York. With the beginning of hostilities, Gen. Warren takes command of many of the Southern troops and Burton, becoming a lieutenant in the Union army, becomes

Lieutenant, the lovers being separated by their different sympathies. Most of the action of the drama, which is, beyond question the most superb battle spectacle ever produced—takes place during the closing days of the war, when Gen. Warren's soldiers are suffering from the lack of supplies. Burton is forced by his superior officers to use his intimacy with the Warren family in carrying a ruse which leads to the defeat of the supply trains coming to the relief of the Confederate army. When he is captured, Agatha, still loving him in spite of herself, offers him the means of escape, which he is too proud to accept. The timely surrender of Lee at Appomattox is all that saves him from being shot.

The sequel to these stirring events is the ultimate reunion of the lovers. "The Warrens of Virginia" ran for more than a year at the Belasco Theatre in New York City and is acknowledged to be one of the great classics of the American Civil War, showing the true motives of both sides and the sorrows of fratricidal warfare.

JAN WISIEWSKI MOST YOUTHFUL HERO OF WAR

Ten Year Old Boy Attempts Heroic Feat to Aid An Austrian Force

By Associated Press.
Vladimir Jan Wisiewski, aged 10, who died a hero, has been buried with full military honors in Mahrtsch-Welskirchen. He was one of the youngest, if not the youngest of the actual fighters in this war.

Jan's home was in Rychwald, from which he fled with his parents. Polish peasants, when the Russians came in December. The three were making their escape in a wagon when a piece of shrapnel killed his father and mother.

Neighbors took him in, but his childish mind clamored for revenge and he waited only until it was night to run away and join the Austro-Hungarian forces. The soldiers let him in the trenches and soon made him their favorite. He was so small that he could wriggle from one trench to another without making much of a target.

Last month when ammunition suddenly ran low during the midst of a vicious attack, and the fire was so hot that it was out of the question to make one's way to the ammunition wagons, Jan begged in vain to make a try for it, and when he was refused, made a dash for it.

He reached the train in safety, loaded himself down with cartridges, and began the return journey. A hundred feet from the trench the soldiers saw him fall, struck by a piece of shrapnel. While the men, regardless of the fire, ran toward him, he worked his way onward toward the trench until he collapsed ten feet away.

When the battle was over Jan was removed to the field hospital but his wounds were too severe, however, for him to survive them. He is mourned by his company as no other member has been.

U. C. V. REUNION IN RICHMOND IN JUNE

CITIZENS OF RICHMOND EXERTING EVERY EFFORT TO MAKE IT EVENTFUL

PRESIDENT MAY ATTEND

Three Notable Events Included in Reunion Program—Great Crowd Expected

Richmond, Va., April 27.—At this time next month the old capital of the Confederacy will be alive with Confederate veterans, sons of Confederate veterans, daughters of the Confederacy, memorial associations and distinguished guests from all parts of the country.

The dates named for the annual gathering are June 1, 2, and 3, and every preparation is being made looking to the comfort and pleasure of the thousands of visitors who will be the reunion if his official duties will not prevent him from attending.

President Wilson has signified his intention to be present on one day of the reunion if his official duties will permit. Invitations likewise have been accepted by governors of fifteen states of the South.

Each of these events will be made the occasion of interesting exercises. In addition to the many celebrated Southern commands that will take part, the Richmond Light Infantry Blues' Battalion will have as its guests during the reunion the Governor's Light Foot Guards of Hartford and New Haven, and the Old Guard of New York, three of the oldest and most famous military organizations of the North.

By virtue of his position, Major General J. Thompson Brown, commander of the Virginia division, U. C. V. will be chief marshal of the big parade of the old guard in gray.

From present indications, the social side of the reunion will set a record for brilliancy. If this is the last reunion it will be said that none compared with it in its social features, and none surpassed it in its exemplification of the devotion of the South to the "lost cause."

BEING GUIDED BY APPETITE

In the Case of Normal Person There is Much to Be Said in Favor of Such Action.

Doctors say that this is a dangerous thing to do. If you have hardened and desecrated the membranes of your palate and your digestive system by the excessive use of narcotics like tobacco or opium or of alcoholic stimulants, of course you cannot trust the cravings of your degenerate appetite, says Leslie's Magazine.

One lady recently told of a child of four who was lying at the point of death, but who begged for pancakes and ham gravy.

Smoking hot pancakes, liberally enlivened with ham gravy, were given him and he recovered his appetite was satisfied.

MUCH JOY IN ANTICIPATION Its Stimulating Effect Seldom Given the Credit Which It So Thoroughly Deserves.

Few people realize how much benefit they obtain from anticipation. Indeed, were it not for its stimulating effect upon our minds half the joy of living would vanish because by looking forward into the future and trying to realize our pleasures and ambitions before they actually come to us we largely increase their happy effects.

The man who is unable to anticipate the future in any way whatever, who sees no reason in trying to taste his joys beforehand, who derives no satisfaction in building upon his hopes, misses a great deal of very wholesome pleasure.

The arbitrators have been working six days a week the last few weeks, including Saturday afternoons.

SYNOPSIS

Agatha Warren, daughter of the aristocratic Southern General Warren, has, before the Civil War, fallen in love with Ned Burton, of New York. With the beginning of hostilities, Gen. Warren takes command of many of the Southern troops and Burton enlisting in the Union army, becomes a Lieutenant, the lovers being separated by their different sympathies.

Most of the action of the drama—which is, beyond question the most superb battle spectacle ever produced—takes place during the closing days of the war, when Gen. Warren's soldiers are suffering from the lack of supplies. Burton is forced by his superior officers to use his intimacy with the Warren family in carrying a ruse which leads to the defeat of the supply trains coming to the relief of the Confederate army. When he is captured, Agatha, still loving him in spite of herself, offers him the means of escape which he is too proud to accept. The timely surrender of Lee at Appomattox is all that saves him from being shot.

The sequel to these stirring events is the ultimate reunion of the lovers. "The Warrens of Virginia" ran for more than a year at the Belasco Theatre in New York City and is acknowledged to be the one great classic of the American Civil War, showing the true motives of both sides and the sorrows of fratricidal warfare.

The real reason for the resignation of Rear Admiral Flske was that he had become so very officious that his conduct could no longer be tolerated. It developed that it was Flske who was responsible for the stories given out to the press to the effect that the U. S. was unprepared for war, and the jingoes have been making the most of that statement. This naturally brought about friction between Secretary Daniels and Admiral Flske, and finally terminated in the Secretary quietly informing the Admiral that in case of war the Admiral would be placed in command of a tug-boat. This led to Admiral Flske tendering his resignation, and doubtless that was what it was intended to lead to.

France will provide for her war-made orphans. The children whose fathers have been killed during the war will become wards of the Nation, and as such will be cared for as well and doubtless better in many instances than if they had not been made orphans. So far as is known France is the first and only country to adopt such a plan, and it is therefore to be commended. The father of the orphaned children were made such either through an order by the government forcing them to carry arms in defense of their country, or through their loyalty and in either case the children made fatherless should not suffer for lack of a proper and protector.

According to the New York Sun the debts of the people of the whole United States, including the debts of general and State governments, counties and municipalities, amounts to $49.97 per capita for the entire population, which is estimated at 100,000,000. In 1902 the per capita debt was $35.99, and twelve years before that it was $31.76. All of which goes to show how fast the American people are going into debt. "The lesson of these figures is," says the Sun, "that by prodigal spending, by reckless mortgaging of the future to support the whims and fads of the present, we have brought ourselves to a point where retrenchment becomes not an amiable virtue, but a hard necessity." It must impress on us that we and the European war have wasted our substance and overloaded our taxpayers, and that if we are to find relief from our oppressive incumbrance we must seek it in the amendment of our practices, and not look for relief in the outcome of foreign battles.

WHAT TEXAS NEEDS.

Editor The Times:
As our legislature is about to be called together again in another extraordinary session and you have not been lacking in speaking your sentiments as well as the sentiments of a large majority of your thinking readers and Texas for that matter—I am taking the liberty of sending you a list of what I consider is what Texas needs for the benefit of the rank and file of Texas.

First: We need "better made and better paid" legislators in many instances—composed of men big enough to know and to do their whole duty to the State and the "dear People" and too big to be bought or influenced away from said duty.

After a visit to Austin and seeing our legislature in session and at work the writer has decided that possibly it is an unwieldy body and needs trimming to some extent or else pay better wages that the general standard may be raised by sending more men of affairs and business down to Austin who will transact the business laid before them in a business way and so some. The above was clearly proven lately when a part of our legislators visited Dallas to the "corner stone banquet" and a part remained at Austin on the job for which they were being paid as they were also present for time and expected to adjourn in a very few days and many things that needed to be done and required time was yet undone.

The proof: The matters which were not attracted away from duty by this alluring banquet were not hand-capped, by members accomplished and transacted more business on that day than any previous day when they had a full house, and why.

If our legislators was composed of more of the "better made and better paid" men of affairs and business ability (who have business of their own) and fewer politicians who have area to grind, the re-districting of Texas would be an easy task and would be done with neatness and dispatch, and to the full satisfaction of all except possibly the last named class.

If it was possible to estimate policies—and it is to a great extent—by cutting out the politicians as they bob up (this is for the dear people to do) and putting in men of business in their stead, our position would be more tenable and life better worth living.

Second: If the politicians were cut out and the governor and state and county officials elected for four year terms instead of two as at present—no doubt we would be much better off by the change and do away with at least part of the political patronage, besides would save quite an expense bill to the "dear people". This could be brought about by adopting the "recall" and all officers subject to same, and when a man has served four years in any office he not to be eligible to office for a term of at least four years. This would do away with political patronage to a great extent also.

Third: That Texas is sorely in need of an auditing system. This needs but little discussion as we have the evidence all around about us, and Clay and Young counties are not exceptions.

Byers, Texas, April 26, 1915.

FLEETING FAME.

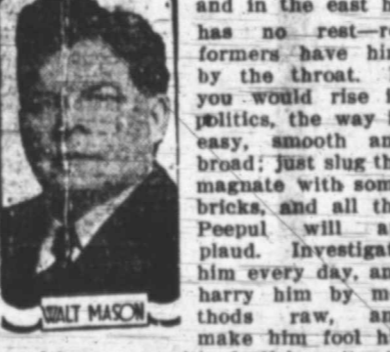

"But who is Artimus Ward? One sees him quoted occasionally in the English press, but something tells me that he was—or maybe—an American." Thus a writer, in the esteemed Springfield Republican, and apparently, as far as the context shows, in all seriousness. So much for the fleeting fame of the greatest American fun maker of his generation, who died, still a young man, in England forty-eight years ago, observed the Boston Herald. There was nothing English about him except his popularity as a lecturer there, and his death there from consumption. He sleeps under a modest, moss-covered stone in the little Waterford, Maine, he spoke of it as "Waterford, not far from Rumford." And on the stone is his real name, a name that now means far less than that under which his droll and whimsical humor won him the unstinted applause of his contemporaries.—Charles Farrar Browne.

It is of interest to note that the leading American humorist of the generation before Artemus Ward was also a Maine man, though his name is even less heard today—Seba Smith, a native of Buckfield, whose wit and satire made him a national figure in the politics of his day. And Maine likewise gave the world the leading American humorist in the generation that followed Artemus Ward—Bill Nye, a native of Shirely, near Moosehead lake. All of them died far from their native State, and the world which forgets its first and care in laughing at them and with them forgets them almost as quickly as its laughter dies away.—Waco News.

THE MAGNATE.

The magnate, in these modern days, is but a nervous wreck, the trembling, his gone, his destined ways, is though pursued by old Jack Ketch. "The legislature of the west have robbed him of his cherished goat, and in the east he has no rest—reformers have him by the throat. If you would rise in politics, the way is easy, smooth and broad; just slug the magnate with some bricks, and all the Peepul will applaud. Investigate him every day, and harry him by methods raw, and make him foot his wealth away, with foolish suits in courts of law. Appoint a dozen crazy "boards" to hamper and restrict his biz; no sympathy the world affords to him or anything of his. It's safe the magnate to abuse, to vilify, and then the Peepul will endorse, and say you have saved Your Country's Flag. And so the magnate sinks along, with none to cheer him or defend, the man who's ways in the wrong, who seeks in vain to find a friend. You ask what is the magnate's crime, that every cudgel on him breaks? He made this nation great, sublime, and so we hate him worse than snakes.

GERMANS BOMBARD YPRES WITH 17-INCH GUNS

London, April 27.—A dispatch from "Headquarters in Northern France" dated April 26 follows:

The Germans are now bombarding Ypres with seventeen-inch guns. The roar of these great pieces of artillery, latest product of the Krupp factories can be heard thirty miles along a front of twenty miles.

Tonight the sky is illuminated with the glare from the blazing homes and barns.

Stupefying Gases

The high northerly winds which for three days have been blowing from the German lines across the Anglo-French-Belgian trenches, carrying before them the stupefying gases, have now died down. There is complete calm, and the temper of the allied troops over what they claim the most flagrant breach of the rules of civilized warfare by the Germans is most bitter. From the highest officer down to the last-joined private the most bitter invective is being used against the Germans.

"I believe now that the Germans actually did massacre the Belgian people," said a Canadian officer of high rank, whom I saw in the field hospital, and who was suffering from the effects of gas.

Canadians Are Praised

Many of the Canadians who are in the hospitals are suffering from gas fumes. The entire Canadian corps in France was engaged, and all are the recipients of unstinted praise from General French and his staff for the part they played in the battle.

R. M. TODD ARRESTED ON LIQUOR SELLING CHARGE

One of Defendants in Fry Case Arrested Upon His Return to Graham

R. M. Todd, one of the defendants in the murder trial of week before last, was arrested here on a charge of selling whiskey, filed by Sheriff Wallace, and gave $500 bond for his appearance before the grand jury. Todd left here shortly after his acquittal and went to Fort Worth; in an interview there he said he would make his home in either Fort Worth or Wichita Falls. He went Graham on business, and while there was arrested on the whiskey selling charge, growing out of alleged operations on his part in December and January.

Todd was convicted once before on a similar charge, but the case was reversed in the higher court and was dismissed when it was called up again. The story is told that on one occasion when an effort was being made to ascertain if there was any boot-legging at Graham, a man was sent to Todd to buy whiskey; Todd sold him a bottle of fluid, but it was not whiskey. Another man was sent and purchased some bottled-bond goods, with the seal unbroken. This was introduced in evidence when Todd was tried and Todd invited attorneys and others to taste it. The bottle contained a quantity of perfectly good vinegar and Todd was discharged.

In the Fort Worth interview, Todd announced his purpose of leading a straight life hereafter, saying that when, for the first time, he saw his little son through the prison bars, he realized that he was due to mend his ways.

WORLDS LARGEST TEACHERS EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

University Station, April 26.—The largest teachers-employment bureau in the United States, masquerades under the unpretentious title of "Committee of Teachers" in the University of Texas. The salary list of teachers placed through this committee for the present year aggregates $300,000.

"If the usual 5 per cent were charged," says Professor Eby, chairman of the committee, "we would have a gross income of $15,000 per year. Add to this the usual registration fee of $3 for each applicant and the total gross receipts would amount to $16,500. However, this is merely one of the ways in which the University serves the schools of the State and its own students and alumni. We bring the position and the teacher together, charging nothing except the nominal registration fee of $1, which barely defrays postage and expenses incident to keeping the records of the office. Last year we sent above 300 university trained teachers into the schools and colleges of Texas and secured all about $25 positions for our applicants.

"We have now on our applicant list the names of above 300 qualified teachers and the season for applications is barely begun."

SOME ENGLISH SHIP OWNERS REAPING IMMENSE PROFITS

London.—Several large English ship-owners are piling up profits at the rate of $500,000 or more a month, and one firm at least is reported to have averaged practically a million dollars a month since the beginning of the war.

It is, of course, only those who have had their ships free who have been able to make money. Some owners had their vessels tied up by charters at normal figures and others had their ships taken by the government. Then all the shipowners have had to bear increased expenditures for wages, fuel, insurance and delays in port.

The people who are really making the money, according to a London shipping journal, are the Greek ship-owners. "For the last few years," it explains, "the Greeks have steadily been buying ships, and they now have a very considerable merchant marine. They can take full advantage of the high rates, and do not have to face the risks British shippers do, nor pay the extra wages."

His power of control is especially limited in modern war by the hail of lead and iron which sweeps over the whole area near the front line, and in such operations as are now in progress by the inevitable confusion resulting from close quarter fighting in enclosed country.

EVEN TOOTH PASTE TUBES BEING SAVED IN GERMANY

By Associated Press.

Berlin.—In line with German conservation methods one of the largest manufacturers of toilet preparations now is offering 3 pennings to all who will save the empty tubes of tooth-paste. Formerly contained tooth paste, and turned them in toward the general increase of the tin supply. The tubes now are wrapped in a flaming red paper which points out that "pure tin is valuable, and because of the war, scarce." Each purchaser is asked to return the empty tube to his druggist when he buys a new one.

WARSHIPS BUILDING IS MONOPOLIZING BRITISH YARDS

By Associated Press.

London.—Shipbuilding yards around the coast of Great Britain are more and more engaged on warship construction and the output of mercantile vessels is thereby decreasing. Last month only twelve vessels were launched on the Clyde against fifteen last year.

Ten new boats are fitting out in the Glasgow district, among them being the New Loyland liner Bostonian.

The East Coast yards are engaged on a number of small coasting trade vessels while the Irish yards are working overtime mostly on Government work.

At the Barrow works of Messrs. Wickers, Ltd., an increasing number of girls have been employed in various departments recently. An army of them now pass in and out of the works daily.

REPARATION TO BELGIUM TO UTTERMOST FARTHING

James Bryce Says That This is a Point on Which all Englishmen Agree

By Associated Press.

London, April 27.—"If there is anything in this country on which we are all agreed, it is that the uttermost farthing shall be exacted in the way of reparation," declared Viscount James Bryce in an address at University College here, speaking of the demands to be made upon Germany in behalf of Belgium.

"I believe that when the invading hosts marched into Belgium neither they nor Europe generally thought that the damage would be so considerable as we now know it to be. The destruction has been infinitely greater than anything that could have been imagined. There is no reason for relieving the aggressors and they must be held strictly to account. For much of the harm done there can be no compensation. It is beyond redress. And we ourselves can never sufficiently compensate the Belgians for their courage and fidelity to their obligations of honor and duty to ideals of country."

The occasion of Lord Bryce's address was the opening of the Remaking of Belgium exhibition, which deals with problems of town planning. As the speaker explained it, the object will be to combine the picturesque irregularity of the middle ages with modern ideas of air space and sanitation.

A commission of Belgian architects and engineers has for some time been making an exhaustive study of English town planning, with a view to applying the lessons in rebuilding of Malines, Louvain and other cities and towns in the destroyed area.

FEW REMINDERS OF WAR OBSERVED IN ODESSA

Metropolis of Southern Russia Still Gay Town Even Though 40,000 of Her Men at Front

By Associated Press.

Odessa, April 27.—There is little in Odessa to remind the casual visitor of the war. Along the roads are seen a few proclamations dealing with military matters; down the wide streets motor cars flying the Red Cross flag occasionally pass; under the trees and in the fashionable cafes may be found groups of convalescent officers nearly ready to return to the front. The hotels are rather more empty than usual, for Odessa is the Atlantic City of Russia, and people are mostly staying away from the fashionable watering places just now. The absence of some of the one time visitors has been especially noticeable since the German-Turkish cruiser Breslau bombarded the resort town of Yalta.

But Odessa is still a gay town, with the same stream of automobiles and carriages, the same well filled cafes and restaurants, the same smartly dressed women at the afternoon tea hour, the same brilliant jewelers and florists' shops and Odessa has about forty thousand men to the front, but there seem to be almost as many left as before.

At tea hour in the cafes, the visitor at once recognizes that the women residents of the town have turned their energies into war time channels. All sorts of work for the soldiers is under way even in the tea rooms and hotel parlors. Twice a week the women of the British colony meet in a room adjoining the English church, and they have sent sixteen hundred garments to the Russian front since the war began.

Southern flowers, fruits and vegetables are piled in inexpensive profusion in the Odessa shops. In Petrograd, 1,200 miles away, they would be unobtainable. The jewelers' shops, always one of the greatest attractions of Odessa, have not changed with the coming war. They still display a profusion of diamonds and sapphires such as could not be seen in the windows of any other city of Europe.

At night Odessa is dark but behind their heavy curtains, the hotels and dance halls and theatres and even the opera house still run on as usual, although most places must close at 11 o'clock in accordance with military orders. The street railway system one of the best in Europe, closes down at midnight. The harbor is dark and silent after sunset, and a constant patrol is maintained to guard against any surprise attack from the sea.

WALSH-ROCKFELLER CONTROVERSY AGAIN

Chairman Walsh Issues Statement In Endless Chain That Seems Started.

By Associated Press. Chicago, April 27.—Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the federal commission on industrial relations, issued a reply today to the statement of John D. Rockefeller Jr. Monday morning on the Colorado strike. Mr. Walsh says that the statement shows Rockefeller's letters correctly quoted. Mr. Walsh also says that Rockefeller fails to explain the amazing confession of L. M. Bowers that the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company leads in fixing prices and conditions of labor. "I am not surprised that Mr. Rockefeller," continued Mr. Walsh, "abuses me as he has. Mr. Rockefeller's personal abuse of myself is line with the customary policy of the Rockefeller family of crushing down any individual who may oppose them. I meet it with composure feeling sure that this very publicity will create a sentiment among the American people which will prevent any recurrence of the Ludlow horror."

The early rally was followed by a sharp decline. Active months sold 19 to 13 points net lower but offerings insured off at the last and prices raised to 2 or 4 points off last night's close. YANTIS' CASE TESTIMONY IS NEARLY COMPLETED

Defenses Rested Yesterday and Plaintiff Putting on Rebuttal Testimony Today.

The old question of who shall decide when doctors disagree confronts the jury in the case of G. R. Yantis vs. the Fort Worth & Denver Railway, now pending in the district court. The defense rested its case Monday afternoon and the plaintiff began his rebuttal testimony. N. McLaughlin, doctor Dr. W. B. Harris, an osteopath who formerly resided here was read; he gave his opinion that Dr. Yantis was permanently injured in the brain and spinal column. Miss Carrie Daugherty of the Wichita Sanitarium, who attended Dr. Yantis on the trip to New Orleans, was on the stand all of this morning, telling of the trip and of her experiences in handling Dr. Yantis' case. This afternoon Dr. J. W. DuVal was placed on the stand by the defense. The testimony of physicians for the plaintiff has been almost flatly contradicted by those for the defendant, and for the jury it will be largely a question of which to believe.

The case, which has been on trial for eight days, will probably not go to the jury before Thursday. The plaintiff is expected to close that side of the case by noon tomorrow, and argument will probably require part of Tuesday and all of Wednesday.

"How Would You Like to Hear a Record... LOUD, SOFT or SUBDUED?"

The Victor System of Changeable Needles Enables You to Meet Every Acoustic Condition

It gives you perfect control of the tone volume and enables you to adopt every record to the acoustic limitations of any room. The different kinds of Victor needles give you different and distinct gradations of tone, without which it would be necessary to have several instruments, each of a different tone to give such variation.

You choose the volume of tone and play each record as loud or as soft as you personally wish to hear it. Come in and hear your favorite music played with different needles and you will fully appreciate the infinite variety of charm afforded by the Victor system of tone control.
