Superintendent search nears end

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Staff Writer

The hunt for a new Big Spring State Hospital superintendent is in its final stages.

A selection committee of five people met last week and interviewed several candidates from across the country to succeed Robert von Rosenberg, who retired last month.

The committee consisted of a cross-section of mental health officials, including Sam Wilson from the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (TXMHMR) in Austin; Robert Arizpe, superintendent of San Antonio State Hospital; Jackie Shannon, representing the Texas Alliance for the Mentally Ill; and local community representatives Don Newsom and Bill Crooker.

Big Spring State Hospital Community Relations Director Kathy Higgins said the committee's recommendation has been sent to the TXMHMR Commissioner Don Gilbert in Austin. but a decision will take at least

On Aug. 30, TXMHMR named Ray Tatum of Big Spring as acting superintendent of the hospital effective Sept. 1.

Tatum directs the state hospital's quality oversight department and has been with the hospital for more than 28 years.

In his various positions with the state hospital, Tatum has been responsible for the quality assurance program and coordinator of Medicare as well as activities related to meeting standards of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

Tatum said, "I'm honored to be asked to step into this position. I already know I'll be working with an excellent facility with quality staff. They're simply the TXMHMR Director of State Operations Jaylon Fincannon said, "I'm pleased to name Ray Tatum to this interim position. His quality oversight functions includes working relationships with every part of the campus, so I know he'll continue the standard of care and consumer involvement that is the hallmark of Big Spring."

Fincannon added a permanent superintendent should be named by Oct. 1.

Higgins added Tatum is only acting superintendent at the state hospital and did not submit his name to be considered permanently for the position.

City fees, bills now payable by credit card

City fees and bills can now be paid by credit card at five loca-

Utility bills, greens fees and a variety of other fees and payments can now be made with Visa, Mastercard, American Express and Discover credit cards.

Cards can be used at the Municipal Golf Course, Municipal Court, Moss Creek Lake, at City Hall in the finance department and at the utility building

"These places will cover most of the fees and payments that people have to make to the city," said City Finance Director Tom

Although limited at the time, the city began accepting credit cards as a method of payment

The idea of using credit cards was first suggested in May by City Councilmen Tom Guess

The council was searching for a way to collect overdue paving liens, some of which were large.

IT FLOATS, IT FLIES

The council approved a paving lien amnesty program in April, allowing people to establish payment plans.

Under the amnesty program, all liens must be paid within 30 days of receiving a letter from the city.

Ferguson requested the council allow people to set up a payment plan without interest and have up to two years to pay off

The council approved Ferguson's request and several letters were sent to property owners in Anderson agreed with the idea of the amnesty program, saying the city would collect far more of the outstanding liens by allowing payment plans than if it didn't.

Ferguson said the use of credit cards has not had a great effect on collecting paving liens, but the payment plan has allowed people to catch up and pay them off.

He added people have been in to pay utilities and utility deposits with credit cards and pay delinquent accounts.

TCA General Manager Archie Kountz has announced the council meetings will be shown at 9 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. If a meeting lasts past 9 p.m., it will be shown approximately 30 minutes after it adjourns.

The first meeting was broadcast on Aug. 22.

Kountz said employees of the cable company have been taping the meetings since last November to get the kinks out and to establish a routine.

Right now, the Weather Channel is being preempted to show the meeting. Koontz said consideration is being given to airing it on Channel 4 in the future.

He added within the next five years, the cable system in Big Spring will be rebuilt with fiber optics, providing better quality pictures, more channels and other technological options for consumers.

Kountz said he wants to maintain the high level of customer service residents have become accustomed to.

"We want to present a quality product to our consumers," he said. "Our customers' satisfaction is a high priority for the cable company and me."

Pay for college without feeling pain in the wallet

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Staff Writer

Now that school's in session, parents are learning, too - about how to pay for college in the face of rising costs.

With many high school seniors embarking on their final year of homework. advanced placement courses and SATs, many parents face the prospect of tuition bills averaging $18,784 for private colleges and $8,990 for public universities.

To make up what sometimes amounts to huge differences, parents borrow. For the class of 1994, average indebtedness was Lydia M. Marshall, executive vice president of Sallie Mae, the nation's largest holder and servicer of student loans, said, "More and more families are turning to education loans. Ten years ago, total student borrowing was $9 billion.

"In 1994, that figure approached $25 billion. With that kind of money involved, it pays for families to learn all they can about financing higher education."

Booklets such as "Paying for College," a free guide published by Sallie Mae, provides tips on coping with tuition and other college expenses.

The book includes information on several sources of financial aid, including the Federal Stafford Loans, the Federal PLUS (Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students) Loans, and the Federal Perkins Loans.

The Stafford loan, the most opular federal loan, is a low interest loan made to undergraduate and graduate students attending accredited colleges and universities at least halftime. Stafford loans are available to any student who is a U.S. citizen or permanent resident.

The interest rate varies on a Stafford Loan with a repayment period of up to 10 years.

The PLUS Loan is exactly what the acronym says - a loan taken out by parents to pay for their child's undergraduate education.

Unlike Stafford loans, PLUS loans can cover the entire cost of a student's college education, less other financial aid received. Interest rate also vary and have a repayment period of up to 10 years.

The Perkins loan is a lowinterest loan for students, administered by the student's college. Perkins loans are needbased, with priority offered to federal Pell Grant recipients.

For undergraduate students, the maximum loan amount for a Perkins loan is $3,000 per year; $5,000 per year for graduate students. The repayment period is also up to 10 years.

"Paying for College" also includes a step-by-step guide on applying for financial aid, charts for estimating future college costs and monthly payments and information on comparing different lenders participating in the federal loan pro-

Uncertainty surrounds farm bill

By ROBERT GREENE AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm programs might undergo little change after all, despite innovative proposals and a new Congress.

High crop prices, presidential politics, regional disagreements and a possible veto of the Republicans' budget-balancing legislation have complicated the issue. Even though a Sept. 22 deadline looms for finding $13.4 billion in cuts, there's no clear sense how.

The Clinton administration doesn't want to cut farm payments more than $4.5 billion, saying Republicans can do away with tax cuts instead of cutting farm programs more. Most farm state Republicans have little appetite for cuts. The debate could test the resolve of the Republican leadership and the new members to change government-as-usual while weighing the importance of farm votes, especially in the South, in 1996.

The only Republican bill in the Senate Agriculture Committee, offered by Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., and supported by David Pryor, D-Ark., cuts less than $6 billion from the basic support programs for corn, other feed grains, cotton, rice and wheat. It makes minor changes in farm programs, but gives farmers more flexibility to plant what they want.

Chairman Dick Lugar, R-Ind., a presidential hopeful, has found practically no support in the committee for his early proposal to cut spending $11.5 billion by dropping the target price used to determine crop subsidies.

The House Agriculture Committee, chaired by Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., is scheduled to meet Sept. 19 to find $13.4 billion in cuts.

The session will test Roberts' innovative "Freedom to Farm" legislation, which decouples farm payments from crop prices or production.

Growers instead get a fixed but gradually reduced payment based on what they received from 1990-1995. Growers can predict their payments, while the government stops telling growers what to plant or how much land to idle.

'It's a nice, clean option, and if you're sick of arguing about farm programs, you might not ever do better than that," said John M. Schnittker, agricultural analyst for The WEFA Group of economic consultants in Bala Cynwyd, Pa.

Trouble is, not everyone in agriculture likes the proposal, because it could fall harder on some regions and commodities than others. Cotton and rice growers are particularly worried, because they traditionally get a higher share of their income from government pay-

Right now, though, crop prices have been moving up, meaning government payments are going down automatically under current programs, taking the urgency out of the debate.

"The increase in prices just everything upside turned down," Schnittker said.

Senate Democrats, including Minority Leader Tom Daschle of South Dakota, have offered a proposal using crop loans to support prices. House Democrats, led by Reps. Kika de la Garza and Charles Stenholm of Texas, were writing a proposal that would finance cuts by increasing the number of acres exempt from farm payments. That's how cuts were made in Cochran proposal The achieves its cuts the same way, by increasing the unpaid acres from 15 percent to 25 percent.

Assuming President Clinton vetoes the budget-balancing bill, negotiators have a range of cuts from $4.5 billion to $13.4 billion to haggle over.

Dole brings campaign to Dallas

DALLAS (AP) - GOP presidential candidate Bob Dole refused to go on the offensive Sunday while visiting the home state of his chief rival, despite what Dole called Sen. Phil Gramm's recent "needling."

"All of us in this race are friends. And I believe Ronald Reagan when he invoked the 11th commandment that we shouldn't speak ill about each other. We ought to be out here beating President Clinton. That's what it's all about," Dole said.

Nonetheless, Dole still responded to recent criticism from Gramm, who charged that the Kansas senator is moving toward a more conservative agenda following his defeat in the Iowa poll.

"I'm a nationwide candidate, I'm not counting on two or three states. We're very strong in Iowa, notwithstanding the straw poll. It's mostly straw," Dole Gramm also challenged Dole on Friday during the Christian Coalition's annual convention in Washington to sign a pro-life pledge. Dole declined.

Moon case similar to others in Missouri City

MISSOURI CITY (AP) - Warren Moon's good-guy image and his friendship with police didn't count for much when officers rushed to his Lake Olympia mansion after a frantic 911 call from the football player's 7-yearold son in July.

Moon, accused of hitting and choking his wife, Felicia, became just another suspect in an ever-increasing number of domestic violence cases in this 43,000-resident community near Houston, police say.

"It's not whether he's a friend of ours or has been a friend to law enforcement in the past," Lt. Pat Worrell said.

"None of that matters. We're doing our job. We've got to do what we think is right.'

Just three weeks before Moon gave Missouri City police his fingerprints, he gave them an autographed football.

Along with a basketball autographed by Hakeem Olajuwon, the football helped bring the Missouri City Police Officers Association about $700 in a July

Church charity ruling expected

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Charities and religious groups are bracing for a court ruling later this month that could prevent them from using a popular investment from donors.

The impact of a class-action lawsuit in Wichita Falls could be national in scope, officials said.

The ruling by U.S. District Judge Joe Kendall, now set for Sept. 29, will decide whether to expand the current lawsuit by the heirs of a 90-year-old woman who had set up a charitable annuity with the Lutheran Foundation.

Expanding the class action would be catastrophic, said Tal Roberts, chairman of the American Council on Gift Annuities.

"Charities all over America would be targets simply because they have issued or managed gift annuities," he said.

Inmate: Youths steal weapons from gun shows

TEXAS

DALLAS (AP) - It's like a candy store for criminals: thousands of weapons on display, within easy reach, with swarms of potential buyers jamming

The problem: gun shows are well-guarded.

But that hasn't stopped youthful thieves from grabbing everything from rifles and shotguns to sophisticated handguns and ammunition to sell on the black market — or to use.

A convicted murderer says he fired what he called warning shots at a taunting gang member with a semiautomatic pistol he had stolen only days earlier from a gun show at suburban Mesquite.

Telford Anson, 21, was hit five times and died at the convenience store where the argument had begun.

Police who patrol two prime show areas say they are unaware of any particular problem with thefts. And area gun show promoters contend the theft problem is minor because of the amount of security there.

But Angel Galindo told The Dallas Morning News that he and his friends stole two 9 mm Glocks last September.

A Dallas County jury in March found Galindo, 18, guilty of murder and sentenced him to life in prison. He will be eligible for parole in 30 years.

Galindo said his group wandered from booth to booth at the gun show checking out the firearms and ammunition for sale.

When a dealer became busy with customers on one side of the booth, the youths would "tamper with the electrical" on the other side, he said, by disarming wires strung through the guns' trigger guards that could set off an alarm.

After a gun was free of its alarm device, "I just walked out with it like it was my own," said Galindo.

He said none of the vendors at the show seemed to care whether he was old enough to buy a gun.

"They never carded us, never asked us if we were 18 or 21," he said in a recent interview at the Middleton prison unit in Abilene. "They showed us all the guns and let us play with them, like it was nothing.'

The site, Big Town Exhibit Hall, had another gun show Saturday and Sunday. But Mesquite Police Chief Travis Hass said he was not aware of unusual problems at shows.

A Mesquite Police Department offense report shows 19 incidents involving guns stolen from Big Town shows between January 1994 and July 1995 about one a month. Stolen items included rifles and a number of semiautomatic handguns.

"Nineteen incidents is more than I realized," said Hass. "That surprises me. But I haven't had a complaint from the dealers or the hall owners about theft or protection."

into history — slowly. seven-year-old, Amtrak's thrice-weekly passenger train from Houston to Dallas made its final run Sunday, at a very leisurely pace.

Scheduled as a six-hour 10minute run, the farewell trip took about nine hours as signal problems and freight traffic on the Southern Pacific rail caused unscheduled delays.

"People ride it once and they get aggravated, and they don't ride again," said conductor Ed

As part of a attempt to stem its losses, Amtrak is cutting 24 percent of its national schedule this year, including the Houston-to-Dallas run that made stops in College Station and Corsicana. The national cutback also will result in the loss of 5,550 jobs.

The Eagle's demise has saddened some train enthusiasts and left Amtrak's east-west Sunset Limited as the only passen-for a prowler, a police officer has been shot by a nervous homeowner.

Officer Rocco Evangelista, 28, was in good condition Sunday at Ben Taub Hospital with a bullet wound in his right shoulder.

The shooting followed a 64year-old woman's call to police to check for a possible prowler at her southeastern Houston home early Saturday.

No charges have been filed against the woman pending an investigation.

Police said the woman was alone when she heard a knock at her door about 12:30 a.m. But no one answered when she asked for an identity. When she looked out a window, she saw a car leaving.

The woman told investigators she heard someone walking outside her home shortly after 2 a.m. She made a noise and HOUSTON (AP) - Mistaken heard the person run away, then called police.

When officers arrived, they checked the grounds around the home but did not find anyone. They did not talk to the woman and left after their search, believing she only wanted them to check around the house.

About 20 minutes later, the woman again called police because she did not know the officers had been there. A few minutes later, Evangelista and another officer arrived at the home.

When Evangelista knocked at the front door, the woman fired one shot from a .38-caliber pistol through the door, believing the prowler had returned.

The woman did not know police were outside here her home until an officer telephoned her and told her to come outside. She was briefly taken into custody.

Distracted Pokes find a win over Broncos with the Dallas Cowboys last week seemed based on everything but a football game.

There was the Nike contract. The Deion Sanders negotiations. Contract restructuring to help pay Deion. Ego-smoothing meetings to make sure Deion would be welcome. Finally, a news conference to announce Sanders' signing.

And Sunday, the Denver Broncos came to town insisting they had a game scheduled. So Dallas sloshed through a creaky first half, shook off the distractions and hit a third-quarter groove that fueled a 31-21 victory.

Most Cowboys didn't completely agree with that scenario. They said a better explanation for their shaky first two quarters was the short week of practice caused by playing Monday

At least, that's what everyone but Michael Irvin said. The receiver/Sanders spokesman freely admitted not every ounce of energy this past week was devoted to preparing for the Broncos.

'lt was a great win because all week, all the talk was Deion, Deion, Deion," Irvin said. "That's not an excuse, but we weren't sharp.'

> Emmitt Smith was among those pulled aside by Jones to make sure his pride wouldn't be wounded by Sanders getting a contract with a bonus ($13 million) that's almost equal to Smith's entire four-year deal.

> He said he wasn't, was promised that he'd get his money when his time comes, then again upped his asking price by rushing 26 times for 114 yards and a touchdown.

Smith also was the all-everything player Sanders is supposed to be. He threw several great blocks and caught a few big passes, including one play where he knocked down a blitzing linebacker, got up and caught a 14-yard pass.

Aikman, who was pulled off the practice field this week to funnel about $2 million out of his contract and into the pool for Sanders, started slowly before earning his megabucks.

Aikman completed 18 of 31 passes for 196 yards and two touchdowns, and he had a 2yard touchdown run that ended with him landing on his head in

Steelers make win over Houston only look easy

HOUSTON (AP) — It wasn't out for the season with a knee an easy game for the Pittsburgh Steelers. They just made it look that way.

The Steelers didn't miss a beat with Rod Woodson and Neil O'Donnell sidelined by injuries, as Andre Hastings' early 72-yard punt return for a touchdown ignited the Steelers to a 34-17 victory over the Houston Oilers on Sunday.

"It wasn't an easy game by any stretch of the imagination," Steelers coach Bill Cowher said. 'We were just able to get a big spark early (Hastings), and I think that was the difference."

If anything looked easy, it was Hastings' stroll through the Oiler punt coverage team only 1:11 into the game.

Hastings fielded the ball at his 28 and shot to the left sideline through a hole in the Oilers' pursuit. He had little trouble breaking punter Rich Camarillo's tackle attempt and then outran John Henry Mills and Barron Wortham to the goal line.

"That punt return was just like the first play for the offense," Hastings said. "We wanted to be as productive as possible. I got some key blocks. I didn't want their kicker to tackle me and I made him miss. It was smooth sailing from there."

Cornerback Woodson is likely injury and O'Donnell had to relinquish his quarterback duties to Mike Tomczak because of a broken little finger on his passing hand.

The Steelers didn't need them against the Oilers, whose defense gave them chances to get back into the game and the offense refused to capitalize.

Tomczak hit tight end Mark Bruener with a 15-yard touchdown pass and Norm Johnson kicked a 43-yard field goal for a 17-3 halftime lead and the Steelers took a 24-3 lead with 11:54 elapsed in the third quarter on a 22-yard run by Fred McAfee.

The Oilers got a 43-yard field goal from Al Del Greco in the first quarter and they struck in the third quarter on a 1-yard run by Chris Chandler, who faked a handoff and rolled left untouched into the end zone with 10:53 elapsed.

But the Steelers defense, which made its share of mistakes, wasn't about to let the Oilers off the hook.

The Steelers intercepted Chandler twice, including a 32yard touchdown return by Carnell Lake, and recorded four quarterback sacks for 38 yards in losses.

Women's conference strikes accords on abortion, sexuality

BEIJING (AP) — The head of a U.N. women's conference today predicted success for the gathering after negotiators struck accords on women's sexual freedom and abortion.

The ground-breaking agreements, if approved by the full conference, would recognize for the first time that women have the right to control their own sexuality without coercion and would ask governments to review laws punishing women who have abortions. It does not seek any legalization of abor-

The 49ers, whom the Cowboys outbid for Sanders, demonstrated they could get along without the defensive back-outfielder, beating his former Atlanta team 41-10. Dallas put the distractions of the Deion Derby behind it, looking to Troy Aikman and Emmitt Smith to dismantle Denver 31-21.

"It takes a team effort to get to the Super Bowl," an angry Rice said. "It's an insult what you guys (reporters) did. The whole team was angry. It was an insult to all of the guys who busted their butts last year and in training camp this year."

Strong safety Tim McDonald played the part of Sanders by returning an interception for a touchdown. San Francisco has outscored the Falcons 133-27 in the past three meetings.

The Cowboys, meanwhile, showed how good they are even without Sanders, who Saturday signed a five-year contract worth estimated at $30 million. Aikman accounted for three touchdowns and Smith rushed for over 100 vards and scored a TD. Larry Brown intercepted John Elway and Charles Haley

"All this stuff going on was a total distraction," Dallas coach Barry Switzer said. "But I liked our performance. Troy was steady Troy, like he usually is." Dolphins 20, Patriots 3

At Foxboro, Mass., Irving Fryar caught two TD passes and Miami forced three turnovers in beating New England for the 12th time in 13 games. Fryar caught a 67-yard pass from Dan Marino for a 10-0 lead with 2:40 left in the first quarter. Marino was 14-of-20 for 193 yards and one interception, while Drew Bledsoe was 25-of-51 for 267 yards and two interceptions.

Raiders 20, Redskins 8 At Washington, Jeff Hostetler (22-of-29 for 205 yards and 2 TDs) led Oakland to its second straight win. Hostetler had second-half scoring passes of 1 yard to Andrew Glover and 8 yards to Derrick Fenner. Gus Frerotte, starting for the injured Heath Shuler, was 20-of-34 for 272 yards and one interception. Colts 27, Jets 24, OT

At East Rutherford, N.J., the Jets blew a 21-point lead and Mike Cofer kicked a 52-yard field goal 4:27 into OT to lift Indianapolis. Backup Jim Harbaugh replaced Craig Erickson and rallied the Colts by going 11-of-16 for 123 yards, including a 24-yard hookup with Sean Dawkins on third down in OT. Chargers 14, Seahawks 10

At San Diego, Stan Humphries threw a 15-yard TD pass to Ronnie Harmon with 13:41 left and Natrone Means had 115 yards as the AFC champions barely beat Seattle. Humphries was 23-of-35 for 260 yards, while Tony Martin had a career-best 13 catches for 163 yards. Seattle's Rick Mirer was 13-of-29 for 127 yards. Vikings 20, Lions 10

At Minneapolis, Fuad Reveiz set an NFL record with 30 in a row and Minnesota smothered Barry Sanders (13 carries, 35 yards). Robert Smith led the Vikings with 111 yards and a TD on 20 carries, while Warren Moon hooked up with Qadry Ismail on an 85-yard scoring play with 4:40 left. Bills 31, Panthers 9

es, but still led Buffalo over Carolina and four former teammates, including Frank Reich. Kelly was 4-of-21 for 176 yards and three interceptions, but hit Russell Copeland with a 77-yard scoring pass to start a four-TD third quarter after Carolina had a 9-0 lead. Reich was 6-of-21 for 44 yards and one interception. Chiefs 20, Giants 17, OT

At Kansas City, Mo., Steve Bono rallied Kansas City with a 14-point fourth quarter and Lin Elliott kicked a 23 yard field goal 7:11 into OT. After the Giants took a 17-3 lead, Marcus Allen scored from a yard out and Bono hit Dana Hughes with a 3-yard score with 1:25 left. Bengals 24, Jacksonville 17

At Cincinnati, Jeff Blake threw two TD passes and Cincinnati's perennially weak defense had seven sacks to hold . off the expansion Jaguars to . remain undefeated. Jacksonville cut it to 24-17 midway through the third quarter, but Cincinnati clinched the game on Dan Wilkinson's fourthdown sack at the Bengals' 41 with 11 seconds left.

Rams 17, Saints 13 Jerome Bettis and Leonard Russell combined for 150 rushing yards as the Rams beat New Orleans in the first NFL regular-season game in St. Louis since December 1987. The Rams have won consecutive games for the first time since the fifth and sixth games of the 1991 season. Browns 22, Buccaneers 6

At Cleveland, Vinny Testaverde, facing his former team for the first time in the regular season, threw for 256 yards and two TDs for the Browns, who led 19-0 at halftime. The Browns had seven sacks, while the Bucs' Trent Dilfer was 20-of-36 for 255 yards and two intercep-

Eagles 31, Cardinals 19

At Tempe, Ariz., Rodney Peete replaced Randall Cunningham and directed Philadelphia's West Coast offense with precision and Ricky Watters rebounded from last week's disaster. Peete was 8-of-13 for 145 yards, one touchdown and no interceptions. Arizona starter Dave Krieg joined Cunningham on the bench, replaced by Mike Buck after throwing two interceptions.

"This team is used to having a lot going on around the periphery," Aikman said. "It was pretty extreme this week, but we did a good job of handling it." The ones who have the most to gain by Sanders' arrival did pretty well without him Sun-

Although cornerback Clayton Holmes was only filling in for injured starter Kevin Smith and will lose his job to Sanders, he still had a decent game. So did Larry Brown, who would've given Sanders his spot had Smith not been hurt.

The real star of the defense, though, was Charles Haley. He made Broncos quarterback John Elway miserable all day with hard hits and plenty of trash talking. All that came before Haley sacked Elway twice in the third quarter, causing a fumble on the first.

"I didn't throw the ball well early." Elway said. "Dallas did some different things on defense. They blitzed their linebackers a lot. They are a great pass-rushing team, and they have been for years."

There were a few vintage Elway moments. He drilled Anthony Miller with an 11-yard touchdown pass that kept Denver within 14-7 at halftime and the two connected for a 59yarder that made it 21-14.

But Dallas eventually wore out Elway as Aikman, Smith & Co. pulled away. The Cowboys had its second team on the field when Broncos backup Hugh Millen threw a 3-yard touchdown pass to Miller in the game's final minute.

'When you play a team with the character that Dallas has, it is going to be hard to catch them off-balance," said Denver coach Mike Shanahan, whose team fell to 1-1. "If there were any distractions this week, they did a great job of dealing with them. It didn't show."

The Cowboys are 2-0 and rolling. Sanders might not be ready to join the team until sometime in November, and his arrival will loom larger every week as everyone wonders how good Dallas can be with him on defense, special teams and maybe even offense.

But Aikman is among those who hopes the talk around town will get back to weekly games, such as playing Minnesota next

"Maybe I'm being presumptuous by hoping this is over with," Aikman said. "I don't want to be answering question about Deion and how much he's going to make for the next month."

He'll have to wait at least one more day. Sanders had a news conference planned for today at Texas Stadium, even though he's already told Fox that he needs surgery on his ankle and that he has no plans to quit see that it's good for the game.

One person summed it up very nice by saying, *The NCAA wants choir boys and not foothall players."

Taking the celebration factor away from college players, the same college players who make millions of dollars for their alma mater and don't see one thin dime, destroys the game.

Football fans pay to see exciting action on the football field, and that also includes the end zone. Fans don't want to see a stiff-necked rendition of the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

Imagine taking the slam dunk away from basketball, or the celebrating out of soccer after a goal is scored.

Who is Dooley or anyone else to say what is a choreographed move during a celebration and what isn't?

Football was made for people with the ability, the desire and the talent to play the game, not for a bunch of suits and ties to sit in some conference room and treat it like a game of chess.

In 1955, rock and roll was labeled as blasphemous because it was different and society was set in its ways.

Celebrating an accomplishment is not any different, it's a choice. It's done in a controlled environment and adding stipulations to the unsportsmanlike conduct rule is nothing more than the older generation, once again, exerting its authority on something the younger generation finds attractive.

Not everyone has rhythm, including yours truly, but those who have it should be able to let it all hang out · especially in the name and spirit of celebration.

Anyone who remembers the game should remember what adrenaline does to an excited player it makes you want to jump and scream and shout and, yes, dance.
