GREAT STREET CAR STRIKE IN CHICAGO

MEN ON ELEVATED AND SURFACE LINES STRIKE FOLLOWING FAILURE OF MEDIATION.

THE JITNEYS HAVE INNING

Thousands are Unable to Reach Work and Every Line of the City's Activity is Affected.

By Associated Press. Chicago, June 14.—What is said to be the greatest street car strike the United States has ever known began here this morning at 4 a. m. Fourteen thousand persons were thrown out of employment, 1310 miles of single, elevated and surface track rendered idle and a burden thrown on steamroads, automobiles, trucks and other vehicles which they were able to use.

For four hours not a car moved then a south side train made a round trip and it was announced an attempt would be made to run cars with strike breakers and guards every fifteen minutes. The surface lines made no attempt to work. Police and private guards were stationed over all company property but no disorder was reported during the early morning.

The tie-up in one way or another affected every branch of the city's activities. Steam railroads put on extra trains and extra coaches. Lines of persons waiting to get through the turnstiles stretched for many blocks. Thousands were unable to get to their work.

The rupture over hours and service and wages came last night when Mayor Thompson admitted that his attempt to mediate was a failure. W. C. Mahon, national president of the union of street car employees returned today to Detroit, his headquarters, the better place to direct the financial affairs of the union.

A car load of strike breakers was reported to have arrived secretly from Cincinnati. It was stated that no attempt would be made for several days to run surface cars.

Orders to strike were issued after an all day conference between the union leaders, transportation company and Mayor Thompson, who made an attempt to bring about a settlement. Neither side would yield. The strikers had demanded a guarantee of a wage increase. The officials of the company refused their demands. To meet it would mean an increase of $1,400,000 annually, the officials said. W. C. Mahon, international president of the street car men's union was at the conference.

BOYS AND WOMEN IN GEORGIA MOB

TAKE NEGRO FROM JAIL AT TOLUCAO, GEORGIA AND HANG AND SHOOT HIM.

FIVE OFFICERS ARE WOUNDED

Mob at Winnsboro, S. C., Opens Fire When the Sheriff Resisted the Seizure of Negro Prisoner.

By Associated Press. Toccoa, Ga., June 14.—Sam Stephens, a negro was removed from the Stephens county jail early today by a mob of boys, women and armed men, hanged to a nearby tree and shot to death. The negro was said to have visited the home of a farmer living near here Sunday, overpowered his sixteen year old daughter and dragged her to the woods where she was choked to insensibility. The negro was arrested at Milledgeville, S. C., and brought here where he was said to have been identified by the girl.

Smith was to have been placed on trial here today on a charge of assault alleged to have been committed early in April. Officers here fearing an attempt at lynching, had placed the negro in the state penitentiary at Columbia for safe keeping until time for his trial. Sheriff Hood and his deputies with Smith under guard, had reached the court house today when a mob of about 100 armed men attempted to seize the prisoner. The sheriff warned them to desist but his order was disregarded and some one fired at the negro. The firing immediately became general and lasted for about ten minutes. The negro prisoner was among the first to fall, his body riddled with bullets and small shot.

TWO KILLED WHEN MOB ATTEMPTS TO TAKE NEGRO

By Associated Press. Winnsboro, S. C., June 14.—A white man named Eisenbaur was shot and mortally wounded and a negro, Smith, the latter charged with criminal assault was killed and five officers were wounded. Sheriff A. D. ANTI-GERMAN RIOTS ARE REPORTED IN MOSCOW

Outbreak of Sickness Attributed by Mob to Poison Administered by the Germans.

By Associated Press. Moscow, June 11, by mail to Petrograd, June 14.—For the past few days there has been street rioting and anti-German demonstrations which the police could not control and which quieted only when the mob seemed to grow tired. Demonstrations broke out because of the outbreak of sickness in employees of a certain factory. This caused the belief that a German sympathizer had poisoned them.

WEST VIRGINIA MUST SHARE DEBT

MUST PAY $12,393,929 AS ITS SHARE OF STATE DEBT BEFORE PARTITION.

CASE OF LONG STANDING

One of Oldest Controversies Before United States Supreme Court Has Been Decided.

By Associated Press. Washington, June 14.—The supreme court today decided the long standing Virginia-West Virginia debt case, holding that West Virginia should pay $12,393,929 as its net share of Virginia's debt at time of partition of the State.

The controversy between Virginia and West Virginia over the payment of the old state debt in existence at the time of the separation of West Virginia in 1863, has been one of the most prolonged ever before the Supreme Court. The court for years delayed entering a final judgment in hopes of an amicable adjustment of the dispute.

Before the separation of West Virginia from Virginia, Virginia had a state debt of $33,000,000 incurred mainly as the result of an ambitious scheme to provide canal and slack water navigation along the courses of the St. James, and Kanawha rivers, with the hope of making a navigable waterway from Richmond to the Ohio and Mississippi, an elaborate project of macadamized roads, then of railroads.

WICHITA FALLS TEAMS WIN IN SUNDAY GAMES

City League Players Defeat Fort Hill While Independents Shut Out Electra Team

Wichita Falls baseball teams won two games Sunday afternoon. A nine man team of Twilight League players defeated the Fort Hill team, 3 to 2 at the Lake Park, while the Electra team won from the Fort Hill team at Electra 6 to 0.

The game with the soldiers was closely contested and only fast and excellent fielding by the locals prevented a defeat. Both sides scored two runs in the first inning and the locals added another in the fifth. Smith pitched effectively for the Whites.

WOODMEN HEAR MEMORIAL SERMON

REV. C. C. SMITH PREACHES ON THE BY-PRODUCTS OF RELIGION

HAPPINESS A BY PRODUCT

Many of Best Things in Life, He Says, Not in Themselves Main Ends

The By-Products of Religion was the theme of Rev. Chas. Clark Smith in his memorial sermon to the Woodmen of the World at the First M. E. Church, corner Seventh and Lamar streets. He cited the big packing houses and the big oil companies as industrial organizations which have developed to a high degree the utilization of the by-products incidental to the production of their main product.

God displayed the art of making much of by-products in nature, he said, before man began to interpret it. He told his hearers citing the beauty of the sunshine, the inspiration of a beautiful sunset or sunrise, the gorgeous colors and beautiful tints of the heavens.

The world might have been just as serviceable without being so good, he said, but evidently God in His great plan has had something more than bare utility in mind. Man sometimes reduces himself to the commonplace of utility but God has had respect to the full capacity of man and has provided the world for his full intelligence.

In attempting to define the purpose of life we are limited of course to a definition framed from a human standpoint. Just why God created us we are not quite prepared to say. It seems to manifest that God has created us to be happy and to be good.

Another disquieted point of construction was whether the "intention" referred to in the Webb-Kenyon law was the intention of the express company that the liquor should be used in violation of law, or merely the intention of the consignee that it should be received, possessed, sold or used in violation of law.

Several points as to the validity and construction of the State liquor laws were involved in one or the other case. One was whether a State may make the place of delivery of interstate shipments the place of sale within the meaning of their law prohibiting the sale of liquor. Another question was whether a State may make it an offense for a non-resident dealer to solicit by mail orders from citizens of the State for the sale of liquor.

Similar points as to the constitutionality and construction of the Webb-Kenyon law have arisen in Delaware, Tennessee, Iowa, Texas, Alabama, North Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, South Carolina, Mississippi and Idaho.

A DECISION IN THE WEBB KENYON CASES

SUPREME COURT RULES FOR EXPRESS CO WITHOUT PASSING ON CONSTITUTIONALITY

OTHER CASES ARE ACTED ON

Court Declines to Review Conviction of Gambetti White Slavery Case

By Associated Press. Washington, June 14.—The supreme court today disposed of the so-called Webb-Kenyon liquor cases without determining the constitutionality of the Webb-Kenyon law. The Kentucky case was a prosecution of the Adams Express Company for bringing liquor for personal use from Tennessee into Whitley county, Kentucky, "dry territory." Justice Day of the court held it was bound to accept the decision of the Kentucky court of appeals that the Webb-Kenyon law was not applicable under that decision, the constitutionality of the express company was not added.

The court declined to review the conviction of the officers of the National Cash Register Company of alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It also declined to review the conviction of S. Drew Gambetti of Sacramento, California on charges of violating the white slave act. No decision was handed down today in the International Harvester trust case.

The question of the constitutionality of the Webb-Kenyon liquor law was raised long before its enactment in 1913 by Congress and questions over its constitutionality were raised immediately after it went into effect.

The law was entitled "an act diverting intoxicating liquors of their interstate character in certain cases." It provided in a few words that the shipment of intoxicating liquors from one State to another, which is an intoxicating liquor is intended by any person interested therein, to be received, possessed, sold or in any manner used in violation of any law of such State is hereby prohibited.

Twenty-four days after the law was enacted by Congress over President Taft's veto, a grand jury in Whitley county, Ky., a dry county, indicted the Adams Express Co. for carrying intoxicating liquor from Tennessee into Whitley county in violation of the Kentucky statute making it unlawful to carry liquor into "dry territory." The company was fined $50, so small a fine that it could not appeal to the higher Kentucky courts so an appeal was taken directly to the United States supreme court.

The two cases were brought together for decision. In both, the question centered on whether the Webb-Kenyon law made the respective State laws applicable to the interstate shipments. In both, the Kentucky interests contended that the law was unconstitutional and attorneys for the anti-saloon league and the States argued that it was valid.

The argument of unconstitutionality was passed on the claim that the States cannot regulate interstate commerce and Congress cannot delegate power to them to do so. Its validity was urged on the ground that Congress, having the power to prohibit, entirely, liquor shipments could prohibit a part thereof.

OVER THE GARDEN WALL

New York, June 14.—"What is so rare as a day in June, When Earth tries heaven if it be in tune?"

So thinks the girl who rathers up her gaily painted sprinkling pot, her shears, her basket and her kneeling-pad and trudges off to the garden to enjoy an hour or two of solitude and intimate association with the sunshine and flowers. It is quite a fact—this pottering among your own posies; a phenomenon one might almost call it, wherein the artistic finds expression in paraphernalia which blends with the landscape.

The shops abound with gay importations. Smocks, bonnets and aprons, to tempt those who tarry within the garden gate. The smocks in themselves are enough to turn one to rakes, spades and garden baskets. I am told the fad originated in England; certainly, it is charming enough to belong to old Britain. This garment had much the appearance of a middy, grown to greater length, coming just below the knee, being slashed to slip on over the head. Usually it is made with set-in sleeves and yoke, and ameked front and back and on pockets and buttons. For the most part, linen, unbleached muslin, cretonne and silk are used in the making.

All a garden, with cockle-shells and down town section of the city, made a name for himself in the early season, by introducing the garden sticks, these are wooden cases pointed at one end with figures of animals, people, and flowers on the top, to stick in the ground and tie the plants to. A maiden all forlorn stands side by side with the man all shaven and shorn; for $2.50 the pair will hold up your pet rose bush all summer, or keep the golden-glow in order. A black cat with black humped and tall skyward, in another familiar figure on the sticks and blue beads and red cardinals, make bright spots in great abundance. Some imported have Dutch windmills on top and an expensive stick has a fairy, gracefully poised on a toadstool. One man has even gone so far as to use bonny rabbits in place of the birds, and an ingenious friend ties on the gift card.

Nothing in your garden trim. May the plan stick straight and tall in the warm sun. By its brightness gladden all. No need, however, to rely wholly on the sticks for color. Bamboo baskets for weeds and knees, are made bright with cushions of figured cretonne; the kneeling-pad of green rush is bound with red tape, that it, too, may have the spirit of the sunshine and flowers; and baskets are enameled and painted with roses, buttercups and daffodils. Even aprons take on a gala day aspect, being made of chintz, cretonne, or quaint, checked, pink gingham.

The woman who makes gardening her summer pastime may even go farther and select the dress she wears with the apron to harmonize with grass, flowers and dove-cote. A brown burial or dark blue linen will give the desired effect, made with plain waist, full skirt and the broad organdy collar and cuffs that we have come to call Quaker. She will have no trouble in finding these accessories. The sports shops must have anticipated the craze, for there are hats, gloves and shoes, galore for the purpose. First come the peanut straws and cane bottom chair hats, with floppy brims, to protect the wearer from the sun. These are trimmed with a rosette of cretonne to match the smock, or appear a velvet bow or a cluster of straw flowers. Then there are poke shapes and sunbonnets with streamers of cretonne which have taken their style from a peep in a 1915 fashion book; but the Chinese coolie hats are the novelties of the season.

With streamers attached at the side, minky can wear the platform of her head, or when the sun is yet in the east use it as a basket to carry her flowers. Since gloves must be worn to protect the hands, the stores are showing chamolis and canvas. The gloves, if they listen close, you will hear the girl behind the counter tell each customer in a bored voice to buy a size larger than they wear. It is easy to tell the china girl, too, has been caught in the thrall of the gardening craze, and is thinking, no doubt, of larkspur and roses, instead of the gloves her customer wears.

Garden etiquette even reaches to shoes. White canvas is the approved material, and you may have a comfortable, flat sneaker or trim pump, with medium heel in this fabric. With such settings, fittings and clothes, gardening becomes more than a mere pleasure—it now is a real sport of the summer; when you meet a friend, it's not how many miles you have motored, or how many tournaments won, but how does your garden grow since the last drought, rain or storm of the season?

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from woman's trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to try Cardui. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

PETER, THE PESSIMIST

By MISS IDALINE WILLIAMS.

(Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Hearts—crush them! Love—tear it up by the roots! Charity—eliminate it! I hate all the world! I am going to devote my time, my money, my life to adding all the evil I can to humanity."

Thus Peter Martin, pacing up and down his office in a wild frenzy.

His closest business friend, John Jarvis, had induced him some time previous to invest nearly half his fortune in an extensive mining proposition. Suddenly the shares had gone down. It was predicted that they would go lower. Peter, not wishing to lose all of his investment, sold out at a tremendous loss. Now he learned that the very man who had bought his stock through a broker was John Jarvis, who had left the city and the stock had immediately gone up twenty points.

This seemed to be a consoling detail for the old man in his present cynical and pessimistic mood. He started in on his hideous program, trying to imagine himself a fierce, merciless wolf.

"Where shall I begin?" he gloated. "Ah, I have it! I have it! I have it! A most glorious revenge! Fitting the occasion! I have never catered to the feminine sex, but now—I will break a woman's heart! Ah! the glorious satisfaction of the act! And the victim—John Jarvis' sister. She has always seemed to be interested in me. I will lead her on. I will propose, I will awaken all her ambition and love—if any human being can really love. Then I will deride her, crush her, humiliate her, desert her! A fit act of vengeance against her renegade brother! And the joy, the glory of plunging a woman into distress and heartbreak!"

That evening the old schemer secured the expert services of barber, haberdasher and tailor, and appeared at the home of Miss Eva Jarvis in quite youthful trim.

She was a lovely woman at forty. What Peter must have been at natural and benevolent normal, her sweet, sympathetic face reflected. Her deep eyes sparkled at his apparent increase of interest in her.

With a grim, grim-look Peter listened to her rhapsodies over "Brother John." He made no comment as she told of his being away, "making a quick fortune."

"Which I pay for!" muttered Peter, but he soon drifted into a pleasant frame of mind. Somehow, never before had this gentle, earnest woman seemed so superior to all her sex. His soul was drifting, seeking slack and in the winning way of Miss Jarvis he found an indescribable peace from the wild turmoil of his riotous emotions. And because this lovely woman had always respected and admired him—and something more—her ways had a new flattering beauty about them, captivating her visitor more than ever.

"A charming woman, truly," reflected Peter, as he left her. "What a life of peace I could live with her, but—No! to crush! to destroy! I have set out on a career of wild wickedness!"

Again that evening what Peter was sure was in the pursuance of his heart-breaking scheme, influenced him to visit Miss Jarvis. He was greeted with surprise.

"I have had a strange letter from Brother John," she told Peter. "He says he is going abroad to enjoy his new fortune. If I wish to go, I am to start at once for Denver to get a new wardrobe."

Peter's mind was on the bolt. To think of it: The arch-villain, his treacherous partner, was about to wrench from him his fond revenge! Jarvis idolized his sister. With money, with her, he would escape the deadly vengeance!

And—ah!—a new thought, a fierce, devastating thought, the thought of all thoughts! He would propose at once to Eva. He would really marry her. He would torture the base John Jarvis by robbing him of the sister's company on his tour!

Peter Martin proposed to Miss Jarvis. He was accepted. He left the house jubilant. He would center his wicked malignity in thus disturbing the cherished plans of that scoundrel, John Jarvis!

He caught himself humming a happy tune, and cherishing a fair woman's face, and planning for the home he would build. With a great uproar John Jarvis burst into his private office.

"It's done, old friend!" he roared, slapping Peter jovially on the shoulder.

"You mean you've done me!" observed Peter.

"Hey!" stared Jarvis. "Ah, I understand. I instructed my private secretary to tell you everything, as he went on a spree and forgot. I've got your stock put secretly aside. Peter, we're rich! I got a hint, hurried to the mines and found out that the richest lode in Nevada had been discovered. Then I bought in all the stock I could—on our joint account."

"Hum! ha!" sounded Peter, and wisely said no more.

"Confidentially, Peter, old boy," jubilated Jarvis, "we've got the mine, you and I!"

"And, confidentially," responded Peter, his tones partaking of a cheer effect—"I've got Eva!"

FRANK BYARS ACQUIRES HOTEL AT VERNON

Frank Byars, formerly manager of the St. James Hotel here has purchased the Hotel Vernon according to an item in the Vernon Record which says:

"Deals were closed this week whereby the Hotel Vernon building and its furnishings were transferred to the proprietorship of Frank Byars, a well known hotel man of Electra. The consideration in the two transactions is not announced, but it is understood to have been sufficiently large to place them among the largest transactions in local realty circles in many months."

Mr. Byars will take charge of the property and assume management of the hotel July 1st. Before that date, however, a considerable amount of improving in the interior of the building will be done. Every room in the building is to be repapered and the woodwork painted by Mr. Pierce, who had decided upon these improvements before negotiations for the sale of the property had begun.
