Early voting tells story as Jennings takes sheriff's win

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

After realizing the election was his Tuesday night, Howard County Sheriff-elect Bill Jennings took a sign of relief and said, "I'm very humble to the people of Howard County for selecting me as their sheriff."

Jennings, running as a Republican, defeated Democratic challenger Barney Edens by a 59.85 percent to 40.15 percent margin, receiving 5,881 votes to Edens' 3,945 votes.

County Republican Party Chairman Lanny Hamby said early Tuesday evening that he thought the early voting numbers would tell the story as far as who was elected. Hamby's prediction was almost on the money.

Jennings received 63.30 percent of the early vote (2,980) to Edens' 36.70 percent (1,728) of the early vote. The final tally showed Jennings dropped just 3.5 percent from his early vote lead.

After the race had been decided, Edens said, "I think the race went real well. I congratulate Bill (Jennings) and I especially want to thank my friends who got out and campaigned for me. I really feel like this was a race I needed to run because of my experience."

BILL JENNINGS

The thing to do now, according to Jennings, is for the Sheriff's Office and the residents of the county to pull together and fight crime.

When Jennings takes office Jan. 1, he will replace Sheriff A.N. Standard, who decided last fall not to seek another term in the office he has held for 32 years.

Jennings said based on his experience as a peace officer, he believes he has the two qualities he sees as necessary to be an effective leader — good communication skills and the ability to listen to others.

Jennings brings 24 years of law enforcement experience to the sheriff's job, as well as more than 3,000 hours of added specialized training and supervisory experience.

One question raised during the spring campaign was that of increased cooperation between the sheriff's office and the Big Spring Police Department (BSPD).

"I can see the sheriff's office and the BSPD working together to improve drug education for our young people," Jennings said. "By working together we will solve the common problems of our community, and cut out duplicate services. These two entities could work together as a team to provide a common service to the area."

Jennings' philosophy about law enforcement also outlines a basic strategy for his administration. This strategy includes how deputies will handle outstanding warrants, repeat offenders, DWI cases and what if anything will be done about the aging Howard County Jail.

"Deputies will handle all outstanding warrants in a timely manner and repeat offender are handled by the court system as this is their area of jurisdiction," Jennings said. "Also, deputies will treat all DWI drivers as they would any other offenders as they protect the lives and property of the citizens of Howard County."

As far as the jail is concerned, Jennings said, "With the jail population as it is now, the jail does meet state requirements. However, the jail itself is old and antiquated, and does not have facilities to house women prisoners."

According to Jennings, there is no room for jail expansion unless the Texas Jail Standards Commission rescinds some of its regulations.

"As the population of Texas grows, we can expect a corresponding growth to take place in our county," Jennings said. "At some time in the future, space and design problems currently in the jail will have to be addressed."

As sheriff, Jennings said he would like the department to be more visible to the Big Spring/Howard County community, something that can be achieved with more participation in churches, schools and community affairs, as well as in the many service organizations and clubs in the community.

"I will be visible to the citizens of Howard County by continuing to support my church, the service organizations in which I have membership and any other groups which need the help of the sheriff's office," Jennings said. "I stated throughout the campaign that an open door policy will be in effect for all the citizens of the county, public servants and all other agencies."

McLaughlin falls just short

Counts survives challenge

By JOHN H. WALKER
Managing Editor

The handwriting in the District 70 Texas House of Representatives race went up on the wall about 9:30 Tuesday night, but it was nearly midnight before Scott McLaughlin could read it.

In his first race for elective office, McLaughlin took four-term Democratic incumbent David Counts down to the wire before making a concession statement.

Counts outpolled McLaughlin 17,825 to 17,035, winning re-election when Jones County came in big for the incumbent.

And even though it was nearly midnight when the votes were finally tallied in Jones County, McLaughlin had feared the worst for at least two hours. "The early numbers we had over there were just too much to overcome," he said.

As it turned out, Jones County, where McLaughlin had hoped to garner between 45 and 50 percent, delivered better than 61 percent of the vote to Counts — 3,249 to 2,028.

The two candidates split the 12 counties, with each winning six. Counts won Fisher, Garza, Jones, Knox, Nolan and Stonewall while McLaughlin captured Borden, Kent, King, Lynn, Scurry and Howard.

"I'm pleased to have carried six counties, but I'm really pleased with the support in Howard County... that support was just unbelievable and we were so happy," McLaughlin said.

But for the pleasure provided in those six counties, where he outpolled Counts by 3,308 votes, there was an equal measure of dismay from the rest of the area.

Clinton soars, but GOP still runs Congress

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Clinton is savoring another political comeback, a second-term 31-state sweep that he says carries an appeal from Americans to "put aside the politics of division." But he confronts a Republican Congress strong enough to check his dreams and investigate his dealings.

In a vote for the status quo — and the legislative gridlock it sometimes produces — the country rebuffed Bob Dole and Ross Perot's attacks on Clinton's character and instead endorsed Clinton's handling of the economy.

The Democratic president's emphasis on education and family issues appealed especially to women.

Still, Americans opted again for divided government, marginally strengthening the GOP's hand in the Senate but weakening it in the House. Republicans will hold all the chairmanships, assuring Clinton of a new round of investigations of him, his wife and his administration on a range of ethics issues, the latest being foreign donations to the Democratic Party.

"Obviously there's going to have to be some questions asked," Republican Senate Leader Trent Lott told The Associated Press in a post-election interview.

And Newt Gingrich, one of the nation's most divisive politicians, retains his speakership of the House.

Divided government over the past two years has led sometimes to stalemate, sometimes to compromise. It shut down the government but also produced ground breaking new laws on welfare, family leave and health insurance portability.

Leon Panetta, Clinton's chief of staff, said in a television interview today that the people showed they did not want a resumption of partisan warfare. "If we bog down in the kind of Howard County voters turned out in large numbers to put their stamp on the 1996 general election, with 10,038 (56 percent) of the county's 17,926 registered voters casting ballots.

Much local interest was generated in the races for Howard County Sheriff, State Representative of District 70 and for representative of the 17th Congressional District, but Tuesday's final vote count was still 1,111 votes shy of the 11,149 ballots cast in the 1992 general election.

Howard Republicans cast 1,471 straight party ballots compared to 1,673 straight party ballots on the Democratic side.

Stenholm remarked late Tuesday night, "We're very happy. I appreciate Howard County, you went for me this time and I appreciate that."

"It's been a long day, especially the first two hours after the polls closed because I was behind, but the small, rural counties came through for me again. I'm looking forward to being a ranking member of the Agricultural Committee."

He added he's looking forward to continuing to work for the 17th district and he appreciates the support of his friends and voters. His plans for the next few days are to help his son on the farm, take a few days off then return to the nation's capital early next week to begin the first organizing of the 105th Congress.

Izzard commented, "I'm very disappointed. I'm very thankful, though, to the people all over the district like Howard County for working awful hard on my behalf. I wish Congressman Stenholm success in dealing with some of the problems that we face." When asked if he has any plans on running again in two years, Izzard said he hasn't given it any thought yet.

Howard County results were the same as the overall outcome of the race with Stenholm receiving 4,984 or 52 percent of the votes and Izzard with 4,583 or 48 percent of the votes.

In Borden County, Stenholm received 180 or 55 percent of the votes cast and Izzard received 45 percent or 147 votes. Martin County voters overwhelmingly chose the incumbent with 1,058 votes or 70 percent and Izzard received 458 votes or 30 percent. Mitchell County residents cast 1,576 votes (67 percent) for Stenholm and 790 (33 percent) for Izzard.

Izzard's home county of Taylor reported 22,375 or 56 percent of the votes going to him and Stenholm received 17,637 or 44 percent of the votes. In Jones County, Stenholm's home, the congressman garnered 58.4 percent or 3,105 votes and Izzard received 41.6 percent or 2,209 votes.

Crooker re-elected commissioner, Hughes new constable

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

It was perhaps the quietest race in the country Tuesday night and one of the closest, but Republican incumbent Bill Crooker managed a 140-vote victory over Democrat Bill Mims to claim his eighth term as Howard County Commissioner, Precinct 3.

Crooker received 1,441 votes (52.55 percent) to Mims' 1,301 votes (47.45 percent).

Mims was upbeat and gracious in defeat, saying, "I wanted to run away with it."

He added, "Bill (Crooker) and his wife have been long-time friends of mine and I'll always be behind them."

Mims said he believes everything happens for the best and he will lend any help that he can to Crooker.

"I ran this race because I thought it was something I needed to do," Mims said. "I want to thank all of my friends and I hope they're not too disappointed. Life does go on and I'm going to devote my time to my wife and family."

Crooker said he was mindful that Mims would make it a close race.

"It was just a feeling I had," Crooker said. "Bill (Mims) is a formidable opponent and ran a clean race. I have a lot of respect for him, but I'm glad the race is over."

Hitting the ground running and getting his feet wet is not something Crooker needs to worry about since he will be starting his eighth term in January, but he does have a plan.

"One of the things I want to work on now is to try and seek a level of cooperation and coordination with the city of Big Spring to the point where we can achieve

Fraser takes 12 of 21 counties to win Senate seat

Big Spring businessman wins nine of 10 largest counties to seal victory

By JOHN H. WALKER
Managing Editor

Big Spring businessman and Horseshoe Bay resident Troy Fraser earned a seat in the Texas Senate Tuesday night with a 6,300-vote win over former Sweetwater mayor Rick Rhodes.

FRASER

With all precincts except the Coleman County early voting box reporting, Fraser had 85,767 votes to 79,438 for Rhodes.

Fraser won 12 of the 21 counties in the sprawling 24th District that runs from the Texas Hill Country to north of Abilene and west to Mitchell County.

It was Fraser's second attempt to win the seat, losing narrowly to Bill Sims four years ago.

A former state representative, Fraser said he felt he could go to Austin and be effective from the first day and that the district would benefit from his experience.

In winning, he takes a seat that had been held since 1983 by Sims, who was a member of the same freshman class as John Montford. Sims suffered a stroke several years ago and chose not to seek re-election.

Sims openly endorsed Rhodes in newspaper ads throughout the district in an effort to retain the seat for the Democrats.

Fraser won nine of the 10 largest counties in the district, including Bell, Taylor, Coryell, Brown, Burnet, Young, Llano, Lampasas and Callahan.

Rhodes won his home county of Nolan by a margin of nearly 2,500 votes, but that was not enough to overcome Fraser. Rhodes won Coke, Coleman, Concho, Menard, Mills, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels and San Saba counties.

The closest races were in San Saba County, where Rhodes won by 18 votes out of 1,786 votes cast and in Callahan County, where Fraser won by 63 votes out of a total of 4,639.

The win helped the Republican Party to gain control of the Texas Senate for the first time since Reconstruction. Trends indicated a 16-15 GOP margin in the Senate.

Still to be decided is the 28th District seat vacated by John Montford. Lubbock Republican Robert Duncan led a field of seven challengers vying for the slot and will face former Lubbock mayor David Langston in a Dec. 10 runoff.

Fraser and his brother, Steve, own and operate Fraser Industries, a Big Spring-based pallet-building and reconditioning firm with plants located across the nation.

Republicans take control of Texas Senate

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Republicans hoped for a 76-74 majority in the state House. They had to settle for a smaller Democratic majority.

But in the Senate, the GOP replaced Democrat's 17-14 edge with its own 15-14 majority Tuesday. Two seats — both held by Democrats — remain for voters to decide in a runoff and a special election.

The GOP picked up a total of four House seats in Tuesday's voting.

They had aimed at 27 races where they thought they could pick up the 13 seats needed to give the party control of the chamber for the first time in the 20th century.

One of those targets included a race between 12-term Democratic House Speaker Pete Laney and Springlake rancher and businessman Hollis Cain.

Laney, of Hale Center, and most other targeted Democrats, won their races.

"The Republicans announced early that they were going to take over the Texas House and rattled their sabres about it all year," said Joe Cutbirth, a Texas Democratic spokesman.

"When the dust has cleared, Texans have elected a Democratic Legislature to deal with education, human services, criminal justice, transportation — the issues that we think that's a validation of the leadership of (Democratic Lt. Gov.) Bob Bullock and Pete Laney."

The Republican's one-seat advantage in the Senate came in District 24, where Republican Troy Fraser, of Horseshoe Bay, defeated Sweetwater Democrat Rick Rhodes. The central-Texas seat had been held since 1983 by Democrat Bill Sims, of Paint Rock, who retired.

The runoff between Democrat David Langston and Republican Robert Duncan, set for Dec. 10, will decide which man replaces Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, who retired to become chancellor at Texas Tech University.

That race is likely to come before the special election to complete Sen. Jim Turner's term. The Crockett Democrat won his bid for Congress Tuesday, forcing him to give up the Senate's 5th District seat.

In the House, four incumbents, including two Democrats and two Republicans, were denied additional terms. Reps. Billy Clemons, R-Pollock; Barbara Rusling, R-China Spring; John Cook, D-Breckenridge; and Homer Dear, D-Fort Worth; lost their re-election bids.

Republicans also picked up four seats where incumbent Democrats didn't seek re-election. They included:

— 1991 Luby's Cafeteria massacre survivor Suzanna Gratia Hupp's election over Dick Miller for the 54th District seat held by Democrat Layton Black, of Goldthwaite.

— Wayne Christian's election over Judy McDonald to replace retiring Rep. Jerry Johnson, D-Nacogdoches, in the 9th District.

— Republican Gene Seaman's victory over Pat Eisenhauer for retiring Corpus Christi Rep. Todd Hunter's seat in the 32nd District.

— Republican Ron Clark's election over Democrat Roger Saunders to replace Democratic Rep. Curtis Seidlitz, of Sherman in the 62nd District.

DAVID LANGSTON

A pair of Lubbock men will face off Dec. 10 in the race to succeed John Montford as this area's state senator.

Republican State Rep. Robert Duncan and Democrat David Langston, former Lubbock mayor, finished one-two in a seven-man field to force a runoff for the District 28 seat, vacated when Montford resigned to become chancellor at Texas Tech University.

With all but two counties reporting as of 1:30 this morning, Duncan and Langston had comfortable leads over the rest of the field. Duncan led with 40,437 votes — 31.67 percent of the total — while Langston amassed 30,352 total votes, or 23.78 percent.

Strong showings in Lubbock County

Watkins did well in Howard County — finishing second behind Duncan — and in the Permian Basin portion of the district. But Duncan and Langston chalked up more than 67 percent of the Lubbock County vote between them, giving the two the necessary margin for victory.

Rounding out the field were State Board of Education member Monte Hasie with 11,869 votes (9.3 percent), former Montford aide Lorenzo "Bubba" Sedeno with 10,393 votes (8.15 percent) and El Paso real estate broker Dick Bowen with 2,139 votes (1.67 percent).

Both Duncan and Langston were understandably pleased with Tuesday's results.

"Quite frankly, we're pretty much where we thought we'd be," said Duncan. "We were very confident we'd be in the runoff. The biggest surprise is the margin we had over David. To be in a runoff and to be this far ahead is, I think, significant."

Langston spread the credit around for his strong showing.

"Of course, I'm extremely pleased with the reception I've received from the voters," he said. "I give all the credit to our campaign staff and our volunteers. We've basically run a people-to-people campaign, and it paid off ... I think what we were able to do is communicate the message that we need strong leadership (from this area) in Austin."

Duncan and Langston will spend much of the next month reaching out to supporters of the defeated candidates. Langston said West Texas voters should more readily identify with his campaign.

"I think the major difference (between Langston and Duncan) is one of attitude," Langston said. "all of my support came from people within West Texas, while 70 percent of Duncan's contributions came from Austin special interest groups and PACs ... We really need campaign reform, and I think that will make a big difference."

For his part, Duncan said his experience in state government should be a major drawing card in his favor.

"David's name identification as mayor of Lubbock had a lot to do with his numbers," Duncan said. "I think the thing that made the difference with us is that I've been down to Austin and had success dealing with the issues that our constituents are interested in ... Now, we just need to get on the road and go see the people and ask for their vote."

"I'm shocked by the numbers that came in from counties where we had worked so hard," he added.

McLaughlin had spent much of the campaign visiting the 11 counties other than Howard, going door-to-door with his family, before targeting his home county over the final two months.

Counts said he was pleased with the turnout and his re-election.

"I'm so pleased to be able to go back to Austin and represent this district. Tomorrow morning (Wednesday), I'll be representing the 113,000-plus people in this district again ... this (race) will all be behind us."

Counts said he didn't see voter discontent with his job in the closeness of the race but rather that McLaughlin ran a good race.

"Scott ran a very good, aggressive race and that's why it was close," he said.

McLaughlin was critical of Counts' record in Austin throughout the race and the burgeoning state budget. He also attacked what he termed as Counts' ineffective representation of the district and support of special interest groups.

Counts countered that to be effective in providing leadership for West Texas, alliances had to be built and maintained. He also said that the state budget continues to grow because the state continues to grow.

McLaughlin said late Tuesday that he was going to take a break before making a decision regarding his political future.

"I'm going to sit back and rest before sitting down with my family to evaluate my options. I've got a little jaundiced view now ... I'm disappointed in politics."

down sharply. A projection by Voter News Service suggested that only 49 percent of the voting age population cast ballots. That would be the lowest in 72 years.

When the results became known, Clinton appealed for bipartisanship. Dole acknowledged the sting of defeat and Perot hinted he would not quietly fade away.

Said Clinton to cheering supporters: "The challenges we face, they're not Democratic or Republican challenges. They're American challenges."

Dole, in a voice that reflected his emotions, said, "It's a lot more fun winning. It hurts to lose an election."

And Perot told his followers: "Take a little break and then we'll climb back in the ring."

Remarkably, the country that re-elected Clinton by landslide proportions — making him the first Democrat to achieve that status since Franklin Roosevelt — also said it did not trust him.

In polls taken after they'd left the voting booths, nearly six of 10 voters said they believed Clinton had not told the truth about Whitewater and other matters under investigation.

Nearly as many — 55 percent — said they did not consider the president "honest and trustworthy."

With the national count almost complete:

—Clinton won 31 states and the District of Columbia for 379 electoral votes, well above the required 270 and surpassing by nine his 1992 total. Dole won 19 states with 159 electoral votes.

—In 34 Senate races, Republicans won 20 and were leading in Oregon. Democrats won 13. Republicans were assured of increasing their Senate majority to 54 seats — 55 if Oregon falls in the GOP column. Democrats' strength would fall by two, to 45, if Oregon goes Republican.

—Republicans entered the election with 236 House seats. They won 221 and led for four more — a loss of 11 seats but still enough for a slim majority. Democrats won 194 seats and led for 15 more. Independent Bernard Sanders of Vermont also was re-elected.

With the new Congress likely to be as combative as the old, Clinton laced his victory speech with appeals for unity, for an end to partisanship.

"Work together, meet our challenges, put aside the politics of division and build America's community together," he called the election's message. Clinton, who won office in 1992 with only 43 percent of the vote in a three-way race, still awaited word on whether he'd won the clean majority he wanted.

With 98 percent of the national vote counted, Clinton was at 49 percent to Dole's 41 percent and 8 percent for Perot.

OUR VIEWS

Election's over ... time to watch actions

America's voters have gone to the polls and registered both their vote and voice.

It is now time to move ahead with the business at hand, which is running our government at each of its various levels.

Whether your candidate won or lost, we all won if you exercised your right and obligation and voted Tuesday.

Now, as citizens in a democracy, it is up to us to ensure that our government works as it was intended — that it be a government of the people, for the people and by the people.

That means that no man or woman, that no political party or organization, is above the law of the land.

It is up to us to further participate in the Democratic process by attending city council meetings, commissioner's court meetings and keeping up with what goes on at the state and national level.

We must stand up and be recognized. We must ask questions and wait for answers that are meaningful and not just a dance around the issue.

We must make phone calls and write letters to those who have been elected to remind them that we are paying attention to what they are doing.

We must write letters to the newspaper to voice our concerns and, if our elected officials don't respond, we need to fire them and start anew.

No, the Democratic process doesn't start and end with voting and yes, it is hard work to live in a Democracy ... but it is those checks and balances that we have ... it is the single voice of anger that grows into a mass chorus of outrage ... and yes, it is taking the time to vote, because if you didn't vote, you don't have a voice.

OTHER VIEWS

In the final battle between light and darkness, the book of Revelation foretells, Satan will be represented by the kingdoms of Gog and Magog. Delaware, Ohio, is not mentioned. But at least one "Satanist" at Delaware's Willis Middle School is skimming with self-described Christian students over the right to wear religious T-shirts in what could be — Heaven forbid — the first shots of the Apocalypse.

The controversy began after the school asked a student to stop wearing a T-shirt bearing an anti-Christian graphic. However, the barely pubescent minion of Beelzebub — whose real theology, one suspects, involves the bedevilment of adult authorities — knew his rights, or thought he did. He demanded that Christian classmates also be barred from wearing T-shirts with slogans like "Pray Hard" and "Jesus." School administrators are chewing their lips, trying to decide whether to muzzle God, the Devil or both.

Surely schools need not allow equal access to all supernatural beings. In a town square, government cannot edit the content of expression. But schools, which require order to teach, may legally curb speech that disrupts. Does a shirt lauding the culture's chief deity, whose houses of worship often overshadow schoolyards, menace tranquility? Unlikely. But apparel praising embodiments of evil aims to shock. (In the mortal realm, schools may approve T-shirt images of Abe Lincoln while banning those of Adolf Hitler.) And the association of some Satanic cults with drugs — not usually an iniquity linked to Methodist Youth — gives schools another reason to make distinctions.

But perhaps the larger question is why most American schools don't insist on more appropriate dress of students than that typically found at a grunge-rock concert. Requiring school uniforms would nip sartorial tiffs in the bud and focus young scholars' attention on business. Students whose faith required them to make a fashion statement could attend parochial school — or, in the case of the Children of Darkness, maybe Magog High.

Closing Big Bend River crossings and mindless commercials

Those West Texans who frequent the Big Bend region of the state and cross the Rio Grande to visit Boquillas, Santa Elena and Paso Lajitas may soon be in for a jolt.

The U.S. Customs Service, as part of a program called "Operation Hard Line," wants to close all informal border crossings in the Big Bend and limit entry to the area's only official port in Presidio.

That means a drive of 90 miles from the eastern edge of the park and 50 miles from Lajitas, Walter Mueller's resort on the river located just west of Terlingua.

The concern, of course, is over drug trafficking in the region but the majority of the half-dozen or so crossings that dot the river in the park area are used either by tourists or persons who live in the region. At Boquillas del Carmen, tourists can pay $2 to be rowed across the river in flat-bottom skiffs, then either walk across the river flats or pay $1 to ride a burro into town where they can eat and drink in Falcon's, a local restaurant.

It's the same at Santa Elena, where we waded across the river over Memorial Day weekend and walked up the dirt street to an unnamed little restaurant where the floors were scrubbed clean, the tacos delicious and the cerveza ice cold.

But there's more to the river crossings than giving the tourists a place to go eat and drink and explore ... they are a lifeline to the Mexican residents who buy their groceries and supplies and receive their mail in the Big Bend.

As we came back across from Santa Elena, we watched as Mexican nationals loaded boxes of groceries, a dozen or so used tires and a few cans of gasoline into a boat on the U.S. side for transport to Mexico.

There are no stores in the little Mexican villages along the river and the only place for the people to get supplies is in the United States.

The nearest city, Musquiz, is 145 miles south of Boquillas. The first 50 miles are so arid over dirt and gravel roads before connecting with Mexican highway 53.

While it is nearer as the crow flies to Ojinaga, across from Presidio, there is no road through the area and it is quicker to go to Musquiz.

Since Customs tells us that they don't have enough personnel to patrol the border now — and that was before Bill Clinton sent more of them from Texas to California in a vote-grabbing scheme — how do officials propose to patrol the crossings?

Charles Strong, Customs port director at Presidio, doesn't have an answer, only that his department is an agency governed by law and that the law must be enforced.

What happens if you decide to cross the river and get caught? Well, the fine is up to $5,000 for a first offense and $10,000 for a second. Criminal prosecution could bring a prison sentence of up to one year.

While sentenced to Arkansas, we got a kick out of the political broadcast advertising, which always seemed to include some sort of hokey song.

There was a sheriff's candidate in Northwest Arkansas whose radio spot was a song to the tune of "Red River Valley."

"We can vote for the man who'll protect us."

"We can vote for the man who's the best."

"We can vote for the man who's the toughest."

"Because (insert name here) is better than the rest."

And there was the one that was sung to the music of the "Bridge Over the River Kwai."

"Taxes ... they're way to high."

"Taxes ... they're gonna reach the sky."

"Taxes ... too many taxes, ... if you hate taxes, vote (insert name here) today!"

I hadn't seen anything that made me think of those asinine Arkansas commercials until a commercial for the Texas 28th Senate District came along.

One of the ads for the candidate who is a member of the State Board of Education was something.

I had spelled out in block letters on the tv screen as Mr. Announcer boomed out "Johnny Appleseed, I guess, for those of us who can't spell."

But the ad got better, still. "Mr. Appleseed was going to be a watchdog for our best interests so, you guessed it, there was a dog sitting there on a pile of money and as soon as the word "watchdog" was sounded the dog went, "arf, arf."

Makes me think of barf, barf. Please, Lord, deliver us from mindless political campaigns.

Overcoming intimations of our own immortality

By JAY AMBROSE
Scripps Howard News Service

One of the best descriptions I ever heard of the baby boomers as a demographic phenomenon is that they are the rat passing through the snake, making it bulge as they go along.

You may feel, as I do, that the word "rat" is particularly apt in signifying this generation, but for the moment I'd like you to focus on where the bulge is now occurring, namely in the middle-aged portion of the population, people whose more glandular days are behind them and whose physical decrepitude is peeking round yon bend.

This was the year that the first baby boomers (including the president of the United States) reached the age of 50. As a matter of census-verified fact, more people will have crossed over into the big Five-O in America by the end of 1996 than in any previous year in the nation's history. The land has naturally been awash with their birthday parties, though not all of them, I would guess, highly celebratory.

I make that guess because this is a permissively raised, supremely indulged generation that has always insisted on having things its own way, whether as yuppies vandalizing the country in the 1960s or as yuppies grasping for its bounty not too much later. If anyone really believes the baby boomers will now go gently into a time of life that intimates mortality, he had better think again.

Especially enlightening on this score is a recent Newsweek article about drugs being developed to retard further aging, improve memory and, most important of all to the baby boomers, it seems, restore sexual vitality. To their shock and consternation, many men freshly arrived into middle age have discovered that certain of their powers are diminished. Some physicians have given over a portion of their practices to testosterone injections, but that's nothing to what apparently waits just a few years down the road. Erection pills. Put your money in the pharmaceutical industry, or at least into those companies hot on the trail of chemicals that refurbish and refurbish. If today's scientific wizardry can indeed produce elixirs that have heretofore eluded mankind, the market demand will be enormous. Ponce de Leon did not seek the Fountain of Youth as avidly as millions of baby boomers will aim to regain the robustness they once knew, and their consumption of drugs could equal that of their college years, though with different outcomes in mind.

It's not likely, of course, that the pharmaceutical companies will outwit either old age or the next step after it. Even if they forestall some infirmities, the baby boomers will not cheat time's encroachment, and that failure will be especially noticeable when they reach their retirement years. They will then become avaricious for the benefits of Medicare and Social Security, which is one reason restructuring of those programs must begin apace. But before then, there will be middle age and what goes with it, not just pill-popping for the sake of rejuvenation, but increased concerns about health generally, a scramble to make up lost ground and to cope with narrowed horizons, perhaps some laggard spiritual quests to make sense of it all, and maybe, just maybe, some new-found mellowness and touches of wisdom here and there. For others of us on either end (I'm not far removed on the upper end), it will be quite a show.

More than that, it will be still another moment in which this generation, superlative in numerical terms if not necessarily in others, will have done more than any other population segment to make our culture what it is, to define us, to shape this society in ways that reflect its wishes, for better or for worse. Until the snake's digestive juices complete their work, you had better watch out for this rat.

Martin voters re-elect 'bumfuzzled' Welling as sheriff over Castro

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

STANTON — A "bumfuzzled" Mike Welling won a ringing endorsement for a second term as Martin County sheriff, outpointing challenger John Castro by a 2-1 margin Tuesday.

In a rematch of a close 1992 election, incumbent Welling did much better this time around, collecting 1,154 votes to 642 for Castro, who was making his third and final try at elective office.

Welling, a Democrat, dominated Republican Castro throughout the county and seemed to have a hard time believing the resounding margin of his victory.

"I'm still kind of bumfuzzled by the (wide margin of the) vote," Welling said. "I think we've done a pretty good job the past four years, and the voters realized it. That was the biggest thing, I think."

The two candidates faced each other in 1992, with Welling winning by only 70 votes. Castro, who also lost his try for the county judge position in 1994, believed the power of the incumbent was in Welling's corner.

"People believe in keeping the incumbent," he said. "Once you're in there, it takes a lot to get you out of office ... But it was a pretty clean race."

Castro took the convincing loss philosophically.

"I was hoping for the best but expecting the worst," he said. "I just didn't win it. I was running to give people a choice. I didn't win it, but maybe somebody else will run the next time. This is the last time I run for office."

Welling, meanwhile, was understandably ecstatic over the election results.

"I feel very proud," he said. "I feel like the voters in Martin County gave me a vote of confidence, and that they're happy with the way things have been going the last four years. I promise I'll do the best I can the next four years."

The Martin County sheriff's race was the only contested local election in the area.

With the exception of Mitchell County, area voters followed the state's lead in pulling the lever for Bob Dole's presidential bid. Glasscock County and Borden County voters went for the Republican by comfortable margins, while Martin County residents gave him a 320-vote edge.

Mitchell County gave President Clinton a 1,213-949 edge over Dole.

Vote

Lanny Hamby said he was surprised at how close the parties were in straight party ballots, especially since Democrats usually far outnumber Republicans.

Overall, Howard County voters cast their ballots in the following manner:

President - Bob Dole, 5,007; President Bill Clinton, 3,732; and Ross Perot, 1,037.

U.S. Senator - Phil Gramm, 5,887; Victor Morales, 3,653.

U.S. Representative, District 17 - Rudy Izzard, 4,583; Charles W. Stenholm, 4,984.

Railroad Commissioner - Carole Keeton Rylander, 5,596; Hector Uribe, 3,544.

Chief Justice, Supreme Court - Tom Phillips, 5,300; Andrew Jackson Kupper, 3,694.

Justice, Supreme Court, Place 1 - John Cornyn, 4,876; Patrice Barron, 3,997.

Justice, Supreme Court, Place 2 - James A. Baker, 5,102; Gene Kelley, 3,976.

Justice, Supreme Court, Place 3 (Unexpired Term) - Gregg Abbott, 6,103; John B. Hawley, 1,212.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1 - Sue Holland, 5,109; Bob Perkins, 3,916.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2 - Paul Womack, 4,728; Charles Holcomb, 4,210.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 3 - Tom Price, 4,943; Frank Maloney, 3,965.

State Representative, District 70 - Scott McLaughlin, 6,252; David Counts, 3,469.

Justice, Eleventh Court of Appeals District - Jim R. Wright, 6,101; Martin L. Peterson, 1,416.

Sheriff - W.B. "Bill" Jennings, 5,881; Barney Edens, 3,945.

County Commissioner, Precinct No. 3 - W.B. "Bill" Crooker, 1,441; Bill Mims, 1,301.

The following individuals ran unopposed on the ballot and were elected or re-elected to their respective offices: Hardy Wilkerson, District Attorney; Mike Thomas, County Attorney; Kathy A. Sayles, County Tax Assessor; Collector: China Long, Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 1; J.B. Hall, Constable, Precinct No. 2; and Joseph "Butch" Lesueur, Constable, Precinct No. 3.

Howard County voters also cast the following ballots in the some real financial savings," Crooker said.

One of those ideas is for the city and county to share a road maintenance crew.

Crooker has several ideas that could help both the county and the city, but the two most important items that need addressing right away, according to Crooker, is working toward more efficiency in local government and finding ways to build the declining tax base.

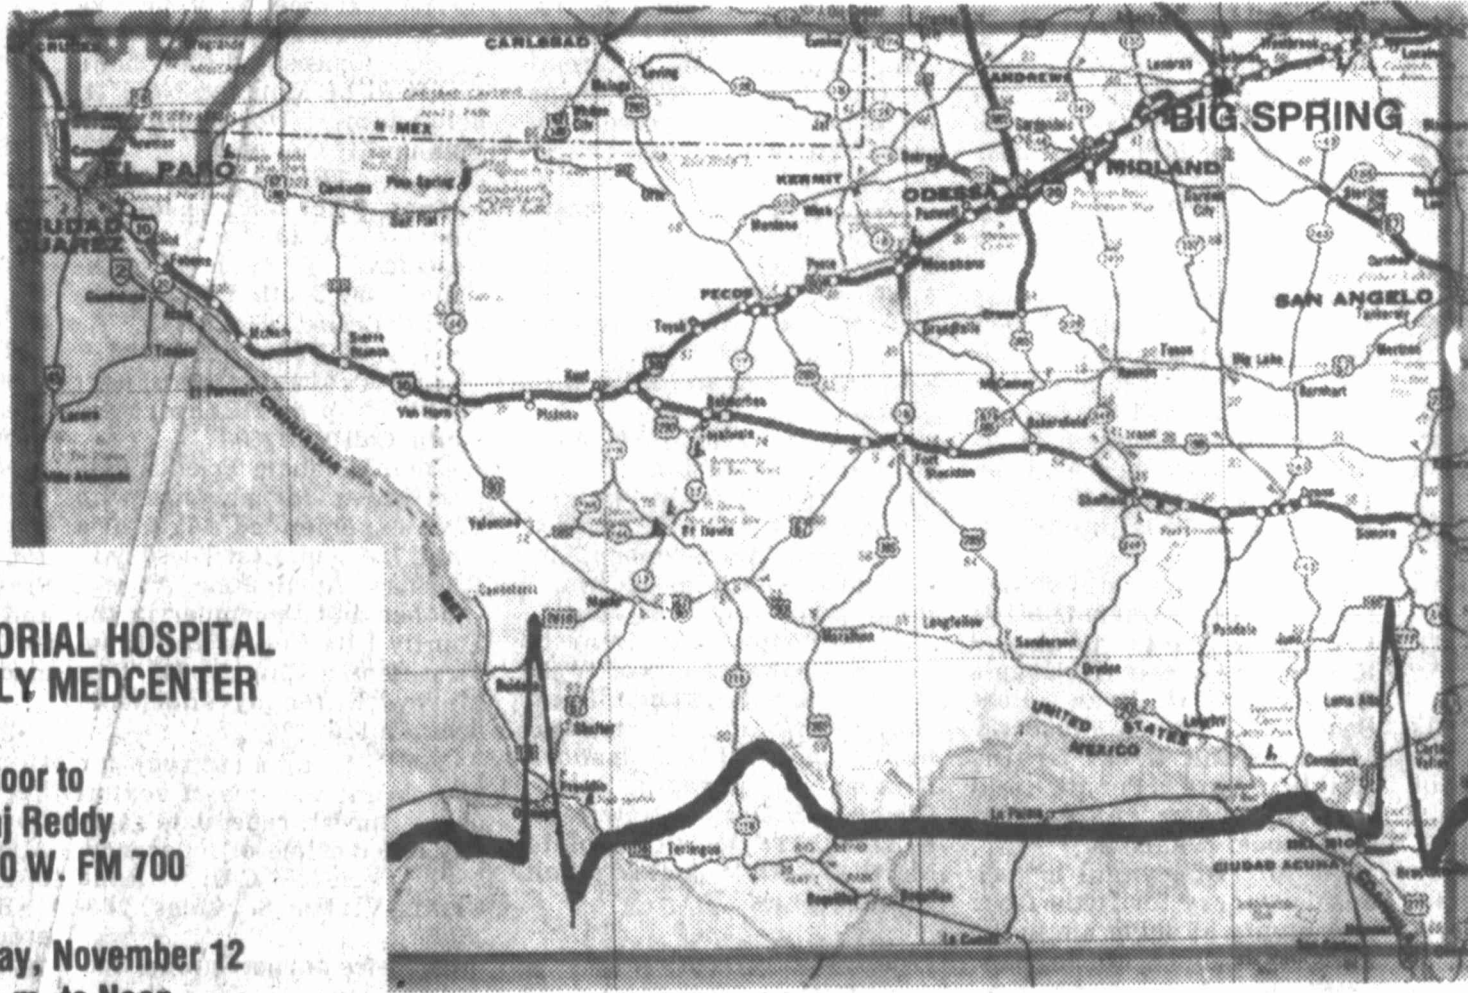

"These are the things I will be dedicated to," Crooker said.

The other contested race in Howard County was that for Constable, Precinct No. 1. Republican Stan Hughes defeated Democrat R. L. (Ron) York 3,928 votes to (53.02 percent) 3,481 votes (46.98 percent).

Vienna Choir Boys to perform Thursday at City Auditorium

By KELLIE JONES
Features Editor

The Big Spring Symphony Association and Guild will present the world-renowned "Vienna Choir Boys" Thursday at 8 p.m. at the City Auditorium.

The group was founded by Imperial decree July 7, 1498, by the humanist Emperor Maximilian I to fulfill his wish to have choristers in the Imperial Chapel. They first visited the United States in 1932 and have performed at thousands of concerts.

According to a press release, "In 1918, the collapse of the Hapsburg dynasty and the dissolution of the Austro-Hungarian Empire threatened to bring an end to the world famous institution.

Fortunately, Joseph Schnitt retained the chaplaincy of the Imperial Chapel and, in 1924, encouraged by his many friends, decided to re-found the boys choir."

He implemented the boarding school method of teaching the boys to ensure they received the proper musical training.

The greatest prodigy and most famous choirboy was Franz Schubert, who sang from 1808 to 1813. Mozart was a composer for the court as well.

Those who want to be considered as a part of the Vienna Choir Boys must attend a special prep school to receive a thorough education and training of singing and instruction on at least one musical instrument. The boys take the exam to become a member at the age of nine.

Two choirs are usually on tour at the same time, with each tour lasting about three months. They are accompanied by a choirmaster, tutor and nurse.

Not only do they sing, but they also perform costumed operettas. Thursday's performance will include the one-act operetta, "Monsieur et Madame Denis," a comedy written by Jacques Offenbach. The operetta concerns a young couple that has eloped and take refuge in the Denjs' home. The maid, Nanette, decides to pass the couple off as her employers and manages to get the soldiers drunk who have arrived to arrest the two lovers.

Some of the other musical pieces to be sung include items written by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Robert Schumann and Gustav Holst.

Advance tickets are on sale at Blum's, Dunlap's, Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and all locations of First Bank of West Texas including Lorraine, Coahoma and Big Spring.

Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for senior citizens and students and $5 for children. Call 264-7223 for more information.

Tips for proper turkey preparation

Believe it or not, it will soon be time to prepare that holiday turkey and I am trying to get a jump on the holiday season so what a better time to begin with the food safety tips. Hopefully this will inspire each of you to plan ahead and prepare properly and safely for the family meals that will most certainly be prepared later this month.

Today, Americans enjoy the safest, most wholesome and abundant food supply in the world. Federal inspectors oversee the safety and quality of meat and poultry from the time it leaves the farm until it arrives ready to buy in the grocery store.

Most food contamination in the home results from unsafe storage and preparation techniques. Once you get the food home, it is up to you to care for it properly to prevent food poisoning - keep hot foods hot (above 140 degrees) and cold foods cold (below 40 degrees).

When shopping, always pick up hot and refrigerated foods last.

Select turkey products that are in packages free of tears and have a valid "sell by" or "use by" date on the label. Refrigerate turkey promptly when you get it home, leave in original wrapping, if you will not use the turkey within two days, place in the freezer.

The safest way to thaw turkey is in the refrigerator. Never thaw turkey on the kitchen counter. For faster thawing, place frozen turkey products in a self-closing plastic bag in cold water. Change water every 30 minutes.

To microwave thaw, follow the manufacturer's directions. Once a turkey is thawed, it should be cooked immediately, never refreeze after turkey is thawed. Never partially cook turkey with plans to finish cooking later.

Always keep turkey cold until you are ready to cook it and then cook it completely. Use a meat thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the turkey product to tell when it is done. The thermometer should show 170 to 175 degrees Fahrenheit in the breast portions and 180 to 185 degrees Fahrenheit in the thigh and leg portions.

Turkey meat is completely done when it is no longer pink inside. If your plans are to stuff turkey and then cook, plan to add at least 30 minutes to turkey roasting time. Stuffing temperature should be 160 to 165 degrees Fahrenheit.

Store leftovers, immediately, in airtight containers in refrigerator and eat within two to four days. Store in freezer up to two months.

If you would like more information concerning the safe preparation of turkey for your holiday meals, contact the Howard County Extension office at (915) 264-2236 and request the "Let's Talk Turkey" information sheet.

the health-conscious '90s, it's still the best-selling cereal in America.

But where do cereals really fit into the nutritional scheme? Consumer Reports rates cereals in its October issue. The magazine looked at fiber, fat, sugar and price, in the wake of the much-ballyhooed price-cutting by manufacturers.

The best nutritional choices have at least five grams of fiber per serving, five grams or less of sugar, and three grams or less of fat. Judged the best on that criteria: General Mills Fiber One, Kellogg's All-Bran Extra Fiber, Nabisco Shredded Wheat and Ralston Wheat Chex.

Judged "notorious" for high fat content: General Mills Cinnamon Toast Crunch and Raisin Nut Bran, Kellogg's Cracklin' Oat Bran, Post Banana Nut Crunch, Blueberry Morning and Great Grains Raisin, Date, Pecan, and Quaker 100 percent Natural Oats, Honey & Raisins.

Not surprisingly, the "notorious" category for little fiber and plenty of sugar included Ralston Cookie-Crisp Chocolate Chip (no fiber), Cocoa Puffs, Trix, Honey-Comb, Waffle Crisps - and Frosted Flakes.

As for price, about 50 cereals have become less costly, some by as much as 30 percent, but some have raised prices.

"Wild Women in the Kitchen: 101 Rambunctious Recipes & 99 Tasty Tales" (Conari Press, $12.95 softcover) is part cookbook and part women's history, in an exuberant, gossipy way - a good read and a book to cook by.

It seems there is a Wild Women Association of 3,000 card-carrying wild women throughout the world, inspired by the book "Wild Women," by Autumn Stephens (Conari Press, 1992).

Nicole Alper and Lynette Rohrer are the authors of "Wild Women in the Kitchen," and they've included such rambunctious recipes as Isadora Duncan's Asparagus Salad, Cleopatra's Orgiastic Oysters, Elizabeth Taylor's Chocolate Martini, Ruth Wakefield's Toll House Cookies.

TIPS 'N' TRIVIA

Kittens

(NAPS) -Selecting and bringing home a kitten:

•Make sure you are ready for the commitment - the average life span of a neutered house cat is 12-14 years, while some cats live to be 20.

•If you want a long-haired cat, it needs to be groomed daily.

•Humane societies and animal shelters are the best places to find kittens and cats.

•Unless you plan to use your cat in a planned breeding program, you should have your kitten neutered or spayed.

The kitten you take home should be:

•At least six to eight weeks old

•Outgoing, active, curious and alert

•Healthy, with no discharge from nose or eyes, a shiny coat, no skin irritations or red blotches and no bald patches.

You should have on hand:

•A litter box and litter

•Heavy, non-tippable food and water bowls

•A brush and comb

•Kitten toys and cat carrier

•Scratching post

•Breakaway collar and I.D. tag

•A high-quality, nutritionally complete food designed for growing kittens

Easy recipes for making fudge in the microwave

Scripps Howard News Service

Old-fashioned recipes for fudge call for the sugar, cocoa and other ingredients to be cooked to exactly the right stage, then beaten (by hand, of course).

You needed a candy thermometer, a strong arm, and an eye for telling when the fudge was ready to be poured into the pan to "set." Make a mistake, and you got grainy fudge.

I remember going out to the porch on a cold day to beat the fudge, so it would cool off quickly. I also remember candy that sometimes burned and always, there was a mess to clean up.

And those were what they call the good old days?

Not me. Consider how easy it is to make fudge with modern ingredients and modern equipment, namely, the microwave.

It's still "homemade" fudge, but it's mostly a matter of melting and stirring. Better yet, it never gets grainy and never burns.

This basic recipe makes a very dark, dense and creamy fudge. Not surprisingly, it tastes a lot like semi-sweet chocolate chips. If you add nuts, be sure they are fresh. If in doubt, toast the nuts a little in the microwave. Spread them out on a paper towel on a microwaveable plate, and zap on high (100 percent) until heated through. Stir once to distribute the heat.

If you like peanut butter, try one of the peanut butter versions. The recipes are so simple children, with a little adult supervision, can easily make them.

Be sure to use a large microwave-safe bowl. Because of the high sugar content, it's easy to get burned.

FAST 'N' FABULOUS DARK CHOCOLATE FUDGE
 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup

1/3 cup evaporated milk
 3 cups (12 ounces) semisweet chocolate chips
 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar, sifted
 2 teaspoons vanilla
 1 cup coarsely chopped nuts (optional)

Line 8-inch square pan with plastic wrap.

In 3-quart microwaveable bowl, stir corn syrup and milk until smooth. Microwave on high (100 percent) three minutes.

Stir in chocolate chips until melted.

Add confectioners' sugar, vanilla and nuts, if using. With wooden spoon beat until thick and glossy. Spread in prepared pan.

Refrigerate 2 hours or until firm. Makes 25 squares.

Marvelous Marble Fudge: Omit nuts. Prepare as directed above; spread in prepared pan. Drop 1/3 cup super chunk peanut butter over fudge in small dollops. With small spatula, swirl fudge to marbleize. Chill and cut as above.

Double Peanut Butter Chocolate Fudge: Prepare as directed above. With the confectioners' sugar and vanilla, stir in 1/3 cup super chunk peanut butter.

Spread in prepared pan. Drop additional 1/3 cup peanut butter over fudge in small dollops. With small spatula swirl fudge to marbleize. Chill and cut as above.

Close kin to microwave fudge is this recipe for an ice cream sauce that can be zapped.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE SAUCE
 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup

1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
 1/4 cup heavy or whipping cream

1/2 cup semisweet chocolate pieces

In 1 1/2-quart microwaveable bowl, combine corn syrup, peanut butter and cream. Microwave on high (100 percent) 1 1/2 minutes or until boiling.

Add chocolate; stir until melted. Serve warm over ice cream.

Refrigerate in tightly covered container. Makes about 1 1/4 cups.

Note: To reheat, microwave uncovered on low (30 percent) about 1 1/2 minutes, just until pourable.

Woodene Merriman is the author of "Zap It Again," featuring more than 400 ways to use your microwave. To order, send your name and address and a check for $10.07 ($8.50 plus $1.57 for postage and handling), payable to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette to Zap It Cookbook; Box 476; Pittsburgh, Pa.; 15230. Allow two weeks for delivery.

Tips from the Wheat Council for making and serving holiday finger sandwiches:

• Coat one side of the bread with a light spread, such as reduced-fat margarine or low-fat cream cheese, to prevent it from becoming soggy.

• Stack two or three sandwiches at a time and cut off the crusts all at once. Cut crusts just before serving to preserve freshness.

• To keep sandwiches moist, cover with waxed paper and lay a damp kitchen towel over the waxed paper.

HOME TIPS

Scripps Howard News Service

Make your own wreaths

You can pay up to $100 for a ready-made door wreath, or try this do-it-yourself combination of materials for a small investment. Select a grapevine wreath the right size for your hanging spot. Twine a single strand of "silk" green ivy through the grapevine strands. You're not trying to cover the grapevines, just adding some green color. Then tuck in a bouquet of pepperberries or a clump of bittersweet. No expensive French wired ribbon necessary.

Decorative books

When can't you read a book? When it's set on a pedestal, its center pages furred and tucked to be completely decorative. A word of warning. Pick a book that's not valuable.

Original editions and autographed copies are best left with flat pages intact. Pick with caution what you curl or the book's owner might be mad.

Curled-page books have been observed in home magazines and in decorator show houses. The books are usually not placed front and center, say, on a coffee table. The decorative device is more often placed on a hall table, where folks are just passing through, or on a ledge below bookshelves.

If you're going to try this with an old book of your own, don't invite librarians to the house.

Gourds have many uses

Gourds in the garden take up space and need sturdy supports. You can see dipped gourds hanging from trellises in the heritage gardens at ConnorPrairie, the excellent living-history museum near Noblesville, Ind., 20 minutes north of Indianapolis.

The recreated 1830s village has an heirloom seed program; some hard-to-find seeds for gourds, pumpkins, beans and some decorative plants are sold in the museum gift shop.

According to Moore's Farm in Palm Harbor, Fla., gourd seeds have been in high demand for the last several seasons; crafters make bowls, birdfeeders and birdhouses from dried gourds.

Sandy Munn, of Georgetown, Ohio, paints gourds ghostly white, gives them two black "eyes" and ties on an orange neck ribbon.

To receive free gourd seeds for planting next year, with drying tips and craft ideas, send a long self-addressed envelope bearing two stamps to: Moore's Farm, 1460 Noell Blvd., Palm Harbor, Fla., 34683.

Computer offers recipe storage and more

Scripps Howard News Service

If you've ever clipped a recipe only to have it disappear, or if you've ever tried to read ingredients through something that slopped over the edge of a pan, Brother International has something for you.

The computer firm has come up with Kitchen Assistant, an "interactive cookbook" that allows cooks to computerize recipes as well as tap into hundreds of recipes already in the Kitchen Assistant's memory. Recipes can be typed in with the accompanying keyboard.

The built-in cookbook (with others available on "memory cards") has a glossary of more than 200 cooking terms. Built-in features include nutritional analysis and a selection of "scaled recipes" for halving or doubling.

The Kitchen Assistant also has a "reverse recipe" function, which supplies an appropriate recipe after a cook enters ingredients on hand.

Other features allow the cook to plan meals and make and print shopping lists.

The unit weighs about two pounds and is designed for even the smallest kitchen, with a width and depth of eight inches and a height of six.

The suggested retail price is $399. Service Merchandise is among the retailers handling Kitchen Assistant.

Jim Harrick forced out at UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Harrick apparently is out as UCLA's basketball coach — 19 months after guiding the Bruins to their first NCAA championship in 20 years and two weeks before the start of the 1996-97 season.

Several news outlets said late Tuesday a news conference would be held on campus today to announce a coaching change.

The Los Angeles Times reported Harrick was given the option of resigning or being fired after practice Tuesday, and chose to resign.

The Long Beach Press-Telegram and Fox Sports News said essentially the same thing.

Harrick, 58, signed a five-year contract, reportedly for an annual salary of $400,000, in the summer of 1995. He was cleared two weeks ago by the school and Pacific-10 Conference of violations in the sale of a car he owned to the older sister of prized recruit Baron Davis.

Harrick's son, Glenn, had use of the vehicle after its purchase in 1990. Glenn Harrick works for Fox Sports News.

ESPN said it had confirmed the resignation of Harrick, saying the reason was because of "recruiting irregularities."

The Times reported the reason was expense report violations and not related to the sale of the car.

When reached at his home Tuesday night, UCLA sports information director Marc Dellins said he could neither confirm nor deny the report.

Harrick's wife, Sally, was tearful while answering a phone call from the Press-Telegram at the couple's Westwood home Tuesday night. She said her husband wasn't at home. When asked if he was stepping down as UCLA's coach she sobbed and said, "You'll have to ask Jim."

Reportedly, Steve Lavin, 32, the chief recruiter on Harrick's staff, will be appointed interim head coach.

Lavin became the No. 1 assist-

Lavin is about to start his sixth season as a member of the UCLA coaching staff, but just his second as a full-time assistant. He was promoted to a full-time spot in June 1995 after spending four years as the restricted earnings coach on Harrick's staff.

Lavin replaced Mark Gottfried, who left after seven years on the staff to become head coach at Murray State University.

Harrick coached at Pepperdine for nine years before succeeding Walt Hazzard as UCLA's head coach in April 1988. Harrick's overall record with the Bruins was 191-63.

UCLA was 23-8 last year, losing to Princeton in the first round of the NCAA tournament. With all five starters returning, UCLA opens the 1996-97 season Nov. 20 against Tulsa in the Preseason NIT.

When Harrick was cleared by the Pac-10 and UCLA on Oct. 21, athletic director, Peter T. Dalis wouldn't say whether the coach would be reprimanded for the car sale.

Harrick admitted he had been through a trying time in the matter, but was relieved he had been cleared.

Olajuwon pours in 34 in Rockets win

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Once again, the Sacramento Kings didn't take care of the ball, and the Houston Rockets had a lot to do with it.

Hakeem Olajuwon scored 34 points and Charles Barkley had 16, and they also led a defensive effort that forced 29 turnovers in a 102-80 win over the Kings on Tuesday night.

"We came through with another very good defensive effort, holding a team on their home court to 80," Houston coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "I like the way our effort is going defensively. The only way to a championship is you have got to live and believe in defense."

Houston, which forced 27 turnovers in beating the Kings last Friday, again pressured Sacramento into one mistake after another.

The Rockets wound up scoring 31 points off the Kings' 29 turnovers, one night after holding Utah to a franchise-low in scoring in Houston's 75-72 victory.

"We were helping each other out on defense, putting pressure on the ball, and that made a lot of difference," Olajuwon said. "Our aggressive defense is what took them out of the game."

Sacramento coach Garry St. Jean said he has seen it all before. He described the home-opening loss as a virtual replay of Sacramento's dismal season-opening effort at Houston.

"I'd like to use the same quotes I had from Friday night because this was about the same thing, except worse," he said. "We've got no one to blame but ourselves. There is no excuse in turning the ball over at that ratio."

Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf led the Kings with 16 points. Brian Grant and Corliss Williamson had 14 points apiece. Williamson also committed a team-high six turnovers.

Improved Steer hoopsters plan on making playoffs

By CLIFF NEWELL
Sports Editor

The Big Steer Spring basketball team finished a point away from making the state basketball playoffs last season.

With four starters returning, head coach Gary Tipton is thinking that little deficiency can be taken care of in 1996-97. As Tipton said, "We have plans."

"I really believe we're going to be a better ball club," said the fifth-year Steer hoops leader. "We have a year's experience and we've played in important games, which is a big plus."

"Our attitude is great, our overall quickness is better, and I think we're a lot smarter in our knowledge of the game."

This year Tipton has something he's never had before at Big Spring: a point guard returning with a year of experience. And the Steers have a good one, too, in 5-11 senior John Smith.

Smith earned all-district honors last year, averaging 7.5 points and five assists per game.

Big Spring Basketball Preview

"John can be as good a point guard as we've had here," Tipton said. "The best thing about him is that the kids believe in him. They have confidence in him. He can penetrate and dish off."

Justin Myers (6-3, junior) saw his promising season curtailed by a broken arm last season. This season Tipton expects him to be an outstanding outside shooter. Myers has connected on as many as seven 3-pointers in a game, and Tipton compares him to former Steer standout Wes Hughes.

At power forward, Chad Warren is just 5-11, but Tipton said, "He's a very powerful kid. He's as strong a kid as you'll find playing power forward. He jumps well and drives well, and his 15-foot jumper is coming around." Warren averaged 10 points per game in district last season.

Greg Wollenzien (6-4, junior) saw a lot of starting action as a sophomore. He is strong, makes few mental mistakes, and Tipton noted, "He's always in the right spots."

Besides the four starters, the Steers return several other players who saw action last season.

Josh Fernau (6-2, junior) will fill the other starting post slot. Fernau, who also plays on the Steer football team, is called "as competitive a kid as you're going to see."

Sky Massingill (5-6) saw some starting action last year when Myers was injured. He can play both point guard and shooting guard. Another returning letterman is 6-1 post player Aaron Bristow.

Coming up from the jayvee are seniors Paul Foresyth, the tallest Steer at 6-5, and Ben Ilario (5-4).

There are some questions about this Steer club. Like how to replace post players Daniel Franks and Eb Simpson, the cornerstones of last year's club.

Still, Tipton expects a better team, one that is capable of taking Big Spring to the state playoffs for the third time in four years.

Paul Foresyth is being counted on heavily this season. The senior is the tallest Steer at 6-5.

Late bomb helps Lakers rally by Knicks

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers needed one more basket, and coach Del Harris drew up a play for the $120 million man, Shaquille O'Neal.

A few seconds later, Nick Van Exel had plans of his own.

Van Exel heaved home a 3-point shot from 28 feet in the final minute, and the Lakers went on to beat the New York Knicks 98-92 Tuesday night.

Neither team led by more than four points in the fourth quarter until Van Exel's shot put the Lakers ahead 93-86 with 40 seconds left. The Knicks called timeout, and Van Exel yelled "Game over" as he ran back to the bench. "I think the play had something to do with getting Shaq the ball, but it didn't work out. So Nick did what Nick does," Harris said.

"He actually practices those shots. Whenever I call timeout in practice, he picks up a ball and starts taking shots from out there. We always yell 'Incoming' because one of those might be a Scud missile. That's the first thing I yelled when he came back to the bench — 'Incoming,'" Harris said.

In other NBA games, Chicago beat Vancouver 96-73. Atlanta stopped Seattle 117-95. Minnesota defeated Phoenix 98-95. Toronto downed Dallas 100-96. San Antonio topped Cleveland 74-68. Detroit defeated Philadelphia 83-81, the Los Angeles Clippers beat Denver 82-78. Portland downed Golden State 111-93 and Houston beat Sacramento 102-80.

"It felt perfect when it left my hand. Most of them don't feel that way, but this one did,"

NBA Roundup

Van Exel said. "I thought I was due for one because I've been missing them all season long. If I didn't have confidence I could make it, I would have dribbled into the lane and thrown up any old thing."

O'Neal finished with 26 points, 13 rebounds and five blocked shots. His anticipated matchup with Patrick Ewing never materialized as both players got into foul trouble. Ewing had 21 points and six rebounds.

Bulls 96, Grizzlies 73
Michael Jordan scored 22 points and Chicago improved to 3-0 for just the sixth time in team history.

Dennis Rodman had 19 rebounds and 13 points for the defending NBA champions. Scottie Pippen had 14 points, eight assists and seven rebounds for the Bulls.

Visiting Vancouver led 27-25 after the first quarter, but was outscored 32-16 in the second period.

Spurs 74, Cavaliers 68
Minus injured David Robinson, Chuck Person and Will Perdue, San Antonio still managed to beat Cleveland for the seventh straight time since 1993.

The visiting Spurs trailed 50-33 midway through the third quarter, but Dominique Wilkins and Vernon Maxwell each scored eight points during a 30-13 run.

Sean Elliott had 17 points for the Spurs. Terrell Brandon scored 21 for the Cavaliers.

Raptors 100, Mavericks 96
Walt Williams scored 34 points and Damon Stoudamire made a go-ahead basket with 56 seconds left as Toronto rallied past Dallas.

Ex-athletes have big impact on Election Day

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jack Kemp won two AFL championships, and Richard Petty won 200 major stock car races. They were losers, though, on Election Day.

Kemp and Republican running mate Bob Dole took a Super Bowl-sized beating in the presidential race, but Kemp said he had no regrets after President Clinton was re-elected in a landslide.

Other than his marriage and family, Kemp said nothing for vice president with Dole was "the greatest experience of my life."

Petty, the biggest winner in stock car racing history, lost his bid to become North Carolina's secretary of state. The "King" of NASCAR racing was soundly beaten by Democrat Elaine Marshall.

"If I had known I wasn't going to win," Petty said, "I wouldn't have run."

Former Kansas City Chiefs quarterback Bill Kenney lost the Missouri lieutenant governor's race to incumbent Roger Wilson, but several other ex-athletes were successful at the polls.

Hall of Fame pitcher Jim Bunning, former football stars Steve Largent and J.C. Watts, and track great Jim Ryun ran as Republicans and won.

Bunning, inducted into the baseball Hall of Fame in August, was elected to his sixth term as a U.S. representative from Kentucky.

"These are great kids," Tipton said. "They're fun to coach and they're competitors."

Looking down the road to district, the Steers will be out to knock off Sweetwater, a powerhouse that returns most of the players from the team that just missed going to Austin last season.

The Steers should be well primed for district play with their rugged early season schedule. In Big Spring's own tournament, defending state champion Pampa will be in the field.

"Our ballclubs tend to get better at the end of the season," Tipton noted. "Our teams are at their best in January and February. I hope we do a better job in predistrict this year."

The host Raptors trailed by 18 points in the third quarter. But Stoudamire, who had 28 points, hit a jumper for a 97-96 lead and added a foul shot with 20 seconds remaining.

Jim Jackson and Jason Kidd missed 3-point shots for the Mavericks, and Toronto's Marcus Camby rebounded and made two free throws.

Hawks 117, SuperSonics 95

Atlanta made a team-record 16 3-pointers, including five each by Mookie Blaylock and Steve Smith, and won at Seattle.

The Hawks shot 16-for-29 on 3-pointers, and six different players hit from long range.

Smith scored 27 points. Blaylock had 21 and reserve Willie Burton 20. Atlanta held its fourth straight opponent under 100 points.

Gary Payton scored 24 points for the Sonics, and Shawn Kemp had 23.

Pistons 83, 76ers 81

Grant Hill made two foul shots with 2.8 seconds remaining and Detroit beat the 76ers for the ninth straight time, including five in a row at Philadelphia.

The score was tied at 81 when the Pistons spread the floor and got the ball to Hill with 10 seconds left. He drove to the basket, was fouled and made both free throws.

The Pistons trailed 79-69 with 4:38 remaining before scoring 14 of the game's last 16 points, including eight by Hill.

Hill had 22 points, 14 rebounds and nine assists as the Pistons improved to 3-0. Rookie Allen had 24 points for the 76ers.

Clippers 82, Nuggets 78

Terry Dehere made three foul shots in the last 15 seconds, and Los Angeles won at Denver.

Baseball still can't reach labor agreement

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — With baseball's labor deal facing near-certain rejection, management and union officials are wondering whether acting commissioner Bud Selig will attempt to resurrect it with additional negotiations.

At least eight teams were thought to be against the deal completed Oct. 24 by management negotiator Randy Levine and union head Donald Fehr.

With a three-quarters majority needed to ratify the agreement, eight teams could block a deal, and some lawyers said as many as 12 might vote against the proposed five-year contract.

"The people who count heads tell me the deal will almost certainly be rejected, and by a significant number," Atlanta Braves president Stan Kasten said Tuesday.

Rejection in today's vote probably would wipe out inter-league play next season and deny free agency for pitcher Alex Fernandez and outfielder Moises Alou.

Some management officials speculated that with the proposal lacking enough votes, owners could postpone a decision while they ask Fehr for further concessions.

"I believe there will be a vote," Selig said from Milwaukee. "We shall see what we shall see."

Fehr, in London on business, said he wouldn't comment until after the vote.

"It continues to look like it will be voted down," agent Tom Reich said. "Obviously, if the deal gets voted down, the first big obstacle will be trying to formulate what owners will present as a negotiating team. There won't be any chance of a resolution for a long time, and that's a pity for the game."

Levine, hired by Selig in September 1995, was contemplating whether to resign later this week. With no consensus among owners for peace and none for war, it appeared the industry will continue to operate under the agreement that expired in December 1993, which is kept in force by a federal injunction.

He easily defeated Denny Bowman, the mayor of Covington, Ky.

"I waited 25 years to stand on that field in Cooperstown and get that plaque," Bunning said of his Hall of Fame induction. "You might imagine it felt pretty good. I have that same feeling standing here tonight."

Largent and Watts were re-elected to congressional seats in Oklahoma.

Largent, a Hall of Fame receiver with the Seattle Seahawks, defeated Tulsa writer Randolph Amen.

"I am excited, I'm humbled and I'm honored by the results," Largent said.

Watts, who led Oklahoma to two straight Orange Bowl victories in the late 1970s, beat state representative Ed Crocker.

"It's time to take off the campaign suits and put back on the congressional suits and get back to work," Watts said.

Ryun, the former world record-holder in the mile, defeated attorney John Frieden for a congressional seat in Kansas. It was the first political race for Ryun, who won a silver medal in the 1,500 meters at the 1968 Olympics.

"I think the people believed my message, and I'm really grateful for that," said Ryun, a conservative with deep religious convictions.

Former Kentucky basketball player Scotty Baesler was re-elected to the U.S. House in the Bluegrass state. Baesler, a Democrat who played for the Wildcats in the early 1960s, defeated Ernie Fletcher, a Lexington physician and former state legislator.

Another former college basketball player, Steve Gill, lost to incumbent Bart Gordon in a Tennessee congressional race. Gill, a Republican, was a reserve for the University of Tennessee in the 1970s.

Justin Cross, an offensive lineman for the Buffalo Bills in the 1980s, lost his bid for a seat in the New York State Assembly.

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN (Never known of Fail)

O Most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, Faithful vine splendor of Heaven, blessed mother of the Son of God, immaculate virgin assist me in my necessity.
O Star for the sea,
Help me and show me here you are my mother. O Holy Mary Mother of God Queen of Heaven and earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to secure me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power.
O Mary conceived without sin, Pray for O who have resorted to Thee (3 times). Holy Mary I place this cause in your hands (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you.

HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FOR THURSDAY, NOV. 7

The unexpected occurs at work this year. Choose not to be shaken. Instead, see this as paving the path to greater freedom and opportunity. Accent flexibility. Changes that ultimately benefit you will result.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Others float enough information by you to elicit your honest reaction. Recognize that your negativity is influencing you. You might not grab what could be yours. Expand your thinking. Dissolve all restrictions through talk. Go with an unexpected offer. Tonight: Say "yes," rather than "no." ***

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Pace yourself. Remain more confident about what is important to you. Vigorously examine long-term goals. Exceptional offers come from a boss. This may surprise you! Balance yourself, and ward off negativity. Maintain equilibrium. Tonight: Go to the gym. ***

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Creative brainstorming is important to you. Thoroughly evaluate a recent decision. Keep your feet planted firmly on the ground. You are likely to pursue a goal fiercely. A friend may be more serious than you think is necessary. Tonight: Go where the fun is. ***

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A boss may affect your choices. Higher-ups have a tendency to be stressed out. Push comes to shove with a family member. The unforeseen occurs with a financial matter and with work procedures. It doesn't take much to cater to an authority figure. Tonight: Home is where you are happiest. ***

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not become discouraged by another's point of view. You might put this person on a pedestal. You don't get the total picture. Discussions could be difficult. On some level, you feel restricted. An associate does the unexpected. Tonight: Say "yes" to life. ***

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Hold on to your perspective about what is happening with a partner and a money matter. Negotiations are important. Allow yourself more freedom in your work. Family members are supportive. Acknowledge them in a unique way. Tonight: Indulge yourself. ***

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) The moon in your sign today highlights you. You become numero uno of the zodiac! Nevertheless, you will have a lot to do, to accomplish what you want. You find a partner difficult and unwilling to adjust. Flow with the moment. Tonight: Talk up a storm. ***

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Pull back, and consider what is happening with a loved one. Work may seem troublesome. You are inspired to change gears, and rightfully so. Surprises occur on the home front. Go with the flow. Examine long-term interests. Tonight: Get extra ZZZs. ***

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Re-evaluate what you want from life. There is a shift in the surrounding energies. Set a moderate pace, and be more even in how you deal with others. A partnership is important, yet demanding. Imagine what you want to see manifest. Tonight: Hang out with friends. ***

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Stay in step with events at work, though a family member could drag you down. Be more in touch with what you want professionally. Finances are unusually erratic and need stabilization. Withdraw, and do some thinking. Tonight: Work late, if necessary. ***

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Send a smile or kind word to another. Excitement opens up doors. You are enthusiastic about life. It all seems new and fresh. How you view your goals changes substantially as a result of what is coming up. Don't get too far ahead of your energy stores. Tonight: Take in a movie. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Honest disclosure is primary. Expect to be knee-deep in a money matter that becomes hard to manage. Consider how to handle a change. Listen more carefully to a partner about money matters. He is anchored. You experience a sudden flash of insight. Tonight: Start creating new dreams. ***

Runners' attire designed for function, not fashion

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "Roger From Walnut Creek, Calif.," I was so furious I had to respond.

I'm Roger's opinion, "99 percent" of female runners wear sports attire that leaves little to the imagination in the hopes of attracting the attention of men.

I am a female runner who lives in Texas where the summers are extremely hot and humid. Running with heavy clothing is not only uncomfortable, it's also dangerous because there is no chance for the skin to breathe.

To suggest that we run in skimpy attire because we are seeking attention from men is just plain ignorant. There are a number of ways to get attention from men without putting oneself through a grueling workout in suffocating heat.

I feel sure Roger is not a runner. If I am wrong, I'd like to invite him to come to Texas next July and run 5 miles with me. I will wear my so-called skimpy outfit and he can wear his sweats.

WE NOW HAVE MP COMPLETE SHOW PIG FEED DEER CORN $5.90 50 Lb. BAG CARRIED OUT TO YOUR CAR OR PICK UP BIG SPRING FARM SUPPLY N. HWY. 87 263-3382

DEAR THERESA: Roger's letter ranked other female runners, who were quick to point out that their sportswear can affect the quality of their performance. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm responding to "Roger From Walnut Creek, Calif.," who thinks women runners wear tight clothes so that men will look at them.

Abby, Roger needs therapy! I run every day with several other women, and we wear EXERCISE CLOTHING. The form-fitting lycra/spandex material allows for greater range of motion and the breathable fabric keeps the athlete drier, which adds to comfort.

Please tell Roger that women have better things to do than collecting catcalls from strangers. Maybe he should get out of his easy chair and try a little exercise himself.

In a recent one-year period, the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission received reports of almost 100 infants and young children who suffocated on adult beds.

Thank you so much for all the good work you do, and for helping keep children safe in their homes. — ANN BROWN, CHAIRMAN, U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION, WASHINGTON, D.C.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 6, the 311th day of 1996. There are 55 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History:

On November 6, 1860, former Illinois Congressman Abraham Lincoln defeated three other candidates for the presidency.
On this date:
In 1854, the king of American march music, John Philip Sousa, was born in Washington, D.C.
In 1861, Jefferson Davis was elected to a six-year term as president of the Confederacy.

In 1888, Benjamin Harrison of Indiana won the presidential election, defeating incumbent Grover Cleveland by gaining the required number of electoral votes, even though Cleveland led in the popular vote.
In 1893, composer Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky died in St. Petersburg, Russia, at age 53 after contracting cholera.
In 1900, President McKinley was re-elected, beating Democrat William Jennings Bryan.
In 1913, Mohandas K. Gandhi was arrested as he led a march of Indian miners in South Africa.
In 1928, in a first, the results of Herbert Hoover's election victory over Alfred E. Smith were flashed onto an electric sign outside The New York Times building.
In 1956, President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon won re-election, defeating Democrats Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.
In 1976, Benjamin L. Hooks was chosen to be the new executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, succeeding Roy Wilkins.
In 1977, 39 people were killed when an earthen dam burst, sending a wall of water through Toccoa Falls Bible College in Georgia.
Today's Birthdays: Director Mike Nichols is 65. Country singer Stonewall Jackson is 64.
