SERIOUS CHARGES IN AUSTRIAN RED BOOK

INSTANCES OF BARBARISM AND BREACHES OF INTERNATIONAL LAW SHOWN.

COLLECTION OF EVIDENCE

All Allied Governments Add Their People Arraigned in the Official Austrian Document.

By Associated Press. Washington, July 16.—Austria-Hungary's indictment of the methods of warfare of her enemies, giving scores of instances of "barbarous treatment" of nations and prisoners and breaches of international law, was made public today in a "Red Book" issued by the Austro-Hungarian ministry of foreign affairs through its embassy here.

The publication is called a "Collection of Evidence" and is divided into four parts. "The first two parts," says a prefatory note introducing numerous depositions and affidavits, "contain evidence concerning the treatment of Austro-Hungarian diplomatic and consular officers by the government officers of the hostile countries. The cases adduced, deal with the violations of the most elementary rules of the right of hospitality, a right conceded since the remotest antiquity and respected even by the uncivilized nations of the East. Never before have so many cases of the violations of this right been instanced. In several cases the illegal expulsion or arrest has preceded the actual state of war, a fact which still further aggravates the offense. The expulsion of the Austro-Hungarian diplomatic agents from Morocco and Egypt, which is irreconcilable with existing international treaties, has been made the subject of protests lodged with the neutral powers.

"The third part contains evidence of the treatment to which Austrian and Hungarian citizens have been subjected—in most cases before the opening of hostilities—in hostile countries. Even if it be conceded that the prevention of the enemy's nations from joining the war is to a certain extent justifiable, the methods employed by the hostile countries, and especially the arrest and the incarceration of aged men, sick persons, women and children are contrary to the elementary usages of humanity. It was a French professor of law who thus defined such conduct: 'To inflict sufferings on defenseless citizens of the enemy without imperative reasons is to revert to barbarism.'

"Unspeakeable Outrages." "The fourth part comprises authentic proofs of violations of the laws of warfare. From the evidence published herewith the conclusion is inevitable that there is hardly a rule of warfare, which has not been violated repeatedly by the hostile armies. To the numerous cases of disregard of the regulations concerning the use of prohibited projectiles, contained in the Hague agreement, about the laws and practices of warfare on land, and of the Geneva convention, must be added the unspeakeable outrages of which the Serbian and Montenegrin troops have been guilty. This ruthlessly illegal way of conducting war operations, and the cruel and treacherous participation of the entire population in acts of war, certify once more the lapse from civilization which the people of these countries have undergone.

"The 'Collection of Evidence' does not purport to be complete in any respect. It is actually restricted to the exposition of facts which have been either officially investigated or authenticated in an unimpeachable way.

"In preparation for the number of cases which have actually occurred, the publisher of the proven instances is exceedingly small. Up to this day the ministry of foreign affairs is still without information concerning the fate of several consular officials who have been arrested. The Austrian and Hungarian who are being detained in hostile countries fear by count of them still endure in silence the outrageous methods wherein the governments of hostile countries set human dignity at naught. The breaches of the laws of warfare as compiled in part of this collection, must be considered however, as only individual evidence. For the time being we cannot have anything approaching a comprehensive knowledge of events in the territories beyond the enemy's lines. And yet, from the reports which reach us and from trustworthy news published in foreign daily papers, it is possible to draw the well-founded conclusion that thousands of shocking violations of the law of nations have occurred, especially in the districts of our country occupied by the enemy.

"Uncivilized Troops." "It may be supposed that certain breaches of international law seem to be an inevitable consequence of the making of troops on so large a scale as this war has produced. But it is nevertheless most disappointing that the international agreements as to the protection of lives, the honor, the freedom of the religious faith of peaceful citizens, and the arts and sciences, should be willfully violated by the troops and officials of the very government under the aegis of which The Hague conference reformed and completed the laws of warfare. One of the main causes for this unfortunate situation must be ascribed to the employment of troops wholly unable to perceive legal restrictions applied to warfare. The French professor of law, already quoted above, enumerates the doctrine that countries at war with nations of a low standard of civilization are compelled to apply the laws of warfare which correspond to the level of their opponent's morals. He adds: 'The French acted in accordance with this precept in Africa, Tonkin, China and Dahomey; the English in India, and Russians in Caucasus and in Turkestan, France, Great Britain and Russia could, therefore, not possibly expect that their African and Asiatic subjects would respect the provisions of international law; there cannot be the slightest doubt that they are well aware that they are disregarding the law of European nations when they line up savages and half-savages against the troops of European powers.'

"The object of this publication is to adduce only such violations of the international law as have been perpetrated directly and individually against nationals of the dual monarchy; it, therefore, does not include the evidences of numerous exceeding grave breaches of the law which have affected Austria-Hungary in an indirect and general way. Such breaches are to be found in the arbitrary and unlawful declaration of France and Great Britain with regard to the status of Morocco, Egypt and Cyprus, in the violation of the rights of neutral nations and in the systematic disregard of the regulations provided by maritime law.

"The preposterous claim of the hostile nations to the right to subject the entire population of large countries to famine must be stigmatized as a sacrilegious violation of the rules of warfare. No less sacrilegious is the act of the hostile governments in withholding, if not actually imprisoning, the indefensible captives of the great which discriminate. His and his wife, 'most of the innocents and defenseless people have fallen victims are the direct outcome of that action.'

"The collection of evidence, as now published for general information, cannot convey even a faint idea of the decay which the notions of international law have undergone and which in the course of a few months have destroyed many a hope; it may, however, furnish some facts for the reflection of those whose judgment has remained unshaken as to who is responsible for the collapse of the law of nations and of the sense of morality in a war brought on by our enemies for the purpose of crushing nations engaged in the peaceful pursuit of the blessing of civilization, and as to who has the right to claim that he is fighting this hotly contested struggle for sake of liberty and humanity.

"Witnesses Names Withheld." "The Austro-Hungarian ministry of foreign affairs has received, since the printing of this collection was completed, a number of further reports of violations of international law committed by hostile governments, and among them the reports of the consular officials recently released from Russia. These and similar revelations which may come to hand at a future date will be published in the form of supplements to the present collection.

"The names of a number of witnesses have been withheld at their own special request; they have reasons to fear that the publication of their names would tend, as long as the passions aroused by the war last, to subject them to reprisals and thus endanger either their interests or those of other persons in hostile countries. The identity of all the witnesses has, however, been carefully established by responsible government officials; the names which have, for the time being, been suppressed will be available when their publication will not be able to entail harm to them or other sufferers of the war."

"A typical example" of the treatment of Austrians in Belgium is described in a letter from an Austrian merchant in the perfume business who had lived for fifteen years in Paris and was forced to leave within twenty-four hours.

"The hospitality and brutality of the population of Brussels towards German and Austrians," he writes concerning his journey through Belgium "was beyond description. From Brussels we proceeded to Antwerp where we were arrested by the Carde on the station and hurried on with the butt ends of the guards' rifles. As she took no heed of this, she was struck across both legs with a rifle and was injured. We witnessed most pitiable scenes. A child, nine years, was so frightened that it refused to follow the others and clung with both hands to the railings at the exit; a garde civique hit it with its sabre and cut its left hand off.

"An Austrian couple, who had owned a restaurant at Antwerp for the last sixteen years was terribly ill-treated by the mob. The poor woman had one of her eyes pierced with a fork while her husband had two fingers cut off. Another Austrian woman was expelled from a maternity home with her baby which was only five days old. She had neither dress nor shirt on her body which was only covered with a dirty bed sheet. It was a heart rending scene yet it did not prevent a garde civique from making fun of her in a shameless manner; it was a comedy very amusing, indeed."

"With reference to the treatment of Austro-Hungarian nationals in France, the chief complaint was against the hardships imposed upon innocent women and children in the concentration camps. A deposition of Miss M. E. Schreiner, a graduate nurse, pictures conditions in a convent at Garaison to which Austrians, Hungarians and Germans were ordered after a march of 20 kilometers. Here they were informed that they were prisoners of war.

"There were altogether about 4,000

STOMACH TROUBLES

Mr. Regland Writes Interesting Letter on This Subject.

Madison Heights, Va.—Mr. Ches. A. Regland, of this place writes: "I have been taking Theodor's Black-Draught for indigestion, and other stomach troubles, also colds, and find it to be the very best medicine I have ever used."

"After taking Black-Draught for a few days, I always feel it," a new man. "Nervousness, nausea, heartburn, pain in pit of stomach, and a feeling of fullness after eating, are sure symptoms of stomach trouble, and should be given the proper treatment, as your strength and health depend very largely upon your food and its digestion."

"To get quick and permanent relief from these ailments, you should take a medicine of known curative merit. Its 75 years of splendid success, in the treatment of just such troubles, proves the real merit of Theodor's Black-Draught. Safe, pleasant, gentle in action, and without bad after-effects, it is sure to benefit both young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25c. K. C. P.

prisoners," declared Miss Schreiner, "half of whom were women and children. There was no furniture available and straw was the sole bedding. Under the pretext of safety, the existing latrines were boarded up and holes in the ground were dug by the male prisoners in lieu of other arrangements. There was no provision made for washing. Insufficiency of food and the weather conditions soon brought about serious illnesses such as dysentery, and in consequence of the inadequate latrines, epidemics broke out. Two women were confined and had to put up with the most degrading treatments. These people died."

Other cases cited included the "malicious punishment, rough medical attendance by a veterinary surgeon," and the "shameful mistreatment of interned girls of French soldiers" at Sedan & Orleans.

"Young Girls Outraged." "The young girls," according to one of the depositions "were exposed to criminal assaults by the soldiers. In the beginning, they were herded together with the young men and had to share their rooms or stables with them. Modesty forbids specification of all the acts of indecency to which we had to submit; worst of all offenders was the commission of police matrones, who unmercifully maltreated." A Berry with Three Different Flavors

In Jamaica grows a berry that tastes like cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. When the natives of that island discovered this berry, being unable to decide on which spice it tasted most like, they compromised the matter by calling it "all-spice." That is where allspice got its name.

Allspice is grown in other places, but the island where it was first discovered and which name it still produces the best allspice—for that reason all White Swan Allspice is Jamaica Allspice. Now inasmuch as it is a certain oil in the berry which gives it its flavor, or rather its three flavors, the drying and grinding and packing of the berry must be very, very carefully handled so as not to let that oil be lost by evaporation. In the matter of White Swan Allspice the extra care is taken to retain a every drop of oilness—the grinding is done by our own process which preserves all the original rich flavor. Finally it is packed in air-tight tins which keep all the goodness. Your grocer sells White Swan Allspice—ask for it.

Facts about Prohibition in Kansas

(ADVERTISEMENT)

October 6, 1914, George H. Knox, president of the Kansas Retail Merchant's association says: "Our state is free from the saloon evil; our people are happy and prosperous and they generally own their own homes, pay their bills and educate their children. From a business man's viewpoint prohibition is a success, and you would have to hunt the state over to find a retail merchant who favors saloons."

On October 3, 1914, the Supreme Court of Kansas signed the following statement: "The prohibitory law is well enforced throughout the state. The enforcement of the law distinctly promotes social welfare and reduces to a minimum economic waste consequent upon liquor traffic and allied evils. The saloon keeper and his comrade have been excluded from effective participation in the politics of the state."

Mr. E. E. Mullany, president of the State Bankers' Association declared on October 15, 1914, as follows: "I regard prohibition as the best business asset of Kansas citizens and counties where it is best enforced are the most prosperous. Property and development same simultaneously with prohibition. Our assessed property valuation is nearly $2,000,000 compared with an average of $1,200 with the United States. In a recent poll of 372 bankers in Kansas only six could be found who doubted the wisdom of prohibition."

October 6, 1914, R. E. Frizell, president of the state organization of Commercial Clubs, signed the following: "Kansas is a farm home state essentially. I have dealt in Kansas land for thirty years. I know thousands of home seekers who come to Kansas every year chiefly because prohibition has banished the saloon, which is the greatest enemy of the home. The absence of the saloon has added real value to every acre of Kansas land. I know because I deal in land that prohibition is one of the commercial advantages of our state."

Dr. W. E. Sawhill, late president of the Kansas Medical Society, signed the following statement: "I practiced over thirty years in a city of several thousand in a farming community and have an opportunity to note the workings of the prohibitory law. During that time I have seen drunkenness diminished 75 per cent. absolutely. In the earlier days of my practice I would see young men from the country drunk every Saturday night. I have not seen one for several years and my opportunity is the same. There is only one confusion for an honest man who lives in this state to make, and that is that prohibition has done more for the people of the state morally, financially, and physically than any other one agency."

Kansas has more wealth per capita than the State of Texas, and only two states in the Union has a greater per capita wealth.

HILL COUNTY PROSPERS UNDER PROHIBITION.

Hillsboro, Texas, June 28, 1915. We, the undersigned citizens of Hill County, Texas, who have lived in said Hill County during the time that saloons were running open in this county and who reside here now, wish to subscribe our names to this testimonial, stating emphatically that Hill County is now in better condition socially, morally, financially, and in every way better off since saloons have been voted out of the county, and the same can be said of Hillsboro and all other towns within the borders of Hill County.

A Lake at Evening.
Above its brim the hawthorn droops
A mist of blossomed snow;
Guarding its shores like shadowy troops
The spectral alders show.
The lake lake dreams; its silver rest
No lightest zephyr mars;
Like clustered pearls upon its breast
Are looped the sleeping stars.

O soul of mine! when broodingly
Dusk hovers o'er the scene,
Like this dim wood-lake, may'st thou be Pellucid and serene.

TWO VISITORS HONORED

In compliment to Miss Olive Atrey of Mobile, Ala., and Mrs. J. O. Smith of Post City, Mrs. M. M. Walker entertained Tuesday with a very pretty bridge party. Midsummer posies, daisies, sweet peas and nasturtiums in massed profusion adorned the rooms and a cluster of the Shasta daisies were on each plate. The daisy color motif was featured in the score cards and the refreshments of caramel brick cream, caramel cake and yellow and white mints. Top score prize, a sterling silver tea strainer, went to Miss Sherrod and the two honorees were presented with remembrances by the hostess, Miss Atrey's favor being French ivory toilet articles and Mrs. Smith a cut glass sandwich plate. The Lamar Ardmore.
A new series of pictures with an unusual theme will open tonight at the Lamar Ardmore. "Under the Crescent" is a series of stories about life in the Egyptian courts. The series is written by Princess Ibrahim Hassan, wife of the nephew of the Khedive of Egypt, formerly Oia Humphrey, an American girl, and the story of her life in a harem makes up the thrilling text of adventure in this series.

The Majestic.
Lillian Drew is featured in "The Secret's Price" an Essany drama and a "Sieg song" "Where is Oliver" is also in the program. Margaret Gilson, George Holt and Myrtle Gonzales are featured in "A Child of the North," a two-part Vitagraph. A story is given.

Nan, a half-breed girl of the North, lives with her ill-natured and dissipated father in a small hut near the banks of the Susquehanna. Cal Stanton, owner of a large amount of land in the neighborhood, one day saves the girl from her father's brutality and exhibits a friendly interest toward her. During a terrific forest fire she saves the life of Richard Burton, a stranger, who, disguised as a hunter, is secretly looking for coal outcroppings, hoping to buy up the land cheap. A love triangle develops between the girl and she goes to live at his camp. For a while he is very kind to her. One day she overhears him say he will cheat her old friend Cal out of his timber land. And after much cogitation Nan warns her old friend that the man she loves is going to cheat him out of his land, so he refuses to sell when approached by Burton. Meanwhile, Burton has met an old school chum, Lillian Baker, and is at once fascinated with her beauty. When Nan, becoming remorseful for what she has done, decides to ask Burton's forgiveness, she finds he is preparing a hasty marriage to Lillian. Her love turns to bitter hate. Racing back to camp, she secures a heavy-bored rifle and just as Burton and Lillian stand before the preacher she kills him with one shot. She then goes to Cal, and learning the Royal Mounted Police are after her, he tells her to meet him next day by the lower lake. She makes her escape through the dangerous rapids in a canoe, but Fate takes a hand and winter comes on with a sudden bitter cold and snow storm. She loses her way on the lower lake and after paddling for hours, feels the fatal drowsiness coming over her. Next morning Cal finds Nan is not at the cabin and finally locates the girl out in the lake, her canoe frozen fast in the ice. She is motionless, and when Cal touches her, he finds she has claimed the child—she is dead.

The Gem.
Bobby Connelley is featured as "Bobby Jim" in "When a Fellow's Nose is Broken" and a good comedy program is scheduled for today at the Gem, together with Episode No. 11 of "The Explicits of Elaine."

Episode 11, designated as "The Hour of Three," has more than its allotted share of suspense, for in H. Craig Kennedy becomes for a few brief moments master of the situation, with the master criminal abducting at the point of his revolver. The danger in which he learns from his cunning victim, Elaine, that at that moment placed, causes him to desert his post, and rush madly to tear the wrist watch, supposed to be a present from the family lawyer, from the wrist of Elaine.

The first installment of "Under the Crescent" series is entitled "The Purple Iris" and tells in two reels the remarkable experiences of the Princess Hassan during her stay in Egypt as the wife of the khedive's nephew. The role of the heir-to the khedive is played in realistic fashion by Edward Sloman. William Dowlan, Carmen Phillips and Edna Malson enact the other principal roles.

An interesting vaudeville bill will be presented in connection with the picture feature. The Malumbys, singers and Swan and Swan, dancers and song entertainers, are the component acts.

Francis X. Bushman at THE GEM SATURDAY
Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are to be featured Saturday in "Thirty," a two part newspaper drama. A synopsis is given.
Ellen March, several times a millionaire, had a deep rooted hatred for the press and all that pertained to newspapers. So when a rumor of her engagement to Count Dangloff reached the city room of the Clarion and the city editor sent Dick Thompson, star reporter and poker player, out on the story, he had his work cut out for him. He climbed the wall and entered the garden of Miss March's home, only to be set upon and beaten up by two giant guards. The guards led him into Ellen's presence, where Dick proceeded to fall in love with her at first sight. She told him that if he didn't keep her name out of the paper she would put him in jail. He, because he loved her, said he would and started the rumor that anarchists were going to blow up old man Rockford, a neighbor of Ellen's. In the manufacture of his plan, he was shot as an anarchist and fell wounded into Ellen's arms. Ellen admits that she loves him, finds out that she owns the Clarion and makes Dick her husband and managing editor of the great newspaper.

STATE LIKELY TO DISPOSE OF RUSK FURNACES.

Austin, Tex., July 16.—It is practically certain, according to information here, that the state is to dispose of the Rusk furnace and iron ore industry. It is understood St. Louis capitalists have made propositions to Governor Ferguson to lease and develop the industry, but before taking action the chief executive wishes to submit the matter to the legislature for consideration at the coming winter session. A similar proposal was made last winter, but no action was taken. The property was leased during the Colquitt administration to an eastern syndicate, but the lease later surrendered because of inability of the lessees to get suitable ore rates from transportation lines.

The local option election held in Falls county yesterday of which Marlin is the county seat, resulted in a majority of 431 against local option.

The price of wheat is going up gradually, largely due to the fact that the producers are not doing like they did last year—selling their wheat as soon as it was threshed, but are holding it for a better price, and will market it gradually. It is the correct way, and will prove a winner.

The Times has been hearing all summer that the peach crop of this particular section of country was abundant, but the first real evidence we had of this good fortune was today when a nice basket of sun-kissed juicy and fine flavored Elbertas were presented by its good friend, Mr. Isaac Murray.

The Dallas man who killed his wife by striking her with his fists, and was let off with a ten-year penitentiary sentence, after serving two years of his term is now asking for a pardon, which causes the McKinney Courier-Gazette to say:

Why not pardon the poor fellow? The circumstances under which the murder was committed evidently were perfectly justifiable from the Dallas county juror's viewpoint.

"It is cotton Germany wants and what have," says the Scientific American—"not their food." She must have the cotton 2,000 bales a day, to make powder. And so must the allies and all the fighting nations, or quit fighting. And shall we, who raise the cotton sit here and have anybody (German, Briton or Frenchman—tell us we shall not sell and ship our cotton when and where we please)—Waco Tribune.

The allies can get all the American cotton they want, and they pay for it only about what they choose, and that is not anything to brag about. Germany wants a part of our cotton, but the allies will not allow our ships or any other country's ships to carry it to them, and the price for American cotton today in Germany is around 20 cents per pound. Unless the United States insists upon her rights in the matter of shipping, cotton is likely to go below what it was last year.

Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, in a speech delivered at White Sulphur Springs, Va., yesterday, warned the American people that they must prepare to handle the financial end of a wide American foreign trade. He estimated that the total loans of American money and credit, so far this year to Europe, totaled $500,000,000, and suggested that the putting out of large sums of American money in Europe was an economic fallacy.

"In loaning money to European nations," he said, "we are enabling them merely to keep up their wasteful warfare, and if we continue to loan money to Europe for reconstruction purposes after the war is over, we will simply be building up our most active competitors. If however, this money is loaned to other countries of the world, countries which are not our competitors, but which are customers and also the customers of European nations, we will be building up our customers; we will be strengthening them, and we will be strengthening the ties between them and ourselves."

THE SALOON AND THE NEGRO.

To the Editor of The Times: Would you permit me, as a negro citizen, to say a few things to the readers of your splendid paper? The negro did not choose to be a slave by choice. In 1819 the first ship load of negroes was landed at Jamestown. They were kidnapped and stolen from Africa and brought here and sold as slaves. The traffic was kept up until the Civil war. When the negroes were freed there were 5,000,000 of them in America. Today there are 10,000,000. There are about 1,000,000 in Texas. The question naturally arises, "Are they a blessing or a curse; are they an asset or a burden to the State?" That all depends on the kind of men and women they are, as we all know. If they are honest, industrious and sober all will admit that they can be a great help in developing the State. They are a strong physical race and capable of much profitable labor. Many of them have bright minds and when trained they make good citizens. I do not care to discuss the race problem here, but I do want to ask the good people of Wichita Falls this question: What are you going to do with the negro? We do not ask for social equality; we do not want it; but we do ask for conditions under which we may make the very best citizens possible. I was born black and I am a negro but I love my little ones and they are as dear and precious to me as the banker, the doctor and the merchant's children are to them. My people are as much to me as yours are to you. Many times I feel as if I would be willing to die for my people if by that I could save them from sin and death. An honest, Christian negro is not a menace to the community, but you make him drunk and he, like others, loses his better judgment and with the passions of hell burning in him is a dangerous being. Men and Women of Wichita Falls, I appeal to you in the name of God to take away the saloons for they have been the cause of the downfall of so many of my people. My white friends remember this, that if you vote to keep the saloon, because there may be a little money in it, and then some black man or white, under the influence of whiskey commits some heinous, ghastly crime, remember you are a party to that crime and you will have to face it at the judgment of God. Do you believe the negro has any rights? Do you believe it right to crowd every white woman in town off into the negro settlement? You men who claim to think the red light district a necessity, why don't you take it into your neighborhood and put it next to your home, your church, your school? Why a bawdy house should be permitted to come next door to my church and remain I can't understand. Will someone explain it? I know many of my people are not what they ought to be. But when will they be better if they are compelled to remain in the condition they are now in? If you will give us better surroundings and environment we will be better. I don't care what some people say. I plead with you to remove the temptations and give us a chance. The negroes of Wichita Falls will be worth more to you when you take away the saloons. We will be able to do more work. Many of our people are weakened from whiskey until they can't do their best work. It is a well known fact that the lower class of blacks and whites, alike, flock to the saloons and bawdy houses like buzzards to carrion. But it is for my people I plead. Remember, that when you line up with the saloons that you are indorsing all they stand for. I am a negro, it is true, but I couldn't do that. I know that I must stand before the judgment seat of God and I don't want to have to meet the charge there that I stood by the saloon and its evils. I need been told that if I voted against the saloons that my eyes would be put out, but that on the other hand that if I voted for them that I could get all the money I wanted to build a new church house. I would rather have my eyes punched out and then worship my God in a hole in the ground than to vote for a traffic that has cured so many of my people in both body and soul.

REV. L. B. ARTHUR

SAYS ANTI COMMITTEE MISREPRESENTS CONDITIONS IN KANSAS.

To the Editor of The Times: As a former resident of Kansas, I desire to refute some of the statements made in the article printed last evening, given out by the "anti" committee.

The most damaging statement, when shifted out, was the statement in regard to the percentage of insanity, and in this respect they are unfair, as they compare Kansas with Nebraska, when, as a matter of fact, Kansas has a population of more than 500,000 in excess of the population of Nebraska. They did not state that Kansas treats its epilepsys, and that class of cases, through its state institutions for the insane. Neither did they state that Kansas has a law whereby all the youthful criminals are treated in these institutions and given a thorough examination and treatment, that they may be given a chance to become cured. Kansas has a most complete statistical system in regard to its state institutions.

They didn't say anything about the number of colleges and educational institutions in Kansas; neither did they give the percentage of college graduates, or the rating of its colleges. They didn't state that Kansas University is rated among the leading universities of the United States.

This seems to be a moral question in Kansas and a business proposition in Wichita Falls, otherwise they would have been bound to state that Kansas has more money per capita than any other state in the Union.

They have had prohibition in Kansas for over thirty years, and the breweries have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars, in an effort to make Kansas wet, and if it hasn't been a success, why haven't they been able to get a resubmission of the prohibition question?

I might add that this committee seems to be afraid that insanity might increase in Wichita Falls, but if anyone is so far gone that the cutting off of their supply of beverage would cause them to go insane, they are hopeless anyway, and the sooner they get some good treatment, the better off they will be; and the community as well. The county might incidentally be saved a few expensive murder cases.

"KANSAS."

Kirby Smith, head brakeman on the Fort Worth and Denver local freight, fell under the wheels of the train while it was in motion last Saturday and his left leg was badly mangled below the knee, necessitating amputation by the local Denver surgeons. The accident occurred at Tolbert. Mr. Smith is still here and is getting along nicely. His home is in Fort Worth. Vernon Record.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

(Advertisement) Prohibition orators, committees and agitators, for several years past have evidenced a great deal of pride in referring to Maine as evidence of the success of prohibitory measures, and of the contention that such a provision can be enforced. They doubtless do this with the idea that the public is too ignorant to investigate conditions as they exist in this State, or will not take the trouble to do so, and take it for granted that their representations or rather misrepresentations of the conditions obtaining there will go unchallenged. However, parties interested in learning the true conditions of affairs have investigated for themselves and these men, who stand high in their respective professions, have given to the world a true insight to the real conditions, which information does not only contradict the theory of our prohibition friends, but shows conditions even more objectionable than those obtaining in communities that have the open saloon.

Listen, if you will, to the account given by the Rev. Henry N. Pringle of the Maine Christian Civic League, in an article published in the Outlook: "I have one hundred photographs of Maine bar rooms and have considerable knowledge of the liquor business throughout the State. I have seen bar rooms in Portland, Rockland and Bangor which must have cost $1,000 for furnishings. I have heard that the 140 wholesale liquor dealers of Boston, who have established a mail order business in Maine, prefer prohibition in that State."

Again, Hon. William T. Halnes, at one time county attorney and later governor of the State, in the two years term as attorney in disposing of approximately 750 liquor cases, was unable to secure a single jail sentence except in such instances where the dealer was unable to pay his fine (or license) of the courts.

In the city of Bangor, under an enforcement statute, the arrests for drunkenness for three months of one year were 72, the report stating that a large number of drunks were sent home by officials with a reprimand and their names are not found on the docket of the courts. And listen, you who have heard the repeated appeal on behalf of the youth in connection with prohibition arguments. The report of the police matron of Portland for one year shows AN INCREASE OF ARRESTS OF CHILDREN UNDER TWENTY-ONE YEARS OF AGE TO A TOTAL OF 553, or 85 more than the preceding year. Many instances and a volume of statistics could be cited in support of the fact that prohibition has been a failure in that State, but these, coming as they do from men of prominence and from official reports, should be sufficient to convince any one of the fallacy of the prohibition

Notice of Meeting!

The members of the general committee of the Wichita Falls Anti-Prohibition Committee will have a meeting at the Opera House Friday evening at 8:30 p. m. Those friendly to this cause are invited to meet with the committee.

A MONEY FAMINE NOW THREATENS MEXICO CITY

By Associated Press. Washington, July 16.—Mexico City freed of the perils of siege and with prospects of food for the starving now set some good treatment, the better famine, a scarcity of money. Millions of currency issued by the various factions as control of the capital passed back and forth between them during the last year has been repudiated by each succeeding government although supported by decrees while the issuing factions remain in control. All such currency in the hands of the populace at present is of doubtful value. Now that food may come in many of the famished, although possessed with some kind of money, may be unable to buy it. Officials here have been expecting that Carranza officials may act to relieve this difficulty.

Grain, Cotton and Livestock Market Reports

Local Wheat Market.
Wheat continued to bring $1.05 in the local market today, the highest price paid this season. Not much grain was being offered at that figure and the disposition of farmers in this county appears to be to hold their wheat.

New York Cotton.
By Associated Press.
New York, July 16.—Cotton was very steady early today and after opening 6 to 7 points higher sold up another point or two on the active months in response to relatively steady cables continued dry weather in South Texas. Wall street buyers and bullish private condition figures in South Texas, Wall street buying to 23 for October, toward the close of the morning but the selling was not aggressive and prices ruled steady at a reaction of four to two points of the best. Firmness of New Orleans caused another bulge during the early afternoon which carried prices 16 to 17 points net higher. Trading later was quiet and tone steady although prices again eased off three or four points from the best. Cotton closed firm: July 4.99; Oct. 9.89; Dec. 9.64; Jan. 9.73; March 9.98.

Fort Worth Livestock.

Chicago Grain Futures.
By Associated Press.
Chicago, July 16.—Although reports of storm damage in parts of Kansas and Nebraska had a bullish effect today on the wheat market the effect failed to last. After opening unchanged to 1-2 higher prices scored a slight advance and then receded to about last night's level. Corn was governed mainly by the action of wheat. Sentiment regarding oats was bearish. Wheat closed unsettled. Corn closed firm. Wheat, July 1.15 7-8; Sept. 1.08 7-8; Dec. 1.11. Corn, July 76 7-8; Sept. 72 7-8; Dec. 64 1-4. NEW GLOVES FOR BRAVE COP

Fruit Peddler Shows His Gratitude to Milwaukee Officer for Saving His Property.

Milwaukee.—A pair of white gloves as he looked at his gloves and smiled.

William Horowitz, a fruit peddler, was getting on his wagon at Seventh and Vilet streets when the horse shied and ran toward Chestnut street. Patrolman Rohde noticed the horse on the left side of the street, and as he sped past Chestnut street grabbed one of the lines. The horse dragged the patrolman. Rohde clung to the lines and soon stopped the horse.

When Horowitz came to the scene a few minutes later the patrolman's gloves were torn and soiled and he was bruised about the face. Horowitz agreed to buy him a new pair of gloves.

DEALS OUT POETIC JUSTICE

Man Sentenced to Serve "Barrel of Days" at State Penal Farm in Indiana.

Bloomington, Ind.—A Monroe county jury dealt out poetic justice to Tuck Pendegrift, tried here on a "blind tiger" charge on a change of venue from Lawrence county, and gave him a "barrel of days" at the state penal farm at Putnamville and a fine of $50.

A "barrel of days," according to the verdict returned by the jury, is the same number of days that barrel of beer contains bottles—144.

Pendegrift was charged with running a "blind tiger" at the "half-way house," between Medford and Mitchell.

Charles Goss of Sanders entered a plea of guilty of running a "blind tiger" at Sanders, seven miles south of here, and was sent to the penal farm for ninety days and fined $50. James Strange, on a habitual drunkard charge, was sent to the penal farm for sixty days.

IS JUST LIKE A SOLDIER

Wants Human Finger for a Stick Pin, but One Jeweler Refuses to Mount It.

Junction City, Kan.—A human finger will shortly ornament the neckties of Private Sherrill, Troop 1, Thirtieth cavalry, at Fort Riley, if he can persuade any of the local jewelers to mount it for him on a stick pin.

Sherrill walked into a jewelry store here and placed the gruesome object on the counter.

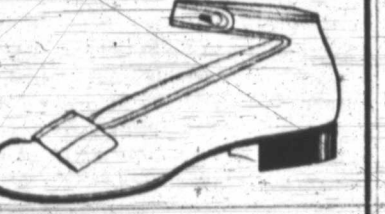

"Can you mount this for me on a stick pin?" he asked. The jeweler replied that he could. He picked it up—"What is it?" he asked. When told that it was a human finger he refused to undertake the job.

Sherrill says that the finger was given to him by his father, who cut it from the hand of a negro, who was lynched in Cairo, Ill., in 1904. It was "pickled" by a physician and Sherrill has been carrying it in his pocket for several years.

TO THE VOTERS OF WICHITA COUNTY

(Advertisement)

Stripped of all pretense and sham the principal argument of our anti friends is that prohibition will not help moral conditions in Wichita Falls. We accept the challenge because this can be nothing else but a moral issue. They in effect place the open saloon with its attendant evils over against the homes, the churches and the schools of this city and on that issue we expect to meet them.

The testimony of a hundred dry towns in Texas is, that prohibition does improve morals, that it does decrease crime, and that it does not hurt legitimate business. The Mayors of Greenville, Paris, Denison, Amarillo, together with other leading business and professional men, and many of the county and city officers say over their signatures that our anti friends in Wichita Falls are mistaken when they declare prohibition does not help morals, or hurts a town or county. Men who spent thousands of dollars in the counties of Hunt, Lamar, Grayson and Potter defending the open saloon, are now staunch advocates of prohibition, just like scores of others in the dry counties of our state, who once were anti. The above towns all testify that men now own their homes who formerly rented, and that all merchants began to do better business immediately after saloons were voted out. These are all good, clean, moral cities and Paris and Greenville at least have three times as much paving as Wichita Falls.

3554 criminal cases for one year, 3194 of which were in the justice and city courts of Wichita Falls, and 1390 of them for drunkenness on our streets is a shameful and appalling record and shows we are not long on morals. No county in Texas our size equals this record, and no dry city of equal population even approaches the number of cases in our city and justice courts. It is preposterous to argue that prohibition will not improve moral conditions here because every man knows it will practically close the city and county jails, and drive away the highwayman and the thug who follow their comrade and pal the open saloon.

They say to close the saloons will deprive the county of the income derived from license. The saloon furnishes no income in this or any other county in Texas, but does furnish expense to tax payers. The license paid for one year to the county by the saloons in Wichita Falls lacks $290.15 of being sufficient to pay for feeding the prisoners in the county jail for one year, and is less than half enough to pay the juries of the county for one year. The saloon eats up the taxes of the farmer, the business man instead of paying an income to the people of this county. The time has come right now to raise the taxes to pay the juries, and the commissioners are bound to do it because we have saloons with their harvest of crime and court expenses. With prohibition our tax rate would be reduced next year and it would not take $12,400 to pay the juries of the county. If you want to reduce your county taxes next year vote the dry ticket. We declare to you that the records show more crime has been committed in the last five years in one mile of our county court house than in any ten dry counties in Northwest Texas, and we further say that two-thirds of this crime is due to saloons in Wichita Falls. Our anti friends know this, and yet they attempt to argue that moral conditions will not be improved and taxes will be increased. We say it will improve morals to close twenty-six saloons where men gather to drink and carouse, and who turn their drunks daily into our streets to come in contact with our women and our children. Any boy under age with the saloon can give a hobo or bum the money and he will go in the saloon and bring back the bottle of whiskey and this same boy can buy it openly in the red light district from the fallen women who bootleg constantly with a federal revenue license as a protection. Yes the mothers are anxious about their boys when they come down town at nights on the streets of this city and God knows they have just cause to be.

A millionaire said not long ago to a member of our committee that he would move his family here if it was not for our saloons, and good men all over this country every where are making the same statement. A strong anti from another county declared the other day that if he lived in Wichita Falls he would vote for prohibition just for the sake of decency. Let us close these places of vice that are a stench in the nostrils of every visitor and make our city what it should be. The saloons and the red light district must have victims to exist, and they must be recruited from the ranks of the young men and young women. We are not ready to furnish them our boys and girls, and are sure you will not offer yours.

The Supreme Court of the United States the highest judicial tribunal in the world declared "the statistics of every state show a greater amount of crime and misery attributable to ardent spirits obtained in retail liquor saloons than to any other sources," and other high courts all over the land have denounced the open saloon as the cause of crime.

The Dallas County Grand Jury says the saloon is responsible for seventy-five per cent of the crime in that city. Gladstone, McKinlay, Bryan and many others of the bravest and best men who have lived in the last fifty years have said the open saloon was the greatest curse of modern times and that the man who voted for it was a party to the crime, misery and woe it brings upon the people.

Our anti friends do not believe any man will lose his home because property values decrease. They have done it no where else and they will not do it here. They only throw that in to scare somebody in the hope of getting a few votes. We challenge them to show the number of home owners in Wichita Falls that can be shown in the dry cities of our size in Texas or in the United States.

They say men will be forced to leave to get work. We answer that more than a year ago when the country had no war or business depression, carpenters and other mechanics left here and went to the dry towns and other places to get work.

Why did we fail to get the West Texas Normal? Because we had saloons. Why will we fail to get the Blind Institute? Because we have saloons.

Why don't the antis stick to the question and defend the open saloon? Why don't they declare to the world that we had 1184 prisoners in the county jail in one year charged with crime while Clay county with more population had only 39 and that it cost us nearly six times as much to feed them as it did Clay county?

Prohibitionists stay by your guns. They are dodging the issue. We are defending your homes and your firesides, and most of these antis will be strong pros like they are every where else that prohibition has been tried, after we vote the county dry.

treated all those who opposed his immoral designs." The royal Hungarian ministry of the interior obtained on January 11, 1915 a report of "the murder of interned Hungarians at Argenton-sur-Creuse, Angers, Bastide St. Pierre, and Orville.

In Great Britain, insufficient food and accommodations. It is claimed, were accorded the interned nationals at Douvres and Newbury.

In Russia, the intelligence department of the Austro-Hungarian general staff declared of "barbarous treatment inflicted on the interned at Armenburg, where typhus and starvation depleted their ranks by the hundreds."

Twenty-seven cases of violations by Russia of the laws of warfare and eighteen instances in which Serbia and Montenegro are accused of various atrocities are given in detailed affidavits selected from many more made by soldiers, officers and civilian officials. These include in Russia, not only the use of dum dum bullets, firing on the Red Cross flag and ambulances, but organized looting and killing of civilians and numerous untheatrical cases of rape.

Persons Tortured. In Serbia and Montenegro, the participation of the civilian population in the fighting, the misuse of the white flag, use of cartridges filled with wire nails and pieces of copper, torture of prisoners, the poisoning of wells with dead bodies, and mud, the firing upon the army services corps by women and children, mutilation of bodies, and maltreatment of prisoners of war with insufficient food and accommodation complete the list of atrocities complained of by the Austrian army. Under the head of "Violations of the Laws of Warfare" complaint is made that Russia refused to recognize Austrians described as belligerents. The Russians are accused of hanging them "wherever they catch them."

The Rumanian legions, not less than the Polish legions, says the book, "combed" not only with all the requirements of The Hague convention in regard to a volunteer corps, but form a part of the army itself." Charges are also made against the Rumanians of "heinous acts of terrorism" against Greek Catholics in Bukovina.

EDISON WORKING ON FORMULA FOR MAKING ANILINE DYE

Kenosha, Wis., July 16.—Sister Susie's stockings will not be neutrally colored because Germany is keeping all her aniline dyes at home. Thomas A. Edison is now perfecting a formula by which aniline dye in every way equal to the German work can be made in America, according to a letter from the Kenosha plant

CIVIC LEAGUE PLANS CITY PURITY MOVEMENT

Pledges Co-operation to Pastors in Movement to Raise Moral Standards

A city purity movement as well as a city beautifying movement was given the hearty endorsement of the Civic League, meeting Tuesday afternoon in regular monthly session. The moral conditions of the town was the subject of much discussion, it being the sense of the League that as a civic uplifting influence the organization should heartily co-operate with the movement of the pastors of the city and the better class of citizens looking towards the betterment of the moral conditions of Wichita Falls.

At this meeting also a committee was appointed to confer with other organizations on the question of obtaining a Carnegie library for this city. The subject of the condition of some of the city parks was also brought up and steps were taken to ask action of the council in this matter.

zard, made public by General Manager Kimball of the Kenosha Hoisery Company, the largest in America. Facing practical paralysis of the textile industry because of the dye famine, Kimball, ten days ago, visited Edison at his West Orange laboratories in an effort to get a substitute.

"If the Germans can make it, we can make it," Edison told Kimball, and immediately commenced his experiments. Although the Edison method is not perfected, it can be used effectively in hosiery establishments pending further development of the inventor's plan, Kimball stated, adding that the new dyeing process would greatly reduce the cost of manufacture of hosiery, thereby effecting a corresponding saving to the consumer.

QUANAH MAN AND SON AND DAUGHTER GET BAIL

Slayers of Garland Radford Admitted to Bail—Robert Morris $10,000 Children $7,500 Each (Quanah Tribune-Chief) A great deal of interest was manifested this morning when the examining trial of Robert, Winnie and Ewell Morris, charged with the murder of Garland Radford, came up before Justice of the Peace Matlock. Long before the appointed hour the county court room had become crowded. It proved to be a long wait as the state insisted upon examining all the witnesses before going into the trial. The state, represented by Attorneys Hankins, Berry, Warlick and Spang, insisted that as the defendants were doubtless guilty of premeditated, cold blooded murder, no bail should be allowed them. The defense, composed of Judges Pires, Decker and Crowder, had waived examination. None of the defendants nor any member of the Radford family appeared in the court room during the trial. Finally Judge Matlock overruling the strenuous objections of the state placed the bond of Robert Morris at $10,000; those of his children at $7,500 each which they are said to stand ready to give. Considerable sympathy has been shown the Morris while in jail, and at no time have they felt the need of sampling the regular jail fare, and their visitors have been numerous. Both of the Brotherhoods of the Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, of which Bob Morris is a member, in good standing have interested themselves in this case, and individuals are reported to stand ready to back him and his children to the limit.

The Tribune-Chief in its account of the killing said: "There were seven eye witnesses to the shooting whose reports in the main agree upon the following: Garland Radford had been driving the water wagon for the Decker and Givens threshing gang. Threshing had been in progress that day on the Crowder farm, and Garland had started for town about six o'clock with a wagon load of wheat, the water wagon trailing. When nearing the Morris residence one of the witnesses noticed Miss Winnie Morris go to the barn with a bucket, ostensibly to stop the pig there. Garland had reached the open gate when Miss Winnie confronted him, and he jerked up his team. The girl passed the team to the south and leveled a small automatic six-shooter at him. For some cause the gun refused to work, probably because the gun was on safety and she was seen to fumble with it. Garland meanwhile had jumped off the seat on the north side and the girl running around the wagon opened fire. The young man started to run, and had gone but a short distance when a bullet struck him and he fell. He got up a few yards and fell again. Well was seen standing near the windmill, and said to have fired from two or four shots. Bob Morris was seen with a shotgun and though he must aife shot, none of the witnesses can remember having seen him discharge the weapon. The tragedy had not come unexpectedly. Some months ago there were rumors of trouble between Garland and the girl, who had been working for him as typewriter in the Quanah Abstract Company's office. Garland, who was a married man and had a young child, deemed it advisable to leave town for several weeks. He had not been back very long. It was generally believed that he had wronged the girl, and that her relatives were only awaiting a chance to revenge themselves. That they had selected their time and place only too well was amply demonstrated by the sad sequel. Garland had not altogether been unprepared for this. A six-shooter was found under the wagon seat where he had been sitting, and several people, A. F. Decker among them, report having urged him not to go by the Morris place, as they were afraid of what might happen. To these warnings he is reported to have laughed and given a light hearted answer.

SOME PECULIAR FACTS ABOUT SOUNDS OF ARTILLERY FIRE

Berlin.—Interesting light on the question how far heavy artillery fire can be heard is given by Dr. Doerr, a German scientist, writing in the Meteorologische Zeitschrift. From observations made at the Dutch Meteorological Institute and from other sources of information, this writer shows that the German heavy mortars used in the attack upon Antwerp were heard to a distance of 139 to 142 miles, but that at distances of only 40 to 60 miles nothing was heard. The "zone of silence" extended to about 100 to 105 miles. Where the detonations could again begin to be heard, however, they were described as especially violent, so much so that the ground seemed to tremble.

The existence of such a "zone of silence" appears not to have been scientifically demonstrated previous to the present war. It is mentioned, for example, that in the wars of 1806 and 1870 German commanders on several occasions received instructions to march to any point where they might hear a cannonade; but they failed to render the expected assistance, and their explanations were discredited when they reported that they had heard nothing, although the guns had been heard by other troops at still more distant points. When Frederick the Great defeated the Austrians near Liegnitz in 1760 the main body of the Austrians failed to hear the artillery fire there and did not come to the assistance of their comrades, whereas other Austrian troops much farther removed heard it and began their march toward the scene of action.

THE VICTROLA IN THE SUMMER HOME

The accompanying cut is a likeness of the newest pattern of the Victrola. It is the $300 Victrola, made in the Louis XIV style in mahogany finish. It is only one of the enumerable styles—others range in price from $15 up to $250, and all are equally as good. The one especially desirable for the ordinary home is the $100 Victrola. It comes in cabinet style, in golden oak, fumed oak, mission oak and mahogany. It has the same beautiful tone, the same absence of mechanical twang, the same clear, flute-sound as the highest priced Victrolas, and its beautiful cabinet work makes it an ornament to any home.

The Victrola is replacing the piano in thousands of the best homes, for the reason that it gives to the people the best music of the master musicians of the world. With a Victrola you can hear Caruso McCormack, Calve, Melba, Alma Gluck, Sousa's Band, the Victor Band—in fact, there is no great musical artist or organization that you cannot have right in your own home with the Victrola.

Without a peer or substitute, it is the greatest musical instrument in the world. We are always glad to demonstrate its beauty to any who will come and hear it. If you have any favorite selections, come in any time and we will play them for you.

The Victrola is sold on easy payments—a dollar down and a dollar a week if you want it.
