There still appears to be no mad dash of autoists to register their cars with the city tax collector, as required under the new traffic ordinance. About 200 automobiles and motorcycles have so far been registered and received their "C's." After a reasonable time has been allowed in which to comply with the provisions of the ordinance, all owners of cars not bearing the "C" will be arrested.

Twenty Fifth Anniversary Thornberry Sunday School

Thornberry, Texas, Sept. 9.—A meeting of great interest to many of our community was held Sunday, Sept. 6, 1915 in the Methodist church. The schools of both the churches came together in a joint meeting to commemorate our twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the first Sunday school in what was then known as the Icard pasture. After the study of the regular lesson a few minutes recess was given followed by talks and reminiscences of the old days. Mr. Joseph Stephenson the first speaker, who came in 1890 told of this country at that time as being occupied by cattle ranches. People were located or known as being from a certain ranch. He contrasted the number of houses, public roads, people and privileges we now enjoy with those we found when the settlement was made.

Old Times Discussed.
He was followed by a paper read by Mrs. D. E. Bentley. "America" was sung by the congregation, followed by a short talk by A. L. Thornberry Sr., who is now a resident of Wichita Falls, but twenty-five years ago a prominent farmer and ranchman. He told of his principal neighbors being coyotes, jack rabbits, prairie dogs, rattlesnakes and cattle. He had been here almost nine years, and was glad to have neighbors move near. C. J. Shumake now of Wichita Falls was invited to tell of the old days but declined. He came in 1889. J. N. Bryan followed; he told of the pleasure and satisfaction they found in the companionship of those who had already started school church and Sabbath privileges and how closely we clung together when neighbors were few. This was followed by the song "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." J. D. Cooper our neighbor a few miles west spoke also of the advantage gained by church and school. He urged the younger people to assume the responsibilities and in time assuming and continuing the work. He came from Arkansas a few years later than the settlement of Thornberry. Mr. George Musgrave told of the long droughts, of hauling water for nine months from the Wichita River and giving his last cent for the barrel. He told of crop failures and the grit needed to endure until times improved. Other old settlers were requested to add to our enjoyment by telling of their recollection of the old times.

First Sunday School.
Mrs. M. E. Carey of Wichita Falls but formerly with her husband, Levi Carey, old neighbors then spoke of the loneliness of her first years after leaving the New York home and friends. She spoke of the pleasure received by kindness from the new neighbors and the satisfaction to help in our church work, that helped tide over the great home-sickness.

Short talks were made by Mrs. C. J. Shumake, J. N. Bryan, A. L. Thornberry, who as helpmeets had given their aid to the cause, Mrs. Teresa Bentley, Camp of St. Jo, Tex as told of her childhood recollections of the early days. She was followed by Mrs. Maurice Bentley, J. B. Hopkins and Max Shumake.
Enjoy Picnic Evening.
The pastor, Rev. Nesbit closed the meeting and all adjourned to the Woodman hall where tables were loaded from well-filled tables and plates presided by Mrs. Bentley and the other good things that our ladies know so well how to prepare, were there in abundance. The crowd was estimated as being at least two hundred. All were filled and plenty left after the meal.

At 3 o'clock the pastor gave us a sermon, which had been preceded by an hour's music by the young people. The day was beautiful and pleasant memories will long be with many who were there.

Following is the paper read by Mrs. D. E. Bentley:
History of Settlement.
"In the last week of August 1890—just twenty-five years ago—a party of Settlers from Illinois landed in Wichita Falls. They had brought with them three cars, loaded with horses, farm tools, household furniture and supplies. These were duly unloaded and on Monday morning September 1st a procession headed by Rev. J. P. Dimmitt of Iowa Park, started for the unknown home. Strangers in a strange land, as not one of these newcomers had ever seen the destination. Things seemed queer. Roads were few, fences miles apart and prairie dogs plentiful. All were in high spirits, and as we rode across the miles of grass lands questions were called and answers given from wagon to wagon. Once in a while some man or boy would make a swift side shoot to try and catch a prairie dog before he could get in his hole as these were the first we had ever seen.

After some hours we pulled up to a well-fenced house and well of water prepared for us by Mr. Dimmitt. There was an old friend of the party. The house contained a carpenter's bench which was our table, a stove, a carpet was inches of boards, blocks and scattered nails. At dinner things were scraped up, wagons unloaded, stoves set up, quilts hung up for doors and by night we were all settled into our beds. The men and bigger boys sleeping in one continuous row along the wall, while the women reserved another room for themselves and smaller children.

Daily trips were made to town by the men and by the time the first Sunday came furniture for four families was piled to the ceilings in the corners leaving passage way for the necessary eating and sleeping. Such stuff as could not be crowded into the house or on the porch was left out of doors. Perhaps the women who cooked did not have a time finding things, but I believe they did.
"Two carpenters were busy pounding nails into boards—building the first little houses that were to be our homes. If any of you care to know, that house has been finished, enlarged and is now occupied by Houston and Beulah Pharris. The settlers coming from Illinois were J. P. Dimmitt, Joseph and Edwin Stephenson with their wives and children, Walter D. Bentley and Dr. Forest E. Bentley with their wives and various little Bentleys.

"We had come from a land of Sundays and Sabbath schools and as the hour drew near a certain box, containing song books, Testaments, lesson books, Bibles, etc., was unloaded, the contents piled on a little stand table in the middle of the passage way. This being ready the next thing was to hunt the Sunday school. Of course the men were tired and reading, sleeping or talking while the children were playing in the grass. I can not say yard for the yard was two miles and nearly as wide. All were rounded up, however, and with Joseph Stephenson as superintendent we held our first Sunday school the first Sabbath in September.

"After a few days we found a fine neighbor a few miles to the east of us, A. L. Thornberry and on the next farm east Giles Culver and C. J. Shumake. Perhaps I should say they found us, for I yet remember a quarter of beef and various other things that came our way and seemed so good. There was also a Mr. Bell, father of Mrs. Wm. Wicker and Mrs. Mart Boggs.

"These gradually joined our services. Our carpenters, Robert Lewis and Robert Smith gave 25 cents for a secretary's desk and we had our own way of recording. A few Sundays later Mr. Dimmitt stood by the dining table preaching us a sermon, and then organized a Methodist Episcopal Church, with Joseph and Peddella Stephenson, Edwin and Helen Stephenson, Walter and John Bentley, Dr. Forest and Ethel Bentley, Giles Culver and Mrs. Annie Thornberry as original members. Mr. Dimmitt was our pastor and offered to preach whenever he could, as his home was in Iowa Park. For six months services were continued in the little home, classes going into the different rooms and sitting on the beds, while the teacher stood, in the meantime Mrs. Annie Thornberry and I. E. Bentley were circulating a paper among all who cared to help, for the building of a house to be used for church and school purposes. The first Sunday in March, 1891 this building was dedicated by a sermon from Mr. Dimmitt and exercises by the children—just six months from the day we entered this Icard pasture. That house is now the middle room of our present school building. How proud we were of our new house. What did it matter if our seats were rough boards laid on nail kegs for support? We were happy in making homes and after a time we were able to buy sure enough desks with seats.

Some Funny Experiences.
"In those first days many funny things came to us. We had heard of the Sunny South, the land of sunshine and flowers. Should we bring our heavy clothes? Would we need mittens, blankets or comforts? Would we use heating stoves at all? When some fall rains began coming followed by sharp northerners we were no longer wondering of "the South."

"I can not see a certain man coming on the run, hunting through bushes and trunks for heavy underclothes to cover his shivering body. These northerners were too much for us."

"One night when Mr. Joe was sleeping on the porch with Mr. D. and the carpenters, a rain came up. Both shoes were filled with water and one sock lost in the scramble. He remarked while hunting for it the next morning that it was not so much the loss of the sock but both feet were quivering for the one that he had lost.

"We were told the story of the man plowing with oxen. On a very rainy day one of them died at head. He felt it was better to at least save the horse so stopped to skin it. While busy at this a norther came up and the other one froze to death, so he lost both.

"Twenty-five winters have taught us much of Texas weather and we have known cattle to actually freeze, but we have learned Texas people can tell some things just for a joke. Neighbors kept coming and after a little our meetings filled the house. We were as thick as a hive of bees, as busy and as noisy. Our memory goes back to dear Mr. and Mrs. Springer, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Levi Carey, Mrs. Jane Webb, Grandfather and Grandmother Shumake, Giles Culver, Mr. and Mrs. Ward who lives south near the Wichita River. These and others have gone on to the Great Beyond.

"Part of the settlers could not bear the privations and hard times so left us, preferring their old homes north. Some of you will recall the Grimes brothers with their families, the Lewis brothers with theirs, the crowd that were with Buchanans, J. B. Marshall and family, the Branson brothers, I. S. Lightie and family, Mr. M. B. Rogers and family, H. P. Ladd with his wife and daughter. Still others are Robert Sawdon, who came with Mr. Williams and who is still with us. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Helm south of us, whose children attended our school and Sunday school. Henry Bishop with his wife, brother, father and children settled to the east of us. His bereavement was severe, for in one year four of his dear ones were lying among our dead. F. M. Hull lived east of Mr.

Bishop while John Doyle was already on his farm still further north when Thornberry became a settler. Our first store and postoffice was kept in what is now D. E. Bentley's front yard, with J. W. Butler and wife as keepers. Jack McKay was our first teacher in the new school house and the surveyor, Mr. Warren who laid out the roads and measured off our farms.

"Before this we followed trails or went in any direction we pleased, it would take you to tell of all the years but our only antelope killed from the Icard often seen was shot by Art Bentley, who also broke the sod for the first wheat crop. Our only deer was killed by Mr. Thornberry on the Wichita river. Mr. and D. E. Bentley carried it on their shoulders to his home where it was generously divided. More than one family tasted wild deer meat.

"I will not tell you how our busy, happy school house-church came to be two denominations, meeting in two different houses, for those were unpleasant times, but I will tell you that out of this seeming trouble good can come. God has blessed us far better than we deserve and has sent us to you neighbors, enough to fill both churches. Will you not help us? Can we not work together for the good of our children? Will next Sunday see us taking offerings, filling these pews?"

"Death comes to all. Our cemetery shows that sooner later each must come under God's decree of 'Dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return.' The man for whom this settlement was named has now reached his three score years and ten. As he goes quietly down the years may we remember only the good he has done and may our children's children grow in wisdom, purity and love, until their lives so help the world that the knowledge of the Lord shall cover this people as the waters cover the sea and the name Thornberry stand for a group of people who work together as one man for God and right."

SERIOUS DIPLOMATIC ISSUE WITH AUSTRIA

Determination of Austrian Government to Threaten Austrian Laborers Precipitates Issue.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Dr. Constantine Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, left late yesterday for the summer embassy at Lenox, Mass., to await word from Secretary Lansing as to whether the United States government is satisfied with his explanation of his intercepted letter to the Vienna foreign office outlining plans for withdrawing Austrian labor and handicapping American plants manufacturing war munitions. The ambassador's statement to Mr. Lansing that he was acting under instructions from his government in this matter has made a diplomatic issue of the affair more serious than a mere question of ethics or propriety involving only Dr. Dumba himself.

Silent at White House.
Silence on the subject was observed again at the White House and state department and so far as is known, no decision has been reached as to what course shall be adopted. The president, carrying the copied copy of the ambassador's letter, walked over to the department during the morning, surprised Secretary Lansing in his office and spent fifteen minutes discussing the situation. It was the first time a president had done such a thing since Spanish war days.

Before leaving Washington, Ambassador Dumba called at the department of labor to seek co-operation in his program for providing new employment for workmen who are expected to walk out of the munitions plants. Secretary Wilson was not in his office, but he talked with Acting Secretary Denmore. It is no secret in official circles that the administration would not countenance any sort of participation in such a move.

Intends to Go on With Plans.
It is understood that the ambassador proposes to go ahead with his plans, without regard to the attitude of the American government. At the embassy it was emphasized that the only step so far ordered in the instructions from Vienna was the issuance of a proclamation calling upon all Austro-Hungarian subjects to obey the decree of their government against aiding in the manufacture of war munitions for the enemy. A decree similar to this one, it was recalled was issued some time ago by Germany, although it attracted but little comment. It is stated that soon after the decree was proclaimed most of the Germans employed in munitions plants quietly sought other positions, without waiting to be urged by diplomatic agencies.

Authentic Apparel for Women's Autumn Wear.

TO DO MANY THINGS BETTER than they have ever been done before—that is our slogan for Autumn, 1915. To foresee your needs, to unfold resources, to recognize no hindrances, and never to be content with anything short of perfection. The new fabrics, the new colors, the new combinations, the new models, all are alluringly inviting. Come and see. The changes are many. The details—they are important ones—must be supplied by the garments. Price moderation is noted, and some of the most remarkable values, and styles are presented. In each department are those individual things—fashions so much desired—and at prices within the reach of all.

The Extreme New Things in Corsets. "The Military Front"

The first real change of importance since the straight front Corset came in, will be found in these higher busted, shorter hipped Corsets only now arriving.

There is a slight curve at the waist, but the effect is to "set the figure up"—and to give to the diaphragm that support that the Corset with the low bust did not give.

The military front comes from Paris, where military clothes are worn on the streets, and where the "Princess" fashions bid fair to hold sway at night.

It is the last word—the model that will give distinction to women and gowns this winter, for no gown, however distinctive or costly, can be distinguished on a poorly corseted woman.

WICHITA SINGER CHARMS SAN ANGELO AUDIENCES

Quite a compliment was paid Mrs. Walter S. Robertson in musical circles by the press of San Angelo on the occasion of a recital given in that city last week. Mrs. Robertson spent several weeks there this summer renewing former acquaintances, for the Robertson family resided in San Angelo before coming to Wichita Falls to make their home. The following mention of Mrs. Robertson's recital is clipped from a San Angelo exchange:

"Those who had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Walter S. Robertson in her recital given at the Baptist church Thursday evening are lavish in the compliments on the beautiful and well rendered program. Mrs. Robertson is well known here. San Angelo was her home a number of years prior to her removal to Wichita Falls. Her program on Thursday night was a classic one and Mrs. Robertson sings each song as if she loved it. She is a true artist and her persistent study has developed wonderful tone qualities since leaving San Angelo. She interprets her songs with a soulfulness which has a magic charm on her audience."

At The Theaters

The Lamar Airdome.

Today's picture is a four part feature, "Heritage," with a notable cast including Ella Hall, Bob Leonard, May Talbot, Marc Fenton, Allan Forrest and Annie Lehr.

Can the leopard change his spots? Does the human animal always revert to type? Is it possible for a girl of the sulms, if given the proper surroundings, to shuffle off the habits and modes of thinking and speaking of earlier years? In "Heritage" a four-reel drama written and produced by Robert Leonard, this question is woven into the form of a photoplay and answered in dramatic fashion. The photoplay conclusively shows that, in the end, birth and breeding will show. Circumstances may prevent for a time the achievement of the fullest development in the human plant which has been forced to grow in the arid plains, but, sooner or later, if given the chance, the flower which is struggling up toward the light, will burst into bloom and float its perfume out upon the summer breeze. The story of "Heritage" is divided into three periods, comprised in four reels.

The Gem.

Today's program contains a Billie Reeves comedy and a three part Vitagraph special, "The Man from the Desert." William Duncan and Myrtle Gonzales are featured in this picture, a story of which follows:

After three years prospecting in the Desert, John Warrington and Richard Spencer, partners, decide to call it quits. They had accumulated $40,000 in gold dust. After dividing up, Spencer prepares to start East. Greed takes possession of Spencer. During the night, he robs Warrington, taking with him both packmules, and all the water leaving John with but a single shell in his revolver, and a note saying that when he goes mad from thirst, the quickest way is—the gun. But John Warrington does not die. He is picked up by Bill, a wandering prospector, and later the two open up a rich lode of gold. They "go cahoots," and years later, John, still harboring thoughts of vengeance upon Spencer, tells the old miner he is going East after his man. They sell the mine—now a large producer—and taking leave of Old Bill, John goes to Chicago. There he meets Spencer's daughter, falls deeply in love and locates Spencer himself. For some time, John does not know that Spencer is the girl's father. He sends word for Old Bill to mail a piece of the note to Spencer's address. Spencer, living in luxury, on his ill-gotten wealth, is struck dumb at sight of the little scrap of paper. He receives these at intervals until he is reduced to a mere wreck. Lunging wheat stocks, Warrington kills the man financially. Then he finds Spencer is the father of the girl he loves, and the hollowness of revenge is brought home to him in bitterness. Spencer as a last resort, appeals in person to John (who is operating under an assumed name) for a time extension. Then Warrington reveals his real identity, and with bitter irony, points to the big revolver and the one bullet, telling Spencer, "That's the easiest way!" Fortunately, at this juncture, the girl softens Warrington's heart, and he forgives his enemy.

The Majestic.

Martha Hedman, the famous Swedish actress is presented in "The Cub," a five-part World Film Corporation, today at the Majestic theater for one day only.

The story of "The Cub" is a highly diverting one. At the time of some bitter feuds in Kentucky a newspaper editor desired a special story, and assigned a new, young reporter to the job. The clever and debonair, promptly got himself in a terrible mess by falling in love with one girl who was prominent on one side of the feud, and getting himself fallen in love with another girl who was on the opposite side.

The result, though disastrous to him, was provocative of a series of highly diverting and dangerous situations, which were finally cleared up by the intervention of the militia.

John Hines, an extremely clever comedian who has made a great reputation for himself in world film features, has a part in "The Cub" he fairly revels as the cub. There are other highly finished players in the cast.

The Empress.

Charlie Chaplin is showing today in "The Johnnie" a Keystone reissue, and Dorothy Gish stars in a two-part Majestic drama. The program is completed by a two-part Reliance, "The Americano." Thomas Jefferson and Marguerite Loveridge are featured in this story of the Mexican internal warfare as it concerned a certain American.

Robert Hammond, manager of the Mexican branch of the Manhattan Oil Company, discharges a worthless Mexican, Tonio. Boyd Norton comes on from New York to superintend the plant. He falls in love with Elaine Hammond's daughter, and they become engaged. While Norton is on duty for a week and will be glad to talk over the subject of enlisting in the regular army with any young men between the ages of 18 and thirty-five who think now of joining the military service.

RODENTS GNAWED HOLE THROUGH A LEAD PIPE

Usual Exit Stopped By Brick They Gnow Their Way Through a Heavy Lead Pipe

A piece of heavy lead pipe proved no obstacle to some rats in a local drug store last night. The rodents had been accustomed to come up into the store through a hole in the sewer pipe, but one of the employees placed a brick over this opening, thinking to prevent the rats from getting out. This morning, however, the rats had gnawed a hole through the pipe itself, cutting themselves a new passageway through the thick lead.

RELIEVED GOVERNOR WILL LEASE RUSK IRON PLANT

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Sept. 9.—It appears very likely, according to persons in a position to speak with some degree of authority, that Governor James E. 271 DOGS EXECUTED SINCE JANUARY FIRST Marked Decrease in Number of Dogs On Streets Apparent Since the Dog Catcher Started.

Considerable progress toward ridding Wichita Falls of stray and worthless dogs has been made during the present year, a total of 271 dogs having been executed since January 1st. Most of these have been taken up within the past few months. Comparatively few dogs are reclaimed by their owners and most of those impounded are soon sent to the happy hunting grounds after being advertised for sale as the law directs. Since the campaign has been in progress there has been a marked decrease in the number of dogs running at large on the streets.

In the vast hall one can see nothing but a compact homogeneous crowd of black faces and woolly heads, among which the high officials are in no way distinguished.

Chicago Grain Futures. By Associated Press. Chicago, Sept. 9.—Wheat went decidedly lower in prices today as a result of selling induced by the bearish nature of the government's crop report. Wet weather, however, tended to make the September options relatively firm. The opening which reached from 1 and 1-8 to 1 and 1-4 lower to 1-8 advance with September at 93 1-8 to 94 and December at 90 1-4 to 90 3-4 was followed by a slight rally and then a decline. Corn sagged with wheat and in consequence of the bearish crop report from Washington. After opening 1-4 off to 3-8 up the market scored something of an upturn but later suffered a moderate setback all around. Oats acted in unison with corn. Price changes were narrow with a general steady down grade. Wheat closed, Sept. 95 1-8; December 92; May 95. Corn, Sept. 71 3-8; December 57; May 59 1-4. Oats, Sept. 26; Dec. 37 7-8; May 35 1-4.

INDUSTRY'S PART IN PRESENT WAR

WITHOUT IMMENSE SUPPLIES OF SHELLS ARMIES WOULD BE HELPLESS MOBS

SENATOR HUMBERT WRITES

Member of French Military Affairs Committee Discusses Relation of Industry to War

Paris, Sept. 8.—Senator Charles Humbert, one of the leading members of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, has written for the Associated Press the following article on the relation of industry to the war. Senator Humbert has been conducting the successful campaign for the high pressure production by the whole industrial resources of France of the shells and guns which he and his colleagues consider essential to victory. He is the new proprietor of Le Journal with a circulation of about one million. Senator Humbert writes:

"The important part played by industry in the present war is due, not only to the power and the perfection of firearms, but even more to the immense number of men in line. These millions of combatants would be nothing more than a mob predestined to massacre without the tools of combat which must incessantly be supplied and renewed, and which, for their manufacture in sufficient quantities, require the mobilization of numerous factories provided with the means of turning out the most modern instrument of war.

Foresees Situation.
"Long before the war it could be seen what character the hostilities would take on. Personally, I predicted it. The Germans, especially, were very well aware of it, and it is only necessary to think for a moment of the formidable preparations they had made to realize that they could put at the service of their warlike intentions a military machinery ready to its last detail. The work they have done of recent years to renew their artillery and to supply their armies with heavy, long range guns, sufficiently widely to be able to follow the movements of their troops, was most significant. I regret very deeply that my own country, in spite of oft repeated warnings, did not follow their example. And yet, it ought to have been pretty evident that in this century of scientific progress, of machinery to the limit, supplies would play a part as important as they play in the economic life of every day.

"But the actual experience of war has gone far beyond any foresight for it. The destructive power of the firearms—rifles, machine guns, rapid fire guns of all calibers—has been so revealed on the field of battle that the combatants have had to renounce completely the system of maneuvering in open country. Every troop which attempts to advance in the open against a well-armed enemy awaiting the attack, is doomed fatally to disaster; in its instance the fire of machine guns mows down the ranks like a blade of steel mowing down grain; and the volleys of artillery methodically annihilates them, letting nothing escape.

Old Fortifications Doomed.
"That is the reason for the necessity for seeking protection, as much as may be, against these storms of steel and explosives; it is the reason for the erroneous development of field fortifications, trenches, underground chambers, redoubts, concealed shelters and so on. The old fortifications of other times, fixed, standing, out, marked in advance for the fire of the enemy's artillery, cannot hold out against the projectiles of giant cannon. But the plain ditch, scarcely a yard or two wide, easily dug, completed with invisible arrangements, the approach to which is made impracticable by means of barbed wire entanglements—that constitutes an obstacle almost impossible to be taken. Infantry, hoping to take it at a charge, will leave before such an obstacle every man, though they be innumerable. For one machine gun, five or six are sufficient to feed it, will blow down a thousand men as easily as a hundred, and ten thousand if necessary, as easily as a thousand.

"But, on the other hand, this thread-like obstacle, dug in the ground, furnishes only a very reduced target for artillery fire. To hit it, it is not enough simply to spend projectiles—they have got to be wasted to demolish the terrain under a veritable hail of devastating explosives, under a deluge of shrapnel.

"That is why the consumption of munitions and especially artillery munitions has exceeded anything that was ever conceived in time of peace. And the farther it goes, as the fortifications of the battlefields daily become more complete and more difficult to reach, the use of projectiles must be more widely foreseen.

"Moreover, this intensive firing itself wears out the guns, made only to fire some thousands of rounds, and there is therefore the necessity of replacing them incessantly. From this it is easy to see the enormous effort which must be required of the factories to keep on supplying guns and munitions. The groups of belligerents who will win this war is that which, thanks to its industry, will have been able to push the production of firearms, projectiles and explosives to the highest point and maintain it there.

Germans Can't Reach Calais.
"I have heard that a German officer, speaking to one of your compatriots, boasted that the troops of the Kaiser would take Calais whenever they will—by 'paying the price,' which he set at 50,000 killed. This boast is silly. Simply spending men will not give results. The Germans can pay our terrible three-inch guns a bloody price of fifty or five hundred thousand men if they please, without getting anywhere. But the day when, duly provisioned for that purpose, we scatter along their lines the tempests of iron and fire that we are preparing for them, they will have to abandon their burrows, and our infantry will occupy the ground gained, their guns on their shoulders, without losing a man.

"I have confidence in the final victory—a victory perhaps less distant than is believed—of France and her Allies. The advantage which the German heavy artillery had over us can only be temporary. The industrial strength of the peoples leagued together for the defense of right far surpasses that of the enemies of humanity; and the freedom of the seas permits us to profit of the labors of that great America whose sympathies, as we know, go out to the cause of the independence of peoples.

"France, in any case, has had, for centuries, the genius of artillery; once more she has given proof of this in her marvelous three-inch guns, which no German cannon anywhere near approaches in perfection. When she shall show that we fear Germany in no field, and that her pretended superiority is merely presumptuous.

(Signed)
"CHARLES HUMBERT,
"Senator of the Meuse."

Small-Size Tires Enlarged 20% Sizes 30 x 3 1/2 and 30 x 3

Goodyear tires won top place by giving more than others. For that reason alone these tires for years have outsold any rival.

This year we are giving to users of small tires three more costly extras. Now Goodyear tires in these sizes, more than ever before, excel any like-size tire.

3 More Extras

We have added 20 per cent to the air capacity. Added size, as you know, adds mileage.

We have added 30 per cent more rubber to the side walls—to the part above the rim. That's where constant bending breaks a thin-walled tire.

We have made new molds of a new design which adds endurance, we have found.

Lower Prices

These new extras alone, on this year's output, will cost us $317,000. They will save our users ten times that, perhaps.

Yet this year we made another big price reduction. It was our third in two years, totaling 45 per cent. That's one result of mammoth output—a value no one else can give.

Even in size 30x3, in Goodyears, you get a four-ply tire. In our All-Weather tread, you get a double-thick anti-skid. Now you get this extra size and extra strength. More than ever you owe yourself the use of Goodyear tires. No other tires compare with them in low cost per mile. A half-mile more means more miles.

PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS

Keeping the place up pays the biggest kind of dividends, if you only stop to think about it. Keeping the fencing repaired, the out-buildings in good shape and the leaky place in the roof patched, gives a property a value on the market, that a run-down house never has. If you need any lumber—no matter in what quantities—we will be glad to furnish it to you, and will guarantee to give you the best quality at prices as low as you can find anywhere. We take just as much pains with an order for one or two boards or a bundle of shingles as we do for a carload.
