Aggravated assaults send two to hospital

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Two Big Spring residents were shot in separate incidents during the weekend, and those reportedly responsible have been arrested.

The first shooting took place around 8:30 p.m. Saturday at an apartment complex on the north side of town. Reports say officers were originally called to the emergency room at Scenic Mountain Medical Center because an assault victim was being treated for his wounds.

Melvin Ford had been shot and stabbed at the complex and James Willie Mathews, 64, of 1002 North Main, was arrested and charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. A knife and a .22-caliber rifle were recovered at the scene.

Ford received superficial stab wounds to the back and was shot in the groin and leg. Mathews has been released on $10,000 bond.

Shortly after midnight Sunday, officers were called to a residence on the northeast side of town in reference to a gunshot victim. Domingo Galaviz had been shot on the right side of his body and was transported to Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

John Paul Franco, 27, of 202 N.E. Seventh, was arrested and charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. Chavell Franco, 32, of 202 N.E. Seventh, was charged with tampering with evidence because she had allegedly concealed the weapon used to shoot Galaviz. She was released on $1,200 bond and John Paul Franco was released on $10,000 bond.

Both incidents are still under investigation, and preliminary information indicates the assaults were the results of arguments between the parties involved.

Ford and Galaviz are listed in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

Dogs, cats need a few good people

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Humane Society is looking for a few good people.

Or a lot of good people who don't have a lot of time.

Or people who don't have time but have a little money to spare.

Betty Cox of Big Spring Humane Society says what they need most is people who will pick a job they like to do and be faithful to it, even if it's only an hour or two a week. Right now, what's most needed is yard work and repairs, especially repairs to the dog houses and the cyclone fences.

If you don't have the time, how about giving a little money? Every little bit helps, and it's tax-deductible. In fact, Cox says, since the Humane Society is a non-profit, tax exempt organization, donations of money go a long way.

Right now, the society has 270 dogs and close to 75 cats at the shelter. Since no animal is destroyed at the shelter, Humane Society volunteers try very hard to find homes for all, but keep the ones who can't be placed.

Cox speculates past campaigns aimed at encouraging people to have cats neutered may be responsible for the fact there are so many more dogs looking for homes. It may also be because people will abandon cats more readily than they will dogs.

"There are better things to do than dump them," Cox says. "That's a crime." She points out the sign on the shelter's gate listing the Texas statute that makes abandoning a pet a crime.

Cox says summer survival is posing less of a problem for the shelter's residents this year - automatic waterers ensure plenty of fresh, cool water, and porches on the dog houses help provide shady areas. The shade trees planted in 1989 are big enough to make a difference now, too.

Like all other Big Spring pets, shelter residents have problems with fleas in the

Two more hospitalized after Saturday accident

By KELLIE JONES

Two more people involved in a Saturday morning accident have been transported to Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

Mario Gonzales, 34, and Alisha Gonzales, 4, both of Amarillo, were transferred to Lubbock Methodist Hospital. They, along with Maria Ortiz, 15, of Amarillo, are all listed in critical condition. The 4-year-old is in the pediatric intensive care unit.

Meanwhile, the other six people involved in the rollover are recovering from their injuries.

Maria Gonzales, 26; Carlos Gonzales, 10; Alex Garrado, 2; and Eldely Garrado, 3, have all been discharged from Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

Robert Ortiz, 9, was treated and released, while the driver Angelica Ortiz, 27, remains at the local hospital in stable condition.

The accident happened 21 miles north of Big Spring on Highway 87. Ortiz had tried to overcorrect the minivan she was driving, causing it to flip and land on its roof.

No one was wearing a seat belt, and everyone but Eldely Garrado and Carlos Gonzales was ejected from the vehicle.

Give animals shelter from summer

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

Summertime, summertime, sum-um-summertime.

Time to picnic, party, garden and have fun. Remember, heat can be hazardous to your health - and your pet's.

Dr. Neal Tindol of Sierra Animal Clinic offers tips for keeping pets healthy and happy in warm summer weather.

Animals, like humans, suffer dehydration from heat, but their smaller body size makes them more vulnerable.

Dogs and cats who stay outside in warm weather need shaded areas - not necessarily inside a building, but something that provides good shade - and plenty of clean, fresh water.

Betty Cox of the Big Spring Humane Society recommends putting a porch on the dog's house: a sheet of corrugated metal or fiberglass, a couple of two-by-fours and some nails can accomplish the job.

The second biggest summertime problem is parasites, fleas and ticks especially.

Treatment should include spraying the yard, bathing or dipping the pet, and treating the house. All areas must be done at the same time and done regularly. The problem of infestation may recur without follow-up.

Tindol says flea collars are the least reliable method of pest control. There is a collar available for tick control, he says, but it has no effect on fleas.

Fleas cause more problems than just itching and scratching; they carry other parasites such as tapeworms. Intestinal parasites such as roundworms and hookworms are usually picked up from contaminated outdoor areas. Ringworm is actually a fungus. For all worms, he recommends consulting your vet for treatment.

Heartworm, transmitted by mosquitoes, is a bigger problem in West Texas than previously thought. The mosquitoes pass on the parasite when biting.

Tindol says dogs need to be tested for heartworm. If the animal proves negative, it is started on preventatives given once a day or once a month. Heartworm preventatives need to be continued year-round in Big Spring, because mild winters don't kill the mosquitoes.

Good nutrition is needed all year round, Tindol says. Table scraps should not be fed to pets. A good-quality food helps reduce the need for supplements. Tindol recommends looking for something low in fat and high in protein. Treats are fine, but don't

BSISD to modify its achievement center

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Every school district in Texas must establish an alternative education setting by the start of the 1995-96 school year. This was a law passed as part of the education overhaul of Senate Bill One.

Big Spring Independent School District Superintendent Bill McQueary says they will modify the Personalized Achievement Center already in place to use as its alternative school.

He adds school officials from Coahoma and Forsan are working with Big Spring to use the PAC if they need to. The PAC is currently used for students who dropped out of school and want to return to get their General Education Diploma.

The law requires any student who commits the following must be sent to the alternative school:

- assault (bodily injury only)
- possesses illegal drugs, alcohol or abusable glue
- commits public lewdness or indecent exposure
- if they retaliate against a school employee on or off campus

The law also states there is no longer a limit on how long a student may be placed in the alternative program but his or her status must be reviewed every 120 days. If the center is off-campus, it is exempt from all provisions in the education code except for limitations on liability, reporting requirements and accountability requirements.

According to the Association of Texas Professional Educators, programs at the school must focus on English language arts, math, science, history and self-discipline.

American Publishing to purchase Herald

Special to the Herald

Thomson Newspapers Corporation and American Publishing Company have reached an agreement in principle for American Publishing to purchase 12 of Thomson's U.S. dailies and related publications.

Texas papers include the Big Spring Herald; the Del Rio News-Herald; the Huntsville Item; and the News-Messenger, Marshall.

Other papers include The Ada Evening News, Oklahoma; The Times-Tribune, Corbin, Ky.; The Evening Telegram, Herkimer, N.Y.; the Leavenworth Times, Kansas; The Mexico Ledger, Missouri; The Times-Herald, Olean, N.Y.; The Palladium-Times, Oswego, N.Y.; and the Standard-Democrat, Sikeston, Mo.

These are among 25 U.S. newspapers that Thomson announced were for sale earlier this year as part of its new long-term strategic plan.

That strategy supports Thomson's objective of transforming the company into a marketing and communications organization.

"We have grouped many of our newspapers into strategic marketing groups serving regional markets and will operate several others as strategic stand-alone developmental properties," said Dick Harrington, president and chief executive officer for Thomson Newspapers.

"In both cases, we will develop and offer products and services beyond those traditionally offered by a newspaper company. In doing so, we will transform our company into a premier marketing and communications organization, ensuring long-term growth for our company and increased opportunities for our staff members."

The newspapers being sold to American are all sound businesses, Harrington said, but do not fit Thomson's new strategy. The sales announced today are scheduled to close upon a definitive agreement of purchase and sale between the two companies, which is anticipated by Sept. 30.

Larry J. Perrotto, president and chief executive officer of American Publishing, stated, "We look forward to working with the staffs at each of these organizations and continuing to publish quality community news-oriented newspapers. We don't anticipate many changes at these publications, other than updating equipment at some of the locations."

American Publishing Company, a subsidiary of the Canadian-based international newspaper company Hollinger Inc., is the second largest newspaper publishing group in the United States, measured by the number of paid daily newspapers it owns and operates, and one of the 12 largest in terms of paid daily circulation.

Its publications include the Chicago Sun-Times, the eighth largest circulation metropolitan daily in the United States, and The Jerusalem Post in Israel. American Publishing publishes 96 daily newspapers, 146 paid non-daily newspapers and 151 free distribution publications.

Madam kills self

Convicted Louisiana madam Sylvia Landry apparently followed through on hints to her family that she would kill herself rather than spend the next six years in federal prison, her father said. Landry hanged herself Sunday in her cell at the Brazos County Jail, one day after her recapture by federal marshals following her escape. See page 3.

overdo it. Having your pet vaccinated against rabies is important, but don't forget other vaccinations.

Cats need to be vaccinated for feline leukemia, the second biggest killer of cats. Tindol says the biggest cat-killers are cars and distemper.

Dogs need to be vaccinated for parvo and distemper. Boosters are very important - kittens and puppies don't develop full immunity immediately, and need the booster to ensure the vaccine's effectiveness.

Many people don't realize the first shots don't include rabies.

Tindol explains the state recommends puppies and kittens receive their first rabies vaccine at three months; he prefers four, if possible. Before that, puppies and kittens have some immunity from their mother, if she's been vaccinated.

The immature immune system of a younger animal may not process the vaccine and develop the antibodies. Puppies should get their shots at six, nine and 12 weeks with boosters and rabies shots at 16 weeks; kittens should have their shots at eight weeks, a booster at 12 weeks, and rabies shots at 16 weeks.

Tindol says he occasionally treats pet birds. Their primary problem in the summer-time is sensitivity to sudden changes in climate. If you decide to put a fan in the bird's area, do it gradually, said Tindol. Make sure "Polly" has plenty of water.

Ruth Appleton, 84, died Sunday. Services will be at 3:00 PM Tuesday at Coahoma Church of Christ. Interment will follow in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mary Lee Purser, 69, died Saturday. Services were at 2:00 PM Monday at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Interment followed at Trinity Memorial Park.

IN BRIEF

Budget subject of special meeting
Howard County Commissioners have called a special meeting for 10 a.m. Wednesday to discuss the 1995-96 budget and to consider bid awards for renovations to the Howard County Courthouse.

Commissioners' budget work session will begin at 10 a.m. and architects from Aguirre Associates will be in Big Spring at 2 p.m. when commissioners consider three different bid awards: exterior cleaning and repairs, miscellaneous renovations, and elevator accessibility upgrading.

Fanning, Fanning and Associates will be in town at 4 p.m. as commissioners consider awarding bids for electrical and mechanical renovations.

summer time. Cox recommends investing in the best quality house bomb available and dipping pets. The shelter has a dip available during all open hours, and charges $5 per dip.

Dipping a cat, Cox says, is simple, if not easy. "To dip a cat you prepare a vat of solution, grab the cat by the nape of the neck, say 'In the name of the Father and of the Son,' immerse the cat all the way, and let go fast." Dogs are a little more cooperative.

All shelter residents have their shots or come with a certificate entitling them to shots when they get old enough - it's just basic good sense, Cox believes. "Vaccinations are so easy - wait for the clinics, but get them done."

If you need an animal placed, Cox asks patience. "Give us as much time as you possibly can when you're moving." Let them try to place the animal before just bringing it out and leaving it. "There's a person for every animal - we just need time to find them."

Lawyers' group honors women's work

CHICAGO (AP) — Married women in Texas may not know it, but they have Dallas lawyer Louise Raggio to thank every time they write a check, buy stock or open a business without having to get their husbands' permission.

Raggio led the fight for the 1967 state law that finally gave women financial equality with their husbands. On Sunday, an American Bar Association group honored her and five other women for their work on behalf of women.

"It was lonely out there when I got my law license" in 1952, Raggio said as she accepted her award from the ABA Commission on Women in the Profession. "Texas is hell on women and horses."

Former New York Rep. Bella Abzug and University of Pennsylvania law professor Lani Guinier also received the Margaret Brent award, named after the nation's first female lawyer, who practiced during the 1630s and unsuccessfully demanded the right to vote.

Chlorine disinfectant effective in food package

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas scientists have patented new packaging materials embedded with a common chlorine compound that kills E. coli and other harmful bacteria that may contaminate hamburger and other foods.

The new disinfecting polymers, or plastics, were developed by the Southwest Research Institute in San Antonio.

The product's inventors hope the new materials, combined with federal inspections proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, will help protect consumers who leave raw meat unrefrigerated too long or don't cook it sufficiently.

The chemical embedded in the multilayer films and coatings is chlorine dioxide, widely used to disinfect drinking water and control bacteria, fungus and molds in items as varied as contact lenses and swimming pools.

The films and coatings, which can be used on the paper used to separate hamburger patties or interior surfaces of cardboard food-storage cartons, release the chemical in response to increases in temperature and humidity.

Search for missing men called off

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — The search for the publisher of the Port Arthur News and two friends who have been missing since a fishing trip in the Gulf of Mexico has ended, U.S. Coast Guard officials say.

Coast Guard officials said Sunday night the search for publisher Wes Plummer, 53, Port Arthur refinery worker Michael Rhodriguez, 50, and Beaumont lawyer Robert Meroney, 41 ended about 9:30 p.m. pending further developments.

Crews on two aircraft and a patrol boat combed the bay Sunday afternoon looking for the missing crew and their vessel, Lt. Larry Glick of the Coast Guard said.

But family members still believing the men to be alive pleaded Sunday for them to continue and for volunteers to assist in the efforts to find the missing men.

Ranchers, recyclers battle over landfill

DALLAS (AP) — In rolling, forested hills dotted with livestock and rural communities, farmers and ranchers are turning into environmentalists over a company's ambitious landfill plan.

About 2,500 Palo Pinto County residents have signed petitions against the plan to truck in trash to the site, upstream from a creek and lake.

The permit application by Blue Flats Disposal Inc. is on part of an 1,140-acre tract that it calls geologically and logistically perfect for municipal waste, a recycling center and possibly an industrial park.

"We have a heck of a fight on our hands," said Roy Ownby, chairman of the fund-raising committee for Citizens to Save Palo Pinto County.

Dallas magnet center to debut

DALLAS (AP) — It took 20 years of planning, a court order, a bond election and nearly $40 million to prepare the crown jewel of Dallas' magnet school program for next Monday's unveiling.

"This school doesn't look like a school the district was forced to build by a court order," said Executive Principal Dr. Ora Watson, referring to a 1982 federal mandate that the Dallas Independent School District facilitate its magnet school program with such a campus.

Voters approved the school's construction bonds in 1990.

The campus is composed of six secondary schools that had their own locations until this year. Each school will retain a separate principal and recruit and enroll students. All pupils at the facility will take core courses such as English and physical education together.

The programs that share the campus just south of downtown are the schools of Law and Government, Education and Social Services, Health Professions, Business Management, Science and Engineering and an accelerated School for the Talented and Gifted.

Each classroom has at least one computer workstation for teachers and three for students. Each is equipped with Power Macintosh computers that had to be specially designed.

"For instance, we had to get built-in speakers on the computers because the plug-in speakers

Convicted madam hangs herself after recapture

BRYAN (AP) — Convicted Louisiana madam Sylvia Landry apparently followed through on hints to her family that she would kill herself rather than spend the next six years in federal prison, her father said.

Landry, of Baton Rouge, hanged herself Sunday in her cell at the Brazos County Jail, one day after her recapture by federal marshals following a short-lived escape, according to sheriff's officials.

In her last phone call to her parents in Walker on Saturday, Landry told her family that she loved them, but to prepare for the worst, said her father, Joseph Ballard.

"She just told me, 'Daddy, this is the last time you'll talk to me. They'll call you and tell you what happened,'" Ballard said.

Kenny Elliott, lead investigator for the Brazos County Sheriff's Department, said Landry hanged herself using a bed linen tied to the metal mesh over a smoke detector. She was pronounced dead at 11:44 a.m., he said.

Landry was not on a suicide watch, Elliott said.

Ballard said he did not take his daughter's threat seriously, so he did not notify authorities. Landry had implied in the past that she would rather die than stay in jail, her father said.

"I didn't think she had guts enough," Ballard said. "I figured she was teed off or depressed or something. ... If I had known she was going to do something, I'd have called lots of people."

Landry was the second of Ballard's 10 children to commit suicide. A 32-year-old son shot himself to death with a .38-caliber revolver four years ago, according to Ballard.

Landry, who was recaptured Saturday about five miles from the Federal Prison Camp in Bryan where she had escaped Thursday, was being held on federal charges, sheriff's officials said.

Greg Thompson, a federal prison spokesman, would not elaborate on the suicide, deferring to the sheriff's department and the U.S. Marshal Service. No one from the Marshal's Service could be reached for comment late Sunday.

Landry was taken into custody by U.S. marshals after police found her in a wooded area about five miles from the prison, Thompson said.

Landry escaped one day after arriving from an Oklahoma City prison.

Marshall remembered for contributions to oil business

HOUSTON (AP) — Associates of J. Howard Marshall II say he should be remembered for his contributions to the oil business — not his marriage at age 89 to Playboy and Guinness model Anna Nicole Smith.

Marshall II made legendary contributions to the energy industry in America.

Oscar S. Wyatt Jr., Coastal Corp.'s chairman and chief executive, said Sunday.

"He significantly shaped American public policy on energy issues throughout his life and he helped build some of America's most respected oil companies, including the Coastal Corp., where he served as a director for many years."

"I learned a great many things from him," said Jay Grubb, who knew Marshall for 40 years and worked under him at Union Texas Petroleum.

Grubb said Marshall's third marriage to Playboy's 1993 Playmate of the Year "ought to go to the backfront."

"I would take every opportunity to skirt that as much as possible," Grubb said.

The 90-year-old Marshall, who earlier this year suffered from pneumonia, died Saturday at Park Plaza Hospital in Houston. Hospital officials refused to release any details Sunday.

A battle over Marshall's estate — reportedly worth about $550 million — has been brewing for months.

T. Patrick Freydl, a Detroit attorney who has represented Smith, did not immediately return telephone calls from The Associated Press.

The 27-year-old model and Marshall's son, Pierce Marshall, went to court last February to fight over the guardianship of the fortune. Court papers filed then described the senior Marshall as "an incapacitated adult."

The money wound up being put in a trust and Smith largely was cut off from the funds.

Born in 1905 in Philadelphia, Marshall earned a bachelor's degree at Haverford College and attended Yale Law School. He later was an assistant professor at Yale.

In 1933, Secretary of the Interrior Harold Ickes asked Marshall to work for the government.

He co-authored the Code of Fair Competition for the Petroleum Industry that year and drafted the executive order creating the National Petroleum Council in 1946.

Marshall's first wife was his college sweetheart, Eleanor Pierce. His second wife, Bettye Bohanon, helped him write his 1994 autobiography, "Done in Oil."

In 1991, Marshall was included in Forbes magazine's list of the 400 richest people in the nation.

Father, girlfriend suspect in abuse of three children

TYLER (AP) — Authorities arrested and charged a Lindale man and a woman described as his girlfriend in the repeated abuse of the man's three children over three years.

Floyd Smith, 39, was in Smith County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond Sunday night, charged with one count of injury to a child.

Catherine Watson, 32, also was being held in lieu of bonds totaling $200,000, charged with two counts of injury to a child.

The couple beat and shackled the children, forcing them to eat jalapeno peppers, according to a sheriff's report.

The children include two daughters, ages 12 and 10, and an 8-year-old son, according to the report.

According to a petition filed Friday by the The Texas Department of Human Services in a state district court, the agency is seeking temporary conserva-torship of the children. Judge Ruth Blake said she will hear the case within the next 14 days.

Both girls were handcuffed to separate closet areas of their father's home as a method of "grounding them," according to an affidavit filed with the petition.

The affidavit states the punishment lasted about 1 1/2 weeks at a time.

Smith was arrested Friday at the Behavioral Health Center in Tyler, where he was voluntarily admitted July 30 after attempting suicide, sheriff's Lt. Mike Lusk said.

Before checking into the clinic, Smith placed his children with a Tyler-area family.

The Department of Human Services was alerted to the children's condition Wednesday through a call to a child-abuse hot line, officials said.

UNDERWATER ABILENE

Flood waters from Elm Creek spread over much of the west side of Abilene on Saturday, including this portion of north First Street and Leggett Drive. The flooding is the result of heavy rains from the remnants of Tropical Storm Dean.

Quote of the Day

"The desire to be compelling in a prime-time way does not excuse not being accurate."

Arnold Kleiner, television executive, 1993

Don't rewrite history but learn from the past

Sunday marked the 50th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima. It has been commemorated with peace walks and prayers for peace.

The destructive of those bombs, dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, should never be forgotten. Because as soon as we forget how much destructive power is there, we will use them again.

That is the lessons of history. Which is why, painful though history may be, it shouldn't be rewritten.

Those men, back in 1945, made an extremely tough decision, a no-win decision. Go with the bomb, even though the full effects of its power are not known, and end the war or continue to fight the war, with great losses on both side.

As we look back on the decision and criticize, we need to remember we were not there, we don't know how the decision was made, what those men had to do to enable themselves to make that decision, either of which meant terrible death for many, many people.

What have to do, now that it has been done, is learn. We have to learn that war, no matter how it is fought, is a no win solution. We have to learn there is no such thing as a limited nuclear war. We have to learn that destruction is not the way.

We pray for peace. It is obvious this world is far from peaceful. Witness Bosnia, Israel, Chechnya and the myriad of other small wars that are claiming far too many lives.

Continue to pray for peace. Someday, we might learn the lesson warring has been trying to us - not to war on each other.

HOROSCOPE

FOR TUESDAY, AUG. 8, 1995

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Examine a situation with care, instead of losing your cool. Anger supports nothing; deal with a partner's stubbornness in another way. Your creativity is inspired by what a boss says to you. Listen to your imagination. Be more in sync with your long-term desires. Tonight: Share ideas with a buddy. ****

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Let your creativity flow. Face a hassle with a co-worker. Be careful how you deal with this person. Misplaced frustrations could backfire. Seek out ideas. Listen to your imaginations. Be more in sync with your long-term desires. Tonight: "Share ideas with a buddy."

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A child or loved one could throw a tantrum. Evaluate the importance of a major relationship, and don't worry about a flirtation. Think carefully about your choices because a decision could have long-term implications. Tonight: Discuss the future. ****

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You are walking on eggs with a family member. Discuss a key issue at a better time. romance changes course, and you might feel out of sorts. Question what you what from a situation. A partner gives you interesting feedback. Tonight: Go out for dinner. ****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A creative option occurs where and when you least expect it. Face a problem. You need to know more; try to get answers without provoking a negative or defensive reaction. Start a new thought process. Focus on work. Tonight: Get plenty of R&R. ***

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Communications take an unexpected turn. Follow your instincts with a creative endeavor. Someone shares an inspired idea that you need to think through. Be careful with a money risk; it could backfire. Use your imagination. Tonight: Add mischief to your life! *****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Anchor yourself, and consider what your true priorities are. A financial offer may surprise you and force your hand unexpectedly. A family member's inspired idea helps you deal with a problem. Being angry will not help you handle a frustrating situation. Tonight: Veg out. ***

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You might reverse your stand. Be careful how you deal with pent-up anger. It may come out where you least expect and create a problem. Follow through on ideas. Test your logic before acting on a decision. Tonight: Talk about a problem. *****

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Handle a money matter. You might feel limited by a financial change and feel that you can no longer accomplish a long-term goal. Relax somewhat, and don't let your frustration get to you. There is another solution, though you might not see it. Tonight: Plan your budget. **

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You are personality-plus. A boss's anger may not be directed at you, but it may be wise to be honest with yourself and admit that you have some responsibility in this situation. An easygoing approach brings you success. A friendship may be changing. Tonight: As you like it. *****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): News from a distance may irritate you and force you to change gears. Analyze what you need to do before you make a change that could affect your work. Honesty with a boss may not work today. Expect your share of criticism. Tonight: Keep a low profile. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): News may upset you and force a change in a partnership or friendship. Keep your focus on long term goals, and don't let problems interfere with your choices. A fun approach gets you far and helps cool down a sizzling situation. Tonight: Have dinner with your best friend. ****

IF AUG. 8 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: This is an unusually dynamic year, and in particular, you will need to be flexible about a changing domestic situation. You will be thoroughly challenged by a family-real estate matter this year. Creativity and honesty about your long-term goals help you solve the problem. Your work flourishes in 1996. Watch your sweet tooth. If you are single, curb a tendency to take emotional risks in 1995, though an excellent relationship could develop. If attached, focus not on the day-to-day issues, but on the long term. SCORPIO can be hard on you.

Offhand remark puts foot in mouth

DEAR ABBY: Please help me with an embarrassing situation I got myself into because of my big mouth.

Yesterday, a new neighbor that I have waved to, but never talked to, brought over a package that was addressed to me but delivered to her house by mistake.

I invited her in, and we sat in the den and talked a while. Then I asked her to come into the living room so I could show her a beautiful framed picture of my granddaughter. We had to walk through my kitchen to get to the living room. I can't remember my exact words, but they went something like this: "My kitchen is very small ... I hope you can make it."

As soon as the words were out of my mouth, I could have kicked myself, because this woman is a very heavyset person; she must weigh around 300 pounds. She didn't say anything, but I'm afraid I hurt her feelings.

This has upset me so much, I couldn't sleep a wink last night. Should I go to her and tell her I spoke in haste and apologize for being so insensitive?

Please help me; I'm a nervous wreck. My husband says I should forget it. I hate to leave my house for fear of running into her, but I can't stay holed up here forever. Sign me ... MRS. BIG MOUTH

DEAR MRS. BIG MOUTH: I agree with your husband. Forget it. Your neighbor probably has. As a gesture of appreciation, invite her over for coffee and a chat.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a 13-year-old girl who lives up north, but comes to this Southern state to visit her grandmother for the summer. We have a son her age, and they have a lot in common and enjoy each other's company.

She is a very pretty girl, polite and intelligent, but she has a very offensive body odor. My children and I don't know how to tell her that she should use a deodorant. When she's in the car, I blast the air through the vents directly on my face so I can breathe. We have been trying to think of a way to tell her without hurting her feelings. Please help us. -- DEPENDING ON YOU

DEAR DEPENDING: You would be doing her an enormous favor if you'd have a private chat with her concerning the importance of bathing daily, shampooing her hair and using a deodorant. Better yet, buy her some deodorant and tell her to use it faithfully after her daily bath.

Colombian police arrest suspected Cali cartel chief

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The alleged chief of the world's biggest cocaine cartel may hold key evidence about whether drug traffickers gave millions of dollars to President Ernesto Samper's election campaign.

Police raiding a Cali apartment early Sunday broke down the door and arrested Miguel Rodriguez Orejuela in his underwear as he tried to hide in a secret closet.

The arrest was a major blow against the cartel, which supplies most of the world's cocaine. It comes days after Samper's 1994 election campaign was accused of taking $6.1 million from the cartel.

Rodriguez denied that traffickers contributed to Samper's campaign, and called the president's former campaign treasurer a liar for saying they did.

Appearing relaxed in a goatee and a blue sports jacket as police with automatic rifles showed him off to reporters in Bogota, Rodriguez said, "the president is an honest man."

Rodriguez' denial that the cartel gave money raised speculation that he could be seeking a lenient sentence in exchange for his silence on possible campaign contributions.

Samper's former campaign treasurer, Santiago Medina, testified he obtained millions of dollars from the cartel with Samper's approval.

Rodriguez was given a receipt for $4.9 million signed by campaign director Fernando Botero, Medina testified. Botero resigned as defense minister last week after Medina's testimony.

A priest, Bernardo Hoyos, also testified that Rodriguez had shown him documents and played him audiotapes linking Samper's campaign to the cartel.

Samper went on nationwide television Sunday night to proclaim his innocence, saying Rodriguez' arrest was "the beginning of the end of the problem of drug trafficking in Colombia."

Rodriguez is the sixth leader of the Cali cartel to wind up behind bars in two months. The gang is believed to control 80 percent of the world's cocaine market and an increasing amount of the heroin trade.

In Washington, U.S. drug policy director Lee Brown hailed the arrest of the man he called "possibly the world's most wanted criminal" and said the cartel was crumbling.

But U.S. Drug Enforcement Administrator Thomas Constantine said smaller Colombian gangs lacking the contacts and sophistication of the Cali cartel already are picking up some of the cocaine business.

Rodriguez' arrest came after months of police raids in the southwestern city of Cali, part of a crackdown prompted by pressure from the United States.

Yugoslav tanks head to Croatian border after Serb surrender

Croatian soldiers celebrate, showing victory signs from a truck after they retook the town of Pinski Krajin, 70 miles southwest of Zagreb. A ceasefire has been announced, giving Krajina Serb forces safe passage out of Krajina after they disarm.

ZAGREB, Croatia (AP) — Columns of Yugoslav army tanks rumbled toward Croatia today in a show of Serbian force just hours after rebel Croatian Serbs, battered by the government, surrendered.

It appeared for now to be both a warning to Croatia not to go after the remaining Serb-held territory at its eastern edge and a move to quell popular Serb anger at the sudden three-day Croatian rout.

Long columns of Yugoslav army tanks, armored transporters and trucks towing guns and pontoon bridges thundered through Belgrade this morning toward Croatia.

Most of the vehicles turned from the Belgrade-Zagreb highway in the direction of eastern Croatia and some were believed deployed on Serb-led Yugoslav border with Croatia.

A partial mobilization was under way in Serbia's villages and smaller towns, reliable Serb sources said.

The last rebel Serbs battling Croatian troops effectively surrendered and agreed to give up heavy weapons in exchange for safe passage into Serb-held sections of neighboring Bosnia.

A U.N.-brokered agreement for territory south of Zagreb, where Serbs put up the fiercest resistance to the Croatian attack, allows soldiers and civilians trapped by the advancing Croatian army to join the massive exodus of Serbs from Croatia.

The Serbs agreed to turn in all weapons bar sidearms at four weapons collection points before leaving for Serb-held northern Bosnia, U.N. spokeswoman Leah Melnick said. But she said there was no firm word this morning that this was happening.

Tens of thousands of dispirited Serbs already have fled in an exodus that could total 200,000 people or more — the biggest single movement of people in four years of war in Yugoslavia.

The three-day Croatian rout of Serbs has left the rebels in control only of a swath of eastern Croatia bordering Serbia.

Melnick said the Croatian-Serb agreement for the formerly U.N.-patrolled territory known as Sector North was reached after Croatian army jets strafed the Serb-held town of Glina on Sunday evening.

Glina, 40 miles south of Zagreb, fell to the Croats late Sunday.

The agreement was brokered afterward, she said, stressing that it was not a general ceasefire.

She said the agreement effectively allowed free passage for 15,000 to 20,000 Serb civilians and soldiers who otherwise would have been trapped by Croatian forces.

Boy escapes clutches of mountain lion at zoo

PHOENIX (AP) — A mountain lion reached through the bars of its cage and attacked a 5-year-old boy who was waving a stick at the animal, authorities said. Sterling Borchers was treated at a hospital for scratches on his chest and a 3-inch bite wound on his arm. The boy was at the Phoenix Zoo with his father on Saturday to accompany a volunteer cleanup crew to the lion's cage, authorities said. Zoo officials did not immediately return calls Sunday seeking comment. It was not clear whether the lion would be moved from the zoo.

NATO troops arrive in Louisiana

FORT POLK, La. (AP) — Troops from 14 central and eastern European nations are arriving in western Louisiana for three weeks of NATO exercises aimed at developing joint peacekeeping and humanitarian efforts.

Hungarian, Lithuanian and Slovakian soldiers arrived in western Louisiana on Sunday; also scheduled to send forces were Albania, Bulgaria, the Czech Republic, Estonia, Kyrgyzstan, Latvia, Poland, Romania, Slovenia, Ukraine and Uzbekistan.

The operation is the first on U.S. soil involving the Partnership for Peace, a post-Cold War NATO initiative.

Participating nations are each sending platoons of 40 to 51 soldiers to train with troops from the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom. Some 4,000 soldiers will take part in "Cooperative Nugget 95."

After a week of orientation and training, the troops will begin an exercise in which they are sent as peacekeepers to the fictional island of Aragon after a border dispute.

The closing ceremony is set for Aug. 26.

Family of slain prison guard settles suit

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The wife and son of a guard killed during Ohio's longest and deadliest prison riot have settled their wrongful death lawsuit against the state.

Without admitting liability, the state has agreed to pay $850,000 to Peggy Vallandingham and her son Bobby for the death of Robert Vallandingham.

Vallandingham, 40, was one of 12 guards taken hostage at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in April 1993. He was strangled on the fourth day of the riot when inmate demands for the restoration of water and electricity were not met.

Nine prisoners also died in the rioting.

"All the members of the family are relieved that this thing is over. They can move on," said the Vallandinghams' attorney, Michael Moore of Columbus. Mrs. Vallandingham declined to comment.

The 11-day riot at the prison, about 90 miles south of Columbus, began when all prisoners were ordered to get inoculated against tuberculosis.

Black Muslims objected on religious grounds. Inmates also complained about overcrowding and racial tension.

contends with problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Red Cross thought it was doing everything right, consolidating blood banks and testing centers into a system governed by national rules to make supplies safer than ever.

But the 114-year-old organization didn't count on Springfield, Mo., to opt for local control instead of Red Cross rule. Nor did it anticipate that blood bank workers in Atlanta and Detroit would strike, protesting Washington hands on regional purse strings.

Added to the Red Cross' problems are its first budget deficit — $60 million in fiscal year 1995 — since auditing began 15 years ago, and an annual 1 percent to 3 percent drop in blood donations since the late 1980s.

Nevertheless, the Red Cross still handles nearly half the nation's blood supply.

Wildfire moves close to California town

DESERT HOT SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Area residents prepared to evacuate as a wildfire that scorched 19,000 acres of brush moved dangerously close.

The fire in desert wilderness burned a couple of miles from Morongo Valley, a town about 20 miles northwest of Palm Springs.

Firefighters were positioned as a precaution and authorities patrolled neighborhoods, advising residents they should get ready to voluntarily evacuate on short notice.

The fire was 50 percent contained by this morning, and firefighters said they expected full containment by this evening.

Airplanes and helicopters have dropped chemicals to help more than 1,400 firefighters beat back the flames.

Mechanical equipment is prohibited because the blaze is in a federal wilderness area.

The fire was started Friday by a man charging the battery of his tractor.

A drop cord leading from a house to the vehicle overheated and set grass on fire.

Magazine claims Michael Jackson repeatedly lied
during TV interview

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Jackson repeatedly lied on network television about an investigation into his alleged sexual relationship with a 13-year-old boy, Vanity Fair reported, quoting sources.

In its September issue out this week, the magazine also quotes unidentified sources as saying that photos of Jackson's genitalia match drawings the boy did.

Sources told the magazine that investigators found in Jackson's home a lewd book of black-and-white photos of 7-to 12-year-old nude boys "at play."

Telephone calls to Jackson's representatives were not returned.

The teen-ager claimed Jackson molested him in 1993 during a five-month relationship. No charges have been filed against Jackson.

The boy and Jackson settled a lawsuit out of court last year for a reported $15 million.

The Vanity Fair article focuses on the June 14 interview Jackson and his bride, Lisa Marie Presley, gave to Diane Sawyer on ABC's "PrimeTime Live."

Santa Barbara District Attorney Tom Sneddon in California and sources familiar with the evidence told the magazine that Jackson lied during the interview.

Jackson said he has been "cleared" of the child molestation charges. However, charges still could be filed until the six-year statute of limitations runs out.

Referring to the photos and other evidence, Jackson told Sawyer there was "not one iota of information that was found that could connect me to these charges."

Sneddon, who has seen the photos of Jackson's genitalia, told the magazine that the statement was "not consistent with the evidence in the case."

The magazine quoted sources familiar with evidence as saying there are markings on Jackson's genitalia and that the boy who accused him of molestation was able to draw an accurate picture of one of them before the photos were taken.

Indictment deadline nears
for bombing suspects

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Army friend of Oklahoma City bombing suspect Timothy McVeigh probably will be indicted on lesser charges in exchange for testifying against him, McVeigh's attorney says.

Stephen Jones, who heads McVeigh's defense team, speculated Sunday that the grand jury investigating the Oklahoma City bombing will indict McVeigh and suspect Terry Nichols by Friday, along with Michael Fortier.

The addition of Fortier, who authorities say admitted to casing the federal building with McVeigh before the bombing, will be a "sham indictment," complained Jones.

"They've already made a deal and he is being named primarily as an inducement to produce his testimony for the government," Jones said.

Meanwhile, Jones plans to introduce exculpatory evidence in the final week of grand jury proceedings. The information includes reports of a severed leg and foot, clad in camouflage, that Jones says has not been matched to any known victims.

He speculated the leg may have belonged to the "real" bomber, who acted without McVeigh. The state medical examiner's office, however, has said all body parts have been matched to victims.

Jones also said the leg could have belonged to a drifter, or to a second man that an eyewitness reported seeing in a Ryder truck before the bombing.

Fortier's lawyer, Michael McGuire, declined to comment Sunday on reports that Fortier, 26, would be indicted by the grand jury. The panel has until Friday to indict McVeigh and Nichols.

The Los Angeles Times reported Sunday that Fortier, who has negotiated for a plea agreement, would be indicted not as a direct participant in the bombing but as a conspirator who lied to federal agents and dealt illegal weapons.

In exchange for a guilty plea, Fortier, a gun enthusiast in Kingman, Ariz., would become a key government witness and would likely get no more than a 15-year sentence.

However, prosecutors can always seek a superseding indictment with additional defendants and charges if new evidence emerges.

McVeigh and Nichols share strong anti-government views and sympathize with far-right groups that were enraged by the 1993 government raid on the Branch Davidian compound near Waco, Texas, authorities say.

Lawyers for McVeigh have said any connection he had with such groups will be raised at trial, and they have raised the idea that any mishandling of the trial could incite violence from far-right groups.

NOTICE OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE
CORRECTED
1995 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN HOWARD COUNTY

This notice concerns 1995 property tax rates for Howard County. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

LAST YEAR'S TAX RATE:
Last year's operating taxes	$4,774,261
Last year's debt taxes	$0
Last year's total taxes	$4,774,261
Last year's tax base	$1,077,117,133
Last year's total tax rate (per $100)	0.44324
THIS YEAR'S EFFECTIVE TAX RATE:
Last year's adjusted taxes	$4,756,518
(after subtracting taxes on lost property)
/ This year's adjusted tax base	$1,027,731,072
(after subtracting value of new property)
= This year's effective tax rate (per $100)	0.46281
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing (per $100)*	0.47669
THIS YEAR'S ROLLBACK TAX RATE:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes	$4,841,683
(after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)
/ This year's adjusted tax base	$1,027,731,072
= This year's effective operating rate (per $100)	0.47110
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate (per $100)	0.50878
+ This year's debt rate (per $100)	0.01214
= This year's rollback rate (per $100)	0.52092

* If the rollback rate is lower than 1.03 times the effective rate, the unit must publish the notices and hold the hearing to adopt a tax rate that exceeds the rollback tax rate.

SCHEDULE A
UNENCUMBERED FUND BALANCES

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

TYPE OF PROPERTY TAX FUND	BALANCE
General and Regular Road and Bridge	$1,400,000

SCHEDULE B
1995 DEBT SERVICE

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

DESCRIPTION OF DEBT	PRINCIPAL OR CONTRACT PAYMENT TO BE PAID FROM PROPERTY TAXES	INTEREST TO BE PAID FROM PROPERTY TAXES	OTHER AMOUNTS TO BE PAID	TOTAL PAYMENT
General Obligation Bonds, series 1995	$0	$119,982	$500	$120,482
Total required for 1995 debt service				$120,482
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A				$0
- Excess collections last year				$0
= Total to be paid from taxes in 1995				$120,482
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only 95.00% of its taxes in 1995				$6,341
= Total Debt Levy				$126,823

SCHEDULE D
STATE CRIMINAL JUSTICE MANDATE

The Howard County Auditor certifies that Howard County has spent $85,164 in the previous 12 months beginning June 1, 1994, for the maintenance and operations cost of keeping inmates sentenced to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Howard County Sheriff has provided information on these costs, minus the state revenues received for reimbursement of such costs.

Texas pulling out of its skid

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Texas manager Johnny Oates couldn't be happier about baseball's expanded playoff format.

Two of the three AL division leaders have double-digit margins, including the AL West, where California leads Oates' Rangers by 10 games.

But Texas is one of many teams chasing the new wild card postseason berth.

"You have to shoot for the most attainable goal," Oates said after the Rangers beat the Angels 5-2 on Sunday.

Texas trails California by 10 games with 51 to play, but is only one game behind New York in the wild-card chase. The Yankees lost to Detroit 6-5 in 12 innings Sunday.

"To say we had to overcome California would put too much pressure on us," Oates said. "The goal is to get into the playoffs, and being the wild-card gives us the best shot at that. So, we're shooting for the wild-card, and anything else is

His players may not necessarily agree.

"There's still a long way to go and we're playing in the division now, so you can pick up games real quick," first baseman Will Clark said.

Rookie shuts down Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Back in the days when Doug Drabek, John Smiley and Zane Smith were in his rotation, manager Jim Leyland knew his starting pitcher would keep the Pittsburgh Pirates competitive.

This season, with as many as three rookie starters, Leyland isn't certain if his pitcher will take him into the second inning, much less the ninth.

Owusu second at meet

By STEVE REAGAN
Sports Editor

It looks as if Drexell Owusu is going to enjoy performing on a larger stage.

Owusu, Big Spring High School's two-time state 4A champion in the triple jump, got his first taste of national competition this summer, and the experience only whetted his appetite for more of the same. He'll satisfy that appetite the next few years at Rice University, which recently signed him to a scholarship.

Owusu's most recent national meet this summer was the National Junior Olympics Track and Field Championships July 27-30 in San Jose, Calif. He was supposed to be joined by younger sister Jaelyn, but she was forced to scratch from the meet because of injury.

Competing in the boys' senior division, Owusu finished seventh in the long jump (21 feet, 11 inches) and tied for second in the triple jump with a leap of 47-11.

Considering that the winning jump of 50-10 3/4, by Gerald Williams of Compton, Calif., was the best high school distance in the country this year, Owusu wasn't too disappointed by not winning.

"I needed to get some quality course. "This was fun," said Murphy. "The putt I made on 17, you could try it 40 times and not make it. I figured that made up for the short ones I missed the two holes before."

Murphy finished with a second straight 63 to clip Jim Colbert, who shot a tournament record-tying 8-under-par 62 Sunday, by one stroke. The victory in the VFW Seniors Championship, Murphy's fourth Seniors Tour victory of the season, was worth $135,000.

Austin wins playoff for Buick title

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — The trail led from Tampa to South Africa, then through Japan and back to Florida for the PGA Tour qualifying tournament. But from here on, the road seems clear for Woody Austin.

The bespectacled Austin, who has gone from part-time teller at a credit union to PGA Tour regular in less than a year, parred the second hole of a playoff with Mike Brisky on Sunday to win the Buick Open.

"I was pretty depressed for awhile," Austin said. "But I have a pretty good family. My mother and father were supportive. I have three older sisters. They pushed me when I was young. No one ever let me get too far down."

Austin didn't come out of college with a hotshot reputation like Phil Mickelson or that Tiger Woods will. Instead of going right onto the PGA Tour, he instead went to work as a teller at the GTE Federal Credit Union back home in Tampa.

"They were really good to me," Austin said. "They believed in me. I didn't have any money nor any sponsors. But my boss was good about letting me off to go play."

So he became one of the globe-trotting army of golf hopefuls playing mini-tours all over the world. Last year, he finished 24th on the Nike Tour. That's the farm system for the PGA Tour.

Line worries continue, but receivers impress

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, looking for wide receiver help, may have found some in Saturday night's 27-14 loss to the Oakland Raiders.

Rookie Eric Bjornson caught five passes for 57 yards playing at both tight end and wide receiver.

Bjornson, who can run the 40 in 4.5 seconds, said "the beauty of our offense is I can play tight end but still can be used like a wideout. Catching the ball for me is second nature no matter where I play."

The 6-foot-4 Bjornson was a quarterback and wide receiver for Washington.

"I'm not used to lining up and blocking the big boys at tight end and that will take some adjustment," said the 235-pound Bjornson, who also is being used on the special teams.

"It looks like I'm going to be busy," said the fourth-round draft pick.

"Bjornson is a player," Dallas coach Barry Switzer said. "We'll be using him a lot this year. He fits into our offense nicely."

Kevin Williams, who is expected to take over the wide receiver spot vacated by free agent Alvin Harper, caught four passes for 58 yards.

"I thought Kevin had one of his best games," Switzer said. "He's going to do the job for us."

Cory Fleming, who will be used as a third receiver, caught three passes for 41 yards.

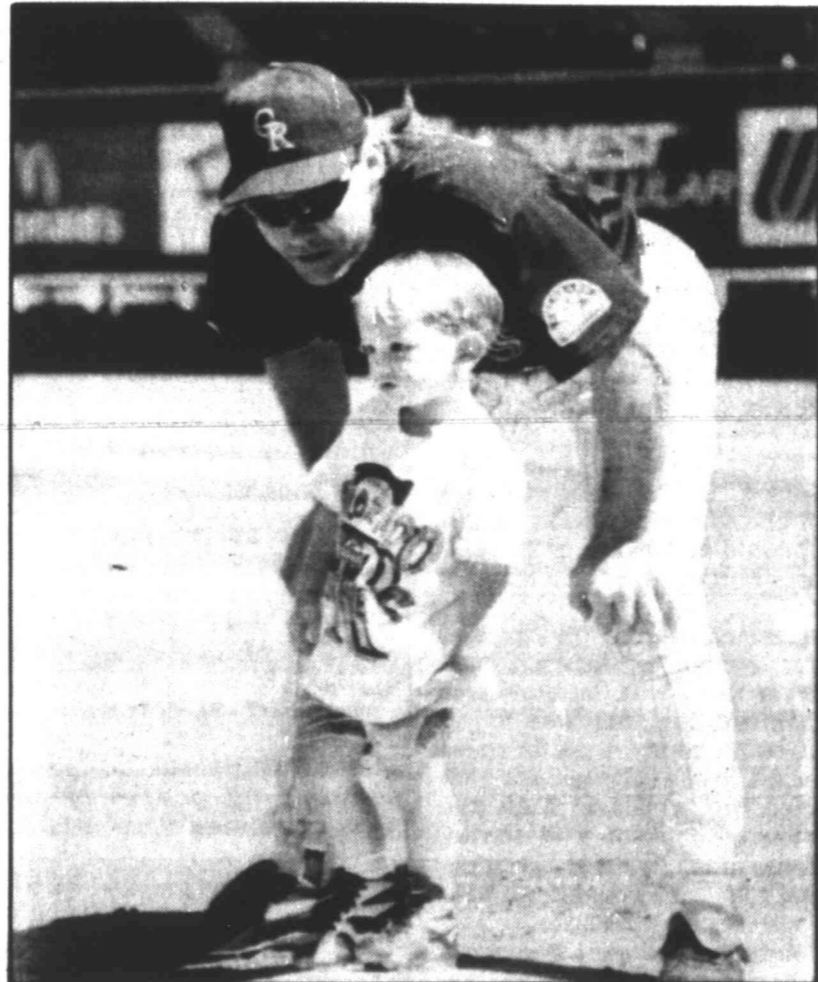

"Cory keeps showing flashes," Switzer said. "He dropped one ball. He has to be more consistent."

Fleming agreed.

"Any time a receiver touches a ball he's supposed to catch it," Fleming said. "It's still the preseason. I'll get better."

Fifth-round pick Ed Hervey caught two passes for 25 yards and averaged 25 yards on five kickoff returns.

Arizona youngsters take top honors at 58th Derby

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron may be the birthplace of the All-American Soap Box Derby, but two of this year's three champions call Kingman, Ariz., home.

The 58th running of the derby was held Saturday in a steady rain at Derby Downs. Jonathon Fensterbush, 12, of Kingman won the Masters Division in a time of 28.69 seconds to become the first national champion from his state.

Darcie Davison, 13, also of Kingman, won the Super Stock Division in 28.90. Karen Thomas, 11, of Jamestown, N.Y., won the Stock Division in 29.18.

The top nine finishers in each division received prizes. The top three in each division received college scholarships, topped by a $5,000 grant that went to Fensterbush as the Masters Division champ.

Fensterbush edged second-place finisher Jackie Ginter of Omaha, Neb., and third-place Adam Offenbacher of Lima, Ohio.

"Wow, what a trophy. It's almost as big as I am," said the 4-foot-6 champion. "This is like a dream come true."

"This is the greatest thing I've ever felt," said a tearful Davison, making her third consecutive derby appearance. She said her ambition is to become a driver on the NASCAR stock car circuit.

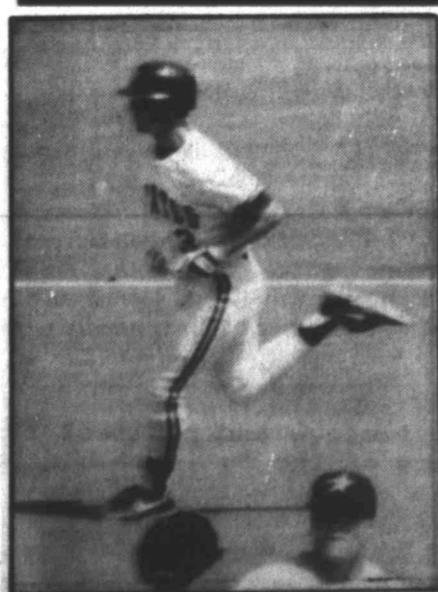

Davison edged second-place finisher Holly Kirkpatrick of Salem, Ore., and third-place Julian Simpson of San Diego in a photo finish for the Super Stock title.

"Darcie has improved on her concentration," said her father, Jim Davison. "I think her experience helped. She's been doing a lot of rally racing back home. The whole family is here and we're all really happy."

Thomas is a New York state gymnastics champion who said she enjoys playing soccer in the summer, in addition to racing. She won an all-girls final heat by edging runner-up Megan Densford of Denver and third-place Katie Maines of Anderson, Ind.

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers owner Bud Adams says he's not threatening to take his NFL team out of town if he doesn't get a new stadium, but he's not saying he'll stay in Houston either.

And he says wherever the Oilers are playing once their lease with the Houston Astrodome expires at the end of 1997, it won't be there.

Adams late Saturday night distributed a prepared statement about the stadium controversy after his Oilers dropped their preseason opener 16-13 to the Arizona Cardinals at the Astrodome. The crowd was announced at 42,424, about two-thirds of capacity.

"I don't intend to negotiate in the newspaper now or any time in the future and I won't make threats," Adams said.

Tyson deserves our scorn more than anything else

Despite the fact everyone is focusing on football season I feel compelled to talk about one of my more colorful subjects - Mike Tyson.

I hadn't planned to, but I seem to be bombarded by friends and fans of Tyson who believe, despite overwhelming evidence, he's innocent and was the victim of a set-up.

Sounds familiar, doesn't it? In reading a letter one sports fan wrote to Sports Illustrated,

I have to say this country is going straight to the dogs.

This man stated, "Of course we should root for Mike Tyson. His achievements in the ring have made him a legend and an inspiration to many. Nothing should change that."

The only thing Mike Tyson inspires me to do is puke. I've said it once and I'll say it again: Tyson is a meal ticket for too many people, and will remain so until morals and values can somehow rise up and mean a little more than the almighty dollar.

The man jumped right back into the same bed full of scum and bloodsuckers who helped influence his life.

Sure, Tyson has earned millions of dollars in the ring, but does that make him a hero for all time?

To the people who cheer Tyson, thank goodness it wasn't them lying flat on their back with a monster like Tyson having his way with them.

The man has in no way attempted to express remorse for what he did, nor has he asked forgiveness of Desiree Washington.

The thug could at least offer to pay for the bills she piled up fighting him in court, not to mention the possibility she could have contracted something from him.

Tyson is just another example of how athletes and other famous people are glorified when they violate the law (or another human being) and then have the audacity to solicit sympathy from the general public.

Not here! Not now! Not ever!

"We've got to have the youngest pitching staff in the history of baseball," Leyland said.

Some days, that young pitching is enough to make Leyland wish he still managed the Pirates' 1990-92 division champions. Other days, like Sunday, Leyland much prefers to think not of the past, but of the future.

Esteban Loaiza, pitching again like he did when he won four straight starts a month ago, shook off a recent run of bad outings to pitch eight effective innings in the Pirates' 6-3 victory Sunday over Houston.

The Astros' second loss in 18 hours to a Pirates' rookie - John Ericks beat them 3-1 Saturday - dropped their 6-1 games behind NL Central-leading Cincinnati. The Reds swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia.

The Astros outscored the Pirates 42-22 while winning their first five games in Pittsburgh this season, only to lose the final two as Loaiza and Ericks limited them to four runs and 12 hits over 18 innings.

"You can say what you want about the Pittsburgh Pirates, but you look up and they're playing everybody tough," Astros manager Terry Collins said. "They've got good, young pitching and they're getting better."

Some days, better. Some days, worse.

Until this weekend, the Pirates' mostly rookie rotation of Loaiza, Ericks, Steve Parris, Paul Wagner and 10-game winner Denny Neagle hadn't won in 15 starts since July 22.

Then, following a dreadful stretch of 13 losses in 15 games that included the frightful Dave Clark-Jacob Brumfield outfield collision, Leyland was reminded again why he has only rarely become discouraged.

"We've had our share of struggles," Leyland said. "But we've got some pluses. We've got something to work with. I still like (Jon) Lieber (now at Calgary); he's had an atrocious season, but he had a good start the other night. We've got Rick White down there, too. We're starting to stockpile some good, young arms, and that's good ... if we can get an owner with pockets deep enough to sign some guys, maybe we'll have something to make a deal."

No. 15 and a straight-ahead 8-footer on No. 16 to remain tied with Colbert.

After his birdie putt on 17 gave Murphy the lead, Colbert, the defending champion and leading money winner on the Seniors Tour, pushed a 20-foot birdie putt on 18 just inches to the right of the cup.

"It wasn't the best putt I hit all year," he said.

Murphy, playing in the final group right behind Colbert, calmly parred the final hole, much to the disappointment of most of the pro-Colbert crowd.

A Kansas City native who played football at Kansas State, Colbert was trailed all week by family members ranging from his father to his grandchildren.

30," she said.

With her birthday Aug. 17, she made it by 11 days Sunday.

Starting the day with a share of the lead, Mochrie matched the Sunday's low round of 68 to finish at 204 and a three-stroke victory in the McCall's Classic. The $75,000 first prize pushed her eight-year career earnings to $3,023,600, making her the youngest golfer to reach that plateau.

She also moved from fifth to second in earnings this year with $448,884.

Kelly Robbins, who gave Mochrie her stiffest challenge and also finished with a 68 for 207, won $46,546 to take the money lead with $469,260 over idle Laura Davies.

The victory "seemed like a major to me" because Mochrie was playing in front of her mother and father from nearby Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

"My mother cries like me," Mochrie said after the two embraced on the green following her last birdie. "My father did smoke a lot of cigarettes. I don't think he handled it well."

Mochrie started the day tied with Pat Bradley at 8-under in the $500,000 tournament that was shortened to 54 holes when fog wiped out Thursday's play.

Bradley fell back on the front nine, but Robbins, starting the day three strokes behind and playing several holes ahead of the leaders, fired four birdies on the front nine to pull even with Mochrie at 9-under.
