BSISD trustees nominated to appraisal board

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Two Big Spring Independent School District trustees have been nominated to sit on the county's appraisal district board of directors.

Larry Hollar and Don Baker were selected by the school board during a special meeting Thursday afternoon. The final selection will be made in November as to who will make up the five-member board.

The three city councils and school boards in Howard County along with county commissioners will all nominate someone to be on the board within the next week or so.

Chief Appraiser Keith Toomire said all board members are up for re-election every two years.

Each taxing entity except Howard College and the Permian Basin Underground Water District are allotted a certain number of votes based on their taxable property value. Toomire said there is a Texas law stating the college and water district are not eligible to vote or nominate anyone to the board.

Big Spring Independent School District has the largest tax base at $8.7 million, making up 38 percent of the county's tax base of $23.1 million. There is a total of 5,000 votes to be divided among the entities and the school district has 2,094 votes or 38 percent of 5,000.

Each taxing entity is allowed to divide up their votes however they see fit. Toomire said, for example, BSISD can use most of their votes to make sure Baker Please see BSISD, page 2A

Commissioners accept low bid of GEM Insurance

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

GEM Insurance of Utah will officially become Howard County's insurance carrier Nov. 1.

GEM was one of three bidders seeking the county's insurance contract, submitting a bid of $527,988 for annual coverage of county employees.

In discussing the issue several weeks ago Commissioner Sonny Choate said, "If we change, there will be a certain amount of resistance from employees, but we can't ignore the bottom line and I suggest we go with the low bid."

What commissioners did was take time to look at GEM a little closer, extending its current insurance policy by one month. Since the court was to make the final decision Sept. 25, five days would not have been enough time to switch to a new carrier.

The county's new fiscal year began Oct. 1, when most new contracts and agreements took effect.

One of the big changes county employees will see is in the area of prescription drugs, depending on the amount of medicines prescribed.

Under the county's current carrier, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, county employees pay $4 for generic prescriptions and $8 for name brands with their prescription card.

GEM's policy will pay 85 percent of the cost for generic prescriptions and 80 percent for namebrands.

Choate said commissioners had a tough time with this issue. In fact, Commissioner Please see COURT, page 2A

Indecency with a child under investigation

The Big Spring Police Department is continuing its investigation into a report received Thursday around 12:12 p.m. of indecency with a child.

The report alleges the incident happened on the north side of Big Spring sometime around Oct. 14, and a person had engaged in sexual contact with a child younger than 17-years-old who was not his spouse.

The victim is a 5-year-old female and police say the alleged suspect is known to the victim's family.

Girl Scouts help build character

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of reports looking at the 10 agencies the United Way funds. The United Way is currently raising money for the various organizations with a goal set at $210,000.

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

The West Texas Girl Scout Council serves 228 girls in Big Spring and Howard County.

It is an agency serving the needs and interests of girls. It helps them to develop self-potential, how to relate to others, develop values and contribute to society.

The local United Way agency provides $4 per girl or 8 per cent of the girls' expense. The average cost to serve a girl for one year in Girl Scouts is $170. The United Way gives the agency a little over $3,000 per year toward their budget.

"Your United Way gift supports membership development, training, communication, council sponsored activities, older girl trips and camping," said Nancy Henderson, West Texas Girl Scout Council executive director.

"Camping at Camp Boothe Oaks is a vital program to West Texas Girl Scouts. Girls enjoy troop camping, summer camp and local day camps. Older girls participated in a summer travel opportunity to Mexico as well as a Texas tour outlining historical points along the way," she said.

Henderson added men and women volunteer leadership and support to the Girl Scouts. Seven girls earned their Gold Award, the highest award for senior Girl Scouts. Five girls earned their Silver Award, the highest award for Cadette Girl Scouts.

Many local businesses often adopt or sponsor troops to make sure the girls can have their badges and supplies. In return, the scouts spend many hours giving back to the community through service projects.

One of the main fund raisers for Girl Scouts is the annual cookie sale. The money goes toward the girls camping fees, daily projects, day camps and membership development.

The girls participate in track meets with other troops in the area. They are also gearing up for a father-daughter dance in February.

During the last school year, the girls also participated in a mother/daughter tea, leader/daughter camp-out, leader appreciation banquet and a lock-in.

They will celebrate Girl Scouts founder Juliette Gordon-Low's birthday with a skating party on Oct. 31.

Kidnapper facing rape charges

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An accused South Dakota child molester apparently will be tried first on federal kidnapping charges in Michigan, where he allegedly abducted two boys and drove them to New Orleans, where police say one was raped.

The boys, age 11 and 3, were rescued Tuesday when police captured Boyd D. Weekley, 24, in New Orleans' French Quarter. They returned to Benton Harbor, Mich., with their parents Tuesday night.

Weekley has been held. Please see CHARGES, page 2A

Choate said people don't like change much, especially when it affects the pocketbook.
"I talked to several employees and one said she would probably have to pay an extra $110 per year for medicine and another one said she would be out an extra $300. I'm comfortable with our decision. I did all the homework I could to find out what the best deal was," Choate said.

without bond since then on kidnapping charges.
The boys are the children of migrant farm workers from Mission, Texas, who have traveled to Michigan each of the past four years to pick fruits and vegetables.
The brothers disappeared Oct. 14 after buying chips at a store next to the laundromat near Benton Harbor where their mother was washing clothes.
New Orleans police added the state charge of aggravated rape against Weekley at his arraignment Thursday in U.S. District Court. The hearing also produced allegations that Weekley might have committed other serious crimes during the 10-day odyssey.
Weekley agreed at Thursday's proceedings not to fight extradition to Michigan to face the kidnapping charge.
New Orleans police Lt. Marlon Deffillo said interviews with the children indicated that the older boy had been raped at a motel in New Orleans on Tuesday.
Investigators believe Weekley arrived in New Orleans on Monday evening and checked into the motel with the children Tuesday morning. Deffillo said the other apparently was not sexually abused, but was beaten in the face, suffering minor bruises and scrapes, Deffillo said.
Weekley was arrested and the boys rescued about noon Tuesday.
During the arraignment, Assistant U.S. Attorney Constantine George said prosecutors had evidence that Weekley committed other felonies during the 10-day journey.

Choate said people don't like change much, especially when it affects the pocketbook.

"I talked to several employees and one said she would probably have to pay an extra $110 per year for medicine and another one said she would be out an extra $300. I'm comfortable with our decision. I did all the homework I could to find out what the best deal was," Choate said.

Health Maintenance Organization FirstCare was second with a bid of $545,827, and the county's current provider, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, submitted a bid of $628,262.

GEM's bid of $527,988 was more than $233,000 less than the $761,535 package currently being offered to the county's 133 full-time employees.

without bond since then on kidnapping charges.

The boys are the children of migrant farm workers from Mission, Texas, who have traveled to Michigan each of the past four years to pick fruits and vegetables.

The brothers disappeared Oct. 14 after buying chips at a store next to the laundromat near Benton Harbor where their mother was washing clothes.

New Orleans police added the state charge of aggravated rape against Weekley at his arraignment Thursday in U.S. District Court. The hearing also produced allegations that Weekley might have committed other serious crimes during the 10-day odyssey.

Weekley agreed at Thursday's proceedings not to fight extradition to Michigan to face the kidnapping charge.

New Orleans police Lt. Marlon Deffillo said interviews with the children indicated that the older boy had been raped at a motel in New Orleans on Tuesday.

Investigators believe Weekley arrived in New Orleans on Monday evening and checked into the motel with the children Tuesday morning. Deffillo said the other apparently was not sexually abused, but was beaten in the face, suffering minor bruises and scrapes, Deffillo said.

Weekley was arrested and the boys rescued about noon Tuesday.

During the arraignment, Assistant U.S. Attorney Constantine Georges said prosecutors had evidence that Weekley committed other felonies during the 10-day journey.

EDITORIAL

Quote of the Day

"If we would guide by the light of reason, we must let our minds be bold."

Louis D. Brandeis, Supreme Court justice, 1932

Put your word in for passage of a farm bill

U.S. House and Senate negotiators will sit down next week to start hammering out the differences in submitted farm bills.

Recent GOP dissidents to the House bill have called a cease-fire for now and are waiting for negotiations to begin to work on problems.

Many of us might be asking what the Farm Bill means to us?

We should all know that cotton is a million-dollar industry in Howard County. Which is why an equitable farm bill is so important to all of us because we all profit from cotton whether we actually harvest it or not.

Howard County Cotton Growers Association President Rob Haney thinks it is important that we let our congressmen know that it is important to pass Farm Bill 1995.

Opinions expressed on this page are those of the Editorial Board of the Big Spring Herald unless otherwise indicated.

Charles C. Williams DD Turner
Publisher Managing Editor

There is an equitable way to balance the budget and cut spending at the same time. Both the Republicans and Democrats need to learn the art of compromising and working together to achieve their ends.

Call or write your state representative or senator. Express to them the importance of an equitable farm bill to this area and to all farmers.

Cotton means a lot to this county. It is a tough business, dependent on forces beyond human control. Calling your congressman or senator will show your support for important industry.

Bob Seger is still the same

It goes so fast, it slips right by you. The years of your own life, and the music that has been the sound-track of that life, and the people who make the music ...

"I'm 50," Bob Seger said the other day. "Turned 50 this year."

Back when I was barely old enough to buy a beer legally - you could be 18 and be served 3.2 beer in Ohio in those days - a bunch of us would hang out on summer nights at a bar called the Sugar Shack, on the north side of Columbus. Live music, no cover, no minimum. A lot of nights a truly great young unknown band from Detroit would drive down to play in the bar. They were called the Bob Seger System then, and some of their songs - "Ramblin' Gambler Man," "2 Plus 2" - became moderate hits.

When someone has a special talent you know it right away. Seger fit easily into the Midwestern atmosphere of that small and crowded bar, and at the same time he clearly was destined for bigger things. He went on to record 18 albums, 10 of them certified platinum, and wrote and recorded some of the most memorable and recognizable rock and roll hits of the last 30 years: "Night Moves," "Old Time Rock and Roll," "Main Street," "Hollywood Nights" ...

"I have no idea who the audience for this is going to be," Seger said the other day. "I guess mainly the people who came to a million shows. I meet people all the time who come up and say, 'My mom loves you.' Occasionally they'll say, 'My grandma loves you.'"

He laughed. He and his Silver Bullet Band have a new album - that's what he calls it by force of habit, an album, not a CD - on its way out. The title is "It's a Mystery"; his record company sent me an advance tape, and it's as good and as strong as anything he's ever done. "I think the band's playing a little better every year," he said. "I think I'm writing better, too. I don't know about singing better -- it's hard to hit some of those high notes as you get older."

He's singing just fine. The lyrics of his songs reflect the thoughts of a grown man; the nervous Michigan kid trying to work his courage up on "Main Street," the awkward and anguished romantic in the back seat of a Chevrolet in "Night Moves," are gone; Seger at 50 sings of the concerns of a parent of two children, in the middle of his life, fearful about the world that he, and all of us, will leave behind for his children, for all the children.

"You look around you, and you see things, and you get angry," he said. "When you're younger yourself, maybe you don't give it all that much thought, but now - at least for me - I look at some of the stuff that's going on and I think: 'Wait a minute. This is my kids' future. What are we doing here?'"

So the Seger who once sang of cruising Midwestern streets, of a life centered around the possibility of falling in love with a pretty girl, now has turned his attention to what gunfire and drugs are doing to us all, to the national obsession with tearing down heroes, to the importance of family in a disconnected world. The guitar runs are still vintage Silver Bullet Band, the Seger voice is still that raw, sweet voice that climbs inside your head and stays there for years - but there's something different, something richer.

Seger is not sure whether the men and women of his generation still have the record-buying habits they used to. "I do this because this is my job, and I try to do it well," he said. "I know it can't go on forever, but it still feels right now."

Five years ago he allowed General Motors - his hometown company - to use his song "Like a Rock," and his voice singing it, in television commercials for Chevy trucks. He was a little uncertain about the idea, but "Like a Rock" has become the catchphrase for the trucks, and his voice singing those words has become inescapable on TV.

"If you're a guy and you watch sports, you're going to run into that commercial," Seger said. "My son's about to turn 3 years old, and he and I watch baseball and football games on TV together all the time."

"The commercial will come on, and he'll look over at me with this big smile on his face. I'll nod at him and say to him, 'That's Daddy.' And he and I will sing the song together along with the TV."

Long way from "Ramblin' Gambler Man," long way from the Sugar Shack.

"You change, but you're still you," Seger said. "You're always still you."

OUT FRONT

'And, I Grew'

Visitors read an historic marker in 1989, telling the story of the Treaty Oak in Austin soon after the tree was poisoned six years ago. The tree is in the background and has been given a voice in a children's book, "The Tree That Would Not Die."

Children's book gives voice to 500-year-old Treaty Oak

By LESLIE BARKER

The Dallas Morning News

DALLAS — As a New York City resident, Ellen Levine is used to reading about murders and attempted murders.

But six years ago, one hit her especially hard.

The victim: Austin's 500-year-old Treaty Oak tree.

The method: poison.

"It was such a senseless act of destruction," Ms. Levine says.

The more she read, the more another thought kept coming to her mind.

"The tree is a single living witness for all the centuries that passed before it," she says during a visit to Brinker Elementary School in Plano. "I thought, 'Can you imagine if this tree could talk? What incredible stories it would tell!'"

And talk the Treaty Oak now does, in "The Tree That Would Not Die" (Scholastic Inc., $14.95), written by Ms. Levine and illustrated by Ted Rand.

"One morning hundreds of years ago," the book begins, "an acorn fell and grew in the earth. And that was me."

Prefaced always by the words "And I grew," the tree tells its role throughout Texas history. How a buffalo calf scratched itself on the tree's trunk. How American Indian tribes such as the Comanche and Tejas fought "many a war among themselves. But when they sat by me, they laid their weapons down."

How, legend goes, Stephen F. Austin and American Indians (whom Ms. Levine calls "First People") signed a boundary treaty under the tree, thus giving it the nickname that remains today.

How pioneers set up camp under the tree. How two boys, an African-American and Mexican-American, hid in its branches while Anglo men searched — unsuccessfully — for them.

And, told on a solid black page, how a man poured poison around the tree. "And I grew" becomes "I could not grow. I could not grow!"

The book tells also of the worldwide affection people have shown the Treaty Oak since it was poisoned. They've sent thousands of cards and letters. Some have brought crystals, cans of chicken soup, bottles of aspirin to the tree. Buddhist monks have prayed over the tree. Witches from Dallas arrived in a limousine to see whether they could help.

Almost one-third of the tree survived; to ensure its immortality, a New Jersey scientist is cloning the tree. Art objects have been made out of branches that were cut away. Sales of tree pieces have totaled $10,000 — money that will be spent planting trees around Austin.

The Treaty Oak's leaves once formed a quarter-acre canopy three stories high. Now, though leaves on two-thirds of the tree are gone, others still shade visitors. Even supported by two braces, the Treaty Oak still stands proudly.

"It's made it," says John Giedraitis, forester for the city of Austin. "A tree that's 500 years old is an old tree. It's sort of like a great-great-grandmother when she falls in the shower. She can get up and have her hip replaced, but she's never the same. The tree doesn't have the youthful vigor it had, but that's OK."

The tree is a living memorial to Texas, he says. In our society of immediacy, it shows the importance of the past.

"It was important to pre-cultural people for religious reasons. It's important for us today because it's historical," Giedraitis says. "For me, it's the place I proposed to my wife nine years ago. Dozens of people have gotten married there. The ashes of people have been strewn around it."

The tree has a spirit, he says. "I think Ellen and Ted felt that when they came down here."

Ms. Levine visited in 1991, when the two-thirds of the tree had to be cut away. She was "very moved," she says. "This tree, which had shaded so many people, couldn't shade itself."

Rand, busy with other projects at the time, finally was able to visit the Treaty Oak last year. He needed to before he could begin illustrating, he says.

"I felt I had to stand under the tree," says Rand, who lives in Washington state. "It struck me like Christopher Reeve does now — a crippled giant that's going to make it and still has a spirit."

Because of the illustrations and simple telling of the story, the book is promoted as one for children. But the first person Ms. Levine showed it to was a woman friend when she read it, her eyes filled with tears. (Ms. Levine dedicates the book to her friend, who has since died of breast cancer.)

"People don't read it like they do a children's book," Rand says. "They read it like — 'I can't believe somebody did this.' They have a personal response to it."

Eric Boon, an 11-year-old at Brinker Elementary, was mad after reading "The Tree That Would Not Die."

"I wanted to know why somebody would do something to a tree with so much history," he says.

The man convicted of poisoning the tree confessed he had done so as part of a magic ritual to solve his love problems. He was released from prison after serving three years of a nine-year sentence.

Helen Greer, a fifth-grade teacher at Brinker, hopes the book gives her students a lesson in Texas culture.

"Plus," she says, "I want them to know the story of how important the tree is and how we need to take care of things here."

That's the kind of reaction Ms. Levine and Rand want people to have when they read the book.

"This is a much bigger thing than just the tree," Rand says. "It's a monument to the destruction of the environment. Really, much of the destruction that goes on is as mindless as poisoning the tree. This book brings into focus that this is not a finite world."

Sometimes we all get too caught up in our busy lives to think about the environment, Ms. Levine says.

"Then this happens and you stop and pay attention."

People have asked her why she wanted to write a story on one tree and not the disappearing rain forest.

"I think we all have room in our minds and souls for both," she says. "If one tree can make you think about the environment, you'll get to the rain forest."

In her research, Ms. Levine learned the Treaty Oak was one of a group of 14 trees, called Council Oaks. All shared the same root system and were very important to American Indian tribes. But after five centuries, only the Treaty Oak remains.

"It's an amazing survival story," Ms. Levine says. "This tree survived everything — including the drama of someone trying to murder it."

House passes balanced-budget 227-203

Senate set to pass House budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is poised to bless watershed Republican plans for constricting social spending, cutting taxes and balancing the budget, a day after a jubilant GOP muscled a similar package through the House.

With assurances of victory by Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., the Senate planned to vote today on the measure, which promises to erase federal deficits by 2002 while reversing decades of ever-expanding reach by the government.

It would revamp Medicare, Medicaid and a mountain of other programs, trim projected federal spending by about $1 trillion over seven years and lop $245 billion off the tax bills of many families and businesses.

The legislation embodies the chief pledges the GOP made in its dramatic election victory last year, when it lambasted Democrats for letting government grow too large and intrusive.

"For 60 years, the ship of state has sailed consistently in the wrong direction, to the left," said House Majority Leader Richard Armey, R-Texas, just before his chamber approved the package Thursday by 227-203. "With this vote today, we'll crank this ship around. We'll turn this ship around to the right."

Voting yes were 223 Republicans and four Democrats; 192 Democrats and 10 Republicans were opposed.

President Clinton, who says the legislation's cuts are too harsh, will veto it when House-Senate bargainers send him a finished version, perhaps next month. That will set the table for bargaining between the two sides that will decide whether the year ends with a compromise deficit-reduction measure or partisan finger-pointing.

For now, partisan finger-pointing is in vogue.

Senate Democrats launched a series of amendments at what they considered the bill's soft spots, seeking to shrink GOP cuts in Medicare, Medicaid, education and the earned income tax credit for low-wage workers. They were turned back in every instance, but not before Democrats sought political points.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a momentous break with the past, the House passed a Republican balanced-budget bill Thursday that would shrink the federal government, cut taxes and return power to the states. Democrats battled to the end against the measure.

The vote was 227-203, with 223 Republicans and four Democrats approving the bill. Opposed were 192 Democrats, 10 Republicans and one independent.

"I think it's the most decisive vote on the direction of government since 1933," when Franklin D. Roosevelt launched the New Deal, Speaker Newt Gingrich told reporters after rapping the gavel that officially sealed the vote.

A cheer went up from the Republican side of the chamber as the vote count climbed past 217, the number needed to assure passage in the 433-member House. GOP lawmakers pumped their arms in the air in triumph.

Across the Capitol, the GOP-controlled Senate was expected to approve a similar bill Friday, a major milestone in the Republican revolution launched last winter. "We'll be all right," predicted Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan.

As the day gave way to evening, Senate Republicans systematically turned aside Democratic efforts to restore two-thirds of $270 billion in savings proposed from Medicare, as well as additional funds for Medicaid, which provides health care for the poor, and a program of tax breaks for the working poor.

President Clinton has threatened a veto, and congressional Democrats are certain to sustain it.

"Their agenda is to get rid of Medicare," House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt, D-Mo., said of the Republicans. "Their agenda is to give huge tax breaks to the wealthiest Americans."

A veto would set the stage for a widely anticipated effort at compromise in late fall between the White House and conservative Republican majorities in the House and Senate.

The GOP plan, designed to balance the budget in 2002, relies on hundreds of billions of dollars of savings from Medicare, Medicaid, welfare, student loans and other social programs that have flourished since the New Deal and Great Society eras.

"The people should understand that in seven years, we will in fact balance the federal budget and save this country and save the next generation," said House Budget Committee Chairman John Kasich of Ohio. "We've done our job."

And in a potentially perilous manner, as well, with Democrats declaring their eagerness to showcase the vote in the 1996 elections. "We put our whole careers on the line," said Rep. John Boehner, R-Ohio, chairman of the Republican caucus.

The bills ran to 1,754 pages in the House and 1,949 in the Senate. Aside from the Pentagon, the measures scoured the entire government for savings — sometimes down to the penny. Annual cost-of-living increases for certain veterans' benefits would be rounded down to the nearest dollar, a provision estimated to save $520 million over seven years.

Billions more would be saved from programs affecting farmers; federal workers would pay more for their retirement benefits; the Commerce Department would be abolished under the House measure.

The plan includes $245 billion in tax cuts, including a $500-per-child tax credit and a break on taxes on profits from investments.

The proposal was crafted with assistance from the governors, who agreed to accept slower growth in funding in Medicaid and welfare in exchange for a loosening of federal strings.

Shortly before the final vote, the House rejected, 356-72, an alternative drafted by conservative Democrats to balance the budget without tax cuts. The plan would ease the impact of the GOP's planned savings from Medicare, Medicaid and other government programs.

The Senate labored into the night on its version of the measure, rejecting Democratic calls for amendments, but ratifying a concession Dole made to GOP moderates seeking more funds for education. The vote was 99-0 to restore $5.9 billion.

Near midnight, GOP unity fractured momentarily when lawmakers voted to require states to provide aid to the disabled under Medicaid.

Demand for durable goods surged for second month in a row

WASHINGTON (AP) — Factory demand for big-ticket durable goods surged in September for the second straight month. But analysts, noting most of the gains were concentrated in volatile aircraft orders, said there is little reason to expect an inflationary boom.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that orders for items expected to last at least three years rose 3 percent in September. And that was on top of an upwardly revised 5.1 percent leap in August, the biggest jump in a year.

But most evidence suggests an economy expanding only moderately, analysts said. The government on Friday will announce gross domestic product for the third quarter, the most comprehensive measure of economic growth. The economy expanded at an anemic annual rate of 1.3 percent in the second quarter, but signs point to more rapid growth since then.

The durable goods report "does not show the economy is picking up speed that can be an inflationary threat," said economist Stuart Hoffman of PNC Bank Corp. "The economy is not too hot and it's not too cold."

"The economy still has momentum leaving the third quarter," said Commerce Undersecretary Everett Ehrlich. "The soft landing is at hand. The question is what will be the trajectory of the takeoff afterward."

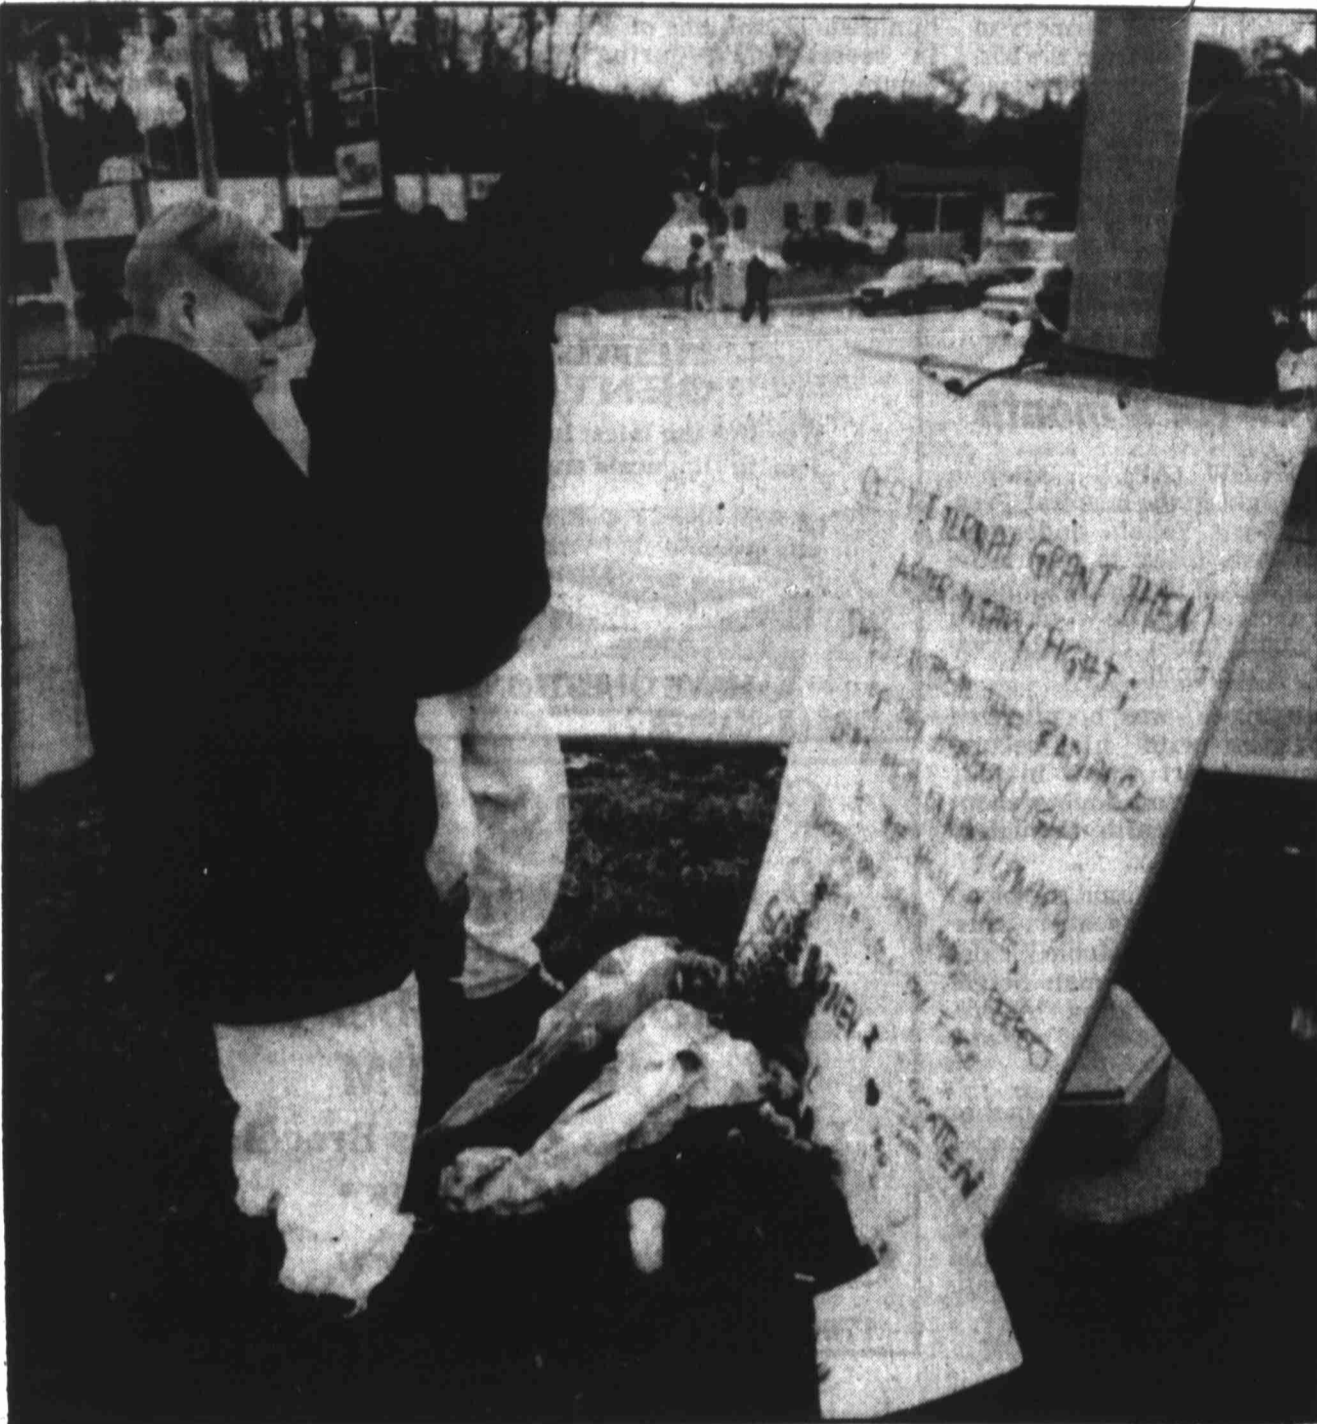

In another report, the Labor Department said the number of American workers filing first-time claims for jobless benefits was unchanged last week, the first time it has not risen in a month. New applications for unemployment insurance were a seasonally adjusted 369,000, a total analysts said is consistent with sluggish job growth.

The surprisingly strong durable goods report could have contributed to inflation fears on Wall Street, analysts said. The price of the key 30-year Treasury bond fell, pushing its yield in the opposite direction to 6.39 percent. The Dow Jones industrial average plunged 49.86 points due to other concerns.

Orders totaled a seasonally adjusted $169 billion in September, up from $164.1 billion a month earlier.

Brent Hall, 14, left, and Jamie Vayrak, 14, read a sign Thursday placed at the scene of Wednesday's school bus crash in Fox Grove, Ill. The wreck killed seven students and injured about 30 others.

'She did not hear a horn'

FOX RIVER GROVE, ILL. (AP) — A school bus driver told investigators she faced a red light and heard no warning on a railroad crossing before a commuter train slammed into her bus and killed seven students.

Investigators are trying to determine why the bus carrying 35 students sat at the traffic light Wednesday with about 31/2 feet of its rear in the path of the train that barreled through at up to 60 mph.

The driver, Patricia Catenkamp, told investigators the traffic light at the crossing never turned green, she didn't hear any warnings from students, and never saw or heard the train.

"There was a lot of chaos on the bus," National Transportation Safety Board member John Goglia said Thursday night as the on-scene investigation wrapped up. "She did not hear a horn."

Five students died Wednesday, and two more died Thursday after they were taken off life support. Eight other students remained hospitalized, one in critical condition.

Goglia said regardless of whether the driver saw the train, she would have had little time to react.

The NTSB said approaching trains trip sensors embedded in the tracks that prompt warning gates to lower, lights to flash and bells to ring. At the same moment, the traffic signal begins to change, eventually turning green to allow vehicles to clear out of the way.

Goglia said tests indicate the light would turn green 18 seconds after the train hit the sensor. Trains traveling the route in the last two days typically have taken 20 to 25 seconds from the time they trip the sensor to the time they reach the crossing, Goglia said.

That would leave just two to seven seconds after the light turned green for the driver to get the bus in gear and move off the track before the train hit.

The train's engineer saw the bus enter the intersection and stop with the end of the bus protruding onto the tracks, Goglia said. The engineer said he blew his horn and used an emergency brake but couldn't stop.

Moments before the collision, the police chief and an engineer arrived to investigate several public complaints about the signal. But state Transportation Department spokesman Dick Adorjan said the signal was working properly just before the crash.

Sniper opens fire on Fort Bragg, one killed

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — A sniper opened fire today on soldiers exercising at Fort Bragg, killing one and wounding at least 15 others. A soldier stationed at the fort was arrested.

The shooting occurred about 6:30 a.m. in an open training field where members of the elite 82nd Airborne Division routinely perform callisthenics before starting work.

"A suspect was arrested and is in custody," base spokesman Gene Sexton said.

A Pentagon spokesman, Lt. Col. Lee Hockman, said the gunman was an Army soldier but he had no other information on the man's identity.

Television station WTVD in Durham reported officials were searching for a second suspect but base officials did not confirm that.

"At this time we don't know of another suspect," said staff Sgt. Tim Donahue.

Reports on the number of wounded ranged from 15 to 17.

Soldiers were taken to Womack Army Hospital and civilian hospitals were put on alert to help with the casualties.

One soldier was dead on arrival at the Army hospital.

On the run for three days, N. Korean spy shot, killed

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — After eluding a massive manhunt for three days, a North Korean spy was fatally shot this morning when he tried to break through a tightening cordon of commandos on a thickly wooded mountain.

Park Kwang Nam had been on the run since Tuesday, when he escaped a shootout that killed a South Korean police officer, wounded two others and left his compatriot, Kim Do Shik, in custody.

South Korean officials promised even tighter security in the wake of the incursion — and another last week in which a North Korean infiltrator was shot and killed near the border.

After exchanging fire with his pursuers twice Tuesday night, Park, 31, managed to elude 20,000 soldiers and police, sniffer dogs and nearly two dozen helicopters.

Today, trapped on remote Sok-song Mountain and wounded in the leg, he made a run for it.

"The spy was lying down, hidden in the forest, looking down at the searchers," said Lance Cpl. Chung In-yong, 22, who was the first to spot Park. "I didn't have time to be scared. I just thought I had to capture him."

Within seconds of being spotted, Park opened fire on Chung and two other soldiers. The soldiers shot back and hit Park at least three times in the legs and head.

Park ran 30 yards up the mountain before he collapsed, four bullets still in his gun.

Commandos carried him down the mountain face down on a stretcher, his bloodied hands tied behind his back. Yonhap TV reported that his leg was bandaged, indicating he was injured in Tuesday's gun battle.

Park was taken to a military hospital, where doctors initially declared him dead. But further checks detected signs of life, and he was flown comatose to a Seoul hospital, where he died three hours later.

Police said Park was carrying a Belgian-made pistol with a silencer, about $115 in Korean currency, $1,500 in U.S. currency and a fake identification card.

Residents of a village at the bottom of the hill cheered when Park was hit. Some farmers in the area, 100 miles from the border, had been reluctant to come out to harvest their rice.

"I feel relieved now," Lee Bopan, a 47-year-old farmer, told the Yonhap news service. "For the past four days, I was afraid to come out after dark fell, and I was not comfortable even while sleeping."

But for most South Koreans, who have endured decades of tensions with North Korea, the latest spy chase has been overshadowed by a snowballing political scandal. Former President Roh Tae-woo apologized to the nation Friday for stashing hundreds of millions of dollars in secret funds during his tenure.

Political leaders, however, were taking the incursion as an escalation of the tensions that have persisted since the 1950-53

Korean War ended in an uneasy armistice.

Government officials said the incident has made them even more suspicious of communist North Korea, and that they would strengthen security measures. The Koreans never signed a peace treaty, and are still technically at war.

"The incident proves that the North Korean slogans of peace and reconciliation are nothing but deceitful propaganda. We will not sit and watch if a similar incident happens again," said the Unification Board, the agency in charge of relations with North Korea.

Canadians rally to keep Quebec

MONTREAL (AP) — Three days before a vote that could split their country, Canadians poured into Montreal by the thousands from distant cities and towns to implore Quebec today not to secede.

Their rally, which police said could draw up to 70,000 people, was viewed by federalists as a chance to regain momentum from the surging separatists heading into Monday's too-close-to-call referendum.

But separatist leader Lucien Bouchard said Quebecers wouldn't be swayed.

"We know what it means — this bogus demonstration that they're going to hold, to trick us and make us believe that they love us," Bouchard said.

"They are going to come here to tell us that they love us at 10 percent of the ticket price that is being subsidized by Canadian Airlines, contrary to our laws."

He was referring to discounted "unity fares" offered by two airlines and the national railway to Canadians traveling to the rally. Quebec officials say the discounts represent illegal contributions to the "no" campaign.

Thousands of Nova Scotians attend a national unity concert in Halifax Thursday to show their support for keeping Quebec in Canada. Canadians coast to coast organized vigils, concerts and rallies in a last-ditch effort to dissuade Quebecers from voting for secession next week in a referendum that could fracture the nation.

Avalanche kills 19

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — An avalanche of snow roared through a village in northwestern Iceland before dawn Thursday, killing 19 people and sweeping homes off their foundations.

By dark Thursday, 10 people had been rescued and a 1-year-old girl was still missing in the coastal village of Flateyri, 155 miles north of Reykjavik, said civil defense worker Johannes Reykdal.

"This is a tragedy that concerns everyone in Iceland," civil defense spokesman Hjortur

Hjarturson said. "We are such a small country, everyone's like family."

He said four of those rescued with the most serious injuries were flown by helicopter to hospitals in Reykjavik and elsewhere. Others who were injured and homeless were taken to a makeshift hospital set up in the Kambur fish-processing plant.

Heart problems keeping Yeltsin down for a month

MOSCOW (AP) — After a quiet night in the hospital, President Boris Yeltsin underwent more tests today to determine the extent of his heart ailment, and doctors said he would have to remain under close observation for a month.

Yeltsin, 64, was hospitalized Thursday with his second apparent heart attack in four months, reviving doubts about whether he is healthy enough to rule Russia.

Doctors today found the blood supply to Yeltsin's heart muscles remained "unstable," chief presidential spokesman Sergei Medvedev said, adding: "At present, there are no signs of heart failure."

Doctors concluded that Yeltsin "will have to stay under their close control" until late November, the ITAR-Tass news agency reported. It was unclear whether that meant he would have to remain in the hospital.

Exercise teaches lesson in feelings of discrimination

DALLAS (AP) — Catherine Fischer said she was only mildly annoyed when the teacher made her move to the back of the class.

But a few minutes later in the hallway, the 21-year-old senior from Houston was plainly irritated.

"I'm really mad now, because I can't use the ladies' room," she said.

Ms. Fischer was wearing a red button, and at Southern Methodist University Thursday, that meant she was a member of the "oppressed" group — and subservient to all those students wearing blue buttons.

Across the SMU campus, it was "Red and Blue Day" — a daylong simulation to allow students to experience firsthand the discrimination that was commonplace in the South as late as the 1960s.

Only students with blue buttons could enter a building through the front door and use the elevators, main stairways, main walkways, vending machines or water fountains.

The most comfortable seating areas in lounges were reserved for those with blue buttons. The red and blue buttons were passed out randomly Wednesday night, and it wasn't until Thursday morning that students learned who were among the privileged class and who were to be discriminated against.

Valerie Berry, 20, a junior from Killeen, said that in one of her classes, she was one of only two students wearing a red button.

"They would not let class start until we moved to the back," she said.

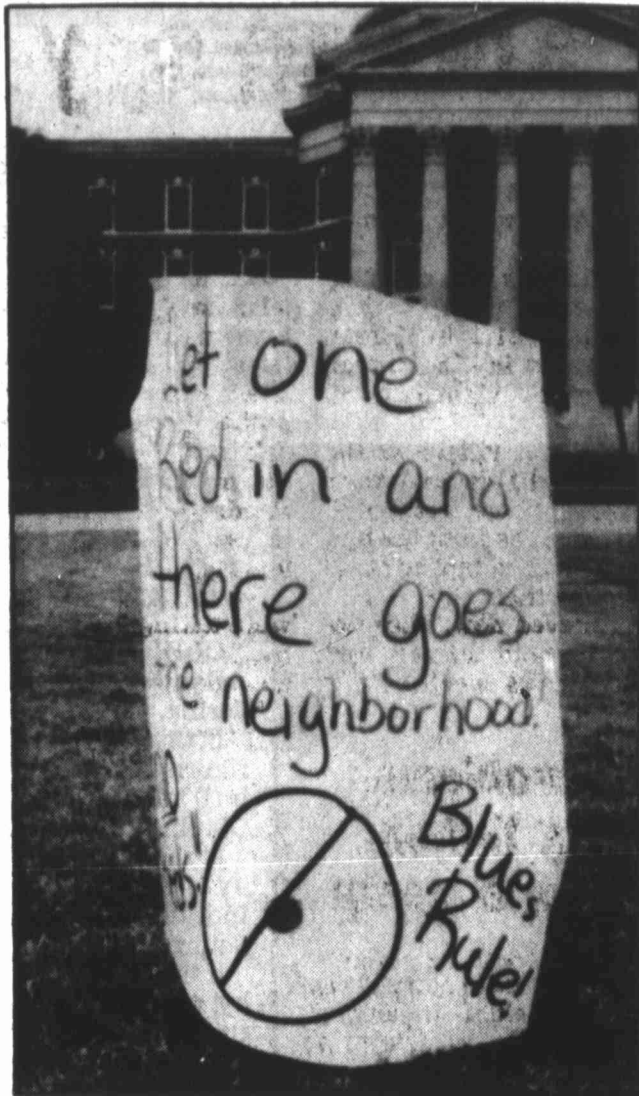

Sandra Greer, 21, of Baltimore was wearing red, and she said her friends wouldn't let her forget it.

"If you have a red button, you're not allowed to speak to someone wearing a blue button unless they speak to you first, and one of my friends told me, 'Hey, don't you look at me.' But I've made some new friends, among other people wearing red buttons. The reds, I think, feel the need to bond more than the others," she said.

Ms. Greer is black, but said, "I never experienced discrimination to this extent before, so it's good to see what it's like."

"It really hasn't been that different for me than any other day," said Becky Davis, 18, a freshman from Fort Worth.

"I'm wearing a blue button, so I haven't had to find the alternate routes to get around, like those wearing red buttons have. But I almost wish I were a red. The other students look at me like I'm an oppressor, and I don't like being the bad guy."

A sign in front of a building at Southern Methodist University in Dallas reads "Let one red in and there goes the neighborhood. Blues Rule."

but we have recently learned that there are modifications that needed to be made to those procedures that we did not use." He said he learned of those modifications Wednesday, one day after receiving the negative results from the CDC.

The preliminary results from blood samples sent by a Laredo veterinarian to TDH laboratories in Austin last month showed the puppy had extremely high plague antibody counts.

Saldivar given life

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury Thursday sentenced Yolanda Saldivar, convicted of killing Tejano singing star Selena, to life in prison.

The jury deliberated nine hours over two days, with one juror arguing against life imprisonment for a time. The punishment was among seven options the panel considered, ranging from the maximum life in prison and $10,000 fine to a minimum of probation.

The prosecution had asked for the maximum. The defense sought probation.

The life term means Ms. Saldivar will have to serve at least 30 years in prison before she is eligible for parole.

A loud cheer went up from outside the courthouse and horns immediately began blaring from cars driving around the courthouse.

As lead attorney Douglas Tinker stood with his arm around her, Ms. Saldivar, wearing a white suit, stood and listened as state District Judge Mike Westergren read the jury's decision on punishment.

After hearing it, she began to cry. Her family, seated directly behind her in court, also began sobbing.

Westergren asked if she had anything to say.

"No sir," she replied quietly as her other lawyers began hugging her.

Woman raped, beaten while driven around town

PHARR (AP) — Stripped and screaming, a woman was brutally beaten and repeatedly raped in the back seat of an automobile as her attackers drove through this South Texas town before police spotted them.

A police officer who had stopped Thursday to issue a traffic ticket to another driver saw the 20-year-old woman, half-naked and yelling, in the back of a passing car, said Pharr Assistant Chief Jesse Medina.

"It's very possible she wouldn't have made it through the ordeal if a police officer hadn't seen her," Medina said.

He said the rape was so brutal the two men might have beaten her to death if they hadn't been caught.

"They beat her very badly and were using a beer bottle to rape her," he said.

Juan Cruz Diaz, 22, and Julian Samudio Hernandez, 26, remained in Hidalgo County jail today in lieu of $700,000 bonds each on charges of aggravated kidnapping and aggravated sexual assault.

The bonds were set by Pharr Municipal Court Judge Anthony Garcia.

Diaz is accused of raping the woman while Hernandez cheered him on, driving the car throughout Pharr city streets, said Medina.

"The driver supposedly kept asking, 'When is it going to be my turn?' and telling Diaz to hurry up," he said.

The woman was leaning out of a car window trying to escape when officers stopped the vehicle after 1 a.m. on Business Highway 83. They said she was shaking and hysterical.

The woman was taken to McAllen Medical Center, where she was listed in stable condition by early today.

Medina said the woman had hitched a ride with the men from a San Juan bar where she worked after closing time at midnight.

Senators gain more Medicaid money for Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a hard, lengthy stint at the bargaining table, Texas' two senators have emerged with $5 billion more in Medicaid funds for the state.

The eleventh-hour deal with GOP leaders was announced late Thursday by Republican Sens. Phil Gramm and Kay Bailey Hutchison, the day before a pivotal Senate vote on a massive budget reconciliation package that is crucial to the GOP's agenda.

The two senators, and Gov. George W. Bush, had been displeased by the Senate Finance Committee's decision last month to give Texas $5 billion less than the House did in its Medicaid rewrite.

The lesser funding would have been "devastating," said Mrs. Hutchison, who agreed to negotiate on behalf of Texas and a dozen other states receiving less under the Senate formula.

Sick puppy mistakenly diagnosed with bubonic plague

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — What began as a case of bubonic plague from a colonia along the Texas-Mexico border has ended as a sick puppy with no traces of the contagious disease after a state agency retested the animal.

The Texas Department of Health mistakenly concluded the seriously ill puppy had tested positive for exposure to the plague, a researcher in the TDH Laredo office said Thursday.

But Dr. Gayne Fearneyhough, a veterinarian in the TDH division of zoonosis control, said further testing by a national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention laboratory in Fort Collins, Colo., showed the puppy had neither plague antibodies nor an active plague infection.

"The lab results from the CDC are going to come back totally negative," said Fearneyhough. "We ran our laboratory tests according to accepted protocols, but we have recently learned that there are modifications that needed to be made to those procedures that we did not use."

He said he learned of those modifications Wednesday, one day after receiving the negative results from the CDC.

The preliminary results from blood samples sent by a Laredo veterinarian to TDH laboratories in Austin last month showed the puppy had extremely high plague antibody counts.

'THE BULLDOG' BITES BACK

Cleveland's Orel Hershiser pitches to the Atlanta Braves during Game 5 of the World Series Thursday.

Hershiser leads Indians to 5-4 Game 5 Series win

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Atlanta Braves must be wondering.
If the Cleveland Indians can figure out Greg Maddux, what will they do against Tom Glavine?
If the Tribe can be inspired by a brushback pitch, what indignity will they seize upon Saturday?
If this World Series isn't over by now, could it be possibly turn out like the last two the Braves were involved in?
The Braves had plenty of time to think about it on their flight back home after losing 5-4 in Game 5 on Thursday night. With everything set up perfectly for the coronation of Maddux as the hero and the Braves as the true best team in baseball, they couldn't come through.
"I think the pressure is on them because they definitely have something to lose and they've lost the last two World Series they've participated in," said Orel Hershiser, who threw eight innings and outpitched Maddux.
The series resumes Saturday night in Atlanta with Tom Glavine, the winner of Game 2, facing 40-year-old Dennis Martinez. Today will be a day for the Braves to ponder what went wrong.

The first thing was a high, inside pitch that Maddux threw to Eddie Murray in the first inning after Albert Belle homered for a quick 2-0 lead. Murray took a couple of steps toward Maddux before home plate umpire Frank Pulli stepped in front of him. Both benches cleared, the crowd got into it and the Indians seized upon it.
"Believe it or not, I think the confrontation between them was the key. It got us fired up and it got the fans fired up. It takes little things like that to get everybody excited," said Jim Thome, who drove in the go-ahead run in the sixth inning and added a mammoth home run to, straightaway center in the eighth that ended up being the deciding run.
The Indians fared much better against Maddux than they did in Game 1, when he held them to a season-low two hits.

Big Spring JV, freshmen falter

By DARRELL ERICSON
Sports writer

The Big Spring junior varsity took it on the chin Thursday, falling to Abilene High JV by a 27-18 score.
Big Spring took the opening kickoff 80 yards to set up the first touchdown of the game, a 3-yard run by Jacob Rios.
Abilene High followed the same script on its first possession, taking the kickoff downfield and scoring on their first snap of the ball.
Both team's defenses toughened, holding each other scoreless the remainder of the first half. Abilene had the halftime lead 7-6.
Two turnovers proved costly for Big Spring in the third as Abilene made the score 27-6.
In the fourth quarter the Steers mounted a comeback drive. Sky Massengill scored on a 1-yard run to finish a 68-yard drive.

The Steers scored again on a 60-yard pass from Gay Mendoza to John Loudermilk.
The Steers' comeback was cut short when Abilene took the ball and ran down the clock to finish the scoring at 27-18.
The junior varsity will stay home to play Monahans next Thursday at 6 p.m. at Blakenship Field.

Odessa 10th 54 Big Spring 9th 6

Big Spring's only touchdown came in the second quarter after Odessa was up by two scores.
John Paul scored on a 12-yard run.
Odessa scored three touchdowns in the second quarter, two in the third, and one in the fourth.
The freshmen team will play Snyder at Memorial Stadium

Monahans defeated Ruppel's A-team by scoring on a fumble and an interception. Ruppel's defense played an outstanding game, not allowing Monahans any offensive scores.
It was a different story for Ruppel's B-team. The B-team delivered a 38-0 shutout.
Jeremy Ballos began the Yearlings scoring off a bad punt snap. Following Ballos was Oscar Solis, scoring on a 4-yard run.

Luis Porras scored on a 15-yard run to finish the scoring in the first half.
In the second half Jimmy Hawkins started the scoring with a 40-yard run. Following was Ruben Muniz with a 5-yard quarterback sneak and Porras' second touchdown, a 60-yard run.

Runnels will play here next Thursday at 5 and 6:30 p.m.

The Mavericks' Black team scored the first touchdown of the game on a 20-yard run by Coby Ford.
Scoring the second touchdown was Chris Martinez on a 7-yard run.

Tennis, cross country teams hit crunch time

By DARRELL ERICSON
Sports writer

The Big Spring tennis team was one set away from winning district outright, losing to Andrews last Saturday.
Now they travel to Lubbock for the regional tournament to gain what was lost.
"This is the first time in two years that we haven't won district outright. The team is very determined and ready to show what kind of team they are," Assistant coach Sarah Course said.
The Steers will probably be the third or fourth seed in the tournament and may meet state power Wichita Falls in the semi-finals.

Course said, "Wichita Falls has won the region the past six years. Facing them off the bat will be tough."
The Steers record is 6-5-1, "We consider Andrews a tie," Course said. The team will face four teams that have been ranked in and out of the top 20 all year.
Course said, "Borger, Andrews, Hereford, and Burkburnett will be tough teams to face. We don't know who we will be playing until we get there, be we have to have four team wins to advance to state."
The whole team will go to the tournament, but only the top six will play for the boys and girls. For the boys, Hsiao-

Hsuan Li, Kagen Welch, Jeff Johnston, Kaine Stroup, Jeff Moss, and Drew McKimmey will get the start.
"The boys have performed up to expectations. They came in strong and continued to get stronger," Course said.
The top six girls that will start are Monica Villarreal, Heidi McIntyre, Stephanie Lewis, Christina Vera, Kylee Welch and Yu-Ching Li. Kim Dominguez will arrive late Saturday to join the line up.
"The girls have been a big asset as far as winning. They have come a long way and are still getting better," Course said.

Is Case bitter at old team? You bet

IRVING, Texas (AP) — If Scott Case sounds bitter about his playing experience with the Atlanta Falcons, it's only because he is.
"After all I helped them, they thanked me by kicking me out the door," Case said.
"I'm really looking forward to Sunday's game. My ideal day would be a couple of picks (interceptions) and beat them by 50. That would be nice."

Case starts at safety for the Dallas Cowboys, a position he played for 11 seasons with Atlanta, in Sunday's game at the Georgia Dome.
Also facing his former teammates Sunday will be Deion Sanders, who is expected to play both defense and offense, and possibly special teams.
The Falcons said they dumped Case for youth.
"We felt he was injured a lot and we drafted younger players so it was time to go in another direction," said

Atlanta coach June Jones.
"Case has proved he can still play in Dallas."
Case said he can't help being irate at Falcons management.
"I thought I would play there a long time," Case said.
"I thought I would end my career there."
Case said his dismissal came "completely out of the blue. The way they did it has a lot to do with the way I feel. I did a lot for the Falcons and then all of a sudden I have Taylor Smith and some of the other management going the

Selig miffed at Astros

HERNDON, Va. (AP) — Bud Selig, the acting commissioner of baseball, says Houston Astros owner Drayton McLane shouldn't be talking with a group intent on bringing baseball to northern Virginia.
McLane and the group led by telecommunications executive William Collins III have held talks about selling the team. Both McLane and Collins say no deal has yet been worked out.
But Selig, speaking to reporters before Game 5 of the World Series in Cleveland, said McLane has not gotten permission to even talk with Collins.
"There are certain guidelines we cannot tolerate not following," Selig said. "This is one."
"A team hasn't moved in 24 years. Our policies are geared toward trying to keep a team where it is."

Mayfair leads at Tour Championship

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — With tight fairways, thick rough and firm greens, Southern Hills Country Club has been set up to play like a course being used for a major championship. That's just the way Billy Mayfair approached it.

Mayfair survived gusty winds and a course that yielded just four sub-par scores by shooting a 2-under 68 Thursday for a one-stroke lead over three players after the first round of the $3 million Tour Championship.

The wind should have been expected — this is the state where the wind comes sweepin' down the plains — yet Mayfair, who said he planned for two weeks to play in windy conditions, seemed to be the only one prepared for it.

"I just tried to hold on and kept hitting good shots, just on hitting fairways, and set myself up so if I didn't make birdie, I was having a lot of tap-in pars," Mayfair said.

Series

They did so by making an adjustment, moving a step closer to the plate, going for opposite-field hits and swinging at several first-pitch strikes.

"Down there, we had 17 or 19 ground balls and he broke six bats, but I felt tonight after seeing him once we had a better approach of how we wanted to hit him. We decided we can move up on the plate and take the away balls away. That ball, if you move up on the plate, becomes a better ball to hit," hitting coach Charlie Manuel said.

Never was that more evident than during Thome's pivotal at-bat in the sixth. Maddux had an 0-2 count on Thome, and all he needed was one more strike to end the threat, maybe something on the inside portion of the plate like the first two strikes he got on Thome.

Instead, he aimed for the outside and left it knee-high over the plate. Thome, a pull hitter, shortened his swing and slapped it up the middle for the go-ahead run.

"Maddux was pounding Thome in and was doing a good job on it. The ball Thome hit was a breaking ball away that he did not get where he wanted, I thought. It was up, and he put wood on it," Manuel said.

The single scored Carlos Baerga, who led off the inning with a double to the opposite field. Manny Ramirez followed with another single to the opposite field, scoring Belle from third.

Thome then gave Cleveland a 5-2 lead in the eighth with a solo homer off Brad Clontz that cleared the 19-foot-high wall in dead center by at least 30 feet. The Indians ended up needing it because Ryan Klesko homered for the third straight game, hitting a two-run shot with two outs in the ninth off Jose Mesa. The next batter, Mark Lemke, struck out swinging to end the game.

"Everybody was picking us to lose in batting practice tonight, but we were very strong mentally. It was a big win for us because now we face Glavine and we've got the momentum on our side," Sandy Alomar said.

No team since the Kansas City Royals in 1985 has lost a World Series after taking a 3-1 lead, but the Braves are a team with a history of crushing defeats in October.

In 1991, they had a 3-2 lead over Minnesota, but lost the final two games. In 1992, they won the first game against Toronto and then proceeded to lose the next three.

"I feel good that we're going to be back in front of the home crowd. Things have gone as planned (winning one of the three in Cleveland) and when we get to Atlanta, we'll be all right," Chipper Jones said.

Maybe so. But the revised plan was to have Greg Maddux end it Thursday night. It didn't happen that way, and the Braves know it. You can bet they're thinking about it, too.

The players will play individually as well as doubles. It will be a combined effort in order to advance. Course said, "This is what make tennis unique. It is the only sport where boys and girls have to rely on one another to win."

Playing doubles for the boys are Li and Welch, Johnston-Turner, and Stroup-McKimmey. For the girls Villereal and Vera will be together until Dominguez arrives. McIntyre and Li and Lewis-Welch are matched up.

"We have made it to the semi-finals since '89 and show no troubles in getting there again. Our biggest goal is to make it to state as a team. Our last appearance in state was with the '89 team. We want to be there again," Course said.

The Steers will begin play Friday morning and will finish Saturday.

Case said the Falcons will never get to the Super Bowl under the current ownership.

"This organization is so much different than the Falcons," Case said. "I felt something different in this locker room. This organization goes out and gets the players who can win. It will never happen in Atlanta."

Case, who was picked up as a free agent, has "been thinking about this game since I signed. I won't sleep Saturday night."

The Cowboys hope to take full advantage of Case's knowledge of the Atlanta four-receiver "Red Gun" set.

The first touchdown was set up by a 35-yard run by Tyrone Davis.

The second touchdown was on another pass from Williams, but Davis was on the receiving end of the 48-yard play.

Stanton's defense played an all-around good game, holding the Hawks scoreless. Chad Smith led the team in tackles with 13.

Tyrone Davis and Chester Cobb each had an interception. The record for the junior varsity is now 7-1. The junior Buffs will be in Winters next Thursday at 6 p.m.

It was a close game for Forsan's undefeated junior varsity. Wes Osburn, tailback for Forsan, started off the scoring with his 58-yard TD run.

The Buffs was able to attain one touchdown in each quarter and Osburn had a hand in them all.

Osburn scored his second touchdown in the second quarter, his third in the third and his fourth in the fourth.

Osburn's second touchdown was a 5-yard run. In the third Osburn completed a 12-yard pass to Paul Kinsey to add to the score and had a 12-yard run in the fourth.

Coahoma's scoring drives were not available at press time and no other information was available.

Forsan's junior varsity will travel to Sterlting City to put the undefeated season on the line. Coahoma will stay home and take on Jim Ned.

Action begins with the varsity girls' run at 10 a.m. Varsity boys, junior varsity girls and JV boys will follow in order.

Big Spring, long a power in district cross country, has been in a rebuilding mode this season.

The junior and sophomore-dominated squad faces an uphill struggle in the team title race, where San Angelo Lake View is the pre-meet favorite in both the boys and girls divisions.

The top two teams and top 10 individuals qualify for the regional meet, to be held in Lubbock.

The BSHS boys' best bet for a regional qualifier appears to be Jason Sanderson. Sanderson transferred from Pennsylvania and has shown steady improvement. He is coming off a season-best fourth-place finish at last week's Levelland meet.

For the Lady Steers, there appears to be two strong possibilities in junior Tonya Phifer and sophomore Marisol Carnero. Carnero qualified for regionals last year.

"Whatever they do they won't surprise us much."

"They like to slip wide receivers across the middle. They will pay if they do that this week."

The Cowboys plan on using from six to seven defensive backs to combat the Falcons' run-and-shoot. So Case, who has been playing behind strong safety Darren Woodson, should get plenty of chances.

Case said Jeff George is a solid quarterback but not of championship quality.

"He's a great talent but you have to question whether he can take them to a Super Bowl," Case said. "We need to put pressure on him. He doesn't like to get hit."

And Case plans to do plenty of that on Sunday.

Stars maintain hold over Ducks

DALLAS (AP) — In the past, NHL teams knew if you shut down Mike Modano and Dave Gagner, the Dallas Stars could be beaten.

So coach Bob Gainey came into the season looking for scoring from other sources and got it Thursday night as the Stars defeated the Anaheim Mighty Ducks for the seventh straight time, 5-2 Thursday night.

Dallas received a tiebreaking second-period goal from 20-year-old second-year right wing Todd Harvey and rookies Jamie Langenbrunner and Jere Lehtinen notched their first NHL goals.

The Stars were supposed to struggle for scoring this season but thus far they're among the league leaders with 34 goals.

"Everybody's got to score," Harvey said after the Stars remained unbeaten (2-0-2) in their last four games. "It can't be just Mike and Dave. Others have to chip in if we're going to help the team."

Modano added a second-period goal to tie Gagner for the team lead with six goals each.

Showalter calls it quits with Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Part of the deal for managers of the New York Yankees is they leave when owner George Steinbrenner tells them to leave.

Before hiring Buck Showalter, Steinbrenner employed 12 different managers — and fired 11.

On Thursday, Showalter left the Yankees on his own terms. He called Steinbrenner from his home in Pensacola, Fla., and said he was rejecting a two-year, $1.05 million contract and will not return to the team next season.

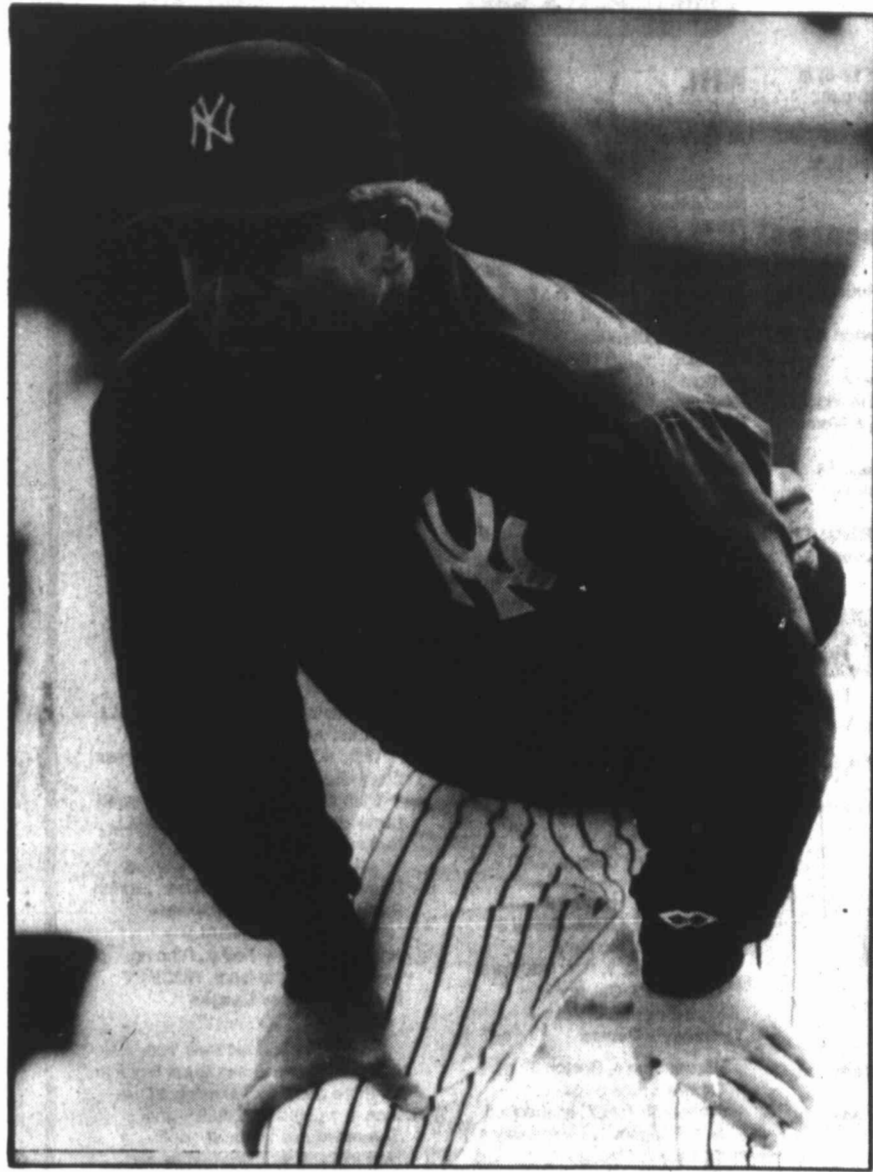

The Yankees called the parting "amicable."

Showalter's four-year term is remarkable by Yankees standards, being the longest uninterrupted stretch of any of the 12 previous managers since Steinbrenner bought the team in 1973.

With his contract to expire Tuesday, Showalter met twice this week with Steinbrenner to discuss an extension.

Steinbrenner said he attempted to get Showalter to meet with him to discuss two issues — length of contract and coaching staff.

Steinbrenner said Showalter was satisfied with the contract offer, even "flattered" by it. The owner also said he offered to give the manager the right to select his coaching staff "almost in total," and to discuss the possibility of lengthening his contract.

"I was willing to talk about a third year, and willing to let him keep all his coaches but one," Steinbrenner told the New York Daily News. "I told him I was willing to talk about all those things. But it was obvious I couldn't budge him."

Steinbrenner told the News he would have relented on almost everything except the return of Rick Down. Steinbrenner did not want the hitting coach on Showalter's staff for reasons he said he "wouldn't make public."

Showalter said there was no mention of negotiation.

According to the owner, Showalter said he "didn't want to get into a negotiating thing."

"We tried, but we were unable to dissuade Buck," Steinbrenner said. "I have nothing but praise for Buck and the job he did for us, and I told him I am very upset by his leaving. I wish Buck and his fine little family nothing but the best. There will be no criticism in any way from me."

Showalter's service is the longest uninterrupted stretch for a Yankees manager since Ralph Houk's seven straight seasons (1967-73). Houk was the only other manager under Steinbrenner to leave voluntarily.

Dallas becomes next stop for Bulldog band

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

COAHOMA - 1995 is the year 1A, 2A, and 4A schools can advance in marching band competition, and the Coahoma High School band is advancing.

Last Saturday afternoon in Abilene, the Bulldogs received Division I ratings in marching competition against bands from Rotan, Anson, Baird, Hamlin, Hawley, Stamford, Albany, Haskell, Cisco, and Tuscola.

This Saturday the band travels to Dallas-Fort Worth for competition at Hurst-Euless-Bedford ISD's Pennington Stadium. Only two of the 17 bands in Class 2A will advance to the state finals Nov. 6.

Bands have 15 minutes in the warm-up area to fix it all and be ready to go. They then move to the ready area and wait in formation during the preceding band's performance. From the time they enter the ready area until they leave after their performance, they're under the eye of the judges.

For members of the football team and others who haven't had a chance to see their competition show, the band will give a special performance Friday evening about an hour after the varsity game at the football stadium.

Band Director John Ivie says the students are looking forward to performing at Pennington Stadium, one of the largest stadiums in the Texas school system. Pennington Stadium's home side seats 15,000 spectators.

Clarinetist Tonia Sparks and other members of the Coahoma High School marching band practice on the stadium parking lot Thursday afternoon. The band is preparing for a regional contest in Dallas on Saturday.

Why do we save daylight?

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

The clock has brought many things into the world - set schedules, wages, being late - and Daylight Savings Time.

By the early 1700s, the clock rather than the sun controlled the progress of the workday, and thrifty types like Benjamin Franklin became aware that the way the clock and the sun disagreed in the summer wasted candles.

Franklin, in Poor Richard's Almanac, was one of the first to propose setting the clocks back to gather more daylight in the evening and save an hour or two's candle grease.

Credit for a definite plan for saving daylight goes to William Willett of Chelsea, England. His book, "Waste of Daylight," addressed the effect of early evenings on the England of the Industrial Revolution.

Congress passed the law advancing the clocks one hour the last Sunday in March and setting them back one hour the last Sunday in October in 1917, intending Daylight Savings Time to go into effect in 1918. The law was repealed in August 1919, because American farmers objected to having to rearrange their schedules.

Some states and municipalities adopted daylight savings time between the two world wars, giving rise to what some historians have called the "daylight wars." Merchants in municipalities that didn't have daylight savings time claimed merchants in neighboring towns were stealing their customers; farmers objected to having to get up an hour early to milk; and everyone complained about the confusion of never knowing what time it was in the next county.

During World War II, Congress established year-round daylight savings time beginning in February 1942 and ending in October 1945.

After the war, Daylight Savings Time continued its advance, and by 1966 all or parts of 36 states had some form of it. The battle of the clocks continued, and so did the confusion.

In 1967, Congress passed the Uniform Time Act, declaring all states using Daylight Savings time would adopt it from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October. States could exempt themselves, but only as a whole.

In 1972, the act was revised to allow exemption for states split by time zones, and in 1986 the beginning of summer time was moved from the last to the first Sunday in April.

Pockets of resistance remain - with the exception of a corner, Arizonans keep the entire state on Pacific Standard Time year-round, and portions of northern Indiana and Southern Illinois remain on Central Standard Time at all times.

By the way, Daylight Savings Time for 1995 ends Sunday at 2 a.m. Remember to set your clock back.

Christian training center expands

By GARY D. ROBERTSON
Associated Press Writer

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Nestled inside a steep mountain grove, a tiny resort inspired by Billy Graham has sprung up, dedicated to quiet, Christian contemplation.

Some might consider it heaven on earth. "You can listen to yourself think here," said Garrian McGhee, of Miami, sitting on a porch overlooking foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains. "Everybody has a smile. It makes it so peaceful."

The Billy Graham Training Center at The Cove started as a dream three decades ago. Graham envisioned a retreat where Christians could study the Bible, then return to churches and workplaces to live what they learned.

That dream has become reality. The Cove now boasts a conference building, two chalets for guests, facilities for youth camps, chapel and visitors center.

The purpose is to train people "so that they can win the world for Christ," said Jerry Miller, a retired Texaco vice president and the man Graham asked to come to Asheville and develop the center in 1983. "This is the legacy he wanted to have."

In the beginning, the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, Graham's parent organization, bought 1,500 acres just 20 miles from Graham's home in Montreat for a little over $1 million. Soon after, Graham and his wife, Ruth, hiked up the mountain, prayed and discussed their vision for the land.

The first structure was a small deck overlooking the property.

Jerry Miller, director of The Cove, sits under a portrait of evangelist Billy Graham at the training center for Christian leaders. Graham founded the mountain retreat near Asheville, N.C.

"You had a dirt road and a chain-link fence," said Miller, 67. "We would take people up to the overlook and show them what our dream was."

The overlook paid off. With help from major contributors, the center slowly took shape.

The Cove officially opened in 1987. The Chantlos Memorial Chapel was completed in 1989, the conference center opened in 1991, the Shepherd's Inn was added in 1992, followed by the Pilgrim's Inn last year.

Guest rooms have neither televisions nor radios, and newspapers are not sold on the property.

The $11.5 million conference building is The Cove's centerpiece. The 75,000-square-foot center includes a stone fireplace, dining hall, sunset-view porch, bookstore and a floor full of memorabilia from Graham's crusades and conferences.

Don't treat pets to Halloween candy

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

It's Halloween, and everybody's getting ready for the party. Costumes are being made and tried on, goodies are ready to be given out, times are being checked.

And the dog and the cat are sitting together, eyes bright, looking alert, interested, and eager to join the fun.

So what do you do to make Halloween safe and fun for your best friend?

Don't dress Mr. Dog up in a costume and take him trick-or-treating with you, for a number of reasons, Dr. Neal Tindol of Sierra Animal Clinic says.

"Mom and Dad have enough to do watching the kids without watching the dog as well," Tindol says, and the kids need to be watching for traffic.

While it may be fun to take the dog for a walk, managing a costume, a light, and a trick-or-treat bag can be awkward or possibly even dangerous, and you never know who you might meet.

If it's the neighbors' dog you might find yourself with a fight on your hands, and if it's the cat down the street she might take off with the dog after her and spoil your fun.

An excited dog could frighten other trick-or-treaters or cause damage to a neighbor's yard.

Sharing Halloween goodies with pets isn't a good idea, either. Dogs and cats, like people, are subject to tooth decay, but they can't brush their teeth. Sweets can also contribute to obesity, so it's best to avoid them.

Chocolate is especially harmful. The enzyme theobromine, which gives chocolate its mild psychoactive property (the reason eating chocolate makes you feel good), has an adverse effect on the feline and canine nervous system. It can cause illness, seizures, or even death in both dogs and cats.

However, you don't have to leave your pet out of the fun, even if you do leave them out of the candy. Let Mr. Dog help answer the door - a "fearsome beastie" will add to the thrill. (As long as he doesn't attack visitors.)

Kittie can pose in the window next to the jack-o-lantern, and both can keep the person who stays home company.

As for treats, a nice dog biscuit for Mr. Dog, or a spoonful of plain yogurt or cottage cheese for Kittie would be just fine. That'll be two fewer upset stomachs in the morning.

Halloween is a reminder the season is changing, and the weather is getting cooler. Like people, dogs and cats need to be acclimated to changing conditions, and need a good warm place to stay. And avoid extremes - too warm or too cold isn't good for anybody.

A brief history of BOOOOOOO

■ Or, how the scariest day of the year came to be

By MARY McATEER
Staff Writer

It's that time of year again. Store aisles are full of candy and costumes, weird figures are beginning to appear on front lawns and in windows, and the words "ghost," "goblin," "spooky," "creepy," and "spider" have entered the everyday vocabulary.

Soon, small figures dressed as Power Rangers, fairies, pirates, princesses, skeletons, or other creatures of myth and magic will appear in the dusk, carrying bags or baskets and greeting homeowners with the invocation "Trick or Treat."

Oh, sure - it's Halloween.

But how did all this get started?

In Europe, the autumn celebration originated with the great Celtic feast of Samhain, or SummerEnd. Bonfires were lit to commemorate the end of the growing season and bless the coming harvest. Games, dancing, mumming, and special foods marked the season.

In most of the world, the autumn festival is a festival of the dead - as the summer dies and the year ends, the spirits of ancestors are honored. Elements common to all feasts of the dead are special foods offered to the dead or to their representatives in the form of costumed dancers; lights and noises designed to attract friendly spirits and repel unfriendly ones; and games and decorations unique to the holiday.

During the seventh century, Pope Boniface IV established the Feast of All Saints to commemorate all saints, known and unknown; followed by the Feast of All Souls to commemorate the spirits of all who had lived. They were moved to their current dates, November 1 and 2, by Pope Gregory III in the eighth century.

Over the centuries since then, the autumn festival melded with the eve of All Saints or All Hallows, and thus became Halloween.

Ghosts, "spooks," and witches seem unique to American Halloween celebrations. Although there are many explanations, one of the earliest traces of those elements in America is in Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," with its headless horseman, spectral trees, and weird noises in the dark. Supernatural elements may also have been borrowed from the Mexican "Dia Del Muertos" and American Indian festivals of the dead.

Dressing up, or "mumming" can be traced to a number of European festivals, and "trick or treating," although an American phenomenon, seems related to the custom of was-sailing and to the Gaelic custom of giving cakes to the poor, who were then obligated to pray for a good harvest.

Exodus: Prison ministry volunteers work to change lives

By BETH PRATT
Lubbock Avalanche-Journal

LUBBOCK, Texas — Clifford was serving 99 years for attempted capital murder, a progression in crime that had begun when he was 13.

He was in his second prison term when he wrote Exodus Prison Ministry in Lubbock, asking for Bible study courses.

"I am told that despite my arrogance and my troublesome disposition that there is hope for me through Christ," he said, signing the letter, "Need Help Desperately, Yours truly, Clifford."

A dated notation in Clifford's closed file at Exodus shows that he was sent a long personal letter from an Exodus volunteer.

"Shortly thereafter, he went to a prison Bible study group and made a profession of his faith in Jesus," the file note says. "Two weeks later, he was found dead in his cell from an apparent heart attack."

Darryl wrote asking Exodus to send correspondence Bible studies to a friend in the Bexar County Jail.

"I have told her I have been doing them and how much they have helped me and changed my outlook on life ... they have brought me from a life of everyday sin to a life of walking with God and true freedom," he wrote.

Lisa wrote Exodus in 1991, shortly before she was scheduled to be released from prison. "Your ministry has been a light in a dark tunnel for me!" she said.

These excerpts from letters are representative of the mail that comes to Exodus, a locally-based ministry that has reached far beyond its initial beginning in 1983 to serve inmates in 34 states.

Exodus Prison Ministry began in 1983 at the home of Joyce and Weldon Hargis after the couple had been involved for a while in local prison ministry.

At first, Mrs. Hargis used "Back to the Bible" studies. She included list of questions to be answered by the inmate and returned for grading.

"It snowballed, and I found myself grading all the time," she said.

A friend advised her to incorporate so she could accept donations to help provide and send Bible study materials. She and her husband incorporated the work in 1983 as Exodus Prison Ministry.

They chose the name Exodus, she said, because their primary goal is to see people released from spiritual bondage.

Today, Exodus is enrolling about 75 inmates a month in the non-denominational Bible studies.

All the work is done by volunteers in an office provided by Highland Baptist Church. One volunteer group also prays weekly for the inmates Exodus serves.

The greatest need is for funds to pay the postage, which is running from $1,500 to $2,500 a month. All donations go directly to provide postage and materials. No one at Exodus is on something personal in there," Mrs. Hargis said. "These people (inmates) have had so little recognition; we let them know there are people who care."

Birthday cards made from church bulletin covers, with a small gift such as a bookmark enclosed, are sent to the inmates enrolled in the studies.

The exams covering the Bible material are extensive and require a lot of effort, she said. They are carefully graded by the volunteers. Certificates are awarded upon completion of the course work. A file is kept charting the progress of each inmate.

Exodus also operates a loan library, sending Christian-oriented books and magazines to inmates directly or giving books to the prison libraries.

God has a sense of humor

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does God have a sense of humor? Does the Bible ever say that God laughs? Or is it wrong to think of Him acting this way? -- G.J.

Billy Graham
Columnist

DEAR G.J.: Yes, God does have a sense of humor, although it is somewhat different from what we often label as humor. We, for example, often laugh at a person's misfortune (such as when a person slips and falls, or gets a pie in the face). But God's humor is deeper than that.

The Bible indicates God has a sense of humor first of all about things that are ridiculous or silly, and the Bible has many passages that have a touch of humor about them. Jesus, for example, spoke of those who kept little rules but overlooked God's command to practice justice and mercy:

"You blind guides! You strain out a gnat but swallow a camel" (Matthew 23:24). Surely that mental picture must have brought smiles to the faces of His listeners, even as they pondered His deeper meaning. Or think of poor Eutychus, the youth who is forever inscribed in the pages of the Bible for going to sleep while Paul was preaching and then falling out of a window! (See Acts 20:7-12).

The Bible also says that God laughs at all human pride and pretention which sets itself up against God. "The kings of the earth take their stand and the rulers gather together against the Lord and against his Anointed One. ... The One enthroned in heaven laughs; the Lord scoffs at them" (Psalm 2:2,4).

Clean humor is a gift of God - but it also points us to the seriousness of life, and our need to see life as God sees it and yield ourselves to Christ. That is why the Bible says we should not give ourselves to "obscenity, foolish talk or coarse joking, which are out of place, but rather thanksgiving" (Ephesians 5:4).

Take time to check smoke alarms

DEAR ABBY: I have been a member of the fire service for the past 20 years.

To this day, I am awestruck by the high number of needless home fire deaths and injuries that occur throughout America. Nationwide, 3,000 people die and 50,000 to 100,000 are injured each year in fire-related tragedies.

Abigail Van Buren
Columnist

The most troubling -- and most common -- evidence found in the rubble of home fires is smoke detectors with an old battery or no battery at all.

By sounding an early warning and providing critical extra seconds to escape, a working smoke detector doubles the chance of surviving a home fire.

An alarming fact is that a disproportionate number of minorities die in home fires. African Americans, for example, are three times as likely to die in a home fire as any other minority group.

As the 1995-96 president of everyone to adopt a simple but potentially lifesaving habit: Change the batteries in your smoke detectors when you change your clock back to standard time in October.

The "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery" program each year is the most effective way I know to remind Americans to make their homes a little bit safer.

Abby, please help us by reminding your readers to change their smoke detector batteries during the fall time-change weekend, Oct. 28-29. Thank you for helping us save lives. -- CHIEF P. LAMONT EWELL, OAKLAND FIRE DEPARTMENT

DEAR CHIEF EWELL: I'm glad to help. The importance of fire safety cannot be overstated. Changing the batteries in home smoke detectors provides an excellent opportunity for families to create -- and practice -- an escape route they can use in case of a fire emergency. Thank you for a timely letter.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I disagree about a point of etiquette and need you to settle it. She says that a person should never pick his or her teeth while at the table.

I say that if one uses a napkin to cover the mouth and quickly picks at the tooth with the "baby finger," it is acceptable.

My sister strongly disagrees. She says it is vulgar and very bad manners. What do the etiquette experts say? -- J.C. COSTA, WESTWOOD, MASS.

DEAR J.C.: Etiquette expert Letitia Baldrige says, "Never use a toothpick at the table, even if you feel you have a gravel pit in your mouth."

World travelers see Asians and Europeans pick their teeth at the table behind a napkin -- that maneuver, believe it or not, is considered acceptable. Some jewelry stores sell sterling silver as well as gold toothpicks that come with handsome leather cases.

Resource kits to help churches cope with AIDS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Southern Baptist organization hopes to educate its churches about AIDS and how they can respond when the disease touches someone in their own congregation.

"It's just a matter of time until every church has a person who is infected" or is a close relative or friend of someone with AIDS, said the Rev. Chip Miller, director of the Kentucky Baptist Convention's Sunday School program. His son, Stephen, died of AIDS in 1989.

"We get calls almost every week from pastors across the state" who have seen AIDS surface in their congregations and ask, "What do we do now?" Miller said.

To answer that question, the Woman's Missionary Union of Kentucky, an organization representing nearly 60,000 Baptist girls and women, released a new resource kit Wednesday that can be used by churches and other groups to educate people about AIDS.

The Kentucky affiliate has prepared materials that include information on hospice care, AIDS support groups and other organizations involved with AIDS work across Kentucky.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

SHE WON HER ARGUMENT WITH JESUS!

NOT MANY PEOPLE IN JESUS' DAY EVER ARGUED WITH THE MASTER AND WON! THE SCRIBES AND THE PHARISEES TRIED ON NUMEROUS OCCASIONS, WITH TRICKY POINTS OF LAW, BUT JESUS ALWAYS HAD THE ANSWER TO PUT THEM TO SHAME! HOWEVER, ONE WOMAN, NOT EVEN A JEW, BUT OF SYRIAN BIRTH, DID WHAT SEEMED THE IMPOSSIBLE—SHE WON OVER JESUS' OWN LOGIC....

...JESUS ALWAYS MAINTAINED THAT HIS MISSION WAS TO PREACH TO THE JEWS AND NO ONE ELSE AND, WHILE RESTING NEAR THE CITY OF TYRE, HE WAS APPROACHED BY THE WOMAN WHO, MOVED WITH CONCERN FOR HER SICK DAUGHTER, PLEADED FOR JESUS' HEALING—JESUS' ANSWER WAS IN ACCORD WITH HIS LOGIC....

...SPEAKING, AS WAS HIS WONT, IN PARABLE, HE INFORMED HER IT WAS HARDLY RIGHT TO TAKE THE "FOOD" (HIS HEALING) THAT WAS MEANT FOR THE "CHILDREN" (THE JEWS) AND CAST IT TO THE "DOGS" (GENTILES)... BUT THE WOMAN ANSWERED WITH SOME LOGIC OF HER OWN, "TRUTH, LORD, YET THE DOGS EAT OF THE CRUMBS WHICH FALL FROM THEIR MASTER'S TABLE." SO IMPRESSED WAS JESUS WITH THE WOMAN'S SINCERITY AND FAITH THAT HE COMMANDED HER AND TOLD HER THE DAUGHTER WOULD BE HEALED INSTANTLY!! (MATT 15:27, MARK 7:28)
