

ONE KILLED FOUR HURT IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

AUTO OVERTURNS ON BURKBURNETT ROAD

MARTIN MCKISIK KILLED

W. T. Capps and Harry Griffin Badly Hurt—Two Others Sustain Injuries.

One man was killed, three were seriously injured and one slightly injured Tuesday afternoon shortly after 7 o'clock on the Burk Burnett road, when a Buick car swerved from the road into the deep ditch and upset, hurling four of its occupants underneath. The dead: MARTIN MCKISIK, aged 36, farmer of near Randlett, Okla.

ALONZO E. GRIFFIN, farmer of near Randlett, one rib broken, numerous bruises and contusions on scalp; slight cut on eye.

H. J. CAPPS, farmer of near Randlett, numerous scalp wounds and bruises on body.

Slightly injured: FELIX MILLER, farmer of near Randlett, cuts and bruises on face.

All of the men were married and have families. All of the injured were much improved this morning, according to Felix Miller, their mutual friend. He says that the driver, Harry Griffin, was greatly improved. Capps was sick at his stomach this morning, but is not thought to be injured internally. He improved less rapidly. Harry Griffin, who was driving the car, was suffering considerably, and the condition of his shoulder makes it somewhat problematical whether he will regain the use of his right arm.

They were driving the car about noon yesterday, coming down in their car. They remained about four hours during which time, according to Felix Miller, they took several drinks of beer. He denies they drank any whiskey or that any of them were intoxicated when they started home. They took a quantity of whiskey and beer with them in the car.

The best evidence of what happened is furnished by the appearance of the car and by the tracks to be seen in the road. None of those in the accident were able to give anything of a coherent account of what transpired. Felix Miller, who was slightly injured, said that the driver, Harry Griffin, seemed to lose control of the car and that it swerved from the road. He remembered nothing more until after he had been picked up unconscious.

The tracks in the road indicate that about 60 feet south of where the car was upset, it began to swerve to the right, toward the ditch at the left side. Sliding into the ditch the wheels probably struck some obstruction, possibly the side of the ditch, which caused the left front wheel to collapse and the machine to burst into the ditch. The machine then turned a complete somersault, plunging four of its occupants underneath. Miller was thrown clear of the car, which accounts for his slight injuries.

McKisik instantly killed. While a close examination of McKisik's body was made, the belief prevailing among those who were at the scene shortly afterward that his body was caught by the steering wheel and that practically the entire weight of the car came down upon him, crushing his life out. He was probably instantly killed, being dead when help arrived on the scene. His body was taken home on this morning's train and the funeral will be held tomorrow at Randlett. Several relatives came down last night, but Mrs. McKisik did not accompany them being ill from the shock of the news. There are four children in the McKisik family.

Members of a threshing crew on the Emil Friberg farm near which the accident took place, saw the car speeding along the road, then heard a crash as it whirled into the ditch. They rushed to the scene and found the two drivers, Capps and McKisik, pinned under the car. McKisik already dead, the others unconscious. Miller soon regained consciousness, but was dazed for some minutes. Harry Griffin was thrown a little to the right of the car, while McKisik was apparently behind the driver's seat. Capps, Griffin and Capps were caught under the rear seat. The car's top was up and was crushed.

Mr. Friberg made a quick trip to town in his automobile and Doctors Mark Moore and R. C. Smith returned with him. The ambulance also went out, returning with McKisik's body. The Lawton stage auto brought some of the injured to town, all being placed in the Wichita Sanitarium.

Miller's Account of Accident. Felix Miller, who was able to sit up this morning, gave the following account of the affair: "We came down about noon and stayed in town about four hours. All of us drank some beer, but I don't think anyone took any whiskey. We bought quite a bit of stuff to take home with us, but none of us were anywhere near intoxicated and none of us had been drinking any in the car after we started back. It seemed to me that something went wrong with the steering gear and I remember that we went along the side of the road. I can't remember what happened after that. It all happened so quick I can't remember."

Near the car were found several broken beer bottles and a number of sandwiches.

News of the tragedy was telephoned at once to Randlett and last night a number of relatives and friends came down in automobiles. They had heard that others beside McKisik were dead, and their anxiety was somewhat relieved when they reached the city and found that the others had a chance for recovery.

Four of the brothers of the two injured Griffin boys, J. E. Griffin, L. C. Griffin, E. K. Griffin and J. B. Griffin, came down. The wives of both the injured brothers were also in the party. Dr. R. J. Rice, formerly of Burk Burnett, now of Randlett, came down in his car, and a dozen or more friends of those in the wrecked car made hurried trips across the country to this city. M. Blair of Chillicothe, a brother-in-law of H. Capps also came in last night.

Some of those who viewed the wrecked car believed that it turned over not only once, but two or three times before it finally came to a stop, upside down. Miller says that the car was traveling briskly, but not at excessive speed.

The road at the scene has been well graded and crowded and is one of the fastest stretches of the road in the country, being on the main highway to Burk Burnett, about two miles from the Wichita River bridge. There is a deep ditch on each side of the roadway, which slopes rapidly from the road and is about 100 feet from a machine with any defect in its steering gear might get beyond control at that point.

Miller Thrown Clear. It is believed that Harry Griffin was thrown forward, almost clear of the car, landing on his right shoulder. The motion of the car evidently threw McKisik, who had the seat next to the driver, to be thrown somewhat to the right and the steering wheel, descending as the car crashed down, caught his body, pinning it beneath the entire weight of the front part of the machine. Miller, in some way, was thrown clear of the car, but Lonnie Griffin and Capps, who were in the rear seat with him, were caught underneath.

The car had landed against an embankment at the side of the road with the right rear wheel on top of the embankment, nearly three feet higher than the wheel on the other side. It had evidently hurtled completely over forward at the same time making a complete overturn sideways.

Among the threshing crew which heard the crash and rushed to the scene consisted of W. M. Armstrong, George Martin, Ed Anderson and Leonard Tucker. They rendered what assistance they could until help and medical attention could be summoned from town.

Mr. McSpadden near whose home the party passed said they were driving at a very high speed when they passed his home. Members of the threshing crew say the car was running at a high rate when the accident occurred. From the threshing they saw the top of the car which had been visible above the embankment disappear and then saw the dusty fly up and heard a crash. They ran across the field and found the scene as described.

ITALIANS ADVANCE AT MANY POINTS

OCCUPY MONTE LAZANESCH AND PISONA CRESTS AND PART OF CORSO PLATEAU

CAPTURE MANY PRISONERS

Official Report From Rome Tells of Desperate Fighting Favorable To Italians

By Associated Press. Rome, July 28.—The following official statement was issued last night: "In the Aconia valley we are in full possession of the heights on the right slope, having occupied Monte Lazanesch and the Pisona crest. From points dominating the opposite slope the enemy's artillery attempted to hinder our operations but without success. After a long preparation by artillery the enemy attacked during the night of the 24th but was repulsed."

"In the Montepore region the struggle continues unabated, notwithstanding a fog which prevents the artillery from assisting in the operation. At Palsia the second operation undertaken to enlarge the bridge head is developing favorably."

"On the Corso plateau the battle continued yesterday. Our troops advanced along the whole front, conquering towards the left wing a part of the plateau. After being subjected, however, to a violent cross fire from the enemy's artillery our forces were forced to fall back below the crest where they are maintaining their positions. On the center we progressed toward San Martino carrying with the bayonets trenches and a redoubt covering it. On the right wing we completed at nightfall the conquest of the position of Montevoli driving out inch by inch the enemy who are strongly entrenched there. We made about 3200 prisoners, including one lieutenant colonel and three other officers. We took five machine guns, two small cannon, trench mortars, quantities of rifles, ammunition and war supplies."

ANTHONY EIKER BACK FROM MEXICAN BORDER

Archer City Man Describes Desolation at Nuevo Laredo as Result of Fighting

Joseph Eiker of Archer City, was here today en route home from Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, where he has been on business. Among the relics Mr. Eiker brought back with him were a number of pieces of Mexican currency. This currency is worth less cents on the dollar in this country and it takes $30 worth of it to acquire a pair of shoes. Some pieces of pasteboard, resembling milk tickets, proved on close inspection to be five cent scrip.

Mr. Eiker, who is in the saddle and harness business at Archer City, says he saw many signs of warfare at Nuevo Laredo, although that place is comparatively distant from the scenes of real trouble. Whole blocks of buildings razed by shells, soldiers maimed and blinded by bullets and a general air of desolation were in evidence, he said.

CHICAGO'S TRIBUTE TO EASTLAND DEAD BY SUBMARINE CREW

NOT ENOUGH HEARSES TO HAUL DEAD AND AUTO TRUCKS ARE USED

831 BODIES NOW RECOVERED

Revised List of Missing is 531 and the Probable Total of Deaths 1562

By Associated Press. Chicago, July 28.—In a drizzling rain Chicago today paid tribute to the Eastland dead. In Cicero where the plant of the Western Electric Company is located community services were held and here it was that the sorrow was more deeply felt. As the processions passed through the streets heads were bared and as the little churches where many of the bodies were taken would accommodate only a few the overflow crowds paid homage on the outside giving little heed to the inclement weather.

Auto trucks donated by business houses were used to carry bodies as there were not enough hearses. On Twenty-fifth street a huge truck passed. On the driver's seat was a man in high hat, white gloves and a frock coat. Inside were three bodies, an entire family. On Forty-eighth avenue a hay rack draped with crepe and driven by a man with silk hat passed containing two bodies.

At noon the latest figures of the dead and missing were identified dead 826; unidentified dead 5. Western Electric Company revise list of missing was 531. Total 1562.

TREATED COURTEOUSLY BY SUBMARINE CREW

CAPTAIN AND CREW OF LEE-LANAW TELL OF TREATMENT ACCORDED THEM

Commander Apologized For Sinking Ship But Said He Was Forced to Do So

By Associated Press. Aberdeen, via London, July 28.—"They could not have treated us the unanimous verdict of Capt. E. Deik and his crew who questioned last night regarding the encounter with a German submarine of the American steamer, Leelanaw. They traveled about sixty miles on the deck of the submarine.

One member of the Leelanaw remained aboard the submarine at his own request. He was of German nationality, preferring joining the crew of the underwater craft, to the probability of internment in England. At Kirkwall another of the Leelanaw's crew was found to be a German and was detained. Capt. Deik, a resident of Philadelphia, made a matter of fact statement regarding the sinking of his ship and was not inclined to make any addition to the story.

"There is no story to it," he said, "we stopped when a shot was fired behind us and then we had to leave. Our ship was shelled, bombed and torpedoed but it took one hour and a half to sink her. The Germans took us aboard the submarine, carried us about sixty miles and then gave us directions for getting to Kirkwall which we reached safely in about 12 hours."

The members of the crew, of which there were about 32 besides the captain, explained that the German commander apologized for sinking the ship, saying that he was forced to do so as the ship was carrying contraband. He said he was not in the habit of throwing overboard the contraband. The German commander conversed affably with the crew in excellent English.

The Germans knew nothing of the latest American note to the German government on the sinking of the Louisiana as their newspapers were two weeks old. The Leelanaw was the sixth ship sunk by the submarine that day and it started in pursuit of two others after the Leelanaw crew entered their own boats after their ship with the undersea boat.

They testified the intake pipe was too small to fill all the tanks.

Thirty-one persons are under arrest or are held as witnesses. The state grand jury is expected tonight to return indictments charging manslaughter, or criminal carelessness or conspiracy. The coroner's inquest is still in session and it expects to hold several persons for the grand jury.

The police say the dynamiting was a "one man job" and they have under arrest a man as a suspicious character. His identity has not been made public.

It was learned today that Tennessee Bros. Saddlery Co. received a telephone call warning them that their plant would be dynamited if they did work on any more European war orders. Local detectives believe the telephone call came from a "crank."

HAITIAN EXECUTIVE DRAGGED FROM FRENCH CONSULATE AND SHOT TO DEATH

General Oscar Under Whose Order Political Prisoners Executed Faced Firing Squad

By Associated Press. Haiti, July 28.—A mob of infuriated Haitians today removed President Guillaume from the French legation where he took refuge yesterday and shot him to death in front of the building. This act of violence followed the burial of the 160 political prisoners who were massacred in prison yesterday morning at the time of the revolutionary outbreak against President Guillaume when the mob composed mostly of relatives of the victims seized the president, M. Gerard, French minister to Haiti, protesting vigorously but he was powerless; Guillaume was dragged forth. Once in the streets the crowd surged round him with imprecations and he was promptly shot to death, his body mutilated and dragged through the streets. The people are in a state of great excitement and further violence is feared.

The body of Gen. Oscar Fay today unburied before the building of the Dominican legation where it had fallen after the Port Au Prince governor faced a firing squad at dawn.

Soon after word of the massacre of the political prisoners was circulated a wave of indignation swept over the capital. Many who had not originally been identified with the rising took up arms.

The Dominican legation was invaded and the governor of Port Au Prince killed.

It was in March, 1908, that a similar execution of political prisoners took place. Nord Alexis was then president of Haiti. It was declared by his officials that those executed were engaged in a revolution, but a few months later Nord Alexis was deposed and deported from the country.

RUSSIANS CLAIMING SLIGHT ADVANTAGE

ESTIMATED GERMANS HAVE LOST HALF MILLION MEN IN THE CAMPAIGN

THE ISSUE IS UNDECIDED

Believed Crisis Will Be Reached Along Narew River or On the Lublin Sector

By Associated Press. London, July 28.—Though the Germans now hold a long line from the Gulf of Riga extending southwestward toward Warsaw, a line encircling the city and stretching away to the Galician frontier, near Sokal, it is estimated they have lost 500,000 men probably more, in this, the most ambitious movement of the war, and the Russian front is not yet broken. In addition to the attempted capture of Warsaw the direct objective of the German-Polish campaign of the past two weeks, the troops of the German empire evidently are making a special endeavor just now to cut communication between Warsaw and Petrograd to prevent a successful retreat of the Russian army now defending Warsaw if the city falls. To this end they are directing their operations north of Kovno, according to dispatches from Petrograd as well as their advance upon Brest-Lipovk by the way of Chelm and the right bank of the river Bug.

The issues still are undecided with the Russians claiming temporary advantages. On the Narew river north of the Polish capital the Russians have made a stubborn show of resistance holding Field Marshal Von Hindenburg for the time in check, while to the south the combined Austro-German forces struggling to seize the Lublin-Chelm railroad has been for days on the threshold of success without being actually able to achieve their goal. Immediately west of Warsaw comparative quiet prevails and is along the Lublin sector or along the Narew river it is believed the crisis will be reached.

FRENCH REPORT TELLS OF REPULSE TO GERMANS

By Associated Press. Paris, July 28.—French official report says: "In Artois north of Souchez the Germans after a strong bombardment last night made several attacks against three of our positions. After a spirited combat they were driven out of the trenches they had occupied except at one point where they retained 20 yards of a saphead in advance of our front. Sloops were bombarded yesterday evening. In the Argonne the enemy attempted to attack but were driven back. On the rest of the front the night passed quietly."

IN THE DARDANELLES THERE IS NOTHING TO REPORT EXCEPT FOR SLIGHT PROGRESS OF OUR TROOPS ON THE RIGHT WING TOGETHER WITH ACTIVITIES OF FRENCH AVIATORS WHO BOMBARDED SUCCESSFULLY THE CAMP OF THE ENEMY NORTH OF CHANAK. THEY THREW BOMBS ON THE HANGARS AND A GASOLINE SUPPLY STATION CAUSING A CONSIDERABLE OUTBREAK OF FIRES."

Ferguson and other leaders in the State Farmers' Institute, Judge E. R. Kone this morning offered a substitute declaring that the farmers would be "poitroons if they went away without an expression of their feeling on the English blockade order." As the substitute is almost as drastic in its language as the original resolution it is likely to die in committee.

Years pass before Madge Cord, the widowed mother, and Judge Hall meet again. She has prospered and remarried. She and her second husband live at a fashionable hotel and among their associates are Tim Burke, a political fixer, and George Booth, a broker. To this hotel comes Judge Hall, who has just been appointed to the Federal bench in the city where the Cord's live. Accompanying the judge is his son, Elwood. Mrs. Cord discovers Judge Hall's presence without his being aware of her existence. Her hatred for him is revived. She makes acquaintance with his son, Elwood, planning to ruin him by teaching him to gamble. This is to be her revenge. Before the plot has progressed far Mrs. Cord finds a way to take her revenge and at the same time turn a profit for herself and her friends.

A case involving railroad rates has been heard by Judge Hall, who is about ready to render a decision. The opinion will have a tremendous effect, one way or the other, upon the stock market. Young Elwood Hall has become heavily indebted to Burke and Cord through gambling and cannot pay. Mrs. Cord, together with Burke and Booth, use these debts as a threat to force Elwood to obtain secretly an advance copy of his father's forthcoming decision. With this valuable information they prepared to make a clean-up on the stock market. All the money they can raise goes into the pool. The conspirators watch the ticker. For a while everything goes in their favor.

Mrs. Cord, feeling that her hour of triumph has come, cannot resist the temptation to show over her enemy and calls on Judge Hall. She identifies herself to him and calmly proceeds to relate how she has ruined his son and clouded his own decision. Meanwhile something has gone wrong on the stock exchange. Cord, Booth and Burke see their stocks take a drop. It is the arrival of the newspaper extras which causes the sudden reversal, but it comes so quickly that there is no way for them to protect themselves. The newspapers arrive at the home of Judge Hall just as Elwood, whom the judge has called in to confront Mrs. Cord, admits that her story is true and that he gave out advance information. Through his story Judge Hall learns that it was an early draft of the opinion which Elwood gave out. He shows Mrs. Cord the news story which indicates that the decision rendered was written before new evidence had come to light and is the opposite of the original. Mrs. Cord realizes that she and her friends are ruined—crushed—and Judge Hall calls a servant to show her the door.

Four Minutes Without Telephone Service

Twice each month hereafter fire drills will be held at the exchange of the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Company in Wichita Falls for the protection of operators four minutes will be taken out of thirty days of telephone service—about two minutes of interruption for each drill.

This time seems short but to those who may desire to use the wires during periods of such interruption, the absolute need for the telephone in a modern community, will probably be suggested. Habits of life, methods of business depend upon such a comprehensive system of quick and constant communication as the Southwestern Company affords so low a cost.

Jack, not finding her at her home goes to the office, and finding the inner door locked, smashes the glass upon hearing screaming for help, and rescues Gertie from his stepfather's attempted embrace.

Scott, Sr., in his anger at being thwarted, and not knowing the situation between the two young folks, turns to the door bearing the name "Scott & Son," and with his walking stick breaks that part reading "A Son," declaring Jack is no longer a member of the firm.

The scene then shifts to the Scott home where a reconciliation is finally effected after explanations are made by Jack as to his honorable intentions towards Gertie.

Wichita Falls Mothers Should Not Neglect Kidney Weakness in Children
Many children have weak kidneys. An early warning is bad warning. Often followed by headache, lassitude, languor. This is a mistake to neglect these troubles. To blame the child for its own distress. DOES YOUR FAMILY LIKE GOOD PRESERVES?

In most families the question isn't do they like preserves but how often can they afford to serve them.

Not because good preserves are expensive but because most women haven't yet formed the habit of buying preserves ready for the table.

Home made preserves are expensive in material, time and labor and with the multitude of other things to be done, preserving time comes and goes with only a little put up.

Those women who have tested Bismark Preserves are not bothered that way.

They can serve the world's best preserves any time without effort. You can too.

Your choice of Peach, Blackberry, Strawberry or Plum only 50c per quart jar.

I have a splendid line of jams, preserves and jellies—come in and see it.

FAREWELL FOR MISS LORNA SHAW, TUESDAY.

The departure of Miss Lorna Doone Shaw, one of the most popular members of the high school set has been much regretted and the farewell parties for her have been numerous. The last good bye came Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, teacher of the Straight Line Class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school of which Miss Shaw is a member, entertained in her honor, preceding the departure Wednesday of the Shaw family for Mt. Vernon, Ohio, where they will make their future home. The girls met at the Carrigan home and spent some time in kodaking the pictures to serve later as remembrances for honoree and her fellow class members. Boxes had been reserved at the Empress Theater and the pictures were enjoyed for an hour. The party then retired to Fells' where tables were reserved, the places being marked with hand-painted daisy place cards. A sandwich plate prettily garnished, was served, followed by an orange tea and yellow and white mints, the menu carrying out the daisy color scheme.

Miss Louise Montgomery proposed the health of the honoree with a glass of sparkling water and with the drinking of this health the order of toasting was opened. Miss Margaret Barnhart of Childrens gave a cleverly worded little toast to Miss Shaw and Mrs. Carrigan in a few well-chosen words paid a parting tribute to one of her most faithful Sunday school girls, one who has been department secretary for the past year and who is found ever ready at her allotted task.

A word of commendation from the present teacher to the school to which she may go in her new home was also given.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine but none did me any good. I read line for about Cardui, the woman's best friend, and I bought a bottle but I was not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it.

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly troubles such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlasting tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

Write to Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for full instructions on how to use Cardui. It is sold in all languages in plain English. U. S. Pat. 1,100,000.

The Mustard Seed Is a Tiny Nut

The most or kernel of this tiny nut is what has the real, rich mustard flavor—the shell is almost as flavorless as the hull of a walnut.

Then when the whole mustard seeds are ground up into mustard you get but to be sure, but the strength is weakened by a part of it being shell or the tasteless part of the seed. It is pure mustard, but it is not the best flavored mustard, nor the most economical to use.

White Swan Mustard is made by discarding the shells and grinding up into mustard only the kernels of the mustard seed—these little kernels look like rolled oats when ready for grinding. Mustard made so is all strength and flavor.

You can very readily satisfy yourself as to whether or not a mustard is ground from kernels only or from whole seeds. The former, poured dry into a glass tube shows a powder of a solid, pure canary yellow. The other kind will look speckly—the mass is full of little dark particles; these are the shells, the almost tasteless part of the mustard seed.

The purchase of White Swan Mustard is an assurance not only of getting pure mustard, but of getting mustard ground from the shell-less kernels of imported mustard seed—full strength and fine flavor.

Your grocer sells White Swan Mustard—ask for it.

MEETINGS AT ELECTRA ALSO

Judge Scurry Addresses Anti Gathering North of Electra While Rev. Andrews Speaks For Pros

A prohibition address by Judge W. B. Chauncey and anti addresses by Judge W. T. Carlton and C. B. Pash were the oratorical offerings in Wichita Falls last night. Accompanied by Taylor's Band, Judge Edgar Scurry went up to a German settlement north of Electra last night where he received an enthusiastic reception. Dr. A. L. Andrews addressed a big crowd at Electra in behalf of prohibition.

Judge Carlton's Address. At the Wichita Theatre Judge Carlton told his audience that he was qualified to speak as to the effect of prohibition because he had lived in a good town that had gone dry with consequent business stagnation and general depression. He asked, if this was a question of morals alone, why the preachers did not fight out the matter in their churches. Instead of attempting to govern morals by the law, "Freedom of thought and love of country go hand-in-hand," he said, "that is why the Pilgrims came to America."

Judge Carlton compared the records of several prohibition counties before and after prohibition became effective and declared that the comparison showed that morals in those counties had not been improved by prohibition. C. B. Pash Speaks. C. B. Pash who addressed a big crowd at the Lamar Airdome compared Wichita Falls to some of the dry towns in this section of the State showing that Wichita Falls was far in advance of all of them. Speaking in advance of all of them. Speaking of the dry towns he said that he had bought beer over the bar at Tulsa, Ardmore and other dry towns and that he didn't have to call for something else when he got it either. He said that he did not drink now but that if he went to any of these dry towns and wanted to get a drink he knew that he would have no trouble in finding it.

He referred to the charge that bribery money was being used in the campaign saying that the word of the men of the anti committee did not need further statements on this matter. He referred to the Anti Saloon League and declared that it had collected a huge sum in Texas of which it had been shown that half went into the pockets of the officers of the organization.

Judge Chauncey's Address. Judge Chauncey addressed the largest crowd that has yet heard a prohibition speech here in this campaign. He discussed the argument that prohibition would not prohibit "They will point," he said, "to the fellows who come over from Oklahoma in automobiles and load and load with Wichita Falls booze to show you what will happen when Wichita Falls goes dry. When they do that they are introducing evidence that shows that prohibition is effective where they came from. You can depend upon it for an anti to uncover his defense when he advances an argument in favor of the saloons." The speaker declared that he had confidence in the officers of Wichita county including District Attorney Leslie Humphrey and Sheriff George Hawkins to know that they would enforce the law if Wichita county is voted dry.

He said that he had come to Wichita Falls because he believed the city had a bright future. "I think things are better here than when I came here," he said. "I think next Saturday will be the brightest day in the history of the city, for Wichita Falls is going dry; she's going to rid herself of the parasite we call the saloon."

He said that an anti friend of his not knowing that he came from a wet town had asked him why he came to Wichita Falls. Referring to the offer of an anti speaker to trade corner lots in Amarillo for Wichita Falls property he said his information was that all the equity the anti speaker had in any Amarillo corner lots could be put in one's eye.

Rev. R. C. Miller and Rev. F. F. Walters spoke briefly following Mr. Chauncey's address.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 28, 1915

The best way in which to make Wichita Falls a mere broad place in the road, or at most a whirling station, is not as some would have you believe by voting on next Saturday, either the anti or the pro ticket, but by sending away from Wichita Falls the money you have made by trading and trafficking with her people, for the supplies you need and that can be obtained right here in Wichita Falls. The Times feels that this is an opportune time to say this. In fact, the Times has said it once or twice, or perhaps a dozen times before this, but it will not hurt to repeat. Wichita Falls is not going to stop growing, it matters not what happens.

Those who speed generally come to grief. It matters not what the price paid for a machine or how well established the make of it might be, those who drive them can nearly always depend upon it that there is a weak part somewhere in its construction and it will come to light just at a time when the machine is going the limit. It is far better to go at a safe and sane speed and be dubbed "a tract cat," rather than turn the machine loose, get all the power there is in it, and wind up by having your relatives and friends call at the morgue, pull the white sheet back, view the scene before them through bloodstained eyes and remark with emotion: "doesn't he look natural?"

The almost certain knowledge that the United States could, by withholding its cotton, force England to treat the United States fairly in the way of allowing her freedom of the seas, should be tried out. If it should be most Americans believe that the matter of marketing our cotton crop would be settled by the entire satisfaction. It could either result in that, or Great Britain would be forced to make peace with Germany and end the war. And either would suit us. If England is determined upon her present course, to pauperize the cotton producers of the United States, which she is systematically accomplishing, then she must expect us to stand by and see or permit this to be done, when we know, or at least believe we know it is within our power and our right to prevent such an end.

The Katy railroad is sending out a circular letter to its patrons and employees in an effort to arouse interest and bring the public to a realization of the truth in regard to railway trespassing, and urging the enactment of such laws as will prevent the people from using the railway as "a short cut," home or to and from their work, which often is a "short cut" to the grave. Five thousand trespassers are killed each year by the railroads. A few are tramps or hoboes, but many are respected citizens and not a few are school children. "More lives would be saved by the enforcement of the anti-trespass laws than by providing steel cars, installing block signals, and abolishing grade crossings, which, if required at one time would bankrupt every railway in America," says the circular letter that bears the signature of W. A. Webb, vice president. During a period of twenty-five years it has been the Katy's boast that not a passenger has been killed in train accidents, which of itself is remarkable. But while the Katy boasts that it is a safe road to ride on, it is not a safe road to walk on, as by their own figures 226 trespassers have been killed by that road during the past four years.

The state of Louisiana is contemplating the construction of what is said to be the largest cotton warehouse in the world. The warehouse and railway terminal will cost $3,500,000 and if the plans are carried out, it will be owned and operated by the state government. Right about the middle of the plant a great compress will be constructed. By this method it is said the cost of storage and handling of cotton can be reduced 40 per cent, and the rate of insurance as low as can be had anywhere in the world. It is expected that certificates of cotton stored will be known in all financial centers, and will be emancipated from local interest rates, such as are usually charged. By this method it is hoped that some day the surplus cotton crop of the United States will be carried at New Orleans instead of as now, in Liverpool. It's a great scheme, and one that a great state like that of Louisiana can well afford to back to the very limit.

England robbed the United States of the biggest part of her cotton crop last year. Will the United States permit her to do the same thing this year? Uncle Sam holds the whip in this European war. The Times would like to see him use it in order to prevent England from destroying the shipping interests of the cotton country. The idea of neutrality is to treat all belligerents right. If England can't use our cotton during war times she should not intercept our ships and hold them when carrying American cotton and food stuffs to Germany. If England persists in her attitude toward the shipping interests of this country, or Uncle Sam permits her to do it, the Southern cotton farmer will be forced to go out of the business of raising cotton for foreign markets, for the reason that for that which he raises and sells to England he only gets the price England wishes to pay, and that is not much, if anything above the cost of production. The price England pays also fixes the price American cotton speculators pay for it, less the commission, freight and insurance charges required to carry it to Liverpool. It's a serious matter, and one that should receive attention, even if it should require a special session of Congress.—Wichita Times.

The press of Texas and the people of the South are slowly, but surely, seeing the light. The glamor of England is being dimmed and our partial neutrality growing into distinct neutrality. At the outbreak of the war there were few papers which did not show sympathy directly or indirectly for Great Britain whose continued arrogance as regards American shipping is bringing the people to their senses. The Wichita Times is one of the many papers which now realizes that England is the greatest foe to American commerce. The proposal to place cotton on the list of contraband is another blow at this country and particularly at the South. It would mean that cotton destined for enemy countries of England could be seized and confiscated, and this move is shrewdly planned just as the present crop is coming on the market. It seems to be the idea of England that strict neutrality means absolute servility on the part of this country.—Denison Herald.

MILITARY USES OF TELEPHONE WIRE SCARCELY SKIRMISH ON 3000 MILE BATTLE FRONT THAT WIRE DON'T PLAY PART

MOTOR "TROUBLE" SHOPS Telephone Service Highly Organized and Efficient—How Plant Was Concealed by Germans

Paris, July 26.—The role played by telephone wire in the war—to say nothing of the barbed wire variety that protects a nearly three-thousand mile battle front—is prodigious. It becomes apparent miles behind the lines strung along all the routes leading to commanding posts, through fields and forests, on trees, poles, fence posts, roofs, towers, windmills, straw stacks, forming a network of communications in which only the trained line man can see system and order. With aircraft the telephone wire has largely replaced reconnoitering parties and vedettes. There is scarcely a skirmish, battle or artillery attack in which the wire doesn't participate, sometimes in co-operation with aeroplanes, sometimes without.

Every corps of the French army has a certain number of motor car telephone shops, each equipped with two complete telephone installations with four miles of wire and an adequate number of ground stakes and forked pickets that may be stuck in the bayonet socket of a rifle serving as a temporary pole. Each of these outfits has also its wireless equipment with antennae to reach a height of 50 feet and a dynamo connected with the motor of the car to furnish the current. It requires only a few minutes from arrival of the car to set up the wireless outfit and put it in operation. The enemy's artillery is constantly on the watch for these motoring wire men and occasionally gets them.

Their work enables observers to utilize captive balloons and every point of vantage—trees, house-tops, lawns, windmills, straw stacks or extension posts, raised by windlass 50 feet in the air, and telephone information to officers or to batteries posted miles behind. Perhaps the most effective

President Texas Bankers Unwilling to File Formal Protest Against Great Britain's Action

Dallas, Texas, July 28.—It is our highest patriotic duty to refrain from taking any action that may embarrass the president and state department of the United States at this time.

The above statement was contained in a telegram sent yesterday to Hon. Robert Lansing, secretary of state, by Joseph Hirsch of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas Bankers' Association.

The members of the executive committee expressed the opinion that the association should join in the protest, according to Edwin Hobby, member from district No. 5.

Secretary of State Lansing was notified informally several weeks ago that the protests were formulating, but so far as can be ascertained the probable attitude of the state department has not been indicated.

The Times today received a photograph of the Eastland as she lay on her side in the Chicago river shortly after the disaster Saturday in which more than 1,000 persons lost their lives. The photograph has been hung on the window at The Times office.

WHENCE THE REVENUE?

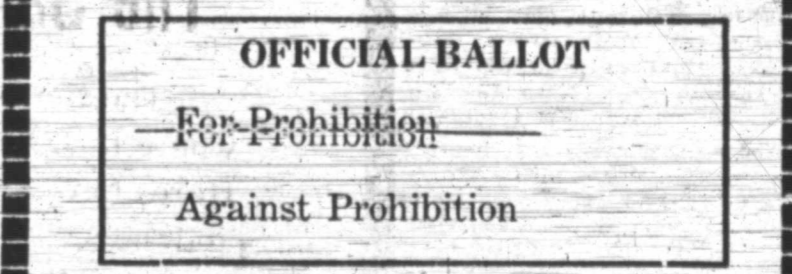

Neighboring West Virginia has seen fit to adopt prohibition, and during the recent contest in Ohio much was said of the benefits achieved thereby. Trade was better, the people were happier and morals were elevated.

Now the hour has struck for the paying of the piper. In some of the cities the Councils have laid a professional and occupational tax, intricate in detail and hydra-headed in scope.

AMERICANS THANKED FOR BIBLES SENT RUSSIANS

Petrograd.—Count Rostoff, secretary to Her Imperial Majesty, the empress, has written a letter to J. B. Kilburn, representing the American Sunday school association, asking that the thanks of the young Tsarevitch be expressed to the children of America for their gift of testaments to Russian soldiers.

America to give at least one gospel to the noble men who are fighting so bravely and suffering so uncomplainingly, said Dr. Kilburn.

What Great Men Say About the Saloon and Liquor

(Advertisement.)
 "The liquor traffic is a cancer eating out the vitals and threatening destruction, and all attempts to regulate it will only prove abortive. There must be no attempt to regulate the cancer. It must be eradicated."
 Abraham Lincoln.

"The liquor traffic is the most degrading and ruinous of all pursuits. By legalizing this traffic we agree to share with the liquor seller the responsibilities and evils of his business. Every man who votes for license becomes of necessity a partner in the liquor traffic and its consequences."
 Wm. McKinley.

"The average saloon is the most disreputable place in the community. It is a bureau of information for crime; it is the place one would enter to inquire for a gambling hell or a disorderly house. It is the first place visited by the officers of the law when looking for a criminal, and the first place closed in case of riot and disturbance."
 Wm. J. Bryan.

"The great cause of social crime is drink. The great cause of poverty is drink. I go to the gallows and ask the victim its cause—drink. Then I ask myself in perfect wonderment, why do not men put a stop to this thing."
 Archbishop Ireland.

"The use of liquor and its influences has done more to darken laborers homes, dwarf its energies and chain its hand and feet to the wheels of corporate aggression than all other influences combined."
 R. F. Travellick, President of National Eight Hour League.

THE VERDICT OF THE COURT RECORDS

We ask the voters to read and weigh the following facts and then vote to slay the open saloon.

The docket of the court of criminal appeals for the last two years, from June 30, 1913 to the present date, makes this statement of facts.

The population of Wichita and surrounding counties according to the last census is:

Wichita county 16,094; Clay 17,043; Archer 6,525; Baylor 8,411; Wilbarger 12,000; Hardeman 11,213; Foard 5,726. These six counties are contiguous and wholly surround Wichita. They are dry—Wichita is wet. They have a population of 50,918 to Wichita 16,094. The records of the court of criminal appeals from June 30, 1913 to the present date show there has been prosecuted 29 appeals in criminal cases from Wichita, while from the other six counties there has been 14 cases. Wichita has more than twice as many cases on appeal as the other six counties. Clay county with a larger population had only five cases on appeal for the same length of time. Why, Wichita? Why to these criminal courts of appeals and the other courts of Texas? To keep saloons in Wichita county is a burden on the tax payers. Wipe them out and reduce crime and court expenses.

ANTIS SHOULD MUZZLE THEIR SPEAKERS

At the airdome last night an anti speaker declared "that the pros were guilty of putting the smallest man that was ever in the United States Senate, and that man is Morris Sheppard." Yes, we admit that Mr. Sheppard is a small man, physically speaking, but he is one of the purest, truest and the ablest men on the American continent today in the cause of right. He is fighting nobly for temperance and prohibition, for the homes and fire-sides of Texas, for everything that is right and just and the people of this state are justly proud of his record, notwithstanding the slurring remarks made by an anti against him. The United States Senate listens to him and they know he is there, and he is making good as a Senator of all the people. How do the friends of Morris Sheppard in Wichita County like the estimate placed on him by the antis in Wichita Falls?

TESTIMONY FROM DES MOINES

The Attorney General of the State of Iowa under date of July 23, 1915, writes as follows:

"As you know Des Moines has a population of over 105,000. The very highest testimony that can be given it is this: That you do not hear the matter of saloons discussed. It is almost impossible to believe that eighty five or ninety saloons could have been put out of business with so little disturbance as has resulted in Des Moines. When the matter is discussed it is almost universally admitted that it has been a great benefit to business; that a large part of the money that went for liquor now goes for dry goods and groceries. I hear no sentiment at all for the open saloons. George Casson, Attorney Gen."

RECORD OF DRUNKS FROM THE CITY COURT IN WICHITA FALLS

From January 1, 1909 to June 28, 1913 the records show that there was the enormous sum of 4,117 cases filed for drunkenness alone in the corporation court of Wichita Falls. We have the figures given by the proper officer to that effect. It cost thousands of dollars for the city to feed and prosecute these men. Yet the antis say prohibition hurts morals while the saloon helps them. Add to the above number those in the justice courts for the same time, and the number would be unbelievable.

MORE FROM DENTON

In 1908 we voted saloons out in Denton county, at which time we had sixteen saloons and six banks. We have now no saloons and sixteen banks. Since saloons were voted out, drunkenness, lawlessness, gambling, and kindred vices have decreased more than 50 per cent, while property values in the city of Denton and Denton county have more than doubled. There is not a vacant business house in Denton at this time, and the fewest number of vacant residences. The loss of revenue from saloons is more than offset by the reduction in the cost of prosecuting criminals. So far as we know our tax rate both city and county is lower than those of any county or city afflicted with saloons. This law is as well enforced in Denton county as any other law upon the statute books. Many who spent their money drinking, gambling and in other forms of dissipation now spend more of it in the payment of their debts and the support of their families. There is not the remotest possibility of reinstating the saloon. We charge the saloon is the blight of the world. It is the source of 80 per cent of all crime, idiosyncrasy and imbecility. It fills our almshouses, orphanages, jails and penitentiaries. It blights more homes, destroys more lives, and damns more souls than war, pestilence and famine.

AS TO KANSAS

We hear a great deal about Kansas, from sources interested in fighting prohibition everywhere in the United States. We submit some outside testimony from those who are not interested in the liquor business as follows:

"Something's the Matter With Kansas"

(Editorial in The North American, a leading Philadelphia Daily in 1913.)
 A few days ago, when the whole country was worrying about the unprecedented heat and drought in the West, the governor of Kansas issued a public statement saying he hoped no one would waste pity on the people of his State.

"With more than $200,000,000 on deposit in our state and national banks, we could weather a worse storm than this without hardship," he said.
 And when you stop to think that this money, divided equally among the men, women, children, and babies of Kansas, would give each of them $118 in cash, not to mention the tidy sum of $1,684 each is credited with as his or her share of the State's assessed wealth, you can see the force of the argument.

As a matter of fact, Kansas, which last year produced $325,000,000 worth of farm products, can better afford such a roasting and drying up than any other state in the Union, for her per capita wealth is larger than that of any other state. She can better afford this or any brand of calamity, for her people are not constantly paying out huge sums for the care and keep of criminals, paupers, insane and feeble-minded.

In eighty-seven of her 105 counties there are no insane. In fifty-four of this number are no feeble-minded. Ninety-six counties have no inebriates, and in the other nine they're as scarce as hen's teeth. Thirty-eight county poorhouses are as empty as a last year's locust shell, and most of these have been so for the best part of a decade.

The pauper population of the state falls a little short of 600. That is one pauper for each 3,000 of the kind-making-a-living, and a good one—the kind that now own $255,000,000 worth of live stock and in the last twelve months have added more than $45,000,000 to their taxable personal property.

At one time not long ago the jails in fifty-three counties were empty and sixty-five counties were on the roll as having no prisoners serving sentence in the penitentiary. Some counties have not called a jury to try a criminal case in ten years, and the attorney general says: "A grand jury is so uncommon that half our people wouldn't know what it is and how to use it."

Instead of being plastered from end to end with mortgages held by Easterners, as was the case two decades ago, her own people this year hold more than $67,000,000 in form of wealth, an increase of over 500 per cent in five years. Her population, instead of being hampered by a large mass of idlers—30 years ago 49 per cent of her population came under this head—her present ratio of 1 per cent is next to the lowest in the Union and two-thirds lower than Massachusetts, including Boston.

It is this uncommon prevalence of sound minds in sound bodies that has reduced her death rate from 17 to 7 per 1,000 in thirty years, though the former percentage still holds among her neighbors. It is this combination of sense and solid muscle that has kept her growing stronger and richer through extremes of climate which soon would decimate a less fit lot.

These people have made good in a sense once declared to be unquestionably unproductive. In the last 20 years they've made this "unproductive" soil yield corn and wheat worth $2,597,962,400. They've shown the nation the worth of alfalfa as a money-maker, a soil rejuvenator, and an ideal feed for stock. The wheat crop, harvested before the late hot spell, is worth $63,000,000 at current prices.

ABSOLUTE PROHIBITION NOW AT VLADIVOSTOCK

Alcohol and the Business of War Found Not to Mix Well—City Described

Vladivostock, July 28.—With this city burdened with the business of war—it is a great shipping center now of vast supplies for the Russian armies—with practically the whole population devoted to it, not a drop of intoxicating beverage can be bought in Vladivostock. With speed and efficiency a prime necessity in getting the supplies off to the front, alcohol and the business of war would not mix well here. Hence the law against the sale of vodka, wines, whiskey and even beer is strictly enforced.

But it is a wonderful thing how the people have gone along without drinking. They have demonstrated this and shown that they can have a good time just the same. They still frequent the "cafe concerts" or find other amusements to relieve the heavy burden of the day's work. To be sure the concerts close at one, instead of five in the morning, but everybody wants to go to bed earlier now and get up earlier. The feeling of the people that they must drink something besides water into shrewd officers of the army commissariat to receive a lineman temperance drink that really was discovered 2,000 years ago, the old Russian "kvass." It resembles American root beer and it is made of Russian black bread and yeast. An astringent and deceptive foam results from the fermentation of the yeast. It is now drunk everywhere.

The women conductors on the tramways also give a new note to the city. A first they were pleasantly teased and joked about, but everybody is used to them now and likes them as agreeable and capable. And in a very general way the Russian women in Vladivostock are proving themselves genuine heroines. Almost all have husbands, sons, brothers at front. They have taken up the work at home stoically and optimistically. Out back in the Siberian plains it is the same. The women have taken hold for the Fatherland.

When war broke out between Russia and Germany-Austria, the German and Austrian civil population at Vladivostock was given twenty-four hours to leave. Many Germans, mostly comfortable merchants and bankers did not go. They thought the regulation would not be lived up to. They were mistaken. At the expiration of the day they were taken into custody and sent off to remote parts of Siberia under guard. There in inaccessible cities, in some cases hundreds of miles from railroads, they were set free. Most of them brought funds with them, but as the Russian government provides neither food nor clothing for the detained civilians the funds soon became exhausted. When they tried to draw more credit from their accounts at Vladivostock, they found that Russia had issued orders for the immobilization of all accounts of civilians of the enemy countries.

In many cases these detained people have spent the winter where the thermometer fell to 47 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. Dropped into villages without means of livelihood, many began to try and earn their living. Some turned themselves into bankers, others shoemakers, still others clerks and general laborers. But this was not sufficient to care for all, and there was indication of great misery until the German government, with the consent of Russia, made an arrangement with the American embassy at Petrograd whereby German funds are forwarded to the abandoned civilians. For the Vladivostock district this distribution which takes the form of monthly allowances is being carried out effectively through the American consul, John K. Caldwell, who before his appointment here, was one of the Japanese speaking secretaries of the American embassy at Tokio. In a number of cases the civilians are accompanied by their wives, who insisted on participating in the banishment.

NO JITNEYS IN OPERATION IN WICHITA FALLS NOW

After Jitney Ordinances Became Effective Drivers Quit and None Take Out License

No jitneys were in operation on the streets this morning for the first time in a number of months, and hence the drivers have applied to the city secretary for licenses under the new ordinance. Those accustomed to coming to town by the jitney route, especially residents of Tenth street, were forced to seek other means of transportation this morning.

Bragg, who surrendered, claims the white men opened fire on him when he asked them what they wanted. A full load of shot struck Lewis in the face. Lewis and Jacobs were going home in the former's wagon at the time.

English Speaking Down

ONE OF OWN AEROPLANES
Southend, Eng., July 28.—Two companies of territorialists stationed near here brought down an aeroplane with rifle fire early this week, but they are not boasting of the quarry was a British machine. The companies were guarding Sankey Island where large quantities of war munitions are stored and had instructions to shoot at any aviator flying over the island without giving a good signal. Their victim either did not know of this rule or ignored it and a volley was fired at him. None of the bullets struck the aviator but one punctured the aeroplane's gasoline tank and he was compelled to alight. When the territorialists ran up to complete their triumph by taking the aviator prisoner they were greeted by a volley of strong language unmistakably English. The commanding officer by pointing out that he had served by pointing out that he had served as the means of testing the marksmanship of the territorialists which is not held in the highest repute by the citizens of Southend who have suffered from aeroplane attacks.

THE DOLLAR

Is the standard by which values are measured in this country. But do you always get a dollar's worth for your dollar? The dollar is the measure used in our cleaning and pressing department. To call and get your suit, clean and press it and return it to your home is the dollar's worth at our shop. We could get more but we feel in our bones that a dollar is just right. And our cleaning is just as RIGHT as the Dollar. No dingy rings where the spot was. No grease spots show up the third wearing. We made the price a dollar. We made a dollar the price. And we give you more for your dollar than you can get elsewhere. You don't have to phone us but one time about your suit.

THE SHORTEST SOLDIER IN THE FRENCH ARMY.

Paris, July 28.—The shortest soldier in the French army is Guy Couderc, who stands 3 feet, 6 inches, but is solidly built enough to carry a soldier's load. When he presented himself at the recruiting office at Versailles the surgeon on duty refused to examine him, but later he was incorporated in the 15th infantry at Lens. "The butt of ridicule because of his diminutive stature, he proved he could follow the pace and soon earned the stripes of corporal."
