SALVATION ARMY WILL GIVE PICNIC THURSDAY

Mothers and Children Will Be Given Outing at Lake—Will Make Trip in Automobiles

The annual picnic given by the Salvation Army to the mothers and children of the needy families of the city will be held tomorrow at Lake Wichita and at least 250 women and little ones are expected to attend.

A sure enough picnic dinner will be served at the lake, and all the attractions of that resort will be enjoyed by the picnickers, many of whom have attended such occasions in the past and are aware of the bounteous hospitality of the army.

This picnic is an annual affair given by the army and is always a memorable event for those attending.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICES EARN THEIR VACATIONS

Washington, July 7.—Supreme court justices, who notwithstanding their conclusion and short hours on the bench, are classed among the hardest working government officials, enjoy the reputation of deriving most recreation from their summer vacations.

Now free of political cares, they are seeking rest and recreation in cooler climates and most of them will not return to the capital until the beginning of the October term of court.

Chief Justice Walker will spend his vacation at Lake Placid in the Adirondacks. Walking is his favorite exercise. With some agreeable company, the chief justice may be seen walking for hours at a time, stopping abruptly now and then to emphasize a point or drive an argument.

Justice Pitney will spend most of his vacation on the golf links in his home state at Morristown. Justice Day will remain in Washington, a devotee of baseball, until mid-summer when he will go to Mackinac. Justice Holmes goes to his cottage at Beverly, Mass., where with his family, he is a figure in North Shore society.

CITIZENS BATTLE WITH BANK ROBBERS

AFTER FIGHT LASTING AN HOUR SEVEN BANDITS ESCAPE WITH LOOT

LEAVE IN AN AUTOMOBILE

Three Attempts to Blow Safe While Others Stood off Citizens Exchanging Many Shots

By Associated Press.

Little Rock, Ark., July 7.—After engaging in a desperate pistol battle for nearly an hour with nearly a hundred citizens of England, Lonoke county, twenty miles from Little Rock, seven robbers who attempted to dynamite the safe of the bank of England escaped in an automobile. Marshall N. W. Whitlock was severely wounded.

The attempted robbery and the battle occurred about three o'clock this morning. The robbers secured about $200 in silver which was in the till in the cashier's case. Three of the robbers attempted the robbery while two stood at the front entrance and two at the rear entrance of the bank. Five charges of nitro glycerin were exploded by the men inside while the four outside kept up an incessant shooting toward citizens who had discovered the attempt at robbery at the first explosion.

When the robbers realized their attempts had proved futile they left the bank, marched in close formation down the principal street of England and drove the crowd into the main hotel and climbed into an automobile and drove away. Weapons for the job were secured from a hardware store which they burglarized earlier in the night and obtained some shotgun. No arrests have been made.

JOHN T. STATON DIES AFTER 5 WEEKS ILLNESS

Was Pioneer Citizen of Wichita County, Coming Here in 1886—Typhoid Fever Caused Death

John T. Staton, a pioneer citizen of Wichita Falls, died at his home at 1419 Twelfth street at 11:05 Tuesday night after an illness of about five weeks from typhoid fever complicated with stomach trouble. He was taken sick while on a trip to Oklahoma to look after his interests there and came back home a very sick man.

Mr. Staton was born in Wayne county, Illinois, January 5, 1856. He was married to Miss Nell Newby on October 13, 1878 and in 1881 came to Texas to make his home. The family first settled in Waxahatchee where they lived for six years coming to Wichita county in 1886. After eleven years residence in this county the family moved to Cheyenne, Okla., returning to Wichita Falls six years ago.

Mr. Staton was interested in farming lands in this section and in Oklahoma, owning oil lands near Electra. He was also interested in business property and had other interests in Wichita Falls. He had been a member of the Methodist church for fifteen years.

He leaves a widow, four sons and one daughter, Mrs. Mabel Jones of Elkhart, Okla. His sons, who live in Wichita Falls, are: Roscoe, Roy, Claude and William. The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the family residence and will be conducted by Rev. A. L. Andrews of the First M. E. Church, South.

HOLT PLANNED TO BLOW UP STEAMSHIPS AND BUILDINGS

NOW BELIEVED THAT HOLT HAD ACCOMPLICES IN OPERATION

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 7.—Washington officials are investigating indications that Frank Holt's expenses were higher than his small income as a college instructor. The officials are trying to discover the source of Holt's money. Prof. Charles Munroe, the expert on explosives of the bureau of mines, who conducted the investigation here after Holt had dynamited the capital building declared today that he was confident Holt had accomplices or at least a source of money for his operations.

DYNAMITE FOUND IN HOLT'S TRUNK

HE INTENDED TO WRECK BUILDINGS WITH 134 STICKS OF EXPLOSIVE

AUTOPSY ON BODY IS HELD

Death Due to Fractured Skull Caused By Holt's Leap From Top of His Cell Door

By Associated Press.

New York, July 7.—Frank Holt, the man who shot J. P. Morgan last night today in an undertaking establishment at Hempstead, Long Island and New York police had in their possession his trunk containing 134 sticks of dynamite with which he planned to wreck public buildings in New York and other cities.

Walker R. Jones, the medical examiner issued a statement after an autopsy had been performed by the prison physician. His statement says: "Holt came to his death by a compound fracture of the skull and cerebral hemorrhage caused by a fall."

Investigation was in progress today to ascertain whether the suicide was due to negligence of any jail official. There were many conflicting reports as to the manner in which Holt met his death, but it was definitely established through Dr. Cleghorn, the jail physician, that Holt died of a fractured skull.

District Attorney Smith searched Holt's cell immediately after arriving at the jail and found a letter, written on yellow paper. This letter, which Holt must have written before he attempted suicide early this morning when the pencil with which he tried to sever an artery was taken from him, was addressed to "To my dears," and followed: "I must write once more. The more I think about it the more I see the uselessness of living under circumstances such as these. Bring up the dear babies in the love of God and man. God bless you, my sweet. Affectionately."

"(All please pardon me for all the heartache I have brought you. Pray with me that the slaughter will stop. My heart breaks. Good-bye.)"

Several of those about the jail said they heard an explosion, the report coming from Holt's cell. This noise, it was believed, was due to the balling of boards from the top of the cell.

Jeremiah O'Byrne, the keeper who was detailed to watch Holt, said he was fifteen feet from the cell when he heard a loud report. He looked in the direction of the cell, but it was dark. Entering he found Holt's body in a pool of blood in the corner.

The excitement that followed the noise brought Warden Hulse and other jail authorities to the scene. District Attorney Lewis J. Smith and Dr. Cleghorn, together with several constables, immediately began investigation.

Holt, early tonight, before killing himself, admitted to detectives that he did not tell the truth when he said that he made the bomb exploded in the capitol at Washington out of sulphuric acid and match heads and said also that he did not tell the truth about his movements in Washington and New York.

Holt made these admissions when confronted by evidence tending to show that he made the capitol bomb in a bungalow which he rented near here about ten days ago. They followed the positive identification by Lewis Ott of Holt as the man who had rented the bungalow and found numerous bottles and corks punctured in the center, small vials and pictures of a dozen public buildings throughout the country, three of which were marked. Frank McCabill, a local constable,

Chicago Professor Discovered Mueunter as Holt But Did Not Expose Him, He Said

By Associated Press.

Glencove, La., July 7.—Frank Holt who attempted to take the life of J. P. Morgan and who committed suicide last night was identified today as Erick Mueunter, the Harvard instructor who disappeared after being indicted for the murder of his wife in Cambridge, Mass., in 1906. The identification was made by F. P. Smith, state detective of the district attorney's office of Middlesex county, Massachusetts; Theodore Hillier, an automobile man of Cambridge and A. T. Brown, a Boston newspaper man. Detective Smith brought with him from Boston the Bertillon measurements of Mueunter and it was found that they tallied in every way with Holt's measurements.

Chicago, July 7.—Positive identification of Frank Holt as Professor Erick Mueunter, who was alleged to have murdered his wife was made today by Prof. Chester H. Gould of the University of Chicago. Professor Gould in a statement made public today admitted that he had identified Mueunter, who was a former student under him at the University here, while at Cornell University last summer. He said that he decided for several reasons not to expose the man "as he seemed to be going along nicely, and I thought it would be better to let well enough alone. I had every opportunity to observe him and hear him speak English and German and there can be no doubt that Holt was Erick Mueunter."

BOMBS FOUND ON OTHER STEAMERS

UNEXPLODED BOMBS FOUND ON SEVERAL SHIPS SAILING FROM NEW YORK

SHIPS CARRIED CONTRABAND

Placing of Bombs Believed Work of Germany Sympathizers in this Country

By Associated Press.

New York, July 7.—Three ships sailing from this port to Havre, France and reaching there last May, it was learned from an authoritative source, were found to have unexploded bombs aboard, the missiles having been placed on the ships in this city before sailing.

H. C. Hill, European representative of an American automobile company which has made large shipments of military automobiles to France, who arrived here today on the steamer Espagne, said that a British ship loaded here in May for Havre with automobiles and grain for the French army was found to have two bombs on board when she reached her destination. Mr. Hill refused to give the name of the ship, saying to do so might hamper an investigation now under way. One of the bombs, he said, evidently was designed to be exploded by the motion of the ship causing an acid and chemical to mix, and unusually smooth passage probably resulted in the failure of the plot, he thought.

"It also has been found," he said, "that attempts to render useless automobiles shipped to the allies are frequent. We keep at Havre a large force of mechanics to examine each machine. On several occasions recently emory dust has been found in the cylinders."

Two of the three vessels menaced by bombs it was learned were the British steamship Bankdale which sailed from New York, May 7 for Havre and the Lord Erne which sailed April 29 for Havre.

WAR BRINGING FREEDOM TO TURKISH WOMEN

Hamburg.—Turkish news is in the greatest vogue in Germany at the present time. German papers have just printed, as an evidence of the growth of occidental ideas in Turkey, a story of the increasing freedom of women telephone operators in Constantinople.

"Though there was the utmost opposition at the start to the idea of Turkish women violating their country-old traditions by entering the exchange and 'exposing' themselves to the public, this feeling has almost entirely died away. To facilitate their work the authorities have allowed them to abandon the prescribed Turkish head-dress and wear a cap that does not interfere with the telephone head-piece.

Women have become so proficient—so indispensable in fact—that a woman, Miss Osman, has been placed in entire charge of the Stamboul exchange. When the telephone operators attempted recently to conduct an out-door picnic along occidental lines, however, all of the old-time prejudices arose, and a policeman spoiled the whole affair by forcing the women to sit down with their backs to the men.

MAY HAVE PLACED BOMBS ON LINERS

IN LETTER TO WIFE HE TOLD OF PLAN TO 'DESTROY STEAMERS AT SEA'

LINERS WARNED BY WIRELESS

United States Cruiser Hurrica After Passenger Ships Named in Holt's Threat of Destruction

By Associated Press.

New York, July 7.—Frank Holt, who attempted last Saturday to assassinate J. P. Morgan after placing a bomb in the capitol building which exploded Friday night, planned to destroy the trans-Atlantic liners Saxonia and Philadelphia by dynamite, which it believed, he placed aboard the vessels before they sailed from New York for Liverpool, July 3. Holt so advised his wife in a letter he sent to her at Dallas, Texas.

This letter Police Commissioner Woods of the New York City police department announced today was taken by Mrs. Holt and her father to a former governor of Texas. The former governor, whose name was withheld, communicated with Major Pullman who at once transmitted the information to the United States navy department and police headquarters here. Warnings by wireless were sent broadcast over the Atlantic from stations on the eastern seaboard advising the Saxonia and Philadelphia to steer towards each other. Commissioner Woods announced that the navy department had arranged to send a fast cruiser after the liners. The Philadelphia replied that everything aboard had been identified and that all was well.

The failure of the Saxonia to reply was not regarded as of especial significance as it was thought she might have passed out of the wireless zone. The Saxonia has 324 passengers. The Philadelphia has 628.

The Cunard line and American line were both notified by Commissioner Woods and they also endeavored to reach steamers by wireless. At both offices it was said that it would be practically impossible for anyone to pass the many lines of guards at the piers and to place explosives aboard the ships. The Cunard line stated that there were six lines of guards protecting its vessels from intruders.

Explosions due today. In Holt's letter to his wife he advised her to watch the newspapers of Wednesday, July 7 and told her that she would see in those papers just what he had done. "Steamers leaving New York July 3 will be destroyed in mid ocean by an explosion," Holt is quoted as having written. On the margin of the letter there was a penciled admission to his wife to say nothing about what he had written.

The fact that such a letter had been written by Holt presumably prior to his attempt on Mr. Morgan's life was known to the police at 9 a. m., yesterday but no public announcement was made of it until today. The first word of his letter came from Glencove, its contents were divulged by a man who had talked with Holt in his cell.

MRS. HOLT TOLD OF HER HUSBAND'S DEATH

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Tex., July 7.—Admission that Mrs. Frank Holt received a letter yesterday from her husband intimating that he had planned to blow up more buildings and trans-Atlantic liners with timed bombs was made here today by Mrs. Holt's attorney, J. E. Cockrell. Mrs. Holt had previously denied receiving the letter.

"The proper authorities were notified immediately," explained Mr. Cockrell, "and for their reasons nothing was made public about that feature of the letter."

Portions of this letter were made public yesterday in which Holt described a bomb that wrecked a room in the national capitol and told of plans to hold the Morgan family as hostages while he sent J. P. Morgan to stop shipment of munitions of war to Europe.

Mrs. Holt was told this forenoon that her husband had taken his life. Her father, O. F. Sensabaugh, said that her physician refused to let Mrs. Holt be told last night.

"My daughter was prepared for anything and first appeared calm," said Mr. Sensabaugh. "But later she went off into a room by herself. She came out in a short while and since that time has been very calm."

Holt will be buried at Ithaca, N. Y., announced Mr. Sensabaugh, saying that his daughter wanted the ceremony as simple as possible. No member of the family will attend the funeral, but his wife and her mother will go to Ithaca as soon as Mrs. Holt is able to travel to visit his grave.

The Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, met in regular business session Tuesday afternoon at the church.

MCDONALD-McBRIDE WEDDING OF INTEREST LOCALLY

The following item from the Jackson Independent of Jonesboro, La., will be of interest to many here. The bride was here for some time several years ago, being at one time stenographer for Judge Scurry and also later connected with a local bank. The northbound evening train brought quite a surprise last Thursday in a new made bridal party from Winnfield, Mr. W. W. McDonald Jr., and Miss Lulu McBride, both of Jonesboro having quietly united in wedlock in Winnfield earlier in the evening. Miss Lala, who had been visiting in Jones, stopping at a Winnfield, where she was met, by appointment, by Mr. McDonald and privately wed. On arriving in Jonesboro, Mr. McDonald and his bride were driven at once to the home of W. W. McDonald Sr., where they will make their future home and at night young friends, accompanied by the Jonesboro high school band, went out and serenaded the happy pair. The groom, a son of W. W. McDonald, is a young man of sterling characteristics and fine business proclivities, while the bride, a daughter of Sheriff McBride, is a popular young lady of this community, with very graceful personality and possessed of many admirable traits of character. The happy union starts out under the most favorable auspices for a successful future. With their host of admiring friends the independent joins in the wish that their most treasured dreams of domesticity may be realized.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR LITTLE SERENICE MARTIN

In celebration of the seventh birthday of her little daughter, Serenice, Mrs. Bernard Martin entertained a number of little folks Tuesday afternoon from four to six. The little lady comes near being a Fourth of July girl so the National colors were much in evidence in the house decorations. Out of door games, "Drop the Handkerchief," "Ring Around Rosy" and numerous others were played until late in the afternoon when the guests were invited into the dining room. Here flags and bunting of red, white and blue lent a gay and festive air to the table whereon the birthday cake was placed. Streamers hung from the chandelier to the table below and at each plate favors of red, white and blue baskets, filled with candy, were found. With the blowing out of the candles came the making of a birthday wish for the little honoree by each guest, then followed the exciting ceremony of cutting the cake in the hunt for the birthday souvenirs. The dimes were cut by Frances Bullock and Homer Chauncey, Louise Newton cut the ring and Mrs. W. B. Chauncey the butter. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames W. B. Chauncey, P. B. Cox, T. A. Ford, H. J. Naylor and B. D. Donnell. In remembrance of the happy occasion little Miss Serenice received numerous pretty gifts from the little friends in attendance, including: Marie Soule, Mary Ruth Martin, Ford Chauncey, Louise Newton, Morien Newton, L. W. Newton, Frances Bullock, Sybil Thornberry, Wright, Sewell and Dan Cox, Virginia Walters, Katherine Marcus, Faye and Thelma Fisher, Elizabeth Greenwood, Mary Elizabeth, Mathilda and William Luther, Donnell, Howard Martin, Alma Edith, Maude and W. M. Naylor.

Mrs. Warren Wagoner and children returned last night from Strawn.

The Work of Fashion Is Never Done

New York.—This is a season of many surprises. Each day sees a new fashion detail evolved—if it is only a cuff or the erpicure of a hem. Style proceeds in a never-ceasing evolution, each fancy suggesting yet another, which is straightway put before the public. Fixed seasons for changes of fashion are entirely disregarded and, here in the midsummer, we find such features as Quaker collars, gauntlet cuffs and uneven skirts completely upsetting the equilibrium of established styles.

The soft, low collars come as a benediction after the up-to-the-ears stocks. The swift reverse of the style from one extreme to the other is more than a mere whim of fashion. Women, by

If you intend being really well dressed, wear some of these and look to your cuffs as well as your collar. "Gauntlet" is the liveliest at present—the last word in cuffs. There is no need to describe the style; the name implies its sleeve-protecting appearance. Today this is the extreme; tomorrow, when its newness is rubbed off by wearing, it will join the ranks of the regular summer fashion, along with organdy and Swiss turban collars that match the Quaker and Puritan collars and the sheer inner sleeves that show below the "Castle" sleeves of taffeta.

Skirts mark the divergence of the mode. These defy all known rules of fashion, and dip and hike; in fact, do everything, except what is expected of them. Open-front overskirts are longer than the foundations they are worn with and fly back in the wind to show bright inside facings. Full dress skirts have bouffant, cavalier slashes around the lower edges, and even tailored skirts show deep points front and back. These do not need even the excuse of a Flatiron or a

At The Theaters

The Lamar Airdome.
The vaudeville bill which has been showing here for the first half of the week closes tonight. Both the McGreeneys with their rural comedy and Powell and Juno have made good and pleased the audiences attending the open-air show. Tonight's picture program includes a special universal drama, "A Girl of the Night" featuring Pauline Bush and Lon Chaney.

The Majestic.
The Black Box, installment No. 11 is today's chief attraction at the Majestic with two other pictures: "The Hand of Mahawee," a Selig animal picture and "The Fab of the High Roller and the Buzzing Blondine," a George Ade fable to complete the program.

The Gem.
Ormi Hawley, Louise Huff, Earle Metcalfe and Edgar Jones are featured in "A Romance of the Navy," a three part Lubin feature. The program is completed by "The Last of the Stille" a Selig drama, featuring Virginia Kirtley and Robert Adair. A story is given.

To avoid a collapse, Benton, a business man, is ordered to the wilds just as energetic revenue officer start uncovering moonshiners' stills.

Old Burt, a moonshiner, has a beautiful daughter, named Mary. Benton and Mary meet and are mutually attracted. The moonshiners believe Benton to be a revenue spy. He escapac and long years pass. Mary attends a school and again meets Benton. Benton's business is closed out and he renounces allegiance to the law. He returns to the wilds where old Burt takes Benton into partnership in the moonshining business. Old Burt is shot and a messenger is sent to the city to bring Mary home. Mary returns home and recognizes Benton. The last of the stills is destroyed and Mary and Benton start a new life.

The Empress.
Betty Bellairs and Wilfred Lucas are featured in "The Spanish Jade," dramatized from the novel by Maurice Hewitt by Louis Joseph Vance. The story is in the locale of Southern Spain with a charming and picturesque setting, appropriate costumes and romantic atmosphere. The Spanish-jade, Manuela, is sold by her brutal father as a dancing girl to a struggling musician. In her many wanderings she has numerous adventures and is awakened to a dream of better things by an Englishman, played by Mr. Lucas. The spirit of adventure is rife throughout the continuation of the plot and the ending is a happy one. This is a picture somewhat out of the ordinary and one that will be enjoyed.

satisfactory for a sale. We hope other mill and elevator men will assist the farmers in holding their grain for a few months so that they will reg the advantage of the price which the natural operation of the law of supply and demand ought to bring them. There appears to be no indication of an early forcing of the Dar-

the war situation that will lower the price of wheat and the farmer who grows it is entitled to the bulk of the profit that is to be made in the sale of the grain. Waco Morning News.

closed without mercy and followers of the man who has thus insulted the nation are allowed to go upon the streets of an American city and de-keep quiet.

If Huerta had a part in starting a new revolution in the United States against Mexico he should be punished and punished to the full extent of the law. His acts while President of Mexico fell in no uncertain way the kind of man he is and for our part it is about all we can endure to have him travel through our country without delivering himself of unnecessary interviews against the United States.
We have not forgotten that it was Huerta's son who dragged the monument of George Washington through the streets of the city of Mexico and that Huerta has never offered a word of apology for the act. Abilene Reporter.

Every boy, if it is expected that he is to make of himself a man among men in the world, should be taught that wealth and success only grow and thrive on the bushes that are watered by the sweat of the brow. That lesson learned, and learned well, it matters not whether he inherits a fortune or not. Turn him loose without a dollar and he will make good in any country. The world is hearing from that kind of boys. It has use for them, and the supply is never too great. Ninety per cent of the men who fail in business can attribute their failure to the fact that they neglected their first lesson.

THE GREATEST CURSE OF THE DAY.

The Abilene Reporter is of the opinion that the greatest curse of the day is dishonest ballots. Illegal voting is at the bottom of more corruption than any other one thing. "The surprising fact is that often men who are regarded as above reproach will allow questionable tactics used in bringing about the success of certain measures, or the election of themselves or others," says the Reporter. And The Times wishes right here to endorse what its esteemed Abilene contemporary has to say in that respect. There has not been an election held in Wichita county for several years, unless it was a general election, that illegal voting has not been indulged in, more or less. There is a reason for not casting illegal ballots at a general election—or when congressmen are to be chosen, the fellows who are not entitled to vote are more careful. They know that the federal government would then have authority to investigate illegal voting and such investigations generally result in such offenders being sent to the federal peniten-entiary. That such illegal voting is permitted the Reporter says:

Here's a bit of rhyme that is going the rounds of the press, and it fits nicely right here in Wichita Falls, especially at this season of the year when so many of our over-worked citizens are leaving to spend the summer where they hope to find the surroundings and conditions better and much improved over what they are right here at home. In the meantime, those of us who, in all probability have worked just as hard, if not quite so successfully, will continue to keep the town going ahead while our friends are away enjoying some of the comforts and discomforts of living away from home.

"If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town,
It isn't your town—it's you.
"Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead;
When everyone works and nobody
shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead.
"and if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor can make one, too;
Your town will be what you want to be,
It isn't your town—it's YOU."

THE HUERTA INCIDENT.

DAChs. with y. ETAOI SHR
The Reporter has often read of "adding insult to injury" but we have never known of a more striking case than the present Huerta incident which is attracting the attention of the people of the United States. This distinguished (?) person having in-sulted the flag of the United States and having steadfastly refused to apologize lands upon our soil and after going his own way for many days violates our laws and then goes so far as to declare that he would like to see one of our officers had he been under arrest. Our President is criticized.

V. P. Brooks, whose farm is ten miles northeast of the city, has just finished threshing 165 acres of wheat which made an average of 16 bushels per acre. A part of his crop made as high as 30 bushels per acre. The part that was damaged by hail made very little. He had $200 hail insurance and the amount was paid promptly. Mr.
Brooks has not sold a bushel of his wheat yet, and is not going to, he thinks for awhile, as he feels confident the price will go considerably higher.
Fortunately, he does not have to sell,
as his granaries are ample to care for it.

EXIT DOBBIN.

Wichita Times: Henry Ford is going to revolutionize farming. He is going to sell to farmers a little engine that will do the work of a dozen men, and as many miles—all for the cost of one ordinary mule.
The horse, says the mule, is an anomaly. He has no rightful place in economics. He represents waste exclusively, except in those countries where he is ground into potted ham; and even there he is mostly waste, for he runs so much to bone and muscle his meat value is slight. The grain that every year is fed to the horse is so much capital invested in a losing venture. The corn a horse eats would supply two men with bread the year round. The hay fed to a horse, if fed to a cow, would produce hundreds of gallons of milk in a twelve-month and finally return in the form of steaks, roasts and sausage casings. If there were no horses to be fed there would be meat and bread plenty for everybody—grating that the work a horse performs were performed by a machine, fed on gasoline. If the horse could be fed on gasoline, which is a cheap mineral, the horse would be economically justified. But the horse will not eat gasoline. He demands man's food. Therefore the horse must go. He is too expensive to board. If Henry Ford has perfected an iron horse, then Henry Ford is the greatest man in the world. He has enlarged the loaf on every family's table. He has put beef and pork and poultry within every family's reach. Today the farmer who employs four horses in his farm has a reserve for them at least three hundred bushels of corn, or its

Sticking Pins in Nutmegs

That is the expert's way of telling the good ones. The natural oil in the nutmeg is what gives it its flavoring qualities—the more oil
there is the greater the nutmeg's value for flavoring.

Stick a pin in a nutmeg that is full of this oil and oil will ooze out of the pin hole when the pin is withdrawn—little or no oil will follow
the pin if the nutmeg is a poor one.
So you see wherein two pins of perfectly pure nutmeg may differ widely in favoring value—the one kind being worth more than the other because it could not pass the pin sticking test.

THE PASSOVER LAMB

Rev. Friar Declares There is No Such Thing as Passive Faith; Says Faith Active
"And the blood shall be to you as a token upon the houses where you are and when I see the blood I will pass over you." Taking this text from Exodus the twelfth chapter and twelfth verse, Mr. Friar spoke last night on the subject of "The Passover Lamb." Beginning with the institution of the passover feast by Moses he followed the passover through the centuries, proving that the old passover lamb was the shadow and prophecy which was later fulfilled in Jesus Christ; also that the death of Christ was according to the Old Testament prophecy, "your lamb shall be without blemish and not a bone shall be broken."

Market Report

Chicago Grain Futures. By Associated Press. Chicago, July 7.—Heavy rains and higher cables resulted today in a swift advance in the price of wheat, besides Liverpool advices appeared to indicate that decided expansion of European buying was imminent. After opening 7 1/2 to 4 cents higher the market here steadied at a moderate reaction from the top point of the bulge. Corn rose with wheat and as a result of unfavorable weather. Prospects of harvest delay had a quick bullish effect on oats. Wheat closed steady, corn closed unsettled. Wheat, July 2.07 3/8; Sept. 1.02 1/8; Dec. 1.05 1/4; corn, July 74 3/8; Sept. 73; Dec. 64 1/4; oats, July 49 5/8; Sept. 37; Dec. 39 1/4.

New York Cotton Futures. By Associated Press. New York, July 7.—Relatively easy Liverpool cables and a more favorable weather map promoted some outside liquidation and scattered local selling at the opening today. The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points but soon turned easier. Prices ruled 4 to 5 points net lower during the early afternoon. Liquidation and stop orders were uncovered as the market broke to 9.60 for October contracts. There appeared to be little or no support on the decline carried prices into new low ground for the movement and about 15 to 16 points lower than last night's close. Cotton closed steady. THROUGH MANY DOORS

By JANE OSBORN.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The first door was the front door, and Lee Bateman passed that threshold one day toward the middle of that memorable year at college.

Molly was different from the other girls in the college town. Note of Doctor Dare had refused to allow Molly to waste her time with the college boys, and wasn't this very fact added to the golden hair and the bewitching smile enough to fire any college senior's spirit of adventure?

But that first door—the front door—of the rambling old mansion was the wrong way to find Molly. To be sure, Lee Bateman was received into the stately old mahogany drawing room and Mrs. Dare talked to him with unenthusiastic courtesy and had even made out the check that patronesses were expected to contribute to the senior dance. But Lee's expectations of seeing Molly were disappointed. His only glimpse of her was a fleeting vision through the window as she went out for an afternoon drive.

"Still there are other doors," he thought. "Molly doesn't come out of that door when she goes driving. She uses the side door." But the next day when Lee tried to approach that door in the disguise of a book agent he found that the door was guarded by Molly's pet bulldog, who treated Lee with the usual canine cordiality toward book agents.

Then there was the back door. All houses had back doors, Lee knew, and perhaps if he made his entrance that way he might find Molly making fudge in the kitchen. Lee had been against him so far and it was bound to turn. It was not hard to induce the grocer boy to let him deliver the rice and tea and coffee; and a little change in the way of a cap and a coat transformed him to the part. But Molly wasn't making fudge that afternoon. To be sure the cook was kind but Lee had no satisfaction in the encounter.

The fourth door seemed the most difficult. It was the doctor's office door. But somehow Lee went directly into the doctor's private office, and before he realized what had happened he found himself being questioned by the doctor as to the trouble which had brought him there.

"Sprained ankle," said Lee on the spot and the doctor immediately got to work with bandage and liniment. Ten minutes later, when Lee paid the doctor his fee, there was a twinkle in the old doctor's eye.

Lee jumped out through the passage into the hall of the house and there—the fates had relented at last—he saw Molly, the gold hair and the sweet smile and the merry gray eyes, and even the pet dog who accepted Molly's recognition of Lee as sufficient reason to abandon hostilities.

Molly knew Mr. Bateman, and she was sorry that he had sprained his ankle and she opened the front door and watched him with concern as he limped down the front steps. It was only two minutes' encounter, but it was enough to fire the ardor of Lee's devotion.

Lee limped—when he thought of it—around the campus for the day and the next day he was one of the first afternoon patients waiting for the doctor's professional services. There were more bandages and more liniment, and then there was that wonderful passage through the house to the front door, where Molly again appeared. The next day the ankle was no better. The doctor agreed with Lee that it needed daily attention, and Lee's limp was so affecting that Molly drove him back to the campus in her pony cart.

The ankle had to recover. Bandages and liniment would, of course, have their results. But there were other complaints that a senior might invent. There were sprained wrists and strained eyes and strange unaccountable pains, and always the kindly doctor discovered symptoms that Lee had not even dreamed of, and always he accepted Lee's spot payment with the same apparent satisfaction in money well earned. And always there was the passage through the house, and always there was Molly who seemed to hover near the passage-way at office hours. Still Molly did not ask him to come by the side door or the front door, and Lee did not dare to ask her for the privilege. Sometimes Lee stayed a half hour and sometimes he felt that in Molly's smile he caught a faint reflection of the devotion that had inspired his daily visits.

Then one day—it was nearing final examination time and Molly had been especially eager to know Lee's plans for the future—Lee had the long-anticipated opportunity to tell Molly of his love and to feel in her glance the response he had become so eager to receive.

"And now," said Molly, with a laugh that was contagious, "daddy can square his conscience about those fees. He knew that you were bluffing and he didn't want to let you keep on paying him. But I wouldn't let him stop. I was afraid that you wouldn't come any more. But father likes you for your foolishness. And he never would have had a chance to know you so well if it hadn't been for those daily visits. But he has just been saving the fees to return with interest."

WEATHER MAN WAS SHREWD

But Woe Unto Him if His Better Half Should Ever Learn the Facts in the Case.

"Waldina," said the weather man thoughtfully to his wife, according to the Detroit Free Press, "I have decided to grant your request and allow you to give a big return party to all your friends who have been so royally entertaining us. But only on two conditions. First, that the date of the party shall be tomorrow night, and, second, that I shall do all the ordering."

"Oh, well, two conditions are better than none," said the weather man's wife philosophically. "I'll call up everybody on the telephone and you can go ahead and see the caterer. How many shall I invite?"

"Oh, everybody you know. We'll make all the other parties look like family picnics. Invite about three hundred," replied the weather man.

And she called up everybody worth calling up.

The next day was the day of the big storm. It rained pitchforks, cats and dogs, torrents and plain rain, while the wind blew roofs off houses and the houses from under roofs.

Everybody that had a home to stay in stayed in it. This included all those invited to the weather man's dinner.

The weather man thought it best never to tell his wife that, having had what the baseball literary gentlemen call "inside dope" on the coming of the big storm, he had never even seen the caterer.

ONE THING EASY TO BELIEVE

Merchant Could Have Little Doubt That the Information Given Him Was Correct.

The Arabs tell a story to show how a mean man's philosophy overshoots itself. Under the reign of the first Calif there was a merchant of Bagdad equally rich and avaricious. One day he bargained with a porter to carry home for him a basket of porcelain vases for ten paras. As they went along he said to the man: "My friend, you are young and I am old; you can still earn plenty. Strike a bargain from your hire. 'Willingly!' replied the porter. This request was repeated again and again, until, when they reached the house, the porter had only a single para to receive. As they went upstairs the merchant said: "If you will resign the last para I will give you three pieces of advice."

"Be it so," said the porter. "Well, then," said the merchant, "if anyone tells you it is better to be fasting than feasting, do not believe him. If anyone tells you it is better to be poor than rich, do not believe him. If anyone tells you it is better to walk than ride in your carriage, do not believe him." "My dear sir," replied the astonished porter, "I knew these things before; but if you will listen to me, I will give you such advice as you never heard before." The merchant turned around, and the porter, throwing the basket down the staircase said: "If anyone tells you that one of your vases is unbroken, do not believe him."

Fighting "Evil Eye" in Poland. Polish villages, tucked away in mountains, the people lead primitive lives and follow customs hundreds of years old.

When ill they consult certain old women in the village who know the wonderful curative power of certain weeds and who are always called upon when a person is thought to be suffering from the spell of the Evil Eye.

Young girls whose love affairs are not running smoothly also consult the old women, for they know where to find "lubczyk," or the love weed. They tell the girl how to prepare the weed and how it should be administered to her sweetheart.

For bad cases of the Evil Eye there is only one cure. The old woman who is called in the case fetches a kettle of water and three pieces of burning charcoal. With mysterious whispered formulas the charcoal is dropped into the water, and if the charcoal sinks recovery is certain.

Stranger Soon Learns the Ropes. "The matter with most of the Kansas Citizens who grumble about the town," stated old Dad Bing of Pampage, Okla., who is of unusual width betwixt the eyes, "is that they don't know their own city. They stick in one rat like a tumble-bug in a wagon track, and go dragging along day after day without trying to learn anything concerning their surroundings. A teller from out of town will wassany all over the place and see a thousand things of which the average resident is entirely ignorant. Why, I'll betcha I've been held up in a dozen places that the majority of Kansas Citizens don't even know exist!"—Kansas City Star.

Wisdom. Wisdom is not the same with understanding, talents, capacity, ability, sagacity, sense or prudence; not the same with any one of these; neither will all these together make it up. It is that exercise of the reason into which the heart enters; a structure of the understanding rising out of the moral and spiritual nature. It is for this cause that a high order of wisdom—is still more rare than a high order of genius. When they reach the very highest order they are one; for both includes the other, and intellectual greatness is matched with moral strength.

A. & M. AGRICULTURAL STUDENTS RETURN TO FARMS By Associated Press. College Station, Texas, July 7.—More of the graduates of the Agricultural and Mechanical College here, returned to the farm this year than ever before, according to figures just compiled here and made public today. Of the thirty-eight cadets who finished the animal husbandry course, eighteen returned to their own farms. Six will become managers of farms. The proportion of those returning to the farm was just about the same in the other three divisions of the school of agriculture. ### Ticky Cattle Bring Lower Prices Than Non-Infected

Washington, July 5.—After an eight months' fight, the foot and mouth disease has been practically stamped out and the danger of another great destructive animal plague averted. For this the country has reason to be thankful, for American live stock already suffers from disease to an extent of which few persons are fully aware. Hog cholera, tuberculosis and the cattle tick cause an annual loss to the country which reaches so high as the millions of dollars that it is almost impossible to estimate. The direct loss in deaths can be computed with reasonable accuracy but the indirect losses which agriculture in all its branches suffers whenever and wherever there is a scarcity of stock cannot be reckoned at all.

Hog cholera and tuberculosis prevail throughout the country; cattle ticks are confined to one section—the South. Hog cholera and tuberculosis present problems which science has not yet thoroughly solved; cattle ticks already have been eliminated in an area of more than 253,388 square miles and can be eliminated in the branches suffers whenever and wherever the people really determine to rid themselves of the pest.

Not Keeping Pace.
It is no secret that the amount of livestock in the country by no means has kept pace with the growth of population. For many years it actually decreased, and although the official figures for January 1, 1915, show a slight increase over the corresponding ones for 1914, this increase is far from proportionate to that in population. The rice of meat has risen steadily and the future of the country's supply has become a matter of grave concern.

Greater production of live stock upon the farms undoubtedly would go far toward solving the problem. This is especially true of the South. In an estimate quoted recently by the secretary of agriculture, it was stated that the average farm home in Georgia produced less than one-twelfth of a beef in the course of a year for each person on it. Instead of producing beef to sell to the rest of the country, the South imports much of what it consumes.

For this condition of affairs specialists hold two things responsible—cotton and ticks. The danger in a one crop system of agriculture has now been made apparent and there are many farmers who would gladly abandon it if some substitute were available. But in any sound system of agriculture live stock is indispensable and while the cattle tick flourishes the production of cattle is not an inviting prospect. The grower in a tick infested country labors under a crushing handicap. His cattle weigh less and bring less per pound than those of his competitor in tick free sections.

In Alabama and Mississippi, for example, the average price for beef on the hoof was on January 1, 1915, only 4 cents a pound. In Connecticut, it was 2.4 and in no tick free State was as low as 3 cents. The average price of beef cattle over two years old was $36 in Alabama and $32 in Mississippi. It was $54 in Wyoming and $60 in Montana. Vermont, with an average of $39 was the only tick free State in which the price was below $40. In North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana and Arkansas—all more or less tick infested—the average price was below $30.

Millions Loss.
Such differences are too striking to be ignored. They represent an annual loss to the farmers of the South of millions of dollars. The Georgia farmer may expect to receive $18 for his beef animal, the Ohio farmer $56, Kentucky, Kansas and Indiana men $54. For the ten tick infested States, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, the general average is $25.90; for the remainder of the country it is $48.47.

One reason for the low average value of Southern cattle is unquestionably the disastrous effect of the tick upon all attempts to improve the breed. Pure bred stock imported for breeding purposes are exposed to such danger of death from tick fever that it is not sound business to incur the risk. Producers are, therefore, compelled to do the best they can with the native cattle, which have acquired a certain degree of immunity. That there is no profit in scrubs is an old cattle raiser's maxim and in this connection a comparison of average weights of beef cattle may be interesting.

Ticks Great Detriment.
There are, of course, other factors than the tick in the raising of beef in the South but in view of these figures, it is hard to escape from the conclusion that wherever the tick is, there the value of cattle is low.

It follows, also, that the farmer makes little effort to develop this source of profit—or what would be a source of profit under other circumstances. Not only does he himself suffer financially in consequence—directly through loss of income and indirectly through loss of soil fertility—but the whole country suffers from an inadequate meat supply.

For this reason, the federal government is as vitally interested in the work of tick eradication, as it is in the suppression of hog cholera and the prevention of tuberculosis. Throughout the tick infested territory, wherever the people have voted to free themselves from the tax the pest levies upon them, federal inspectors are co-operating with the local authorities and organizations in the erection of vats and the supervision of regular systematic dipping. As fast as territory is cleaned, the quarantine is removed from it and stock owners in the community thus enabled to market their cattle on an equal footing with stock from other sections of the country. As has already been said, 253,388 square miles have been freed in this way since the beginning of the work in 1906 and in addition much useful work has been done in areas still under quarantine. Within fifteen years, if the same rate of progress is maintained, the entire country should be free and ticky cattle a forgotten evil. But there is every reason to believe that as the evidence against the tick piles up, progress will become more and more rapid. It can not be too rapid for the good of the entire country.

Resolutions of Respect.
Whereas, on May 27, 1915, the Death Angel called from earth's labor to heavenly rest, one of our most faithful and devoted workers, Mrs. J. T. A. Fleming, and;

Whereas, the Missionary Society has lost one of its most competent, useful and spiritual members, therefore, be it Resolved, 1. That in the death of Sister Fleming, the Missionary Society has lost a most loyal and ever ready worker, the Cabinet a wise counselor, and we, the members, a dear and beloved friend and helper.

Resolved, 2. That we extend to the family of deceased our sincere sympathy and condolence in this their sad hour.

Resolved, 3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Society; a copy sent the family, and a copy furnished the daily papers of our city, and the Texas Christian Advocate for publication.

25 PER CENT. SERBIAN DOCTORS DIE IN NINE MONTHS.

Belgrade, Serbia.—Official figures show that 25 per cent. of the Serbian doctors have died in the past nine months. Most of them were victims of typhus; only one was killed in battle.

In the war between Serbia and Turkey in 1912-1913, only two Serbian doctors lost their lives, out of a total of 200 employed on war duty.

Of the foreign doctors who have come to Serbia since last August, thirty-five have died, all of typhus or typhoid. The list of dead includes four Americans, three British, two Belgians, six Austrians and a number of Greeks. These figures, of course do not include the considerable number of medical students, nurses and other Red Cross workers who have succumbed to the epidemics.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbus, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my pattering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed, in fact, I am sound and well all day."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts upon nature—not against her. It is for tired, nervous, irritable women, who find as if everything were wrong, and something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

Chalmers 1916 Cars Here

Astounding Values-Astounding Prices

THE Chalmers Motor Company, with its new organization, even greater factory facilities, additional buildings, more men and still more capital, and with a quadrupled production is bringing out for the season of 1916 a series of cars the equal of which have never been offered before.

The Chalmers Company is the only leading manufacturer that is offering a new car for 1916 at a new price—in the medium-price class.

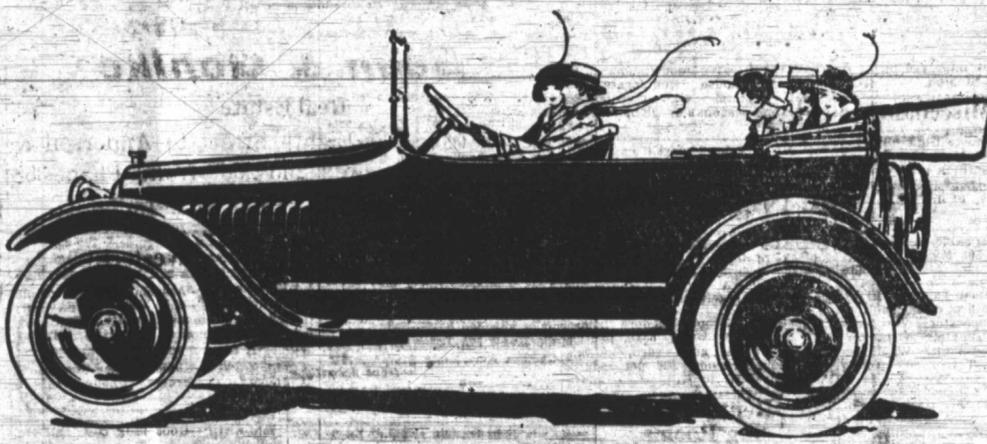

Others have either put out a new car at a higher price, the same old car at the same old price, or the same old car at a cut price.

This new Chalmers is the Six-40 shown below at the astounding price of $1275.

The Light-Six and Master-Six are continued in improved models at lower prices.

Such prices at higher quality than ever before are only made possible by cutting out middleman's profits, buying for cash on definite specifications, utilizing new methods of manufacture and administration, working on smaller profits and greater production.

The Chalmers Motor Company has also inaugurated a new Chalmers Service Plan by means of which we are able to offer gratis to every new Chalmers owner service in the form of an interchangeable service coupon book, good for a definite amount of work—at any Chalmers dealers—anywhere.

Chalmers Six-40 $1275.00

This is the most remarkable motor car that has ever been offered for $1275. It is the lowest price at which Chalmers quality has ever been sold.

It is the only American stock car with valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor, the type that Europe was working on when we stopped production.

It is this type of motor that broke all records for 500 miles at both Indianapolis and Chicago speedway races, going at the terrific speed of 90 miles per hour at Indianapolis and 98 miles an hour at Chicago—the most gruelling test of motor car efficiency ever known.

This motor gives the car instant get away, wonderful flexibility, great power and economy. The car rides like a Pullman.

It is the superior of cars that three years ago sold for $3000 or over. Be sure to come in and see it.

Chalmers "Six-48" Seven-Passenger - - - - $1550

Chalmers "Master Six" $2175 in either Touring Car or Limousine Bodies at Prices Ranging from - - - $3350

This is the 1916 series of the popular Light-Six declared by thousands of enthusiastic owners to be the most satisfactory motor car they have ever owned. It is light where it can be, strong where it should be. It is the most economical car in America in upkeep cost and admittedly the best car made within $500 of its price.

These models are on exhibition now in our showroom. First orders will be filled from stock.

RUMOR ABOUT STEAMER LACKS CONFIRMATION

A rumor was circulated throughout the country today that the trans-Atlantic liner Adriatic had been sunk. No confirmation of the report could be obtained. This afternoon the Associated Press announced that no direct advice concerning the ship had been received. Officials of the White Star Line said they did not expect any information from the steamer until she arrived in England, where she was due tomorrow. The rumor affected the stock market and caused a big decline on the New Orleans cotton market.

NUMBER OF MOTOR VEHICLES IN PARIS DECREASED
Paris.—There are less than half as many motor vehicles circulating in Paris as before the war, but there are more street accidents. The pedestrian was more secure during the first few months, before the lack of skill of new conductors, replacing mobilized men, began to show and before they acquired the reckless speed habit. The taxi drivers claim that the military chauffeurs are the cause of the trouble. The statistics of prosecutions for violation of the regulations indicate that the taxi is the principal culprit.

SPAIN BUSY GATHERING ARMS AND AMMUNITION

By Associated Press.
Madrid, July 7.—Spain is busy in preparing military and naval armament. The munitions factories are working day and night. Spain is buying arms and ammunition machinery in the United States and Italy. These activities are being conducted, however, as far as possible in secret. The purpose is said to prepare Spain for any event after the war closes, especially for the defense of her insular possessions.

SOUTHERN RAILROAD QUOTATIONS DROY
By Associated Press.
New York, July 7.—A sudden drop in Southern railroads caused general unsettledness on the stock exchange. Among the railroads affected was the St. Paul which fell to 79 1/2.

Don't Let Any One MISLEAD

You With Concealed Tin Horn Substitutes for the VICTROLA

When you get a cabinet-style talking-machine, you want a cabinet-style talking-machine—with sounding boards and amplifying compartment of resonant wood built right into the instrument.

You don't want a substitute arrangement that merely conceals an amplifying tin horn behind some fancy grille work, or that swings the horn around from one position to another while the record is playing. With any such inadequate substitute you can't expect a satisfactory tonal reproduction from your records.

There's no such substitute device in the Victrola. You can open the modifying doors and see the sounding boards and amplifying compartment for yourself—and these exclusive Victrola features are necessary to provide the very limit of area and character of vibrating surface to a full and pure tone reproduction at all times in exact accord with the artist's interpretation.

Furthermore, the modifying doors give you full control over the volume of sound, and enable you to increase or diminish it at will simply by opening or closing the doors—another important patented feature, and exclusive with the Victrola.

Come in and find out all about the Victrola. See the features that result in such a wonderful tone and make the Victrola supreme among musical instruments.

Victrolas $15 to $300. Victors $10 to $100. Easy terms, if desired.
