TO SEVER DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH GERMANY UNLESS SUBMARINE ATTACKS CEASE PROMPTLY

WILSON TELLS CONGRESS TERMS OF NOTE, ALMOST ULTIMATUM, SENT TO BERLIN

PROMPT REPLY DEMANDED, NO ACTION BY CONGRESS FEW CASES OF BREAKING OF ASKED; SOME CRITICISM RELATIONS WITHOUT WAR BY REPUBLICANS IS HEARD

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 19.—President Wilson has sent the note to Germany warning her that unless attacks on merchantmen carrying Americans in violation of international law, are stopped, diplomatic relations will be severed.

The president revealed this fact to Senators Stone and Lodge and Representatives Flood and Cooper, ranking democratic and republican members of the congressional foreign affairs committee, at a conference at the white house early today.

The president explained that the note practically is an ultimatum but does not contain a time limit. A demand is made, however, that Germany reply immediately.

The president consults congress at this stage, it was pointed out, because while he has the authority to break off diplomatic relations, congress alone has power to declare war, and there is only one instance in modern history where a break in diplomatic relations between two first-class powers has not been followed by war. That is the situation between Germany and Italy.

First-class powers have suspended relations with lesser states and lesser states have broken between themselves without war, but all diplomatic history points to a state of war when two first-class powers reach that point.

The demand for a stop to illegal submarine warfare, the president told the leaders is unequivocal. As the committeemen left the white house they made no effort to conceal what the president had told them.

The note went forward last night in code by way of Copenhagen. The president wishes it to be in the hands of Ambassador Gerard or the German foreign office when he appeared before Congress. The numbers who heard the president outlining it did not understand it to be an ultimatum in the sense that the term is technically used, but all considered it to have that effect. Senator Lodge, asked the president about the use of the word "immediately" in that connection and was told that it meant that Germany should be given an opportunity to receive the communication and make a reply. The evidence in the Sussex case was referred to, and the president pointed out the apparent familiarity in the accounts of the time and place of the attack upon her and the attack admitted by Germany to have made by one of her submarines on a ship in that vicinity. The president believed the evidence in the Sussex case in convincing.

The president if became known takes the position that he is contending not for America alone, but for all neutral nations and their rights.

Editor's Note—The note to Germany will be made public this afternoon. If it arrives in time, The Times will publish a second edition containing a summary of its contents. The note was to be made public in Washington after four o'clock.

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 19.—President Wilson told Congress, assembled in joint session shortly after one o'clock this afternoon, that he had given Germany irrevocable notification that the United States will break off diplomatic relations if her illegal submarine campaign is continued.

A note—America's last word, practically an ultimatum and demanding an early reply—presumably was in the Berlin foreign office as the president was speaking. It was dispatched last night in accordance with the president's plan to have it before the Berlin government at the same moment he was addressing Congress.

The president asked no action whatever of Congress. He simply informed it of the accumulation of facts proving that Germany's assurances to the United States are being violated, that the submarine campaign, despite the earnest protests of the United States, is being conducted with renewed vigor in contravention of all the laws of nations and humanity and that he means to sever relations unless it is brought within the law.

Diplomatic history of the world shows that such a course is almost certain to be followed by war.

The president's note and his address to Congress are final. They mark the end of diplomatic relations. A continuance of the long standing friendly relations, the president made clear, depends alone upon Germany's conduct.

"I have deemed it my duty, therefore," the president told Congress today, "to inform the imperial German government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute its relentless and indiscriminate warfare the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue, and that unless the imperial German government should now immediately declare, and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels the American government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations altogether."

Representatives of the allied countries filled the diplomatic galleries of the House. Women ruled in the public galleries, less than 20 men finding place in the 600 seats. Mrs. Wilson was in the executive gallery. In the cabinet party were Secretaries Lansing, Baker, Houston and Wilson, Attorney General Gregory, and Postmaster General Burleson. The vice-president and senators arrived at 12:50 and marched in double file down the center aisle, members of the House rising and remaining until they were seated.

While the senators were taking their seats President Wilson reached the capitol and waited just outside the chamber. As the president entered the chamber at one o'clock, senators, representatives, cabinet and galleries rose. An outbreak of applause gave way to loud cheering.

During the demonstration the president shook hands with the speaker and the vice president and then bowed to the assemblage. He began his address, speaking slowly and distinctly, his voice being heard throughout the chamber. As the president began the review of the German submarine campaign, there was no demonstration to punctuate his recital of the sacrifice of American lives. Not a sound was heard except the president's voice as he spoke the name of Lusitania. Every head bowed forward as the president indicated he was approaching the keynote of his message. His declaration that Germany had made it plain she plans to continue indiscriminate warfare in defiance of international law and the protests of the United States was followed by the statement that this determination had left but one course open to the United States. When he pronounced the words of the ultimatum, declaring that unless Germany should immediately declare and effect an abandonment of indiscriminate submarine warfare this government would have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations, there was still no demonstration, only a tense silence and a reflection on the gravity of his words. When he concluded with expression of the hope that Germany would soon act to prevent a regrettable break with America the assembly broke into cheers.

It was 1:14 o'clock when the president concluded. Applause started from the Democratic side and the Republican members then joined. Democrats began rising to their feet and soon the entire assemblage was standing. The applause lasted perhaps a minute and then as the president passed out of the chamber, died away. Speaker Clark declared the joint session at an end and the senators filed out. The galleries quickly were deserted. Speaker Clark referred the address to the foreign affairs committee and the House resumed its regular business.

Speaker Clark and Democrat Leader Kitchen declined to comment on the address. They said they desired to digest it fully before saying anything.

"The sending of a note to Germany was as mild a position as the president could take," said Representative Flood, chairman of the foreign affairs committee. "I think it will meet with the approval of Congress and the country."

"I think this government should be neutral," said Republican Leader Mann. "The president never has been neutral. He has been on the English side all the time. What he said about Germany, while it is grossly exaggerated, is a just complaint, but he could say just the same thing about England, and our shipping, substituting 'sinking ships' for 'sinking ships.' It is a mistake to break off diplomatic relations with Germany. That is simply to quit in a pet. It is perfectly evident that the president, as a campaign political dodge, is trying to work up to a point where he can get into a war with Germany during the campaign."

"The president's position is a complete repudiation of his note of January 18 sent through Secretary Lansing, regarding the arming of merchant vessels and submarine warfare," said Representative Cooper, ranking Republican member of the foreign affairs committee. "The whole situation resolves itself into a question of whether the United States will set up a code of regulations which it may have to abide by when its sole defense is the submarine."

The president said: "Gentlemen of the Congress: A situation has arisen in the foreign relations of the country of which it is my plain duty to inform you very frankly. It will be recalled that in February, 1915, the imperial German government announced its intention to treat the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war and to destroy all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within any part of that portion of the high seas and that it warned all vessels of neutral as well as of belligerent ownership to keep out of the waters it had thus prescribed, or else enter them at their peril."

"The government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without the practical certainty of gross and palpable violations of the law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inas much as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded upon principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of non-combatants at sea could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels.

"It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks and that no right to close any part of the high seas against their use or to expose them to such risks could lawfully be asserted by any belligerent government. The law of nations in these matters, upon which the government of the United States based its protest, is not of recent origin or founded upon merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based, on the contrary, upon manifest and imperative principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

"Notwithstanding the earnest protest of our government the imperial German government at once proceeded to carry out the policy it had announced. It expressed the hope that the dangers involved, at any rate the dangers to neutral vessels, would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to its submarine commanders and assured the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution, both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants."

"What actually happened in the year which since elapsed has shown that those hopes were not justified and that those assurances were inescapable of being fulfilled.

"In pursuance of the policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and entered upon by the imperial German government, in despite of the solemn protest of this government, the commanders of German undersea vessels have attacked merchant ships with greater and greater activity, not only upon the high seas surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, but wherever they could encounter them, in a way that has grown more and more ruthless, more and more indiscriminate, as the months have gone by, less and less observant of restraints of any kind—and have delivered their attacks without compunction against vessels of every nationality and bound upon every sort of errand.

"Vessels of neutral ownership, even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership, in constantly increasing numbers. Sometimes the merchantman attacked has been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed—sometimes passengers or crews have been vouchsafed the poor security of being allowed to take the ship's boats before she was sent to the bottom.

"What this government foresaw must happen has happened. Tragedy has followed tragedy on the seas in such fashion, with such attendant circumstances as to make it grossly evident that warfare of such a sort, if warfare it be, can not be carried on without the most palpable violation of the dictates alike of right and humanity. Whatever the disposition and intention of the imperial German government, it has manifestly proved impossible for it to keep such methods of attack upon the commerce of its enemies within the bounds set by either the reason or the heart of mankind.

"In February of the present year the imperial German gov-

GENERAL SCOTT GOES TO SAN ANTONIO TO GET INFORMATION ON SITUATION FOR WAR DEPARTMENT AND WILSON.

EFFECT IS FEARED

Believed Change in Border Base or Reinforcing of Pershing's Columns Would Embarrass Negotiations With Carranza.

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 19.—Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army, will go to San Antonio, Texas tonight by order of Secretary Baker in order to get accurate information as to the situation on the border and in Mexico. Secretary Baker issued this statement.

General Scott leaves for San Antonio this afternoon at 6:15 at his request. He will spend several days with General Funston and return. This trip is made solely for the purpose of getting as accurate information as possible for the use of the department. General Funston remains in full charge of the affairs of his department, including the expedition into Mexico. He has the full confidence of the department and his dispositions have the department's entire approval.

Funston's Request.
Secretary Baker today would not discuss General Scott's mission beyond his formal statement. It was assumed, however, that his report after the conference with General Funston will go far toward determining the course to be pursued. It became known that General Funston has been urging the department that he be permitted to shift his headquarters and the border base in order to shorten his line of communication. The department has not thus far approved the suggestions although the request was before the cabinet yesterday.

General Funston's report on the subject has not been given out here and Secretary Baker has declined to discuss these phases of the Mexican problem.

The department apparently has hesitated to authorize any radical change in the status of the expedition in the face of requests from General Carranza that the troops be recalled, believing it might tend to increase anti-American feeling among Carranza's followers. For the same reason the sending of heavy reinforcements to the border has not been resorted to as yet.

Waiting on Germany.
Until the German situation is clearly understood, it is impossible to forecast the administration's decision as to Pershing's expedition. Military observers appear to agree that some radical move must be made soon either to back up the troops in Mexico or to withdraw them. At present conditions officers feel they are unable to press the pursuit of Villa properly and that the presence of the troops only serves to irritate the Mexican people.

It is believed that General Funston's decision yesterday to place 2,000 additional troops of his border forces at General Pershing's disposal aroused the department to determine upon the course to pursue with as little delay as possible. General Scott is acquainted with Villa and with many Carranza officials and with his knowledge of the border and the confidential information General Funston is able to supply, he can advise Secretary Baker.

A movement of Carranza troops which have been stationed near Chihuahua, to Parral was reported today to the state department. This information was forwarded to General Funston. It came from Consul Letcher.

VON BERNSTORFF ASKS RETURN OF GERMAN'S PAPERS

DEMANDS DOCUMENTS SEIZED WHEN VON IGEL IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY BY FEDERAL AGENTS IN NEW YORK

TO HOLD PRISONER

Department of Justice Contends Von Igel's Offense Was Committed 3 Year Before He Became a Diplomatic Agent

By Associated Press. Washington, April 19.—German Ambassador Von Bernstorff went to the state department this morning for the reason, it was first believed, to arrange for a conference with Secretary Lansing at 11:30. It was later revealed, however, that the ambassador went, not to discuss the submarine situation, but to make a further formal demand for the papers which department agents seized from Wolfe Von Igel, private secretary to Captain Franz Von Papen, the withdrawn military attaché, in New York yesterday. The department of justice virtually has decided to hold Von Igel unless the state department specifically demands his release on the ground that the crime with which he is charged occurred a year before he became a diplomatic agent.

THREE CROSSES OF CALVARY EXPLAINED

Form Subject of Revival Sermon By Dr. A. L. Andrews at Tuesday Night Service

Calvary's three crosses and the great lesson they taught was the theme of the revival sermon Tuesday, preached by Dr. A. L. Andrews at the M. E. Church South. This second week of the revival finds the interest unabated and with an ever increasing attendance. The music, rendered by the choir under the leadership of Mr. Ellis was especially fine last night, a duet by Mrs. Clifford and Mrs. Thornburn being a feature of the music service.

Dr. Andrews announced his text from Luke xxiii:42. "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." "There are the three crosses of Calvary," he said, "one holding a penitent thief, another an impenitent thief with the Son of God dying between them, giving both an opportunity of salvation. These two thieves represent the two classes of the un-saved world and Christ Jesus offers salvation alike to both classes. Christ was completing the work of redemption and it was to be put to rest even before the breath left his body. From the depths the cry was heard, coming from a heart blackened by sin. Amid His sufferings the Saviour's listening ear heard the cry and the helping hand was reached down to save.

"The thief cried, 'When thou comest into thy kingdom, remember me,' and the answer came, 'This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise.' The cry from the depths of sin is still heard. Everywhere men, women and children lost in sin are crying out in agony of soul. The loving Saviour still hears and still holds out the helping hand. This poor thief embraced his first opportunity to be saved and there is no warrant in this incident for a man to postpone his acceptance of God."

The subject of death bed repentance was taken up briefly by the speaker, who said, "I have known a number of men to repent on their supposed death beds. Some of these lived, and in every instance they returned to sin. Foolish is the man that puts off life's most important duty until the last hour. Delay is dangerous. Sixty per cent of the saved of the world converted before they are 15, seventy five per cent before they are 21 and ninety per cent before they are 45."

The sermon closed with an earnest appeal to accept Christ now, the speaker describing in his closing words the ascension of the Saviour to His eternal throne, bearing in His arms the redeemed thief and laying him down at the feet of His Father as the first fruits of His redeemed love.

The audience was visibly impressed and one man came forward with a request for prayer. Tonight Dr. Andrews will preach on "The Unpardonable Sin" and everybody in Wichita Falls is invited to hear this sermon.

MERCHANTS ISSUE 1916 RATING BOOK

Contains More Than 5,000 Names of Customers, Giving Their Financial Standing

The 1916 rating book of the Retail Merchants Association, containing the credit rating of more than 5,000 citizens of Wichita, Clay and Archer counties, has just been issued by J. W. Thomas, secretary of the association and acting secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The Fort Worth Association lists only 15,000 persons and that city has six times more population than Wichita Falls. The association is a mutual organization, in which each member is equally interested in improving the credit conditions of the city.

More than 100 local retail merchants contributed information for the book, which contains a complete index to the financial standing of each person listed. "In placing the book in the hands of our members great care has been taken to make it as correct in all particulars as possible," Mr. Thomas said. "We have discarded the names of all persons whom we have good reason to believe are no longer living in Wichita Falls, but we have not destroyed our records on them, so that if they should come back, their records will be available for our members."

"We also feel sure that by heading the information given in this book, and using this office for the record of new customers not rated, a large reduction of loss by bad debts will be attained. Everything considered, the book is more complete than the 1915 issue, though it does not contain very many more ratings."

The book was compiled by Mr. Thomas. It required about six months work to obtain the information. The association is affiliated with the State and National Associations of Retail Merchants.

Acts Caused By Hatred For England, He Says—Wanted to Serve Germany

By Associated Press. Wilmington, Del., April 19.—Ernest Schiller, alias Clarence R. Hudson, who recently held up the captain and crew of 54 men of the British freight ship Matopo on the high sea, was on his way today to the federal prison at Atlanta, in custody of United States marshals.

Schiller yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of piracy and was given a life sentence. Before leaving here last night, Schiller declared his desire for revenge against England had prompted his acts. At the same time, he said, he hoped to do something for the cause of the Germans. His reason for the attack was his plan to sink the Matopo had failed because he did not want to kill anybody. Schiller said he was "highly pleased" he was not being sent back to England.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION FOR HEALTH OFFICERS

By Associated Press. Galveston, Tex., April 19.—According to word received here a school of instruction for city and county health officers of Texas will be held here commencing May 12. The call for this school was issued by Dr. W. B. Collins, state health officer, at Austin. This school which is expected to be attended by about 250 city and county health officials will last for two weeks and will be along the same lines as the school held in Austin last year. Experts on health matters, sanitation, quarantine, etc., will deliver addresses and practical demonstrations will be given. The program is in the course of preparation.

Co-operation between the Mothers' Clubs and the Civic League to the end that necessary physical and moral clean-ups may take place, that playgrounds for children may be established and that the food sanitation problem may have careful attention was the object of the meeting of the Mothers' Clubs held Tuesday afternoon at the high school. The Civic League acted as hostess and the entertainment was quite informal in nature. There were talks made along the different lines of work already undertaken by the club and also concerning future activities. Among those speaking were Dr. J. T. Traylor, newly appointed food inspector, Mesdames A. H. Carrigan, J. A. Kemp, T. B. Smock, R. G. Schurer, Frank Caudle, Carter, Miss Day of the high school faculty and Prof. J. B. Jones, principal of the high school. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served.

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

Give Them a Place to Play. Plenty of room for dives and dens. (Gilted and glare and sin). Plenty of room for prison pens (Gather the criminals in). Plenty of room for jails and courts (Willing enough to pay). But never a place for the lads to race. No, never a place to play.

Plenty of rooms for shops and stores (For Mammon must have the best). Plenty of room for running sores (That rot in the city's breast). Plenty of rooms for the lures that lead (The heart of our youth astray). But never a cent on a playground spent. No, never a place to play.

Plenty of room for churches and halls. Plenty of room for art. Plenty of room for teas and balls. Platform, stage and mart. Proud is the city—the finds a place (For many a fad today). But she's more than blind (If she fails to find A place for the boys to play).

Give them a chance for innocent sport. Give them a chance for fun. Better a playground plot than a court And a jail, when the harm is done. Give them a chance, if you stint them now Tomorrow you'll have to pay A larger bill for a darker ill. So give them a place to play. —Dennis A. McCarthy in Journal of Education.

Singing, Enunciation, Latin, Music, Gail and Some Few Other Things

A sentence in The Times' report of the singing of Pergolesi's "Stabat Mater" by the Musicians' Club last Sunday has brought sorrow to one who writes this paper on tear-spattered stationery. The sentence in question was:

"As the program was in the original Latin of Pergolesi, the composer, there were many of the audience who lacked an understanding of the words, but to whom the music was for this reason even more impressive." The letter follows: "I am constrained to congratulate you on the construction of the sentence above. Clearly if you are correct it means that the less one understands of the 'sung' word the more the music impresses. This will be very gratifying to singers who cannot enunciate; and will be a welcome relief to those, who, in the future will be freed from the study of one of the supreme difficulties of their art. Why do you not carry it to its logical conclusion and write a thesis proving that vocal selections without words are better than those with words? Or better still why do you not advocate a singer mumbling to the point of incomprehensibility? This would create a profound impression; but it might not please. Really, why do you print such nonsense? Don't you know that we are to have a new High School and perhaps somebody of your readers may find you out. Yours, in tears, (Signed)

Dry those tears, Perry. The difference between you and The Times is that you are bothering about the means, while The Times is chiefly concerned in the ends reached by the means. As for the wording to which you take exception, The Times is content.

strained, as a publication for all the people, to stand on what it said, calm in the assurance that while it may be misconstrued by some the poetariat will not consider it nonsense.

The poetariat, Perry, can't understand Latin. Consequently when anybody shoots Latin at them, they are impressed, and the less they understand of the Latin, the more impressed they are.

The Times didn't say anything about enunciation, but since you raised the question, Perry, don't you honestly believe that the less you understand of some singing, the more you enjoy it? There are exceptions to this rule, of course. Take, for instance, that classic of our childhood days, entitled "A Mother Was Chasing Her Son Round the Room;" the whole beauty of that selection is in the words, which must be caught clearly. You've paid two dollars per seat to listen to music that consisted mainly of ph's and Ah's and where you were forced to rest your money's worth by enjoying the way the singer took an Oh up the scale on high gear, turning a corner or two and then sidled down again. If you were paying for enunciation then, you were entitled to $1.98 rebate.

CHICAGOANS HUNTING FOR FOSSILS IN BAYLOR COUNTY

(Baylor County Banner) Dr. Paul C. Miller of the University of Chicago is here with students G. R. Johnson and J. Britts for the purpose of continuing the hunt for fossils in the Wichita breaks. Dr. Miller has been coming here for a number of years, always with an addition to the knowledge concerning animal life in the prehistoric days. They will be here this time for about two months. Dr. Miller, at the suggestion of his thoughtful wife, brought along a picture this time of a cocoon-aspidopora, a lizard like animal three or four feet long and standing eight inches high, that lived here five or ten million years ago. His remains, together with a number of his fellows were found out on Indian creek in 1916. This animal, together with many others, proves this country to have been swampy and tropical at one time. Dr. Miller says the climate of the world undergoes gradual changes, which, however, could not be noted during a life of an individual. The picture of the cocopis is now at the Banner office.

Even the cost of religious knowledge is going higher. It now costs almost double what it did before the war to publish a Bible, Bible, prayer books, hymnals and other religious volumes will cost more.

The drought in Southwest Texas has delayed the planting of broom corn past the time when it is believed the crop can be planted to mature. It has been necessary to plant over most of the broom corn in this section but conditions are now favorable for the propagation and growth of the crop. In view of conditions elsewhere the farmer who sells broom corn this year will find a strong demand for his crop at good prices.

The Chamberlain bill which passed the Senate Tuesday provides for an increase of the regular army to a peace strength of 250,000 men. This seems more nearly to conform to the country's idea of adequate preparedness than the Hay bill which passed in the House several weeks ago. The Hay bill would increase the army strength only by 20,000. The inadequacy of the Hay bill is evident when announcement was made recently that there were 18,000 troops at the border or in Mexico and only 4,000 other mobile troops in continental United States. An increase of the standing army to 250,000 with other measures that are provided in the bill ought to form a force that could give some protection against invaders while a volunteer army was being formed. An army of 250,000 ought not to be a great burden for the richest nation of the world and would be far from the militarism which many fear. Events of the next few weeks may show how utterly inadequate are the present armed forces of the United States. Whether this inadequacy is proven by the course of events or not it is plainly evident to all observers except those who are blinded to conditions as they exist in the world today.

If Germany's U-boats were pirate ships acting, not with authority from the government at Berlin, but against such authority, and the German government was exerting every effort possible to hunt them down and put them out of commission, then the relations of the United States with Germany in reference to the Americans killed or wounded on merchant and passenger ships might be likened to the relations between the United States and Mexico. In that event the American people might afford to be patient and not to hold Germany to a strict accountability. But these two international situations are in no wise similar. Germany is one of the most powerful, if not the most powerful, nation of the earth. The central government is all powerful and is capable of enforcing its most trivial order wherever its authority extends. The U-boats are an instrument of the government. Their commanders are acting under instruction when they fire upon and sink merchant and passenger ships. German's disavowal of purpose to kill or injure Americans is but a bluff. The death of Americans—traveling in accordance with their established rights, recognized by the law of nations—will be a result of such deliberate act. If Mexico was a powerful nation, capable of enforcing the orders of the central government over the whole nation, then the killing of Americans in Mexico might be likened to the killing of Americans by the German U-boats. What may properly be leniency and patience in dealing with Mexico is quite another thing when dealing with Germany.

TEXAS AND COLORADO DEBATERS MEET TONIGHT
By Associated Press.
Boulder, Colo., April 19.—Members of the University of Texas' debating team were on hand here today for a joint debate with the University of Colorado tonight. The contest is part of the western interscholastic contests for which valuable prizes have been offered. The question to be debated tonight is:
"Resolved that a material increase in the armament of the United States over that obtained or provided for in August, 1915 is justifiable." By armament is meant matters of defense, naval and military. Texas has the negative.

PROCEEDINGS IN T. & P. CASE IN DALLAS COURT
By Associated Press.
Dallas, Tex., April 19.—The first of a series of suits in the state court against the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., as brought by the Union Trust Company of New York, was to be called in the 68th district court here today. This suit seeks a claim of $800,000 on notes alleged to have been given to the Missouri Pacific railway a competing road.
The Texas & Pacific Railway Co. filed an answer to this suit asking that the Missouri Pacific become a defendant, and that should the Union Trust Company obtain damages, that the Missouri Pacific should be required to pay to the Texas & Pacific any such amount. The Texas & Pacific should be forced to pay the trust company.

Houston, Tex., April 19.—An aeronautic division, with headquarters at Houston will be one of the branches of a state naval militia being organized and enlarged. This division is expected to be organized as the deck and engineering divisions, and a company of marines will be the first perfected, in the order named.
Houston is expected to furnish a half dozen men for the permanent aeronautical base to be established in Galveston. The flyers will be given permanent instructions. At ready forty are trying for places in the aerial corps.
It has been announced that the navy's summer cruise will be held July 15 to 29 and that New Orleans, Key West and Havana will be the points visited. The destroyer "Reid" has been assigned to the naval militia for this cruise, and her officers will act as instructors to the state marines.
The local company of the naval militia is being organized by W. K. Hawthorne.

CHANCELLOR'S SPEECH IS "FEELER" TOWARD PEACE
By Associated Press.
London, April 19.—The morning Post's Budapest correspondent sends the following statement by Count Julius Andrássy, the former Hungarian premier, published in Budapest, commenting on the recent speech of the German chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg.
"The speech is actually the first official German feeler for peace. The chancellor defines Germany's attitude quite distinctly, explaining what he wants from Russia, what he does not want from France, what he intends to do with Belgium and also views on financing the colonies.
"The speech is a basis upon which peace negotiations may be begun on conditions which leave the doors open to counter demands. Every one of his remarks is a possibility which carries the germ of future developments and the basis of further argument. The speech provides an outline of peace which may be reached."

$20,000 FIRE LOSS IS SUSTAINED AT NEWCASTLE
(Newcastle Register)
T. J. Roulton's stock of general merchandise and groceries and the grocery stock of George Whiteley were completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning at about 2 o'clock. The buildings, these firms occupied were owned by the Terrell estate and were located on the north side of Main street. The origin of the fire is unknown. When discovered, the fire had already made great headway and it was utterly impossible to save the two buildings that caught first. It looked for a while as if the whole block would burn, but owing to quick work on the part of a number of our citizens the fire was checked at the Belknap Coal Company's office which was next to Roulton's. The entire contents of the Union Saddle Company and Kenna's jewelry store were taken out as these buildings were in great danger.

NO ACTION ASKED OF CONGRESS

ernment informed this government and the other neutral governments of the world that it had reason to believe that the government of Great Britain had armed all merchant vessels of British ownership and had given them secret orders to attack any submarine of the enemy they might encounter upon the seas and that the imperial German government felt justified in the circumstances in treating all merchantmen of belligerent ownership as auxiliary vessels of war which it would have the right to destroy without warning. The law of nations has long recognized the right of merchantmen to carry arms for protection and to use them to repel attack, though to use them in such circumstances at their own risk—but the imperial German government claimed the right to set these understandings aside under circumstances which it deemed extraordinary.

"Even the terms in which it announced its purpose thus still further to relax the restraints which it had previously professed its willingness and desire to put upon the operations of its submarines carried the plain implication that at least vessels which were not armed would be still exempt from destruction without warning and that personal safety would be accorded their passengers and crews; but even that limitation, if it was ever practicable to observe, it has in fact constituted no check at all upon the destruction of ships of every sort.

"Again and again the imperial German government has given this government its solemn assurances that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with and yet it has again and again permitted its undersea commanders to disregard these assurances with entire impunity. Great liners like the Lusitania and the Arabic and mere ferry boats like the sunsex have been attacked without a moment's warning, sometimes before they had even started, so that they were in the presence of an armed vessel of the enemy, and the lives of non-combatant passengers and crews have been sacrificed in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest shadow of justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to the discriminatory pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities, and the constant extending in area, where these operations have been carried on, and the roll of Americans who have lost their lives or whose property has been destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds.

"One of the largest and most striking instances of this method of warfare was that of the destruction of the French cross channel steamer Sussex until it must stand forth, as the sinking of the steamer Lusitania did, as so singularly tragical and unjustifiable as to constitute a veritable example of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels have conducted it. If this instance stood alone, some explanation, some disavowal by the German government, some evidence of criminal negligence or insubordination on the part of the commander of the vessel that fired the torpedoes might be sought or entertained—but unhappily it stands alone; recent events make the conclusion inevitable that it is only one instance, even though it is one of the most extreme, of a general and systematic policy of the spirit and method of which the imperial German government has mistakenly adopted.

"The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of agony and tragedy, in which its own citizens were involved it has sought to be restrained from any extreme course of action by the sentiment of friendship which the peoples of the United States always have entertained and continue to entertain towards the German nation. It has of course accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the imperial German government as given in entire sincerity and good faith, and has sought to square its policy with the principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations. It has been willing to wait until the significance of the facts become absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation.

"That point has now unhappily been reached. The facts are susceptible of but one interpretation. The imperial German government has not been able to put any single restriction upon its warfare against either freight or passenger ships. It has, therefore, become painfully evident that the position which the government took at the very outset is inevitable—namely, that the use of submarines for the destruction of any enemy's commerce is of use because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their commission of course involve, incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

"I have deemed it my duty, therefore, to say to the German imperial government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines, notwithstanding the now demonstrated impossibility of conducting that warfare in accordance with what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and inviolable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue—and that unless the imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the government of the German empire altogether.

"This decision I have arrived at with the keenest regret. The possibility of the action contemplated, I am sure all thoughtful Americans will look forward to with unshaken reluctance. But we cannot forget that we are in some sort and by the force of circumstances, the responsible spokesmen of the rights of humanity and that we cannot remain silent while those rights seem in process of being swept utterly away in the mad pursuit of this terrible war. We owe it to a duty regard for our own rights as a nation to our sense of duty as a representative of the rights of mankind to stand up and to a just conception of the rights of mankind to take this stand now with the utmost solemnity and firmness.

"The imperial German government has taken it and taken it in the confidence that it will meet with your approval and support. All sober minded men unite in hoping that the imperial German government which has in other circumstances stood as the champion of all that we are now contending for in the interest of humanity, may recognize the justice of our demands and meet them in the spirit in which they are made."

RUNAWAY YOUTHS FOUND IN BOX CAR

Their Plans to See the World Are Interrupted by Local Juvenile Officer.
The globe trotting aspirations of two fourteen year old boys who said they had started out to see the world were brought to an untimely end today by Probation Officer C. E. Shelton, who discovered the juvenile "A. No. 1's" in a box car in the railroad yards and brought them to police headquarters.
The boys gave their names as Maynard Wheeler and Louis Thinks. They said they had started from their home at Longview, Texas, last Monday and had negotiated the journey to Wichita Falls via the box car route.
Officer Shelton has telegraphed the boys' parents and they will be sent home.

BURKBURNETT FARMER FINDS PROFIT IN HQGS
(Burkburnett Star)
F. E. Engleman, a progressive farmer living seven miles west of town brought to the local market last Tuesday five hogs or pigs, they being under a year old, that weighed on an average of 357 pounds, making a total of 1685 pounds. Mr. Engleman received $8.50 per hundred which amounted to $148.20 for the lot. This five hogs equal one hundred and forty-eight dollars. Considering the ease with which feed crops can be raised in this county and the high prices paid for hogs, it seems hard to understand why more farmers do not raise hogs for the market.

SAYS AMERICAN SOLDIERS FOOLED BY MEXICAN SCOUTS

By Associated Press. Columbus, N. M., April 19.—Mexican scouts employed by General Pershing in many instances led the United States troops into difficult and inaccessible regions where they might easily have been ambushed. Return of motor truck guards today said this was the reason Pershing dispatched with native guides entirely and called for more American scouts familiar with Southern Chihuahua. Pershing's hurried trip back to his wireless base was regarded by army men here as indicating the tenseness of the situation in Mexico. Following the Parral incident, Pershing thought to have regarded quick communication as imperative, and to have recommended a halt to the pursuit of Villa farther south until the safety of the advanced American detachments was assured.

"WAR BRIDE" BRINGS HIM LARGE PROFIT

Wichitan Makes 1100 Per Cent on Deal by Holding Supply of Vermilion.

C. M. Miller, local manager of the Herring Lumber Company, has established an unprecedented record in successful speculation in paint, having just realized a profit of 1,100 per cent on an investment of $10 in Chinese vermilion.

Two years ago Mr. Miller purchased ten pounds of vermilion at $1 a pound from the Sewell Paint & Glass Company of Kansas City. Shortly thereafter war was declared in Europe and vermilion being an important product, Mr. Miller forecasted a substantial increase in the market price. Therefore, he held his supply and watched the quotation on this product go soaring skyward until it reached an almost prohibitive altitude.

A few days ago Mr. Miller received an offer of $12 a pound for his ten pound supply of vermilion and sold out, receiving $120 on an investment of $10 which is 1,100 per cent profit for the two-year period. The sale was made to the Sewell Paint & Glass Company. Mr. Miller said yesterday that vermilion is worth $15 today at less than a ten per cent margin and is in great demand by paint manufacturers in making stapes, reds for carriage, wagon and implement paints.

Vermilion exists in a native state as cinnabar, from which a beautiful, permanent red pigment is obtained by selecting pure pieces and grinding them. It is, however, generally made artificially. The Chinese have long manufactured vermilion, but the importation of the product has been restricted since the beginning of the war.

Under her direction last year, many of the boys and girls made splendid progress raising tomatoes and poultry and in canning tomatoes and other vegetables.

REUBEN M. ELLERD.

FOR CONGRESS THIRTEENTH DISTRICT

WHAT HIS HOME PEOPLE SAY.

We, the undersigned citizens of his home town and county most heartily commend the Hon. Reuben M. Ellerd candidate for Congress from this District, as one of our most capable, safe and trustworthy citizens.

He has lived amongst us for more than ten years, during which time his life has been as an open book. His ability all recognize; his honor no one questions; and his private and official life has at all times been above just criticism.

Like all men who achieve success he began at the bottom and struggled against poverty and manifold difficulties while living in Cook, Archer and Knox Counties; but by clean living and honest industry, he has won a good judgment and ceaseless effort he has at last conquered and climbed over these difficulties to success, both in the law and in business.

He is yet a young man and just now coming into the period of his greatest efficiency and power. He has a broad vision, deep nature, clear mind and strong body in fact every equipment and qualification necessary to fill with credit and honor the position to which he aspires.

He has our confidence and unqualified endorsement for the place and is entitled to yours.

[This document signed by almost the entire citizenship of Plainview and Hale County, is now on file at the Ellerd Headquarters.]

SAYS SANTA FE TO REJECT DEMANDS

President Ripley States Position of His Company Relative to Eight-Hour Day.

By Associated Press.
Los Angeles, Cal., April 19—President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe railway, from his winter home at Santa Barbara, has issued a formal signed statement which he sets forth for the first time the position of his company in regard to the demands of the railway men for an eight-hour day.

"I suppose every man in the employ of the company realizes that he can get justice whether he belongs to one of the unions or not," Ripley says. "But when our men authorize a union to say to us, 'we demand certain changes in pay and conditions, and propose to force them by force if not granted,' when they say they will not arbitrate, but will have what they demand whether right or wrong—then we are those charged with interests of 40,000 stockholders, must necessarily deny."

"The officers of this company are charged with a twofold duty—to the public, to the owners, to the employees—and they are doing the best they can to deal equitably with all three. They cannot consistently grant the present demands and retain their self-respect, or the confidence of their stockholders."

FOOD VALUES ARE SUBJECT OF PAPER BY LECTURER ON HOME ECONOMICS

Special to The Times.
Dallas, Tex., April 19—A very interesting demonstration in cooking was given at the Home Economics Week session by Miss Jessie P. Rich, extension lecturer on home economics of the University of Texas. Miss Rich gave a cheese and rice recipe to serve as a meat substitute, took the ingredients and prepared the food, explaining the process step by step. She also cooked a simple custard and gave a new recipe for wick rabbit, in connection with her demonstration she lectured on the subject, "The Well Fed Family—What to Buy—Where to Buy It—How to Prepare It."

The well fed family is hard to find, Miss Rich said. Food has been regarded simply as entertainment, or is used to satisfy the hunger or because it is a habit. People are just beginning to realize the importance of studying the needs of the human body and adapting the meals to supplying those needs as efficiently and economically as possible, the speaker said. Food is the source of all human effort and activity and its importance can not be overestimated.

In dealing with the question of buying, Miss Rich said that the women spend about three-fourths of the family income and most of them without any regard to the food value they receive per unit of price. They will buy puffed wheat with a caloric value of 575 or rolled oats with a caloric value of 1,800 indiscriminately, while the latter is worth three times as much as the former in actual caloric value.

Dry lima beans and canned lima beans are bought equally as readily by most housewives, Miss Rich said, though dry lima beans produce 1,600 calories of heat per pound and canned lima beans produce 350 calories and cost twice as much. Women will buy milk with a caloric value of 600 per quart at the same price as a quart of milk with a caloric value of 200. She urged the housewives present to study the various articles of food for their protein content, the fat they contain, the calories of heat different kinds of food produce and in other ways become acquainted with the scientific side of the foods that are so necessary to the welfare of their families.

When the food values are learned and the needs of the human body under varying conditions, of temperature and occupation are known, then the problem of what to buy will be solved. It can not be solved any other way, Miss Rich declared. She stated that a great deal of money has been spent in a study of the problems of feeding the human body, a great deal more has been spent in studying the problems of feeding live stock—A total of $800,000 has been spent on a study of the best methods of feeding hogs, Miss Rich said, and possibly $40,000 has been spent in an effort to find out the best methods of feeding children. The difference is in the fact that hogs have a money value and occupation and children have not, the speaker said.

On the phase of how to buy, Miss Rich told of the housewives' league organized in Houston, which took up the problem of how to buy and co-

FRENCHMAN FINDS NEW EX-RAY PROCESS

Can Make Photographs on Sensitized Paper Instead of Glass By His Method.

By Associated Press.
Paris (By Mail)—Charles Vaillant, head of the radiographic laboratory of the Lariboisiere Hospital in Paris has announced a successful means of replacing the present costly process of X-ray photographing on a glass negative with printing directly on paper.

Vaillant's new process uses ordinary sensitized paper for taking radiograph photographs. The cost of the paper is only a twentieth of that of the glass negative and there is also a saving in weight and space.

Vaillant has only three fingers left out of ten, namely two forefingers and a thumb, the forefinger of the left hand and the thumb and forefinger of the right. The rest of his fingers he lost, one after the other, by holding them at the end of a tube thus trying on himself the penetrating effects of the radium rays. Repeated amputation, however, did not lessen Vaillant's enthusiasm. He is already the discoverer of a radiographic method of determining whether or not an infant was born dead or alive.

The infant born dead comes out on the negative completely dark, whereas, as its having uttered a cry, or lived an instant, an hour or ten hours, is proved by the development on the plate first of the stomach and then of the lungs. The practical legal result is that infanticide can now be detected without recourse to an autopsy.

For the moment Vaillant's mind is concentrated on getting the most out of radiography for the benefit of the wounded in war. "I want," he says, "to extract all the secrets I can from science, so as to help the surgeon to operate with greater certainty and save as many heroes as possible. My little personal war is with science and I mean to make her pay for my amputations."

"Tux" is the genial smoke! There's vim and punch and get-there energy in every fragrant puff. Get the bustling, hustling spirit of "Tux" into your system and it'll give you an outlook on life fresh as a morning glory at 5 a. m.

Tuxedo The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

A whole lot of men at one time or another have tried to smoke a pipe—and used the wrong tobacco. Result—a hot tongue and "cold feet." Try again with the right tobacco—Tuxedo!

Tuxedo has made thousands of happy, contented pipe-smokers because it's so wonderfully mild and cannot burn, bite or blister the tongue or irritate the throat.

The rich, sun-ripened leaf for Tuxedo is aged 3 to 5 years. Then it's treated by the original "Tuxedo Process"—a doctor's discovery—which removes every particle of bite.

Try Tuxedo for a week and learn what it means to love your pipe.

NEGROES IN CHILLICOTHE ARE GIVING SOME TROUBLE

(Chillicothe Valley News). A little trouble among some of the coons of the town, growing out of recent arrests for bootlegging, reached its climax Saturday night.

The shooting occurred in the vicinity of the Orient hotel, in close proximity to the business section, but unfortunately was without the desired result. Several shots were fired, but only one took effect, hitting one of the assailants in the fleshy part of the arm.

A white bead grille on an afternoon or a dance frock of net is most effective too; the China beads may be used, or the glittering crystal beads. These woven griddles give an excellent opportunity to put into use the knowledge of bead weaving which the majority of us gained when head embroidery was so popular a form of fancy work some years ago.

LABORING MEN CAN WEAR WORK CLOTHES TO CHURCH

By Associated Press. Ft. Worth, Texas, April 19.—"Laboring men; come with your working clothes on." This is a standing invitation given by Rev. A. D. Lindsey, pastor of a local church, who is conducting a revival. It is said that working men are taking advantage of the invitation.

SUMMER DRESSES, GAILY BEDECKED, DECLARED MOST CHARMING IN YEARS

New York, April. —Daytime dresses, this season, seem to have reached the height of perfection. There are the simplest of the simple: in designs for morning or street wear and the daintiest, most airy possibilities of a narrow woven grille of beads.

China beads are particularly effective for this purpose; these are used for yokes, collar cuffs and for griddles. For the tulle afternoon dress the beads are in colors or white, according to their application.

There are figured and flowered dimities, gauze, crepes, tulle, and lawn, which are used effectively on children's garments and here again we see the effect of color, for in children's fashions there is the same demand for brightness as materials are so inexpensive.

The dainty dress of serge, material of the season, is rendered doubly becoming by a bit of vivid wool head embroidery and the evening frock, no matter how simple, is a thing of tone and sparkle.

A grille and belts of all descriptions are smart again this year. It will not be a difficult matter to introduce the required bit of color. Wide and narrow griddles of ribbon are smart; narrow strap belts of colored suede, soft or vivid, according to the tone of the material, encircle skirt or coat of the sport costume and the simple serge or linen frock may be griddled as soberly or as gorgeously as fancy dictates and Fashion advises. Fanny to be gorgeously included birds, levers, butterflies and colored motifs are being embroidered on. Especially are these blue birds fanning especially favored for light toned linens and cottons.

Especially are these blue birds favored for the little girl's white frock. The only thing to bear in mind when using these motifs, is that the design must be small and the effect dainty. Feather stitching and cross stitch are both being used effectively on children's garments and here again we see the effect of color, for in children's fashions there is the same demand for brightness as materials are so inexpensive.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do anything for me, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead, and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health.

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.
