TROOPS CROSS RIO GRANDE WEDNESDAY NIGHT IN PURSUIT OF GLENN SPRINGS BANDITS; CAPTIVES SERVE AS GUIDE

NO SIGN OF EARLY END OF TROUBLE

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN TO BE MUSTERED INTO ARMY FOR PERIOD OF THEIR ENLISTMENT NO TERMS FIXED

RENEW WARNINGS

Americans in Mexico Again Urged to Leave—No Indication of Early Settlement of Military Questions in El Paso Conference

Washington, May 11.—Further indications that American army operations on the Mexican border are still indeterminate as to time, was given today in official statements. It was announced at the war department that the National Guard of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico would be mustered into the army for the period of their enlistments and with no specific time of federal service stipulated.

Secretary Baker said mustering officers in charge of the militia mobilization had inquired whether President Wilson had fixed any definite term for enlistment. Because it is not known how long the guard will be required Baker explained that it is ordered that the National Guardsmen be enrolled for the terms of the state enlistments or until they are released.

General Scott telegraphed the department that another conference with General Obregon was set for ten o'clock this morning at El Paso. Secretary Baker said there was nothing to confirm border report that General Scott had served an ultimatum on General Obregon for a final answer upon acceptance or rejection of the tentative protocol.

It was expected here that General Obregon would present counter proposals in writing particularly in regard to fixing a date for ultimate withdrawal of American forces. American consuls throughout Mexico have been instructed to again call attention of Americans to the state department's repeated warnings that this government regards their presence there as undesirable.

The last census taken by the state department six weeks ago showed less than 3000 Americans throughout the country, mostly near Mexico City and the extreme east and west coasts.

Bodies of Five Others in Boat With Them—Captain and Wife are Among Missing

By Associated Press.
San Luis Obispo, Cal., May 11.—Forty-one members of the crew of the steamship Roanoke operated by the California South Seas Navigation Company which turned turtle and sank Tuesday when its cargo shifted during a gale 100 miles south of San Francisco, were missing today and the Union Oil Company's tanker Lansing was searching for four of the life boats in which the ship's company took refuge.

The first boat drifted ashore at Port San Luis yesterday carrying three drowned sailors and the bodies of five of their mates who had died from exposure. The Roanoke carried no passengers. Captain Richard Dickson and his wife are believed lost according to the tale of the disaster told from their cots by the survivors. When the ship lurched before plunging downward, Mrs. Dickson was thrown into the sea and Captain Dickson plunged overboard to rescue her. They were not seen again. The Roanoke left San Francisco Monday with explosives for South American ports. The arrival of the life boat at Port San Luis brought the first news of the tragedy.

Russians Are Pushed Back at One Point—Increased Activity at Some Places in Balkan Theatre is Reported From Athens

The Associated Press summarizes war operations as follows: Another shift in the line of attack upon Verdun is reported in this afternoon's war office announcement from Paris. Holding in check their forces on the west bank of the Meuse where they recently have scored important successes, the Germans have made a successful attack on the east, also launching an attack near Vaux northeast of the fortress. Probable speedy resumption of infantry drives northwest of the fortress, however, is indicated by the report of heavy artillery fire in the region of the Avocourt wood, southwest of Hill 304.

The French are vigorously attacking German lines in the Verdun region, according to Berlin, which announces an assault near Dead Man's Hill, and another southeast of Hill 304. Both were broken up by German fire, it is declared. The eastern front situation is growing more interesting. All along the line the Russians are objects of occasional sharp thrusts by the Teutonic allies. At present they seem content merely with standing off these attacks. In at least one instance, they failed to hold their line, however, according to Berlin which today reports the capture of 500 yards of a Russian position near Selburg. Considerable increased activity is reported from the Balkan front, such heavy artillery fire and some infantry clashes on the Macedonian frontier being mentioned. Athens dispatches report brisk fighting north of Aylona, indicating the Albanians were about to move against the Italians and other forces holding the Albanian seaport. On the east Mesopotamian front the Russians had advanced from Inogor Persia and have occupied Kasr-i-Shehr, about 110 miles northeast of Basrah. They report the Turks fleeing and the capture of several guns.

CEREMONY THIS AFTERNOON AT BELLEVUE PARK

PARADE PRECEDES CROWNING OF QUEEN WITH DECORATED FLOATS REPRESENTING WARD SCHOOLS

THOUSANDS ATTEND

Dances and Drills Are Staged at Park Before Large Throng and Affair is Carried Out With Marked Success As Planned

In the presence of thousands of interested spectators and surrounded by a score of attendants, Her Royal Highness, Mary Spyer, 1 of the house of Clark was this afternoon crowned queen of the May at the first annual May Fete of the Wichita Falls public schools, the fete taking place in Bellevue Park. The coronation ceremonies followed the May Day parade which traversed the main streets of the business district of the city and proceeded out, Ninth street to the park.

The two companies of high school cadets headed the parade, the cadets being in drill uniform with guns. Following the cadets came the Boy Scouts in uniform, the two military organizations forming an escort for the queen's float.

The big float was decorated in gold and white, the royal colors, and was canopied to simulate a palanquin in which rode the queen, attended by her maids of honor, Misses Rhea Gardner, Jeanette Snuggs, Patay Lou Koonce, Irene Danielson, Goldie Mariele, Ruby Martin, Mary Mathilde Akin, Gladys Price, Leoti Clark, Bernice Williams, Paucelin Beggs, Orie Stansfield, and Helen Knotts. The queen and all her attendants wore robes of white and their flowers carried out the color scheme of gold and white.

The floats of the ward schools followed the high school float bearing the queen and her party. The first school float was decorated in an elaborate floral design, in pink and white, the Alamo float in pink and green, the San Jacinto float in yellow and white, the Sun Houston float in blue green, and the other floats in blue, green and white. In these floats rode the honor students from the schools who were designated as members of the royal party.

A number of automobiles, some elaborately decorated, followed the crown of cadets. The parade was witnessed by hundreds of interested spectators and there was an immense crowd gathered at the park to await the coming of the participants in the fete.

The cadets and scouts entered the park first, forming a double column through which the queen and her party passed. The "Rose Maidens" followed the cadets and scouts, forming a floral arch with their garlands. Proceeding by the flower girls and the queen bearing the crown and scepter, a miniature May pole, the queen mounted to the throne erected on an improvised dais in the pavilion which centers the park. Two of her maids of honor placed on her head the crown of daisies, and the May scepter was given into her hand amid acclamation and cheers for her Majesty Mary Spyer, queen of the fete.

The pavilion was fringed in the rays of gold and white, and the throne was a mass of yellow and white chrysanthemums. The big dais was draped in white and the white robot queen and her daintily gowned attendants made a wonderful picture. The golden and white pavilion being effectively set off by the greenward of the park, the shrubs, the many blooming flowers.

The queen wore a white tulle and lace robe, elaborate and fitted to the fashion. The ruffles were caught here and there with sprigs of daisies and a corsage cluster of daisies outlined the semi-circular line of the neck. The full length court train was held at the shoulders in a wired lace collar and was lace edged. The queen's crown was a coronet of daisies and her immense arm bouquet of roses carried out the gold and white color motif.

With the coronation ceremony over the band stationed themselves about the throne and the May Day festivities began.

Miss Phoebe Campbell, class dancer, first appeared before the queen in a solo interpretation of Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," the airy beauty of the music and dance charming all. The sixteen high school misses then gave their floral offerings to the queen, presenting "The Feast of the Rose Maidens," in costume by various classes of the ward schools entertained the audience for about an hour, a very elaborate and beautiful "Love Star" drill completing the program.

The first May Festival was proclaimed a notable achievement and much praise has been given to Miss Agnew, school music director whose idea it was and to whom redounds the credit for the success of the order taking. Miss Agnew and the schools had the backing of the Chamber of Commerce in the planning and execution of the festival so that this first May Fete may be termed a civic festival, not merely a school affair.

THOMPSON DEATH PENALTY AFFIRMED

Court of Criminal Appeals Sustains Finding in Case of Negro Accused of Murder.

Charles Thompson, negro, convicted of the murder of Pearl Bradford, was brought one degree nearer the gallows Wednesday when the court of criminal appeals at Austin affirmed the death sentence passed in the negro's case.

Motion for rehearing will at once be entered in the case, and if that is denied, appeal will be made to the governor for commutation of sentence. These are practically the only two changes remaining to save the negro's life.

Thompson was notified today of the action of the court. He made no comment receiving the news with cheerful indifference. The negro has never appeared to realize the seriousness of his plight.

The action of the higher court caused some surprise here. When the case was submitted on appeal last week by the negro's attorneys, Ralph Mathis and Wayne Somerville, there were indications that a reversal of the case might be expected, and the attorneys were confident that the court would act favorably for them.

Judge Davidson is understood to have dissented, but this is not definitely known.

Thompson was convicted at the December term of the 20th district court. Pearl Bradford, the negro's girl, is alleged to have killed, not death with a hammer or some similar instrument, the principal testimony made this morning was the fact that the Bradford woman would not be head when asked if Charles did it.

ROTARIANS PLEDGE SUPPORT FOR BONDS

Indorse School and Paving Issues at Regular Meeting Held Wednesday

Indorsement of the school and paving bond issues and pledges of active support for them at the election May 23 were given at Wednesday's session of the Rotary Club. All present promised to vote for the bonds, which include $40,000 for paving and $25,000 for the schools, and to work for them if necessary.

It was announced that heretofore one Rotarian will be selected to conduct each week's meeting of the club. Mayor A. H. Britain will be in charge next week, after that the selections will be made in reverse alphabetical order. Steps for enforcement of the rule providing that a member who absents himself four consecutive meetings, without valid excuse shall be expelled from the club, were taken there several minutes thus threatened, it is stated.

MANY PHASES OF W. C. T. U. WORK ARE DISCUSSED

THIS MORNING'S SESSION OF THE CO-OPERATION COVERS A WIDE RANGE OF TOPICS IN CONNECTION WITH ACTIVITIES

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis Criticizes Present and Former Governors of Texas in Striking Address Delivered Wednesday Night

Reports on the many and varied phases of work undertaken by the Women's Christian Temperance Union were given at this morning's session of the state convention of that organization, now in progress here. The reports continue this afternoon. Tonight Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, the "Georgia Cyclone" will speak and tomorrow the convention will end with the election of officers.

A very forceful address by Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis, president of the organization was delivered at Wednesday's meeting. In the course of a discussion that covered numerous aspects of the liquor question, Mrs. Curtis took occasion to severely criticize Governor Ferguson for permitting F. W. Cook of San Antonio, a brewer, to remain on the State Unit. She said that the governor should be made to show allegiance to either the mothers or the brewers, and in urging her hearers to protest to the chief executive, she said he should be defeated for re-election if he permitted Cook to remain.

Former Governor Colquitt also came in for some remarks and Mrs. Curtis declared that the women of Texas should "protest against him at every opportunity." Discussing the coming prohibition campaign, she said that the women of Texas "should be ready to lay down their lives, if necessary, for a dry Texas." There was to have been a talk by Rev. N. F. Grafton also last night, but he said that the women of Texas "should be ready to lay down their lives, if necessary, for a dry Texas." There was to have been a talk by Rev. N. F. Grafton also last night, but he said that the women of Texas "should be ready to lay down their lives, if necessary, for a dry Texas."

At this morning's session, reports were submitted on various special features of the union's activities. Several of those scheduled to submit their reports were not present, but their reports were read by Mrs. Claudia Lightfoot, state corresponding secretary. She read the reports on "Our Sabbath," by Mrs. C. A. Westbrook of Lorenz, "Mothers' Day Purity," by Mrs. Fred Lawson of Ennis, "Mercy" by Mrs. Mollie Kyle of Dallas, "Flower Mission" by Mrs. S. K. Witter of Galveston, and "How to Win Legislative Victories" by Mrs. Flora Morland of Austin.

Other reports submitted in person by their authors were "Our Finances" by Mrs. W. T. Watson, "Our Soldiers and Sailors" by Mrs. J. Allen Newton of Galveston, "The Bible in the Public Schools" by Mrs. J. V. Brewer of Fort Worth, "Social Meetings" by Mrs. C. H. Clantes of Bonin, and "Special Reports" by Mrs. E. S. Yates.

Pastor Given Book. A feature of the morning's session was the presentation of a book "To the Noontide Rest" being "The Story of the Christian Church" by Mrs. C. A. Stoddard, former W. C. T. U. president, to Rev. N. F. Grafton.

The discussion of special topics continues this afternoon and will occupy the attention of the delegates until a late hour. "President's night" and "Curtis address" was the chief feature. She said: Dear Comrades: Today in this city of the plains country we come to close our year's work, to look ahead over the great expanse of a larger achievement than ever before in the history of our great cause. I think we really do not realize the full import of the world's revolutions today. We have not as yet recognized I think fully the significance of the world's bloodshed, nor the extent and scope of the battles of preparedness. We need to catch a glimpse of the vision God is holding up to our eyes as a Christian nation. "God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform." His word shall not return to him void. His warnings are so full of meaning and vivid in the fatherly spirit, and must be heeded or the consequences shall be measured to the offender.

The War's Lessons. There is a beautiful rainbow of promise flashing through the blood-stained world today in which we should look and take courage. Miss Gordon said in her annual address at Seattle, "Looking backward over the past twenty months and forward to the year 1916 one might epitomize the temperance movement in retrospect and prospect as a movement of victories yesterday and confident tomorrow." For while the world has been drenched in blood, the largest nation on earth, Russia, a nation comprising one-seventh of the world's territory and 175,000,000 people has thrown off its shackles, and though its soldiers camp on fields of battle she is today the leader of the world in God's own reform, and has placed forever the seal of death upon her country's great evil, intoxicating drinks. The fact that Russia has saved more money and put it in her savings banks in one month on prohibition than in a whole year before, and this too in the face of the fact that she is in the midst of the world's most expensive war, not only intoxicating drinks, but she has been revolutionized until travelers tell us that even the language of Russia has been reformed. The old drunken jargon of curses and vile language has gone, the men are sober and their language decent. Really the old insane manhood is "clothed in its right mind" and the tombs of drunken despair are deserted. Not only Russia undone certainly, and can never swing wide the gates of prosperity till peace with her white wings of soothing power shall come; but in this department we went to the foundation of nature and launched the Mercy Department, beginning with the baby, teaching kindness to animals, playmates and pets that the principle of love may be so firmly instilled as to preclude the thought of hate and war. Knowing that we are creatures of education and environment, we have enlisted in the Loyalty Temperance Legion and Young People's Branch, teaching them during the impressionable period of life, the dangers, mentally, physically and morally of narcotics and stimulants, as found in whiskey, beer, tobacco and cigarettes—thus creating a standard of mental hygiene that makes unpopular the one time popular social drink.

Colleges and Prohibition. Through the colleges, where are trained the leaders of America, we inaugurate a movement calculated to establish real leadership in men and women in the world's demands. The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, we hail with delight and promise our earnest support. We say to our leaders in political, educational, moral and industrial movements in America, of these the colleges furnish 7,700; thus we see the importance of college trained leadership. Prohibition in any sphere they do not; whether political, educational, moral or industrial. This year, in order to stimulate the young women of our colleges to stand side by side with the young men in this movement, your president offered and paid $20 to the young woman who prepared the best oration on this problem and Mrs. May Cagle of Baylor University, Waco, was awarded the prize at the contest held in Waxahatchie at the Trinity University April 6th and 7th this year. Realizing that the colleges engaged in such contests must have access to information which we are in a position to furnish, your president had letters sent to the colleges of Texas offering to place in each college a library of facts and science, which will cost at least $100 for each library. We have about 100 colleges which we hope will accept and use this library of information, so we hope each union here will agree to raise the money for at least one college library, and will register your name for that purpose before the convention closes, or better still if there are not some good stewards of the Lord who will give the $1,000 to put these libraries in. The brewers have put their books of misinformation in the schools and colleges and many do not know that they contain nothing but sophistry and misinformation, which means ruin to the standards of our young people.

The ever increasing problem of reaching and assimilating the foreign speaking people, we have this year endeavored to reach especially the Mexican population through the medal contest department, putting their own young people to holding temperance medals contests in all their schools and communities. Will not each union where you have the Mexican people hold from one to four contests this year, using the Mexican boys and girls to speak? These people are easily reached and easily won. The liquor traffic has used the Mexican vote in disguise our own intelligent white voter. Shall we train them to help us, or let the saloon train them to destroy our liberty and our freedom. These people respond readily to any kind-ness shown their children.

Colquitt and Ferguson Our nation must, at least, be on a par with Russia, and we must help to retire to private life every man sent to Congress in Congress who can be used by the outlaw of science and morals and industry. We must see that only those who are true to the progress of the people morally as well as financially are sent to our legislature and who shall be put in the Government. We must realize the power of unfranchised womanhood

A FILM of oil is a small thing, but on just that hinges the economy of your motor and a great deal of the pleasure in motoring.

- First.—It doesn't allow the mixture to leak through. All the "gas" is used to produce power.
- Second.—It checks wear by preventing metal-to-metal contact.
- Third.—It means no excess oil is sucked up into the combustion chamber.

When you use Texaco Motor Oil, you find that your spark plugs won't foul and that there is no heavy carbon deposit to get in the valve seats or to clog the exhaust.

You ride easier with less juggling of the throttle and with freedom from back fires and other annoyances.

Get some Texaco Motor Oil and at the same time, try Texaco Gasoline. This is the other partner of the Texaco Winning Combination.

FIRE PREVENTION MEASURES URGED

Ten Rules Are Laid Down By Organization To Reduce Losses Due To Fires

Chicago, May 10.—Ten measures to be advocated by the National Fire Protection Association in its warfare against the needless sacrifice of human lives and property by fires were introduced in the form of resolutions at the annual meeting of the association here today. The measure proposed are:

1. The adoption by municipalities of the standard building code of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to the end that fire resistive building construction may be encouraged, the use of inflammable roof coverings prohibited, adequate exit facilities from buildings assured, and inspectors so designed and fire stopped to make easy the extinguishment of fires therein.
2. The adoption by all states of minimum building requirements for the protection of state and county hospitals, asylums and similar institutions outside city limits and of small communities in which the establishment and enforcement of a building code is impracticable.
3. The enactment by all states of the fire marshal law advocated by the Fire Marshals Association of North America to the end that official investigation may be made of the causes of all fires, preventable fires may be eliminated by public education and the crime of arson stamped out.
4. The adoption of the association's suggested ordinance providing for the systematic inspection of all buildings by city fire marshals or local firemen to insure the vigorous enforcement of rules for cleanliness, good housekeeping and the maintenance of safe and unobstructed exits, fire fighting apparatus and other protective devices.
5. The enactment of ordinances similar to that of Cleveland, O., fixing the maximum height of buildings and fire upon citizens disregarding fire prevention orders and a more exact legal recognition of the common law principle of personal liability for damage resulting from fires due to carelessness or neglect.
6. The wider general use of the automatic sprinkler as a fire extinguishing agent and life saver and the more general adoption of the fire division wall as an important life saving exit facility.
7. The careful study of the technical surveys of cities made by the engineers of the committee on fire prevention of the National Board of Fire Underwriters covering the item of water supplies, their adequacy and reliability; fire department efficiency; hazards; and the possibility of co-operation among neighboring cities through mutual aid and the standardization of hose couplings.
8. The adoption of the association's suggested new and ordinance for state and municipal regulation of the transportation, storage and use of inflammable liquids and explosives.
9. The universal adoption and enforcement of the safety legislation prohibiting smoking in all parts of factories, industrial and mercantile buildings except in such fire proof rooms as may be especially approved for the purpose by fire departments.
10. The institution of children and the public generally in careful habits regarding the use of fire.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT FOR MOTHERS DAY MESSAGES

The Times has received the following: The second Sunday in May is Mother's Day. This year falls on May 14th. The beautiful thought of setting aside one day in the year to be particularly devoted to one's mother was first suggested by Mrs. Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, who founded the Mothers' Day International Association to provide the necessary organized support for the fostering of the movement.

Red Cross Officer Says This Country Should Profit By Europe's Experience

Indianapolis, May 11.—Problems that Europe faces today in caring for the millions of war sufferers make plain the urgent need of Red Cross preparedness in this country, according to Ernest P. "In the terrible tests of disaster to which the societies of the Red Cross have been subjected by war conditions in Europe, such as the wasteful failure of uncoordinated and uncontrolled relief agencies as served here at home," he said, "it behooves a solemn warning to the American Red Cross of the vital importance of preparedness."

Strenuous efforts are being made to put life into the Roosevelt campaign for the Republican nomination for the presidency. The periodicals and magazines are being loaded with special articles laudatory to the Colonel and money is being spent with a lavish hand to advertise the claims of Roosevelt. The Saturday Evening Post this week contains a four-page advertisement for the Colonel. Colliers Weekly and other periodicals and magazines also contain advertisements for him. Roosevelt himself has arranged for a number of speeches. In most of the state primaries that have been held so far the result do not indicate any overwhelming desire on the part of the people to recall the former president from private life. There is this to be said, however, Roosevelt is stronger with the masses of the voters than any other man who has been mentioned for the Republican nomination.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has completed its valuation of the 116 miles comprising the Texas Midland railway. This is the first railway in the country whose valuation has been completed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which, acting under a resolution of Congress, is making a physical valuation of all the railways of the country. The commission's valuation of the Texas Midland on a basis of "cost of reproduction" is $3,247,294, and its valuation on "cost of reproduction less depreciation" is $2,415,179. The last valuation of the same railroad made by the Texas Commission based on original cost less depreciation was $2,533,376. The figures of the Interstate Commerce Commission's engineers will be reviewed by Commissioner Prouty and the commission's experts at a hearing to be held in Kansas City on May 26th.

Democrats of forty counties reported instructions for Tom B. Love for democratic national committeeman from Texas in the conventions held Tuesday. No other candidates for this office received endorsement. While the forty counties are by no means a majority in the convention it is highly probable that they indicate a preponderance for Mr. Love in the state convention. Mr. Love was an original Wilson man and is in hearty sympathy with the administration. His selection as chairman can not meet with objection. While the Wichita county delegation will go to the state convention unopposed as to the choice for state chairman, it is believed the majority of the delegates are favorable to Mr. Love over any of the others who have been mentioned for the place.

Democrats in a number of counties endorsed Governor Ferguson in their county conventions Tuesday as one of the Texas delegates at large to the Democratic national convention. A number of other county conventions adopted resolutions declaring against the sending of any state or federal officer holder as a delegate to the convention. Such a policy, of course, would prevent the selection of Mr. Ferguson as a delegate. As a general policy, doubtless, this resolution meets with the approval of a majority of the Democrats of the state. However, many Democrats who favor this as a general policy would like to see Governor Ferguson's vigorous defense of the administration on recent occasions, when it has been attacked by one who is now asking favor of the Democratic voters of the state, recognized in some fitting way, and about the most fitting thing that has presented itself has been the proposal to send him as a delegate to the national convention. The delegates from this county are bound by a resolution adopted at the county convention not to vote for any state or federal officer holder as a delegate.

The United States Senate has passed the Hollis Bill "to provide capital for agricultural development, to create a standard form of investment based upon farm mortgages, to equalize rates of interest," etc. It is probable that this or some similar measure will pass the House at the present session of congress. This bill proposes to create (a) a Farm Loan Board at Washington, composed of the secretary of the treasury and four others, (b) at least twelve Federal land banks to be governed by the Farm Loan Board as the Federal Reserve banks are governed by the Federal Reserve Board, and (c) an unlimited number of joint stock land banks and farm loan associations. Each of the twelve or more Federal land banks shall have $500,000 minimum capital, to be contributed by the Government—$6,000,000 at the least to begin with. Then, so long as is necessary, the Government shall upon demand contribute $6,000,000 a year. Ten or more farmers may form a co-operative farm loan association and borrow from the nearest Federal land bank half the value of their farms on long-term mortgages at a rate of interest fixed by the Farm Loan Board at Washington; or any individual farmer may apply direct either to a joint stock land bank, if it voluntarily assumes to come into existence, or to a land bank agent. The mortgages afterward are pledged to secure bonds which shall be prepared by the secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency and signed by the Farm Loan Board. These bonds shall be lawful investments for public and trust funds, for funds of the Federal Reserve system and to secure deposits of Government money. It is denied that the Government is responsible for these farm mortgage bonds, yet it supervises their creation, lends its authority to every detail of the transaction, and gives them the color of its credit.

FERGUSON AND MEXICO.

The border having been left exposed and there having been, according to Governor Ferguson, "the ruthless spilling of American blood on American soil," the State's chief executive, without waiting for the conclusion of the Scott-Oregon conference, rushes to the conclusion that "it is now our duty to do whatever is necessary to prevent a recurrence of further outrages against our people," and that duty, as he sees it, "the solemn duty of the United States is to enter Mexico and assume control of that unfortunate country and give to the Mexican people that stability of government which they are now unable and helpless to establish." Another reason assigned is that "millions of starving people in Mexico cry out for food and protection from the assassin's hand," therefore to do less than take control "will be to shirk our responsibilities to our national honor and our duty to the Mexican people." So reasons the State's chief executive, "as one," he tells us, "who has hoped against hope that a ruler might arise to restore peace in Mexico."

We have in this line of reasoning the assumption that we are appointed to set in order the house of another. Where is our commission for such an undertaking? Besides, intervention now would be to convict ourselves of insincerity. Our refusal for so long a time to recognize any government in Mexico contributed more than everything else to the present unfortunate state of affairs. Finally, after a long, long wait, Carranza was recognized as the head of the defacto government. Shall we now dispute his authority and this without giving sufficient time to demonstrate the ability of his government to bring order out of chaos, a chaos for which we are largely responsible? Are we not at this very moment conferring with Carranza's accredited representative as to the best methods of restoring order in Mexico and of safeguarding our own interests? The excuse for intervention in Mexico would have been the murdering over there—not over here—of our citizens. But that excuse we waived when we issued a warning to our citizens to flee the country. If this warning has gone unheeded, the blame is not ours, unless it might be said that we did not furnish the means for getting out, but that is largely incidental—our crime, not theirs.

As for the starving millions, and it falling to our lot to care for them, why not send them food? Wouldn't that be better than imposing on them a foreign yoke? Besides, as already said, have we given the de facto government a fair chance to demonstrate its ability to restore order and so enable the people to provide themselves with food?

Governor Ferguson overlooks the fact that here side by side are two republics, which implies ability of the people to rule. Would it not be as in peachment of democratic government for this people to assert authority over that people unless provoked thereto by aggressions of a major sort? Many of Mexico's woes are to be traced to the sort of government which Governor Ferguson would impose on her people, to-wit: a ruler. The struggle has been to get the government back to the people, and it is measurably succeeding. When it does succeed, as it ultimately must, stable government would be assured, for it will rest on the consent of the governed, the basis of free institutions. Shall we now deny our own foundations and return to those of empire?

Let the Wilson administration and the Ferguson administration address themselves to their constitutional duty, to-wit: the proper protection of the border. When they have done that, they will have done all to which the people have appointed them in this matter. There has been too much meddling already—too much acting for humanity, the cause of all our woes.—Waco Times-Herald.

WHAT IDEAL PAPER SHOULD BE.

(By James Keeley, Editor Chicago Herald)

A newspaper has been defined as a mirror reflecting the occurrences of the world, sometimes cracked, sometimes reproducing a distorted picture, but nevertheless, a mirror.

Real newspapers have outgrown the looking glass phase of existence. They still picture the happenings of the preceding 24 hours, but they are doing a greater work. They are helping in the upbuilding of the communities in which they live. A newspaper can more nearly realize its mission closer to attaining the ideals of the citizenry and priest in their ministrations. The floods are undimmed by hundreds of ours by the millions.

A newspaper must have a social conscience, and with a social conscience a newspaper will not confine its energies to printing the news and commenting on news, and measure. It will initiate helpful movements and fight to carry them to a successful issue.

It must be of service today, not only in politics and business, but in aiding the solution of the problems that are part of the daily life of the people. It must not only urge the public to "swat the crook," but should plead with it to "swat the fly."

It must not only fight for a clean and honest administration, but must battle alongside those who are preaching the doctrine of a clean home. It must not only decline to receive the dirty dollars that come from lying murderers' medical advertising, but should teach the people how to keep well. It must not only at annual meetings of newspaper men and advertising men glorify Truth as the guiding star in advertising, but 245 days in the year should protect its readers from those to whom Truth is a troublesome jade.

The average newspaper in America today is a cheap paper and an honest paper. There are not many examples left of Yvirine on the editorial page and Vice in the advertising columns. The advertiser of today is beginning to pick his company. He doesn't like to sit in the same pew with the quack, the loan shark, the mining swindler, the oil pirate and the merchandiser faker.

There is no better investment than a single standard of honor, honesty, truth and integrity from the title to the last agate line on the back page. Those who read the weedless fields of honesty gather golden harvests. Truth, cleanliness and decency are the greatest dividend papers on earth.

The responsibilities of newspaper editors are so great because our power is so immense. If we forget the former the latter wanes.

HYPNOTIZING TERRY

By JANE OSBORN.

It was Terry Bell telephoning from the girls' dormitory. She was in great distress, and, like Terry, she had put off the dreadful hour as late as she could, and then, again like Terry, she had come to the Delta Alpha men to help her out.

Terry ought never to have taken that philosophy course, and Morton's name told her so over the phone. But that didn't help matters then—just twelve hours before the examination came off. The worst of it all was that Terry was taking a minimum course, and if she didn't pass that philosophy examination it would mean no degree and another year at college—diagnose.

Terry's voice trembled charmingly as she told Morton, and Morton's large heart beat fast and bravely as he promised to help her out.

Terry had turned to her notebook, only to find it in hopeless confusion. She had asked some of the girls in the dormitory to help her, but they were too busy to hear her. "Doctor Dorkay's philosophy was a course at which even the bluestocks tremble," she told Terry expectant to do it all the last day, without the books and without good notes—pretty little light-hearted Terry?

So she telephoned to the Delta Alpha house and asked whether she might borrow one of the men's notebooks—just for an hour. A half dozen Delta Alpha men were interested in Terry's plight at once. Each one was willing to help her, although each one secretly felt that help would be useless. As a result of this general sympathy Tom Hinton, Leland Smith and Morton Nairne awaited Terry beneath the campus elms at the appointed minute.

Terry came creeping through the shadow, hatless and heavily coated. Morton was the spokesman. Mere work by herself would do no good. It was too late, she had to go. Leland and Morton had decided to help her, to tutor her at the eleventh hour, although each man ought to have against the rule for them to be at the girls' dormitory, quite as defensible for her to come to the Delta Alpha house and equally lawful for her to be on the campus unchaperoned at that hour.

However, the three Delta Alpha men led Terry to the seclusion of a boathouse on the lake. Morton had the key and he had also remembered to bring candles for the lantern. Terry sat on the only chair. Smith read the notes, Hinton read the references to the text books and Morton applied the information as if actually ramming it into Terry's helpless brains.

It was one o'clock when Smith turned the last page of his note book and Terry, with cheeks flushed with excitement and eyes heavy with sleep, fairly staggered from the boathouse to grope her way stealthily into her dormitory corridor.

"I am so sleepy," she murmured as she said good night to the men.

"No sleep for you, young lady," warned Morton. "You have only begun to work. Your case is hopeless, but it is up to you to go into your little room and study four hours more." Then as the three men started back to the fraternity house, Morton said:

"What did a girl like Terry ever go to college for, anyway?"

Terry Bell took the examination and so did her three devoted tutors. But Terry took it in a daze, unprepared and apparently unprepared.

"Poor little girl," whispered Morton to her as she made their way out of the classroom to the campus. "But don't worry. Men never like girls that are all brains. Tell you the truth, I wouldn't care for a girl that could pass that examination. You are not out for philosophy. You ought to—"

"What?" coaxed Terry with that teasing, helpless tone of hers. "You ought to be on a pedestal with some chap like me worshipping you. That is the kind of girl you are."

It was a week later and the Delta Alpha men were spending their last evening together before disbanding for the summer.

"Have you heard the news?" asked Leland Smith. "The news about Terry Bell?"

"Yes," said Tom Hinton, beaming. Tom has just consulted the bulletin board in the registrar's office to find his examination ratings. "I call a case of hypnotism, pure and simple."

"Morton is a wonder," remarked Leland, "if he can hypnotize a girl like Terry Bell into consenting to marry him."

Tom Hinton's smile changed to gloom as he manifested his surprise in a long, low whistle.

"I hadn't heard that," he said. "What I referred to is the fact that Terry Bell got the highest mark in

SOME OF THE WOMEN "ROOKIES"—C. H. SHERRILL

The "Women's Plattsburg" is a title given to the camp in which 200 women are preparing near Washington to play a part in the national defenses if called upon to do so. The camp has won the approval of prominent officials and army men, and among the recent visitors were President and Mrs. Wilson. The picture shows some of the women "rookies" lined up for inspection by the president. Charles H. Sherrill, whose portrait is printed, will be grand marshal of the preparedness parade in New York on May 13. It is expected that 125,000 men and women will march and the demonstration will be one of the greatest ever known in America.

PURSuing POLLY

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

Peter sat up, ran his fingers through his towed hair and beamed at Polly like a benevolent imp. "I don't see what you want to rush off to New York for. You won't make good, Polly. You girls think after you've sung in the choir in a dinky little town like Waneota, all you have to do is get up on a stage and be a prima donna quicker'n scat. Buell says—"

"I don't care to hear it, Peter."

"What on earth have you got against Buell Abbott? Rising young lawyer, and, by Jimmy, he will rise sure enough. He's going up in an aeroplane."

"For pity's sake!" exclaimed Mrs. Wadleigh. Polly looked at Peter with doubt and suspicion in her eyes and the time table in her hand.

"He is. I heard him talking to some fellows at the post office, and he said he'd just as soon go as not."

Polly went out of the room with her nose tilted at rather a scornful angle. It was quite like Buell to say such a thing in Peter's hearing to be sure it reached her ears and would make her worry about him.

Polly decided that nothing could ever make her worry or trouble herself again about Mr. Abbott. She was not interested in his goings or comings, or ascensions for that matter. Safe in her own room, she stood before the oval mahogany-framed mirror, and looked at the face that stared so haughtily, so uncompromisingly, back at her. The eyes were very blue, startlingly blue, with dark lashes and eyebrows, and her hair, too, was dark. Polly liked to take it and pile it high on her head, with a few loose curls at her temple and ears, like a picture of the Empress Josephine she had cut from a magazine and pinned on the wall. It was a pity someone had not planned an opera around Josephine, she thought. She would have loved singing arias of defiance at some stocky Napoleon.

Buell was rather stocky. Tall, but broad shouldered, and rather inclined to take things too easy. Yes, that was exactly the whole trouble, Polly decided for the hundredth time. He didn't have a thrill of romance or temperamental excitement in his whole make-up.

It had always seemed natural for him to ask her sweetheart, natural even a few months ago, "Which side of the railroad track do you want to live on, Polly, after we're married?"

That was the way Buell proposed, spoke of the divine fire of love in his heart. And it was Buell all over.

Polly had rebelled from that minute. She did not select her favorite side of the track either. She told Mr. Abbott that she thought of running down to New York and studying for grand opera. And Buell had stared at her for a minute in utter amazement before he had actually laughed at her and chuckled.

"You're not, really, Polly?"

"Oh, but I am," insisted Polly. "I'm going next week."

All during her preparation for the trip she thought of him until by the time she took the train for New York she almost relented and called him up to say good-by. Somehow he seemed rather noncommittal and not half so anxious as she had expected.

It was around Poughkeepsie, half way down the Hudson, that Polly noticed the other passengers watching something from the windows, something very exciting. When she looked out she saw hovering over the river a flying ship like a great bird. Straight down it came toward the racing train. As it passed them, the engine emitted a shriek of salute, and the people called from the windows and platforms, waving caps and handkerchiefs; but Polly drew back into her own seat, with wide, almost frightened eyes. Over the telephone Buell had told her last of all:

"Remember our favorite song, 'Lock Lomond, Polly? Well, listen to this, and it's a promise—"

"You take the high road and I'll take the low road."

And I'll be in Scotland before you!"

ESTIMATING AGE OF EARTH

Geologists Have Differed Greatly as to the Time It Has Been in Existence.

As long ago as 1860 John Phillips, the geologist, estimated that the time required for the deposition of the stratified rocks lay between 38,000,000 and 90,000,000 years. This was probably the only estimate prior to Kelvin's speech-making paper of 1862. Since that time many estimates have been made, varying all the way from 12,000,000 years to 400,000,000 years. Kelvin was the first to discuss the age of the earth considered as a cooling body. In 1852 (Harvey King introduced the important criterion of tidal stability and reached the conclusion that 24,000,000 represented the conditions. This result was adopted by Kelvin in 1857, and then he placed the limits as 20,000,000 and 40,000,000 years. Only Sir George Darwin has discussed the age of the earth from a purely astronomical point of view. From his theory of the earth-moon system he derived an estimate of more than 56,000,000 years, which for a long time stood between groups of higher and lower figures. J. Joly was the first to base estimates of the age of the earth, in 1899, on the sodium contained in the ocean. Adopting the hypothesis that the sodium content of the ocean is derived at a constant rate from that of the rocks, he arrived at an age of 80,000,000 or 90,000,000 years, and increased this by 10,000,000 in 1906. In 1909 Mr. Sollas made a searching inquiry into this subject and placed the age of the ocean at between 80,000,000 and 150,000,000 years.

Meat at Death's Door.

Ruskin, when at death's door, enjoyed food well-nigh indigestible. During a visit to Matlock in 1871 he was seized with an attack of internal inflammation, which nearly carried him off. Mrs. Arthur Severn, who nursed him, records that at the crisis of his illness, "he hungered—to our horror—for a slice of cold roast beef. It was late at night, there was none in the hotel, and Albert Goodwin went off to get some, anywhere he could."

"At last, at an eating house in Matlock Bath, he discovered some, and came back triumphant with it, wrapped in paper. Mr. Ruskin enjoyed his late supper thoroughly. Though we anxiously waited till the morning for a result, it had done no harm, and to everybody's surprise, he recovered."

P. B. M. STORE IS BURGLARIZED AGAIN

Large Quantity of Men's Wearing Apparel is Stolen Wednesday Night.

Men's clothing of the estimated value of $500 was stolen last night from the P. B. M. store by parties who entered through a rear window on the second floor and then, with apparently no haste, made selections from the stock—Suits, hats, socks, shirts and other articles were missing today and while the exact value of the goods stolen can not be ascertained, it is believed to be not less than $500.

A ladder was placed at a rear window on the second floor, and the glass was broken in the window so that it could be unlocked. The thief or thieves then entered and looted at their leisure. They visited the office and also the men's locker and are believed to have taken their time.

The ladder would easily have been visible to any one looking down the alley and it is not understood how the burglars escaped detection.

This is the third time within the past year or so that this store has been burglarized, and it has apparently been singled out for special attention. Last year it was burglarized, women's dresses to the value of $600 being taken by negroes who were later apprehended and sentenced. A few months ago the show window in front of the store was forced open and a quantity of clothing taken. The members of the P. B. M. company feel that the excellence of their goods makes them desirable, even for burglars, but they want no more such visitations.

Island of Pygmies and Cannibals

WHEN the Australian troops took the German part of New Guinea early in the war, Great Britain became the possessor of fully half of the largest island in the world, for Australia and Greenland are properly small continents. The other half belongs to Holland. New Guinea surpasses Madagascar in size, its length being 200 miles greater than the distance from New York to Chicago, says Rena Bache in the Boston Herald. Its area is equal to that of France and the British Isles combined. But what renders it most interesting is that it is today the least known portion of the habitable world, fully nine-tenths of the island being as yet unexplored. This may well seem surprising when it is considered that New Guinea is separated from the north coast of Australia only by a broad strait. A glance at a map of the world will show that it is in reality the largest member of the great archipelago in the eastern seas, which includes the Philippine Islands on the north and Borneo and Sumatra on the west. The line of the equator runs almost directly through it. Ferocious Black Cannibals. New Guinea is inhabited by tribes of ferocious black people, with great mops of woolly hair, who evince utmost hostility toward all intruders. When vessels have been wrecked upon their inhospitable shores they have in a number of known instances captured the unfortunate mariners and eaten them. But if the island is so great an extent a terra incognita to day it is not mainly on this account, but because of its unhealthy climate to defunct relatives, the bones being sometimes contained in woven grass bags. The price of a wife among these primitive people may be anything from a yard of calico to an ax head, according to the physical attractions and domestic accomplishments of the woman. The savage warriors of New Guinea adorn themselves with crowns of paradise feathers, which are held in place by a band of plaited grass encircling the head. Sometimes they wear a sort of halo, the rays of which are many pieces of cane plaited into the hair, and standing out at right angles to the scalp. Such a headdress, which is not disturbed or remade for months, must be rather uncomfortable to sleep in. To lend a fierce expression to the face the beak of the hornbill split into two is worn through a hole in the septum of the nose, in such a way that the two thin white blades, each five or six inches long, curve up at the ends like Kaiser Wilhelm's mustache. In Perpetual Strife. Captain Rawling, in his book, "The Land of the New Guinea Pygmies," says that the natives are engaged in perpetual strife and drunken brawls—their favorite intoxicant being a fermented liquor obtained from the sugar palm. Just outside each family doorway stand the owner's spears and stone clubs, which are used in domestic quarrels or to fight with enemies. Violent temper seems to be a characteristic of these savages, and with hardly a moment's warning the peaceful village is converted into a scene of turmoil and strife. Spears, whisks, clubs are wielded indiscriminately and with murderous intent, and the place resounds with ferocious yells. At intervals raids are undertaken to procure heads as trophies and human flesh for food. There are no heretic cannibals, judging from all accounts, as was was wrecked off the coast of British New Guinea, and 300 men on board of her, all of them Chinese, were marooned on a small island. There they were fed and systematically fattened by the natives, no escape being possible, and at intervals, as required, two or three of them at a time were taken to the mainland, boiled in a spring of hot water and eaten. Women have no rights among the natives of New Guinea. They are treated as slaves, worked almost to death and savagely beaten when their owners happen to be in a bad humor, which is often. It is their business to cultivate the fields of banana and rice while their lords and masters attend to the fighting and hunting. If a man chooses to murder his wife, nobody interferes, and nothing much seems to be thought of it. New Guinea is for naturalists an unexplored wonderland. It has many species of birds that are as yet unknown to science. The forests are full of parrots and other feathered creatures of brilliant plumage, and among the marine curiosities along the coast are fishes that climb trees. The swamps swarm with the deadliest snakes. As for the mammals of the land, nearly all of them are, like those of nearby Australia, marvellously adapted to their environment. Motion Pictures, in Color. A serious effort is being made to reproduce motion pictures in color, but as yet little success has been obtained, and the pictures in color which have been shown in recent years have been painted. Attempts to adapt three-color photography, by using simultaneously three films, each with a sort of light of appropriate color, and combining the three images on the screen, have to overcome great difficulties in regard to maintenance of register, because very minute errors of adjustment between the pictures on the films are magnified to an intolerable extent by projection. In a process devised by J. A. Smith, the results of which were exhibited at the Society of Arts of London in December, 1910, the number of colors recorded was reduced to two.

FISHING WITH BOW AND ARROW

From the foothills of the huge mountain range, running through its entire length from east to west, extend to north and south vast swampy plains covered with dense forests, intersected by innumerable streams, and haunted by the deadliest of fevers. Thus it comes about that German New Guinea is practically an unknown land, except for a narrow strip along the coast, while the portion hitherto held by Great Britain has been explored only in part, and what is known of the Dutch half of the island was ascertained mainly by an English expedition undertaken in 1910. This expedition, headed by Capt. Cecil G. Rawling, which penetrated some distance into the interior and made considerable surveys, came across tribes of hitherto unknown pygmies, the men barely reaching 4 feet 7 inches in height. It is presumed that the women are proportionately smaller, but no bribes or other persuasions could induce these little folk to produce any of their females for inspection—least, as seemed to be feared, they might be captured and carried off. Apparently the pygmies are of the same dwarf race, evidently very ancient, that is found in the Philippines, in the Andaman Islands and in equatorial Africa. The savages along the coast, on the other hand, are good-sized people, remarkably muscular and with a great development of chest. The men are sooty black, the women being slightly fairer. Among them are occasional albinos, with dirty reddish hair, their pink skins blotched unpleasantly with darker color. Both sexes go nearly naked, the women wearing either a short grass petticoat or a strip of dark cloth passed between the legs and held in place by a string tied around the waist. For the man a gourd similarly attached in front often serves the purpose of raiment. Native Village One Long Room. A native village is one long room, which may extend to any length, the newest member of such a community building his hut on the end of the row, without any partition. Thus there is no attempt at privacy, though each family has its own doorway and its own fireplace. The floor is of sand fresh from the seashore and covered with grass mats, and the only furniture consists of elaborately carved wooden pillows, most uncomfortable, as one would think, for sleeping purposes. Dangling from the roof, and much blackened by smoke, are human skulls and bones, formerly belonging and strive for justice in government. We believe the womanhood of this state should protect against him at every opportunity. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Ferguson has progressed with the thought of the state and nation, and if not he should be dejected. The following open letter was him protesting against F. W. Cook of San Antonio, a Colquitt appointed man holding the presidency of the board of regents of state University since he is a brewer. Let every woman protest to the Governor to test his loyalty to Texas Mothers of Textile Brewers that have proven outlaws in our state fined for their dirty work in the politics of the state. Shall mothers of Texas send their sons and daughters to the State University to have a brewer as their example? I am as their official adviser, My! My! It's enough to turn every woman loose on the governor and demand that university be kept clean and clear of the touch of brewery pollution. Then if Governor Ferguson will not heed this, he should be promptly dejected. In fact I suggest that the women of Texas inquire for the names of every appointee of Mr. Colquitt and then put them to the test on these principles and if they show the feather of brewery plumage proceed to see that they are defeated. The American Pharmacopeia has stricken intoxicants from its pages and thus left the physician free to stand for a scientific and moral principle, and in our Non Alcoholic Medication Department we trust to reach every physician of Texas, that these practitioners may stand on the high level of the industrial world and strike the demon from their practice, hence we trust this great band of life-savers will pass the resolution passed by the State Medical Association of West Virginia, showing that science has the courage of its convictions in scientific men. Today in the study of Health and Sanity—we have learned the destructive power of alcohol on all life. It is a proto plasm destroyer and all human life is started in the smallest proto plasm. Hence, we find actual scientific research that 65 per cent to 75 per cent of the insane and feeble minded is due to alcoholic parentage or habits. That we have two and one half million babies born in this country every year. That one-half million die before one year old because of alcoholic poison in parents rendering them too weak to survive infancy. That one-third million die before 21 years of age in spite of our wonderful infant propaganda to save the babies. We tide them over, only to be swept off in adolescence or childhood, because, once the protoplasm, of which they are formed, had been blighted by alcohol. Oh, we have a real debt to settle for the murder of our own children, but as we learn we will settle. Headed for Water Wagon. America is headed for the water wagon and Fort Worth shows the tide. When the brewery of Fort Worth was torn down the church bought the brick at one-half price to build a Sunday School room for the First Baptist Church. God hasten the day when the brick of every brewery will go into a church, a mangled milk can, or something to save the babies instead of destroying them. Not only is America seeing visions and climbing onto the train of efficiency, but as Miss Gordon said: "We feel the breath of the Orient. As we meet in congress the Japanese, we are proud of Burma's advance—Of India's prohibitory law—Of New Zealand's prohibition campaign—Of Australia's victories—Of New Zealand's forward march, and of the auspicious opening for our work in Mexico and South America. So that we can in all truth sing, "Around the World the Ribbon White is Twined." Now as we stand face to face with the Texas fight, we grip our weapons of warfare, knowing that the great state of Texas shall soon be cleared of its awful strain, its tremendous handicap. Let us take courage in the fact that thousands are so enthusiastically singing the submission petition, and that men, once on the other side, are everywhere seeing the truth and lining up for the battle we are to have next year. Let no woman count the cost or fall us now. Let us be ready to lay down our lives if necessary for Texas dry. Your president has asked to be released from the chair and desk that he may be free to stay with us till his last vote is in and the Hallejuhals of mothers' hopes shall ring from the Red River to the Rio Grande. Mrs. Megrall's address delivered yesterday afternoon follows in part: "There is no social movement more amazing than the world wide rebellion against rum domination. Who would have dreamed that puteratic Russia would so soon become a prohibition nation? Whiskey ridden England has had her rashness exposed for five hours a day with the result that in the first week of shortened hours drunkenness was reduced 25 per cent. France and even Germany have taken steps to check the liquor traffic. "All reputable medical and scientific authorities have declared alcohol to be a powerful narcotic poison which cannot be taken into the system with safety even in moderate quantities. There are at least 25 diseases, many of them fatal, which result from even the moderate use of alcohol. The use of alcohol is responsible for the great majority of crime, insanity and pauperism which beset the century. Our courts have declared this statement to be true. "In view of these facts, why is it, simply because it has back of it the supernatural power of Satan, himself, it will require, in the last analysis, the supernatural power of God to eradicate it. Human strength alone may kill the liquor traffic, but it will require something more to destroy the liquor evil."

$100,000 FOR FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

Life Insurance Company Makes Donation—National Association Meets

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Announcement was made of a gift of $100,000 to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis by Dr. E. R. Baldwin, president of that body, at its opening session today. The gift is from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and is given for the purpose of demonstrating by a community experiment for three years that tuberculosis can be controlled just the same as any other infectious disease if right methods and adequate resources are available. It is planned to select a town or city of about 5,000 inhabitants, probably in New York or Massachusetts and to apply there all of the knowledge on the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis available, with a view to the ultimate eradication of the disease. If the National Association can demonstrate that tuberculosis can be controlled in one community, it will start a campaign to apply this knowledge to every city and town in the United States.

Dr. Baldwin also emphasized the most significant developments in the anti-tuberculosis field during the past year. "In our educational campaign," he said, "we are applying more intensive methods of group education in schools, churches, lodges, labor unions and even among physicians and nurses. The last year has also witnessed some significant administrative developments. The decided movement in the direction of standardization of methods of work is highly commendable. The interest taken in the interstate or federal relation to the tuberculosis problem is most significant. Research both into the medical and social causes of tuberculosis, is being emphasized anew. The National Association must answer many important questions before it can do much farther with its work. More research is needed to do this. It is gratifying to note the ever-increasing amount of money being spent in the anti-tuberculosis campaign. In 1905 hardly more than $5,000,000 was spent in tuberculosis work, mostly for treatment. In 1915 over $2,500,000 was expended. From 1905 to the percentage of public funds expended in tuberculosis has increased from 25 to 65 per cent, indicating that the communities are more and more realizing their responsibility in the control of tuberculosis.

Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Executive Secretary of the Association, reported new organizations in almost every part of the country and an increase of more than 3,500 in the number of agencies engaged in the anti-tuberculosis fight. The death rate in the large cities has shown a decline during the last ten years—in some of them more than 30 per cent, and on an average of 20 per cent.

The Red Cross Christmas Seal sale for 1915 reached a total of 80,000,000 seals sold, bringing in a gross revenue to the anti-tuberculosis movement of nearly $800,000.

RUNAWAY TEAM RUNS INTO TELEPHONE POLE

A team of horses belonging to Ed Meigs, a farmer living south of town, became frightened while a dressed hog was being unloaded from the back to which they were hitched this morning at Black's meat market on 11th street. The team ran all the way to the business district and were brought to a stop only when they ran into a telephone pole at the corner of Eighth street and Indiana avenue. The back was damaged and the harness were torn but otherwise nothing was injured.

BELIEVE THERE IS HOPE FOR SUFFRAGE IN TEXAS. By Associated Press. Dallas, Texas, May 11.—Delegates from most sections of state are here attending the annual convention of the Texas Equal Suffrage Association which convened yesterday. The final session will be held tomorrow when officers will be elected and the place for the next meeting selected.

The attendance at the convention was stimulated by the fact that the railroads grant convenient rates to the delegates. The light on these tickets is May 13.

Prominent suffrage speakers are to make addresses in connection with the program today and tonight. The Dallas Equal Suffrage organization has not overlooked the entertainments of the delegates, a banquet being one of the features of this part of the program.

ARREST OF NEGRO FOLLOWS CUTTING LAST NIGHT. Charles Moore, alias "Black Cat" was arrested last night by Deputy Constables Hunter and Carnes following the stabbing of a negro known as Vina Scott. The negro was cut about the head and in the neck but her wounds are not described as serious. The couple had quarrel several times during the last few days.

Thick-Witted Statesmen. The author of "Fifty Years in Fleet Street" tells several stories at the expense of honorable M. P.'s. Shortly after the Burmese war a young civilian happened to mention Burma. "Ah yes, Burma," said an M. P. "I had a nephew who was in Burma, only he used to call it Bermuda." On another occasion, in the month of May of 1907, one said to Mr. Livesey, "This is a cruel war." "Yes," was the reply, "I expect it will be Easter before it is over." This was quoted to a respected member of parliament, who observed gravely: "I fancy he's right. I have known it to last till Easter and longer yet"—Christian Register.
