COUNTY COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION ONE DAY

Complete Big Day's Work And Adjourn—Most of Business of a Routine Nature.

The county commissioners adjourned late Monday after finishing up an exceptionally big day's work, mostly routine. Among the numerous accounts allowed were those of county officers receiving retroactive salaries. Heretofore such salaries have been paid on the first of each month without waiting for the commissioners to act, but profiting by the experience of a neighboring county, the letter of the law will be followed strictly hereafter. It has been the custom for so long to pay these accounts without the formalities being complied with that some of the commissioners were unaware what the law on the subject was. The commissioners paid the prisoners' board bill of $604.50 and appointed Anna Stahl public weigher in justice precinct No. 5. A total of $210 in jury fees for the E. W. Fry trial was certified to Young county. The hospital contractors were paid $2545.50 for completed work. County Judge Harris was authorized to buy not over twelve cots for the county jail.

CIVILIAN BOARD OF NAVY ADVISORS

SECRETARY DANIELS SECURES ASSISTANCE OF PROMINENT AMERICANS TO HELP NAVY

EDISON HEADS THE BOARD

Henry Ford, Hudson Maxim, Orville Wright, David Graham Bell, J. H. Hammond, Jr., And Others

By Associated Press. Washington, July 13.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has secured the services of Thomas Edison to help devise means to strengthen the navy refused today to discuss the addition of prominent American who will constitute the civilian board of advisers. These include David Graham Bell, inventor of telephone, Orville Wright, Hudson Maxim, Henry Ford and John Hays Hammond.

EDISON IS TO BECOME ADVISOR TO THE NAVY

Great Inventor Will Give Genius to Development of His Nation's Safety

Orange, N. J., July 13.—Thomas A. Edison has accepted an invitation from Secretary Daniels to head an advisory board of civilian inventors for a bureau of invention and development to be created in the Navy Department. His acceptance will go forward at once to Washington, where the new plans await word from the man "who can turn dreams into realities."

Mr. Daniels' idea of utilizing the inventive genius of Americans in and out of the military and naval service to meet conditions of warfare shown in the conflict on land and on sea in Europe, is in receipt of a letter written last Wednesday asking Mr. Edison whether as a patriotic service to his country he would undertake the task of advising the proposed bureau. The plan is to have several men prominent in special lines of inventive research associated in the work.

Must Consider Submarines. Among the great problems to be laid before the investigators the Secretary mentioned submarine warfare, adding that he felt sure that with Mr. Edison's wonderful brain to help them the officers of the navy would be able to meet this new danger with new devices that will assure peace to our country by their effectiveness. "I have been intending for some time," Mr. Daniels said in his letter, "to write you, expressing my admiration of the splendid and patriotic attitude you have taken, as reported in the public press, refusing to devote your great inventive genius to warlike subjects except at the call of your own country. Such an attitude in these all too commercial times is one that should be an inspiration to every young man and a lesson in the premium right of one's own country to the best that its citizens have that will be of tremendous benefit to us all."

One of the imperative needs of the navy in its judgment, is machinery and facilities for utilizing the natural inventive genius of Americans to meet the new conditions of warfare as shown abroad, and it is my intention, if a practical way can be worked out, as I think it can be, to establish at the earliest moment a department of invention and development to which all ideas and suggestions, either from the service or from civilian inventors, can be referred for determination as to whether they contain practical suggestions for us to take up and perfect.

TEUTONS ACTIVE ON EAST FRONT AGAIN

LIVELY ENGAGEMENT ON EAST PRUSSIAN FRONTIER AND FURTHER TO SOUTHWEST

MACKENSEN RE-INFORCED

Attitude of Roumania Again Widely Discussed—Balkan Conference Reported Called

By Associated Press. London, July 13.—There are signs of renewed activity by the Teutonic forces along the eastern fighting front. Petrograd officially reports lively engagements along the East Prussian front in the Bobr and Narew region and further to the southwest between the Pissa and Rosoga rivers. There also has been fighting in the Przasnys region along the line north of Warsaw. South of Warsaw only sporadic actions have occurred but from eastern Galicia where quiet has prevailed for some time, Teutonic attacks along the Zlota Liza and the Dniester are reported. The upper Bug river near Busk also has been the scene of renewed fighting. Coincident with this news comes reports through Petrograd that Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army has been strongly reinforced and that it will soon resume active operations. Resumption of heavy assaults by the Germans in the Woynow region in France is interpreted by Paris military observers to mean that the failure of recent attempts to break through to Verdun by way of the Argonne is being followed by a similar effort in this new direction.

Through Athens, Paris heard a report that as a result of another battle on the Gallipoli Peninsula, the forces of the Entente allies have advanced 200 yards. According to an Athens dispatch to a London newspaper the Kings of Greece, Roumania and Bulgaria soon are to meet in conference at Athens. The attitude of Roumania towards the two belligerents is again widely under discussion. According to statements made by correspondents on the side of the Entente allies, she has been given a month to accept or reject Austria's offer of territorial expansion at Russia's expense.

Despite the efforts of our troops it was entirely burned as were the cathedral organs."

FRENCH MAKE AERIAL RAID ON GERMAN RAILWAY CENTER.

By Associated Press. Paris, July 13.—A French official report says: "In front of our positions at the 'Labyrinth' German attack last night was completely thrown back upon their lines. There was a combat with hand grenades and cannoning in the front of Aprement near Iedneville and in the forest of Le Petre. In the Vosges an attempted attack by the Germans directed at a bridgehead occupied by us on the east bank of the Secht river at Sondernich was repulsed. "An aerial squadron of thirty-five aeroplanes ascended this morning in spite of a wind blowing forty miles an hour and bombarded the railway station at Zittelleul-Les-Hattonchattel. This station served the region of the Calonne trenches and that of the forest of Aprement. Very important stores of every kind, and particularly ammunition, were concentrated there. Our aviators dropped upon the station 171 bombs of ninety kilograms each. The bombardment started several fires. All our machines returned despite of violent cannonading."

GERMAN REPORT TELLS OF GAINS ON WESTERN FRONT

By Associated Press. Berlin, July 13.—A German official statement says: "In the western theatre a French hand grenade attack at the sugar refinery of Souchez was repulsed. In connection with the attack on the cemetery our positions were pushed forward across the cemetery over a width of 600 yards and the carbaret Roughte situated on the road to Arras also was captured. The number of prisoners has increased by three officers and 250 men. Several attempted enemy counter attacks were halted. Between the Meuse and the Moselle the enemy developed lively artillery activity. They attacked our positions in the forest of Le Petre four times during the evening and the night. "In the eastern and southeastern theatre the situation remains unchanged."

OUR SAFETY DEPENDS ON COMMERCIAL FACTORIES

For This Reason Resignations of Ordnance Officers Accepted By Secretary of War

By Associated Press. Washington, July 13.—Believing that the safety of the country may rest upon the adequate development of the commercial gun and ammunition factories, Secretary Garrison announced today that he had decided to accept the resignation of Lieutenant-Colonel G. Horney and that of Major William A. Phillips, of the army ordnance bureau, who have been offered positions with companies holding large munition contracts with European countries. The skill of Col. Horney and Major Phillips lies in the construction of new plants. The plants they build, Mr. Garrison said, may prove of vital importance to the American government. It is most important he said, that a large number of plants be ready for a national emergency and that the most expert officers should be given the work of superintending those already in operation. He said the situation in England showed the necessity of preparing for great emergencies in time of peace.

"UNNECESSARY RISK" IS EXPLAINED BY BRYAN

Says Such Risk Taken by Passenger Who rides on Belligerent Ship Or One Carrying Munitions.

By Associated Press. Hermosa Beach, Cal., July 13.—W. J. Bryan, who is spending a brief vacation here with his son issued a statement today in explanation of what he meant by "unnecessary risk" contained in his comment in connection with the last German note. He says "any traveler takes an unnecessary risk when he goes into the war zone on a belligerent ship, knowing it is subject to attacks by submarines. A traveler also takes unnecessary risks when he rides on a neutral ship carrying munitions of war. I believe the government would be justified in separating travelers from American munitions, but until this is done American travelers would be justified in refusing to take passage on belligerent ships or on a neutral ship carrying ammunition. If patriotism requires a man to risk his life for his country when his country is engaged in war it would seem to be patriotic to avoid risks that might involve his country in war."

The Majestic.
Fox Feature day today and Betty Nansen on the screen, what more could film fans ask. Miss Nansen is very fond of the role of Katusha Maslova, her part in "A Woman's Resurrection" which is her vehicle at this theatre for today only. Of this play Miss Nansen says: "Beyond the shadow of a doubt to my mind, Katusha Maslova is the greatest character of whom Tolstol's magic pen ever wrote. What depths of character, what marvelous abysses of torment she passes through before her tormented soul is purged by the elemental fires of human suffering. The part was always a favorite with me at the Royal Theatre at Copenhagen, and I have played it before the Emperor of France, Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, the Kings of Norway and Sweden, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and the Kaiser. But till Mr. William Fox, who coaxed me to come to America to pose in a series of American made photo plays, I never realized what Mr. Fox's lavish expenditures on scenery and his magnificent disregard of expenses and effort in making "A Woman's Resurrection" meant toward rendering this great drama of Count Leo Tolstol's a living actuality instead of an acted play.

"The resources of the screen were never before revealed to me as they have been since I have been enlisted under the management of the wonderful Mr. Fox. In Europe no one could imagine such energy. Over here however, it appears to be in the air. I am quite certain that I have never done better work than in "A Woman's Resurrection." The subject is one that appeals to me. It is a noble cry of a woman's soul and what actress would not be glad of playing a part which runs the full gamut of feminine emotion—yes and wickedness too as only woman can be wicked?"

"Nobody but Mr. Fox with his boundless enterprises and unlimited resources would have dared to attempt to place upon the motion picture screen such a stupendous production. The difficulties might well have staggered anyone facing such a gigantic task; but they did not daunt Mr. Fox for a moment."

The Gem.
Mabel Trunelle, Augustus Phillips, Gladys Huette and George Wright are featured in "The Woman Woman" a three part Edison drama.

A gripping three part play of intrigue, love and emotion, built around a nucleus consisting of a question of identity. The scenic effects are unusual.

Arthur Dane, whose father owns a sanitarium in India, has just returned to India from London. He manifests his love for Marion Ora, a nurse, who believes in him until she catches him in a compromising position with Ivy Fairfax, daughter of a patient in the sanitarium. Dane has learned that Ivy is the niece of Sir Marcus Richardson of England and is to be his sole heir. Despite the fact that Dane assures Marion that he is only trifling with Ivy, he marries the latter. Subsequently, Dane and his bride embark for London with Marion, whom Ivy has invited to go with them.

There is a terrible storm at sea, during which the ship catches fire. The three get on to a raft and are cast adrift on the open sea. In an unassisted condition, Ivy lies down on the beach and is discovered by a fisherman who rescues her. She is taken to a photograph of Ivy's mother, since deceased and Sir Marcus, from her neck. He tells Marion that Ivy is dead and proposes that she become Ivy Fairfax. A ship is hailed and they board it, leaving Ivy on the island.

Sir Marcus' home, Marion is received with honor. She immediately endears herself to Sir Marcus. Allen Mostyn, a paleontologist, acquainted with Sir Marcus, becomes enamored of Marion and his affection is reciprocated. While on a cruise, Mostyn lands on Desert Island and finds Ivy, almost insane from hunger and loneliness. He rescues her and she consents to return to England with him. She remains her memory and when presented by Mostyn at Sir Marcus' home, demands that she be recognized as the real Ivy Fairfax. She is not taken seriously, and Marion, secretly pitying her as she really believed she was dead, will not give her any encouragement. Dane, having been told of Ivy's appearance, plans to rob the Richardson home and make a getaway. He is shot dead by Mostyn while prowling through the house. With Dane out of the way, Marion makes a full confession. Mostyn realizes her sacrifice and forgives her, while Ivy is firmly installed in the Richardson home, as she should be.

The Empress.
Vivian Rich is featured in a society drama, "At the Edge of Things" and with a Keystone comedy and a two part Western, "Bad Buck of Santa Ynez" the program is completed. William S. Hart, Thelma Salter and Fannie Midgley are featured in the latter named picture, a synopsis of which is given.

In Santa Ynez Canyon, in the prairie schooner on the trail westward, Mary Gail's husband dies. She and her little girl are left helpless. The mother has not even the strength to dig the grave. "Bad Buck" fashions around a turn in the trail and comes upon them. They implore him to bury John Gail, but he brutally refuses. The sheriff is on his trail. At last, however, the child, Honey, with her sweet pleading, melts the heart of the outlaw, who digs the grave and covers the dead man with earth. A feeling of pity then comes over "Bad Buck." He takes the woman and child to his shack in the hills. Some days later, Honey is bitten by a rattlesnake. The outlaw, taking his life in his hands, rides to the village for the doctor. He returns with the sheriff's posse in pursuit. Before he can reach the shack, he is mortally wounded. The doctor, however, arrives in time to save little Honey. But "Bad Buck" his face pressed against the child's, and with her sweet voice in his ears, breathes his last.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN IN MARRIAGES IN LONDON
London.—A London registrar reports that the number of marriage licenses now being issued is nearly four times the normal. The increase is put by statistics which show that during the past three months there have been 4,000 more weddings in London than were held during the same three months last year. The bridegrooms include men home on leave from the trenches, men from the training camps and men about to enlist. The officials make matters easy for them, in deserving cases, by reducing the usual fee.

Agricultural Expert Defends The Bat

Referring to popular superstitions that bring the bat into unmerited derision, Prof. W. S. Taylor, of the Department of Agricultural Education of the University of Texas says:

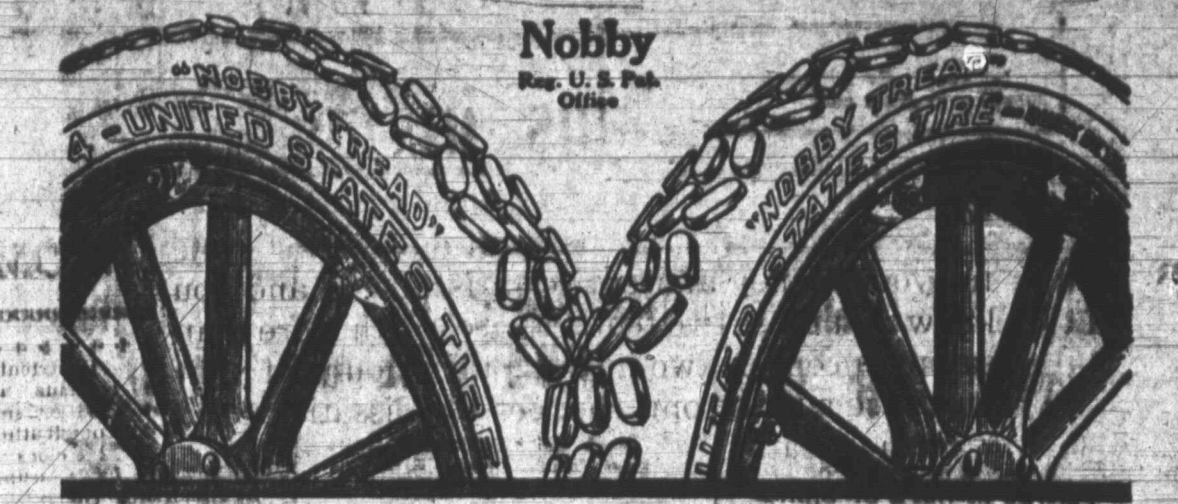

There are a number of popular superstitions regarding the bat that should be corrected in the minds of the people. It is commonly believed that bats bring bed bugs into houses. They are also accused of being infested with lice. Some people are foolish enough to believe that bats entangle themselves in ladies' tresses. And still others accuse these most extremely sanitary animals of being unclean. Not one single one of these imputations is well founded. Bats never carried insects into any home except those insects that were in their stomachs. They frequently fly into houses to feed on the insects in the rooms. The appearance of a bat in a house is a reflection on the house and not on the bat. So, instead of arming every member of the family with brooms, shovels, pokers, etc., and killing the poor little creature that is trying to serve humanity, it would be well to give him a chance to rid the house of bugs. The idea that they get in ladies' tresses is most ridiculous. This superstition must have arisen from the fact that bats are naturally insectivorous and if they are fed lice they eat them with relish. But it would scarce the poor little fellow almost to death to find himself entangled in a woman's hair. Those people who accuse the bat of being unclean would do well to see to it that they are just as sanitary as the bat. There never was a human being more careful about his personal cleanliness than is a bat about his own. He makes his toilet regularly and carefully. He washes his face with the front part of his wings and then licks the wash clean; he scratches the back of his head with his hind foot and then licks the foot when hanging head down, he will reach one foot down and scratch behind his ear with an aplomb truly comical in such a mite; but it is most fun of all to see him clean his wings. He seizes the edges of his mouth and scratches and licks the membranes until we are sure it is made of silk elastic, for he pulls and hauls it in a way truly amazing.

There is still another accusation made against the bat that it might be well to mention. It is still believed by a few people that bats are vampires and if they get an opportunity will suck the blood from sleeping children or grownups. There are two species of bats in South America that sometimes attack people sleeping, but the injury caused is entirely negligible. Nobody ever heard of any fatalities resulting from their bites. They annoy stock to a certain extent but they do not bother people except to wake them from peaceful slumbers by biting their loes when they are so foolish as to sleep with their eyes open. But the bats in North America are not vampires. They are insect feeders and are greatly beneficial.

ENGLISHMEN SHOWING REAL AMERICAN PUSH

David Lloyd George Using American Business Methods in Munitions Department

London, July 12.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press). David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, is proving himself a man of "push and go" in his new office. The hustle that pervades the new department would do credit to an American business firm. During the first week of its existence it opened 400 local bureaux for recruiting munitions workers; set up a large central staff; wrote and placed eighty full-page newspaper advertisements; issued 2,000,000 posters and leaflets; and organized other plans for pushing munitions work in every section of the country.

The home of the department, in the White Hall Gardens, has been built up around it while at work. Carpenters were still setting up walls and partitions around the officials at the end of the first week, and a number of typewriters and stenographers were temporarily accommodated in a bathroom. Lloyd George and the members of his personal staff worked sixteen hours a day. Within three days the returns from their nation-wide campaign for munitions laborers was found to be in excess of all expectations.

The munitions courts, which will deal with offenses under the new munition act, are to be made up of a chairman appointed by Lloyd George, with an equal representation of employers and workmen.

RELATIONS WITH GERMANY CAUSED SLUMP IN MARKETS.

New York, July 12.—Relations with Germany resumed first place as a main factor of depression of last week's stock market. J. P. Morgan's speedy recovery induced a rallying tendency, but sensational disclosures following the attempt on the financier's life, including the hazard from bombs to valuable ship cargoes, together with the heavy foreign liquidation, were distinct market deterrents.

Evidences multiplied of the great demand for American products to supply far needs and of its stimulating effect. At the same time abnormal depression of exchange rates showed the difficulties of America's debts in meeting their obligations. A $25,000,000 French credit was arranged in the form of bank acceptances, implying difficulty in securing additional American securities for collateral in the manner of the previous loans. Results of the British war loan in London are awaited as a preliminary to a British loan here with exemption from the income tax.

RETRIAL OF MRS. LATHAM SET AT ANSON TODAY

By Associated Press.
Anson, Texas, July 13.—The trial of Mrs. Minnie Latham, charged with the murder at Snyder, Texas, January 20, 1914, of John Stewart, was set for today in district court here. Mrs. Latham was convicted in this court once, having been tried here on a charge of venue; but the case was reversed. At that time she was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Domestic trouble is said to have caused the killing. Her husband, W. H. Latham, was indicted as an accomplice. His trial is set for hearing January 3, 1916 at Colorado City, Mitchell county, where it was ordered held on a charge of venue.

It developed at the first trial of Mrs. Latham that on the night before the killing of Stewart, Mrs. Latham and her husband came to Snyder in an automobile from Sterling county. Mrs. Latham registered at a Snyder hotel under an assumed name and her husband left town in his machine.

The next day Mrs. Latham, it was testified, met Stewart on a crowded street, shot and killed him and after he fell continued to fire at him. Testimony was to the effect that Stewart had been connected with domestic troubles in the Latham family.

VIEWS OF GOVERNORS ON THE GERMAN REPLY

Ferguson is Quoted as Saying it is "Liberal and Fair"—Other Opinions

The Austin American Sunday contained expressions from a number of governors on the German reply to the American note. They follow:

Governor Arthur Capper, Kansas: "The latest German reply is as shifty in reasoning and unyielding in fact as the reply on May 23. I do not believe anything can be gained by a continuation of this joint debate. The president will be supported by a united sentiment in this country if he will invite neutral nations to a conference to consider what action they should take in defense of their rights against a government that has repudiated international law so flagrantly."

Governor Moorhead, Nebraska: "I do not care to comment further than to say that the president's action, no matter what arises, will receive the support of the people of Nebraska. It is a question for our executives."

Governor Edward Dunne, Illinois: "It is such a delicate matter we should all refrain from making any comment and allow the president and his cabinet to be unhampered in dealing with the situation."

Governor Ferguson, Texas: "I think the German reply to the American note is very liberal and fair. By no means can it be the cause of any unusual procedure by our government. The restriction which England is putting upon American shipping will undoubtedly cause great loss and disaster to the Southern cotton raiser and for this reason I hope our government will not do anything to ruin our foreign markets, much less embroil us in a controversy on imaginary wrongs."

Governor E. L. Phillip, Wisconsin: "Citizens of Wisconsin strongly favor continuation of peaceful relations with Germany and will receive the latest German note at full value. In repeating its assurance that Germany will not place lives of American citizens in neutral waters in jeopardy the government seems to show a disposition to do right."

Governor William Spry, Utah: "My attitude on the German question remains the same—that American lives and property are to be protected at any cost. Germany has evaded the principal issue and the United States should demand satisfaction. The imperial government is standing pat on all sea-territories and refuses to promise to obey the laws of humanity or the international agreement."

Governor Henry Carter Stuart, Virginia: "The German note indicates friendliness throughout and a desire to meet the reasonable demands of our own country as presented by the strong, yet conservative, note of President Wilson. Certainly it gives new assurances of the indisposition of Germany to forfeit the friendship of a great power, especially one representing the international interference of the United States. It seems to furnish a foundation for an amicable adjustment of all differences between us. In any event I have the firmest confidence in President Wilson and in his ability to protect our own country with honor."

Governor Manning, South Carolina: "The German note fails to comply with the guarantees required by President Wilson. The president will insist on the protection of American lives and American interests and will assert our rights under international law. This insistence may break diplomatic relations. I hope and believe the president will find a way to avoid war and still maintain the honor of America, but the people of this country trust his judgment and will support him, whatever the event."

The first message of a raid may come from a point in Holland or Flanders or some outlying English coast watch station. It gives the time of passing, the general direction and the estimated height of the airship. On receipt of this at the aerodrome, the scout planes start out.

range, the chaser must arise to a greater height than the invader, which is able to attain a maximum height of about 11,000 feet.

Unlike the gas ship, which can ascend swiftly at will, the aeroplane has to circle up slowly and laboriously. The scout probably starts out in the pitch dark with clouds to pass through. After the necessary altitude is reached, he has to speculate perhaps vaguely as to his position and then settle on his course. If he is sailing over country occupied by the Germans, he has to dodge the searchlights which are touching up the clouds. Once caught, the shrapnel from the antiaircraft guns begins to burst. The scout then has to dive, circle, reverse and dodge about until he gets out of range and safe into the dark again. It requires all the nerve the airman possesses to keep himself under control while the shells burst with blinding flashes and the searchlights play on the clouds.

Safe into the dark, the hunter watches for his first clue and Zeppelin signal from below in the form of fire flashes. This seen, he shapes his course for it.

If the moon is due to come up at this time, the work is simplified, for the form of the Zeppelin may be easily seen if within range. If unaware of the impending attack, the enemy's course is regular with the long sausage like form running on a level.

The problem is now to keep clear of the Zeppelin's ears. The Zeppelin's engines can be slowed down so that the louder buzz of the aeroplane may be overheard.

If the Zeppelin detects the noise of the attacker, he flashes lights that illuminate all of the surrounding clouds. Once he sees the object of his search, his machine guns begin to play.

ARMORED MOTOR CARS USED IN FIGHTING TURKS

London.—Reporting in detail how the British and French forces took five lines of Turkish trenches during recent attacks on the Gallipoli Peninsula, a Reuter's correspondent discloses that armored turret motor cars were used in the trench warfare. Heretofore the use of these cars has been restricted mainly to reconnaissance and raiding, especially in cooperation with aeroplanes, the purpose for which they were built.

It was a surprise, even to the British soldiers, to have the armored cars come up to help in the rout of the Turks. The cars, which are incorporated as part of the Royal Naval Air Service, had been brought ashore secretly and hidden, in anticipation of the fact that they might be helpful, notwithstanding that the roads there were anything but ideal for automobile work. When the allied movement began on June 4, at noon, the armored turret cars made their way from their station through loose dust, more than ankle deep and over ground pitted with shell holes, and across the British trenches over bridges that had been laid for them. They moved up to the very edge of the first Turkish line of trenches, but there they had to halt, as they could not leap the deep and wide caverns which the Turks had dug. The appearance of this new and formidable weapon enhanced the general state of confusion and terror in which the Turks seemed to await the attack and when the cars opened fire with the maxim gun which each carried in a turret, they scattered the Turks to the rear.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 13th, 1915.

Somewhere in the Good Book there is a sentence that runs something like this: "He that is without sin amongst you, let him cast the first stone." The Times does not venture an application of this text but is certain that if it is kept in mind some situation will present itself which will show its fitness.

Texas' first bale of the 1915 cotton crop has been marketed. This reminds us that the acreage to cotton in this county as compared to 1914, is just about one-half, considering that much of it was destroyed by excessive rains and high water. But the condition of the crop is good and warrants the prediction that between 7,000 and 8,000 bales will be raised in the county this year. Cotton warehouses are being constructed all over the state for the purpose of storing the cotton and marketing gradually. If the cotton is stored there need be little or no fear this year but that money can be borrowed on it at a low rate of interest, minus the red tape that was necessary to get a loan on cotton last year. The principle reason for cotton selling at 6 cents per pound last year was that it was estimated that the largest crop in the history of the country had been produced, and the estimate in that one respect was correct. It was again estimated that the surplus or holdover cotton would be between 7,000,000 and 9,000,000 bales, meaning there would be that many bales of cotton for which there would be no demand or market. That prediction or estimate has proven incorrect. The holdover cotton is less than 3,000,000 bales, or just a little more than normal, which is generally about 3,000,000 bales. But that fact was not made known until the great bulk of the cotton crop of 1914 had left the hands of the producers and just as quick as the cotton speculators had suspended in buying up the crop, they concluded to advance the price two or three cents on the pound, where it has remained steady since. The cotton farmers, it is hoped, will profit by their experience of last year. It is better to warehouse their cotton until the price offered is sufficient to warrant them in selling, leaving them a profit above the cost of production.

Ice in Wichita Falls, delivered in small quantities, sells for 20 cents per hundred. The Times is advised the Commissioners' Court will not buy ice or furnish ice water for the prisoners in the county jail. The county prisoners should be given ice water. As to whether the man who has the contract to feed the county prisoners should be required to stand that cost is a question upon which The Times is not posted, but The Times wants to see those who are in jail made as comfortable as possible, at least until after they have been given a trial on charges pending against them and are serving out their jail sentence. If neither the jailer nor the Commissioners' Court will furnish the prisoners in the county jail with ice water, then it becomes the duty of the public to do so, and The Times makes the suggestion that money for that purpose be raised by popular subscription. If this suggestion meets with favor The Times will start the fund with a five-dollar bill. It is cruel to keep prisoners penned up in the county jail without giving them ice water.

A BUSTED PORK BARREL.
Upon former occasions The Evening Journal with confidence has asserted its belief that Texas did not need any additional State normal colleges. This belief now is fortified by the statement of the Board of Regents of the State Normal College, which shows that the existing colleges of this class can accommodate 1,500 more pupils than were in attendance at the sessions just closed and that the three unnecessary normal colleges provided for by the Legislature would cost the people not less than $3,000,000 in ten years.

Although this Board of Regents has complete control over the normal colleges, the Legislature completely ignored it in passing the bill above mentioned, and it provided for the location of the colleges by a board independent of the regents. In this latter the Legislature unwittingly rendered the people of Texas a service, for the Supreme Court commendably has refused to permit itself to be used as a political catspaw to name two of the members of the locating board, and in consequence the three unnecessary colleges will not be established. Thus $3,000,000 is saved to the taxpayers.

The fact that the Board of Normal Regents was ignored by the Legislature, and the statement of the board, make it clear that the effort to establish these colleges, was purely of the pork-barrel variety. But as the pork barrel has blown up, probably it will not be heard of again.—Dallas Journal.

TYPHOID FEVER IS PREVENTABLE
Four hundred thousand persons incapacitated, and thirty thousand lives lost—this is the heavy toll exacted in the United States each year by the scourge of typhoid fever. And typhoid fever is a preventable disease!

A recent bulletin of the United States Public Health Service entitled "Typhoid Fever—Its Causation and Prevention," states that within the past ten years few of our communities having as many as two thousand persons have remained free from this disease for any period of twelve consecutive months. In recent times the rate of its prevalence for the United States as a whole has been from two to five times as high as in some of the countries of Europe. In these European countries the typhoid rate was formerly higher than the present figures for the United States. Their great reductions in the ravages of the disease have been brought about by improvements in sanitary conditions in many American cities there has occurred within the last twenty years a considerable reduction of typhoid fever. Due in a large part to improved sanitary conditions in the cities, the typhoid rate for some entire states has shown a material decrease. For the country as a whole, according to available figures, the rate has been reduced about 50 per cent. in the past forty years. But the present rate is still the same as that which prevailed in some of the other advanced nations of the world thirty years ago. In other words the United States is a generation behind the times, in respect to the reduction of its typhoid rate.

Practical and efficient measures for the prevention of typhoid fever are definitely known, but the efforts to get the people of the average self-governing community to carry out these measures to a reasonable extent are oftentimes decidedly of a sentimental character. In many instances, the cost of modern sanitary improvements has been an obstacle in the way of typhoid prevention. It is often difficult to convince the governing authorities that money expended in the protection of the public health yields large dividends.

In rural communities and small municipalities another factor—the instruction and cooperation of the individual property owners—enters into the problem. Here every home must have its own method of sewage disposal, and in most cases its own water supply. The Public Health Service Bulletin above referred to deals in a comprehensive way with the construction of wells and outhouses.

In recent years a specific method for increasing individual resistance to typhoid germs has been employed. This is known as antityphoid inoculation or "vaccination." This method has been used extensively in military organizations of the United States, and from the results obtained it appears that inoculated persons are upon equal exposure to typhoid infection, less than one-fourth as likely to develop the disease as those who have not been inoculated and who have previously had the disease. The average duration of protection given by inoculation has not been determined, but is supposed to be about two years.

It is pointed out, however, that the protection given by antityphoid inoculation is relative, not absolute, and that such inoculation is not to be regarded as a substitute for sanitation.

Dear Sir: If The Times will allow me the space I would like to have the privilege of replying to the article in the Friday issue of The Times, from "A Mother, Wife and Teacher."

To begin with, I am really surprised to know that people with responsibility of the teaching of children resting upon their shoulders would allow such thoughts to even enter their minds, much less, break into print and expose such argument to the world, that might poison the mind of some mother who looks at life more seriously. She evidently tried to straddle the fence but found herself in such a predicament that she hardly knew where to jump.

The prohibition question is simply a moral question. Is it right to sell and traffic in something that destroys the manhood and womanhood of our country? Not like a political question that has two sides and both sides upheld by men and women and high moral and deep religious conviction. To begin with, she said that she was in favor of prohibition if it could be made to prohibit. I might ask her if she is opposed to the law against killing or the law against rape, or the law against bank robbery, or the law against horse stealing. They do not prohibit but are sent to the penitentiary when they are convicted, the same place where your would-be bootleggers would go and if we would go a little stronger and make it a capital offense to sell in dry territories, we would stop it right now, but the penitentiary will stop it in time and as to little boys in knee pants ordering it from Fort Worth and other places and lying out on the creek drunk, she failed to state the number of boys that were at home not drinking but going to church and Sunday school that perhaps if they had had saloons in the town they would have been led off. I will admit some would prefer it just like there was a seat in the Garden of Eden. We sure-enough prohibitionists do not claim this to be a paradise but we do believe it can be improved upon by getting from our midst that infernal saloon that might claim one of your promising three sons as somebody's sons and daughters help to keep up the saloons and red light districts as they run hand in hand and your sons are no better than my daughter.

As to never seeing a drunk man in a wet territory when you were young, your promising three boys can't say that now and if they will come down town some afternoon I will show them over one hundred drunk men. There isn't any such thing as a well regulated saloon. That is an impossibility. I have never yet seen the devil regulated. God couldn't do it and kicked him out of heaven, then how do you expect us to do it. But we can, by our votes, cast it from our midst and other people can do the same thing until finally we will have your "nation-wide prohibition."

But I am afraid by your argument you are raising three promising young sons and enough of your kind would blight our ambition.

Now, I would like to say a few words about the stand some of the officials of our town are taking in this issue. A position I claim is not warranted. I really thought they had reached the state in their avocation that they would certainly line up on the moral side of every question but not only our officials but others who wield a wonderful influence to line up with a saloon crowd, a place where they would not have for their sons or their daughters to visit, but they have a right to go any place that father helps to build. Suppose we would have a mob that would hang a negro on the streets tomorrow for rape. The first thing our honorable mayor would do would be to close the saloons. Why? I will await his answer. Why did Governor Slaton, of Georgia close the saloons in the Leo Frank case, would not the grocery stores have done as well? They argue to vote the saloon out would kill the town. Does the drunkards and vomiting man build a town? The only part of the town he builds is the jail and red light district. If it takes voting them out to kill the town, I have my mourning clothes and ready to go to the funeral. I believe the time has come in the great march of humanity, when we should be read out and not allow men to be harbored in our churches because of their money and influence. But if his morals are not right, why keep him in the church? I believe the whiskey question is the biggest moral question that is before the minds of American people today for solution but as long as we elect mayors, county judges, governors, or even presidents that stand for the open saloon, how shall we expect the future generation to do other than emulate their example.

Press dispatches from Washington indicate that the relations between the American government and Germany are strained to the breaking point, and that the next note to go forward to Berlin will not only reject the proposals made by Germany regarding the safety of American white aboard neutral or unarmed ships, but will state with firmness just what this country will do unless Germany accedes to the demands of the American government. A week, or possibly two, will be taken in framing the next note to Germany, but that is not the intention of the American government to recede from the position set out in the two last notes.

It has never concluded that the prosperity of any town or city depended upon any one kind of business, it matters not what that business might be. The Times is willing to concede for the sake of argument, that Wichita Falls could manage in some way or other to struggle along, even were it to stop publication, which it has not the least intention of doing. The Times likes Wichita Falls and is going to continue to be a part and parcel of this city regardless of what might happen. Should conditions here ever become even half so bad as they have been painted, it might then make up its mind to hunt a new field, and even if it did not do this of its own motion, it would not blame others were they to render assistance along that line.

WICHITA FALLS BOY IN FRENCH TRENCHES

Frank Pages Writes Letter To Uncle In Dallas Telling Of Life On Battle Front

(Dallas News) The Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News is read weekly in the French trenches just north of Arras. At least it was read there up until about the 1st of May, when Frank Pages was stricken with typhoid fever. He now reads it and lends it to his wounded comrades in the Dunkirk hospital.

Frank Pages is a native of Wichita county, Texas, and was born where the city of Wichita Falls is now. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pages, were settlers in that country in the 70's. Mr. and Mrs. Pages now live in their native home, Bostwick, Province of Oran, Algeria. J. L. Hiegel, 1304 South Lamar street, is an uncle of Frank Pages. Mr. Hiegel is also one of the early settlers of Texas and tells many stories of the wild west. Saturday, he received a letter from his nephew, Mr. Pages, mailed in Algeria on May 19. In ordinary times it takes a letter fifteen days to come here from that point.

The Pages family is a regular subscriber to the Semi-Weekly News and has been for a number of years. Mrs. Pages said in the letter that she sent the News to Frank in the trenches just as soon as they had finished it at home. Letters from Frank said that the News was greatly enjoyed and that his comrades in the trenches, many of whom were Americans or understood the English language, took great delight in reading the news from this country.

Frank Pages comes from a fighting stock. His great great grandfather fought under Napoleon and his grandfather was in the Crimean war. He is a member of the Second Zouaves, Algerian Regiment. A picture sent to his uncle here shows him in his uniform as he entered the war in Africa. His command was soon transferred to France, however, and he has been stationed in the trenches north of Arras during the last six months.

Frank has narrowly escaped death a number of times. He is now one of seventeen men out of an original command of 250. Once a 42 centimeter shell exploded near the trench in which Pages was fighting and he was buried for two hours under tons of rock and dirt. He was dug out by friends.

Another time the gun he was holding in his hands was struck by a shell. His cap, which fits tight to the head, has been knocked off several times by bullets. He has been through the liquid fire used by the Germans and has inhaled the deadly gas, he wrote. He wrote that he is receiving excellent service in the hospital at Dunkirk and that the sisters are very kind to him. Mr. Hiegel has sent his nephew a number of pieces of clothing from local merchants. He said he sent him several pair of gloves last winter, and although it took about two months to reach him, the soldier long wore them as a protection against the extreme cold.

RECRUITING OFFICERS FOR NAVY VISITORS

Lieut. Cunningham and Dr. Bostick Here From Dallas Headquarters On Official Business

Lieutenant J. C. Cunningham, in charge of the naval recruiting stations in Texas and Oklahoma with headquarters at Dallas, and Dr. J. B. Bostick, examining surgeon with headquarters at Dallas, are at the naval recruiting station here today with P. C. Becker, the local recruiting officer, receiving applications for enlistment and explaining to ex-service men the new Naval Reserve system. Nearly a score of applications for enlistment were received in the regular service and a number of ex-service men called at the station to hear about the Naval Reserve. Dr. Bostick also advised with a number of applicants who have not been able to pass the examination for enlistment in the navy. A number of these by following his advice will be accepted for service. About one man out of every five who apply for enlistment in the navy is accepted. Three out of five are rejected because of physical disqualifications, Dr. Bostick said. One out of five is rejected because of failure to secure consent of parents or guardians or to furnish the proper affidavits and other formalities.

Lieutenant Cunningham said that the navy was now short only 600 of its full complement of 52,500 men but as an average of 250 men are discharged from the navy each week applicants who can stand the examinations are almost certain to be enlisted.

He said there had been few enlistments so far in the Naval Reserve, but that many had manifested interest in the organization. By registering and reporting at a naval recruiting station quarterly to sign vouchers and for inspection men honorably discharged from the navy who join the reserve within four months after their discharge and who have served in the navy less than eight years will receive $12 per year, those who have served four years in the navy and who join the reserve within less than four months will receive $20 per year. Those who have served eight years will receive $30. Their only obligation is to go into active duty in case of war. They may also go into active duty upon their own request one month each year and receive full pay with transportation to and from port and subsistence.

This was the first visit of Lieutenant Cunningham and Dr. Bostick to Wichita Falls, and they were much pleased with the evidence of progress here. They leave for Dallas tonight.

JAPAN PREPARING TO INCREASE ITS ARMY

Two New Divisions to Be Created and Will Bring Total to 21 Divisions

Tokio.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press) Having received authority from the Diet, the government is already making preparations for the creation of two additional divisions in the army. They will be located in Korea, one at Seoul or Ping-yang and the other at Ranan. This strengthening of the army, which has been a thorny political question for several years, is a great victory for the army influences of which Marshal Prince Yamagata is the head. The announcement by Count Okuma, the premier and General Oka, minister of war, that the increase was but the beginning of a plan to create a military force of twenty-five divisions, has centered attention here upon military expansion.

The plan to gradually augment the army until it reaches twenty-five divisions was really made ten years ago and is supposed to have had the sanction of Emperor Mutsuhito. Just when the plan was to be carried out was not fixed but the recent announcement of the ministers is interpreted to mean that the work will go forward. The present Japanese army included eighteen regular divisions and one division of household guards.

Increase Justified. The pending increase has been justified by Count Okuma on the ground that the actual conditions in the world do not permit Japan to neglect her defense program. On the other hand, the expansion of Japanese influence in Southern Manchuria and in Eastern Inner Mongolia which was emphasized by the recent treaties with China constitutes another justification, from the Japanese standpoint, for strengthening the land forces. Everybody realizes that the increase means an extra burden upon the people but no protest is heard. The matter having been decided by the Diet is accepted by the people at large as a necessary step in the development of their country and as an assurance that Japan may be able to hold her place as a victorious, first class power in case of attack. Moreover, the great war has aroused the leaders of Japanese thought to the conviction that Japan must be strong if she would maintain her place in the world and that her future in the Far East does not permit any backward step in military power or prowess.

Cost of New Divisions. The creation of two army divisions will require the expenditure of about 12,000,000 yen ($6,000,000) from the national treasury, extended over seven years beginning with the expenditure of 477,000 yen in the current year. The yearly outlay will increase until it becomes 3,000,000 yen in 1918. Then it swells until 1921 it reaches 10,000,000 yen.

In addition, the sum of about 30,000,000 yen will be required to maintain the two divisions pending the completion of their organization. The amounts to be disbursed range from 241,000 yen in 1915 to 7,000,000 yen in 1921. After 1921 the amount required for the maintenance of the divisions is estimated at about 7,000,000 yen a year.

Governor-General Teruchi has always considered the extra forces necessary for the safety of the country and it is largely through his perseverance that the present expansion has been brought about.

Friberg-Thornberry Items. July 12. Miss Annie Preston of Denton, Tex. after spending some weeks with her sister, Mrs. Luther Lester, has come to Denver, Col. to visit another sister. After spending some time with her sister there she will return to Denton and take a special observation course in the summer normal.

Miss Nellie Lynsky, one of Thornberry's most accomplished young ladies, was elected principal of the Friberg school with Miss Annie Preston of Denton, Texas, a very bright looking young woman, as assistant. Mr. Johnson's thrasher had a breakdown Saturday evening; he was thrashing for Mr. Lamb.

George Musgrave, one of the large land holders in this part and a great rustler, reports having made fifteen bushels of wheat per acre.

Threshing is on today at E. E. Beyman's. From there the thrasher goes to Charlie Quastrom's.

Miss Millie Singlettery, of Macon, Ga., after spending some weeks with her brother, N. B. Singlettery of Friberg, departed Saturday morning for Louisville, Tex., to visit her brother, Dick Singlettery.

Mrs. Glen of Tyler, Tex., an old friend of Mrs. Laak Thornberry, attended church at Friberg Sunday with Mrs. Thornberry.

Miss Clara Peete of Mineral Wells, Tex., is selling some folks on the Alford farm.

Mrs. Bentley has a new grain bin to store his wheat for a better price.

CARRANZA'S CHANCE FOR RECOGNITION IMPROVES

Capture of Capital and Prospect of Opening Communication With American Border-Factors

By Associated Press. Washington, July 12.—Brief dispatches today reached the state department from Mexico City, dated before the occupation of the capital by the Carranza troops, describing food conditions as almost intolerable. It is believed these conditions have since been remedied.

State department officials, asked if the occupation of Mexico City by Carranza would affect the probability of his recognition by the United States, declared that no definite measure had been determined upon by the government. They said, however, that recognition always seems more favorable when one party becomes dominant.

It now seems probable that General Carranza by further acquisition of territory north of the capital which may bring communication with the American border has strengthened his chances of obtaining the moral support of the United States.

OROZCO FAILS TO APPEAR HIS BOND IS FORFEITED

By Associated Press. El Paso, Texas, July 12.—General Pascual Orozco, who on July 12 eluded federal and civil officers who held him under surveillance, failed today to appear in federal court to answer charges of conspiracy to violation of the United States neutrality laws. His bond of $7,500 was declared forfeited. Gen. Marcelino Carazco, Frank and Ike Albereto, held on a similar charge waived preliminary hearings and were held under reduced bond to the federal grand jury.

THE MISSOURI RIVER CHANGES ITS CHANNEL

Wellington, Mo., July 12.—The Missouri river, bank full from recent heavy rains, has formed a new channel over valuable bottom land near here, leaving twelve miles of Camden bend, its old channel, a currentless slough which already is filling with sandbar and sediment.

The frank of the stream—the most serious since 1850, when it left Keyteville Landing, a prosperous river town, and formed a new runway—has dispossessed a number of farmers living on the land which now has become part of the river. Left Camden, formerly a river town, an

10,000 GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE IN NEW YORK

By Associated Press. New York, July 12.—A garment workers strike, the first for several years, began here today when 10,000 pants makers left their shops. Their principal demands were better shop sanitation and wages. AUSTRALIA NOT MAINTAINING HER ENLISTMENTS

Melbourne.—Official admission of the fact that recruiting has been failing to maintain the unit now at the front for Australia is made by the minister of defense. "Men must be forthcoming without delay to replace those fallen at Gallipoli," he announced in Parliament. "One draft of reinforcements is nearly 2,000 short of the requirements. To maintain the units now at the front Australia is pledged to provide at least 5300 soldiers, and these men must have at least three months experience before embarkation." He announced that the minimum height standard of 5 feet 3 inches was to be reduced one inch, and he urged the newspapers to print a standing notice at the head of their columns, dealing with the standards for enlistment and the rates of pay. Up to this time the public had been led to believe that the government was getting all of the recruits it could handle, owing to the fact that there is but one factory in the commonwealth turning out rifles with which to arm them, but it appears now that the great want is men.
