No Steps Will Be Taken at Present For Further Diplomatic Parleys. Oil Operators in Tampico District Ask Protection

By Associated Press. Washington, May 15.—Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, returned today from his border conference with General Obregon without having secured a formal agreement for cooperative action.

The chief of staff conferred with Secretary Baker but made no formal report. Secretary Baker said General Scott stated he thought a favorable situation had been created by the conference.

General Scott will see Secretary Lansing tomorrow and meanwhile no steps will be taken to reopen diplomatic negotiations for a formal agreement with General Carranza.

The American expeditionary force under General Pershing is being withdrawn to strong points along the line of communication where it will await the outcome of General Obregon's efforts to clean up the territory to the south.

General Funston has mapped out a coordinating scheme for border control. While General Carranza awaits a report from General Obregon for further negotiations between the two governments are postponed.

American oil operators at Tampico have asked the state department for further protection. Official advice said military activities of troops under General Nafarete had caused increasing alarm among the foreign colonists.

Bandits Are Reported to Have Cut in Behind Troops Without Meeting Armed Resistance—Supplies Are Being Rushed

By Associated Press. Marathon, Tex., May 15.—The expedition in search of the bandits who riddled Glenn Springs has checked its dash into Mexico and is now awaiting reinforcements before pushing further south according to reports received today.

Military observers here point out that Major Langhorne and his flying squadron of the Eighth Cavalry are now perhaps 200 miles beyond their base without sufficient troops to protect their line of communication.

Several instances have been reported in the past few days of bandits cutting behind the expedition without meeting armed resistance. Supplies of every character for Stiles's expedition are now being rushed from Marathon to Boquillas.

The two Mexican prisoners brought into Marathon by Sheriff Shoemaker from Boquillas last Saturday will be sent to Alamo for trial. They will be charged with murder.

MOTHER'S DAY IS OBSERVED HERE

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS SERVICES AT FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

SPECIAL SERVICES

"Flowers for the Living" at First Presbyterian Church—Observed at Nearly All Churches

A crowd that taxed the capacity of the First Christian Church auditorium gathered Sunday afternoon to pay tribute to "Mother's Day" in a union service of all the churches. The pulpit was banked with flowers, white roses for the memory of mother and red roses for the mother living. Special music by representative of the different church choirs was a feature of the service and the musicians were at their best.

Rev. R. C. Miller of the First Baptist Church presided at the service and Dr. A. L. Andrews of the M. E. Church, South gave the opening prayer. Rev. N. F. Grafton of the First Presbyterian Church gave a short talk on "A Young Man's Obligation to His Mother and Savior" and Rev. E. F. Walters of the First Christian Church spoke on "A Father's Responsibility in Training His Children." The mother's prayer was given by Mrs. E. O. Hartsook and a chant by the choir answered this. Several selections were given by the choir and special numbers were "Mother's Day" by Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, "Tell Mother I'll Be There" Miss Agnew and a double trio, Miss Agnew, Allen and Cook. Mesdames Robertson, Roberts and Clifford, Rev. C. C. Brannon of the First Methodist church pronounced the benediction.

At the close of the service the roses used in the decoration of the church were distributed among the admirers and jolly with the request that they bring a thought to "mother" to the recipients. The service was considered as the most successful service of this nature ever held here.

The special Mother's Day service at the First Presbyterian Church was also made a tribute to "father" by the pastor, Rev. N. F. Grafton. Eyes were wet as to large congregation answered the pastor's request that the flowers banked on the pulpit be pinned on fathers and mothers present and also on husband and wives as a tribute to the living and a testimony of love too often left unvoiced. The response was unanimous to the plea for "flowers for the living."

In speaking of the inspiration an observance of Mother's Day, Mr. Grafton said: "I see no reason why father should be separated from mother in the observance of this day as they have gone hand in hand in the journey of life, serving equally for the best things for their children. Let's pay a tribute to father as well as mother, for father has worked that we might have food and shelter, he spent the best years of his life in a struggle for his loved ones. "Pay that tribute to father and mother now," the speaker continued. "Don't wait until the dear forms are dust and laid away forever in the silent city of the dead. Tell them now of the love you bear them. It will help to straighten the shoulders and ease the tired back. 'I love you' is a magic phrase. Let's remember to use it before it is too late."

At the First Baptist Church, Rev. R. C. Miller preached a special sermon on "Our Mothers" and Miss Katherine Cook sang "Tell Mother I'll Be There." During the Sunday school hour special observance of the day was made with simple but effective exercises. Talks were delivered by Leslie Humphrey and R. E. Huff.

Mr. Walters' Talk.
At the services yesterday afternoon Rev. F. F. Walters said: "This is mother's day. I am asked to speak upon the father's responsibility in rearing children. I shall speak concerning the family. Civilization is bound up within the family just as the oak is bound within the acorn. I see the family as a five-fold organization. It is political and therefore governs; it is industrial and therefore works; it is educational and there-

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mrs. Alry, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered five years with womanly troubles, also stomachic troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

"I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together."

"My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

"Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlasting tired feeling?"

"If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century."

Begin taking Cardui today. You won't regret it. All druggists.

LIGON'S CONDITION IMPROVED TODAY

Alleged Assailant is Held in County Jail Awaiting His Preliminary Hearing

The condition of J. P. Ligon, deputy sheriff at Electra, who was assaulted Saturday by J. M. Mathis, was reported much improved by physicians at Wichita General Hospital this morning. It was first feared that Ligon had suffered a fractured skull but later examination showed the wound to be less serious.
Mathis is held in the county jail on a charge of assault with intent to murder. His examining trial has not been set but it is understood it will be held in Justice Newsom's court at Electra within a few days. The assault grew out of testimony furnished by Justice Newsom by Ligon in connection with the trial of a party of poker players whom he arrested last Thursday night. Mathis, it is said, met Ligon after court had adjourned, picked him up, hurled him around in mid air several times and let him drop on the pavement.

young woman, in contrast with the deficiencies of the man who won her hand. The younger man is conscience stricken at one time, and then tries to square himself by taking service as a monk, attending a leper colony, but the effort came too late, and when he is brought back to civilization by his self-sacrificing sister, he finds that he is infected with the terrible disease, commits suicide, and leaves the way clear for the happiness of the other two. The story is told in a most thrilling manner, and the scenes are worked out with an intensity of action which cannot fail to make a lasting impression. There is such an abundance of vital, gripping material in the play that there is no moment, while it is on the screen that the attention can be relaxed without missing a strong point.

Wichita Falls, Texas, May 16, 1916

That the bachelor has nearly three chances of getting into the courts for some infraction of the law where a married man has one, is the inference to be drawn from the records of the court of sessions in New York City. The records of this court shows that in ten years 20,115 men have been convicted. Of this number 22,231 were single men and 7,884 were married. The fear of what awaits them when they come home is a powerful restraining influence on a great many men.

Representatives of the railroad trainmen are quoted as having said they did not believe that the questions involved in their demands upon the railroads would ever be submitted to arbitration, giving as a reason that the trainmen had been bounced so often in arbitrating that they had come to regard it as a joke. The Times is not acquainted sufficiently with the merits of the questions arbitrated or the nature of the awards in controversies where railroad men have been concerned to dispute this assertion but it does know that scores of controversies have been settled by arbitration in other lines which have been satisfactory to both sides or nearly so and have gained much more for the laborers than a strike would likely have gained. In the case of a strike of the railway trainmen the public would be vitally affected and certainly has some rights to be considered by both the railroads and the men. The public don't want a strike and if the men and the railway managers can't come to an agreement the public is going to insist that the questions at issue be submitted to arbitration. The side that refuses to accept arbitration is certain to lose a large measure of sympathy. The interest of the whole nation will be centered in this arbitration. Failure to treat one side or the other fairly would produce a reaction that would be disastrous to the side getting an unfair advantage. The fear that some of the men have that they will be bounced in arbitrating is one that scarcely seems justified.

In a statement appearing in the Times Sunday William J. Bryan sees democratic chances in the election next fall as very slim unless President Wilson can bring about peace in Europe. Mr. Bryan points out that President Wilson was elected in 1912 by a minority vote. He says the German-American vote will be against Wilson in 1916. The only hope that he can see is for the Democrats to capture the peace element in the Republican party. He cites the success of Henry Ford in the Republican primary in Michigan and Nebraska as showing the strength of this element. Mr. Bryan's statement says the German-American vote will be against the president and that it is sufficient to carry several doubtful states against him. What Mr. Bryan says is very true, but for a number of years the German-American vote considered as a hyphenated proposition that is, the vote of the German-Americans in the mass following the advice of leaders in associations, has generally been with the republicans in the doubtful states. It now appears that Root or Roosevelt will be the nominee of the republicans and if the German-Americans are willing to vote against Wilson to vote for Roosevelt there isn't much hope of inducing them to vote the democratic ticket except the democrats nominate the Kaiser. Mr. Bryan naively suggests that if any considerable number of republicans felt friendly toward the president they would have shown it by writing in his name as their choice when they expressed themselves at the primary. Now, it is the custom of some republicans to go into the democratic primary in Texas yet vote for the republican nominee in the general election, but we have never heard that it was the custom of republicans to vote in their own primaries and then vote for democratic nominees in the general election. The fact that a man goes into a republican primary, ought to be the best indication that he is going to vote the republican ticket. In a good many states the vote in the republican primaries has been very light, notably in the two states, Michigan and Nebraska, where Ford was the choice of a majority of those voting. This light primary vote is in itself a good indication that a good many republicans are going to vote for Wilson. Mr. Bryan would make all policies subsidiary to maintaining peace and efforts to bring about peace in Europe. Even as a paramount political consideration it is very doubtful whether such a policy would be expedient for while the president would be gaining a few votes from the republicans he would be losing a much larger support from other sources. The peace at any price sentiment isn't nearly as strong as it advocates are noisy. Mr. Bryan urges that President Wilson press offers of mediation as a measure to enhance the democratic chances in the coming election. The American people, the Times believes, have a higher opinion of President Wilson than to believe that anything he has done or will do in connection with the European war has been or will be influenced by hope of domestic political advantage. To believe that offers of mediation were prompted by hope of such advantage and not by the loftiest of purposes, would certainly lessen the hope that they would be accepted. As Mr. Bryan said, if Mr. Wilson could end the European war his chances of election would be greater. This is so potent that it seems entirely unnecessary for Mr. Bryan to have said anything about it. That President Wilson will act, and do so uninfluenced by political expediency, whenever there is reason to hope that mediation will be accepted is believed by all people having confidence in him. The urging of Mr. Bryan is uncalled for and his statement is a gratuitous offering of questionable propriety.

RUMORS OF RESUMPTION OF RAIDS ACROSS BORDER

By Associated Press. San Antonio, Tex., May 15.—Information indicating a plan for resumption of raids across the international line near Brownsville has reached army headquarters here and will, it is expected, cause a considerable strengthening of the force now patrolling that district. General Funston and his staff are studying in detail the proposed reorganization of the entire border patrol and it was indicated that the Thirtieth Infantry en route from New York state, would be sent to Rio Grande City for service between there and Brownsville, the district so frequently raided year ago. Official reports gave no additional news of the activities of armed Mexicans opposite Progresso, Texas, but their presence there was in line with reports by both agents of the department of justice and agents of the state department.

St. Louis, May 15.—Modern inventions which have succeeded the crude stone implements once used in grinding flour will be on display in a great exhibit to be held here in connection with the annual convention of the Fraternity of Operative Millers of America, May 29 to June 2. The millers and the manufacturing auxiliary of the organization expect the machinery exhibit to be one of the largest ever shown. Manufacturers have reserved all of the available space in the coliseum where the exhibit is to be held. An attendance of 5,000 is expected at the millers' convention. The officers have arranged a program which consists of a number of business meetings and some entertainment features. A boat trip on the Mississippi is planned for the afternoon of May 31. A banquet will be given the next night. Instead of formal speeches the officers have planned to have a large number of vital subjects for discussion.

A real Guarantee. To be more than a mere "scrap of paper," a guarantee must be absolute—and backed by a concern able and willing to make it good. The General's guarantee is not only absolute; it is backed by a business operating the world's largest roofing mills, and making one-third of all the roll roofing made in America. That's the guarantee behind Certain-teed Roofing. The guarantee is for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). There is no evasion about it—no attempt to substitute a high-sounding something "just as good." There is no substitute for a real guarantee. You get an absolute guarantee on CERTAIN-TEED because the General knows that no better roofing can be made. Its raw materials and method of manufacture are both certified by the General's board of graduate chemists, and he knows he's taking no chance in guaranteeing them to you. That's what "CERTAIN-TEED" means—certified and guaranteed. Experience has proven that the guarantee is conservative, and that CERTAIN-TEED will outlast the period of guarantee. The roofing felt, as it comes bone dry from the rollers, is given a thorough saturation of a special blend of soft asphalt, the formula of the General's board of expert chemists. It is then given a harder coating of another blend of asphalt. This keeps the inner saturation soft, and prevents the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing. Roofing is impervious to the elements only so long as the asphalt saturation lasts. CERTAIN-TEED retains its soft saturation, and is in good condition for years after the harder, drier kinds have become useless. CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-covered shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building. CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof. General Roofing Manufacturing Company of Texas. DRAWS LESSONS FROM PARADE OF SATURDAY

By Associated Press. New York, May 15.—Col. Charles H. Sherrill, who organized the parade held Saturday to promote national preparedness said today that six weeks of hard work by hundreds of men were required to organize the great demonstration. He added: "Yet we did not equip, provision, or transport a single man. This proves that those who say that a citizen army of a million men is available overnight are mistaken."

Why Not Present Mother With A Victrola? This is Mother's Day, and possibly Mother does not play an instrument or she may be past the age to sing, but nevertheless she enjoys music, just the same as in her younger days. A Victrola would be a constant message from the son or daughter to the mother, and sing into her heart all of the love and affection that even words could not convey, were you with her to tell her. Every day in the year, every night with the going down of the sun she could enjoy the music that would sing to her not only the choicest selections of the world's great artists, but the love and remembrance of a son or daughter who thought of her on this, the Mother's Day. And you can buy a Victrola on easy terms. No money where you live, your credit is good for a Victrola at our store. A small cash payment, and the balance to suit your convenience. We ship anywhere in the U. S.
