GERMANS CUT RAILWAY

WHOLE RUSSIAN ARMY EVACUATING WARSAW MENACED BY LATEST TEUTONIC SUCCESS

OTHER ROADS OPEN

Von Buelow's Cavalry, However, Approaching Kovno Threatening Another Line of Retreat

By Associated Press. London, July 31.—The fate of the Russian armies in the Polish salient still hangs in the balance. No official confirmation has been received up to a late hour tonight of the evacuation of Warsaw by the Russian troops but that they are withdrawing eastward is apparent. What portion will succeed in getting back to the new line is a matter of speculation. The arrival of Austrian cavalry at Lublin, which is officially announced, shows the southern line of retreat is entirely barred to the retreating army as General Von Mackensen had previously crossed this railway.

There remains the main double track route through Wlask and an equally good road from Lvengorod, through Lukow and the northern line which runs south of the Bug river, to say nothing of innumerable vehicular roads which enter the Polish capital from the east. Therefore, so long as Field Marshal Von Hindenberg is prevented from crossing the Bug river on the northeast it is believed Grand Duke Nicholas has still an excellent chance of saving his whole army.

ANOTHER DANGER.

When the Russians reach the new line of defense they will be faced by another danger—that arising from the advance of General Von Buelow's army composed largely of cavalry which is now approaching the fortress of Knave and which is within three days' march of Vilna-Petograd railroad.

The retreat, although described by Petrograd as voluntary, is accompanied by hard fighting reminiscent of General Kuropatkin's retreat from Liao Yang when he inflicted on the pursuing Japanese losses greater than his own. While the main army with the field artillery is making its way to the east, infantry and cavalry are protecting the flank and making repeated attacks. In this way a few hours are gained which are of inestimable value to the retreating forces.

It probably will be several days before the struggle is finally decided. Nobody questions the fact that with the capture of Warsaw the Germans will score a victory which will not only put the Russians on the defense for many months, perhaps into next year but which will greatly hearten the civilian population of the central powers and release an army of 1,000,000 men or more for an offensive in the west.

There continues sharp fighting at various points in the western zone but this is initiated by one side or the other simply to secure the best starting point for the big offensive for which is certain to come.

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED AUSTRIANS AT LUBLIN.

By Associated Press. Vienna, July 31.—Austrian cavalry entered Lublin Friday afternoon, according to an official statement issued at the Austrian war office. By the occupation of Lublin, 97 miles southeast of Warsaw, the Austrians have cut the Russians' all-important line connecting the whole southern Russian front between the Vistula and the Bug rivers.

Field Marshal Von Mackensen evidently has been successful at last in forcing an advance. Until a few days ago the allies considered the Russian defense of the Lublin-Chelm railroad one of the hopeful features of the campaign in the east. The control of this railroad will afford the Austro-Germans a means of quickly massing troops at any point desired, and will deprive the Russians of one of their main avenues of retreat. A military railroad built by the Russians south from Lublin during their occupation of Galicia through a region which for strategic reasons hitherto had been left without railroads proved of great advantage to the Austrians in solving their problem of communication.

Meanwhile General Von Buelow continues his drive toward Vilna seeking to cut the northern railway from Warsaw to Petrograd, and the predicament of the Russian armies seeking to withdraw intact from Warsaw, unless the main forces already are out of the district, becomes more perilous.

Warsaw's 800,000 inhabitants, laden with such household articles and supplies of food as they can carry, are fleeing the city toward the east and every dispatch from Russia makes guarded references, though quite colorful to some phase of the evacuation of the city. Official announcement of its abandonment which even

Four Oldest Settlers Now Living In Wichita County

A few days ago there was gathered in Wichita Falls four oldest settlers of Wichita county now living in the county. They are the men whose photographs appear above. With the exception of E. Rexford who lives on Ninth street in this city all are residents of Burk Burnett and vicinity. All settled in the community of which Burk Burnett is now the center. When they came to Wichita county which was then a part of Clay county there were not a score of families living in the county.

M. Dodson was the first of the four to reach the county. He came in 1878. The following year saw the arrival of E. Rexford, J. G. Hardin and Simon P. Hawkins. In those days the nearest railway point was at Sherman and it was a long lonely trip of four days to reach here. There were several other settlers in the Burk Burnett section ahead of these pioneers among them being Joe Bowers, who has since died, a family named Lewis which left the country soon afterward and McFarland Brothers who have also been gone many years.

Wichita Falls which was then the post office for this section had a mail semi-occasionally. The railroad was not built into Wichita Falls until 1882 and when these pioneers came here it was a straggling little hamlet of about a half dozen families. One of the first things that the Burk Burnett pioneers did was to organize a school which was opened in a dugout in 1886 with Miss Carrie Craig as teacher. Miss Craig lived in Wichita Falls and Mr. Rexford remembers that he came in and drove her out to the school. The trip was made over the prairie on the running gears of a road wagon which was the de luxe method of transportation in those days.

Mr. Rexford patented his land from the state. The others bought land that had already been bought from the state. With the exception of Mr. Dodson all them today own the land on which they settled. Mr. Dodson has sold his farm and is a capitalist and real estate dealer at Burk Burnett. All of these pioneers have made independent fortunes in farming and are among the wealthiest men in the county. J. G. Hardin is a millionaire and is one of the wealthiest men in Northwest Texas. The photograph above was taken here a few days ago. Some have remarked that the subjects are not only the oldest settlers but the four best looking men in the county.

ANARCHY REIGNS IN MEXICO CITY

AMERICAN ASSAULTED, AMERICAN FLAG INSULTED, GOVERNMENT CORRESPONDENCE VIOLATED.

FOREIGNERS ARE MENACED

Government Control Absolutely Lacking and Terror Prevails on Every Hand in Mexico.

By Associated Press. Mexico City, July 24, via wireless from the steamship, City of Tampico, to Galveston, July 31.—Paul Hudson, president of the Herald Printing Co., together with members of his family and the staff of his paper, the Mexican Herald, are prisoners in Mexico City and threatened with court martial. The charges against Mr. Hudson have not been set forth and it is not known what fate awaits him.

An American flag insulted. Allen Mallory, an American, had been assaulted by followers of Zapata while carrying diplomatic correspondence. At the time of this attack Mr. Mallory was carrying an American flag which was torn and insulted by his Mexican assailants. Zapata personally destroyed the correspondence taken from Mr. Mallory. He broke the official seal saying that at the same time the Americans were fools.

The Brazilian minister made an effort to obtain the release of Mr. Hudson but he was openly flouted. Government control is lacking in Mexico City and terror prevails. Swiss and Spanish citizens have been removed in automobiles and ordered executed. The resident foreigners are very greatly alarmed. Zapata is quoted as having said that he intended to kill the local Spaniards. The foreigners feel that their position is particularly precarious because they are unable to appeal to any authority. The government of the federal district treats them with contempt.

The food situation in Mexico City is desperate, starvation is abroad and the people are eating oats and dogs. Even some of the foreign residents are starving. Certain Mexicans have appealed to the Brazilian minister

GOVERNOR AWAITS OFFICIAL NOITCE.

Austin, Tex., July 31.—Governor Ferguson was asked today if he contemplated ordering an investigation into the burning of the negro Stanley at Temple last night for the murder of the Grimes family. The governor said that he had not been officially advised of the burning, consequently he had nothing to investigate.

For intervention by the United States, bands of Zapata followers and Villistas are extending their control throughout the interior of the republic and almost all of Central Mexico is today virtually without any constituted government. The followers of Gen. Carranza are fleeing towards the coast cities.

NO PEACE UNTIL ENEMY DRIVEN OUT OF RUSSIA

Words Of Emperor Nicholas Repeated On First Anniversary Of European War

Petrograd, July 31.—"I hereby solemnly declare we will not come to peace until the last enemy soldier has left our land."

These words of Emperor Nicholas of Russia uttered at the winter palace on August 1, 1914, are reproduced in the press of Petrograd on the anniversary of war. A message in the Bourse Gazette printed in all the languages of Russia's allies, said: "For a year past the enemy has been threatening the freedom of the world. We deeply appreciate the self-sacrificing aid of the allies in exerting a combined pressure on him on all sides. A firm confidence in victory, in a community of world-wide interests and in the final triumph of right fires the spirit of the nation. It has been our guiding star throughout this year of bloodshed. It will serve us in the coming months maybe years of this coming struggle. Russia greets her allies, France, Great Britain, Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro, Japan and Italy. All hail to their heroic loyalty and firm determination to stand by her to the end until light dispels the gloom."

In the manifesto the emperor says: "Before God and history, my conscience is clear. I have not willed war. Full of gratitude we can say today that God is with us."

Moore was his bondsman. The father announced last night he would not prosecute his son. The elder Moore was foreman in the Padgett Saddlery factory here which after the explosion closed down owing to fear that the attack was intended for a warning.

THE UNITED STATES WAS ABOUT TO ACT

ONLY PROMPT RESPONSE OF CARRANZA PREVENTED AMERICAN ACTION IN MEXICO.

PATROLS ROAD TO CAPITAL

U. S. Army And Navy Officials Prepared To Carry Through Forceful Plan To Mexico

By Associated Press. Washington, July 31.—While reports of the reoccupation of Mexico City by General Carranza lacked official confirmation tonight it was known that General Carranza had ordered his forces back into the capital. General Carranza also directed that strong patrols be established along the Mexican railroad between Tlayco and Mexico City for protection from bandits.

The order followed closely the receipt by General Carranza of vigorous representations from Secretary Lansing urging that the railroad be opened and kept open so the starving population of Mexico City could be served. Similar representations went to Villa and Zapata but officials felt that General Carranza held the key to the situation.

Carranza's prompt response to insistence by the United States was regarded here as avoiding the necessity for immediate action by the government to insure transportation of provisions to the Mexican capital. The administration had determined that provisions at Vera Cruz should be sent to the capital and General Carranza was told in the message Tuesday night that if he could not handle the situation it would be necessary for the United States to act.

Although no announcement was made of this government's plan it was known officials of the army and navy were ready to carry through a forceful program. An outline of General Carranza's plans to relieve distress in Mexico City and for the reestablishment of civil government was conveyed to the state department today. Strong intimations were made also that he soon would formally ask the United States

WORD PEACE NOT IN THEIR VOCABULARY

By Associated Press. London, July 31.—Sir Edward Carson, attorney-general, has prepared for the Associated Press a signed statement outlining the first year of the war from the British standpoint and expressing the unalterable purpose of the British government and people to carry the conflict to a successful conclusion. The statement follows:

"How long will the war last and what will be the result? To questions such as these any Briton can give but one answer, and that is that the war will last until the cause of the allies has been brought to a successful end, and Europe and the world have been relieved from the ills involved in the aggression of Prussian domination.

"The word peace does not enter into our vocabulary at the present time. It is banished from our conversation as something immoral and impossible under existing circumstances and yet we are the most peace loving people in the world, a nation which throughout the globe in its dominions has inculcated good government and social and industrial progress and the free exercise in its widest sense of civil and religion liberty.

"Rightly or wrongly we have in the past devoted our energies and intelligence not to preparation for war, and this is the reason why other nations imagine that we as a nation of shopkeepers are too indolent and apathetic to fight.

"But they are entirely mistaken. A year of war has transformed Great Britain. Of our navy I need hardly speak. It has upheld to the fullest extent the great traditions which fill the pages of history. It holds vast oceans free for neutral powers and it has preserved these highways for its own supplies of material and food almost without interruption.

"I do not minimize the peril of the submarine which is in process of being dealt with, through the careful and zealous watchfulness of our admiralty, but where the submarine has enabled the German to commit savage and inhuman atrocities contrary to the laws of civilization and against the settled rules of international law it has done nothing to affect the vast commerce of our empire.

"The German submarine attack has signally failed to hamper our military operations. Under the protection of our navy hundreds of thousands of men have brought to the fighting area from the most distant parts of the empire. Troop ships are crossing daily to France and not a single ship or single soldier has been lost. The manner in which troops have received their supplies is a source of satisfaction to us and admiration to our enemies.

"No other nation in the world ever produced or hoped to produce a volunteer army of such proportions. As the problem unfolds from day to day and the task before us expands our spirit becomes more determined and our efforts and organization quietly shape themselves to meet the emergencies that are before us. That all this is being accomplished without dramatic demonstration and foolish boasting is not a sign of weakness but of strength. The splendid heroism of our Russian and French allies is not only an example which stimulated us but it is an additional incentive to our national honor to carry on to an end to obligations we have undertaken.

"And if for the moment we are confronted with the impossibility of offensive action by our brave Russian allies and are compelled to wage a costly and difficult war against the Turks in the Dardanelles, as well as against our enemies in Flanders, we cheerfully resolve to set ourselves for the situation which confronts us."

By a majority of 523 votes, Wichita county voted Saturday to remain in the wet column. The vote was 1791 to 1268, a total of 3059 ballots being cast. This is the largest vote ever recorded at an election in this county, accounting for all save about 180 of the polls and exemptions.

The result, which may be described as a landslide against prohibition, was a surprise to everyone, including even the anti-prohibition leaders, whose most sanguine expectations were exceeded. Wichita Falls voted almost two to one against prohibition, the vote in the five city boxes being 1374 to 794, a majority of 670. This was reduced by the country boxes, Clara being the only rural box record a wet majority. While it was the general impression early in the day, even among the most hopeful prohibitionists, that there would be an anti victory, there were few, if any, who expected such a decisive majority against the proposition to eliminate the saloons.

No Disorder. The day was quiet, with no disorders. There was an unusually large crowd of shoppers downtown, while the polling places were scenes of activity, both inside, where the clerks and judges were at work, an outside, where workers for both sides presented cards to those going to vote. The only hint of trouble was at the city hall box, where J. B. Pitts, one of the election judges, a prohibitionist, quit early in the afternoon, declaring that "negroes from all over Alabama" were voting. He was persuaded to remain on duty, however.

That the fight will be resumed two years from now was indicated in the statement issued by W. J. Bullock, chairman of the prohibition forces, late Saturday night. Mr. Bullock said:

May Try It Again. "The prohibitionists submit gracefully to the will of the majority, but my judgment is that we will try it again two years from now. I am in favor of that. Nothing is ever settled until it is settled right. For the present, we want to forget all the differences and get on with us to make the town grow, but we're liable to make another trial."

Britain's Statement. A plea for harmony and for an immediate resumption of the efforts to make a better city was voiced by Mayor Britain, who was chairman of the anti-prohibition committee. Mr. Britain said:

"We are of course much gratified at the result. On Friday we thought the majority would not be over 400, but Saturday morning we realized that the sentiment was even more pronounced and when we received the final figures we were not surprised. Many voters changed from pro to anti in the last few hours of the campaign. We are grateful to our friends in the country for the support they gave. Now that the fight is over, we have no bitterness toward any of the opposition and we hope both factions may join in the rebuilding of our city and in the efforts to make it a better city than ever. We want everyone to forget the differences of pro and anti, and to remember only that we are Wichitans, working together to give our city its rightful place. The spirit of 'pull together' must prevail with us all."

The returns will be canvassed by the county commissioners when they convene next week. Eleven days must elapse before the canvass is made, to allow time for the filing of any possible contest, but none is anticipated. The campaign which was waged with vigor by both sides for three weeks, was carried on warily, but on the whole was without arousing much bitterness. Both sides were well organized and the county was thoroughly canvassed. Women took an active part on the prohibition side. The campaign was notable in that outside speakers and workers were not used by either side.

WICHITA COUNTY BY BIG MAJORITY TO KEEP SALOONS

Both Sides Finish Hard. The day was marked by feverish activity on both sides. Workers for both wet and dry factions were stationed as close as possible to the polling places and gave cards to approaching voters. The anti-prohibitionists carried copies of the official ballot, showing how to mark the ticket against prohibition. Small boys handed out tickets with the plea "Master, vote to remove temptation."

The prohibitionists had challengers at the polls and questioned many votes, especially where the voter did not have his tax receipt. Usually in such cases the voter was allowed to cast his ballot, but his name and address were taken so that the matter might be further investigated. A number of those challenged were voters who had paid their poll taxes through agents, issuing powers of attorney.

Parade Held at Electra. The meetings Friday night were largely attended and much enthusiasm was manifested at both prohibition and anti-prohibition meetings. Speakers held forth not only in the city, but at Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park. At Electra a Dallas Socialist spoke against prohibition and some of his remarks led to a fight between him and an Electra grocer in which the Dallas man finished second best. Saturday morning there was a parade at Electra, headed by a float depicting the evil effects of the saloon. Then followed about 20 auto loads of ladies and about 400 children on foot. At the rear of the parade was a second float depicting the good effects of prohibition as a contrast with the first float.

At both Electra and Burkburnett those who had failed to pay their city poll taxes were disfranchised, city polls being assessed in both places. A report came from Electra Saturday morning that 300 citizens were disfranchised, but prompt investigation revealed that the number was less than a dozen, about equally divided between wets and drys; seven or eight votes were barred at Burkburnett for the same reason, and it was reported that all of these were dry votes.

Pro Meeting Sings Dextology. No parade was held in this city. One was planned for Saturday morning but the idea was finally abandoned. Women workers were busy down town all day Friday, visiting stores and offices.

Among the features of the meetings Friday night was the singing of "Prayer for Whom All Blessings Flow" by the prohibition rally at Eighth and Indiana. Judge Martin, who called for the singing of the hymn, said he had information of the certain result of the morrow's battle of the ballots that he considered made the singing of the song timely. The crowd joined in the singing.

Indications of wet weather, which no doubt would have had a decided effect on the rural vote, proved unreliable and for the most part the day was clear and not hot enough to affect the ardor of the workers for both sides.

6 HAYTIANS KILLED RESISTING BLUEJACKETS

Rear Admiral Caperton Recommends Larger Naval Force In Port To Island

By Associated Press. Washington, July 31.—When the Haytiens resisted the landing of Rear Admiral Caperton, blue jackets and marines Thursday six of the natives were killed and two were wounded in the fighting. Reports today from the American legation in Port Au Prince Haiti say the city is quiet and that the disarming of the natives is going on. They recommend a larger naval force be sent to the island for the moral effect and to assist in patrol duty.

The battleship Connecticut sailed from Philadelphia with 500 marines to reinforce the 400 marines and blue-jackets now guarding the city. The transport Hancock and the hospital ship Solates will follow to the Haitian port and other aid will be sent as necessary.

Admiral Caperton believes further disturbances are likely throughout Haiti and he said the American forces will not be withdrawn until a definite settlement insuring lasting peace has been reached. Admiral Caperton advised the naval department today that six Haytiens were killed and two wounded Thursday night, when the two American seamen lost their lives. Disarming of the natives continued, he said and quiet prevailed at Port Au Prince and Cape Haitien, where American forces are on guard. As soon as possible the United States is expected to renew its efforts to negotiate a treaty whereby the United States would manage the finances of Haiti and secure the right to intervene in the interests of peace.

MORE THAN 1500 TIMES EXTRAS SOLD LAST NIGHT

First Extra Appeared Within 55 Minutes After Polls Closed—Complete Vote Before 9

Within fifty minutes after the polls closed last night a Times extra was being sold on the streets giving returns from eight boxes and accounting for more than 1,500 votes in yesterday's local option election. A few minutes later a second Times extra was out with practically complete returns and before 8:50 an hour and forty minutes after the polls were closed the third Times extra went to press giving the complete vote.

More than fifteen hundred of these extras were sold and some of the newsboys are planning to start banks. Hundreds gathered in front of the Times office early in the evening to read the bulletins from the various boxes and scores of telephone calls were answered from towns scattered over all of North Texas. The Times was able to get the returns promptly through the assistance of friends at each box in the county who telephoned in the results as soon as the count was completed in each box. The Times feels proud of its feat in gathering the returns so quickly and the big sale of the extras shows that the enterprise was thoroughly appreciated.

BOOTLEGGERS HOUSES BURNED BY CITIZENS

By Associated Press. Osceola, Arkansas, July 31.—Enraged by the killing of S. B. Mauldin, sheriff of Mississippi county, Arkansas, citizens today cleared Island 27, a "bootleggers" rendezvous in the Mississippi river, near here of its inhabitants and applied the torch to the dozen or more frame buildings which housed the residents of the island. Eight white men and ten negroes were arrested and imprisoned here at Marion and Fayetteville. Tonight extra guards were placed about the island to prevent mob violence. Mauldin was killed early today in a battle between a posse of officers and citizens and residents of the island, who barricaded themselves in a cabin and contested the right of the sheriff to arrest a negro accused of the killing. Mauldin had been virtually had been killed the posse riddled the cabin with bullets. The occupants of the building surrendered after they had exhausted their ammunition, and one of their number—a negro, had been slain.

Late a mob of several hundred men visited to the island, set fire to the buildings and arrested several who escaped from the sheriff's posse. Late tonight the mob had not disbanded and it was feared an attempt would be made to reach the prisoners. For years Island 27 has been virtually a "No Man's Land" because of a controversy as to whether Arkansas or Tennessee authorities had jurisdiction. The Mississippi river is the boundary line between the two states. It was stated tonight that Tennessee officials would claim the prisoners arrested today.

Chalmers "Six-48" Now Only $1550

A LIST of Chalmers Six-48 owners reads like the Blue Book of New York, or Boston, or Philadelphia, or Chicago.

Nearly half of all of this Model sold were bought in these four cities.

Of course many of them were sold to discriminating motorists in all parts of the country because this car gave the highest quality and greatest value for anywhere near the price.

But literally thousands of additional cars were bought by people who could afford to pay any price for their car.

Never Out of Commission

These thousands were more interested in the fact that the car always answered the roll call for service seven days in each week and each week of every month—than they were in the fact that this also meant freedom from expense at the garage or the repair shop.

These thousands were more interested in the fact that the car was light enough to respond like a thoroughbred to the flick of the whip than in the fact that it was also economical of gas and oil and tires.

These thousands were quite as much interested in the fact that it was made strong enough to "ride tight" on bad roads and still "stay put," as in the fact that protection was there in case of mishap.

Unexcelled Style and Beauty

Many of these thousands—particularly women—bought the car solely because it was a more beautiful car than they could get for the $4000 or $5000 they were willing to pay.

They were unable to find the same wonderfully artistic moulded fenders in any other car at any price.

They were not able to find more attractive flowing lines, beautiful upholstery, rich color and quality of body finish, or such smart effect, as the red wheels for instance.

They couldn't find more inbuilt inherent quality at any price than in the Chalmers Six-48, first selling at $1925, later at $1725, now at $1550.

How We Can Cut $375

And yet the question must be a natural one to you "Then why did you cut the price?"

Some motor car manufacturers cut prices in order to get rid of a car that won't sell on its quality merits.

We can cut the price on all of our cars because we are cutting down the cost of manufacture by a production nearly four times as large as ever before, by new labor-saving cost-reducing machinery.

We can cut more on the Six-48 than on the general line, because in addition to these general savings, we are able to include special saving because it is not a new model, hence, free from new tool and experimental expense.

Best Motor Car Value Today

The same excellencies for which the thousands in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago selected this car, regardless of the price—are in the Chalmers Six-48 today, plus many others. For it is exactly the same model structurally with added refinements in finish and equipment.

And yet you can buy the car today for $1550—they paid $1725 and $1925.

We believe that a car which appeals to the strictest connoisseurs of style and beauty in America and fulfills the utmost demands of the most money-wise motorists entitles us to claim that it is the best motor car value in America.

At The Theaters

"THE WOMAN" AT THE EMPRESS MONDAY.

"The Woman" a screen portrayal of one of the most successful plays of the last decade is Monday's feature at the Empress Theater. A review of this production is taken from the Moving Picture World: "All hits and no misses" is the way to sum up the review of this fine feature. "The Woman" has a powerful and fascinating plot taken from modern American life and every inch is vibrant with human interest. The interplay of politics and social life, the weaving of a supreme human motive into the fabric of the story and its sudden and stirring "denouement" make "The Woman" a true masterpiece. Whether the film adaptation was easy or difficult we will never learn for we see nothing but the finished product with not the faintest trace of the toll in the workshop. I have never seen a film play showing greater skill in direction. George E. Moffat deserves to rank high among American directors after this effort.

I know I am saying a good deal for the film when I mention the fact that Theodore Roberts has the leading part. In this case, however, Mr. Roberts does not dominate the film, he is only part of it. This ought to indicate the inherent strength of the play itself. Ernest Joy gave an excellent impersonation of the Hon. Matthew Standish and Mabel Van Buren was uncommonly strong in the part of Grace Robertson. The historic honors of the play it seems to me, go to Lois Meredith whose portrayal of the telephone girl won the audience at The Strand almost at the very first appearance. Her work contributed very largely to the unqualified success of the play. The scene in which she defies a "political third degree" has rarely been equaled in the best of plays for power and pathos. The part of the telephone girl is really the hinge on which the dramatic values of the play turn. The slightest false note might have spoiled the best intentions of the playwright, but there were only true notes. The admiration of the audience for this plucky girl from the ranks of the plain people broke forth in applause in two of her strong scenes. Equally fine with the cast were the settings. The House of Representatives, the atmosphere of the lobby, the lights and shadows of life in Washington, the superb photography—all helped to make "The Woman" what it is: a genuine screen masterpiece.

THE MAMMALS AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE TUESDAY

The Majestic Tuesday Fox feature will be a D'Annunzio drama "The Devil's Daughter" pictured. For "The Devil's Daughter" the latest William Fox release starring that extraordinary woman Theda Bara, of the Antonine in Paris, the selection of a cast by Director Frank Powell was an unusually difficult task. "The Devil's Daughter" is based upon the famous work by Gabriele D'Annunzio, (the author of "Cabiria"), La Gioconda and requires extraordinarily endowed players to set forth intelligently on the screen this wonderful story of the havoc wrought by an evil and beautiful siren in the lives of her victims.

Paul Doucet, a celebrated Broadway star, enacts Lucio Settala, a sculptor whose life and ambitions fall prey to "The Devil's Daughter." Robert Wayne gives a forceful and finished portrayal of Lorenzo Gaddi, the old sculptor. Jane Miller, the beautiful leading woman of "Life" and "From the Valley of the Missing" renders Francesca Doni, a beautiful and appealing picture, while Doris Heywood, as Sylvia, the wife of Settala, who sees her husband enslaved by the Vampire, gives a splendidly dramatic performance, most moving in its deeper moments and brilliantly handled throughout. Victor Bonniot is the Cosimo Dalbo, betrothed to Francesca and Eduard Durand is cast for the powerful role of Roffano.

MIRIAM NESBITT AT THE GEM MONDAY.

Miriam Nesbitt, Bessie Lears and Marc McDermott are featured in a three part Edison drama, "Sally Castleton, Southerner." A story is given: Sally and Genie Castleton have just received a letter from their father, a Confederate general at the front, advising them to abandon the Castleton farm and come to Richmond. Phillip, Genie's sweetheart, rides up exhausted and hands Sally a letter addressed to General Lee.

Hardly has Phillip been assisted to the house, when a detachment of Union cavalry in command of General Haverhill approaches the house. The girls push Phillip into the huge store. From a window up stairs, Sally sees Captain Radcliffe approach the house. She is impressed by his imposing physique and Radcliffe is also struck by Sally's beauty.

Radcliffe, a Union spy in civilian dress, tells General Haverhill he must make a hole through the Confederate outposts so that he (Radcliffe) can get to Richmond and secure plans from a spy there. Full plans are discussed, as Phillip, inside the stove listens attentively. When the Union men leave, Phillip tells the girls all and they start out at once—Sally and Genie for Richmond and Phillip to impart what he has heard to the Confederate Commander.

Outside of Richmond, Radcliffe, posing as a cotton broker, is held up by the Confederates. Sally's party arrives at the outposts, and when she identifies Radcliffe, she is ordered to accompany him to Richmond so that the spy in that place can be trapped. On the way, Radcliffe confesses his love and Sally also admits her affection for him, but does not tell him she's a spy. In Richmond, Radcliffe is cornered after receiving the plans of which he has two copies. He is pursued to the house Sally is stopping at, and surrenders one copy in a bag of love letters Genie always carries around. As he is leaving he encounters Phillip, and there is a hand-to-hand struggle. Sally orders Radcliffe to give up the plans and he gives her the package, and rides swiftly away. A couple of weeks later, after the girls have returned home, Radcliffe comes to the house, takes the plans from Genie's love letter bag, gives them to a Union officer and his duty is done. He then assures Sally he is no longer a spy, and there is no barrier to prevent their marriage.

TAX COLLECTOR MUST FURNISH PERSONAL BOND.

Austin, Tex., July 31.—It was held today by the attorney-general's department in an opinion to the comptroller that tax collectors must furnish the State with a personal bond in accordance with the act passed by the 34th Legislature. Further than this act repeals the act of the 33rd Legislature which provides that surety or indemnity bonds may be given. This clears the confusion which has existed for some time as to the kind of bonds to be given to the comptroller by the collectors and several bonds which have heretofore been held up, will now be filed and approved.

One of the important features of this act of the 34th Legislature is that it provides that collectors shall only be required to give a bond of 60 per cent of the amount of taxes due in the county, and the maximum bond shall not exceed $125,000 while under the old law a bond of the full amount of taxes due was in all instances required.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS GRANTED COUNTY ATTORNEY.

Austin, Tex., July 31.—A majority of the court of Criminal Appeals this afternoon sitting in chambers granted a writ of habeas corpus to John B. McNamara, county attorney of McLennan county, freeing the petitioner from the injunction issued against him by Judge Edwin J. Clark, district judge of the 74th district court of McLennan county, in which he was enjoined from proceeding with the prosecution of a case against Sam Reed, charged with the operation of a pool hall in Waco. The relator also prayed for a writ of mandamus and a writ of prohibition against Judge Clark.

Reed and his attorneys, J. T. and N. B. Williams, while the court judges, A. C. Prendergast and A. J. Harper granted the writ of habeas corpus, making it returnable on October 4th, it merely set down for hearing the application for a writ of mandamus and a writ of prohibition, for 10 a. m. October 4th.

GOMPERS SAYS FOREIGN AFFAIRS ARE BUSY

(From New York Evening Post.) Mr. Gompers is quoted as saying that he is prepared to make good his statement that a German emissary had attempted to bribe labor men to bring about strikes in American munition factories. Until evidence of this nature is produced, the public will naturally be governed in its view of the probabilities of the matter by the course of events.

There has been an epidemic of strikes and disturbances, in all manner of industries connected with the production and shipping of war supplies. Some of these appear to have been quickly settled, but on the other hand the indications are that there are plenty more to come. It may be possible to judge from the circumstances whether they are ordinary bona fide labor movements or the result of alien instigation in the interest of a belligerent power.

But the matter is too serious to be left entirely to that kind of judgment. Without undertaking to pass upon the truth of the assertions of foreign machination or conspiracy, we feel that the question is one that should engage the immediate attention of the Federal authorities. Doubtless agents of the government are already at work quietly probing into the matter. Whether such inquiry will have the effect of quieting suspicion or of confirming it, the result in either case would be valuable. And in the latter event, it would become the duty of the government to take measures to protect American producers against alien interference with their lawful business.

STRONGER THAN HIS PARTY.

(From the Washington Post.) "The president is stronger than his party in Washington, as in other Western States," declared former Senator George Turner of Seattle at the Willard. "If the war continues, I believe the country will demand the reelection of the president; if it should end this fall, the prosperity that is at hand will insure democratic victory next year beyond a doubt."

"A billion-bushel wheat crop this year, which seems assured, will make us the most prosperous country in the world, far more prosperous than ever before. The prospect in Washington never was so good. We shall harvest in the neighborhood of 40,000,000 bushels. One county in Washington, adjoining Spokane—Whitman county—produced last year 12,900,000 bushels. On one section lives a friend of mine who raises fifty bushels to the acre. Every farmer is happy because of the crop outlook, and every mother's son of them in Washington is getting rich. I should not be surprised if wheat reaches $2 a bushel this year, if the war in Europe continues. This may be hard on the consumer, but it is good for the farmer, and it's time he was having his share of the good things."

"Business is good in almost every line out on the coast," added Senator Turner. "There is not so much doing in the lumber line, due to the war, but if prices come down, there will be a big boom in lumber, as in all other industries."

THE PEOPLE ARE SHUT OUT.

The State tax rate this year is the highest ever known in this commonwealth. This reminds the old-timer of the E. J. Davis regime, only a little more so, Gainesville Register. A direct result of allowing the affairs of the State to be conducted by a bunch of politicians. The longer we continue to do this the higher the State tax rate will go. Send to the legislature men who are business men, and not politicians. When the people who pay the taxes learn to do this, the State tax rate will begin to drop and the money that is expended to maintain the State government each year will not be squandered. A good part of the high tax rate now levied is for no purpose other than to pay off political debts, to maintain and fatten the politicians, but few of whom have enough natural ability to make a living outside of politics. And the number is growing each year.—Wichita Falls Times.

Then you said something. But has it ever occurred to you, dear north Texas neighbor, that there is no way in the world, as matters now stand, for the people to select their public servants? It is take who offers. This is not saying that the right man never offers, but it is saying that the right man doesn't always offer. Jim Ferguson may turn out to be the best governor in years, but the people had to take him on trust, so to speak. If you, dear North Texas neighbor, believed that Joe Kemp was the best man to represent your county in the Legislature, how would you go about getting his services? Maybe there would be some aspiring young politician with a longing for legislative experience to head off, and Kemp would refuse to enter into such a contest. There being no way for you to put him in the race without his consent, your only recourse is the fledgling with unbounded aspirations. We need the wisest men among us as legislators at Austin, instead of the most part we have those who think that legislation is an experiment, and actually there is dread among the people when the Legislature is in session. The Terrell election law completely ties the hands of the people.—Waco Times-Herald.

WICHITA COUNTY BY PLE FOLLOWING BURNING

APPEARS TO BE NO ANIMUS AGAINST NEGROES GENERALLY ON PART OF PEOPLE.

ACT HAMPERS THE OFFICERS

Burning of Negro Cuts Off Information That Would Help Detect Others in Crime.

By Associated Press. Temple, Texas, July 31.—Temple was quiet today after the burning last night of the negro, Will Stanley, suspected of murdering three children of W. R. Grimes, with a hammer Wednesday night. Officers announced today that they had turned the other two negro suspects loose last night. A telephone message to the county attorney here said the negroes were seen at Taylor, Texas, today, fifty miles south of here, and "going fast." The message said someone near Taylor took a shot at the negroes but missed them.

Although the negro said his name was Will Stanley, he gave a Port Worth street address, efforts at identification have indicated that the name and address were fictitious. The burned remains hanging from guy wires on a Chamber of Commerce street sign were cut down this forenoon.

The burning at the stake here at midnight of Will Stanley hampered the efforts of the police to arrest and identify other persons suspected in the case. Stanley was burned to death because he wore a pair of trousers which bore the name of W. R. Grimes and which Grimes identified. Just before being thrown into the flames, Stanley told some of his captors that a white man had paid him and another negro whose name he gave, to go to Grimes home Wednesday night and kill the family. Grimes and his wife were beaten into unconsciousness and three of their six children were killed.

BULLET STOPPED STATEMENT

The negro at the stake promised to identify the alleged white man, but a bullet through his body and the fire cut off any further statement from him. He said he held the horse while the other negro did the killing. Information about the robbery and rape which officers charge was connected with the killing was shut off, despite efforts of Stanley's questioners to save him, by the eagerness of other members of the mob for a burning.

The mob included residents of the county for many miles around. Earlier in the day the crowd had shown its temper by hanging a negro farm hand on the Grimes place; this negro was saved after being hauled up to a tree limb by Mr. Grimes' brother, who cut him down, already choking. Stanley's death last night was watched by many women and children. The negro tried six times to get out of the flames but trace chains bound him too firmly.

WOMEN GET SOUVENIRS

After his death what remained whole of his body was hung to a telegraph pole as a warning, his executioners said. Others searched the ashes for souvenirs. Some women picked up what appeared to be bones from the negro's ashes. Stanley told several stories in addition to the statement at the stake, to explain how he got the Grimes' trousers. He claimed that he obtained them from another negro in a trade. The police, however, said this other negro presented evidence that Stanley had tried to get rid of the trousers on any sort of a profitable swap.

Small groups of men gathered in the streets here today, discussing the lynching, but they gradually disappeared. Sheriff Hugh Smith and his assistants, guarding the negro last night, said they were overwhelmed by the numbers of the mob. They faced the choice of letting the negro go or the almost absolute certainty of their bullets striking many persons in the crowd about the building. Some of the deputies said there was cause to fear that unless the mob obtained the negro without using battering ram tactics the building would collapse, owing to the pressure of the crowd around it, and the number of persons crowding up stairs. The building is a three story brick. Today there was no apparent animus against negroes generally or signs of intention to molest any others. Negroes were going about their usual occupation here.

The Dallas News yesterday gave an account of the burning of which the following was a part: "After the mob had taken Stanley from the Wilkerson building at midnight he was taken through the principal streets and to the public square by the shortest route, offering no resistance and apparently cool. Reaching the square the mob of 10,000 scattered over the large area and there were willing volunteers who gathered quickly goods boxes and other inflammable material from the alley nearby with which a funeral pyre was quickly constructed and set ablaze."

"Along the way the negro was kicked and cuffed, but through it all maintained a stoicism and collectedness. "Before the pyre had gained much headway a citizen of Temple sprang to the front and confronting the negro said: "Now, you know you are guilty; tell us who helped."

"The negro replied, according to this man: 'I know I am guilty as any of the rest, but I didn't do the killing. I held the horse while Slim Harris did the killing. We were hired to do it by a little low heavy set white man who owns a dun horse and a good big buggy. Wait until tomorrow and I will take you to him and point him out, as I would know him anywhere.' "Scarcely had these words been uttered when the citizen referred to jumped to the front, kicked back the fire and called to the crowd to wait. Just then some one standing by shot the negro through the body, and this was a signal to pull his body through the searing flames. The negro met his fate without a murmur and the end came quickly. The flames mounted to a great height and produced a terrible heat. Aside from a few moans, faintly audible as the flames seared the flesh, the negro met his finish stoically. The crowd soon dispersed. "Much of the hue and clamor of the mob is attributed to non-residents, who came to town in large numbers during the afternoon and were foremost in demanding a sacrifice."

ADRESSES OF SEYMOUR PARTIES ON DEAD MAN
Dalhart, Texas, July 31.—An unknown man, supposed to be Jim Webb, residence unknown, was found in the woods near the crossing of Fourth Street and the Denver railroad. He had been dead several days, and it is thought he was killed somewhere else and brought there by the slayers. Papers in his pockets gave addresses of parties at Seymour, Texas, and Plains, Kansas. His age appeared to be about 30.

GERMANS CUT RUSSO RAILWAY (Continued From Page One)

now may be a fact has not been forthcoming, however, although the slender hope of the entente allied countries that the Germans might be held on the threshold is disappearing and military writers are convincing themselves to rebelling Grand Duke Nicholas' chances of extracting his armies from the hard pinched triangle without disaster. It was argued that the conduct of this retreat without great losses would entail the necessity of the Ludlow-Christie front. Now that it is broken quiet action on the part of the Russians becomes imperative, as also does the stemming of the increasing German forces driving from Kovno and Guwalki toward Vilna, the capture of which would cause the northern line to retreat.

PROSPECTS OF RAIN IN TEXAS LOWER COTTON.

New York, July 31.—A feeling that Texas was likely to get more general rainfall over Sunday seemed to dominate the cotton market Saturday and while opening prices were three to four points net higher a gradual reaction took place with the result that at the close the tone was barely steady at a net decline of three to four points.

TWO YOUTHS ARRESTED DRIVING A STOLEN CAR

An automobile belonging to W. L. Foreman of Denton was stolen last night from in front of the residence of H. F. Robertson on Thirtieth street and was recovered shortly afterward by Officer Frank Burns. While Officers Smith and Gilham were patrolling the lake road for the car, Burns, in a car with Bill Lawrence, laid in wait at the corner of Tenth and the lake road, and as the Buick came back, running without lights, the chase started. The Buick was turned out on the Seymour road, where it was soon overtaken by Burns and Thornton. Two boys who were in it were arrested.

NERVOUS FLUCTUATION IN THE COTTON MARKET.

New Orleans, July 31.—After a session of nervous fluctuation today cotton closed at a net decline of one point. At one time prices were four points under yesterday's close and another they were five to six points above. First prices were three to four points up but this small advance quickly was replaced by a small decline, under selling stimulated by reports of rain in Texas.

MORGAN APPARENTLY FULLY RECOVERED. New York, July 31.—Apparently fully recovered from the bullet wounds inflicted by Erich Sauter, J. P. Morgan was at his summer home at Glen Cove, Long Island today. pending a constitutional election. Carranza's Plan. In his outline General Carranza says: "General Gonzalez will set up a civil government in Mexico City at once, distribute food and establish a monetary system so that stores and banks can be reopened at once. Provision trains will be started for the capital under heavy guard. "In co-operation with General Obregon, General Gonzalez' troops will reopen the railroad line from Mexico City to the north and northeast, ward Torreon and San Luis Potosi, and transportation will be reestablished into the state of Michoacan, where the government has stored 280,000 bushels of corn." Carranza agents here maintain that he now is powerful enough to carry out his program and can demonstrate that such a government will be entitled to recognition by the United States. General Carranza is said to be firmly resolved not to yield to any proposal for a peace conference which would necessitate a representative congress. What influence this outline of Carranza's purposes on the plans for dealing with the Mexican situation now being considered by President Wilson is not known here. Much may depend it is said on events of the next week in Mexico. If Carranza succeeds in opening communication to Mexico City and carries out also his campaign against General Villa to the north and northeast it might serve to delay any contemplated action by the United States. Villa and his adherents propose to do all in their power to avert the possibility of Carranza's receiving the moral support of the United States.

THE UNITED STATES WAS ABOUT TO ACT to recognize a de facto government

THE DOLLAR

Is the standard by which values are measured in this country. But do you always get a dollar's worth for your dollar? The dollar is the measure used in our cleaning and pressing department. To call and get your suit, clean and press it and return it to your home is the dollar's worth at our shop. We could get more but we feel in our bones that a dollar is just right. And our cleaning is just as RIGHT as the Dollar. No dingy rings where the spot was. No grease spots show up the third wearing. We made the price a dollar. We made a dollar the price. And we give you more for your dollar than you can get elsewhere. You don't have to phone us but one time about your suit.

The "Wonder Car"

All Low "First-Cost" Records Broken

The new 1916 Maxwell shatters all low "first-cost" records for a real automobile. Think of it—a full 5-passenger car—an absolutely complete car, with electric starter, electric lights, high-tension magneto, and every refinement—a luxurious car—a beautiful car—a powerful 50-mile-an-hour-car,—yet a light-weight real economy car—for $655

All Low "After-Cost" Records Broken

The "first cost" of an automobile is a big consideration to any sane man, but the "after cost" is an even bigger consideration to any man who wants to remain sane in his automobile investment.

The "after cost" or upkeep is what a car costs you to maintain, run, and enjoy, after you have bought it, and it is mighty hard to enjoy an automobile if it costs you too much to run.

The Maxwell has lowered all economy records for:

- 1st—Miles per set of tires
- 2nd—Miles per gallon of gasoline
- 3rd—Miles per quart of lubricating oil
- 4th—Lowest year-in-and-year-out repair bills

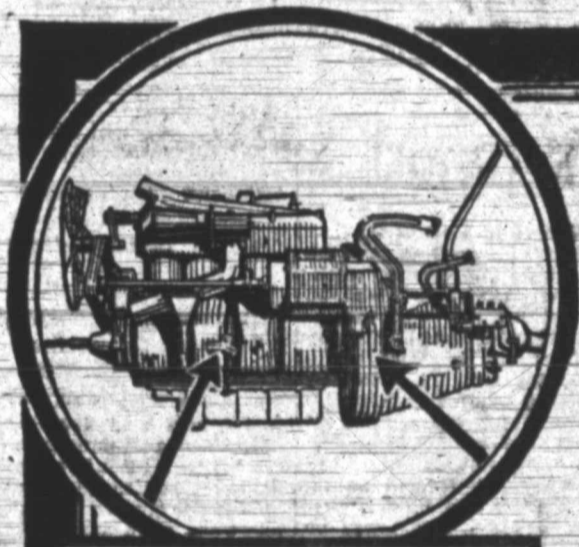

1916 Maxwell High-Priced-Car Features, all included for $655

Originally produced in dramatic form by David Belasco, deserves to rank as one of the few foremost dramas written on strictly American subject matter. It had a well deserved initial engagement of an entire season in New York and continued actively in tour for seasons thereafter.

A drama of modern political life in Washington, the story of how a courageous girl telephone operator prevents a congressional "grab" and a domestic scandal.

Positively one of the strongest, finest and most sympathetic American photodramas that has been produced to date—a "PARAMOUNT" which means supreme in five parts and

THE GRAND JURY WILL RECONVENE TOMORROW

Bawdy Houses Will Be Investigated During the Closing Session Inquisitorial Body

Bawdy houses are to be the chief subject of inquiry by the grand jury when it reconvenes tomorrow, and it is understood that this question will be gone into with thoroughness. Judge Akin, when the grand jury was empanelled in June, gave them a particular charge on this subject, but so far no indictments were returned.

When the grand jury recessed about two weeks ago, Judge Akin inquired if there had been any bawdy house indictments, and was informed there had not, but that the matter would be taken up after the recess.

TWO DISTRICT COURTS WILL RECESS TOMORROW

Thirtieth District Court, However Will Be Open For Cases Requiring Prompt Action

The first term of the 78th district court came to a close Saturday and no more cases will be tried until September. Five months have elapsed since the court was created, and Judge Nicholson will take a rest during the one month remaining in the first term. He will visit his former home, Jackboro, and later will make an automobile trip to Amarillo, Lubbock and other West Texas points. There is still one month remaining of the June term of the 30th district court, but little is expected to be done during August. Judge Akin will remain in the city, but will try only such cases as come up for prompt action. In September both courts will resume business.

FRENCH ARMY NEVER SO FIT AS NOW

COUNT MONTEBELLO SAYS END OF FIRST YEAR FINDS NATION FIT TO CONTINUE

RESERVES ACCUMULATED

Beginning of Second Year of War Finds France Better Prepared in Every Respect

Paris, France, July 31.—A year of war finds France fit to continue the struggle to the end and confident of the outcome, says Count Adrien Lannes de Montebello in a review of the first twelve months of hostilities given to the Associated Press. Count de Montebello, a recognized authority on military affairs, was one of the strongest advocates of the three-year military service law, and its co-author with the former Premier, Louis Barthou. He was formerly Deputy from Rhéims and Vice President of the Committee on Military Affairs of the Chamber of Deputies. His grandfather was Marshal Lannes, at whose death on the battlefield of Essling Napoleon is said to have wept.

His review of the war follows: "France was not expecting war, and her preparations therefore were less complete than those of her adversaries who, knowing their intentions, had accumulated an immense supply of fighting material and disposed of their troops in such a manner as to strike the most powerful blow of which they were capable.

"Germany threw against Belgium and France 62 corps, or almost her entire military force as mobilized in August. Under the impact of the German advance the French armies, with their British allies, suffered initial reverses and great losses, especially in the battle of Charleroi. While the French armies were in retreat a national ministry was formed and the civil population of France organized for war. The French and British armies stood on the line of the Marne from a point near Paris to the Eastern frontier of France. They received the shock of more than 1,200,000 German troops, and defeated them with somewhat inferior forces. The Germans were cut off and outflung in a vast general action over a line of more than 120 miles.

"Could Not Complete Victory. "The French troops were too exhausted by their fifteen days of marching and fighting to make their victory decisive. The Germans checked their retreat upon the line of the Aisne, and had sufficient time to dig in. The battle of the Aisne developed by the Germans endeavoring to turn our left and by the simultaneous French effort to turn the German right.

"This contest resulted in a race for the sea in the obstinate two months battle along the Yser in October and November. The Germans again failed and finally gave up that part of their offensive on account of their terrific losses.

"Simultaneous with the battle of the Marne, though forming no part of the battlefield of what has been called the Battle of the Marne, were the operations in the Argonne, the Woëvre and the Grand Couronné de Nancy. The army of the German Crown Prince marching on Verdun, and the army of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, marching on Nancy, both were defeated in some of the bloodiest engagements of the entire war.

"The ultimate result of these defeats was the liberation of Lorraine left to France after 1870 from the occupation of the German army. The German forces had penetrated 15 or 16 miles. They were not only driven out before the first of November, but since then the French have invaded Upper Alsace, of which they now hold a considerable part. This country, taken from France in the war of 1870-1871, has been reorganized and is under control of a civil government, which restored the school and judicial system of France.

"From the battle of Charleroi to the end of the first year of the war the Germans achieved no successes on the Western battlefield save the slight advance at Soissons during the floods of the river Aisne, the advance at Ypres, partially lost afterwards, at the time of the first attack with the assistance of aphyxisting gas.

"Successes of Allies. "The successes of the allies since the battle of the Marne are in the recapture of Thann, Steinbach, Hartmannswillerkopf, Metzeral, La Fontaine, together with considerable territory, in the Alsatian Vosges; the capture of an entire German position in the Forest of Le Preire, along the wedge the Germans are still holding in the French lines at St. Mihiel; an advance of a mile along a front of ten miles at Beauséjour, in the Champagne country; the capture of Neuve Chapelle by the British; the capture of the Notre-Dame-de-Lorette, Carency, and Neuville St. Vaast, and an advance of two to three miles along a front about seven miles North from Arras by the French, and the clearing of the left bank of the Yser of the enemy by the Belgian army.

"Never since the war began has the French army been so fit to continue it to a triumphant conclusion as today. We have not only carried on the war with success during the year but we have accumulated immense reserves of every necessary for continuing the war until it has been won. Our reserve troops in depots and under training are far greater than those of the Germans. The army is absolutely confident. The people, behind the army to a man, are equally so. "The French people, through no fault of theirs, have suffered and are suffering today, but they are equal to every hardship, every effort necessary to drive the war to a final victorious conclusion."

RUSSIA'S ARMIES ARE STILL INTACT

RUSSIAN OFFICIALS SAY RUSSIA'S POTENTIAL FIGHTING IS UNDIMINISHED

HAS ACCOMPLISHED PURPOSE

Has Kept Forces of Enemy Engaged and Given Allies Chance to Prepare Offensive

Petrograd, July 31.—From a person who although not connected officially with the war department, is in close touch with the government officials and is well acquainted with the military situation and the Russian state of feeling, the Associated Press has obtained the following review of the first year of the war: "The end of the first year of the war finds Russia's potential fighting ability undiminished. Her armies are intact, her resources virtually untouched, and the determination of her people, the morale of her troops have only been deepened with the growing realization of the enemy's strength.

"This determination is expressed most forcibly in the mobilization of vast industrial resources for the production of war munitions. These efforts are rapidly lessening the disparity of the combatants in guns and ammunition. Russia does not look for speedy termination of the struggle but feels confident of her power to exhaust the enemy.

"The campaign on the eastern front must be viewed in relation to the enormous extent of territory over which battles have been waged from the Baltic to Bukovina. The far flung advances and retreats here had no more significance relatively than gains and losses of a thousand yards on the western front. To interpret Russia's temporary loss of territory as German success is to ignore Russia's role to engage as great a part of the enemy's forces as possible, to relieve pressure on her allies, Russia's refusal to accept battle in disadvantageous conditions even though she must temporarily abandon territory, has kept her armies and defensive lines unbroken.

"German Advance Costly. "It is the assertion of Russian authorities that every German advance has cost Germany more men, both relatively and actually, than it cost Russia. They regard Germany as now committed definitely to a campaign which is carrying the German armies farther and farther from their bases; and to abandon this campaign would be a disastrous defeat for her. Moreover, it is maintained that not even the territorial ambitions of Germany have been realized, since the German objectives on this front have not been fully attained.

"The advance of the Austrians into Southern Russia in the early stage of the war met with full defeat. It was followed by Austria's loss of Galicia. General Ivanoff, at the head of the southern Russian armies, carried on one of the most brilliant offensive campaigns of the war. The present stage may possibly be regarded as an uncompleted repetition of this earlier movement.

"Furthermore, the repeated German drives at Warsaw from the west have cost the enemy tremendous losses. It was only after six weeks of the most intense fighting in the Bzura region due west of Warsaw last winter that the Germans recognized the futility of attempting to break the Russian front by direct frontal movements.

"On the other hand, by exacting a heavy toll of lives in rearguard actions during the carefully ordered retreats and by keeping her own army intact, Russia successfully performed her appointed task.

"While it is understood the fate of the Turkish provinces on the Caucasian front will be determined by the general course of the war, this should not minimize the genuine military successes Russia has achieved in that distant field. Russia did not desire to expend her strength in Asiatic Turkey, but when opposed in December she exerted her power, flung back the Turkish army at Sari by the threatening Turkish advance Kamysh, and began a series of movements which carried the Russian arms to Van and the approaches of Bitlis and Mush, in Turkish Armenia.

ROCK ISLAND PLACED IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

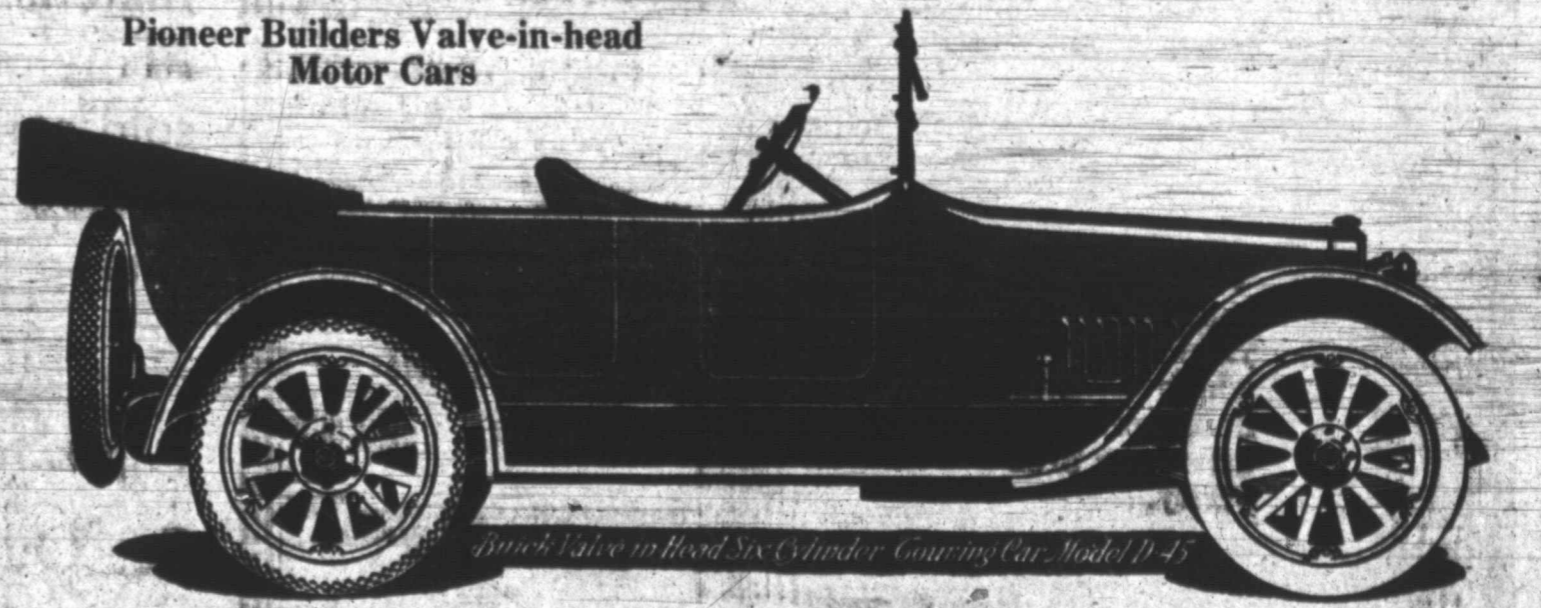

Financial Pyramid Razed By Dan Reid and Others Has Virtually Topped Over

New York, July 30.—The financial pyramid of three railroad companies organized by Daniel G. Reid, William H. Moore and their associates in 1902 to control the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad virtually had toppled over today when it was announced that the Rock Island had been placed in the hands of a receiver. The Rock Island company, incorporated in New Jersey with $1,650,000,000, was a holding company organized to take over control of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway, transportation company. This it did through the organization of an intermediary company, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Company.

RESULTS ON SEA PLEASING TO GERMANY

GERMAN NAVAL EXPERT REVIEWS EVENTS OF YEAR IN NAVAL WARFARE

CITES OFFENSIVE SPIRIT

Says Achievements of English Navy Have Not Been up to Expectations of Germans

By Associated Press. Berlin, July 31.—Although the main German and British fleets have not been matched in battle, the ending of the first year of the war finds that Germany has distinguished herself at sea, says Captain I. Persius in a naval review prepared for the Associated Press. Captain Persius formerly an officer of the German navy, is a recognized authority on German naval affairs and is naval expert of the Berliner Tageblatt. He states that Germany's policy has been to attempt to weaken her chief opponent at sea by using submarines and mines, to a point where there will be some prospect of success of an attack on the main British fleet. His review follows:

"The German fleet may boast that the offensive spirit it has displayed has constituted the most prominent and decisive feature of all the naval war theatres. War was declared against Russia on August 1 and on August 2 the cruiser Augsburg bombarded the Russian war port of Libau. The declaration of war against France was issued August 3 and on the following day the cruisers Goeben and Breslau shelled the troop embarkation points of Phillippeville and Bona, on the North African coast. Finally England declared war on August 4 and on the 8th the mine-layer Koenigin Luise planted mines at the mouth of the Thames, one of which destroyed the cruiser Amphion.

"We thus see that from the very beginning German warships displayed a spirit of daring offensive. Not only in European waters but in distant seas we heard of victorious combats wherein our cruisers were engaged. In a majority of cases the foreign cruisers, like the home units, fought against much superior forces. Task Not Underestimated.

"In Germany the gigantic task of our sea forces is in no wise underestimated. We know that the British fleet alone, so far as material strength is concerned, is considerably more than twice our superior, but we are certain that the heroic spirit of determination to win exists in the fleet as in the army, and that we can depend upon the efficiency of our material which, even though inferior in quantity, can brave comparison with that of any other power for excellence in construction of artillery and machinery.

"We do not forget that the British fleet, first in the world and of glorious history, is an opponent worthy of all respect. Nevertheless, at the close of the first year of the war, it may be said without exaggeration that its achievements do not measure up to our expectations. It has lacked, it seems, the iron determination and ability to conquer.

"The British admiralty has held strictly to the strategy of caution. The German submarine danger is, we realize, partly responsible, but it cannot be questioned that, as a consequence of undeniably evident lack of initiative, the prestige of the British sea power no longer stands so unshaken throughout the world as formerly. British forces have been victorious only in engagements where they were overwhelmingly superior, as at the Falkland Islands; and even this is not claimed by the British press to be an unconditional success, because the battle was too costly in time and sacrifice.

"Our naval authorities followed generally the principle of keeping battleships in harbor while attempting to weaken the enemy through minor warfare, particularly with submarines and mines, to a point where an attack on the main fleet will offer some prospect of success. How correct this strategy was is proved by the past twelve months. Thanks to the effectiveness of our submarines, which excited the justified admiration of the whole world, it has been possible sorely to wound the British fleet.

Commerce Destroyed. "In addition, our submarine arm has busied itself since the beginning of the year in an entirely unexpected way, as a destroyer of commerce. Views may differ as to the final outcome in this field—but it is undeniable that the nation like Germany, whose commerce has been driven from the seas but which can subsist without imports, has an extraordinary advantage over a country dependent almost entirely, like Britain, upon importations of food and raw materials across the water. The submarine danger unquestionably weighs like a nightmare upon the inhabitants of the sea washed land. The fortunate results of wide extension as we hope, of the fruitful activity of our submarines cannot be predicted, but the expectation is generally cherished in Germany that the submarine campaign will help to accelerate the demand for peace in England.

"Every type of warship has fallen victim to German submarines—the battleships Formidables, Triumfs and Majestic, the armored cruisers Hogue, Oressy and Aboukir, the Russian armored cruiser Pallada, the cruisers Hawke and Pathfinder and the British destroyer Recruit, for example—and neither the express steamer nor the slow fishing boat is safe from our deadly torpedoes.

"In addition, the aerial arm of the service has won many laurels. Zeppelins crossed the North Sea safely, even to London and back, and German aeroplanes participated in the destruction of the enemies' war and merchant ships. The question whether airships and aeroplanes could be used offensively at sea must, in the light of the achievements of our aircraft, be answered affirmatively.

"German aircraft have even fought successfully against the dreaded submarines. A Russian submarine was destroyed in the Baltic by the fortunate explosion and at least one British submarine met the same fate in the North Sea.

Battleships in Hiding. "The general fear of submarines is responsible for the remarkable spectacle of the heavily armed and strongly armored battleships rarely venturing to leave sheltering harbors—ships which before the war were counted as decisive factors in sea power, but which find themselves condemned to inactive roles. Clashes of heavy battleships, like those in distant waters, have borne out the old rule that superiority in numbers, artillery and speed make up the decisive factor for victory.

"The British were defeated off Coronel, Chile, because the Monmouth and Good Hope depended for the most part on six inch guns, while the German cruisers Gneisenau and Scharnhorst carried many 8 3/4 inch guns. The victory at the Falkland Islands was easy for the British battle cruisers invincible and Inflexible and their cognates because they mounted twelve inch guns and also were much faster than the German ships.

"The lessons which may be drawn from past events may be summed up briefly as follows:

"Superiority of technical material plays as in earlier naval battles, an important role, perhaps to a greater extent than before. Given crews practically equal in skill, the side which is inferior in artillery and speed is at so heavy a disadvantage that victory is possible only under exceptionally favorable circumstances. The submarine has proved itself a thoroughly dangerous weapon to which unsuspected possibilities must be conceded. All methods of defense hitherto employed have failed to fulfill their purpose in requisite manner.

"Dirigibles and aeroplanes have not only demonstrated their value in scouting but also have been engaged effectively upon the offensive.

"The lessons learned even thus far will have a marked influence upon the construction of fleets, and I can

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER ARRESTED YESTERDAY

Pointed Out by Farmer as Man From Whom the Latter Had Bought Whiskey.

Through the efforts of Policeman Rawls and Deputy Sheriff Bob McFall an alleged bootlegger was apprehended yesterday. A man who lives in the country was seen to enter an Ohio avenue rooming house with a man whom the officers had suspected of bootlegging. When the farmer came out of the hotel he carried a paper sack in his hand. Policeman Rawls stopped the man and asked him what he had. He finally admitted that he had whiskey and after considerable questioning by the officers consented to tell from whom he had purchased it. He pointed out a man in a restaurant who was the same man the officers had seen taking the farmer into the rooming house. The man was turned over to the county authorities.

JUST LIKE IN MOVIES SHERIFF FOILS ELOPERS

As Waurika, Okla., Couple Were Getting Marriage License, Proceedings were Halted by Officer.

The course of true love almost ran smoothly enough for a young couple from Waurika Saturday, but they struck a snag just in time to make trouble. They came here to get married and went to the county clerk's office for a license. The affidavit as to their being of age had been signed by the groom-prospective, but had not been sworn to; at that juncture, Sheriff Hawkins entered, just like the villain in the play and Dan Cupid best it. The sheriff had just been advised by telephone from Waurika that the young people were under age. He stopped the issuance of the license and the young folks departed, very much aggrieved.
