BIGGEST SHIPMENT OF GOLD EVER MADE COMES TO NEW YORK

SPECIAL TRAIN OF STEEL EXPRESS CARS CARRIES $52,000,000 IN GOLD INTO AMERICAN CITY TODAY

SENT OVER IN A WARSHIP

Largest Shipment of Gold Ever Sent Across Atlantic Was For Purpose of Upholding Credit and Improve Exchange Situation

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 11.—A special train carrying $52,000,000 worth of gold and securities which were shipped by the Bank of England and London by way of Halifax arrived here today. The train was composed of several steel cars and was guarded by forty armed men. Of the total shipment, $35,000,000 was believed to be in the form of American double eagles. The weight of the gold shipment was about seventy-five tons. It was said to be the largest shipment of gold ever sent across the Atlantic in one vessel. It was brought over in a British warship which was convoyed through the war zone by a cruiser and a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers to guard against an attack by German submarines. The cost of transferring it from London to New York was estimated to have been $250,000. It was said the British battleship brought not only the $52,000,000 in gold and securities for New York but also a shipment of gold for Canada, whose treasury recently sent gold amounting to $135,000,000 to New York. Elaborate precautions were taken in sending this great shipment of gold to prevent the German secret service from discovering the plan or route of forwarding. At Halifax it was delivered into the custody of the American Express Company. The route over which the train proceeded from Bangor, Maine to New York was kept secret.

Robert M. Cowie, vice president and general manager of the American Express Company said that the transfer was the greatest risk ever taken by an express company. Eight policemen were sent to meet the train here and guard the gold until it was delivered to the sub-treasurer, J. P. Morgan & Company of this city were the consignees. The purpose of the transfer of the gold was understood to be to improve the British credit here and to improve the exchange situation as the British pound system has deteriorated of late. The securities are understood to be American bonds to be used as the basis for further advances to the British government.

COMPLETE PURCHASES FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS

Austin, August 11.—Through the state purchasing department the state of Texas has just completed the purchase of about two million dollars worth of supplies for state institutions. Delivery is to begin on September 1st. State Purchasing Agent, Leavy has been awarding contracts for several weeks. Because of war conditions cotton goods were bought at twenty per cent less than in former years. Meat also was slightly cheaper. Hardware and certain metal goods however were ten to fifteen per cent higher. Heretofore the state purchasing agent has bought supplies for only fifteen days. The last legislature included in his list the state educational institutions for certain articles such as furniture and fixtures. Texas made goods were given preference when other considerations were equal, Mr. Leavy said.

ADVANCES ALLOWED IN SOME RATES ON WESTERN ROADS

I. C. C. ANNOUNCES RULING IN WESTERN FREIGHT RATE CASES ALLOWING SOME ADVANCES—OTHERS DENIED.

EVERY RAILROAD AFFECTED

Advances Allowed on Coal, Coke, Fruit and Vegetables and Declined in Cases of Grain, Livestock and Packed in House Products.

By Associated Press. Washington, Aug. 11.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today gave its decision in the western freight rate case, allowing advances in bituminous coal, coke fruit and vegetables and denying increases in grain, livestock, packing house products, fertilizers and broom corn. The decision allows some of the increase in the western freight rate case, allowing advances in bituminous coal, coke fruit and vegetables and denying increases in grain, livestock, packing house products, fertilizers and broom corn. The decision denies all the more important increases. The advances granted are in the viewpoint of the commission of relatively little significance. Commissioners Daniels in a dissenting opinion held the roads were entitled to increases "far in excess" of those granted in today's decision. He held there was no question as to the facts in the financial affairs of the Rock Island and Frisco systems and the Alton which he referred to as having been "wrecked and plundered," but he held the rate increases were justified on their own merit.

FRENCH PROTEST AGAINST REPRISALS ON ALLIED PRISONERS IN GERMANY

President of Red Cross Appeals to International Committee Against Alleged Violations of Humanitarian Laws By Germans

By Associated Press. Paris, Aug. 11.—The Marquis De Vogue, president of the central committee of the French Red Cross, has sent a formal protest to Gustave Ador, president of the International Red Cross committee at Geneva, against alleged measures of reprisal taken by the German government against the French prisoners of war in retaliation for alleged mistreatment of German prisoners. This protest dated August 4th, is based on a report by Baron Danthouard, the plenipotentiary accredited by the French government, to represent the French Red Cross at prison camps. The Baron states that a thousand French prisoners have been taken from camps at Erfurt, Oardruf, Dalaistadt, Friedrichsfeld, Munster and Merseburg and sent to the Hanoverian swamps. A region of notorious unhealthfulness, there to be employed in draining and clearing land. For most of these men, unaccustomed to such work, there is physical and mental torture and killing fatigue in the misery of imprisoned quarters. The barbarous penalty is cold-bloodedly inflicted on innocents with the undignified purpose to terrorize their families and exercise through them moral pressure on French public opinion and government.

To prove that these reprisals are without cause De Vogue cites a report by a Swiss colonel, Marcel depreux, who has examined the French prison camps. Marcel says: "Labor condition surrounding prisoners in both Morocco and France are normal and in conformance with humanitarian laws." De Vogue says further that the only German prisoners ever interned in Dahomey were those captured in Togoland, Kamerun, where the climate is similar to that in Dahomey. All these prisoners, he said have been transferred to Morocco. Many French families lately have received from relatives imprisoned in Germany postcards identically worded relating the sufferings of comrades who had been removed to reprisal camps. These cards, it is thought here, are the result of an organized effort in Germany to obtain greater privileges for German prisoners in France. Public opinion has been deeply moved also by stories of disabled prisoners recently returned.

GREATER ACTIVITY AT DARDANELLES IS NOW INDICATED

Allied Troops Resume Offensive At Southern End of Gallipoli Peninsula and North of Gaba-Pete With Strong Force

By Associated Press. London, Aug. 11.—Recognition of imperative importance to the Allies of forcing the Dardanelles as the shortest road to relieving Russian reverses and regaining the initiative, now in the hands of Germany, is demonstrated amply by the sudden landing of the British forces in the vicinity of Karachall and resumption of the offensive both at the southern end of Gallipoli peninsula and north of Gaba-Pete. The Australians and New Zealanders recently have been strengthening their positions at the latter place. Coming at this time when there is so much discussion whether Germany will attempt to crush Serbia preparatory to linking forces with Turkey by way of Bulgaria these developments at the Dardanelles assume a special importance. As yet there is not proof that the Germans have withdrawn or are preparing to withdraw any considerable forces. Their vigilance in any of the sections of battle line, now occupied has not been relaxed and the positions of the Russians are still perilous.

UNDERSTANDS GRAVITY OF COTTON SITUATION

President Wilson Wires Congressman Summers of Desire to Serve Cotton Interests

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 11.—"I think I understand the gravity and importance of the cotton situation, and you may depend upon it I shall handle it with the sincere desire to serve the interests of the cotton States in every way that it is possible to serve them. I wish that I could alter the circumstances of the war which are so seriously affecting our national life."

"WOODROW WILSON"

The foregoing letter, was received yesterday from President Wilson by the Hon. Haakon W. Summers of Dallas, congressman from the fifth district. It was in answer to a telegram from Mr. Summers explaining the cotton situation as he understands it. Mr. Wilson acknowledged receipt of the telegram and stated that he read it with close attention. The letter was written at Cornish, N. H., on August 8. Congressman Summers recently sent a long telegram to President Wilson explaining the cotton situation in the Southern States and urging the government to exercise to the limit all of its powers in an effort to open the markets of the world, which are now closed. Mr. Summers explained the conditions of the crops and the financial condition of the people of the South. He endeavored to impress upon the administration the necessity of using every effort to prevent the serious losses sustained by the cotton raising States last year. He declared that the present situation of the cotton markets causes the deepest apprehension, and that a great co-operative effort is being made to keep the market from breaking. "Never before have so many men of so many trades and professions worked together so earnestly and so harmoniously as they are at the present time to forestall serious financial losses on the coming cotton crop and to maintain a stable and profitable market," said Mr. Summers. Since the adjournment of Congress in March, Mr. Summers has been studying the cotton situation in the Southern States, especially in Texas. As the result of his investigations, he sent the telegram to President Wilson.

BODY OF MRS. JOHN D. ROCKE, FELLER INTERRED TODAY

By Associated Press. Cleveland, O., Aug. 11.—The body of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller today was buried here in Lakeview Cemetery. The utmost secrecy surrounded the interment and armed guards were stationed at the grave. The body arrived here yesterday from "Sleepy Hollow" near Terrytown, N. Y., where it had been in the John D. Archbold vault since Mrs. Rockefeller's death on March 12.

1000 CARRANZA TROOPS REPORTED TO BE ORGANIZING UPRISINGS IN TEXAS

MEXICAN BAND FIGHTS A POSSE AND SOLDIERS

Dead In Raids In Brownsville Section Now Number Eighteen Of Whom 14 Are Mexicans

By Associated Press. Brownsville, August 11.—Rangers today captured in Hidalgo county west of here a flag with the words on it in Spanish "Army of Liberation for Mexicans in Texas." Forty or fifty Mexicans were in a running fight this afternoon twelve miles from Harlington with a detachment of soldiers and a citizens posse. These same Mexicans were seen earlier in the day towards Mercedes. There were about forty of them. Cavalry and armed citizens today searched the brush for a band of Mexicans who were seen in this section yesterday. They left a trail of cut barbed wire fences as they rode from Mercedes to the border. Mercedes is twenty miles from the border and forty from Brownsville. There were unverified reports today that three Mexicans were killed yesterday in the western section of Hidalgo county. In a section west a considerable distance from the scene of the Mercedes operations the United States troopers whose identity is not yet known here, who was killed last night near Mercedes, was one of the three cavalrymen patrolling a road. The dead in the raids in the vicinity total 18, two soldiers, two American citizens and fourteen Mexicans. The raids began July 5.

GEN. FUNSTON SAYS TEXANS RESPONSIBLE FOR RAIDS

By Associated Press. Washington, August 11.—Major General Funston reported to the war department today that the best information he can gather indicates that the brigandage in Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr counties was caused by Texans with headquarters at Brownsville, who, having a political feud, made raids in the counties mentioned for personal revenge.

CARRANZA'S ATTITUDE IS DISTINCTLY DEFIANT

Informing Lansing Mexican People Will View Efforts Of Pan-American Conference With Disfavor

By Associated Press. Washington, August 11, 1915.—Reports have reached here that more than 1,000 Carranza troops from the command of General Navarette in the state of Tamaulipas have moved over into Texas in the territory surrounding Brownsville and have scattered into bands to rally Mexicans in the state with the announced purpose of beginning an uprising. They are reported to be under the command of Juan de Los Santos, Vincete Davila and Carlos Gracia. War department officials would not discuss the report but it was said to be in their possession and probably would be one of the reasons for moving troops to the border.

OPPOSES PAN-AMERICAN ACTION

General Carranza through his Washington agent today notified Secretary Lansing that "the Mexican people view with displeasure" any attempt to frustrate the success of Carranza armed forces. Carranza's message referred to the Pan-American conference and was taken as plainly signifying he would not agree with the action towards Mexican affairs. The agency here today gave out the text of identical notes which Carranza addressed to Argentine and Chile protesting their participating in the Pan-American conference.

Carranza had evidently been informed that Brazil refused to participate and sent a message to Rio de Janeiro expressing his gratifications. Carranza also sent representations to the diplomatic representatives of all Latin American republics participating in the conference saying that any attempt to solve the situation in Mexico would involve "an act which could not be looked on with levity, as it would mean on the part of the Latin American nations the acceptance that they can take part in any internal affairs of a sister nation with the co-operation of the United States, something absolutely undesirable, not only insofar as it may affect the relations between the Latin American nations themselves and but also it might involve the moral support of any future decision which grew out of similar situations."

THINK CARRANZA'S ATTITUDE DEFIANT

Carranza's communication was regarded as little less than a defiance of the United States in accordance with Secretary Lansing's announcement yesterday that it might be necessary to strengthen the forces on the border because of brigandage orders will probably will go out soon to army posts to hold troops in readiness if not actually to move them.

Secretary Garrison returned today and conferred with his staff on the subject. Under Major General Funston's command on the border are ten regiments of cavalry, six and one-half regiments of infantry and two full regiments of field artillery, in all about 14,000 troops. In other posts in continental United States are about 10,000 mobile troops.

WITH RUSSIANS IN TURKISH ARMENIA

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF SOME DIFFICULTIES ENCOUNTERED

NAPOLEONS FEAT OUTDONE

Not Once But Many Times Russians Have Crossed Worse Passes Than Those of Alps

A Russian Army Camp in Turkish Armenia, Aug. 11.—The Russian army that is in pursuit of the elusive Turks in this region have, at this writing reached the Valley of the Haburr, an affluent of the Tigris, at a point sixty miles south of Van.

On June 2, the right flank of the Russian forces engaged the Turks under Halid Bey, near the Tigris, and fought until nightfall, when the Turks made off into the darkness. The Armenian volunteers, who are doing some of the best fighting for the Russians, began the battle at 9 o'clock in the morning and sustained it alone on the open ground until noon when General T's cavalry from Sarai came into action. The artillery was brought up in the afternoon, but by then Halid Bey had taken a position on inaccessible mountains, and since then there has been no contact with him.

Whatever may be true of atrocity stories from other sources, it is certainly a fact that the warfare in Armenia has resulted in the killing of more non-combatants than soldiers, and it is doubtful if there is any other area in the world where the war is so plainly a case of murder.

Corpse Strawn Trails

The Associated Press correspondent has himself seen the corpses of non-combatants, both men and women, strawn along every trail that the Russian army has traversed. On June 4, while climbing a pass at least 10,000 feet above sea level, two remarkably handsome Armenians were seen slatn beside the road, and nearby lay a Kurdish girl, dead from starvation and hardship. In a niche of the rocks of the high mountain pass there was found a destitute baby softly crying beneath a saddle blanket.

At one point a group of thirty Armenian women gathered at the midway halting place of the Russian soldiers on the crest of the pass, and moaned for food and clothes, but there was nothing to spare them, as the soldiers themselves were without bread or fuel to cook their superabundant mutton. They were in a district where even dry weeds failed them for fire-burning purposes, and there were no more villages to destroy for roof timbers. Even the veteran campaigners of the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-8 and of every Russian campaign since then are sickened by the conditions with which they come in daily contact in this devastated land, and especially by the emergence of the brute instincts to kill and destroy.

The roads and sheep paths everywhere are bestrewn with the possessions of the Kurds of Van vilayet and on the mountains and in the valleys there graze countless thousands of their abandoned sheep. Dead horses, broken saddles, harness and torn uniforms testify also to the rapid weakening of the Turkish regulars.

A Bridge of Rugs. One mountain stream was found bridged with rugs and carpets laid on rough timbers from a neighboring village. Another was formed of the bodies of sheep, similarly supported.

The Kurds have borne the brunt of the Turkish retreat, and in addition to the leaving behind of their cattle, they have abandoned their rich carpets and rugs, and so much rough carded wool that in places the wool lies thick enough to pave the muddy roads.

The Russian military students in this camp claim that the present progress of their forces has cast a shade even upon the crossings of the Alps by Hannibal and Napoleon. Almost daily the army has had to cross more than Alpine heights. The best maps have proved unreliable, and there have been no competent native guides. Detachments have gone three or four days at a time without a pound of bread or rye toast, and a general halt was made necessary today by the almost total lack of salt, sugar, bread and barley. The horses have climbed up and down many steep slopes 2,000 feet high on grass alone. The last stretch, a stony waste of many miles, is marked by scores of dead and dying horses. In some places the ground to be traversed was covered with snow hundreds of feet deep. In other places horses had to be led over narrow, melting snow bridges across swirling streams. To slip was to be engulfed and that fate befell three of the Russian soldiers.

Heat Blisters. Frost Freezes. In the sunshine it is blistering and blinding, at night there is frost. Last night fresh snow fell on the heights around the camp. The camel train arrived last night, 24 hours late. The men had to sleep the night before in the open. Scarcely a dozen camp fires of scanty dried stubble blazed long enough to boil tea and those too thinly covered to sleep had to walk in the dark to avoid freezing.

To complete the desperation, the bivouac chanced to be in a place overgrown with poisonous weeds which the starving horses ate greedily. As a result fifty or sixty lightning General No. 1 mounts were dead before morning.

For a week life has been reduced to its elements. Thousands of men think day and night of nothing but the primal animal needs. Warmth, food and rest are paramount here. The Russian soldier and still more the Armenian volunteer, is resourceful. Falling tea, bread, and meat, he fares forth to milk fattailed or Angora sheep. Boots are wearing out and of course, there is no depot. Here, too, the soldiers resort to self help with the aid of a freshly skinned horse hide.

Yet there has been scarcely a word of complaint and the chief regret is that they have been unable to force their enemy to accept a decisive engagement.

American Factories May Yet Decide The European War

The great European war may be decided not on the battlefields in Europe but in the fields and factories in the United States, according to James Middleton writing in the current issue of the World's Work on American trade in war time.

Mr. Middleton reviews statistics to show that our shipments of war munitions during the first year of the war have been insignificant but declares that America is potentially the greatest ammunition factory in the world and that we will soon be sending enormous quantities of fighting material abroad. A part of his article follows:

"I said in the beginning of this article, that the United States had sent little ammunition to Europe. That, however, referred merely to the past. In a few weeks, American shells and other munitions will start in great quantities. The German statesmen and publicists made the mistake of antedating their grievances. Probably by October and November American munitions will play a tremendous part in deciding the issue. The war has revealed this country as the world's greatest potential headquarters of material of warfare. We can manufacture not only more ammunition than any European country, but more than all European countries combined. England, at the present moment, is turning out 400,000 explosive shells a day and France 200,000. Experts say that the United States can turn out 1,800,000 a day without utilizing more than a small part of its resources. Our largest concern, such as the United Steel Corporation, have not entered the business on any appreciable scale. If this corporation should turn its factories into ammunition centers, there would be practically no limit to its products. It has the materials in enormous quantity, it has shops and mills almost without need and it has the necessary reserves of workmen.

Our capacity has the utmost significance in the present situation. According to experts, not the soldiers in the trenches, but the workmen in the factories, are now fighting the war. It is not now a question of turning flanks and enveloping armies; the time for military heroics has passed by. The Allies have a stupendous task—cleaning the Germans out of Belgium and France. The war will probably not be decided until this is done. Military men scout the suggestion that it is an impossible task. Modern engineering can blast its way through mountains of rock; similarly it can blast its way through the human impediments in Belgium and France. And, in all its hideousness, that is the aspect this twentieth century military situation presents. No force, even that of human beings, can withstand the shock of lyddite and melinite. It is only a question of hurling enough of the obstruction. Shrapnel shells, exploding in a fan-like mass of bullets over trenches, produce little more than permanent effect than the sprinkler of toilet powder; they kill men, indeed, but the great defenses, the trenches, are still there, and there are apparently new victims enough to fill the vacant places. But huge charges of high explosives, falling in near the trenches, simply tear them to bits; concrete, earth, and fragments of human beings mingle together in one horrible destruction. If what the Allies can do on an enormous scale what the English did at Neuve Chapelle and the French at Souchez, they can literally blow the Germans across the Rhine. If the Germans can utilize the same methods against the Allies, they can win the war. The issue depends upon which side can use lyddite to the greatest effect. This, in turn, hangs upon which side can get the largest quantities. The countries that send to their armies at the front the largest quantities of explosive shells will probably win this war.

American Supplies

That is wherein American supplies assume a tremendous importance. Germany and Austria depend only upon themselves. They have hoarded up large quantities in anticipation of this war, they have been shooting it off at a prodigious rate in the last eleven months. When they have exhausted these supplies what are their facilities to increase them? They have great manufacturing facilities; how extensively in their access to raw materials, however, is another matter. By occupying Belgium, northern France, and Luxembourg, they have acquired territories rich in metal mines, which will certainly strengthen their resources. But the position of the Allies is stronger. England and France can lay the whole world under tribute. Both countries had small reserves of munitions when the war began. They were not able to get much ready made from other parts of the world. But, so long as they can hold their present position, they can beat time until they have organized a great steady supply. They can draw raw materials from a dozen sources in other countries; they can set factories going all over the world, especially in the United States. With England, France, Russia, and Italy enlisting the world's mining and manufacturing resources, and Germany and Austria dependent upon themselves, the great military superiority of the present time our factories have spent most of their time on shrapnel. The large orders for this munition placed in Canada and the United States evidently represented a great mistake made by the British Government. Probably not much will find its way into France; it will go to Russia, where shrapnel in the open field fighting that is taking place, is highly useful. But the concerns that have been making shrapnel can make explosive shells also; indeed, these are less complicated and easier to make than shrapnel. And when our factories begin shipping, say, 1,000,000 of these shells a day, the situation on the battlefields in Europe may gradually change.

Every Lath A Shell-Maker

The daily newspapers, describing great war orders received by American manufacturers, and the extensions which these same concerns are making to their plants, give some idea of this new American industry. All this has been a revelation. We had believed that the production of ammunition was a specialized industry; that only factories constructed for that purpose could do it. But practically any factory that has a lathe can turn out shells. As America has more such factories than any other country, we can turn out more ammunition. All kinds of shops are now manufacturing shrapnel shells. A list of sub-contractors by the Canadian Gun & Foundry Company in the United States illustrates this point. Many factories of hardware, automobiles, recording and computing machines, drop forges, locomotives, farm implements, bicycles, screws, steel cars, and a dozen other products are now turning their energies to producing shells. In Canada furniture factories are making ammunition; there is even a case of a manufacturer of undertakers' supplies who—most appropriately, it would seem—is turning out lead bullets for shrapnel. Up to the present time our factories have spent most of their time on shrapnel. The large orders for this munition placed in Canada and the United States evidently represented a great mistake made by the British Government. Probably not much will find its way into France; it will go to Russia, where shrapnel in the open field fighting that is taking place, is highly useful. But the concerns that have been making shrapnel can make explosive shells also; indeed, these are less complicated and easier to make than shrapnel. And when our factories begin shipping, say, 1,000,000 of these shells a day, the situation on the battlefields in Europe may gradually change.

ALLIES SEND LETTER TO BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT

Paris, August 11.—The correspondent at Saloniki of the Havas agency telegraphs that diplomatic representatives of France, Russia, Great Britain and Italy have delivered a joint communication to the Bulgarian government with a view to obtaining the collaboration of that nation with the allies as part of a common understanding with the Balkan states. This action was taken in conjunction with the presentation to Greece and Serbia, as recently made known. It is in response to Bulgaria's request on June 17 for information from the quadruple entente powers concerning the advantages she might expect in exchange for her active co-operation with them.

 Baby, by Here's a fly!
 Let us kill him, you and I,
 Ere he crawls
 Up the walls,
 And dire ill befalls:
 I believe on those six legs
 Are a billion typhoid eggs!
 There he goes
 On his toes,
 Ticking baby's nose!
 Now we must run right away
 For the antiseptic spray,
 To sterilize
 Where the fly's
 Little microbes stray!
 Only think, 'neath his two wings
 Lurk all sorts of hard named things!
 Every fly
 Fresh supply
 Of these horrors brings!
 So we have to analyze,
 Neutralize and immunize,
 Vaporize,
 Sterilize,
 Just to fight the flies!

AIR BRAKE INSTRUCTION CAR LEAVES FOR DENISON
 Katy Employees Have Been Receiving Instruction Here at Car For Past Ten Days

A traveling schoolhouse, at which Katy employees are given instruction in the proper handling of the air-brake, signal and steam heat apparatus, has been in this city for over ten days, leaving this morning for Denison. William J. Schubert of Parsons, Kansas, general air-brake inspector of the Katy lines, is the "teacher" in charge of the car.

Similar cars are employed by the large railroad systems to thoroughly instruct trainmen and other employees in the handling of the equipment and it has been found that the results justify the expense which the instruction entails. The men are examined and graded like so many school children. The interior of the car contains air-brake and air signal equipment enough for ten cars, with seats arranged for lectures. Practically all of the road's employees in this city were given instruction while the car was here. Later Mr. Schubert will return and visit points on the Wichita Falls & Northwestern and Wichita & Southern out of this city.

World's Tiniest Republic

SAN MARINO, the smallest republic in the world and the oldest state in Europe, did not have to make formal declaration of war when it entered the great European struggle, for ever since the war of 1868 between Italy and Austria San Marino has been technically at war with the dual monarchy. It really consists of a mountain and three villages and has a population of about 10,000. It is difficult to take a complete roll of the inhabitants because of the fact that many of the men are employed in other parts of Europe. The republic has no railroad, the visitor having to ride four hours in a diligence from Rimini, an Adriatic coast resort city. The area of San Marino is 38 square miles.

The highest point of the republic is Monte Titano, which rises a sheer cliff to more than 2,600 feet above the level and, being a somewhat isolated spur to the east of the Apennines, is easily discernible from far out on the Adriatic and from the highlands of the Austrian border miles to the north. At the time of San Marino's military glory several hundred years ago the cliffs and the strong wall that climbed along their edge to Titano's summit were a defence against crossbows, javelins and catapults.

Upon Monte Titano the people have dwelt ever since there was a San Marino: its three summits crowned by towers are emblazoned on the coat of arms over the gates, and around it have clustered all the traditions and history of the state.

St. Marinus here laid the foundation of the little nation some 1,600 years ago. Addison said that San Marino had a nobler origin than Rome, in that the latter was at first an asylum for robbers and murderers and the former "of persons eminent for piety and devotion."

According to tradition the founder of the state was a Dalmatian stone-cutter named Marinus, who after working for years at Rimini embraced Christianity and withdrew to Monte Titano to escape persecutions under

The New Fall Garments Are Here!

You will find style pre-eminent in our Fall Display of Stylish Garments. Suits and Coats in strict accordance with the latest decree of Fashion in the very newest fabrics, trimmings and colorings.

No less important than STYLE in the garment you select is QUALITY—quality of material and quality of workmanship and fit. A guarantee of satisfactory wear goes with every garment, and to the maker's guarantee we add our own assurance of satisfaction.

In selecting a garment every woman looks for PRICE commensurate with quality. This season we show values even more remarkably good than ever, and are sure you will find individual taste, at the price you wish to pay.

To the lover of the beautiful in dress, to the seeker of the "chic" and original, to the shrewd buyer—to all these, we say come here.

We shall be glad to have you visit our show room while the stock is new and complete. It is a pleasure for us to show these garments, as we know they will meet with your admiration, whether you wish to purchase or not.

the road runs across vast tracts of luxurious grazing land, broken here and there by lines of low, timber-covered hills. Buildings and other evidences of development are few and far between, compared with the extent of the country, and one is impressed with the fact that there is ample room there for thousands of home-seeking immigrants from the congested districts of Europe, who would find an agreeable climate and soil fertile and extensive enough to feed not only themselves but many of the other inhabitants of the world.

Timber is so plentiful in the Paraguayan country that the railways use it for fuel. At every railway station are huge logs and squared timbers ready for shipment. On the hillsides where clearings have been made, as well as in the bottom lands, besides the rich grass, the corn, the alfalfa, and the tobacco, healthy sugar-cane is seen.

Arriving at Asuncion at 8 p. m. Sunday, the train runs into a large terminal station which, though modern in appearance, is said to be the first railway station built in South America. A British engineer constructed it about fifty years ago, and the girders and other parts of the framework, which at a hasty glance one would say are iron, are in fact wood that is as sound today as when the building was erected.

Asuncion is an important port for river movements. The larger vessels from the River Plate bring their cargoes to Asuncion, whence merchandise is taken overland or transhipped in smaller boats for points farther up the river. Although it is a river port, over a thousand miles from the seacoast, the size and number of large vessels at the dock, or at anchor awaiting their turn to go to the docks, and the many smaller craft, as well as the large and commodious harbor, give it much the appearance of a seaport.

Enclosed by Big Rivers. The Republic of Paraguay is almost completely surrounded by water, being bounded on nearly all sides farther north, as well as the place from which the principal highways and trails into the interior diverge, it is a center of commercial activity. It is the terminus of the railway from the south. It has four banks, numerous industrial plants, including saw-mills, ship repair and building yards, soap and candle factories, shoe and cigar-making establishments, two breweries, and many pretentious wholesale and retail mercantile houses.

Most of the larger cities and towns of the country are located either on the Central Paraguayan railway or on the Paraguay river. The most important of these is Encarnacion, at the southern boundary of the republic, where the railway trains are ferried across from Argentina. It has about 16,000 inhabitants. The principal industries of the district are grazing, timber-cutting and the preparation of yerba mate. Encarnacion is a port of entry and is the distributing point for the southern portion of Paraguay.

The town of Paraguay, north of Encarnacion of the railway, has a population of about 11,000, and is located in a rich cattle and timber country. It has a population of 14,000 inhabitants, a short distance from Asuncion, is in a district from which tobacco and miscellaneous agricultural products and alcohol come. The other places along the railway range in size from shipping points for large estates to small communities more or less interested in grazing, agriculture and timber cutting.

On the Paraguay river from south to north among the places of importance may be mentioned Pilar, with about 7,000 inhabitants. North of Asuncion is Villa Hayes, with a population, including that of the adjacent country, of 20,000. It is on the west side of the river in what is known as the Gran Chaco country. The principal industries are grazing and agriculture, including a cane-sugar mill and a distillery. Farther north on the river is another cattle district in Concepcion, having about 15,000 inhabitants.

With peaches at 25 cents a bushel and with a fruit jar factory running day and night, there doesn't seem to be any good reason why peach preserves shouldn't be a staple dish in Wichita Falls next winter.

A Socialist visitor in Wichita Falls predicts that Governor Ferguson will be defeated for re-election by a Socialist. But then it costs nothing to predict.

Get somebody to start a poker game in the next room to keep you awake, hire a assy negro to wait on you at table, pay your wife five dollars a day bonus, and, with the climate we're having now, you can enjoy all the discomforts of a summer resort hotel and avoid lots of the trouble and expense.

Many cities, both larger and smaller than Wichita Falls, are rapidly discarding street sweeping and substituting for it street flushing. It requires an immense amount of water to flush the streets, but in some few instances, where the cities own their water plants, it has been found not only better but more economical to flush the streets with water than to sweep them, and then cart the dirt away.

If any tax-payer is really anxious to find exactly why the state tax rate continues to go higher and higher each year, let him get a complete list of the state office holders and the pay they are drawing and then compare the list with that of the two administration of Hogz, Culbertson or Campbell. It will not be a difficult job for him to determine definitely why it is necessary to raise the state tax rate each year. Politicians have to be rewarded, and when there are not offices sufficient to get them on the pay roll, laws must be enacted to create more offices and more jobs. Unless this is done there would be too many peasant politicians without anything to do but work for a living.

There is said to be a strong sentiment in favor of calling for local option elections in the counties of Wilbarger, Clay and Archer. At the present time all these counties are in the "dry" column, but there are those who believe that if the saloons were voted back a great deal of money that now goes to "wet" counties for booze could be kept at home in the event saloons were voted back. They are viewing the matter deliberately from a financial viewpoint. As to how strong this sentiment is growing or has grown can of course be determined only in the event that such elections are called and a vote taken on the matter.

It may be a long time before property owners on Scott, Lamar and the cross streets have such another opportunity to pave as is afforded them at the present, and it is to be hoped that wherever petitions are started they will be signed. Seventh and Eighth streets should be paved several blocks further; Ninth street ought to be paved at least to Broad; Lamar street, paved from Sixth to Seventh streets, as is proposed, would make one of the most beautiful residence thoroughfares in the State. The paving of these sections is certainly as much to be desired as is the paving of Tenth street. In Floral Heights, yet the owners of property in the latter section are practically a unit in asking for this improvement. Freedom from dust, independence of the weather, better sanitary conditions, increased comfort—these are but a few of the benefits that are to be derived. Let the good work go on.

The English press is still talking about the 3,000,000 men which are to be put in the field. A few of those three million would have been used to good advantage at Warsaw.—Lawton News.

Perhaps Great Britain thinks she needs to keep that 3,000,000 men on the tight little island for home defense, and from all indications, if that is her purpose, the good judgment she is exercising is to be commended. The 3,000,000 men will be needed.

has improved greatly and that he is now apparently in good health. The only thing which might have stood in the way of Mr. Culbertson's return to the senate was his health. That obstacle removed, and his announcement, that he wishes to succeed himself, are all that is necessary to make his election. Texas has never had an able, more distinguished representative in the United States senate than Mr. Culbertson. Few States, indeed, have sent men of such marked ability as he to Washington. Texans realize this, and Texas democrats will rejoice at the prospect of his continuing to serve the State in the national senate—for, of course, his announcement will be tantamount to an election.—Brownsville Herald.

Much as it admires Charlie Culbertson, the Republic can not fully share the Herald's optimism concerning the certainty of his election. He is a splendid and deservedly popular gentleman, and if he is really in the race, he will make a good run. But with Brooks and Henry and Calhoun and Burgess against him, besides the more negligible factors, such as Riddle and Davis, with a possibility of additional entries, none short of a seer can foretell the result. Even the expert star reader of the Republic, who seldom fails to read events of the future correctly, is in doubt. The Republic believes, however, that the man who beats Charlie Culbertson will not be far from the lead in the race.

DRAWING A PARALLEL.

(From the Macon Telegraph.) To those who so confidently see victory ahead for the Germans because of their early successes, such friends as Herr Von Holtz, whose communication of recent date was interesting if not convincing, might be cited the first two years of the Confederacy—then the last two years.

Even the tremendous German successes of the first year, their speedy overwhelming of Belgium, the occupation of Northern France and the certain fall of Warsaw, do not yet quite come up to the early Confederate successes. It must be remembered, that Confederate veterans pointed out the other day, that Lee went to Gettysburg—right into the very heart of the Union; that everywhere the Stars and Bars seemed a certain pennon of victory. The brilliance and successes of their early campaigns struck a cold and chilling fear to the heart of the North, and astounded a world. And yet they didn't win.

The reason the South was doomed to defeat from the start even though the Southern people the first two years, as Germany now, considered their successes sufficient to give them the right and power of peace-terms if peace had been broached, was that against it was time, money—and men. Men, ever men! After Gettysburg when a Southerner fell by a Northern bullet there was only a boy or elderly man to take his place. Soon there was nobody. But with the foe to the very last, until the surrender of Lee's ragged legions at Appomattox, the Union had two men, fresh and ready to leap to the gap in their ranks, where one man fell.

The South had only one chance. It lay across Harper's Ferry. The blow that would have washed Washington was not struck. The Germans had their one chance to wrest as quickly a tactical victory. It lay in at once striking through Ypres for Calais and Dunkirk, which would have been easy for Von Kluck. But that blow was not struck; instead the invader drove for Paris and on the Marne he found his Gettysburg.

Subsequent developments, with more or less important variations, will carry out the parallel. Further astounding military successes may come to the Germans, but even now every man he loses is irreparable. The Landstrum, the last reserve, the middle aged men, has been mustered in since early spring. Every man who dies in the ranks now must be replaced by a man of inferior fighting caliber physically. The allies have yet fresh troops, and yet again fresh troops, to take the places of the men who have been killed. Even England, our venerable contributor of a couple of columns to the right to the contrary notwithstanding, has more soldiers by several army corps than her forty-mile sector of the line demands even with constantly changing reliefs—men who have not yet seen the battle line, with more raising at home, and millions yet to be raised if necessary.

It is simply a question of men and money, men and money. The North had both in inexhaustible quantities, the South had not. The South lost in the end, it was inevitable. That allies have men and money in inexhaustible quantities, the German allies have not. The German allies will lose in the end, it is inevitable.

A LITTLE FUN—SELECTED.

At the Way. Howard: That beautiful young priest preached a mighty deep sermon. Could you follow him? Miss Prettygirl: To the end of the earth.

In the Sunday School. "Yes, dear children, our poor street-sweeper is dead, and he is leaving. Can any little boy tell me what he is doing there?" "I can teacher. He's a skyscraper."

Going to An Expert. When the butler answered the telephone the shrill voice of a little girl greeted him: "Hello, is that Mr. Wilson?" "Yes, Bessie," he answered kindly, "what can I do for you?" "Oh, Mr. Wilson, please tell me where Grandpa's liver is! The folks are out and I've got to put a hot flannel on it and I don't know where it is."

When We Would All be Missionaries. A well known agnostic was present at one of Henry Ward Beecher's lectures, and after the address the man presented one of his daughters—a beautiful girl—to Mr. Beecher, saying, "Mr. Beecher, here is a girl who, according to your ideas, is a heathen." "Well, my dear," said Mr. Beecher, "if all heathens were as pretty as you are we would all become missionaries."

Not What It Looked Like. It was a hot day and the fat drummer who wanted the 12:20 train got out through the gate at just 12:21. The ensuing handicap was watched with absorbing interest both from the train and the station platform. At its conclusion the breathless and perspiring man wearily took his way back and a vacant-faced "porter" came out to relieve him of his grip. "Mister," he inquired, "was you tryin' to catch that Pennsylvania train?" "No, my son," replied the patient man. "I was only chasing it out of the yard."

How Cleveland Won. President Cleveland, while talking to a friend about one of his many arduous expeditions, told the following story: "It is remarkable," said the president, "how mean some people are. I had with me on that particular trip two countrymen who were evidently familiar with my reputation as an angler. Before starting one of them made the following suggestion: 'Mr. President, he said 'we will agree that the first one who catches a fish must treat the crowd.'"

IS IT NOT REALLY SO? (Dallas Dispatch) The outcry by certain elements is not an outcry against furnishing the allies war supplies, but really a protest against any American trade whatsoever with the allies.

So changed and scientific is present day warfare that it would be difficult to pick out a cargo for Europe that would not be, in effect, contraband, under any reasonable definition of what is said to be a belligerent. What is there that we could sell to England, France, Russia or Italy, that would not at once be put into some shape or other for "slaughter of Germans" or their allies? Not cotton, not oil, nor any of our metals, nor many of our chemicals, nor machinery, not even grain and meat, for it is in high degree "starvation war" over there, and to draw a line between feeding and arming a fighter is mere splitting of hairs.

DIPLOMATS IN SESSION ON PAN-AMERICAN NOTE TO FACTIONS IN MEXICO Will Appeal to All Mexicans to Subordinate Personal and Selfish Interest to the National Welfare of Mexico.

Associated Press. New York, Aug. 11.—Diplomatic representatives of Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Guatemala and Uruguay and Secretary Lansing met here today to act together in a plan which has for its aim the restoration of peace in Mexico. An appeal to Mexicans of all factions to subordinate personal and selfish interests to the national welfare of Mexico has been prepared.

Both President Wilson and Secretary Lansing have given their approval. The conferees were confident that when the appeal was made public the misconception of their purposes which evidently had spread in some parts of Mexico would be removed.

Appeal Will be Polite. The appeal will be brief, politely phrased and transmitted in Spanish as originally written by one of the diplomatic governments, to be held by the several governments whose ambassadors and Ministers along with the Secretary of State sign it, have no purpose to interfere in the strictly internal affairs of Mexico, to impair society or to show preference for one leader against another. It will be an eloquent petition that the Mexican leaders participate in or send delegates to a convention or conference to be held on neutral ground in Mexico for the purpose of settling a Provisional government that can be accorded moral support and formal recognition by all the American states.

No threat or intimidation of what will be the course of the several American countries is given if the suggestions made are declined, all considerations being for the time subordinate to the primary purpose, a definite appeal to the patriotism of all Mexicans to re-examine the interests of the nation before the world and show whether in deed its leaders seek personal aggrandizement or the true welfare of their country.

All Possibilities Considered. While the appeal that is to go forth will not specify the exact course that is to be followed, the conferees have taken into consideration all the possibilities of the situation. If any faction of group fails to attend the peace conference those leaders or delegates who do will be expected to proceed with the task of setting up a government that can be recognized. With this recognition an embargo on arms against all other contending groups and such moral support given to the new government as would enable it to equip a force large enough to crush armed opposition.

The attitude of the conferees is that their government need not exert any pressure, but will continue to stand as

THREE WICHITANS CHARGED ILLEGAL SALE OF LIQUOR

Defendants Connected With Wholesale House Alleged to Have Sold Liquor in Indian Territory

Three Wichitans connected with a wholesale liquor house have been charged with selling liquor in the old Indian Territory and will go to Fort Worth to make bond for their appearance before the federal grand jury. The complaints were filed in the federal court and Deputy United States Marshal Honea notified the sheriff's department today that the bond in each case would be $1000.

The shipping of liquor into the old eastern part of Oklahoma, is forbidden by federal statute, independent of state laws and interstate liquor regulations. The nature of the charges against the Wichitans has not been ascertained.

RURAL SURVEY OF TRAVIS COUNTY TO BE UNDERTAKEN

University Station, Aug. 11.—A rural survey of Travis county will be begun the first of October by several departments of the University of Texas working co-operatively. The survey will be under the general direction of L. H. Haney, professor of economics, while the school of domestic economy and the division of public welfare of the extension department will actively assist in the work. It is the purpose of the survey to get accurate and systematic data concerning actual conditions in a typical rural district of Texas. Travis county was chosen on account of its proximity to the University and the consequent convenience of the investigators. Such subjects as religion, social life, home conveniences, waste disposal, sanitation, income and expenditures, etc., will be treated. The bulk of the money necessary to make this survey has been provided by a public spirited citizen who desires that his name be withheld from publication. The investigators will travel in groups, so that the information desired by the various departments of the survey can be gathered at one visit to a particular place.

MAY RESTORE THE USE OF BAT IN THE PENITENTIARY

Investigating Committee Said to Favor More Severe Punishment for State Convicts.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 11.—Resumption of the use of the bat or at least some change in the present plan of punishing prisoners may be recommended in the report of the state penitentiary investigating committee appointed by the senate of the Thirty-fourth legislature. For weeks the members of the committee have been making a careful and systematic investigation of the state penal institutions and wards.

It is the finding of some members of the committee at least that more efficiency could be attained by adopting less humane methods and using such steps as may be necessary to punish at least those who refuse to work or do the bidding of the prison management. Special instances will be cited of certain convicts who have absolutely refused to do any work and who have been punished by confinement. The prisoners, according to one member of the committee, are well aware of the fact that they are not going to be allowed to starve to death and if they are really lazy they ask nothing more than confinement and the right to stay away from work of any kind.

Claim Advantages Taken. The committee reports will also show that, although the prison commissioners have a right to punish the prisoners now, nothing of this kind has been attempted by corporal punishment, with the result that advantage has been taken by prisoners in numerous instances. Such refusals, together with hours of labor for those on the farms, that are certainly more inviting than the hours of average farmers, tend to make prison farms anything but a paying proposition.

It is said the former era commended by the excessive use of the bat has reached the opposite point, where no punishment at all is meted out, even though some is very necessary at times. The prisoners were found to be well treated, well fed and clothed and housed above the average of many thousands of workers of the state in industrial and agricultural occupations.

Since individual reports will be written by the members of the committee, five in number, it is known that some very pertinent recommendations will be made. These individual reports will be taken up and a general report will be formulated from the individual reports.

The members of the committee appointed by the senate are Chairman James Harley of Seguin, Senators H. P. Brelsford of Eastland county, John Bailey of DeWitt county, W. C. Morrow of Hill county and Stephen King of Noxodoches.

The fire department early today responded to an alarm from the Moore-Bateman building, but found no evidence of any fire there.

Officers are today looking for two boys who have disappeared from their homes, but up to early this afternoon neither had been located. One of the missing youths is named Pinkston, whose parents reside in Fairview Heights. The boy has not been seen since he left home to go to the pasture after the cows, and he is reported to have caught a Wichita Valley freight train. Young Pinkston is about twelve years old.

Dr. Miller's Auto Found In A Garage At Alvord, Texas

The automobile of Dr. R. L. Miller which was stolen from in front of a downtown drug store nearly a week ago, has been located in a garage at Alvord, Texas, and will be brought back here shortly. A traveling man who had heard of the theft, recognized the car and at once communicated with Dr. Miller.

EXAMINATION FOR RURAL CARRIER IS ANNOUNCED

The United States civil service commission has announced an examination for the county of Wichita to be held at Electra and Wichita Falls to fill the position of rural carrier at Electra on September 25, 1915 and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

RAIN REPORTED AT SOUTH TEXAS POINTS

The Western Union's weather bulletin this morning reported good rains at Columbus, San Antonio, Beaumont, Baredo and Jacksonville. Rain was falling this morning at Galveston. Partly cloudy weather was reported at Eastland, Longview, Huntsville, Lufkin, Corpus Christi and Alice. Oklahoma was reported generally clear with no rain reported. Pine Bluff, Arkansas, was cloudy while Fort Smith was clear.

WOMAN OCCUPIED RAILROAD LAND FOR 40 YEARS

By Associated Press. Aug. 11.—Jane Frasier, 93, who for more than forty years held a tract of Houston & Texas Central land by the limitation statute, preventing the railroad from building on the property, died last night. It is reported the railroad already plans to lay tracks there as the little strip of land occupied by the woman interfered with the original plans to lay out yards which now extend on all sides of the little shack where she lived.

A telegram from Rochester, Minn., received this morning reports that Mrs. F. P. St. Clair was operated upon at Mayo Brothers hospital yesterday for the removal of a gallstone. The operation is reported to have been a successful one.

UNION LABOR PLANNING LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Two Days Program Will be Provided For Entertainment of Visitors Sept. 6 and 7

The various labor organizations, through the Trades & Labor Council, plan one of the most extensive celebrations on Sept. 6th and 7th that has ever been held in the city of Wichita Falls. This action was agreed upon at a meeting of that organization held Monday night, when committees were appointed to arrange for the celebration, included in the list of committees was one on arrangement, consisting of J. A. Wray, chairman, C. W. Johnson and F. H. Dennison, also one on publicity, including C. D. Willard, A. Burton and R. S. Dunaway, and another on program as follows: E. Von Der Lippe, H. B. Hayes and W. A. Bryson.

These committees are already at work outlining the program for the celebration and it is expected that in a short time an announcement of attractions will be given that will surpass anything heretofore presented for the entertainment of the people of this section of the country. As planned, a big parade will be held on the morning of September 6th, after which there will be attractions in the city in the way of farm exhibits, foot races, baby shows, etc., and in the afternoon after 4 o'clock a program will be presented at Lake Wichita, which will probably include a dance, bathing, motor boat-riding and other amusements for the entertainment of all the visitors to the city.

Further announcement will be made from time to time, including the program for the second day, which promises to be the most interesting and entertaining of the celebration.

It is understood that excursion rates will be given on the different railroads leading into the city, and that such rates will be good for the two days' celebration.

J. A. Wray has been appointed chairman of the arrangement committee, who will have active charge of the preparations for the celebration and will devote his entire time in the meantime to the success of the occasion.

Mr. Nelson said last night that he was hopeful of securing a respite of thirty or forty days to settle the question of sanity and that it was possible a commutation to life imprisonment might result.

ARCHER COUNTY WILL DO WHAT'S RIGHT IN MATTER

Archer county's co-operation in the building of a bridge across the spillway and the improvement of roads leading thereto, was promised today by Judge S. H. Melugin, county judge of Archer county, who appeared before the commissioners' court. Sheriff John Turberville of Archer City was also here.

Judge Melugin was surprised to learn that part of the spillway was in Archer county, having understood that the structure was entirely within Wichita county. He said Archer county would certainly "do what was right about it." There is some talk of putting a concrete crossing at the spillway instead of a bridge, but such a crossing could not be used in flood times. The commissioners are expected to take definite action at their present session.

At Tuesday afternoon's session the court decided not to sell fifteen bales of cotton raised on the county farm last season. The commissioners believe that a much better price can be obtained by holding the staple.

New York Cotton Futures

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 11.—Uncertainty as to whether the drought conditions in the southwest have been fully relieved and easier cables caused some scattered covering in the cotton market here today. The opening was unchanged to 2 points higher. General business was quiet during the afternoon but there was further scattered covering at prices worked from 15 to 18 points net higher. Cotton closed Oct., $9.45; Dec., $9.75; Jan., $9.85; March, $10.11; and May, $10.25.

AMERICANS CONVICTED ON CHARGES OF COUNTERFEITING

By Associated Press. Laredo, Texas, Aug. 11.—Passengers arriving from Tampico today reported that four American residents there have been sentenced to long terms in the penitentiary charged with counterfeiting. It was reported that these Americans had been placed aboard the Mexican gunboat Bravo and would be sent to Vera Cruz.

PRIME OF AMERICAN BREWERS ON STAND WEDNESDAY

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Aug. 11.—H. Prine of the American Brewing Association continued on the stand Wednesday on the brewery case. He was questioned about the agreement of Texas brewers not to furnish the saloonkeepers with fixtures. The state claimed this agreement was in restraint of trade as it discouraged competition.

EVEN SOLDIERS HAVE TO PAY CHURCH TAX IN GERMANY

Berlin.—Fighting for the Fatherland does not exempt one from paying the universal church tax, according to a ruling by the highest authorities who have been deliberating on countless appeals for an opinion on this question.

The "chief church council" of the evangelical church decides that a man does not sever his connection with his church by going to the front and that if he worships at a field church he does so free of charge, so that his responsibility to his regular congregation does not cease financially at least.

Only a minor proportion of Germans are members of a church or attend services of any character (because of the tax it has been claimed) but they are nevertheless not immune unless they can prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that they hold no religion whatsoever or have no religious connections—such as a wife who attends church, or such as having been married by a minister. The great bulk of the soldiers at the front thus are affected by the ruling.

Ninety degrees has been the maximum temperature for this city since the rain of Sunday night, while the nights have seen the thermometer drop as low as sixty. The change is more than welcome after the decided hot weather of last week.

At The Theaters

The Lamar Airplane

"The Orpheum Circuit Favorite." Maleta Bonconi will close her three days engagement at the Airplane tonight. The violinist is an artist in every sense of the word and never fails to draw the attention of the audience. Her repertoire is in the main classical but possesses a pleasing variety. Her instrument is a Daconet and she handles it in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired and her rendition of Dvorak's "Humoresque" is perhaps her best attraction. The other act on the bill, Dero and Dayton, have a good novelty offering. Tonight's picture program includes "The Trail of the Upper Yukon," a two act drama, and a comedy reel, "The Nightmare of a Movie Fan."

The Majestic

The opening chapter of "The Diamond from the Sky," a serial which will be followed by Wichita fans with more than usual interest will be shown here today. Irving Cummings and Lottie Pickford take the stellar roles. In addition to this feature the program includes a two part Lubin, "From Champion to Tramp" with Romaine Fielding in the leading part, also a comedy cartoon, "In the Swim."

The Empress

Stewart Baird and Irene Howley are featured in "The Moth and the Flame," a Famous Players production directed by Sidney Olcott today's feature picture at the Empress.

The picture of the tense and emotional drama, "The Moth and the Flame," by Clyde Fitch, presents with all the realism of life itself the dominant elements of that great stage success. The poor little moth is blinded by the flame, until she cannot see the fatal peril threatening her. Just on the verge of her great error, her vision returns, and with the resultant extinguishment of the flame, the moth sees her danger, and in a desperate scorching in heart, but with her soul rescued from the devouring fire.

The Gem

Thomas Santschi, Lafayette McKee and Harold Howard are featured in "How Callahan Cleaned up Little Hell." Getting in bad with the "boss" of his ward Captain Callahan is assigned to "Little Hell," an unlawful city district.

With Captain Callahan takes charge of Little Hell, the papers predict a clean-up of the district, and Jim O'Neil, boss of Little Hell, becomes anxious. With Captain Callahan's assumption of authority in Little Hell, the work of reformation begins, and Boss O'Neil arrives at the conclusion that Callahan is disgruntled because no graft has been offered him. Jake Stahl, chief henchman of the boss, is arrested for conducting a disorderly resort. Boss O'Neil and a brewery agent interfere for Stahl; but Callahan remains firm. O'Neil hurls a threat at the captain as he flies out of the room. Mary, daughter of Captain Callahan, undergoes a difficult and expensive operation. The bill for professional services rendered amounts to $300.00. Added to this expense, there comes a letter from mortgage brokers informing Callahan that the interest and part of the principal of the mortgage on his little home, amounting to $699.54, is due and payable at once. Callahan is worried because he has no funds to meet all of these expenses. The letter from the mortgage brokers was instigated by Boss O'Neil. O'Neil calls at the Callahan home and leaves a package of bank notes. Callahan tells his wife: "If I keep this money, I shall belong to O'Neil body and soul; but the home is yours as well as mine. What shall I do?" Mrs. Callahan tells her husband to return the money.

News of Callahan's financial difficulties have caused his old comrades on the police force to get busy, and raise the funds to lift the mortgage, much to the chagrin of Boss O'Neil, who tells Gourley, another henchman, that it is worth a thousand dollars to him to put Callahan out of the way. Gourley indicates his willingness to do the job, and is given half of the money

RESERVIST AT HOME

SEES A CHANGE IN PARIS

Change in City and Its Life No Less Than the Change in Reservist Himself

Paris, Aug. 11.—The reservist home for the first time after a year at the front realizes less the change in himself than the transformation of his Paris. He has acquired his new color gradually and has built up his hitherto unknown muscles almost imperceptibly. The blasé Parisian, who left for the front soft and pallid, with stooping shoulders and spiritless eye, indifferently interested in life, comes back not only strengthened but brightened; his mind has been reopened to impressions. The little revolutions that have transformed Paris gradually, break upon him all at once; he is more like a tourist visiting the French capital for the first time than a man who knows, or knew, his boulevards by heart. It is a curious spectacle to see the reservists swarming into the court of the Gare du Nord like children full of plein enthusiasm. They seem to discover something new everywhere; first of all it is the civilian that gets their curious attention. There is first the surprise of the man from the trenches that so many men were left at home; then there is unconcealed amusement at the gravity with which the less reassured of the non-combatants read the official communiques and calculate the chances of being safe in Paris another winter. The absence of motor buses, the reduced number of automobiles and decreased facilities for transportation inspire all sorts of quips and jokes at the "civils"; as for himself the reservist has increased his stock of resourcefulness. A year ago he would have fumed when unable to find a cab; today he trots off to the subway, satisfied and amused to think that the "civils" must be devilishly annoyed. When he sits down on the terrace of a cafe he amuses himself by ordering prohibition drinks and poking fun at the old boulevardier at his side who takes his substitute for absinthe with a grimace. Having lost the habit of a soft bed until 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning, he has discovered a new Paris—the Paris of the early hours—that goes cityward from 7 o'clock on and is rarely seen at its best by those who find it only when submerged by the bustle of the later hours. The ordinary "sewing woman," with pricked and stained finger-ends, comes first: A little later the smart class of milliners models and seamstresses, the shop-girls, stenographers, terminating with the mannequins and foreladies, the aristocracy of the great fur cloak and dress-making establishments. War has reduced the number of leveled conditions; the procession is still charming, but with few features. It is a long line of white and black skirt and little jacket with white collarette. This "little world that files past in the early hours, is witness of the tribute Paris has paid to the "patrie." Conversations vary little. One has a letter, another is anxious because she hasn't one. There is black talk with bitterness, without a sign of revolt against what they endure. Formerly most of them en route devoured stories published by the morning papers. Now they are plunged into the official communiques from the different belligerent countries, which they comment with quite as much perspicacity as the bald-headed gentleman who later why the day we are not killed as in the old days until the present closing hour of half-past-ten. "That," the "civil" tells him, "is something in the nature of acclimatization,—like life at the front." He has acquired the 3 o'clock habit and this habit has become as strong as the old two o'clock in the morning habit.

WESTGARD'S MAP SHOWS COUNTRY'S HIGHWAYS

A. L. Westgard, Vice President and Director Transcontinental Highways of the National Highways Association, whose work in behalf of the motor touring and good roads development has taken him into every nook and corner of United States, and made him known all over the country as "The Man of Many Miles," has prepared a map of the United States, showing the main traveled motor routes with special emphasis given to the transcontinental and other long distance highways. The map is 29x18 inches, engraved on wax, and is for free distribution to motorists in any part of the country. It may be procured from automobile clubs or of National Highways Association, Washington, D. C., or by addressing Mr. A. L. Westgard at National headquarters, 18 Old Slip, New York for four cents in stamps to cover cost of mailing. It is enclosed with the request. With the Westgard map goes a map of the 50,000 miles of National Highways advocated by the National Highways Association, together with an explanation of the Four Fold System of Highways also advocated by the association, namely, National Highways—State Highways—County and Town or Township Roads.

BIGGEST SHIPMENT OF GOLD EVER MADE COMES TO NEW YORK

SENT OVER IN A WARSHIP

Largest Shipment of Gold Ever Sent Across Atlantic Was For Purpose of Upholding Credit and Improve Exchange Situation

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 11.—A special train carrying $52,000,000 worth of gold and securities which were shipped by the Bank of England and London by way of Halifax arrived here today. The train was composed of several steel cars and was guarded by forty armed men. Of the total shipment, $35,000,000 was believed to be in the form of American double eagles. The weight of the gold shipment was about seventy-five tons.

It was said to be the largest shipment of gold ever sent across the Atlantic in one vessel. It was brought over in a British warship which was conveyed through the war zone by a cruiser and a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers to guard against an attack by German submarines. The cost of transferring it from London to New York was estimated to have been $250,000. It was said the British battleship brought not only the $52,000,000 in gold and securities for New York but also a shipment of gold for Canada whose treasury recently sent gold amounting to $135,000,000 to New York.

Elaborate precautions were taken in sending this great shipment of gold to prevent the German secret service from discovering the plan or route of forwarding. At Halifax it was delivered into the custody of the American Express Company. The route over which the train proceeded from Bangor, Maine to New York was kept secret.

Robert M. Cowie, vice president and general manager of the American Express Company said that the train was the greatest risk ever taken by an express company. Eight policemen were sent to meet the train here and guard the gold until it was delivered to the sub-treasurer, J. P. Morgan & Company of this city were the consignees.

The purpose of the transfer of the gold was understood to be to improve the British credit here and to improve the exchange situation as the British pound system has deteriorated of late. The securities are understood to be American bonds to be used as the basis for further advances to the British government.

COMPLETE PURCHASES FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS

Austin, August 11.—Through the state purchasing department the state of Texas has just completed the purchase of about two million dollars worth of supplies for state institutions. Delivery is to begin on September 1st. State Purchasing Agent, Leavy has been awarding contracts for several weeks. Because of war conditions cotton goods were bought at twenty per cent less than in former years. Meat also was slightly cheaper. Hardware and certain metal goods however were ten to fifteen per cent higher. Heretofore the state purchasing agent has bought supplies for only thirteen eleemosynary institutions but the last legislature included in his list the state educational institutions for certain articles such as furniture and fixtures. Texas made goods were given preference when other considerations were equal, Mr. Leavy said.

ADVANCES ALLOWED IN SOME RATES ON WESTERN ROADS

I. C. C. ANNOUNCES RULING IN WESTERN FREIGHT RATE CASES ALLOWING SOME ADVANCES OTHERS DENIED.

EVERY RAILROAD AFFECTED

Advances Allowed on Coal, Coke, Fruit and Vegetables; and Declined in Cases of Grain, Livestock and Packing House Products.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Aug. 11.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today gave its decision in the western freight rate case, allowing advances in bituminous coal, coke, fruit and vegetables and denying increases in grain, livestock, packing house products, fertilizers and broom corn.

The decision allows some of the increase in the rates on the Mississippi and in the Southwest. Indirectly however, it affects every railway in the United States and the commission today served notice of its action upon twenty-three thousand great and small lines.

The decision denies all the more important increases. The advances granted are in the viewpoint of the commission of relatively little significance. Commissioners Daniels in a dissenting opinion held the roads were entitled to increases "far in excess" of those granted in today's decision. He held there was no question as to the facts in the financial affairs of the Rock Island and Frisco systems and the Alton which he referred to as having been "wrecked and plundered," but he held the rate increases were justified on their own merit.

FRENCH PROTEST AGAINST REPRISALS ON ALLIED PRISONERS IN GERMANY

President of Red Cross Appeals To International Committee Against Alleged Violations of Humanitarian Laws By Germans

By Associated Press.

Paris, Aug. 11.—The Marquis De Vogue, president of the central committee of the French Red Cross, has sent a formal protest to Gustavo Ador, president of the International Red Cross committee at Geneva, against alleged measures of reprisal taken by the German government against the French prisoners of war in retaliation for alleged mistreatment of German prisoners. This protest dated August 4th, is based on a report by Baron Dantouard, the plenipotentiary accredited by the French government, to represent the French Red Cross at prison camps. The Baron states that a thousand French prisoners have been taken from camps at Erfurt, Odruff, Dalsstadt, Friedrichsfeld, Munster and Merseburg and sent to the Hanoverian swamps, "a region of notorious unhealthfulness, there to be employed in draining and clearing land. For most of these men, unaccustomed to such work, this is physical and mental torture and killing fatigue in the misery of imprisoned quarters. The barbarous penalty is cold-bloodedly inflicted on innocence with the undiluted purpose to terrorize their families and exercise through them moral pressure on French public opinion and government."

To prove that these reprisals are without cause De Vogue cites a report by a Swiss colonel, Marvel-deputé by the Red Cross to examine the French prison camps. Marvel says, "Labor condition surrounding prisoners in both Morocco and France are normal and in conformity with humanitarian laws." De Vogue says further that the only German prisoners ever interned in Dahomey were those captured in Togoland, Kamerun, where the climate is similar to that in Dahomey. All these prisoners, he said have been transferred to Morocco.

Many French families lately have received from relatives imprisoned in Germany postcards identically worded relating the sufferings of comrades who had been removed to reprisal camps. These cards, it is thought here, are the result of an organized effort in Germany to obtain greater privileges for German prisoners in France. Public opinion has been deeply moved also by stories of disabled prisoners recently returned.

Allied Troops Resume Offensive At Southern End of Gallipoli Peninsula and North of Gaba Pete With Strong Forces

By Associated Press.

London, Aug. 11.—Recognition of imperative importance to the Allies of forcing the Dardanelles as the shortest road to relieving Russian reverses and regaining the initiative, now in the hands of Germany, is demonstrated amply by the sudden landing of the British forces in the vicinity of Karaschall and resumption of the offensive both at the southern end of Gallipoli peninsula and north of Gaba Pete. The Australians and New Zealanders recently have been strengthening their positions at the latter place. Coming at this time when there is so much discussion whether Germany will attempt to crush Serbia preparatory to linking forces with Turkey by way of Bulgaria these developments at the Dardanelles assume a special importance. As yet there is no proof that the Germans have withdrawn or are preparing to withdraw any considerable forces. Their vigilance in any of the sections of battle line now occupied has not been relaxed and the positions of the Russians are still perilous.

UNDERSTANDS GRAVITY OF COTTON SITUATION

President Wilson Wires Congressman Summers of Desire to Serve Cotton Interests

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 11.—"I think I understand the gravity and importance of the cotton situation, and you may depend upon it I shall handle it with the sincere desire to serve the interests of the cotton States in every way that it is possible to serve them. I wish that I could alter the circumstances of the war which are so seriously affecting our national life."

"WOODROW WILSON." The foregoing letter was received yesterday from President Wilson by the Hon. Hutton W. Summers of Dallas, congressman from the fifth district. It was in answer to a telegram from Mr. Summers explaining the cotton situation as he understands it. Mr. Wilson acknowledged receipt of the telegram and stated that he read it with close attention. The letter was written at Cornish, N. H., on August 2.

Congressman Summers recently sent a long telegram to President Wilson explaining the cotton situation in the Southern States and urging the government to exercise to the limit all of its powers in an effort to open the markets of the world, which are now closed. Mr. Summers explained the conditions of the crops and the financial condition of the people of the South. He endeavored to impress upon the administration the necessity of making every effort to prevent the serious losses sustained by the cotton raising States last year. He declared that the present situation of the cotton markets causes the deepest apprehension, and that a great co-operative effort is being made to keep the market from breaking. "Never before have so many men of so many trades and professions worked together so earnestly and so harmoniously as they are at the present time to forestall serious financial losses on the coming cotton crop and to maintain a stable and profitable market," said Mr. Summers.

Since the adjournment of Congress in March, Mr. Summers has been studying the cotton situation in the Southern States, especially in Texas. As the result of his investigations, he sent the telegram to President Wilson.

BODY OF MRS. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER INTERRED TODAY

By Associated Press. Cleveland, O., Aug. 11.—The body of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller today was buried here in Lakeview Cemetery. The utmost secrecy surrounded the interment and armed guards were stationed at the grave. The body arrived here yesterday from "Sleepy Hollow" near Tarrytown, N. Y., where it had been in the John D. Archbold vault since Mrs. Rockefeller's death on March 12.

1000 CARRANZA TROOPS REPORTED TO BE ORGANIZING UPRISINGS IN TEXAS

MEXICAN BAND FIGHTS A POSSE AND SOLDIERS

Dead In Raids In Brownsville Section Now Number Eighteen Of Whom 14 Are Mexicans

By Associated Press:

Brownsville, August 11.—Rangers today captured in Hidalgo county west of here a flag with the words on it in Spanish "Army of Liberation for Mexicans in Texas." Forty or fifty Mexicans were in a running fight this afternoon twelve miles from Harlington with a detachment of soldiers and a citizens posse. These same Mexicans were seen earlier in the day towards Mercedes. There were about forty of them. Cavalry and armed citizens today searched the brush for a band of Mexicans who were seen in this section yesterday. They left a trail of cut barbed wire fences as they rode from Mercedes to the border. Mercedes is twenty miles from the border and forty from Brownsville.

There were unverified reports today that three Mexicans were killed yesterday in the western section of Hidalgo county. In a section west a considerable distance from the scene of the Mercedes operations the United States troopers whose identity is not yet known here, who was killed last night near Mercedes, was one of the three cavalrymen patrolling a road.

The dead in the raids in the vicinity total 18, two soldiers, two American citizens and fourteen Mexicans. The raids began July 5.

GEN. FUNSTON SAYS TEXANS RESPONSIBLE FOR RAIDS

By Associated Press:

Washington, August 11.—Major General Funston reported to the war department today that the best information he can gather indicates that the brigandage in Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr counties was caused by Texans with headquarters at Brownsville, who, having a political feud, made raids in the counties mentioned for personal revenge.

GOVERNOR WILL PERMIT HANGING OF C. A. MYERS

Announces His Intention Not to Interfere With Execution of Ft. Worth Switchman

By Associated Press.

Lockport, Texas, Aug. 11.—Governor Ferguson, who is summing here today, that he does not intend to interfere with the hanging tomorrow in Fort Worth of C. A. Myers, the switchman who shot and killed Terminal Superintendent W. A. Montague in Fort Worth last January.

ENVER PASHA ADMITS ALLIES ARE REINFORCED

By Associated Press. Constantinople, Aug. 11.—Enver Pasha, Turkish minister of war, today said according to his information the entente allies in their latest operations at the Dardanelles had landed 50,000 troops. Loges had been very heavy, however, he added.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN CASE OF EASTLAND

Captain and Engineer and Four Officers of Company Owning Steamer Indicted

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Indictments charging manslaughter and criminal carelessness were returned in the criminal court today in connection with the Eastland disaster. The captain, engineer and four officers of the steamship company owning the boat are named as follows: James T. Arnold, president of the company; William H. Hull, vice president and general manager; W. C. Steel, secretary and treasurer; Ray W. Davis, assistant secretary and treasurer; Harry Pender, senior captain of the Eastland and Joseph M. Erickson, engineer. Bonds were fixed at $20,000 each and $10,000 each for the captain and engineer. The last two named are charged with criminal carelessness and the officials with manslaughter. Separate bills were returned against the captain and engineer and the four officials were indicted together.

CARRANZA'S ATTITUDE IS DISTINCTLY DEFIANT

Informing Lansing Mexican People Will View Efforts Of Pan-American Conference With Disfavor

By Associated Press:

Washington, August 11, 1915.—Reports have reached here that more than 1,000 Carranza troops from the command of General Navarette in the state of Tamaulipas have moved over into Texas in the territory surrounding Brownsville and have scattered into bands to rally Mexicans in the state with the announced purpose of beginning an uprising. They are reported to be under the command of Jaun de Los Santos, Vincete Davila and Carlos Gracia.

War department officials would not discuss the report but it was said to be in their possession and probably would be one of the reasons for moving troops to the border.

OPPOSES PAN-AMERICAN ACTION.

General Carranza through his Washington agent today notified Secretary Lansing that "the Mexican people view with displeasure" any attempt to frustrate the success of Carranza armed forces. Carranza's message referred to the Pan-American conference and was taken as plainly signifying he would not agree with the action towards Mexican affairs. The agency here today gave out the text of identical notes which Carranza addressed to Argentine and Chile protesting their participating in the Pan-American conference.

Carranza had evidently been informed that Brazil refused to participate and sent a message to Rio de Janeiro expressing his gratifications. Carranza also sent representations to the diplomatic representatives of all Latin American republics participating in the conference saying that any attempt to solve the situation in Mexico would involve "an act which could not be looked on with levity, as it would mean on the part of the Latin American nations the acceptance that they can take part in any internal affairs of a sister nation with the co-operation of the United States, something absolutely undesirable, not only insofar as it may affect the relations between the Latin American nations themselves and but also it might involve the moral support of any future decision which grew out of similar situations."

THINK CARRANZA'S ATTITUDE DEFIANT.

Carranza's communication was regarded as little less than a defiance of the United States in accordance with Secretary Lansing's announcement yesterday that it might be necessary to strengthen the forces on the border because of brigandage orders will probably will go out soon to army posts to hold troops in readiness if not actually to move them.

Secretary Garrison returned today and conferred with his staff on the subject. Under Major General Funston's command on the border are ten regiments of cavalry, six and one-half regiments of infantry and two full regiments of field artillery, in all about 14,000 troops. In other posts in continental United States are about 10,000 mobile troops.

WITH RUSSIANS IN TURKISH ARMENIA

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF SOME DIFFICULTIES ENCOUNTERED

NAPOLEONS FEAT OUTDONE

Not Once But Many Times Russians Have Crossed Worse Passes Than Those of Alps

A Russian Army Camp in Turkish Armenia, Aug. 11.—The Russian army that is in pursuit of the elusive Turks in this region have, at this writing reached the Valley of the Habur, an affluent of the Tigris, at a point sixty miles south of Van.

On June 2, the right flank of the Russian forces engaged the Turks under Halid Bey, near the Tigris, and fought until nightfall, when the Turks made off into the darkness. The Armenian volunteers, who are doing some of the best fighting for the Russians, began the battle at 9 o'clock in the morning and sustained it alone on the open ground until noon when General T's cavalry from Sarai came into action. The artillery was brought up in the afternoon, but by then Halid Bey had taken a position on inaccessible mountains, and since then there has been no contact with him.

What may be true of atrocious stories from other sources, it is certainly a fact that the warfare in Armenia has resulted in the killing of more non-combatants than soldiers, and it is doubtful if there is any other area in the world where the war is so plainly a case of murder.

Corpses Strawn Trails.—The Associated Press correspondent has himself seen the corpses of non-combatants, both men and women, strawn along every trail that the Russian army has traversed. On June 4, while attempting a pass at least 10,000 feet above sea level, two remarkably handsome Armenians were seen slain beside the road, and nearby lay a Kurdish girl, dead from starvation and hardship. In a niche of the rocks of the high mountain pass there was found a dead baby softly crying beneath a saddle blanket.

At one point a group of thirty Armenian women gathered at the midday halting place of the Russian soldiers on the crest of the pass, and moaned for food and clothes, but there was nothing to spare them, as the soldiers themselves were without bread or fuel to cook their superabundant mutton. They were in a district where even dry weeds failed them for fire-burning purposes, and there were no more villages to destroy for roof timbers. Except the veteran campaigners of the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-8 and of every Russian campaign since then are sickened by the conditions with which they come in daily contact in this devastated land, and especially by the emergence of the brute instincts to kill and destroy.

The roads and sheep paths everywhere are bestrewn with the possessions of the Kurds of Van vilayet and on the mountains and in the valleys there graze countless thousands of their abandoned sheep. Dead horses, broken saddles, harness and torn uniforms testify also to the rapid weakening of the Turkish regulars.

A Bridge of Rugs.—One mountain stream was found bridged with rugs and carpets laid on rough timbers from a neighboring village. Another was formed of the bodies of sheep, similarly supported.

The Kurds have borne the brunt of the Turkish retreat, and in addition to the leaving behind of their cattle, they have abandoned their rich carpets and rugs, and so much rough-carved wood, that in places the wool lies thick enough to pave the muddy roads.

The Russian military students in this camp claim that the present progress of their forces has cast a shade even upon the crossings of the Alps by Hannibal and Napoleon. Almost daily this army has had to cross worse than Alpine heights. The best maps have proven unreliable, and there have been no competent native guides. Detachments have gone three or four days at a time without a pound of bread or rye toast, and a general halt was made necessary today by the almost total lack of salt, sugar, bread and barley. The horses have climbed up and down many steep slopes 2,000 feet high on grass alone. The last great pass, a snowy waste of many miles, is marked by scores of dead and dying horses. In some places the ground to be traversed was covered with snow hundreds of feet deep. In other places horses had to be led over narrow, melting snow bridges across swirling streams. To slip was to be engulfed and that fate befell three of the Russian soldiers.

Heat Bilsters, Frost Freezes.—In the sunshine it is blistering and blinding, at night there is frost. Last night fresh snow fell on the helahis around the camp. The camel train arrived last night, 24 hours late. The men had to sleep the night before in the open. Scarcely a dozen camp fires of stinky dried stubble blazed long enough to boil tea and those too thinly covered to sleep had to walk in the dark to avoid freezing.

To complete the desperation, the bivouac chanced to be in a place overgrown with poisonous weeds which the starving horses ate greedily. As a result fifty or sixty including General N's mount were dead before morning.

For a week life has been reduced to its elements. Thousands of men think day and night of nothing but the primal animal needs. Warmth, food and rest are paraded here. The Russian soldier still more the Armenian volunteer, is resourceful. Falling tea, bread and meat, he fares forth to milk fat-lad or Ankora sheep. Boots are wearing out and of course, there is no depot. Here, too, the soldiers resort to self help with the aid of a freshly skinned horse hide.

Yet there has been scarcely a word of complaint, and the chief regret is that they have been unable to force their enemy to accept a decisive engagement.

American Factories May Yet Decide The European War

The great European war may be decided not on the battlefields in Europe but in the fields and factories in the United States, according to James H. Doolittle writing in the current issue of the World's Work on American trade in war time.

Mr. Doolittle reviews statistics to show that our shipments of war munitions during the first year of the war have been insignificant but declares that America is potentially the greatest ammunition factory in the world and that we will soon be sending enormous quantities of fighting material abroad. A part of his article follows:

"I said in the beginning of this article, that the United States had sent little ammunition to Europe. That, however, referred merely to the past. In a few weeks, American shells and other munitions will start in great quantities. The German statesmen and publicists made the mistake of antedating their grievances. Probably by October and November American munitions will play a tremendous part in deciding the issue. The war has revealed this country as the world's greatest potential headquarters of material of warfare. We can manufacture not only more ammunition than any European country, but more than all European countries combined. England, at the present moment, is turning out 400,000 explosive shells a day and France 300,000. Experts say that the United States can turn out 1,000,000 a day without utilizing more than a small part of its resources. Our largest concerns, such as the United Steel Corporation, have not entered the business on any appreciable scale. If this corporation should turn its factories into ammunition centers, there would be practically no limit to its products. It has the materials in enormous quantity, it has shops and mills almost without end, and it has the necessary number of workmen.

Our capacity has the utmost significance in the present situation. According to experts, not the soldiers in the trenches, but the workmen in the factories, are now fighting the war. It is not now a question of turning flanks and enveloping armies; the time for military heroics has passed by. The Allies have a stupendous task—cleaning the Germans out of Belgium and France. The war will probably not be decided until this is done. Military men scout the suggestion that it is an impossible task. Modern engineering can blast its way through mountains of rock; similarly it can blast its way through the human impediments in Belgium and France. And, in all its hideousness, that is the aspect this twentieth century military situation presents. No force, even that of human beings, can withstand the shock of lyddite and melinite. It is only a question of hurling enough at the obstruction. Shrapnel shells, exploding in a fan-like mass of bullets over trenches, produce little more germane effect than the sprinkling of toilet powder; they kill men; indeed, but the great defenses, the trenches, are still there, and there are apparently new victims enough to fill the vacant places. But huge charges of high explosives, falling in or near the trenches, simply tear them to bits; concrete, earth, and fragments of human being mingle together in one horrible destruction. If what the Allies can do on an enormous scale what the English did at Neuve Chapelle and the French at Souchez, they can literally blow the Germans across the Rhine. If the Germans can utilize the same methods against the Allies, they can win the war. The issue depends on which side can use lyddite to the greatest effect. This, in turn, hangs upon which side can get the largest quantities. The countries that send to their armies at the front the largest quantities of explosives shells will probably win this war.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

"Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old."

"I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried."

"We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms."

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Theford's Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.

American Supplies.—That is wherein American supplies assume a tremendous importance. Germany and Austria depend only upon themselves. They have hoarded up large quantities in anticipation of this war, they have been shooting it off at a prodigious rate in the last eleven months. When they have exhausted these supplies what are their facilities to increase them? They have great manufacturing facilities; how extensive in their access to raw materials, however, is another matter. By occupying Belgium, northern France, and Luxembourg, they have acquired territories rich in metal mines, which will certainly strengthen their resources. But the position of the Allies is stronger. England and France can lay the whole world under tribute. Both countries had small reserves of munitions when the war began. They were not able to get much ready made from other parts of the world. But, so long as they can hold their present position, they can best time until they have organized a great steady supply. They can draw raw materials from a dozen sources in other countries; they can get factories going all over the world, especially in the United States. With England, France, Russia, and Italy enlisting the world's mining and manufacturing resources, and Germany and Austria dependent upon themselves, the great military superiority of the Allies becomes apparent. Every man in the field, it is now figured, needs at least one man in the workshop. Germany and Austria have to keep millions of their finest men in the factories—men who would otherwise go to the front. But the Allies can enlist huge armies of workmen in the United States—men who are ready to fight their battles as immediately as though they were stationed in the trenches.

Every Gun a Shell-Maker.—The daily newspapers, describing great war orders received by American manufacturers, and the extensions which these same concerns are making to their plants, give some idea of this new American industry. All this has been a revelation. We had believed that the production of ammunition was a specialized industry; that only factories constructed for that purpose could do it. But practically any factory that has a lathe can turn out shells.

America has more such factories than any other country; we can turn out more ammunition. All kinds of shops are now manufacturing shrapnel shells. A lot of sub-contractors let by the Canadian Car & Foundry Company in the United States illustrates this point. Manufacturers of hardware, automobiles, recording and computing machines, deep forging, locomotives, farm implements, bicycles, screws, steel cars, and a dozen other products are now turning their energies to producing shells. In Canada furniture factories are making ammunition; there is even a case of a manufacturer of undertakers' supplies who—most appropriately, it would seem—is turning out lead bullets for shrapnel. Up to the present time our factories have spent most of their time on shrapnel. The large orders for this munition placed in Canada and the United States evidently represented a great mistake made by the British Government. Probably not much will find its way into France; it will go to Russia, where shrapnel, in the open field fighting that is taking place, is highly useful. But the concerns that have been making shrapnel can make explosive shells also; indeed, these are less complicated and easier to make than shrapnel. And when our factories begin shipping, say, 1,000,000 of these shells a day, the situation on the battlefields in Europe may gradually change.

ALLIES SEND LETTER TO BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT

Paris, August 11.—The correspondent at Saloniki of the Havas agency telegraphs that diplomatic representatives of France, Russia, Great Britain and Italy have delivered a joint communication to the Bulgarian government with a view to obtaining the collaboration of that nation with the allies as part of a common understanding with the Balkan states. This action was taken in conjunction with the presentation to Greece and Serbia, as recently made known, it is in response to Bulgaria's request on June 14 for information from the quadruple entente powers concerning the advantages she might expect in exchange for her active cooperation with them.

AIR BRAKE INSTRUCTION CAR LEAVES FOR DENISON

Katy Employees Have Been Receiving Instruction Here at Car For Past Ten Days

A traveling schoolhouse, at which Katy employees are given instruction in the proper handling of the air-brake, signals and steam heat apparatus, has been in this city for over ten days, leaving this morning for Denison.

Similar cars are employed by the large railroad systems to thoroughly instruct trainmen and other employes in the handling of the equipment and it has been found that the results justify the expense which the instruction entails.

World's Tiniest Republic

SAN MARINO, the smallest republic in the world and the oldest state in Europe, did not have to make formal declaration of war when it entered the great European struggle, for ever since the war of 1866 between Italy and Austria San Marino has been technically at war with the dual monarchy.

The highest point of the republic is Monte Titano, which rises a sheer cliff to more than 2,600 feet above the valley and, being a somewhat isolated spur to the east of the Apennines, is easily discernible from far out on the Adriatic and from the highlands of the Austrian border miles to the north.

St. Marinus, the founder of the little nation some 1,600 years ago, Addison said that San Marino had a nobler origin than Rome, in that the latter was at first an asylum for robbers and murderers and the former "of persons eminent for piety and devotion."

within the walls of the ancient citadel crowning the highest point of the mountain and to the small towers that mark the two other peaks. In the Planello, the principal square, is the favorite statue of the San Marinense, a giant figure of Liberty, and nearby is the government palace.

The government of the republic is really in the hands of a great council of sixty, twenty nobles, twenty landowners and twenty peasants. The executive power is vested in two captain regents, who are selected twice a year.

San Marino has ministers plenipotentiary and consuls, the same as any other European country. She has a legation at Paris, and consuls at Lyons, Bordeaux and Marseilles, and she has a consul-general at Vienna and a consul at Trieste.

The quarries of San Marino, from which a fine quality of building stone is obtained, have been a great training ground for artisans in this industry. The vineyards have developed a number of expert wine makers who spend part of their time every year in France and Spain.

VIEW OF SAN MARINO

the road runs across vast tracts of luxurious grazing land, broken here and there by lines of low, timber-covered hills. Buildings and other evidences of development are few and far between, compared with the extent of the country, and one is impressed with the fact that there is ample room there for thousands of home-seeking immigrants from the congested districts of Europe, who would find an agreeable climate and soil fertile and extensive enough to feed not only themselves but many of the other inhabitants of the world.

Timber is so plentiful in the Paraguayan country that the railways use it for fuel. At every railway station are huge logs and squared timbers ready for shipment. On the hillside where clearings have been made, as well as in the bottom lands, besides the rich grass, the corn, the alfalfa, and the tobacco, healthy sugar cane is seen.

Arriving at Asuncion at 3 P. M. Sunday, the train runs into a large terminal station which, though modern in appearance, is said to be the first railway station built in South America. A British engineer constructed it about fifty years ago, and the girders and other parts of the framework, which at a hasty glance one would say are iron, are in fact wood that is as sound today as when the building was erected.

Asuncion is an important port for river movements. The large vessels from the River Plate bring their cargoes to Asuncion, whence merchandise is taken overland or transhipped in smaller boats for points farther up the river. Although it is a river port, over a thousand miles from the seacoast, the size and number of large vessels at the dock, or at anchor awaiting their turn to go to the docks, and the many smaller craft, as well as the large and commodious harbor, give it much the appearance of a seaport.

With peaches at 25 cents a bushel and with a fruit jar factory running day and night, there doesn't seem to be any good reason why peach preserves shouldn't be a staple dish in Wichita Falls next winter.

A Socialist visitor in Wichita Falls predicts that Governor Ferguson will be defeated for re-election by a Socialist. But then it costs nothing to predict.

Get somebody to start a poker game in the next room to keep you awake, hire a nassy negro to wait on you at table, pay your wife five dollars a day board, and, with the climate we're having now, you can enjoy all the discomforts of a summer resort hotel and avoid lots of the trouble and expense.

Many cities, both larger and smaller than Wichita Falls, are rapidly discarding street sweeping and substituting for it street flushing. It requires an immense amount of water to flush the streets, but in some few instances, where the cities own their water plants, it has been found not only better but more economical to flush the streets with water than to sweep them, and then cart the dirt away.

If any taxpayer is really anxious to find exactly why the state tax rate continues to go higher and higher each year, let him get a complete list of the state office holders and the pay they are drawing and then compare the list with that of the two administration of Hogg, Culberson or Campbell. It will not be a difficult job for him to determine definitely why it is necessary to raise the state tax rate each year. Politicians have to be rewarded, and when there are not offices sufficient to get them on the pay roll, laws must be enacted to create more offices and more jobs. Unless this is done there would be too many peanut politicians without anything to do but work for a living.

There is said to be a strong sentiment in favor of calling for local option elections in the counties of Wilbarger, Clay and Archer. At the present time all these counties are in the "dry" column, but there are those who believe that if the saloons were voted back a great deal of money that now goes to "wet" counties for booze could be kept at home in the event saloons were voted back. They are viewing the matter deliberately from a financial viewpoint. As to how strong this sentiment is growing or has grown can be determined only in the event that such elections are called and a vote taken on the matter.

It may be a long time before property owners on Scott, Lamar and the cross streets have such another opportunity to pave as is afforded them at the present, and it is to be hoped that wherever petitions are started they will be signed. Seventh and Eighth streets should be paved several blocks further; Ninth street ought to be paved at least to Broad; Lamar street, paved from Sixth to Seventh streets, as is proposed, would make one of the most beautiful residence thoroughfares in the State. The paving of these sections is certainly as much to be desired as is the paving of Tenth street. In Floral Heights, yet the owners of property in the latter section are practically a unit in asking for this improvement. Freedom from dust, independence of the weather, better sanitary conditions, increased comfort—these are but a few of the benefits that are to be derived. Let the good work go on.

The English press is still talking about the 3,000,000 men which are to be put in the field. A few of those three million could have been used to good advantage at Warsaw.—Lawton News.

Perhaps Great Britain thinks she needs to keep that 3,000,000 men on the tight little isle for home defense, and from all indications, if that is her purpose, the good judgment she is exercising is to be commended. The 3,000,000 men will be needed.

CULBERSON AND HIS FRIENDS.

(From the San Antonio Republic.)
 According to a special to the Herald, published Monday, from Washington city, Senator Culberson has decided definitely that he will be a candidate for re-election. This is good news to the legions of friends and admirers of the senator. Coupled with his announcement, is the equally welcome news, that the senator's health, which had been bad for a number of years, has improved greatly and that he is now apparently in good health. The only thing which might have stood in the way of Mr. Culberson's return to the senate was his health. That obstacle removed, and his announcement, that he wishes to succeed himself, are all that is necessary to assure his election. Texas has never had an avowed or more distinguished representative in the United States senate than Mr. Culberson. Few States, indeed, have sent men of such marked ability as he to Washington. Texas realize this, and Texas democrats will rejoice at the prospect of his continuing to serve the State in the national senate—for, of course, his announcement will be tantamount to an election.—Brownsville Herald.

Much as it admires Charlie Culberson, the Republic can not fully share the Herald's optimism concerning the certainty of his election. He is a splendid and deservedly popular gentleman, and if he is really in the race, he will make a good run. But with Brooks and Henry and Colquitt and Burgess against him, besides more negligible factors, such as Riddle and Davis, with a possibility of additional entries, none short of a seer can foretell the result. Even the expert star reader of the Republic, who seldom fails to read events of the future correctly, is in doubt. The Republic believes, however, that the man who beats Charlie Culberson will not be far from the lead in the race.

DRAWING A PARALLEL.

(From the Macon Telegraph.)
 To those who so confidently see victory ahead for the Germans because of their successes, such friends as Herr Von Rentz, whose communication of recent date was interesting if not convincing, might be cited the first two years of the Confederacy—the last two years. Even the tremendous German successes of the first year, their speedy overwhelming of Belgium, the occupation of Northern France and the certain fall of Warsaw, do not yet quite come up to the early Confederate successes. It must be remembered, as one Confederate veteran pointed out the other day, that Lee went to Gettysburg a right into the very heart of the Union; that everywhere the Stars and Bars seemed a certain pennon of victory. The brilliance and successes of their early campaigns struck a cold and chilling fear to the heart of the North, and astounded a world. And yet they didn't win.

The reason the South was doomed to defeat from the start even though the Southern people the first two years, as Germany now, considered their successes sufficient to give them the right and power of peace terms if peace had been broached, was that against it was time, money—and men. Men, ever men! After Gettysburg when a Southerner fell by a Northern bullet there was only a boy or elderly man to take his place. Soon there was nobody. But with the foe to the very last, until the surrender of Lee's ragged legions at Appomattox, the Union had two men, fresh and ready to leap to the gap in their ranks where one man fell.

The South had only one chance. It lay across Harper's Ferry. The blow that would have taken Washington was not struck. The Germans had their one chance to wrest as quickly a stupendous victory. It lay in at once striking through Upper Saxony and Denmark, which should have been easy for Von Kluck. But that blow was not struck; instead the invader drove for Paris and on the Marne he found his Gettysburg.

Subsequent developments, with more or less important variations, will carry out the parallel. Further astounding military successes may come to the German, but even now every man he loses is irreparable. The Landstrum, the last reserve, the middle aged men, has been mustered in since early spring. Every man who dies in the ranks now must be replaced by a man of inferior fighting caliber physically. The allies have yet fresh troops, and yet again fresh troops, to take the places of the men who have been killed. Even England, our venerable contributor or a couple of columns to the right to the contrary notwithstanding, has more soldiers by several army corps than her forty-mile sector of the line demands. The allies have yet constantly changing reliefs—men who have not yet seen the battle line, with more raising at home, and millions yet to be raised if necessary.

A LITTLE FUN—SELECTED.

All the Way.
 Howard: That beautiful young priest preached a mighty deep sermon. Could you follow him?
 Miss Prentiss: To the end of the earth.

In the Sunday School.
 "Yes, dear children, our poor street-sweeper is dead and gone to heaven. Can any little boy tell me what he is doing there?"
 "I can teacher. He's a skyscraper."

Going to an Expert.
 When the butler answered the telephone the shrill voice of a little girl greeted him:
 "Hello, is that Mr. Wilson?"
 "Yes, Bessie," he answered kindly, "what can I do for you?"
 "Oh, Mr. Wilson, please tell me where Grandpa's liver is! The folks are out and I've got to put a hot flask on it and I don't know where it is."

When We Would All be Missionaries.
 A well known agnostic was present at one of Henry Ward Beecher's lectures, and after the address the man presented one of his daughters—a beautiful girl—to Mr. Beecher, saying, "Mr. Beecher, here is a girl who, according to your ideas, is a heathen."
 "Well, my dear," said Mr. Beecher, "if all heathens were as pretty as you are we would all become missionaries."

Not What It Looked Like.

It was a hot day and the fat drummer who wanted the 12:30 train got out through the gate at just 12:21. The ensuing handicap was watched with absorbing interest both from the train and the station platform. At its conclusion the breathless and perspiring man wearily took his way back and a vacant-faced "porter" came out to relieve him of his grip.
 "Mister," he inquired, "was you trying to catch that Pennsylvania train?"
 "No, my son," replied the patient man, "I was only chasing it out of the yard."

How Cleveland Won.

President Cleveland, while talking to a friend about one of his many angling expeditions, told the following story: "It is remarkable," said the president, "how many some people are. I had with me on that particular trip two countrymen who were evidently familiar with my reputation as an angler. Before starting one of them made the following suggestion: 'Mr. President, he said, 'we will agree that the first one who catches a fish must treat the crowd.'"
 "I assented to this and we started. Now, don't you know, those two fellows both had a bile and were too mean to pull them up."
 "I suppose you lost them," remarked the friend.
 "Oh no," said the president, "I didn't have any bait on my hook."

IS IT NOT REALLY SO?

(Dallas Dispatch)
 The outcry by certain elements is not an outcry against furnishing the allies war supplies, but really a protest against any American trade whatsoever with the allies.
 So checked and scientific is present day warfare that it would be difficult to check out a cargo for Europe that would not be, in effect, contraband, under any reasonable definition of what is said to be a belligerent. What is there that we could sell to England, France, Russia or Italy, that would not at once be put into some shape or other for "laughter of Germans" or their allies? Not cotton, not oils, nor any of our metals, nor many of our chemicals, nor machinery, not even grain and meat, for it's in high degree a "starvation war" over here, and to draw a line between feeding and arming a fighter is mere spitting of hairs.
 The proposition is that we confine our foreign trade to South American and the Oriental heathen. The ramifications of the proposition reach pretty nearly every person in our country who has work.
 Will some reader please name some cargo that we could send over to Europe that would not be devoted to prosecution of war?

DIPLOMATS IN SESSION ON PAN-AMERICAN NOTE TO FACTIONS IN MEXICO

Will Appeal to All Mexicans to Subordinate Personal and Selfish Interest to the National Welfare of Mexico.

New York, Aug. 11.—Diplomatic representatives of Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Guatemala and Uruguay and Secretary Lansing met here today to act together in a plan which has for its aim the restoration of peace in Mexico. An appeal to Mexicans of all factions to subordinate personal and selfish interests to the national welfare of Mexico has been prepared. Both President Wilson and Secretary Lansing have given their approval.

The conferees were confident that when the appeal was made public the misconception of their purposes which evidently has spread in some parts of Mexico would be removed.

The appeal will be brief, politely phrased and transmitted in Spanish as originally written by one of the diplomats. It will show clearly that the several governments whose ambassadors met here today are not interested in State sign it, have no purpose to interfere in the strictly internal affairs of Mexico, to impair society or to show preference for one leader as against another. It will be an eloquent petition that the Mexican leaders participate in or send delegates to a convention or conference to be held on neutral ground in Mexico for the purpose of creating a Provisional government that can be accorded moral support and formal recognition by all the American states.

No threat or intimation of what will be the course of the general American countries is given in the suggestions made are declined, all considerations being for the time subordinated to the primary purpose, a definite appeal to the patriotism of all Mexicans to redeem the prestige of the nation before the world and show whether in deed its leaders seek personal gratification or the true welfare of their country.

All Possibilities Considered.
 While the appeal that is to go forth will not specify the exact course that is to be followed, the conferees have taken into consideration all the possibilities of the situation. If any faction or group fails to attend the peace conference those leaders or delegates who do will be expected to proceed with the task of setting up a government that can be recognized. With this recognition an embargo on arms would be declared by the United States against all other contending groups and such moral support given to the new government as would enable it through the rehabilitation of its finances to equip a force large enough to crush armed opposition.

The attitude of the conferees is that their government need not exert any pressure, but will continue to stand as

RURAL SURVEY OF TRAVIS COUNTY TO BE UNDERTAKEN

University Station, Aug. 11.—A rural survey of Travis county will be begun the first of October by several departments of the University of Texas working co-operatively. The survey will be under the general direction of J. H. Haney, professor of economics, while the school of domestic economy and the division of public welfare of the extension department will actively assist in the work. It is the purpose of the survey to get accurate and systematic data concerning actual conditions in a typical rural district of Texas. Travis county was chosen on account of its proximity to the University and the consequent convenience of the investigators. Such subjects as religion, social life, home conveniences, waste disposal, sanitation, income and expenditures, etc., will be treated. The bulk of the money necessary to make this survey has been provided by a public spirited citizen who desires that his name be withheld from publication. The investigators will travel in groups, so that the information gathered by the various departments of the survey can be gathered at one visit to a particular place.

838 OUT OF 1,000 IN GERMAN HOSPITALS ARE DISCHARGED

Berlin.—Eight hundred and forty-eight of every 1,000 wounded soldiers brought into German military hospitals not in the war zone in August, 1914 were discharged fit for service, and thirty of the remaining 152 died. In April the number restored to duty had risen to 912 and the deaths had fallen to fourteen. With the single exception of March, the death rate shows a steady decrease, and the average for nine months from August

Chicago Grain Futures

By Associated Press. Chicago, Aug. 11.—Rapid harvesting under favorable conditions in the spring crop states caused declines today in all deliveries of wheat except September. Opening prices ranged from a shade to 5-8 lower. Corn showed firmness. Prices opened unchanged to 1-8 to 1-4 higher. Delayed threshing gave strength to oats. Wheat closed $1.09 5/8. Corn, Sept., 75 3/8; Dec., $1.15 1/4. Oats, Sept., 61 1/2; Dec., 45 3/4; May, 45 5/8.

New York Cotton Futures

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 11.—Uncertainty as to whether the droughty conditions in the southwest have been fully relieved and easier cables caused some scattered covering in the cotton market here today. The opening was unchanged to 2 points higher. General business was quiet during the afternoon but there was further scattered covering as prices worked from 15 to 18 points net higher. Cotton closed firm. Oct., $9.46; Dec., $9.75; Jan., $9.88; March, $10.11, and May, $10.36.

VETERAN FALLS DEAD AT BRIGADE REUNION

By Associated Press. Elgin, Tex., Aug. 11.—At the morning session of the Ross, Ector-Granbury Brigade here today W. N. Laney, a member of the Hokin Battery, Ector Brigade of Naples, Texas, fell ever dead in his seat. The old gentleman had been talking to the crowd and without a word fell over dead.

AMERICANS CONVICTED ON CHARGES OF COUNTERFEITING

By Associated Press. Laredo, Texas, Aug. 11.—Passengers arriving from Tampico today reported that four American residents there have been sentenced to long terms in the penitentiary charged with counterfeiting. It was reported that these Americans had been placed aboard the Mexican gunboat Bravo and would be sent to Vera Cruz.

PRIME OF AMERICAN BREWERS ON STAND WEDNESDAY

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Aug. 11.—H. Prine of the American Brewing Association continued on the stand Wednesday on the brewery case. He was questioned about the agreement of Texas brewers not to furnish the saloon-keepers with fixtures. The State claimed this agreement was in restraint of trade as it discouraged competition.

EVEN SOLDIERS HAVE TO PAY CHURCH TAX IN GERMANY

Berlin.—Fighting for the Fatherland does not exempt one from paying the universal church tax, according to a ruling by the highest authorities who have been deliberating on countless appeals for an opinion on this question.

The "chief church council" of the evangelical church decides that a man does not sever his connection with his church by going to the front so long as he has a wife at a field church he does so free of charge, so that his responsibility to his regular congregation does not cease financially at least.

Only a minor proportion of Germans are members of churches, and the service of any character (because of the tax it has been claimed) but they are nevertheless not immune unless they can prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that they hold no religious convictions—such as a wife who attends church, or such as having been married by a minister. The great bulk of the soldiers at the front thus are affected by the ruling.

Ninety degrees has been the maximum temperature for this city since the rain of Sunday night, while the nights have seen the thermometer drop as low as sixty. The change is more than welcome after the decidedly hot weather of last week.

A Clean Up Special for Friday

All 15c, 19c and 25c a Yard Colored Wash Goods, Friday 9c a Yard

A sensational one day clean-up that no doubt will crowd our store the first thing Friday morning. All of our 15c, 19c and 25c a yard, colored wash goods, go in this big sale. Lawns, Batistes, Tissue Gingham, Dimities and Voiles; wanted pattern designs and colors. This is not a sale of remnants nor short ends, but a sweeping clearance of a large assortment of just the kind of goods that you want for waists and dresses to be worn right now. One last word of caution—be here early. Sale starts 8 o'clock sharp.

At The Theaters

The Lamar Airdome

"The Orpheum Circuit Favorite," Maleta Bonconi will close her three days' engagement at the Airdome tonight. The violinist is an artist in every sense of the word and few vaudeville acts playing in this city have been better received. Her repertoire is in the main classic but possesses a pleasing variety. Her instrument is a Danacet and she handles it in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired and her rendition of Dvorak's "Humoresque," is perhaps her best attraction. The other act on the bill, Deroy and Dayton, have a good novelty offering. Tonight's picture program includes "The Trail of the Upper Yukon," a Rex two act drama, and a comedy reel, "The Nightmare of a Movie Fan."

The Majestic

The opening chapter of "The Diamond from the Sky," a serial which will be followed by Wichita fans with more than usual interest will be shown here today. Irving Cummings and Lottie Pickford take the stellar roles. In addition to this feature the program includes a two part Lubin "From Champion to Tramp" with Romano Fielding in the leading part; also a comedy cartoon "In the Swim."

The Empress

Stewart Baird and Irene Howley are featured in "The Moth and the Flame" a Famous Players production directed by Sidney O'Neil today's feature picture at the Empress. The pictureation of the tense and emotional drama, "The Moth and the Flame" by Clyde Fitch, presents with all the realism of life itself the dominant elements of that great stage success. The poor little moth is blinded by the flame, until she cannot see the fatal peril threatening her. Just on the verge of her great error, her vision returns, and with the resultant extinguishment of the flame, the moth sees her danger and is saved—terribly scorched in heart, but with her soul rescued from the devouring fire.

The Gem

Thomas Santachi, Lafayette McKee and Harold Howard are featured in "How Callahan Cleaned up Little Hell." Getting in bad with the "boss" of his ward Captain Callahan is assigned to "Little Hell," an unlawful city district.

FORD CO. NOT COTEMPLATING BUILDING TRACTOR FACTORY

The Ford Motor Company does not contemplate building a tractor factory in Texas or anywhere else in the South within the immediate future, a representative of that company has informed Secretary Thomas of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Thomas was in Dallas Tuesday going there to invite one of Ford's representatives to this city. The factory representative said the newspaper reports that a tractor factory in Texas was planned were erroneous. He promised, however, that Wichita Falls' advantages would receive consideration if such a step were ever taken by the Ford Company.

MODEL HEALTH CODE FOR CITIES PUBLISHED

Austin, Texas, Aug. 11.—Dr. Robert M. Jameson, secretary of the Municipal Bureau of Research and Reference of the University of Texas, has issued a bulletin entitled "A Model Health Code for Cities." It contains many suggestions for improving health and sanitary conditions in Texas cities. It covers abattoirs, markets and marketing distribution of food, and inspection of milk and dairy farms.

In advance. Two days before election it appears that O'Neil's candidate for office may be defeated. The political machine starts to grind and no effort is spared to put across the O'Neil candidate. The night before election day, Tom O'Neil's mother is seized with illness, and Gourley explains to O'Neil that the reason he could not appear sooner at the polls was because of that fact. Excitement increases during the day of election and there are many riots. Gourley overhears O'Neil and another henchman plotting his downfall, saying that he knows too much. Gourley confronts O'Neil and his henchman with drawn revolver. An altercation ensues, and Callahan arrives on the scene. O'Neil, Gourley and others are arrested. Callahan, however, permits Gourley to see his sick mother before going to jail, and thus wins the gratitude of the henchman. Tonight's assault Callahan, and he is being overcome when Gourley returns from his home and saves Callahan's life. Gourley then goes to Callahan, and says: "Hereafter you and me's pals. Say the word and me and you cleans up Little Hell."

JUST IN TIME

Some Wichita Falls People May Wait Till It's Too Late. Be sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney pills. Means curing the headache, the distaste, the urinary disorders. That's so often come with kidney troubles. Don't let your health be for this very purpose.

Here is Wichita Falls testimony of their worth. Mrs. G. E. Sprouls, 408 Lee St. of Wichita Falls, says: "I was in bad shape with rheumatic pains in my arms and shoulders. My feet and hands were also swollen. I felt depressed and worn-out and my box of Doan's Kidney Pills, when I was in much better health. The rheumatic swellings were removed and the rheumatic pains dispersed."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sprouls had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

UNION LABOR PLANNING LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Two Days Program Will be Provided For Entertainment of Visitors Sept. 5 and 7

The various labor organizations, through the Trades & Labor Council, plan one of the most extensive celebrations on Sept. 6th and 7th that has ever been held in the city of Wichita Falls. This action was agreed upon at a meeting of that organization held Monday night, when committees were appointed to arrange for the celebration.

Included in the list of committees was one on arrangements, consisting of J. A. Wray, chairman, C. W. Johnson and F. H. Dennison, also one on publicity, including C. D. Willard, J. A. Burton and R. S. Dunaway, and another on program as follows: E. Von Der Lippe, H. B. Hayes and W. A. Bryan.

These committees are already at work outlining the program for the celebration and it is expected that in a short time an announcement of attractions will be given that will surpass anything heretofore presented for the entertainment of the people of this section of the country.

An planned, a big parade will be held on the morning of September 6th, after which there will be attractions in the city in the way of farm exhibits, foot races, baby shows, etc., and in the afternoon after 4 o'clock a program will be provided at Lake Wichita, which will probably include a dance,

ARCHER COUNTY WILL DO WHAT'S RIGHT IN MATTER

Archer county's co-operation in the building of a bridge across the spillway and the improvement of roads leading there was promised today by Judge S. H. Metzger, county judge of Archer county, who appeared before the commissioners' court. Sheriff John Turville of Archer City was also here.

Judge Metzger was surprised to learn that part of the spillway was in Archer county, having understood that the structure was entirely within Wichita county. He said Archer county would certainly "do what was right about it." There is some talk of putting a concrete crossing at the spillway instead of a bridge, but such a crossing could not be used in flood seasons. The commissioners are expected to take definite action at their present session.

At Tuesday afternoon's session the court decided not to sell fifteen bales of cotton raised on the county farm last season. The commissioners believe that a much better price can be obtained by holding the staple.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's

The Old Standard Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well-known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, Drives out Malaria, Purifies the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 30 cents.

RESERVIST AT HOME SEES A CHANGE IN PARIS

Change in City and Its Life No Less Than the Change in Reservist Himself

Paris, Aug. 11.—The reservist home for the first time after a year at the front realizes less the change in himself than the transformation of his Paris. He has acquired his new color gradually and has built up his hitherto unknown muscles almost imperceptibly. The blasé Parisian, who left for the front soft and pallid, with stooping shoulders and spiritless eye, indifferently interested in life, comes back not only strengthened but brightened; his mind has been reopened to impressions. The little revolutions that have transformed Paris gradually, break up on him all at once; he is more like a tourist visiting the French capital for the first time than a man who knows, or knew, his boulevards by heart.

WESTGARD'S MAP SHOWS COUNTRY'S HIGHWAYS

A. L. Westgard, Vice President and Director Transcontinental Highways of the National Highways Association, whose work in behalf of the motor touring and good roads development has taken him into every nook and corner of United States, and made him known all over the country as "The Man of Many Miles," has prepared a map of the United States, showing the main traveled motor routes with special emphasis given to the transcontinental and other long distance highways. The map is 29x18 inches, engraved on wax, and is for free distribution to motorists in any part of the country. It may be procured from automobile clubs or of National Highways Association, Washington, D. C., or by addressing Mr. A. L. Westgard at National eHadj-quart, 18 Old Slip, New York if four cents in stamps to cover cost of mailing is enclosed with the request. With the Westgard map goes a map of the 50,000 miles of National Highways advocated by the National Highways Association, together with an explanation of the Four Fold System of Highways also advocated by the association, namely, National Highways, State Highways, County and Town or Township Roads. Wichita Falls is shown on the map in black-faced type. Both the meridian and the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highways are shown.
