VILLA TROOPS ENCIRCLE AGUA PRIETA AND BATTLE IS EXPECTED TOMORROW

REBEL COMMANDER COMES TO BOUNDARY TALKS TO AMERICANS

ASSURED THAT UNITED STATES TROOPS DO NOT EXPECT TO AID CARRANZA FORCES WHEN REAL BATTLE BEGINS.

DEFENDERS MAKING NO MOVE

Demand for Surrender Reported to Have Been Presented to Garrison. Villa Forces Advance Closer in the Darkness.

By Associated Press. Douglas, Arizona, November 1.—The struggle between the Villa army and Carranza forces for the possession of Agua Prieta, the Mexican border town opposite here, began at ten o'clock today, when the advancing main body of the Villa army came in contact with the outposts of the defenders. The Carranza outposts opened fire then fell back to trenches surrounding the Mexican town. Villa troops had reached a point on the west side of Agua Prieta at noon this completely encircling the town and a demand was reported to have been made for surrender by General Cates by two p. m. Carranza troops remained inactive in the trenches. Villa moved his entire force, estimated at about 10,000 men under cover of a dense haze of Douglas copper smelter smoke. The first clash occurred about three miles south of Agua Prieta. Dawn disclosed the fact that the forces of General Villa had moved closer to Agua Prieta during the night for their attack. The night passed quietly, no clashes being reported. Early in the day, United States soldiers began digging trenches well inside the lines already constructed. They are so situated as to control the eastern end of Agua Prieta as well as the advancing right wing of Villa's army. It was understood these trenches were for emergency use in the event of serious fighting across the border endangering Americans, and the possibility of their being compelled to fall back. VILLA COMES TO BORDER. General Villa himself with four officers, came to the American line to get the bearings of the international boundary. "Do you expect to take Agua Prieta today?" a United States army staff officer asked. "Sure Mike," replied Villa, grinning broadly. It was the only English he spoke. United States army officers do not believe, however, that the attack will begin in earnest until tomorrow. In Spanish, Villa inquired if the United States intended to help Gen. Cates' forces at Agua Prieta. In view of the fact that the American government had recognized Carranza and assisted reinforcements in reaching Gen. Cates. He was assured that the American forces facing the prospecting Mexican battlefield would treat both sides alike. There must be no firing across the line, he was told. Villa said he did not intend firing across the line and for this reason he wanted to get his bearings on the boundary. General Villa himself accompanied the cavalry which covered the right flank on the border. All along the line of march Villa troops passed lines of American trenches near the border. The trenches were filled with United States troops whose machine guns were in hidden positions.

Princeton-Harvard Game First Of Year In Which The "Big Fellows" Meet

CAPT. MAHAN, HARVARD, SCENE AT GAME ON PRINCETON FIELD. CAPT. GLICK, PRINCETON

Princeton and Harvard scheduled to get together on the gridiron November 6, have the best year's records of any of the teams formerly known as the "big fellows." Yale has been ground into the mud by Virginia and Washington and Jefferson, while

Pittsburg and Penn State have taken Pennsylvania's measure. Cornell's defeat of Harvard, 10 to 0 has smothered the crimson pennant, however, and Princeton has been scored upon. Lots of folks can't see another Brickley in Mahan, Harvard's captain, but he's a good enough halfback for any team in America this year. In Captain Glick of Princeton the orange and black has a first class man at running a team. The picture shows the two captains, also a scene at a football game on the Princeton field.

TWO QUIET NIGHTS ALONG RIO GRANDE

STRICT WATCH BY UNITED STATES TROOPS IS BEING MAINTAINED

NO BANDIT ACTIVITIES REPORTED

Three Hunters Who Are Mistaken for Raiders Cause Excitement Sunday Afternoon

By Associated Press. Brownsville, Texas, November 1.—The unusual precautions which have been observed for the past two nights in the Texas border country by United States troops and military authorities have been the cause of two nights of quiet on the part of bandits. Fort Brown received no information of bandit activities since the attack on the infantry detachments stationed at the Capote ranch in Hidalgo county, 75 miles northwest of here Thursday morning. The same vigilance will be maintained regularly from now on. The party of "bandits" seen on a public road near San Benito Sunday afternoon turned out to be three well armed hunters from San Benito. Their appearance created no little excitement among parties following at some distance. As a result officials have asked hunters to refrain from enjoying this sport until conditions become more settled. A United States soldier on guard duty on a public road was nearly fired on last night by an automobile party. The soldier's form in the darkness was discernible and it was not until he arose that the party recognized him as a soldier.

BULGARIANS ARE MAKING PROGRESS IN THEIR INVASION

ARE NEAR CITY OF NISH WHICH IS BEING BOMBARDED—MOVEMENTS OF ENGLAND'S TROOPS ARE BEING KEPT SECRET.

RUSSIANS REPORTED ON WAY

Force of 200,000 Said to be en Route Across Black to Attack Bulgarian Coast, which Has Been Fired Upon, By War Craft.

By Associated Press. London, Nov. 1.—The Bulgarians are closing in rapidly on Nish and have advanced so near the city that their artillery has begun a bombardment of its exterior forts, it is claimed in a Sofia dispatch. The Bulgarian war office reported today a continuation of the pursuit of the Serbians along the whole front. Repulse of a Serbian counter attack in the upper Morava region is claimed. Bulgarian troops attacked a French advance post on the Vardar in southern Serbia, but were obliged to retire after sustaining heavy losses, a Salonki dispatch states. Turkish reservists who have been engaged on the Gallipoli peninsula have been sent to Bulgarian fronts according to a report from Constantinople. Relations between Greece and Bulgaria continue friendly, it is reported by a Bucharest correspondent who points to the success of a Greek commission in negotiations for the purchase from Bulgaria of wheat which is to be exported by way of the Dedeagatch railroad to Saloniki. The British troops in the Balkans, whose movements have been kept secret since they poured into Saloniki, prepared to rush through Greece to the assistance of Serbia, are now in the trenches with their Balkan allies, at grips with the Bulgarians just across the frontier near Strumitza. Though all reports are unanimous that the Austro-German forces at the Save and Danube crossings. In Northwestern Serbia the Bulgarians, well across the Pinok river are pressing forward vigorously in order to widen the line of communication with Hungary up the Danube valley. The much discussed Russian expedition which is reported to be on the way to the Bulgarian coast, now estimated at 200,000 men, has not been heard from again. There are recurrent reports however, of further bombardment of Bulgaria forts. This may mean that in a manner paralleling conditions of a last attack, further artillery preparation is necessary before the Russians attempt to gain a foothold on the coast.

CLAY COUNTY GOES STRONG AGAINST TICK

RESOLUTION CARRIES SATURDAY MAJORITY OF ABOUT FOUR TO ONE.

DEPARTED EARLIER IN YEAR

Voters Reconsider, However—Four Northwest Texas Counties to Go Above Line.

Although complete returns are not available, advices from Henrietta this morning stated that the election Saturday resulted in an overwhelming victory for the advocates of tick eradication. The eradication measure carried by about four to one, receiving a majority in nearly every box in the county. Clay county followed the example of Archer, first rejecting the proposition, then later reconsidering and accepting it by a decisive vote. The northern half of Clay county had already adopted eradication and Saturday's result means that the entire county will go above the line. Within the past few months, Wilbarger, Wichita, Archer and Clay counties have voted for eradication. Meetings are to be held this fall in Garza and Jack county and the prospect is that a large block of Northwest Texas will have been added to the tick free territory before the end of the year.

ARMY AVIATORS TO VISIT THIS CITY, PLAN LONG FLIGHT

SIX AEROPLANES TO FLY FROM FORT SILL TO FORT SAM HOUSTON LATE THIS MONTH OR EARLY IN DECEMBER

WILL STOP HERE OVERNIGHT

Captain Writes Requesting That Arrangements Be Made For Landing and Camping Place For Members of Squadron

Six aeroplanes, constituting an aerial squadron of the United States army, will stop at Wichita Falls on a cross country flight from Fort Sill at Lawton to Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, according to advices received here this morning. The flight will be made sometime between November 29 and December 7. Captain R. D. Foulis, commanding the aero squadron, notified Mayor Brian by letter of the plans, and requested him to make arrangements for the occasion. The aviators will spend one night here. The captain requested that a large open field, in or near the city, be designated as a landing and camping place for the squadron and this will be provided. The aviators will be preceded by some army officers in an automobile which will make the preliminary arrangements. This flight, said to be the first of the kind ever attempted by American army aviators, will bring to this city six machines and the event is expected to be one of much interest. It has not yet been decided where the landing place will be, but the necessary arrangements will be completed as promptly as possible. The flight is to start from Fort Sill, and the aviators plan to stop here the first night, continuing their journey southward in the morning. It is understood to be in the nature of a practice trip to determine the efficacy of the aerial corps of the army, which has been enlarged and developed considerably within the past year. It will be very largely increased if the plans of the war department receive the approval of Congress. Mayor Brian has replied to Captain Foulis' letter, assuring him that all necessary arrangements will be made and that Wichita Falls will be glad to have the party stop here. Captain Foulis gave assurance in his letter that payment would be made for any damage done by the machines in alighting or departing. In going from here to San Antonio the aviators are expected to follow the approved travel routes, going first to Fort Worth and following the lines of the Katy railroad to their destination.

Calendar of Anti Alchol Action In Europe Since Outbreak of War

France: August 1914: A few days after the outbreak of war the Military Governors of Paris and Lyons prohibited the sale of absinthe in their territory. On August 18 the French Government enjoined Prefects to take the same step in their Department. February 12, 1915: The President of the French Republic issued a decree and exportation of absinthe, throughout France. The French Chamber of Deputies, by 451 votes to 52, passed a bill suppressing for all time the manufacture, sale and exportation of absinthe. "Similar Drinks" to absinthe were also prohibited. The Senate ratified the measure. April: General Joffre forbade the sale of spirits to the French army in the war-zone. June: General Goyan forbade the sale of spirits to the soldiers of the British and Belgian armies in Normandy. July: General Gallieni, Military Governor of Paris, forbade the sale of spirits to the troops in the Paris command. October: The sale of liquor before noon forbidden and sale to women and children prohibited. Right of private manufacture of alcoholic liquors repealed. "Though evident drunkenness is unusual in France," says Arno Dosch, "in certain parts of the country the workmen are never thoroughly sober. They are always under the false stimulation of alcohol."

Russia: July 31, 1914: By order of the Czar all wine shops, beer saloons, and Government vodka shops were closed during mobilization. The order prohibited, during this period, the sale of all intoxicants, except in first-class hotels and restaurants. September 16: A further order prohibited the sale of vodka and all spirits until the end of the war. October 11: The Tsar, in answer to a great petition from the Russian people asking that the prohibition of the State sale of vodka should be made permanent, said: "I have decided to prohibit forever in Russia the Government sale of vodka." October 23: Local government bodies throughout Russia were empowered to petition for the prohibition of the sale of all strong drinks. This power of petition has been freely used. Petitions have usually been granted, so that in most of the principal cities the sale of wines and beer was severely restricted or prohibited. The Russian Government acquired the business of selling vodka in 1894. On February 10, 1915, M. Kharitonov, the Russian Treasury Controller, said in the Duma: "Russia has entered the path of resolute conflict with the ancient national curse, intemperance, which weakened the will, strength and enterprise of the population, and destroyed its well-being." On January 30, 1914 the Tsar had sent an historic letter to M. Barck, the new Minister of Finance, in which he said: "It is not meet that the welfare of the exchequer should be dependent upon the ruin of the spiritual and productive energies of numbers of my loyal subjects." Because of prohibition, Russia was able to complete her initial mobilization in sixteen days instead of a month, and was actually under way weeks in advance of the day that either Germany or Austria had counted on. In August, 1915, Prof. Pares, the official British eye-witness with the Russian forces, said: "I can state with certainty that there is not one case of drunkenness in the whole Russian army." In 1913 the State savings banks of Russia showed savings of 38,000,000 rubles, or about half that sum in dollars. In 1914 the amount was 95,300,000 rubles. In the four months only of 1915 the amount was 198,900,000 rubles. The increase was evidently due to prohibition. The amount of revenue surrendered by the Russian Government was approximately $300,000,000. All sources testify to the benefits of the policy.

Germany: It is known that: (1) During the first period of mobilization (i. e., until August 11, 1914) the sale of alcohol was forbidden in German towns. There were wild scenes of intoxication when the Order was withdrawn. (2) The sale of spirits to soldiers in uniform has been prohibited in certain areas. (3) For economic reasons local authorities were given power in March 1915, to limit the supply and sale of spirits. (4) The quantity of beer which can be brewed throughout the German Empire has been limited to 40 per cent of the average output, so as to preserve barley or bread. August 12, 1914: Powers were given the Naval and Military Authorities to close at any time licensed premises in or near a fortified place. August 31: Intoxicating Liquor (temporary restriction) act became law. November 18: War tax on beer. February 28, 1915: Mr. Lloyd George, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated at Bangor that war work was being delayed by the drinking habits of a minority of the workers. "Drink is doing us more damage in the war than all the German submarines put together," he said. March 17: Mr. Lloyd George told a Conference of Trade Union representatives—convened at the request of the Government—that drinking habits were "gravely interfering" with the output and transport of munitions of war. March 26: The Executive of the Transport Workers' Federation "in the interests of national well-being," urged the Government "to take immediate decisive action to reduce the results of intemperance to a minimum." March 29: A deputation from the Shipbuilding Employers' Federation waited on the Chancellor and urged "the total prohibition during the period of the war of the sale of excisable liquors." Mr. Lloyd George said in reply, "Nothing but root-and-branch methods will be of the slightest avail in dealing with this evil. I am permitted to say that King is very deeply concerned on this very question." March 30: Lord Stamfordham Chancellor expressing deep concern at the delay, "without doubt largely due to drink," in the output and transport of munitions. "The King will be prepared," he added, "to set the example by giving up all alcoholic liquor himself, and issuing orders against its consumption in the Royal Household, so that no difference shall be made so far as His Majesty is concerned between the treatment of the rich and poor in this question." April 29: The Government Drink Bill introduced. May 2: An official return published, setting out the evidence of delays, attributed to drink, in the output and transport of munitions. May 7: The proposed heavy taxes on liquor withdrawn in face of the opposition of the liquor trade. May 19: The proposals for complete State control of the liquor traffic in war-work areas became a law. May 26: A Central Control Board appointed to exercise the new powers of the State in war-work areas. June 10: Powers of the Central Control Board announced. These powers permit the Board to deal with the liquor situation in war-work areas absolutely as may seem best to them. On March 29, 1915, Hon. David Lloyd George made his famous statement, "We are fighting Germany, Austria and drink, and as far as I can see the greatest of these three deadly foes is drink." Lord Kitchener warned the expeditionary force against wine and intemperance propaganda movements have been numerous and vigorous. The majority of the leading military and naval men are setting an example of total abstinence. It has been well said that in Great Britain it was the normal drink evil which was suddenly seen to be a great menace to national safety and welfare. Drinking was not abnormal after the outbreak of war. The estimated national drink bill for 1914 was $10,000,000 less than for 1913. Strong drink, not in exceptional quantities, but as Great Britain had used itself to liquor, was threatening the life of the nation.

Neutral Countries. In Denmark the sale of liquor to soldiers in certain districts has been prohibited and the manufacture of alcohol from potatoes and various kinds of corn forbidden. In Norway steps were taken to curtail the consumption of liquors, and prohibition is at the present time a political issue. In Sweden the measures taken resulted in decreasing the consumption of liquor by half. Eventual prohibition is certain. In Switzerland the Federal Council prohibited the use of grain and potatoes in the making of spirits.

ROUMANIAN ARMY IS WELL TRAINED AND EQUIPPED WITH ARTILLERY

ROUMANIAN ARTILLERYMEN WITH MAXIM GUN

Roumania's attitude in the war is the most important theatre of war. King Ferdinand, a member of the Prussian royal and German imperial house, is said to favor the Teutonic powers, or at least neutrality, but many of the people, perhaps a majority, have pro-Russian sentiments.

AT THE THEATERS

"WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE" IS REGULAR STYLE SHOW

An advance note says: Thousands of dollars' worth of women's gowns, cloaks, coats and hats were displayed on living models in the rooms of the Orange Costume Company in New York recently. The exhibition was strictly by invitation to the society matrons and maids of New York—and there wasn't a man present. Men were barred, as those who accompanied their wives and sweethearts to the exhibition found out to their chagrin and sorrow. The living models, thirty in number were from the cast and chorus of "When Dreams Come True" and the costumes exhibited were those to be worn by the ladies in the production of "When Dreams Come True."

The Gem. Myrtle Tannehill is featured in a three part Kaleid, "Broadway Star" feature, "The Barnstormers." A synopsis is given. Adam, the proprietor of a country hotel, loses his heart to Nell, a southerner. Unknown to the old man, the girl and her son Jack, were formerly sweethearts, had quarreled because of her refusal to leave the stage. Knowing of Adam's love for Nell, Mason, the leading man and Eppelestein, the manager induce him to finance the show. This is on its last legs. The members of the company stop at Adam's hotel while in Preston and this Nell meets Jack again. Upon her refusal to give up the stage, Jack angrily leaves her. When the show departs early next morning, Adam goes with it. Nell is fascinated by Mason and the latter plays her against Clara, who also fancies she loves him. Nell does not know that it is Adam's money which is backing the show. When she does discover the manner in which the old man is being fleeced, she promptly declares her intention of quitting the company.

The conspirators vainly plead with the girl. Desperate, Mason and Eppelestein kidnap Adam and wire Jack in the kid man's name asking him to telegraph $500. His suspicious aroused Jack determines to investigate. In the meantime, Nell has discovered Adam's predicament. Securing assistance, she rescues him just as Jack arrives. In gratitude Adam advances enough money to send all the members, with the exception of the mothers home. Nell sticks to the stage, returns to Preston with Jack and his father. The latter learns of their love affair and concealing his own love, gives them his blessing.

The Empress. In "Rags" the great story of a girl's rise from the lowest strata of life to a position of social importance through which she finds it possible to marry the man she loves, when she thought her life over, she is raked over coals by the netted socialists. Edith Piaf, the Deano, finds a typically effective characterization. This original playlet is the latest production of the Famous Players Film Company on the Paramount program, starring the world beloved "Little Mary" which will be seen at the first time at the Empress today. There is substantial material in "Rags" on which to build one of those great photoplays in which the Famous Players have always succeeded in presenting their most popular star. There is melodrama in some parts of the story, refined by a touch of delicacy inseparable from all Miss Pickford's impersonations. Little Mary herself is the crowning glory of the subject and the manner in which she illustrates her emergence from the sordid world into which her father's drunkenness places her, is worthy of the art of a Bernard. Her portrayal of Rags becomes much more than the display of a winsome personality, but as the story advances to tense climaxes and grows in dramatic interest, Miss Pickford transforms herself from a charming little character of moods and whims into an actress of true power and effectiveness.

The Majestic. Valentine Grant and Sidney Olcott are featured in three part Lubin, a story of the Irish maid in the Emerald Isles. The story of this three act photo comedy drama plays in the hills and dales of Ireland, in the busy streets of New York and in the boundless West. It is a story of Dan Murphy who loves Peggy Sullivan, but who is too poor to think of matrimony. Dan sells his one cow, bids farewell to the weeping Peggy and sets sail across the Atlantic for the promised land of plenty. Arriving there he makes tracks for a mining camp where he has many adventures until he strikes it rich. Immediately he writes Peggy, sending her money to come on to be married. But the mail bag containing his precious missive falls from the stage coach and is rifled by a marauding Indian. In the meantime Peggy is very much worried, for she has not heard from Dan for weeks. Finally she can stand it no longer. Her aunt has died and she sells the few things she possesses and begins the journey to America. Arriving in America she goes to Dan's last known address and on the way meets two working girls who befriend her. Dan has disappeared, however, and the only clue to his whereabouts is a picture card bearing the postmark of the western mining camp. Undaunted, Peggy packs up her few belongings and in the course of time arrives at the camp to the intense delight of Dan.

"THE SONG OF HATE" AT THE MAJESTIC TUESDAY "The Song of Hate," which is based upon Sardou's celebrated, modern dramatic work "La Tosca," reveals a story singularly well adapted to the dramatic talents of Betty Nansen, the royal actress, who has already been seen in such William Fox's successes as "The Celebrated Scandal," "Anna Karenina," "A Woman's Resurrection" and "Should a Mother Tell." The story of "The Song of Hate" is one that strikes deep into the throbs of the sexual relations between modern men and women. Written in Sardou's most trenchant style, it bites and scorches like acid the frailties of our modern civilization.

My Leader. When earthly joys have all passed by, And clouds are lowering in the sky, Though oft by human hopes deceived, I know in whom I have believed, And although gloomy seems the day, When traveling on life's weary way, I know that he has said to me, "That as the day thy strength shall be."

And so, while trusting in his word, I lean upon my gracious Lord, And feel what'er my lot may be, "Still, by his hand, he leadeth me." It may be that the path is rough, Still, if he leads, it is enough, For on his word I will depend; "Lo, I am with you till the end." -Mary McFarland.

JAMES CALVERT HALLOWEEN HOY FRIEDAY EVENING. Friday night James Calvert Jr., entertained a number of friends with a Halloween party. The usual games were played and superstitions of All Hallow's Eve were observed in the entertainment of the evening. Bobbing for apples was a popular sport and at a late hour refreshments of apples, pop corn, soda pop and candy were served. The guests included Lowery-Crites, Herbert Franklin, Malcolm Terrill, Agnes Belote, John Sides, Guy Horton, Leity Joe Horton, Hortense Horton, Clifford Summers, William Crosby, Boyd Crosby, Harold McConnell, Mary Ellen Crosby, Vera Crosby and Frances Virginia Raymond.

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT CHAMBERS HOME SATURDAY. Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Chambers the girls of the summer house party at Lake Wichita entertained the young men of the party with a masquerade ball. Mr. and Mrs. Chambers were the chaperones on the occasion of the house party the party being all the more pleasant for this association. The Chambers home was in gala attire with witches and black cats and pumpkin jack o'lanterns in every nook and corner. The guests were all in fancy dress—of masked disguise. Misses Celia Stoyton, Hazel Robson and Lillian Bell tied in this contest, Miss Robson cutting the prize. An apple bob was held and music was a feature and as the hour grew late the company seated themselves in a ring on the floor and with the lights turned low, told ghost stories of the hair raising variety. The refreshment course consisted of salad, sandwiches, divines, potato chips, doughnuts, apples and coffee. The girls were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. D. M. Hardy, mother of Mrs. Chambers. Those enjoying the evening were: Misses Lillian Bell, Celia Stoyton, Daisy Stewart, Nell Bullock, Hazel Robson, Annette Coffield, Messrs Howard English, Connor, John Butte, Gyle Berry, Andrews, Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Berry and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Chambers.

A cat contest was instituted as soon as all the guests had arrived and the prizes in this contest went to Misses Nina Davenport, Helen Alverson, Apple ducking, fortune telling and numerous other games were in order and Mr. Morgan led in the telling of numerous ghost stories. Refreshments of chocolate and pop corn were served to the following: Misses Alleen Alverson, Goldie Alverson, Patsy Koonce, Irene Danielson, Katherine Crain, Thora Fore, Mary Hull, Beulah Walker, Jewell Brown, Nina Davenport, Burleigh Davenport, Emma Carter, Dollie Hull and Violet Treathan.

The guests in Mrs. Culbertson's class in the First Presbyterian Sunday school of which Frank is a member were bidden to the Nicholson home Saturday and when Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson arrived they found the class in pillow case and sheet masks to greet them. The decorations were in keeping with the day and all the stunts and games partook of a spooky nature. Misses Hazel and Frances Hunter in goblin attire entertained the guests with vocal selections and a reading, especially appropriate for Halloween and the same idea was featured in the refreshment course.

STILLWELL WYATT HOSTESS AT HALLOWEEN PARTY. Master Stillwell Wyatt was numbered among the Halloween hosts entertaining a score or more of friends Saturday evening at the Westland Hotel. The guests came masked and were greeted by the host and his mother and sisters, all in goblin attire and immediately after their arrival all entered into a round of games and contests which lasted until about 10:30. The Satanic cave was visited, the gypsy den where the fortunes of all were told and several exciting contests were held. A ghost walk was also a feature. The large club room was festooned overhead with yellow and black streamers and greenery with countless tiny colored lights gleaming from the vines with here and there a large yellow jack o' lanterns. The guests were served a witches supper, each article being given a fantastic name on the menu place cards which were decorated with black cats and pumpkins. Afternoon Frocks For Fall Wear Showing Many Novel Features. New York, Oct. 30.—There are many interesting plays in town; afternoon teas are among the social demands and the tea rooms of the Ritz, Plaza, Astor and Vanderbilt are once more gay with the laughing chatter of many voices. The charming array of gowns makes these more public places wonderfully interesting. The dark rich velvets, combined with satins, taffetas, broadcloths and velours are most effective and wintry looking with the touch of fur which almost invariably appears on some part of the gown.

The Popularity of the Jumper. Perhaps the most generally favored style of gown or blouse is the jumper; there is the little jumper bodice made with narrow shoulder straps, crossing suspender fashion down the back or continuing down each side of the back in straight lines. The sleeveless blouse in various styles is popular, too, with sleeves of satin, taffeta, or crepe Georgette. Many of the blue serge gowns, and the heavier fabrics, such as duvety and velours de laine, are made this way, as many dislike a heavy sleeve. This is also an economical idea, as the sleeves may be varied; a pair of satin or taffeta may do service for morning and by substituting a gumpe of self tone chiffon. Another material favored for contrasting sleeves is broadened grosgrain; a blue serge, for instance, is made with a gumpe of blue grosgrain broadened in gold, with charmingly harmonious effect.

Among the dressier afternoon frocks the use of velvet combined in various ways with satin, faille or taffeta, striped or plain, is most agreeable. One charming little frock was made with the lower section of the skirt in velvet, arranged in a Wall of Troy design; this same effect was carried out in the lower section of the bodice, which was also of the black velvet. The upper part of skirt was of striped gros de Londres, and the upper part of the bodice of crepe Georgette. On another interesting costume a jumper blouse of velvet was worn with a pleated skirt of faille, banded around the lower edge with the velvet.

The Swish of the Petticoat. The very name of the petticoat has brought smiles, now, for a season or two, but there is no garment more delightfully feminine. Its gay little ruffles enhance the attractiveness of a dainty ankle and its soft swish delights the heart of the really feminine person, no matter how independent she may have been of it for the past season or two. It has really returned this winter after many in-hole; this being a decided departure. Most of the blouses button straight down the front, from the top of the collar and, as a general rule, are made with a short peplum, or are so arranged that they may be worn over the skirt. Hats are fascinating in their quaintness this season; the crown on most of them is of a necessity high, with narrow brim, stiff but slightly drooping, after the manner of the Directoire period. The wider brimmed hats often form a poque in front, and now and then a small ostrich tip or two nestles against the hair. Some of the high crowned hats have a softening fringe of lace or maline falling over the edge of the brim; this, however has nothing of the bizarre in effect.

U. S. AND FRANCE MAY SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES. By Associated Press. Paris, October 27.—Hope is expressed in commercial circles of Paris that after the war France will see her way to granting the United States most favored nation rights. Nothing can be done in this direction during the war, but the possibility of action later is under consideration by French fiscal authorities.

At present complaints by the two countries against each other's tariff systems are mutual. French exporters assert that the United States tariff unfairly restricts their American market, and American merchants object to the enforcement against them of the maximum rates of the French maximum and minimum tariff, while rather was in enjoyment of most-favored-nation treatment in accordance with the treaty of Frankfurt.

As answer to the French assertion it is pointed out that notwithstanding the alleged high American duties, French export trade to America largely and steadily increased from the opening of the century to the year 1913, except during 1905, a year countries and that, as French trade with America is mostly in articles of luxury for the rich, the latter can easily bear the higher prices caused by the duty.

"But if it increased in spite of the tariff," rejoins the Frenchman, "how much more would it not have increased if the tariff were more favorable."

That the increase would have occurred is not considered by American authorities as proved. They look for the expansion of French trade with America, and particularly for successful French rivalry with Germany, in another direction. In effect they say to the French: "You must broaden the bases of your trade by the production of cheaper classes of goods on a large scale, and for this purpose you must reorganize your industries." The advice is not very palatable to the French, who are more influenced by tradition than perhaps any other people. Still, something is being done for an association has been formed since the war began with the special object of capturing German trade by the federation of French industries.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anne Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from a womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 45 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16."

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too. Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

WATCHING FOR ZEPPELINS IS NEW DUTY FOR CONSUMERS

By Associated Press. London, November 1.—Watching for Zeppelins is a new form of volunteer duty not yet recognized by the government. It is undertaken by men who have nervous women to look after and it consists of searching the sky from 9 p. m. until about 2 a. m., on the period of the night the "Zeps" are likely to operate.

In the districts which have been bombed heretofore, the feeling of uneasiness is still strong, especially in families with children, as time is needed to carry them to the basement or lower floor. Here the watchers organize themselves and divide up the watches. While they are not officially recognized, they are known and unofficially recognized by the police. These organizations practice surprise drills, and have arranged telephone connections with the small shopkeepers who have friends in the suburbs.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 1, 1915.

Now, if you bought it in October, pay for it in November. But don't forget to buy it in Wichita Falls. That's the principal thing to do. No town can ever expect to do much if its citizens send their money away from home for purchases that could just as well be made right here at home.

The note of this government to England, protesting in the matter of American shipping to neutral countries, is now on the way to England, and is said to contain 10,000 words. England, of course, will take her own time in making reply, and when the reply is made, it will probably be in such a way as to evade the questions involved and thereby call for a further exchange of notes of protest.

According to the press dispatches General Villa, who has his army estimated at from 10,000 to 18,000 men, at or near Agua Prieta, State of Sonora, which is near the border at Douglas, Ariz., learned for the first time on yesterday that the United States had permitted Carranza to move about 5,000 of his troops over American territory in order to reinforce his troops at Agua Prieta, which place Villa says he intends to take. On learning the attitude the American government had pursued he seems to have become indignant, and said that if necessary he would fight the American troops across the border, if that had to be done in order to whip Carranza's army. When told of the action of the American government, Villa is reported to have said: "This is the way the United States repays me for the treatment and protection I have given foreigners in Mexico—or in my territory. I am through with the United States. I can fight my battles. Let them fight theirs. I can whip Carranza and his entire army, but it is asking a great deal to whip the United States also, but I suppose I can do that too." The next few days now, will determine whether Villa was just talking, or meant business. Our own idea is that if he meant what he said, the war in Mexico will come to a speedy conclusion, so far as the part he and his army are playing in that affair.

The Waco Tribune holds to the belief that Congressman Henry Edwards reserves much if not most of the credit for the action of the secretary of the treasury in making 6 per cent money available for the cotton farmer who wants to store his cotton. In this we are inclined to agree with the Tribune and believe in giving the Waco congressman the credit. If Bob Henry can give the "moneydevil" another chance or two and succeed in giving us all 6 and 3 per cent money, we stand ready to give him further credit.—Bonham News.

The very fact that the Federal government has made it possible for cotton producers to get money on their cotton at 6 per cent interest and less has enabled them to hold their cotton off the market until the price justified selling. They can now store their cotton and borrow about as much or more on it than they would have been forced to sell it for under the old mortgage system, with the man who furnished them with supplies pressing the cotton producer for his money, and about the only way the cotton producer had of settling his debts was to dump his cotton on the market and take what was offered, or else pay exorbitant rates of interest in order to hold his cotton for a better price. There can be no doubt but that Congressman Henry is entitled to and should be given a great deal of the credit for securing for cotton producers of the South this cheap money. It has added at least two or three cents per pound to cotton. The one regrettable feature about this cheap cotton money is that a few, perhaps many of the banks and bankers throughout the cotton raising states are not in thorough sympathy with the Federal government in this matter. They rather take the view that it is interfering with their business.

administration and other platform pledges

In what way can the Republicans attack the Democratic tariff? What do they know about its virtues or defects? And how can they know its value or its undesirability until it can be tested in normal times?

Surely they can not say that the tariff has permitted a flood of cheap foreign goods to derange and injure American industry, because as a matter of fact our imports from Europe have been negligible. On the other hand, our exports have reached unprecedented figures. The Democrats can with as much reason claim that their tariff law has built up American export trade as the Republicans can claim that it has depressed industry.

Moreover, important changes are to be made in the tariff law before the national conventions meet to make their nominations. Admitting the unfortunate handling of the Mexican situation up to this time, we may yet ask what did the Republican administration do toward solving that knotty problem? Mr. Wilson inherited it from Mr. Taft.

As for the European situation, the Republicans will find that a dangerous question. They may attempt to array the German-Americans against the president, but for every German-American they win over, they are likely to lose from other nationalities, to say nothing of the native American stock. The best thought of the country is pretty well united in the opinion that, considering the difficulties encountered, the European question in all its phases has been handled with patience, skill and success.

And what will the Republicans say with respect to the Federal reserve bank system after their failure for nearly fifty years to give the country safe and flexible currency system?

And when the administration naval and military program shall have been completed, as it will be before the congressional session, what will they say to their long period of neglect to give the country adequate defenses?

Pretermittin the question of the tariff law as a reform not yet tested, and reforms yet to be enacted, what administration in fifty years has such a record of constructive achievements as Mr. Wilson's has.

Of course, it is the law of politics for the minority party to find all the faults, real or imaginary, but how can it hope to convince the people in the face of the remarkable record which lies to the credit of President Wilson?

SENATOR MORGAN WAS RIGHT

Senator Morgan of Alabama worked faithfully and long for an Isthmian canal, but wanted it through Nicaragua, and many now believe that he was right, since the canal is closed. It will require several months to remove the ten million yards of earth cavings and sludges, and that means some more millions more of expense. How many more millions will be needed to make the canal safe and secure would be unsafe to gamble on. That canal should have been a sea level waterway instead of the lock and dam system. It would be far better should an enemy attack the canal. When the works are disabled the canal is useless. It is also less expensive to maintain the sea level system.—Sherman Democrat.

Goldsborough Prepares For Hot Election

GOV. GOLDSBOROUGH

The announcement over the coming election in Maryland is intense. Trouble is feared in some of the cities and Governor Goldsborough has been appealed to. Maryland will elect a governor, comptroller of the state treasury, attorney general, a full house of delegates and half of the state senate. In addition, four constitutional amendments will be voted upon, and local minor officers will be chosen in the counties and Baltimore city. Candidates to succeed Governor Goldsborough, Republican, are Ovington-Weller, Republican; Emerson Harrington, Democrat and George Gorsuch, prohibitionist.

The constitutional amendments are for the referendum, a new taxation scheme, home rule for cities and parole in criminal cases. The referendum plan is practically the same as that followed in other states except that the Maryland proposition includes a prohibition against the use of the referendum in any local option or license legislation.

EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR WINS PRAISE

ONLY FACTORY PRODUCTS ARE INCLUDED IN THIS COUNTY'S DISPLAY

DECLARED TO BE EYEOPENER

Gave Visitors to Fair New Idea of City's Importance as Manufacturing Center

Although none of Wichita county's agricultural products were on display at the Dallas Fair, this year, the manufacturing exhibit has attracted much favorable comment, all of the local factories being represented. Commenting upon the booth, the Dallas News of Sunday says:

"Departure from the usual nature of county exhibits at the State Fair is represented this year from Wichita county. Instead of representing agricultural products of the county, as has been done for many years, the Chamber of Commerce of Wichita Falls sent a variety of products from the forty manufacturing plants of that city, making the exhibit one consisting exclusively of manufactured articles. It has been an eye opener to many thousands of people visiting the fair, as the growth of the manufacturing industry in this Texas county has been so rapid that but comparatively few people realized its great extent."

J. T. Young of Wichita Falls, who has charge of the Wichita county exhibit for the last ten years, is in charge again this year. There are about forty factories of various kinds in Wichita Falls. The value of their output amounts to more than $5,800,000 annually. There are almost 1,500 employees engaged in the manufacture of these products, making a monthly payroll of $30,000.

It would take a long list to enumerate the many things made in Wichita Falls and shown in the exhibit. There are gas heaters, building and drainage tile, brick and brooms. In glass products there is shown window glass, fruit jars and bottles. In crockery are to be seen jugs, churns, water coolers, cuspidors, flower pots, flue connections, etc.

Many representing the work of a motor truck manufacturing plant in which everything except the motor cylinder is cast and cut in Wichita Falls, and all the machine work on this one part is done there. It is stated that this plant comes nearer making all the parts and doing all the finishing on its product than any other plant in the country.

There are wire fence stays, foundry products of different kinds, including brass and iron castings, shoe shoes for locomotives and cars, journal boxes, grates, etc. Sweeping compounds, candy and cigars are other of the manufactured products of that place.

"Ours is a good location for factories," said Mr. Young. "Fuel is cheap as the price of natural gas for manufacturing purposes is as low as 4c per thousand. The Petrolia gas fields, sixteen miles east of Wichita Falls produces 600,000,000 cubic feet daily. The price of gas for domestic use is 25c. We have one of the best flouring mills and elevators

SAYS RACE SUICIDE THREATENING FRANCE

THE ARCHBISHOP OF RHEIMS IS WAGING CAMPAIGN AGAINST DEPOPULATION.

MANY PHASES OF QUESTION

Steps to Prevent Childless Marriages Are Being Proposed as a Remedy.

By Associated Press.

Paris, Nov. 1.—Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims, whose seventy-two years do not prevent him from sticking to his shell battered post, has found time to continue his campaign against the depopulation of France, a subject upon which he is a recognized authority. He has written for the Associated Press views on the effect of war upon the birth rate that are particularly interesting in view of the revival of religious interest shown by increased attendance at all religious services through France.

"The origin of the question," he writes, "is obviously in childless marriages. Find out why marriages are childless and we may find the remedy lies. Economists have pointed out debauch, unhealthy literature, alcohol, selfishness and avarice as some of the causes; they have accordingly proposed as remedies the suppression of vice, censorship of literature, prohibition of alcohol, public aid to large families with relief from military duties, ensured employment, lighter taxes on fathers and heavier burdens on bachelors and childless married men."

"All these methods are good as far as they go; all should be tried since every man who loves his country cannot be indifferent to the growth of a real vice, amounting to a social disease which imperils not only the prosperity but the existence of a nation.

"The war will accentuate the campaign against depopulation by compelling attention to the mowing down of so many men in the flower of their age, the suppression of so many sources of life. It will no doubt hasten the adoption of some if not all the measures proposed but economic methods do not take a man's soul into account; so long as the conscience is untouched so long will economic measures be fruitless.

"Religion reaches, governs and modifies the intimate thoughts that govern man's actions—inspires him to a duty that is imposed by the most indisputable authority—that of his Creator. It also assures to duty done a reward that infinitely surpasses in value and duration the fleeting troubles and sacrifices imposed by duty.

"Under the influence of religion obedience to the laws of the married state become spontaneous and generous through the most powerful personal interests that it encourages. To those that close the sources of life in order to escape fatigue and trouble or to avoid the diversion of inheritance and assure to their heirs lives of pleasure without work, religion recalls that the conjugal state was not instituted by the author of nature for the satisfaction of the senses, or for the personal enjoyment of two persons—that man here below has other interests than that of personal satisfaction; other riches than those of the earth.

"To everyone religion shows the nobility of fatherhood which associates them with the creative power of God; thereby they contribute to the giving of life to his children whose souls are immortal and whom God destined to eternal happiness.

"Let us then rehabilitate and inspire these religious beliefs; with them will be reborn Christian ways and with Christian ways will again come the observance, through conviction and through love, of the holy laws of marriage and of the family, and in a large proportion, the rebuilding of the home.

"I do not pretend that religion may, of itself, cure the evil. I merely point out that therein is found for Christians the most powerful succor against the evil—the most efficacious encouragement to the duty which we seek to stimulate.

"We must not forget that the task of married people is grave and arduous; the duties of parents are heavy, above all among the classes that depend on their daily work for their daily bread. I have labored among such for twenty years and have often received the confidences of honest fathers of families who, with only their modest daily earnings, to live upon; asked themselves whether they should risk more children than they could feed. Religious considerations were the only ones that could encourage and give support to such fathers; their reliance was confidence in providence.

"Providence makes use of secondary causes; it is the honor and duty of those who possess power and fortune to become its instruments. To the moral force of religion material aid must be added. Legislators, employers—all those who are favored with wealth must apply their good will to lighten the burdens of fathers of large families, help them procure the needed resources to do honor to and protect the family and make the way easy for the education of their children.

"I do not believe in radical measures that would take from every healthy man without children his rights of citizenship; that seems to be contrary to the liberty conscience and dignity of man."

been built and next year a mill will be added to it."

Shown in the exhibit is a great variety of mill products. There are two thousand of mills in Wichita

ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF SHOT GUN WOUNDS YOUTH

Gerald Bassett Receives Charge in Shoulder and Serious Injury is Inflicted

Gerald Bassett, the fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Beasett, 1006 Seventh street, was seriously injured by the accidental discharge of a shot gun at the Fort Worth & Denver tank near Iowa Park Sunday afternoon.

Young Bassett was one of a party of duck hunters at the tank. He had crawled up to where a companion was lying and had arisen with the butt end of his double barreled shot gun on the ground. Both barrels were cocked and in some manner which cannot be explained one of the barrels was discharged. It is evident that the muzzle of the gun was under his left arm.

It will be necessary for young Bassett to remain at Iowa Park for some time until the wound heals so that he can be moved without danger of breaking the flesh.

TURKEY WELL PLEASED WITH HER PERFORMANCE IN WAR

By Associated Press. Berlin, November 1.—Enver Bey, the Turkish War Minister, assured the Turkish Parliament that all was going well with the Turkish arms, in a speech delivered shortly after the re-assembling of that body.

The total number of troops thus far recruited by Turkey, declared Enver Bey, exceeds two millions.

The speech began with a reference to the work of reconstruction carried on by Turkey after the loss of prestige in her last previous war.

"After the last war," he said, "which led to a loss of territory and to an attack on our dignity, the War Ministry followed the example of the other departments in working for the rebirth of the Fatherland, by endeavoring to assemble the scattered portions of the army."

"The geographical position of our country and the old relations with our neighbors, whose attitude might influence us, obliged us to be on our guard, whilst the lack of means of communication made it a necessity to get to work at once."

The whole nation hastened to arm itself with an enthusiasm which had scarcely been looked for. A great army was mustered. The war went on, and the trend of events followed us. We were doing all we could to avoid being drawn in, but the first shots in the Black Sea compelled us to take

SIXTH ARREST MADE TODAY IN BOMB CONSPIRACY CASE

FOOTBALL AND OTHER THINGS AT ELECTRA

WICHITA FALLS TEAM HHAS SMALL END OF 17-0 SCORE SUNDAY

MANY UNPLEASANT FEATURES

Reception Not Entirely Cordial and Officials of Game Are Threatened by Crowd

Electra defeated the Wichita Falls football team Sunday afternoon at Electra by the score of 17 to 0. The victory may be credited, not to the Electra team, but to the spectators as well as it was their conduct that counted most toward the result. The Wichita Falls team, opposed by a much heavier squad on one side, and with several hundred spectators on hand to lend its "moral support," was about as happily situated as Serbia.

In spite of the superior weight of the Electra team and the unquestioned excellence of its playing, the victory was not one to which either the team or the Electra fans can point with any pride, as the unsportsmanlike and discourteous treatment accorded the visiting players and the officials contributed very decidedly to the score. Wichita Falls twice crossed the Electra goal line, Mathis taking the ball on both times. The first touchdown was not allowed when the head linesman, an Electra man, declared that Wichita Falls' players were offside.

It was when Mathis scored another touchdown, running the full length of the field, that the mob scene was staged. Electra had been close to the Wichita Falls goal and was apparently about to score when Referee Stanforth stopped the game a moment until the crowd, which seemed to consider side-lines as purely ornamental, could be gotten off the field. While the Wichita Falls players were waiting for the crowd to get back and before the referee ordered play resumed, the Electra team passed the ball and charged across the goal line. Referee Stanforth, acting upon specific provisions of his rule book, ruled the touchdown out, causing a decidedly unfriendly demonstration by the crowd. The Electra players finally accepted the decision and made another attempt. The ball was fumbled and Mathis seized it, running with a clear field to the opposite goal.

The Electra fans at once crowded on the field and surrounded the officials declaring that the touchdown should not be allowed. Between the official rule book on one hand, and the emphatic promise of the crowd to do violence to the officials if the touchdown was permitted to stand, a compromise was effected. The objection of the Electra fans was based on the fact that time was up before Mathis crossed the goal line, although there was still eight seconds of the first half to be played when the ball was passed and time could not be called until the play was finished. The spectators cursed and threatened the officials and gave a realistic imitation of a movie mob scene.

While the conduct of the Electra players was some improvement over that of the spectators, it was not exactly exemplary. Any Electra player who was tackled with anything save utmost gentleness accused the Wichita Falls players, though it was considered rare sport to use all the roughness possible in tackling the Wichita Falls players. An Electra player was laid out for a minute when he tackled a Wichita who was making a headlong rush with the ball. The crowd immediately swarmed upon the field again, and insisted upon the removal of the Wichita Falls player. Under the circumstances of the play it would have been a physical impossibility for the man with the ball to intentionally injure his opponent. Other unpleasant features of the game were the several offers and threats of bodily violence to officials, uttered by Electra players.

All of the scoring was done in the second half. Magellan of Electra made a long gain on a forward pass and Fred Barron carried the ball across the line. A few minutes later Barron executed a very pretty drop kick from the 35-yard line. The second touchdown was made by Magellan on a forward pass. Courtney, Bachman, Mathis and Bell did the best work for Wichita Falls, the entire team performing very creditably considering that Electra averaged fourteen pounds heavier. The line-up:

Electra—Green, center; Ware and Stancliff, guards; Thornton and Johns, tackles; Erby and Magellan, ends; E. Barron, quarter; Myers and Bourland, half backs; Fred Barron, captain, full back.

Wichita Falls—Colburn, center; Vincent and Hageman, guards; Skeen, Powell and Clopton, tackles; Bachman and Courtney, ends; Mathis, quarter; Terry and Bell, half backs; Jungk, captain and full back.

Officials—Stanforth, referee; Gould, umpire; Briggs, head linesman; Neblett and Smith, time keepers.

LYDIA MARGARET PICTURE HOUSE OPENS TONIGHT

For the opening bill of the Lydia Margaret the management has secured a six reel Universal feature, "Business is Business" a Nat Goodwin is featured in the principal role with Maude George and Gretchen LeJorer in the feminine leads.

Nat C. Goodwin, veteran of the speaking stage and America's foremost actor, of whom it has been said that he has done more good, spread more of the gospel of cheerful genius through the mortal humanity, and has graced the stage to which we all owe a dazzling debt of sane, serene pleasure to a greater extent than any of his peers, is featured by the Universal in "Business is Business" a six act tragedy adapted to the screen by F. McGrew Willis from the famous old French play by Octave Mirabeau. Otis Turner, director of the feature, has surrounded Mr. Goodwin with a galaxy of stars second to none in the film industry.

RURAL MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER CONDITION

Gainesville, Texas, Oct. 29.—"I have had stomach and liver trouble for some time," said Mr. A. M. Nall, a farmer on Route No. 1, Gainesville, Texas.

"My symptoms were bloating after meals, shortness of breath and extreme nervousness. In talking over my trouble with the druggists at Gainesville, Watts Bros., they recommended Tania to me and I was induced to take a bottle. I have come into town to tell you what this wonderful medicine has done for me. The bloating has gone, gas no longer forms on my stomach after I eat, I can breathe easily, have no pain, am not one half so nervous as I was and to show you that I am in, very much better shape I have gained eleven pounds in ten days. My whole system is in better shape as is evidenced by my increase in weight.

"I think Tania is a splendid medicine and it will surely do what you claim it will do. It has done just that for me."

Tania will continue to be explained at the Palace Drug Store.

COTTON GINNINGS SHOW BIG DECREASE

ONLY 776 BALES UP TO OCTOBER 18TH IN THIS COUNTY, FIGURES SHOW.

5614 AT SAME TIME IN 1914

Archer County Also Shows Big Loss—Reduced Acreage and Boll Weevil Causes.

Just 776 bales this year, as compared with 5614 in 1914, shows the effect of reduced acreage and the boll weevil upon the cotton crop of Wichita county. The government's report showed 776 bales ginned in this county up to October 18, less than one-seventh as much as had been ginned at the same time in 1914, when the total was 5614 bales.

In Archer county there is also a marked reduction, though the difference is not as great as in Wichita county. There were 778 bales ginned in Archer county up to October 18, as compared with 3741 at the same time last year. Taking the two counties together, the 1915 ginnings are almost exactly one-sixth of those in 1914.

The figures from Wichita and Archer counties are furnished the government by O. P. Maricle of this city who is crop reporter for the two counties.

By Associated Press. London, Nov. 1.—Sir Edward Clarke, the great English legal authority, is of the opinion that the accumulated wealth of the country which he says is "amply sufficient to pay for four or five times over the estimated cost of the war" is not contributing its proper share to the war taxes.

"There is one large pair of that accumulated wealth which during the life time of its owner pays nothing at all to the National Exchequer," he writes. "I refer to the enormous sum which is represented by the stores of works of art, furniture, books, plate, china, glass and jewelry which are to be found in the houses of well-to-do people. The pleasure and comfort and the advantages in social position which man or woman derives from these is as much an annual profit as the dividends would be if they were sold and the money invested in stocks or shares.

"I suggest that the owners of property of this kind should be obliged to make a statement of its value, and where that exceeded say 300 pounds ($1500) four per cent on that sum should be treated as income and added to the owner's assessment for income tax. This would bring in a very large immediate revenue, and a still greater benefit would be that we should have a register of the property on which a levy might afterwards be made."

Having laid his charge on the wealthy class, Sir Edward proposes to tax one of the little vanities of the middle class which finds expression in bestowing fancy names on their homes.

"Rows of small dwellings can be seen where no street appears on door or gate, but some aristocratic or romantic name has been adopted," he says. "The smaller the house the more splendid is its title."

He would make those who put on airs in this fashion pay $5 a year for the privilege.

The Greatest Coat Cutter

In America can do nothing more than follow the measurements he has at hand. The finest tailors in the world make clothes that would not fit anything but a biped. But don't blame the tailors or the engineers who design clothes because the fit depends on the man who LAYS THE TAPE. The artist of the craft tailoring must depend for his specifications on the man who measures the form that is to wear the suit. For years I have laid the tape on every shape and size of man from the "Beef Trust" to the "Bean Pole" and made the suits fit. Any time the suit don't fit it is my suit and you can't leave my shop with it. It won't cost you a penny to find out whether or not I can make these statements stick.

THE OLIVES WE SELL.

In only one, little, isolated spot in the world, is the Queen Olive found. This territory lying adjacent to the town of Saville, Spain, is not more than 40 miles wide at its widest part and upon it rests the burden of providing all the Queen Olives consumed throughout Europe and America. Firm, sound, selected fruit, picked by hand, at that period of its growth most essential to the perfection of its flavor is the first desideratum. The curing of the selected olive is a most delicate operation, its delightful properties do not appear under unskilled or hurried treatment. This brief outline suggests the character of the olives we are selling under our own brand. They are most perfect forms of true olive culture, and in their uniformity, suavity, and blandness of flavor are prized by lovers of this delicious fruit from the sunny orchards of old Spain. We have them in bottles containing just enough for a luncheon for two persons or enough for a banquet of one hundred persons. WE ROAST COFFEE EVERY DAY.
