SWCID celebrates local, national Deaf Awareness Week

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Mayor Tim Blackshear has proclaimed this week as Deaf Awareness Week in conjunction with the national celebration to educate people about the hearing-impaired.

The local celebration began this morning at SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, featuring Blackshear's proclamation along with skits, exhibits and a tour of the campus.

Dean of Student Services Gene Williams said SWCID has been celebrating Deaf Awareness Week for years and is a part of the National Association of the Deaf's awareness week.

"This is make people aware that deaf people can function as normal as anyone except we can't hear. There are ways around that now with sign language, hearing-ear dogs and the TDD system," said Williams.

He added some people are still under the perception that if a person is deaf, they are also dumb, and that is simply not the case.

Williams continued, "We look the same as others. You wouldn't know we were deaf just walking down the street until we started to use sign language.

"A good example of this is our flag football team is going to Maryland next month and the airline company called and was worried they could not accommodate us."

Deaf people are trained and skilled for the jobs they apply for. The hearing-ear dogs help with answering door bells, telephones and even on trips to the grocery store.

Shannon Creswell, secretary to Williams, added, "This is also a good time to get the community involved because Howard College offers beginning sign language through their continuing education department. We want to encourage people to participate because we have a large deaf community in Big Spring."

She added the students at SWCID enjoy being out at a restaurant or in a store and having the waitresses or sales people use sign language to communicate with them.

On Tuesday, SWCID officials will have a demonstration at Howard College including a television/VCR unit that shows how closed-captioning works, brochures and cookies cut out in the shape of a hand signing "I Love You." The drama club will also perform skits.

Students at Big Spring High School will have a chance to see the drama club on Wednesday. Williams said there will also be displays and brochures available to look at.

Learn more about the hearing-impaired at Wal Mart on Thursday and the Big Spring Mall on Friday. The exhibits will be from 3 to 5 p.m. at each location.

Hangar 25 may return to past glory

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

A vintage World War II bomber could be on its way to Big Spring if restoration efforts at airpark Hangar 25 are successful.

The project will kick off Thursday with a reception at the hangar from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

A grant from the Texas Department of Transportation could make Hangar 25 at Big Spring's McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark a part of aviation history.

Because the state legislature passed an act in 1991 called the ICETEA Act, funds are available for transportation related non-traditional historical type projects.

Air Park Office Manager Nelda Reagan said, "With funds from the state, Hangar 25 could be restored to World War II status."

The idea behind the project is to make good use of some of the empty buildings at the airpark. Reagan said many of the hangars are falling down and the city does not have the funds to repair everything.

Taking advantage of these types of programs is a good solution, she said.

Reagan said everyone is invited to the reception, and a special invitation is extended to all WWII veterans.

The hangar was built in 1941 for the bombardier school, which trained thousands of men for the eventual destruction of Axis forces in the war.

The bombardier school graduated its first group of cadets the vital role by providing a place for the work to get the plane flying again.

Today, Tinkerbell still sports the city of Big Spring logo on either side of the plane.

Reagan added, "We would like to be able to provide for the public a walking museum where residents can bring their kids and share grandkids and share with them a little history of the base. This would also preserve some of our heritage."

In the end, the hangar began to turn out pilots for Allied nations such as Jordan, Israel, China, Thailand and Vietnam as well as the U.S., achieving one of the most distinguished records in the Air Training Command.

Reagan added, "The airpark still holds very sentimental feelings for a number of retired residents in Big Spring. The enthusiasm of the possibility of restoring the hangar is very high. The hangar is in need of repair and we are looking at the possibility of funds from the Enhancement Program from the ICETEA Act in order to keep it from completely being destroyed."

She added there is also a possibility that famed WWII bomber Tinkerbell could be displayed in front of the hangar during the reception.

The Confederate Air Force has said it would like to store Tinkerbell in the hangar.

Bill Thomas, part of the Tinkerbell squadron, said several years ago, when efforts were being made to have Tinkerbell restored, Big Spring played a

The interior of airpark Hangar 25 is run down right now, but that may change soon. Efforts to restore airpark Hangar 25 to World War II status and as a museum will start Thursday at McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark.

After restoration, Hangar 25 may display famous World War II bombers such as the Tinkerbell. The restoration project is intended to make better use of empty buildings in the airpark.

Woman robbed at gunpoint

Howard County sheriff's deputies are investigating an armed robbery that occurred early Saturday morning.

Deputy Tony Chavez said the incident happened around 4:20 a.m. at the rear trailer behind a residence located at 1111 Hilltop Road.

"The female victim had just gotten paid and was flashing money around at Herman's Restaurant. The suspects apparently followed her home and robbed her at gunpoint," Chavez explained.

He added deputies know who the suspects are and expect to question the three men today, but no arrests have been made at this time.

Fall festival means fun, games and all the sausage you can eat

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

ST. LAWRENCE - Mmm, boy, that sounds good!

Homemade smoked sausage - made from locally grown beef and pork, ground, spiced and smoked according to recipes handed down in the family - it's enough to set your mouth watering.

Mark your calendar, make sure it's in your schedule and be sure to save room for dessert - the St. Lawrence Fall Festival is coming Sunday.

Planning for each year's festival starts about the day after the previous one ends, but with less than a week to go, St. Lawrence has become a busy place.

The groceries have been ordered. The paper plates, napkins, tableware, tablecloths and cups are stacking up in the parish hall.

In the kitchen, the bags of beans, crates of cabbage, carrots, onions and peppers are arriving, along with cases of soda, cans of coffee, boxes of tea - and the 5,200 pounds of beef that will go into the sausage and barbecue.

Sausage makers are busy gathering their spices, sharpening their knives, checking their grinders, getting ready for a day of work Saturday.

Sausage making will start about 5:30 a.m., and by day's end 51 hogs and 3,200 pounds of beef will have gone into the 8,700 pounds of sausage planned for this year's festival.

Sunday's activities begin with Mass at 10:30 a.m., and everyone

Sausage making will start about 5:30 a.m., and by day's end 51 hogs and 3,200 pounds of beef will have gone into the 8,700 pounds of sausage planned for this year's festival.

Lunch will be from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m., and it's a bargain - German sausage, barbecue, mashed potatoes, green and pinto beans, and coleslaw followed by homemade cake or pie, all for $6 for adults and $4 for children under 12.

After lunch, take a stroll through the booths for a chance at the football toss, the Coke ring toss, the moon walk, the hidden maze, or the grab bag. You can have your face painted, buy a balloon, or drop into the country kitchen and pick up hand-crafted gifts or homemade baked or canned goods.

Game players can sit in on a bingo game from noon to 4 p.m., and those with an eye for a bargain might want to attend the auction beginning at 2 p.m.

Bales of cotton donated by local farmers, as well as handmade items and merchandise given by area businesses will be on the block.

The St. Theresa Altar Society will sell tickets on a handmade puff quilt, the Knights of Columbus will offer a chance for $500 cash or $500 toward a trip to Las Vegas, and the St. Lawrence Men's Society will sell chances on a deer rifle.

After your busy afternoon, stop in for a snack of sausage sandwich, dessert and tea from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Round the day off with the dance from 7 to 11 p.m., with Country-Western music by Johnny Blaine and the Spur Band, popular artists from Stanton.

Mrs. Sledge died Sunday, Sept. 24, in a Midland hospital.

She was born on May, 1908, in Eastland County, and married John W. Sledge on June 28, 1942, in Roscoe. She had worked in Eastland in the county clerk's office for 10 years. She and her husband had also lived in Roswell, N.M., and Midland before coming to Big Spring in 1964. She was a member of the 14th & Main Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband: John W. Sledge, Big Spring; two sisters: Edith Witten, Midland, and Leona Watson, Weatherford; two nephews and four nieces.

She was preceded in death by her parents, two brothers and one sister.

Arrangements under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

Congressman takes up doctor's case

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas congressman has taken up the cause of a Houston doctor beset by government probes since 1983 because of an unconventional cancer treatment.

U.S. Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, is demanding an investigation into what he claims is malicious prosecution of Dr. Stanislaw Burzynski by federal prosecutors and the Food and Drug Administration.

For the past 12 years, Burzynski has been subject to a string of attempts by federal and state health officials to stop him from treating advanced cancer patients with an antineoplastin drug.

Burzynski and some of his patients claim the anti-tumor drug, first derived from human urine but now synthetically produced, has proven effective, but the FDA says a clinical trial is needed.

The doctor's southwest Houston office has been raided several times, with federal agents seizing drugs and records. The most recent raid was in March, hours after the doctor appeared on a national television show.

Several federal grand juries have refused to indict Burzynski since 1985. He voluntarily testified before another panel in April, and that probe continues.

In a Sept. 7 letter to U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno, Barton asked the Justice Department for "a full investigation of very disturbing charges" against the U.S. Attorney's office in Houston.

"It indicates to me there's some sort of vendetta against Dr. Burzynski," Barton said, citing the repeated grand jury investigations.

"It is extraordinarily rare for a grand jury to fail to indict at the request of the U.S. Attorney," Barton wrote. "As far as I know, a grand jury failing to indict some three to four times on essentially the same base of facts is virtually unprecedented."

"It would appear that the FDA and the Justice Department are abusing the grand jury process to harass and punish Dr. Burzynski for persuading a federal judge that he is not violating the law by practicing medicine in the state of Texas." Barton said his call for an inquiry was prompted by hearings this summer on the FDA conducted by his subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations. The doctor's case was brought before the panel to illustrate an alleged pattern of overzealous enforcement.

Barton gave Reno until the close of business Thursday to respond to his request but received no response. A spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's office in Houston refused comment on Burzynski.

The congressman has written a similar letter to U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala, whose department oversees the FDA.

Wife of Alzheimer's patient must also care for herself

DEAR ABBY: In 1980, at the age of 50, my husband, Gary, was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease. Initially I cared for him alone. Then, in order to make ends meet, I took a job as a waitress. Gary's parents, both in their 80s at the time, stepped in to help with his care because Gary tended to wander, no longer wanted to bathe or change his clothes, and had become incontinent.

Caring for someone with Alzheimer's is lonely and difficult. I've watched Gary deteriorate over the last 14 years. My responsibilities have increased and our roles have completely reversed. I've become the breadwinner and must make all the decisions now. Our friends have deserted us.

These changes took such a toll on me that I became very depressed. In 1992 my doctor told me the stress of caregiving had elevated my blood pressure, which aggravated my arthritis. The pain eventually became so severe I was forced to quit my job, which made me even more depressed.

I then became involved with the local chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. I had formerly resisted joining the support group because I thought it would mean sitting around with a bunch of crybabies. How wrong I was! The members were caregivers, too; they knew firsthand exactly what I was going through. We help each other. They're like family. I can phone one of them at any hour if Gary's illness becomes too much for me to bear.

Caregivers for people with Alzheimer's must give themselves permission to reach out for help. The Alzheimer's Association offers support groups, education sessions, free literature and a helpline.

Thanks, Abby, for the opportunity to tell my story. I hope other caregivers who see this letter will make use of the resources available in their communities. — ERMA ZIMMERMAN, SIOUX CITY, IOWA

DEAR MRS. ZIMMERMAN: So do I. An estimated 70 percent of the 4 million Americans with Alzheimer's are cared for at home. Since nearly 80 percent of the caregivers report high levels of stress-induced psychological and physical ailments, family support is crucial in Alzheimer's care to reduce stress and help families maintain a high level of patient care. This keeps families together longer, delaying costly placement in nursing homes.

Too many caregivers have no support. They MUST attend to their own needs in order to care for their loved ones.

The Alzheimer's Association has a network of more than 200 chapters in 50 states providing programs and services to assist families. People can call their local chapter for referral to these programs and services in their communities, or the national toll-free number is (800) 272-3900.

The 1995 Alzheimer's Association Memory Walk is the only national fund-raiser for Alzheimer's disease. It will be held Oct. 7 and 8. To register or to learn more about the Memory Walk, contact your local chapter. Those who can't walk may participate by sponsoring someone who is walking, or by making a small donation.

One ticket claims
Lotto jackpot

AUSTIN (AP) — One ticket bought in Weatherford correctly matched all six numbers drawn Saturday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said. The jackpot was worth $35 million.

The numbers drawn from a field of 50 were: 13, 14, 19, 24, 28, and 48.

There were 214 tickets sold with five of the six numbers, with each ticket worth $1,917. There were 13,158 tickets with four of six numbers, with each winning $112. And there were 266,709 tickets sold with three of six numbers, with each worth an automatic $3.

Lottery officials estimate the jackpot for Wednesday night's game will be $4 million.

Implant maker accused of 'illegal extremes'

HOUSTON (AP) — A breast implant manufacturer has been accused in a lawsuit of using a former prostitute to gather personal information from a husband whose wife is a plaintiff in legal action against the implant maker.

The lawsuit filed last week accuses attorneys for Baxter Healthcare Inc. of using a private investigator and a former prostitute to pry into the personal lives of at least eight implant recipients who are now suing Baxter.

The eight are among 11 plaintiffs awaiting trial in Houston in November on their lawsuits alleging that Baxter implants seriously impaired their health.

In documents filed with the lawsuit attorney Richard Mithoff accused the company's attorneys of going to improper and illegal extremes to try to cast doubts on the illnesses alleged in the lawsuits.

Defense investigators have resorted to surveillance photographs and videotapes of the women, their spouses and minor children, according to the lawsuit.

Cocaine prices rise in some parts of Texas

FORT WORTH (AP) — Price-gouging and successful drug interdiction programs have caused the wholesale price of cocaine to skyrocket here and in other cities, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today.

The newspaper surveyed 10 cities across the country to get an approximation of prices for the illegal drug. The same $14,000 kilogram in Los Angeles could run $35,000 in Chicago.

In Fort Worth, prices have risen about 10 percent recently to nearly $24,000 "if you can find it," said Lt. Mark Krey, a member of the Fort Worth police special operations division.

He attributes the hike in Tarrant County prices to a summer raid in the Diamond Hill area that netted 500 pounds of cocaine.

"We hear the problem is unavailability," Krey said.

Deaths of racing official, family still controversial

HOUSTON (AP) — Recently opened files in the 1990 shooting deaths of a Texas Racing Commission financial officer and his family are stirring new interest in the case, according to a Houston Chronicle report.

The records, concerning the deaths of David Joost, his wife and two children, reveal several problems with the way state investigators looked into the now-closed case, the newspaper reported Sunday.

The bodies of four Joost family members were found in their Buda home near Austin just as David Joost, chief financial officer for the racing commission, was preparing to confront the panel with possible corruption.

The Texas Rangers believe Joost killed his family before turning the gun on himself. But relatives and some officials have questioned the competence of investigators, and some even hint at the possibility of a cover-up.

"There is evidence in the record that the investigation of the Joosts' deaths may have been botched from the beginning," said Cathleen Parsley, the Austin administrative law judge who heard testimony relating to Joosts' life insurance policy.

Midland, Odessa together attract development

ODESSA (AP) — Odessa and Midland traditionally have mixed like oil and water.

But nowadays, putting them together has yielded a delightful result.

With the help of the Census Bureau, Midland and Odessa was designated as a single Metropolitan Statistical Area in January 1994.

Combining their populations made them the largest metropolitan area in West Texas and the 12th largest in the state.

Retailers, especially expansion-conscious national chains, noticed.

"When we got the MSA, then (suddenly) all the numbers fit," Odessa Mayor Lorraine Perryman said. "You've got people with little computers that never actually come and visit these areas. They do purchasing (and) site location of these kinds of chains from a desk."

Before becoming a single MSA, neither Odessa nor Midland appealed to developers of retail establishments because each fell below the population criteria used by corporate officials seeking new locations.

Figures from 1994 show the combined population of Ector and Midland counties to be more than 234,000.

In the past two years, more than 60 new retail stores and restaurants have opened, although the development has tilted toward Midland.

"The important thing for everyone to remember is that it's happening," Perryman said. "People need to look at it positively. I do not like it when people criticize development in Midland because our whole region is enriched by that retail growth."

Although the MSA designation includes both cities, corporate officials are focusing on Midland because its residents have more money to spend, experts said.

The State Comptroller's Office lists Ector County's average household income as $33,454 annually, while the average income in Midland County is more than $47,400 annually.

But those in the know say

Odessa's time will come.

"I believe the businesses that are locating in Midland now will eventually locate here, no question," said Marwan Khoury, director of planning and development for the city of Odessa. "Sooner or later, this is going to happen to Odessa."

Midland Mayor Bobby Burns said the MSA designation certainly helped, but Midland landowners and city officials also deserve recognition for the growth.

Land became available at low cost at the same time Loop 250 was developing around the northwest of Midland, and city council members were willing to rezone that land for retail development, Burns said.

Bob Boothe is director of economic development administration for the University of Texas at the Permian Basin's Center for Economic Development.

Boothe said requests have doubled from companies seeking information about Odessa or Midland, including population data, spending habits, available labor force, business patterns, range of education and housing characteristics.

Despite the MSA designation, officials from both cities say they still have work to do.

"We've got a couple strikes against us being way out here in the boondocks," Boothe said. "You have to have a reason to go to a place like Odessa and Midland."

Long-delayed bridge ready for traffic

BAYTOWN (AP) — Three years late and $95 million in the making, eight lanes of traffic-free relief have finally arrived for long-frustrated commuters in this town along the Houston Ship Channel.

The Fred Hartman Bridge — two miles of concrete and steel constituting the largest cable-span bridge in the United States — will open to traffic this weekend, and not a moment too soon.

Until now, ferry boats and a congested, leaky, two-lane tunnel were all that linked Baytown with La Porte and the rest of greater Houston.

"It will finally open up our part of the county to the rest of the world," said Baytown Mayor Pete Alfaro. "We've been fairly isolated."

Alfaro calls Wednesday's ribbon-cutting ceremony, expected to draw Gov. George W. Bush and other dignitaries, a "once-in-a-lifetime event."

The bridge, which towers 40 stories over the ship channel, is named after the late Baytown Sun publisher Fred Hartman, who promoted construction of the tunnel four decades ago and began a campaign for the bridge in the late 1970s.

Hartman died in 1991 at age 83, but his part in building the bridge will not soon be forgotten.

"Until his last breath, he dreamed of seeing a bridge connect Baytown and La Porte but he never dreamed they would name it after him," said Hartman's namesake and grandson, Fred Hartman, 30, group vice president of Hartman newspapers.

Hartman will be represented at the ceremonies by his son, Bill, 54, president of Hartman Newspapers; and by his daughter, Mary Hartman Brown, 56, director of resource development at Lee College in Baytown.

Both Bill Hartman and Brown were present as schoolchildren when their father dedicated the Baytown tunnel.

"Everyone is hoping that this new structure will be a bridge back to our community," Brown said. "The tunnel has been clogged for so long that many may have bypassed coming here."

The bridge's $95 million price tag ranks it among the most expensive state-sponsored projects ever undertaken in Texas.

It also became one of the state's most controversial projects as construction delays mounted and turmoil erupted over the use of South African steel.

Metroplex
Hindus flock to
'miracle'

FORT WORTH (AP) — The idea of a brass statue in Irving drinking milk might sound far-fetched, but it's been worth at least a look by thousands of North Texas Hindus over the weekend.

Some of the estimated 10,000 to 15,000 Hindus in the Dallas-Fort Worth area have visited the D-FW Hindu Temple since last Thursday once word that the image of the deity Shri Ganesji will sip spoon-fed milk offered by worshippers.

They were responding to reports from India that a devotee did exactly that to a statue of Shri Ganesji — Lord Ganesha — after being ordered to do it in a vision.

"I try to rationalize. But when I do not have an explanation, I give religion the benefit of the doubt," Rohit Kunjappa of Dallas said Sunday.

Each person who approached the Irving statue received a chance to offer milk to the elephant-headed idol's lips. Some believe the idol is actually accepting the offerings, and some don't.

Raj Kakarla of Duncanville said, "I believe in God. But I did not believe in this thing. I cannot scientifically convince myself the god drank the milk."

About 4,000 people have visited the temple in Irving since CNN first reported the New Delhi claim, temple spokesman Harshad Parekh said.

FAA changing air traffic control's role

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration is moving toward easing air traffic controllers out of the picture, allowing airlines and pilots to set their routes, The Dallas Morning News has reported.

Under the plan, airlines would set routes based on flight distance, wind and weather.

Air traffic controllers would cease to be lords of the skies and become more like angels, intervening only when necessary to prevent collisions, The News reported in its Sunday edition.

The FAA is aware that some pilots would rather choose their own flight paths and avoid frustrating delays.

Called Free Flight, the plan would use computers and satellites to enable pilots to abandon the crowded, one-lane airways that now serve as the nation's airborne arteries. Proponents say aviation would be safer and delays could virtually disappear, saving airlines an estimated $3.5 billion a year.

Others, including the nation's leading pilots' and air traffic controllers' unions, say the skies are already orchestrated chaos, and they wonder what will happen when the maestro is no longer in charge.

But with air traffic predicted to jump by 60 percent in the next decade to 800 million passengers a year, scarcely anyone in the industry questions the need for radical changes. During the past 12 months, outdated radar and computer equipment used to guide jetliners cruising at high altitudes has faltered or failed a dozen times.

"Free Flight is elegantly simple in concept and infinitely complex in terms of getting there," said Lane Speck, the FAA's director of air traffic rules and procedures. "The main goal at every step is to make sure it is safe."

Officials say most of the technology required to make Free Flight happen, such as satellite navigation and high-speed data links, already is available. Other pieces of equipment could be developed with little trouble.

The hard part is figuring out what to do with all those airplanes when they suddenly are freed from the narrow airways that enable controllers to manage them every inch of the way.

Tests have shown that airlines can shave minutes from their schedules by setting their own courses on a limited number of long-distance flights. But the main requirement is that it be done at high altitudes and not within 200 miles of the intended destination.

Under Free Flight, airplanes would no longer be forced to wait in such long lines. By staying in constant contact with ground-based computers and Global Positioning System satellites 11,000 miles above the Earth, a pilot could be given an arrival time from any direction, based on speed and altitude.

Houston breaks losing streak; Cowboys top Cards

CINCINNATI (AP) — It was the finest moment of Chris Chandler's eight-year career, and that's probably why he wasn't very excited about it.

Chandler has been through a lot of disappointment with a lot of teams — five in all — during his unremarkable career. A near miss with an NFL completion record doesn't make up for the rough times.

The quarterback showed little emotion after coming one completion short of an NFL record Sunday while leading the Houston Oilers to a 38-28 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals. Chandler figured that's as it should be.

"If I was a younger guy that hadn't seen a lot of things, it would probably be more exciting," he said. "I'm just excited to get the win."

While Chandler calmly completed 28 of 28 for 352 yards and a career-high four touchdowns, those around him marveled.

"You never expect a quarterback to be able to go out and do that for you," said Bengals cornerback Mike Brim. Burned for three of the four first-half touchdowns.

There were plenty of reasons not to expect anything like that from a hander. He's still recovering from an injured left (non-throwing) shoulder that sidelined him last week. The Oilers had completed just four touchdowns in their three games; and Chandler had thrown as many as three touchdowns in a game only once before.

Less than 30 minutes into the game, he had four against the Bengals (2-2), who didn't do anything right.

"We had a hell of a tough day defensively," coach Dave Shula said. "We didn't get any pressure on the quarterback. When

Smith's elbow takes a bruising

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Nothing shakes the soul of the Dallas Cowboys like an injury to Emmitt Smith, who is taking dead aim on Eric Dickerson's NFL season rushing record.

The Cowboys have proved they can win without Troy Aikman but not Smith. Two years ago, the Cowboys lost both games that Smith missed during a contract dispute.

Smith has led the Cowboys to their first unbeaten September in 12 years, but an elbow injury had him sweating in the locker room after a 34-20 win over the Arizona Cardinals.

"Emmitt's our touchdown man," said wide receiver Michael Irvin. "We have to have him leading us."

Smith scored two touchdowns, rushed for a 116 yards and had 53 yards receiving.

Smith fell hard on his left elbow late in the game and said, "I lost the feeling in my fingers. For a while there, I couldn't move them. I was scared because I must have hit a nerve or something but I think I'll be back running fine. Everything will be OK."

Smith was to be examined again today after the swelling goes down. He is leading the NFL in rushing with 543 yards.

Dickerson set the NFL rushing record with 2,277 yards in one season.

"I think I'm more focused and more determined than I've ever been," Smith said. "The offensive line is on a huge role."

Smith was hampered with hamstring problems last year and two seasons ago had shoulder injuries.

Dallas (4-0) hasn't started out this well since 1983, when the Cowboys started 7-0.

Arizona (1-3), which had yielded an NFL-worst 196 yards per game rushing, watched Smith beat them on the ground and through the air.

"It's just a pleasure to watch Emmitt, whether he's running or receiving," said fullback Daryl Johnston, who clears a path for Smith with his crunching blocks. "It's great to start 4-0 but we still have things to work on. We haven't played great Cowboys football in two weeks."

Quarterback Troy Aikman said he's having fun just feeding the ball to Smith.

"Emmitt played just a sensational game," Aikman said. "He really ran hard."

Smith went over 100 yards for the fourth consecutive game.

Angels defeat Rangers; say ready for Mariners

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — It was the California Angels who played game to prove themselves ready to take on the Seattle Mariners in a two-game series that could go as far as deciding the AL West title.

The California heads to Seattle to play the Mariners in the first game and the New York Yankees and the New York Mets are expected to be playing the Los Angeles Dodgers in the second game.

"We've had two games in which we're going to be playing well," said manager Art Shupenko. "Then we've got to go home. Those are the days you want to win."

The agreement can be made in the way the Angels played Sunday in a 5-0 victory over the Texas Rangers in the first game, losing the second.

The Angels' solid pitching and outstanding pitcher, Tim Lincecum, California pitcher, who is the division leader in wins, to be instead of the Rangers' team they had lost in the past few weeks.

"The Angels need to be playing everything right before they head in Seattle if they want to chop into the division," said Shupenko. "They're a half game behind the Yankees."

"We're in a position to determine our own fate," reliever Lee Smith said. "Now it's time to put up or shut up."

The Angels seemed more comfortable about their chances

Sunday because their victory was such a team effort.

Sure, Abbott led the way with by tossing a three-hitter, but there also was a key sacrifice bunt by Gary DiSarcina, two two-out RBI singles by Salmon and a run-saving defensive play by second baseman Damion Easley.

Salmon said the Angels haven't been getting contributions from so many sources while squandering a division lead that reached 11 games on Aug. 3. California has lost 26 of 35 during that free fall.

"It got to a point where guys were putting too much pressure on themselves to get the job done," Salmon said. "When we were winning, nobody was taking that pressure of doing it themselves. Everybody just got away from their game."

Spurred by Abbott, they found their way Sunday.

Abbott (11-8) faced only three batters in six different innings, had only one runner reach third and one more make it to second. He needed only eight pitches to retire the side in the eighth and nine pitches in the ninth. He ended the game by striking out Will Clark and Juan Gonzalez.

The problem for Texas was that his slow but wide-moving curveball kept hitting the mitt. He kept it low and no Ranger made real solid contact.

"He threw a lot of good pitches and was almost unhittable after the shadows came in," Texas manager Johnny Oates said. "He kept us off-balance all day."

The loss dropped the Rangers three games behind the Angels.

Rangers' 1-0 victory keeps playoff hopes alive

HOUSTON (AP) — Dean Hartgraves was recovering from food poisoning, Brian Hunter played for the first time in six games because of a shoulder injury and the oldest player on the team had to round the bases to score the winning run.

But it worked. Milt Thompson, 36, was perched on first base after he walked with one out in the 10th and scored on Hunter's infield hit and pitcher Rich DeLucia's throwing error, giving the Houston Astros a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

Hartgraves, who hadn't pitched since Sept. 3, faced only one batter to get the victory, but it was an important strike-out of pinchhitter Ray Lankford to end the Cardinals' 10th.

"It felt good to be doing something for the team," said Hartgraves (2-0). "It's a big win but we needed it to keep pace. We have to basically win every night and hope someone else loses."

The victory kept the Astros in the NL's wild-card playoff race, 13 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat San Diego 6-2.

The Astros begin a three-game series in the Astrodome tonight against Pittsburgh that will end their home schedule and the finish the regular season with four games at Chicago.

Sunday's victory almost did-

The Houston Astros surround Milt Thompson following his bottom of the 10th run Sunday.

n't happen. Thompson was down 0-2 in the count before drawing the walk from DeLucia (8-7).

"That was a good at-bat for Milt," Astros manager Terry Collins said. "He was down in the count but he stayed in there. He never slowed down on Brian's hit and came all the way around."

Hunter used his speed to reach base.

DeLucia fielded Hunter's grounder, looked toward Thompson going to second and then threw wildly to first base for an error.

"I tried to hurry the throw and it got away from me," DeLucia said. "It cost us the game. I was ahead (of Thompson) 0-2 and couldn't finish him off. That's why they won. If I'd been able to get him out, what Hunter did wouldn't have mattered."

The extra-inning excitement overshadowed a duel of starting pitchers.

NFL simply needs to leave Jerry Jones to his business

Now listen! What's the problem with the NFL and the Dallas Cowboys?

Carlton Johnson
Staff Writer

around the ridiculous rules governing revenue.

Not everyone likes Coke, so Jerry Jones signed a deal with Pepsi.

I don't know if the NFL has a deal with any company, but they're still ticked off at him for signing a deal with Nike.

It's amazing the NFL hasn't sued Jones for signing Deion Sanders away from the San Francisco 49ers.

After all, Jones and his players, particularly Troy Aikman, did some fancy accounting, all legal, to bring Sanders to the Cowboys.

Sanders said "bye-bye" to the 49ers two weeks ago to sign a seven-year, $35 million contract with the Cowboys. That contract also included a signing bonus big enough to choke King Kong, but we're talking about Jones and he does have a reputation for doing things in a big way.

Jones may have been smarter than people thought because rumors are flying now that Sanders may be entertaining the idea of giving up baseball.

Sanders is eligible for arbitration with the San Francisco Giants next season and has said he may take a year off from baseball rather than return to San Francisco.

The surgery need on his left ankle may also have contributed to this speculation.

What puzzles me is how the NFL came up with the $300 million figure it did in the suit against Jones.

If a man pays tens of millions of dollars for a franchise in the first place you tend to think he should have some kind of voice about the financial life of his team.

Jones wasn't popular as the Cowboys' owner when he first arrived in Dallas, but he and Jimmy Johnson did rebuild the Cowboys and made the team one of the best in the league.

The NFL should not penalize Jones and the Cowboys for having the desire to enhance the financial position of their team.

It's not Jones' fault other smaller markets cannot or will not seek out these types of deals.

Perez still in jail

ATLANTA (AP) — Pitcher Carlos Perez of the Montreal Expos remained in police custody, more than 24 hours after being arrested on charges of rape and aggravated sodomy.

Perez, 24, was being held at the Atlanta City Jail, accused of raping a 20-year-old woman he met for a blind date at a bar. He was arrested at the team hotel Saturday morning.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for today. At that time, Perez will seek to be freed on bond.

Deaf Awareness Week promotes understanding

Being deaf simply means someone can't hear.

It does not reach into the brain and affect someone's intelligence.

But, that stereotype still persists and is one of many that Deaf Awareness Week is trying to overcome this week.

Members of Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf will be out in force this week, armed with information.

They will be at Howard College on Tuesday, Big Spring High School on Wednesday, Wal-Mart on Thursday, finishing at Big Spring Mall on Friday.

Man held for theft of microchip plans

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A software engineer was jailed on charges he stole millions of dollars worth of Intel Corp.'s Pentium chip production secrets and gave them to a rival computer company.

William Gaede, 43, was arrested Saturday by the FBI at his home in Mesa, Ariz. He was being held at the Maricopa County Jail in Phoenix pending a hearing before a federal magistrate.

Gaede, an Argentine national who worked for Intel in Chandler, Ariz. in 1993-94, was charged with mail fraud and interstate transportation of stolen property.

An FBI complaint alleged Gaede sent videotapes with instructions for making Intel's Pentium microprocessor to Sunnyvale, Calif.-based Advanced Micro Devices Inc. The microprocessor is the brain of personal computers.

Advanced Micro Devices immediately turned the material over to Intel, the FBI said.

Gaede, who also worked for Advanced Micro Devices from 1983 to 1993, told The New York Times in May that he stole secrets from both computer companies and gave the information to China, Iran and Cuba.

The information included designs and instructions on how to make the 386, 486 and Pentium chips that power most personal computers. Gaede said he was first motivated by a love of communism but later stole for personal gain, the newspaper reported.

The information he passed to Cuba was given to the Soviet Union and East Germany in the last years of the Cold War, Gaede has said. His account of his involvement with foreign governments could not be confirmed.

Gaede fled for Argentina after a storage locker he rented was broken into and plans for Intel devices were discovered, the San Jose Mercury News reported Sunday. The paper did not say who broke into the locker or when.

Murders shock French villagers

TOULON, France (AP) — Fresh from murdering three relatives at home, a teen-ager walked to the next village Sunday and calmly opened fire on a quiet town square, killing nine more people before turning the gun on himself.

The murder-suicide in southern France was the country's worst multiple killing since 1989.

"It was like he was hunting birds," said Guy Sintes, the owner of a cafe on the square in Cuers, a sunny village near the Mediterranean port of Toulon.

Eight other people were wounded in the half-hour morning shooting rampage, three of them seriously, police said on customary anonymity. The victims' ages ranged from 17 to 75.

Television footage from the scene showed sidewalks and a car splattered with blood and a bullet hole through a shop window.

"The people are devastated, totally traumatized. The village

A rescue team carries a coffin of a victim, killed by a teen-ager, out of the stadium in Cuers, a village north of the Mediterranean port of Toulon, France. The 16-year-old boy bludgeoned three family members, then opened fire in Cuers, killing eight people before killing himself.

is in shock," said Cuers Mayor Guy Gigou.

The boy was identified as Eric Borel, 16, but the impetus for the killings was unclear.

His father died recently of cancer. Neighbors of his family, interviewed on French television, described him as taciturn and said his room was plastered with posters of Hitler and neo-Nazi themes.

Villagers with eyes red from crying sat on the ground, shaking their heads as they recalled traumatic scenes: An old woman shot as she walked her dog, an elderly man gunned down on his way to the cafe.

Israel trades land for peace with PLO

TABA, Egypt (AP) — Israel traded land seized in war for a chance at peace in an agreement with the PLO that would end nearly three decades of Israeli occupation of West Bank cities.

The pact allows for Palestinian self-rule in 30 percent of the West Bank — containing most of its Arab population — after a step-by-step Israeli pullout from lands it has occupied since the 1967 Mideast War.

The 460-page agreement, the second phase of the 1993 Israel-

PLO peace treaty, also allows for Palestinian elections.

PLO chief Yasser Arafat, under fire from hardliners at home, was on the defensive today as he prepared to present the accord to his Cabinet for approval later in the day.

"We should always seek the best, but we don't have to be perfect," Arafat said after meeting with Jordanian leaders in Amman.

Hebron Mayor Mustafa Natche said he was disappointed because under the agreement the 450 Jewish settlers living in his town of 120,000 Palestinians are being permitted to stay.

Militant Jewish settlers vowed to scuttle the agreement. However, settler reaction was likely to be delayed until sundown Tuesday, the end of the Jewish New Year holiday.

The accord was initiated in Tabá by the chief negotiators, Ahmed Qureia of the Palestine Liberation Organization and Israel's Uri Savir. The signing in Washington is set for Thursday.

Worry in the AL is about Yankees, Angels, Mariners

Here's all you need to know as the American League heads into the final week of the season: The Seattle Mariners appear unstoppable, the California Angels' slide is over and the New York Yankees don't have any home games left.

Forget about everybody and everything else. The Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox can sleepwalk through the last week of September. They already know where they'll be in the first week of October.

The batting title is a no contest, with Edgar Martinez holding a 20-point lead. The home run title looks settled, too, with Albert Belle's 46 appearing unmatchable. Randy Johnson will win the Cy Young award and the strikeout title, the Minnesota Twins will have the worst record, etc. etc.

Don't pay attention to any of it. Just worry about the Mariners, Angels and Yankees.

Seattle completed the most successful week in franchise history with a 9-8 victory Sunday over Oakland on Tino Martinez's two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth. California broke its nine-game losing streak with a 5-0 victory at Texas.

The Mariners have an off day today before opening a two-game series against the Angels. If Seattle wins both games, its lead will have grown to four games and it will have clinched a tie for the AL West title.

If the Mariners and Angels split, Seattle's lead will remain two games with four left. If the Angels sweep, the AL West is all tied up.

Watching it all very closely will be the Yankees, who lost 8-3 to Detroit and have only five games left — all on the road. If the Yankees win two at Milwaukee and three at Toronto, they'll clinch at least a tie for the wild card spot.

In Sunday's other games, Toronto beat Boston 2-1, Kansas City beat Cleveland 4-2, Minnesota edged Chicago 4-3 and Milwaukee beat Baltimore 5-1.

Mariners 9, Athletics 8

At the Kingdom, the 3-hour game was a back-and-forth affair that changed three times in the final inning and a half.

The Mariners went ahead 7-6 in the eighth on Dan Wilson's RBI single. In the ninth, Danny Tartabull's two-run homer gave Oakland an 8-7 lead. Dennis Eckersley (4-6) was called upon to preserve it, but Edgar Martinez had a single and Tino Martinez ended the game with a line shot over the right field wall.

The crowd of 46,714 got a curtain call from Martinez, whose homer — his second of the game — was his 31st of the year.

Tigers 8, Yankees 3

At Yankee Stadium, the Tigers rallied for seven runs in the eighth inning to end New York's six-game winning streak and 10-game home winning streak.

Yankees starter Andy Pettitte (11-9) left after allowing three straight singles. Bob Wickman gave up a two-run single to Travis Fryman that tied it 3-3 and Steve Howe gave up a two-run double to Alan Trammell and back-to-back homers to Terry Clark and Danny Bautista.

Blue Jays 2, Red Sox 1

At Fenway Park, Dwayne Hoesy struck out with the bases loaded to end the game. Rick Aguilera (3-3) gave up a go-ahead sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Royals 4, Indians 2

At Kaufman Field, Kevin Appier (15-9) and Jeff Montgomery almost combined on a shutout, but Brian Giles hit a two-run homer in the ninth for Cleveland.

Twins 4, White Sox 3

At the Metrodome, LaTroy Hawkins (2-3) pitched a five-hitter and Matt Merullo won it with a bases-loaded single in the ninth.

Brewers 5, Orioles 1

At County Stadium, knuckleballer Steve Sparks (9-10) allowed only three hits in 7 1-3 innings.

Dodgers, Rockies battle for the NL West title

Baseball's new playoff formula may be tough to figure out, yet there's no mystery about what's about to happen at Dodger Stadium.

The Colorado Rockies and Los Angeles Dodgers begin a three-game series tonight, and whichever team wins the set will lead the NL West with only a few days left to play.

The Rockies held their one-half game lead with a 3-1 win over San Francisco. The Dodgers also won Sunday, 6-2 over San Diego. Houston won, too, and remained 1 game behind the Dodgers in the wild-card race.

"This is what we've all been waiting for, where we want to be, going head-to-head," said Mike Piazza, who homered for the Dodgers. "Hopefully, we can play as well in this series as we have the last three games. We're playing well right now. That's a good sign."

The Dodgers, coming off three straight wins at home against the Padres, are 7-3 against Colorado this season. Bill Swift, Bret Saberhagen and Kevin Ritz are scheduled to pitch for the Rockies; Ramon Martinez and Tom Candiotti are the only certain Dodgers starters.

"The stage is pretty much set," Rockies manager Don Baylor said. "All the talking everyone has done, now we've got to do it on the field. I'd rather be one game up than one game down going in there."

In other games, Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 6-4, Atlanta beat Montreal 5-4 in 10 innings, Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 3-2 in 10 innings and Florida beat New York 4-3.

Hideo Nomo (12-6) pitched five innings and allowed one earned run on three hits. He struck out two, raising his league-leading total to 225.

Nomo helped out with his bat, getting an RBI single for just his sixth hit in 63 at-bats this season. Piazza later hit his 31st home run.

Rockies 3, Giants 1

Colorado hung on to win when Matt Williams and Mark Carreon both fled out to the warning track with two runners on base to end the game in San Francisco.

Armando Reynoso (7-7) limited the Giants to one run and three hits in eight innings. The first two batters reached for San Francisco in the ninth against Bruce Ruffin, but he struck out Barry Bonds, who was ejected for arguing.

Braves 5, Expos 4, 10 innings

Mike Devereaux grounded a two-out, two-run single that gave Atlanta its 25th win in its last at-bat, 16 of them since July 4.

Devereaux scored the tying run in the ninth when he doubled and Mike Kelly hit a sacrifice fly.

Reds 6, Phillies 4

Mariano Duncan, acquired by Cincinnati from Philadelphia on Aug. 8, homered and drove in four runs against his former team at Veterans Stadium.

David Wells (6-4) matched his career high with 16 victories. He was 10-3 when Detroit traded him to the Reds on July 31.

Cubs 3, Pirates 2, 10 innings

Brian McRae hit the first game-ending home run of his five-year career, beating Pittsburgh with a solo shot at Wrigley Field.

McRae matched his career-high with his 12th homer, connecting for the first time since Sept. 2.

Marlins 4, Mets 3

Rookie right fielder Alex Ochoa, part of the Mets' bright future, lost two routine fly balls in the sun at Joe Robbie Stadium, leading to all of Florida's runs.

Ochoa, whose strong throwing arm helped him get promoted from the minors, struggled in his fifth major league game. He is from the Miami area and about 30 of his friends were in the stands.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS TO ROY CLIFFORD MOORE, Respondent: You have been sued. You may wish to employ an attorney. If you or your attorney do not file a written answer with the Clerk who issued this citation by 10:00 o'clock a.m. on the Monday next following the expiration of twenty days after you were served this citation and petition, a default judgment may be taken against you. The petition of LEE ANN RYE and HAMON RAY RYE Feltonians, was filed in the 118th Judicial Court of Howard County, Texas on the 20th day of September 1995, against ROY CLIFFORD MOORE, Respondent, numbered 95-09-38077, and entitled "IN THE INTEREST OF SHAWN CLIFFORD MOORE, A CHILD." The suit requests termination of the parent-child relationship and adoption of the stepchild by the stepparent. The date and place of birth of the child who is the subject of this suit is: SHAWN CLIFFORD MOORE, born 08/04/80 in Big Spring. The Court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree in the child's interest which will be binding upon you, including the termination of the parent-child relationship, and adoption of the child by a stepparent. Issued and given under my hand and seal of said Court at Big Spring, Texas this 20 day of September 1995. GLENDA BRASEL DISTRICT CLERK OF HOWARD COUNTY, TEXAS By: COLLEEN BARTON, DEPUTY 9514 September 22 & 25, 1995
