CALLING ALL SETTLERS!

■ All the old settlers have grand time at reunion

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

STANTON - Old Settlers, Re-Unite!

The call went out and was answered Saturday as people gathered in Stanton for the 62nd Annual Old Settlers Reunion.

Festivities began with a parade at 10 a.m. The theme of the parade and the celebration, "Social Life in the 30s," was reflected in floats and costumes.

The grand marshals of this year's parade, Inez Campbell Stone and Gordon Stone; Velma Nichols Clements and Bill Clements; and Winnie Deavenport Connell and John Connell, were all married in Stanton during the 1930s.

Other participants in the parade included the donkey and Mule Club, a "Mystery Rider," kids on bikes, floats from class reunions and Stanton High School's Championship Band.

The afternoon's program at the Martin County Community Center began at 2 p.m. and featured the Martin County Old Sorehead Band, the Cousins Band, members of the First Baptist Church, the Glynn Brothers, and the Guthries.

Awards were presented to the oldest and youngest attendees, and to those who had come the farthest to attend.

The evening wrapped up with an outdoor dance featuring country-western music by Mike Payne.

Edmondson jury summons draws 120 in morning

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

More than 400 people were summoned for jury duty in the capital murder trial of Levy Lee Edmondson Jr.

Jury selection is currently underway in the 118th District Court with more than 120 potential jurors showing up for the morning session. A total of 450 summons were mailed out.

Today's jury selection was separated into two sessions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

People were asked to arrive at different times in order to speed the process of having to go through metal detectors. Edmondson is accused of shooting DPS Trooper Troy Hogue at point-blank range on Dec. 30, 1994.

Hogue, along with two other law enforcement officials, had responded to a one-vehicle accident on Interstate 20 that evening.

When the suspect was being questioned about his drinking, Edmondson reportedly pulled a gun out and shot the trooper.

The district attorney's office is seeking the death penalty. There is no word yet on how long the trial is expected to last, but the month of July has been set aside for this particular trial.

Motorcycle wreck leads to manslaughter charge

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

A Big Spring man has been charged with involuntary manslaughter after the passenger on his motorcycle died last year.

Reports say Kenneth Randall Hagins, 36, of 1305 State, was recently indicted by the 118th District grand jury on the charge and was arrested July 8.

It was determined Hagins had been drinking when he and Irene Polomo, 34, were riding a motorcycle in the 1600 block of Harding in the early morning hours of April 25, 1994.

Hagins was wearing a helmet but Polomo was not when the motorcycle struck a curb, flipped and ejected the two riders.

Hagins was transferred to the county jail and later released on a $15,000 bond. Involuntary manslaughter is a third degree felony punishable by two to 10 years in prison and a fine not to exceed $10,000.

Motor carrier moves local operations to Abilene, Odessa

Special to the Herald

WACO—Central Freight Lines, Inc., a Roadway Regional Group (RRG) motor carrier, is consolidating the operations of its Big Spring terminal into the operations of its Abilene and Odessa terminals.

The last day of operation of the Big Spring terminal is Friday. From its Odessa terminal, Central will provide daily freight pickup and delivery service in Big Spring and 16 other points previously served by the Big Spring terminal: Ackerly, Coahoma, Conoco Sterling, For-san, Gail, Garden City, Knott, Lenora, Lomax/Howard City, Luther, Saint Lawrence, Sand Springs, Stanton, Tarzan, Veal-moor and Vincent.

Central's Odessa terminal is located at 600 Expressway in Odessa. The terminal's telephone numbers are (915) 337-1501 and 1-800-458-4576. Tony Jordan is Odessa terminal manager.

From its Abilene terminal,

Central will provide daily freight pickup and delivery service in Colorado City, Dunn, Fluvanna, Hermleigh, Inadale, Ira, Lorraine, Snyder and Westbrook. The Abilene terminal is located at 1101 Cherry in Abilene. The terminal's telephone numbers are (915) 677-1828 and 1-800-375-2828. Sandy Bullock is Abilene terminal manager.

"Consolidating the operations of our Big Spring terminal into the operations of our Abilene and Lubbock terminals will not affect the superior freight transportation service relied upon by our customers in Big Spring and the surrounding service area," Central President Joe Hall said. "These consolidations are part of an overall operations plan that focuses Central on providing its customers high-quality freight service, in the most efficient manner possible."

With more than 4,000 employees and 7,000 trucks and trailers, Central serves on a direct, daily interstate basis nearly 7,000 cities and towns.

Exercise carefully in summer's heat

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

It's summer!

Time to enjoy fun, the sun, beach volleyball, softball, baseball, swimming and all the other warm weather activities. Go for it!

But before you head out, here are some things to keep in mind about hot weather and exercise.

Whether you've lived in West Texas all your life or you moved here last week, you need to be aware of the heat, and the sun.

The American College of Sports Medicine reminds that the major problem athletes experience in hot weather is dehydration - water loss. And the fact that you aren't sweating, for example if you're swimming, doesn't mean you may not be getting dehydrated.

The ACSM recommends drinking one to two cups of water before an activity, two or more cups after, and one cup every 15 to 30 minutes, depending on how hot it is and how vigorous the activity. Don't let your body deceive you - the fact that you aren't thirsty doesn't necessarily mean you don't need the liquid.

Chilled water causes less shock to the system, absorbs faster, and helps lower body temperature.

Avoid sugary drinks. Sports nutrition drinks are high in sugar, sodium, and potassium, and can cause abdominal and leg cramps. Replace any lost electrolytes by salting food a little more.

If you feel yourself getting overheated, or if someone with you starts to show signs of overheating, splash on some cool water. It's refreshing, and helps lower your body temperature.

Avoid the noonday sun. ACSM recommends scheduling athletic activities before mid-morning and after mid-afternoon to avoid the sun's maximum intensity.

Protect yourself - wear sun-block at all times. The

SUMMER EXERCISE FIRST AID TIPS

Oops! Summer exercise led to a problem. Here are some first-aid tips.

•Sunburn - redness, mild swelling, skin hot to the touch. For severe or extensive sunburn, see a doctor.

For mild sunburn, the first thing is cool off. The American Red Cross recommends sponging with cool water, or a cool bath or shower. Folk wisdom recommends applying cold brewed tea or cider vinegar. Aspirin can help reduce discomfort.

•Strains or sprains - pain, swelling, bruising. Remember RICE - Rest, Ice, Compression, Elevation. Do not apply heat during the first 72 hours.

•Heat sickness can be as mild as feeling overheated, tired, and faintly nauseous to as serious as heat stroke. Remember that thirst does not keep up with water loss - not feeling thirsty doesn't mean water isn't needed. In addition to the other symptoms listed, dehydration can cause disorientation and confusion.

Heat cramps - cramps in leg or abdominal muscles. Give sips of cool water and gently massage the cramped area to relieve the tension.

Heat exhaustion - body temperature is normal, face is pale and clammy, sweating is profuse, the person feels tired and weak and may have a headache or cramps. Get them indoors or in the shade, loosen clothing, have them lie down, and put cool, damp cloths on the head.

American Red Cross recommends wide-brimmed hats, sunglasses, and loose-fitting, light-colored clothing.

Defend against stinging insects: don't use scented soaps, deodorants, perfumes, or aftershave. Don't wear dark or floral-patterned clothing. Do use a good insect repellent.

Sweat! If that's the first thing that comes to mind when you hear the words "exercise," and "summer," you're not alone.

Nothing's more satisfying to the mind and body after a day in the office than going and doing something that will work up a sweat, whether it's digging in the garden, playing baseball or softball, or just taking a jog around the block.

Do warm up before vigorous exercise. Start with gentle motions and increase your range of motion as you feel muscles becoming warmer and more flexible.

Warming up helps get the blood pumping, raise the metabolic rate, and loosen up tight muscles.

Stretch after, not before exercising. Stretching cold muscles can cause strain.

Stretching and breathing exercises are excellent for "cooling down," which can help minimize sore muscles.

One ticket wins
Lotto jackpot

AUSTIN (AP) — One ticket bought in Cleburne correctly matched all six numbers drawn Saturday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said.

The jackpot was worth $17 million.

The numbers drawn from a field of 50 were: 2, 13, 17, 20, 37 and 48.

Lottery officials estimate the jackpot for Wednesday night's game will be $4 million.

Man drowns after taking off life jacket

MINERAL WELLS (AP) — Officials say a man drowned in Lake Mineral Wells State Park after he removed his life jacket, jumped out of rented canoe, and tried to swim to shore.

The incident occurred about noon Sunday.

Two friends said Raid Abuazab, 28, of Garland got into difficulty about 50 feet from the boat, but said they were unable to assist because they couldn't swim.

Members of the Mineral Wells fire department rescue squad recovered Abuazab's body about 30 minutes later from the 640-acre lake that is in far western Parker County, but within the Mineral Wells city limits.

Two die in rafting accident

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Two Texas men rafting with their teen-age sons died Saturday in an accident on the Cosatot River, authorities said.

A Howard County sheriff's office spokeswoman identified the men as James Michael Brawley of Azle and Robert Wayne Ash of Fort Worth. She said the office didn't have their ages.

Sheriff's deputies responded to a call Saturday afternoon that a man was drowning in the river about 30 miles north of Nashville. Witnesses told deputies the men and their sons were in a raft that overturned. One of the men caught his foot in a boulder in the swift river. He was rescued but couldn't be revived. The other man reached the river bank and collapsed.

Jury awards don't match reputation

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County jurors aren't as prone to exorbitant awards in personal injury cases as their reputation would indicate, according to a new study of jury rulings.

Jury Verdict Research, a Pennsylvania clearinghouse on civil lawsuit statistics, used Harris County for its first study focused on a county. The results, covering seven years of local personal injury verdicts, would surprise some proponents of tort reform.

In general, the study showed that personal-injury plaintiffs are likely to lose more often in Harris County than in the rest of the country, although their victory rate is slightly higher than the state average.

Austin parks no longer pride of city

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin's city parks system, long one of the glories of Texas' capital city, is suffering from age and neglect that parks officials say only a steady infusion of cash can cure.

"Our system is one of the largest in the country per capita," said Parks and Recreation Director Mike Heitz.

"We've got the facilities; we've got the parkland. Visually, to most people, we haven't completely cratered. We've been able to put Band-Aids on things and keep things operating," Heitz said.

Quick fixes are becoming less effective as the parks department strains with dwindling funds and growing responsibilities, Heitz said.

For example, Heitz said, the city maintains 47 pools, many of them built in the 1950s. Maintenance on those pools has been deferred so long that some of them, like Deep Eddy Pool last year, have been closed for emergency work after pipes have burst.

A huge billow of smoke rises into the air as Houston firefighters stand in the foreground at a Houston Distributing Co. warehouse on Sunday. The four-alarm blaze at the complex is the second in two weeks. No injuries were reported.

Fire strikes again at Houston warehouse

HOUSTON (AP) — Arson investigators are looking into the second massive blaze to strike an eastside warehouse complex in as many weeks.

No injuries were reported from the latest inferno at the Houston Distributing Co. warehouses near the Pleasantville neighborhood about 10 miles east of downtown.

A four-alarm blaze erupted Sunday morning and raged into the night at a warehouse that officials said was filled with paper and rubber products. A toxic chemical warehouse owned by Houston Distribution burned two weeks ago at a site next door.

The second fire sent up a pillar of black smoke visible from at least 20 miles away. Firefighters were able to encircle the blaze, and Fire Chief Eddie Corral said the situation was under control by late Sunday afternoon.

"It's contained, thank God," the chief said.

Late Sunday, department spokesman Rick Flanagan said firefighters still were battling the flames with foam after the roof caved in. Firefighters would be working throughout the night, he said.

Arson teams were on the scene even as firefighters fought the flames. Officials hinted that the fire was suspicious.

"The owners tell us that they have security around the clock," Corral said. "They let the security off today and they had a fire."

It took more than 100 firefighters two days to quell the earlier chemical-fed inferno. That seven-alarm blaze consumed a 300,000-square-foot Houston Distribution warehouse.

There were no serious injuries two weeks ago, either, but plumes of acrid smoke prompted authorities to recommend evacuation of about 7,000 nearby residents. No evacuation was ordered Sunday.

Winds appeared to be carrying smoke, which officials stressed was not toxic, away from Pleasantville.

Many area residents were nonetheless skeptical. The Pleasantville neighborhood is separated from the warehouses by railroad tracks. Residents complained after the first fire that warehouse owners hadn't warned them about the dangerous chemicals stored near their homes.

"We really don't know what is burning," said Gary Montgomery. "They told us that it's rubber and paper, but we really don't know what's in those warehouses and that's always been the big concern."

Houston Distribution spokesman Donald Fields tried to reassure residents there was no health risk.

"No hazardous material was involved in this," Fields said. "This is a tremendously high coincidental situation here and we're very concerned about it, which is why we're fully cooperating ... to get to the bottom of this."

Fields refused to comment on speculation that the fire was deliberately set.

"We are very concerned, as they are, about this ... We are very concerned that this incident has happened in such short time frame," he said.

Miss Texas lives her life 'step by step'

FORT WORTH (AP) — The newest Miss Texas says the battle she's spent much of her life waging against a potentially fatal blood disorder has taught her how precious life is.

Carly Jarmon of the Dallas suburb of Mesquite said her illness also has taught her to take things "step by step."

"My steps right now just happen to be going to Miss America," said the 19-year-old Miss Oak Cliff, who will forgo entering Texas Tech University to fulfill her duties as Miss Texas and represent the state in September's Miss America pageant.

Jarmon revealed last week that she had been diagnosed with chronic idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura, which is characterized by a low platelet count and a propensity to bleed.

Although the disease is in remission, she said she also has chronic mononucleosis and must have her spleen removed to improve the filtering of her blood. She takes steroids to control her condition.

She said she discovered her disease in 1991 after she was severely bruised when her friends handcuffed her to a chair as a birthday joke. When she won a swimsuit contest in a pageant a year later, she presented the award to the doctor who diagnosed her.

"I've learned as a young girl how important life is," Jarmon said.

Jarmon won a $15,000 college scholarship, a fur coat and use of a Cadillac for a year in Saturday night's pageant at the Fort Worth-Tarrant County Convention Center. She suc-

The contestants were judged on their performances in an interview, talent presentation, swimsuit and evening gown.

Wearing a black satin gown, Jarmon sang Harold Arlen's "Stormy Weather" during the talent competition before a crowd of about 800.

She won a preliminary bathing suit contest on Friday night in a yellow suit. In the evening gown competition, she wore a long, white dress.

Her goal in the Miss Texas Pageant was to be among the top 10. Once she found out she was, she said, "I was bopping around backstage."

The Miss America contest will be held Sept. 16 in Atlantic City, N.J.

Arson investigators are looking into the second massive blaze to strike an eastside warehouse complex in as many weeks.

Austin fights for new computer chip factory

AUSTIN (AP) — Competition over a proposed computer chip factory marks the latest scuffle in an escalating war between the Austin area's "Silicon Gulch" and a developing "Silicon Rain Forest" in the Pacific Northwest.

Portland, Ore., and Austin are battling for the distinction of being the latest hot spot for expansion in high-technology industries.

South Korea's Samsung Semiconductor Inc., the world's largest maker of memory chips, has narrowed its search for a U.S. factory site to the two cities.

At stake is more than just local bragging rights. The semiconductor industry is expected to double in size to $233 billion in sales between 1994 and 1998.

Samsung's proposed first phase of construction alone could mean an investment of up to $1.5 billion and up to 1,600 jobs.

Also, the city selected by Samsung could lay claim to being the semiconductor industry's hottest spot, business analysts have said. South Korean news reports said Friday that Samsung may decide by the end of the month.

Portland is the hub of a high-tech boom area that extends from just north of the Columbia River in Vancouver, Wash., to the college town of Eugene, Ore., 110 miles to the south.

In little more than a year, the area has attracted nine big chip factories and support companies that total nearly $8 billion in investment and are projected to employ 5,500 people.

In the Portland suburb of Hillsboro, Ore., earth-moving machines are clearing the way for a $2.2 billion laboratory-factory complex for Intel Corp.

A mile away, Integrated Device Technology is spending $800 million on its own chip factory.

Officials battle ballpark
ads for topless clubs

ARLINGTON (AP) — It all comes down to exposure.

Exposure is all nude clubs say they seek with banners towed by airplanes over The Ballpark at Arlington during baseball games.

And the exposure offered by the strippers at the clubs has gotten under the skin of Arlington officials who want the aerial banners stopped.

The banners, which stream across the sky during Texas Rangers' home games, inform fans about movies, restaurants, area bars and naked dancers.

"Kids will see worse on cable TV," says Roger Ward, president and owner of Skyways

Advertising, whose planes fly about half of the banners. "We have no pictures, we have no obscenities. The worst word we have up there is 'topless.'"

But that's enough for the Rangers, the city of Arlington and U.S. Rep. Joe Barton.

Barton, a conservative Republican from nearby Ennis, has come up with a stadium statute that he introduced to the congressional Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

His bill would require all planes to fly no lower than 2,000 feet above sea level and no closer than 2,000 feet of the ballpark during any public event identified by the city.

Every little bit helps in the fight to make a life better

Everybody needs a little help now and then.

With all the discussion about welfare reform and how best to do it, we still can't forget to help those who are less fortunate than ourselves.

While there is abuse of the welfare system and it does need overhauling, there are many families out there who fall outside the requirements of welfare yet are unable to make ends meet on what they do make.

These are the people groups like the Salvation Army and others are trying to reach and to help.

Right now, the Salvation Army is preparing back-to-school kits for children eligible for assistance.

Your assistance is needed to make this a reality. Two banks in town are donating pens and pencils with the institutions' logos on them as part of the kit.

But there is more to a back-to-school kit than pens and pencils. The required list keeps getting longer and longer each year, requiring more money just to supply the study tools for the student.

It doesn't take much. Just save up the money you would spend weekly on Cokes and donate that.

Every little bit counts when trying to make a life just a little bit better.

Opposition party victorious in Juarez mayoral election

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Ramon Galindo, a former city administrator, claimed victory by a narrow margin Sunday over former Congressman Carlos Morales in their bid to run Mexico's fourth-largest city for the next three years.

With 80 percent of the votes counted, Galindo of the National Action Party (PAN) had 46 percent of the votes to 42 percent for Morales of the Institutional Revolution Party (PRI).

Three other candidates split the other 12 percent of the votes. In Mexican elections, the candidate with the most votes wins, since there is no runoff.

Morales refused early today to concede defeat, saying he was convinced he'd gain enough votes among the outstanding ballots to pull out victory. He would need to capture about 60 percent of the remaining vote to overtake Galindo.

Elections officials said they expected the vote tally to be complete sometime today.

The election was widely seen as a referendum on the policies of PAN, Mexico's leading opposition party. Outgoing Mayor Francisco Villarreal Torres and Francisco Barrio, the governor of the state of Chihuahua, are both members of PAN.

Villarreal, who is 66 and has lymphatic cancer, was forbidden by law to seek another term.

Villarreal made national headlines in mid-April when he was imprisoned for four days for leading a protest against the federal government at one of the city's international bridges.

City. Both Galindo, 39, and Morales, 44, are attorneys. Galindo formerly headed the office of social development in Ciudad Juarez.

Morales was a congressman for the last three years, representing Ciudad Juarez.

Galindo promised to make street paving his top priority.

Only a third of the city's streets are paved, and the dust kicked up by motorists and pedestrians is considered a big contributor to air pollution in Juarez and neighboring El Paso.

Red tape retards medical progress

How can one pill cost so much? Because the manufacturer has to pay researchers and lawyers for an average of 15 years.

The cost of bringing one new pill to the market averages $359 million!

It can be argued that we'd "better be safe than sorry."

Whatever the rationalization, surely the approval process can be less expensive than that!

On a related subject, it is now technically possible for anybody ailing in the most remote backwoods clinic to be diagnosed by specialists at Mayo.

Telemedicine offers access to sophisticated medical care. It could shrink health-care costs and would promote widespread health-related education. But it's not happening largely because of political and regulatory obstacles. It is "technical" possible. We have the technology to do it. But what could be the widespread practice of telemedicine is being thwarted by red tape.

Obstacles in the path of progress are many.

Physicians at a sophisticated medical facility, in order to "cross state lines" with their expertise, could be required to have licensing in every state. New laws in some states specifically prohibit teleradiologists from interpreting images sent to them from other states where the teleradiologist is not licensed.

Our technology has outpaced our political process. Individual states retain the authority to license medical professionals. Any physician violating such licensure laws is subject to disciplinary action and possible criminal prosecution!

Several states — Alaska, Colorado, Maryland, Wyoming, Virginia and New Hampshire — are contemplating erecting barriers to progress.

Forty-one states remain undecided. They'd like to permit some such interstate consultation. The Federation of State Medical Boards is trying to decide what it can do to keep everybody happy.

Somewhere in the future, there will be a national licensing system, qualifying licensees to practice in all states, but many questions remain to be resolved between here and there: Do we permit consultation only between physician and physician or between physician and patient and between non-physician and patient? Does the local physician get to select the specialist? And — this is important — who shares the liability?

The difficulty in coordinating the policies of 50 separate states is obvious, but the potential reward is enormous.

The very idea that a patient anywhere in the world — and it may happen first in other countries than our own — can have the benefit of instant examination, diagnosis and prescription from gifted specialists in Boston, New York, Houston, Los Angeles or Rochester is too great a "gift" for professional healers to decline.

Information sought on Hunnicutt family

Editor:

I am seeking information on any descendants of Jesse Hunnicutt who left Villa Rica, Ga. around 1918. In the 1920 census, Jesse Hunnicutt (38) was in Sweetwater, Texas with wife Katie (35) and children Nettie Mae (13), Olah (11), Lena Pearl (7), Jesse (6), and Willie T. (5). Jesse Hunnicutt was killed in early December 1928 en route to Georgia for his mother's funeral. His daughter Nettie Mae married Ray Howell approximately 1930 in Sweetwater, Texas.

Persons having any information please contact Charles H. Broom 4416 Carrollton-Villa Rica Highway, Carrollton, Ga. 30116 or 404-834-7009.

Your assistance with this matter is greatly appreciated. Sincerely,

Charles H. Broom

Thanks for making parade a success

Editor:

I wanted to thank everyone who made the 5th annual 4th of July Parade a celebration in Coahoma a success. There are too many people who helped for me to name them all. I did want to give a special thank you however, to the Big Spring Police Department's Honor Guard which lead the parade and raised the flag at the closing ceremony.

We were also honored to have Leo Welch, Commander of VFW Post 2013, speak. The Reverend Wanda Hill lead us in a prayer with Richard Kitchen closing by playing Taps. The sound system was provided by Snuffy Simmons with a lot of help from C.I.S.D. Superintendent Sonny Monroe. Billy King of Permian Oilfield Electric let us use his yard to gather and traffic control was provided by the Howard County and Coahoma Volunteer Fire Departments.

We are looking forward to next year's celebration as there will also be a Coahoma High School Reunion. We invite all of Big Spring and Howard County to join us again next year as we will celebrate the birthday of our great country. Thank you,

Woodie Howell
Parade Chairman

Service simply abominable

Editor:

I as a working resident, also lifetime, would like to express my feelings about a situation that I have experienced.

On May 15, of this year, both my boyfriend and I went into this restaurant here in town and were verbally assaulted by an employee. As a result of this both me and my boyfriend are no longer welcome on the property nor welcome in their restaurant while the employee is still employed.

What burns my bottom is that I was a paying customer and am being treated as trash. If this is how our citizens and residents are to be treated there's no telling what's next. Thank you.

China lets U.S. officials meet with arrested rights activist

BEIJING (AP) — U.S. officials met with arrested Chinese-American human-rights activist Harry Wu for the first time today, three weeks after Chinese police detained him and two days after he was charged with espionage.

The U.S. Embassy and the official Xinhua News Agency said Consul General Arturo Macias met Wu this afternoon in the central Chinese city of Wuhan, where he is being held. Neither released any further details.

Wu, 58, has been in police custody since June 19, when he tried to enter China from Kazakhstan. He was stopped at a remote border point in China's far west Xinjiang autonomous region.

On Saturday, he was formally charged with "entering into China under false names, illegally obtaining China's state secrets and conducting criminal activities." Espionage in China carries a maximum penalty of death. Repeated earlier requests by the U.S. Embassy for a meeting with Wu were ignored despite a bilateral agreement to allow meetings with arrested or detained nationals within 48 hours of a request.

The Xinhua report said that "today's visit was arranged at the request of the U.S. Embassy in Beijing in accordance with the Sino-U.S. consular agreement."

Wu had long been on a Chinese government blacklist for his repeated secret visits since 1991 to uncover and document abuses in Chinese prisons and labor camps.

Last year, he secretly filmed a documentary that accused the Chinese government of selling organs from executed criminals. Wu served 19 years in Chinese labor camps for criticizing the Communist Party. After his release, he emigrated to the United States in 1985 and became an American citizen. Wu has been an effective lobbyist in Washington, and many members of Congress count him as a friend. His testimony helped alert U.S. Customs to the import of Chinese goods produced by prison labor, a violation of U.S. law.

The case is sure to aggravate U.S.-Chinese relations, already at a low point after China's angry reaction to a visit last month to the United States by the president of Taiwan.

Sen. Bob Smith, R-N.H., said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that the Clinton administration should penalize China if it continues to hold Wu.

He said possible steps that could be taken if Wu is not released are revoking most-favored-nation trading status or imposing other trade sanctions. House Speaker Newt Gingrich said Washington should make "very very strong representation" to Beijing on the Wu case,

NEWS IN BRIEF

Aide passes Whitewater lie detector test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hillary Rodham Clinton's top aide passed a lie detector test for Whitewater prosecutors, denying an allegation that she removed documents from Vincent Foster's office suite the night he died, according to people familiar with the investigation.

The differing recollections of Chief of Staff Margaret Williams and Secret Service guard Henry O'Neill are among a number of discrepancies in witnesses' accounts about what went on at the White House after Foster's death, said the sources, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The White House says the inconsistencies are minor and simply reflect hazy memories because of general confusion after the tragedy and the long passage of time. But prosecutors are continuing to delve into the conflicts, and Senate Whitewater hearings starting July 18 will focus on them.

The White House has acknowledged that on the night of Foster's death on July 20, 1993, Williams and two other presidential aides entered Foster's office to look for a suicide note but insist they took nothing away.

Times Square flooded by burst water main

NEW YORK (AP) — A 93-year-old water main burst near Times Square, turning subway tunnels into underground rivers as millions of gallons of water flooded the tracks.

Subway workers spent more than 24 hours clearing the tunnels of water and mud before the West Side lines reopened at about 6 a.m. this morning.

The break in the 48-inch, cast-iron pipe created a 6-foot geyser and caused a chunk of the street the size of four double-parked cars to collapse. No injuries were reported and the main was capped after about 6 1/2 hours.

The basements of some nearby buildings were flooded but there was no major damage, officials said.

The cause of the rupture was not immediately known. Officials said the age of the main might have played a role.

The city's water system is made up of about 6,000 miles of pipe, about half of which was installed before 1930, the city's Department of Environmental Protection said. Another 6,000 miles of pipe carry sewage and storm water.

Postal worker kills supervisor

CITY OF INDUSTRY, Calif. (AP) — A 22-year postal worker punched his boss in the back of the head, then pulled a gun from a paper bag and shot him to death, authorities said.

Bruce William Clark, 58, was arrested Sunday on investigation of murder and jailed without bail in this Los Angeles suburb, Deputy Diane Hecht said.

The supervisor, 50-year-old James Whooper, was found slumped over a mail sorting machine.

Both men had been working at the 24-hour mail processing center when Clark struck Whooper in the back of the head "for no apparent reason," Hecht said. Clark walked up to them with a brown paper bag.

"When his supervisor asked him what was in the bag, Clark drew a revolver" and fired two shots, Hecht said.

Some of the 75 people in the building dived under desks or ran. Two others grabbed Clark, Sgt. Mike Robinson said.

Clark, who had worked most recently as a distribution clerk, had a spotless record, as did Whooper, a 28-year employee, plant Manager Tom Wilson said.

Last year, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention found murder was the second leading cause of death on the job for postal workers. Postal shootings have killed at least 35 people in the past decade.

AWAITING TRIAL

Davis is charged with the murder and kidnapping of 12-year-old Polly Klaas of Petaluma, Calif. The trial begins with the calling of jurors this month.

Clinton expected to approve base-closing report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides now advise President Clinton to approve plans on military base closings after receiving assurance that some jobs in California and Texas can be saved, a White House source said.

Clinton is expected to approve the commission's recommendations after its chairman, former Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., assured Deputy Defense Secretary John White in the weekend letter that thousands of jobs in California and Texas can be turned over to the private sector, a White House source said Sunday.

California's 54 Electoral College votes are considered crucial to Clinton's re-election hopes next year.

Dixon has said repeatedly that the commission report itself gives the Pentagon authority to privatize some of the 11,000 military and civilian jobs that would be lost by closing McClellan Air Force Base near Sacramento, as well as some of the 20,000 jobs threatened by the closure of Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio.

While emphasizing that Clinton has not made a final decision, the White House official, who spoke on condition of not being identified, said the president's aides are recommending that he accept the commission report and believe he will.

Dixon was quoted by The Washington Post as saying his letter to White "simply confirms in writing" what the commission report already says.

The Post quoted White, however, as saying the letter was "very helpful" because "it clarifies a point that was not clear."

Clinton has until Saturday to decide whether to accept the report in full and send it on to Congress, or to reject it.

White House Press Secretary Michael McCurry said Sunday the president wants to see information he got from Pentagon officials during a 90-minute meeting Saturday before making a final decision.

Rubin: Waco hearings could feed paranoia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans will be looking to place responsibility for the 1993 siege of the Branch Davidian compound outside Waco when hearings open next week, but Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin warns the hearings could feed the paranoia of anti-government groups.

Congress has only three weeks before the August recess to tackle a host of spending bills, regulatory and welfare reforms, and anti-terrorism and telecommunications legislation.

But the focus next week will be on the Republican-led hearings on the Waco siege, which ended with a fire that killed 85 Branch Davidian members, including leader David Koresh. The hearings, which begin July 19, originally were scheduled to start Wednesday.

Rep. Bill Zeff, R-N.H., will co-chair the hearings. He said Sunday that among the issues will be the role of the military in the standoff and the process by which Attorney General Janet Reno approved the April 19, 1993, tear gas attack on the compound.

"This is not a witchhunt," Zeff said on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley." But he said people "have a feeling that there were other people that she went to for advice, and we would like to find out who they are." He said that could include President Clinton. Rubin, appearing later on the same program, deflected questions on Clinton's involvement in Waco decision-making.

He said that after exhaustive investigations and four previous hearings on the role of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in the incident, the new hearings were ill-advised and unnecessary.

The hearings, he said, "might better be focused on extremist groups and those militia that are dangerous to our society."

Demands for the Waco hearings, which will be the first since Republicans took control of Congress, increased after the April 19 bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City, when it became clear how strongly the ATF's role at Waco had reinforced the anti-government sentiments of some militia groups.

Zeff said Republicans were pushing for the hearings before the Oklahoma City bombing, and they would give the ATF and other federal agencies an opportunity to regain credibility.

Arizona fire dies down

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Winds that had been driving a desert brush fire toward a small town died down Sunday night, sparing homes from the blaze and allowing firefighters to get the upper hand.

Some 500 firefighters labored in 110-degree heat earlier in the day to head off the blaze, which had burned across at least 14,000 acres since it began Friday.

On Saturday, the fire barely missed a golf course and million-dollar homes in the northern part of this city of 150,000 people.

Winds up to 15 mph eased late Sunday and crews were able to dig out fire lines to keep the blaze from getting closer than about two miles to Fountain Hills, a town of about 20,000 people, many of them retirees, built around an artificial lake northeast of this Phoenix suburb.

No evacuations had been ordered.

Full containment of the fire was expected Monday night, a day earlier than previously thought, said Dave Killebrew, a spokesman for the various city and state agencies fighting the blaze.

Firefighters were helped by seven tanker planes that dropped water and slurry.

Lightning was believed to have started the fire Friday night in the McDowell Mountains.

Some 300 luxury homes were evacuated late Friday, most clustered near the exclusive Troon Golf and Country Club. Most residents were allowed to return Saturday afternoon after the wind eased.

The fire got no closer than a few feet away from any of the homes, authorities said.

Three firefighters were treated for heat exhaustion. The only structural damage reported was to an unoccupied horse trailer.

Smith says she's ready to die for sons' deaths

UNION, S.C. (AP) — Susan Smith's greatest wish is for a speedy trial, even if she has to die for drowning her two sons in a lake, her minister says.

"She'll be glad when all this is over," said the Rev. Mark Long, who baptized Smith in prison in January and prayed with her Wednesday.

Smith's trial begins today with jury selection, after a competency hearing to assure that she understands the proceedings and can assist in her own defense.

"If they decide she's guilty and want to execute her, she feels like she's strong enough now to accept that," Long said before evening services Sunday at Buffalo Methodist Church.

Smith, 23, faces two murder charges in the deaths of her sons, Michael, 3, and Alex, 14 months.

Her frantic claim that a man took her car with the boys inside on Oct. 25 brought her national attention and prompted nine days of searching.

On Nov. 3, she confessed to drowning the children by strapping them into the back of the car and letting it roll into John D. Long Lake, just outside this city of about 10,000 in the northwest part of the state.

While Smith has yet to enter a plea, her lawyer has said his defense will be based on her mental state.

If Smith pleads guilty but mentally ill, she could be sentenced to death.

A verdict of innocent by reason of insanity, which means she didn't understand that what she was doing was wrong, would send her to a mental hospital. If she were later declared sane, she could be released.

Prosecutor Tommy Pope has said he believes Smith was sane when she killed her children. Prosecutors plan to portray her as a manipulative woman who used murder to get rid of her sons when they got in the way of a love affair.

Smith's high school friend Anna Harris said she prayed Sunday for a plea bargain, as did the Rev. A.L. Brackett and about 200 worshippers at St. Paul Baptist Church.

Police arrest fugitive groom at altar

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With these cuffs, I thee wed?

Seconds after Rufus Lawsen and Catrina Josey were pronounced husband and wife Saturday, police officers marched up the aisle and arrested the stunned groom.

"He didn't even get to kiss his bride," wedding photographer Carter Collins said Sunday.

Lawsen, 29, had walked away from his trial on a jewelry shop heist during jury selection last month and was convicted in his absence, said police Detective Michael Reynolds.

Then police got a tip that Lawsen was getting married Saturday at Zion Baptist Church.

"Most of the guests were understandably upset," said Errol Manley, another photographer. "They came into a place of worship with guns drawn. People were shouting 'Don't desecrate this church!' and 'Let him kiss the bride!' It was crazy."

Witnesses said the bride was left standing at the altar in shock while a few of the 100 guests scuffled with police.

"She just stood there ready to cry," Collins said.

The couple had been planning to honeymoon in North Carolina. The bride did not return phone calls Sunday.

"I did feel pretty bad for her," said Cpl. Robert Swartz, one of the arresting officers.

Sampras kicks Becker, wins third straight

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — After winning his third straight Wimbledon title, Pete Sampras received the ultimate tribute from the man who used to call Centre Court "my living room."

"Unfortunately, he owns the Centre Court now," former three-time champion Boris Becker said. "I used to own it a few years back, but it belongs to him now."

Sampras proved himself to be one of Wimbledon's greatest champions Sunday when he served his way to a 6-7 (7-5), 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Becker in a brutal exhibition of grass-court tennis.

Sampras is the first man to win three consecutive Wimbledon titles since Bjorn Borg's run of five from 1976 to 1980, the first American man to achieve the feat and only the second man since Britain's Fred Perry won three straight from 1934-36.

Sampras said it was too soon to start thinking about matching Borg's record.

Against Becker, Sampras had 23 aces and 22 service winners. He didn't face a single break point and was taken to deuce only twice, while breaking Becker five times.

"He hits those bombs and you just hope for rain," Becker said.

So dominant was Sampras' serve that, during the fourth set, Becker covered his eyes with his hand and handled his racket like a blind man with a cane. Becker said Sampras played on a higher plane than former greats such as John McEnroe, Jimmy Connors and Ivan Lendl.

"Boy, he's playing a different kind of game," Becker said. "With those kind of players, you at least had a chance on the return. When I was playing Pete today, or even Goran (Ivanisevic) a few times this year, those guys just don't give you any chance ... McEnroe was a genius at the net and he had a great feel for the ball, but he wasn't playing with that kind of power."

The manner of Sampras' victory was similar to his slam-bang defeat of Ivanisevic in last year's final.

"People who know the game understand this is really grass-court tennis," Sampras said. "You have to understand when you have two guys that serve extremely big and volley pretty well, you are not going to have long rallies. That's the bottom line. People who know the game really understand that."

between chemotherapy treatments for brain cancer.

"He's the true champion today," Sampras said. "The way he has handled his treatment is just an inspiration. He gave me the encouragement to go on and put what happened at the French Open (first-round loss) behind me and to win a three-Pete for him."

Sampras still has not fully won over the British fans, who seem numbed by the power and efficiency of his play.

It was Becker who received the bigger ovation Sunday. At the urging of the crowd, he took a lap around the court to show off his runner-up trophy.

Martina Navratilova captured her 19th Wimbledon title Sunday, teaming with Jonathan Stark to win the mixed doubles 6-4, 6-4 over Cyril Suk and Gigi Fernandez. Navratilova, who retired from singles play last year, is one short of Billie Jean King's all-time record of 20 titles.

Australians Todd Woodbridge and Mark Woodforde won the men's doubles Sunday, outlasting Rick Leach of Laguna Beach, Calif., and Scott Melville of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., 7-5, 7-6 (10-8), 7-6 (7-5).

Sidewinders reach far past Big Spring

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

Don't call them the Big Spring YMCA Sidewinders — though that would be correct.

Maybe the West Texas Sidewinders would be more accurate. How about Permian Basin Sidewinders?

Regardless of the name, the local gymnastics squad, which has been competing at the national YMCA meet in Savannah, Ga., definitely has an area feel. Of the 10 Sidewinders at nationals, only three — Stephanie Stewart, Emily Mouton and Rachelle Guinn — call Big Spring home.

The other national contestants — Casey McKim, Kristen Myers, Lindsee Dickerson, Hayley Whiteside, Brooke Lawrence, Jana Duncan and Christie Drew — hail from either Midland or Odessa.

This migration is not a new phenomenon. Sidewinder coach Russ McEwen has had out-of-town students for most of the 13 years he's headed the program, and McKim, Myers and Dickerson have made the daily trek from the Midland-Odessa area for the past three years.

The major reason these girls endure 100-mile round trips and three-hour daily gymnastics practices is simple: They want to go as far as they can in the sport, and they figure McEwen is just the guy to guide them.

Results, page 7

A year ago, Lawrence felt like she was spinning her wheels in Odessa. She was the top-rated gymnast at Kid's Gym, but she said her instructor there didn't have the background to coach optional gymnasts.

Three months under McEwen, however, has changed Lawrence's outlook.

"I love my teammates," she said simply. McEwen said he does not recruit out-of-town gymnasts — there's no rule expressly forbidding it, but it's considered extremely bad form to do so. His reputation — and that of the program — do it for him.

"He's given me the opportunity to choreograph ... routines, and he's given me credit where credit's due," said another out-of-towner, assistant coach Casey Jones. "I get to share in the good and bad times."

Taking notes at The Ballpark in Arlington

ARLINGTON (AP) — This All-Star game is sure to be one of baseball's hottest events in years, no matter what Barry Bonds, Frank Thomas or anyone else does.

A heat wave bringing temperatures over 100 degrees has settled into the Dallas-Fort Worth area, and it's expected to stick around through Tuesday night's game. It was 102 when the New York Yankees and Texas Rangers started play Sunday, the first day game in July in Arlington since 1988.

The Rangers usually play night games during the summer, including Sundays — although Texas and Cleveland will play an afternoon game July 20, a getaway day for the Indians. The Rangers-Yankees game started early to give players an early start on the All-Star break but wound up lasting 12 innings.

SUN SPOTS: For Tony Gwynn, Fred McGriff and other first-time hitters at The Ballpark, batting in the first inning might be a bit difficult — and not just because they've never seen.

For about 15 minutes, beginning around the starting time of 7:30 p.m. CDT, a sun spot appears on the field, right in front of home plate. The spot is caused by sun poking through lattice work in the grandstand overhang, and can make it hard to pick up the ball.

"I know some guys have been talking about it, but I don't think it's that bad," All-Star catcher Mike Stanley of the Yankees said.

Stanley, who formerly played for Texas, said the sun at old Arlington Stadium — now razed and part of The Ballpark's parking lot — was much worse. "That was blinding. It took you two or three innings to adjust to it at night games," he said. "No matter how bad the sun is here now, anything is better than what it was."

CAL CANT: Cal Ripken, who played all 10 innings of the All-Star game last summer, can count on a rest this time.

Ripken will make his 12th straight All-Star start Tuesday night. But the Baltimore shortstop, who is closing in on Lou Gehrig's record of playing in 2,130 consecutive games, will come out early, giving backup Gary DiSarcina of California a chance.

AL manager Buck Showalter of the Yankees did not say when Ripken would be pulled. The manager is just hoping Ripken doesn't have to leave because of an injury.

"Can you imagine if he gets hurt in the game?" Showalter said Sunday. "If (Hideo) Nomo hits Ripken in the wrist with a pitch, would we have World War III on our hands?"

Nomo, leading the National League with 119 strikeouts, is likely to start for the NL. The Los Angeles right-hander has hit four batters this season.

Seles says she'll play at Open

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Monica Seles figures the absence of a ranking won't hinder her return to tournament tennis.

"I just want to play," she said. "I want to go back and start having fun. I'll take wild cards. If I'm good, I'll be there."

And there figure to be more than enough wild card invitations to go around for her. What tournament director would ignore the chance to add Seles to the field? Equipped with eight Grand Slam tournament titles and a bubbly personality, she's a major plus for women's tennis.

Yet the rest of the players weren't in the mood to do anything special for Seles, who is returning following more than two years away from the game after being stabbed at a tournament in Hamburg. There was talk of making her co-No. 1 with Wimbledon champion Steffi Graf before the WTA Tour made a sudden U-turn and decided not to grant any ranking at all.

Seles' first tentative step back comes July 29 at Atlantic City, N.J., in a made-for-television exhibition against Martina Navratilova. That's exactly one month before the start of the U.S. Open, where Seles plans to make her Grand Slam tournament return.

She's won the Open twice. Think she'll have a problem getting a wild card invitation?

Chris Evert, going into the Hall of Fame later this month, said she thought Seles would be a factor immediately. Broadcasting at Wimbledon for NBC, Evert said, "When she burst on the scene, she was winning right from the start. She has a lot of pride. Physically, she's in great shape. She's lean. She's been practicing with men. She'll be in semifinals and finals right away."

Seles spent Saturday at the Special Olympics World Games, handing out medals and conducting a clinic.

Indy hero wins again; Gordon takes Slick 50 200

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP) — The first few laps of the Texaco-Havoline 200 may have looked routine for Jacques Villeneuve and Team Green as their Reynard-Ford led the way. It wasn't.

After Villeneuve made only two laps around the four-mile, 14-turn Road America circuit in Sunday's morning's half-hour warmup, the team frantically changed most of the electrical connections in the car.

"We were 90 percent sure that we fixed it, but you are never 100 percent sure until you've run a few laps in the race," said team owner Barry Green. "Obviously, we got it right."

Villeneuve, driving flawlessly, went virtually unchallenged as he led all but four of the 50 laps en route to his third victory of the season and the fourth of his Indy-car career.

Gordon stays hot on NASCAR tracks

LOUDON, N.H. (AP) — Jeff Gordon took another NASCAR win Sunday at the Slick 50 200. Sunday's victory was a Winston Cup-leading fifth of the year for the 23-year-old driver, who brushed the wall during qualifying and eventually started 21st in a field of 41.

Gordon passed seven-time champion Dale Earnhardt on the 170th lap, then stayed on or near the lead thereafter.

Gordon collected $160,300 from a $1.3 million purse. Included in his earnings was a $50,000 bonus for taking the lead in the series points race.

Baseball Rangers win in extra innings

ARLINGTON (AP) — The Texas Rangers committed a season-high six errors, allowed three unearned runs, issued six walks and left 11 runners.

Somewhere, they still beat the New York Yankees 5-4 in 12 innings.

When Mickey Tettleton's 12th-inning single drove in Mark McLemore from second with the winning run, there was nobody more relieved in the Rangers dugout than second baseman Jeff Frye. Frye's two errors in the third inning and another by third baseman Mike Pagliarulo led to three unearned runs.

Ed Vosberg (3-2) pitched three innings of shutout relief for his third extra-inning victory.

The on-field temperature surpassed 100 degrees.

"It definitely takes a toll on you," Tettleton said. "I was the kind of day where you're really (tired)."

While the Rangers were sharing first place at the break, the Yankees lost ground to the three AL East teams ahead of them.

New York is now eight games behind first-place Boston, after losing three of four to the Rangers. The Yankees finished a 10-game road trip 4-6.

New York wasted an early 3-1 lead and left nine runners in scoring position, failing to take advantage of the sloppy Texas defense. Steve Howe (3-3) gave up the winning run in the 12th.

Sidewinders score high at nationals

The Big Spring Sidewinders made their coach into a prophet at the national YMCA gymnastics this weekend in Savannah, Ga.

Russ McEwen had set a goal of a top-five finish for his team, and it did him one better, placing fourth at the national meet, which concluded Sunday.

Tampa, Fla. won the team title with 110.4 points, while Flushing, N.Y. finished second and Salem, Mass. placed third. The Sidewinders were next with 107.8 points.

Big Spring native Stephanie Stewart had the highest individual finish for the Sidewinders, placing sixth in the junior division all-around competition with 35.425 points. Right behind her was Hayley Whiteside with 35.375 points, while Lindsee Dickerson was 11th. Rachelle Guinn placed 19th overall; Brooke Lawrence was 22nd.

In the senior division, Kristen Myers finished eighth at 35.825. Casey McKim finished ninth.

In the event finals, Stewart again had the top local performance, finishing second on the uneven bars with an 18.75. Whiteside had a fifth-place finish on the beam (18.1); Dickerson placed sixth at 18.0.

Rachelle Guinn placed seventh in the junior division floor exercise with a score of 17.95.

Myers had the Sidewinders' highest finish in the senior division event finals, tying for fifth in the floor exercise.

Golf

Mayfair more than fair at Western Open

LEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Billy Mayfair outlasted more than two dozen contenders Sunday to win the Western Open and the $360,000 first-place check.

His birdie on the 18th hole gave him a 5-under-par 67 for the day and a 9-under 279 for the $2 million tournament, one of the richest on the PGA Tour.

A five-way playoff seemed inevitable until Mayfair knocked a 178-yard 7-iron within 4 feet of the cup on No. 18. He then made the putt for his fifth birdie of the day.

Going into the final round, he was in the middle of a pack of 24 golfers within five strokes of the lead. And by the time leaders Brett Ogie and Steve Lowry had teed off, a 25th player, Jeff Maggart, had tied for the top spot.

Maggart began Sunday at even-par, seven strokes back. But he birdied 10 holes in the final round — including eight of 10 at one stretch — to shoot a 64 and go 8-under for the tournament. He almost had to come back out of the clubhouse for a playoff. But by one, the contenders tumbled.

Lowery had five bogeys, including three in a four-hole stretch on the back nine.

Marshall wins LPGA event

SYLVANIA, Ohio (AP) — Kathryn Marshall said she won the Jamie Farr Toledo LPGA Classic because she kept her cool when things started getting hot. She said her turning point in Sunday's final round at the Highland Meadows Golf Club came on the 330-yard, par-4 13th hole. She saved par there despite having her tee shot hit a tree and her second shot glance off a branch of the same tree, leaving her 90 yards from the green.

She proceeded to hit a sand wedge within 4 feet of the cup and hole out. That was the closest Marshall came to a bogey all day as she shot a 4-under-par 67 to finish at 8-under 205.

Full results of all professional golf, including the Seniors tour, is in SportsExtra.

Will Prop 48 go the way of 'No Pass, No Play?'

I read a recent article asking whether the NCAA's new academic requirements are working against the best interests of many male athletes while increasing graduation rates for women.

The article talked about Proposition 48, which first went into effect in 1988, and the increases and decreases in graduation rates among black and white athletes.

What Prop 48 meant was, in 1986 (the first year of the program), freshmen athletes had to meet minimum academic standards to play, practice or even accept financial aid in their first year.

A lot of finger-pointing has resulted because many people, including some teachers, say standardized tests (ACT and SAT) are racially and culturally biased.

The article also pointed out that in 1986 and 1987, incoming college freshmen could compensate for low ACT and SAT scores by having a higher grade-point average, or vice versa.

A combined score as low as 660 on the SAT or 13 on the ACT was acceptable if the athlete had a 2.2 average in college preparatory courses such as math, English and science.

The tougher rules were applied in 1988, requiring that freshmen have a 2.0 average and at least a 700 SAT score or 15 ACT score to be eligible for participation.

Will Prop 48 go the way of 'No Pass, No Play?'

The problem with me is not black or white or who has the highest or lowest graduation percentage; the problem is I see the same questions surrounding Prop 48 that people were asking about Texas' "No Pass, No Play" rule.

What bothers me is that under Prop 48, freshman should be ready when its time to participate. If you have time to study and build an acceptable GPA before you're actually on a team, what's the problem?

The scary thing about all of these questions is that eventually someone on the NCAA rules committee may think the same thing as a Texas State legislator was thinking when he recommended "No Pass, No Play" be watered down.

Athletic programs are important because they are a major source of revenue for colleges and universities, but the question also can be asked whether academic performance is being sacrificed for athletic performance.

Anytime someone listens to the argument about a requirement like Prop 48 or No Pass, No Play being too hard, sooner or later you'll have a proposal somewhere that aims to help the situation, but what you really end up with is a watered-down version of the original.

What I'm wondering is what happened to the days when hard work and a challenge was part of the road you took to reach your goals.

LITTLE LEAGUE/GIRLS SOFTBALL

The first week of District 3 Tournament action was not kind to area teams, as only three remain in the four divisions.

The Big Spring Senior League all-stars stayed alive in the consolation bracket Friday with a 10-7 win over Odessa Floyd Gwin. Brock Gee picked up the win while Jeff Denton earned the save. Top hitters included Jason Laster (2-for-4, 2 RBIs), Jacob Rios (2-for-3, 2 RBIs) and Aaron Boadle (3-for-4, 1 RBI).

The Senior Leagueurs return to action tonight at 6 against Lamesa at Simon Field in Midland.

Big Spring's Junior League all-stars were eliminated Sunday when they dropped a 9-8 decision to Midland Eastern.

In the 9-10-year-old tournament in Midland, Big Spring American is the only local team

HOROSCOPE

FOR TUESDAY,
JULY 11, 1995

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Whatever you say or do, you encounter opposition. In the face of obstacles, keep your nose to the grindstone. Your responsible attitude and impartiality will make you a most desired person in the office. Acceptance is the key to success in this climate. Tonight: Be out and about. ***

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be open to change, as it is likely to be thrown in your face. Expect the unexpected, and you will fare magnificently. Trust your intuition when dealing with money or love, especially if the two are involved. Delicacy and diplomacy mix. Tonight: Let your mind lead you. ****

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Know what choices you have. You receive information that may confuse you at first. An instinctive gut reaction may be right or, so follow through. Lighten up about a love relationship. You are in a secure position. You offer more to you possibly know. Tonight: Be frisky. ****

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Initiate a change in one of your relationships because of your desires and needs. Be positive. Extremes punctuate the day. Sort through chaos to resolve an issue. Partners dominate, so be sensitive to their whims. Tonight: Say yes. *****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The full moon throws a new light on a work-related project. Allow yourself the luxury of a quiet break. You might need to gain perspective about what is important. Don't overindulge; practice self-discipline. There are no answers today. Tonight: Work, work, work. ***

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Move ahead on a creative venture. A romantic tie heats up because of your direct approach. Indulgence, creativity and confusion mix in a surprising and delightful way. Realize what is motivating you with a loved one. Tonight: Let your playful side emerge. *****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Follow instinctive choices about a work-related matter. Your ideas, buoyancy and abilities boost your creativity. There is a sense of excess. Know how much you mean to a co-worker or boss. Don't get locked into negative thinking. Tonight: Invite a dear friend over. ***

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A discussion with a friend brings unusually successful results. Realize what you want from this relationship. Focus on work, creativity and goals. Share opinions and make order out of chaos. Return calls, and make plans. Tonight: Go to your favorite spot. ***

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Money matters could be difficult when you least expect it. Instead of being surprised, pull back and consider what your role is in this situation. Refuse to go to extremes or take a radical action. In this atmosphere, analysis is advised. Tonight: Please, make it cheap! ***

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Revel in the moment. Things happen quickly and may force you to consider unusual options. Your sense of humor helps you tiptoe through a difficult situation. You come out a winner because someone adores you. Affection flourishes. Tonight: You call the shots. *****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Keep a low profile as you gather information; think through a change with care. Check in with a friend who may have the blues. Don't make a judgment yet, because there is more information coming in. Misunderstanding mark the day. Tonight: Caring makes a difference. **

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Recognize how much is changing for you. You might not have all the answers, but you are on the way to resolving key problems. Focus on goals, and refuse to let inconsistent facts undermine your direction. A friendship makes a difference. Tonight: Let the romantic embers burn. *****

IF JULY 11 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: You might be surprised at the twists and turns you year holds for you. New information will be continually coming to light, sometimes confusing you, but always encouraging you to seek out more knowledge. Your strong suit is how much you care, and you certainly draw others to you. If you are single, this is a very romantic year when you might make the choice to change your status. If attached, affection grows as the two of you work on establishing a better rapport. CAPRICORN adores you.

THE ASTERISKS (*) SHOW THE KIND OF DAY YOU'LL HAVE: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

Words of comfort provide a port in stormy weather

DEAR ABBY: You recently asked, "Readers, what has given you comfort when you were confronted by tragedy?" A myriad of "pat" answers crossed my mind, but then I remembered a thought I had shared with my pastor soon after the Oklahoma City bombing.

Abigail Van Buren
Columnist

What comforted me the most was seeing how, in the midst of disaster, people came together. Racial biases disappeared; language barriers were replaced with the universal language of love and comfort; and ordinary citizens took on the roles of heroes.

If only for a short period of time, we saw each other for who we really are: human beings, each and every one. Beneath the color of our skins or the origins of our birth, we all bleed red blood, cry salty tears, and have hearts that break in despair when a loved one is threatened with pain or death.

It gives me tremendous hope that someday it will not take a monstrous tragedy to bring out all that is good within us. Could it be that the God of all creation allows such things to happen to remind us that he created us to be our brothers' keepers? — LYNNE ARNOLD, WHITTIER, CALIF.

DEAR LYNN: I received an avalanche of mail filled with philosophical gems. Read on: DEAR ABBY: Let me tell you what comforted me in the face of tragedy: My adopted son, Fred, became addicted to drugs.

He shot and killed a neighbor girl and wounded her boyfriend. I was devastated. Fred is now in prison serving a life sentence.

The only thing that made this tragedy bearable was that Jim, my grandson, stood up in school and told his peers that he would never take drugs because of the terrible thing that his beloved Uncle Fred did after he became addicted. You may use my name. — MARJORIE MILLER, TILLAMOOK, ORE.

DEAR ABBY: Twelve years ago, I was going through a very bad time. My boss at work gave me a book titled "When Bad Things Happen to Good People" by Harold S. Kushner, who had lost his son to illness. Kushner was a rabbi who had devoted his life to God and was puzzled as to why he had to bear this tragedy.

Incidentally, I am a Protestant and my boss is Catholic. — MRS. ELAINE J. AUGUR, SANTA ANA, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: People should not blame God for their bad luck.

When our son, a young pilot in Houston, was murdered five years ago in a robbery, we didn't blame God. The murderer who killed him is now in prison.

When our daughter was in a terrible automobile accident that left her without the use of her vocal cords, we didn't blame God. It was the driver of the car that hit her who caused it.

Our faith in God has given us the strength to cope with these tragedies. — MARGE MEISINGER, NAPERVILLE, ILL.
