

Commissioners, architects wrestle with library problems

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Howard County Commissioners wasted no time in asking the hard questions of architects Monday as they tried to weed through the confusion as to why plans for air conditioning units were left out of the original drawings for renovations to the new library.

"Everytime we meet, there seems to be a change somewhere in the plans County Judge Ben Lockhart said. "We're having to spend $20,000 now. We have some real concerns as to what this project is finally going to cost us."

"When we see that plans are missing for air conditioning in the new library," Commissioner Bill Crooker said, "I think it's time we sit down and have a dialogue about the problem."

"I guess I'm old-fashioned," Lockhart added, "but when we're spending $1.5 million on a building, I don't think anything should be left out."

The problem with air conditioning units, is that the two existing mechanical rooms in the old Bluebonnet Savings building will not be able to function when the library opens in January, according to construction consultant Phil Ferqueron, because the current air conditioning/heating system is a pneumatic system and a lot of the copper tubing has been demolished.

Commissioners were informed that it would be difficult to purchase replacement parts for the old pneumatic system and agreed that the best remedy is to match what's in the renovation plans and replace the outdated system with electrical controls.

Ferqueron's recommendation to commissioners was to purchase electronic controls, but go back and talk to architects about the problem. Commissioners did talk to architects Monday and, according to Bob Bruyere of Aguirre Associates, the original Bluebonnet Savings building had electrical equipment and architects want the same level of power in the new library, but some of the wiring was inadvertently removed.

Earl Deadman, director of mechanical engineering for Aguirre Associates, told commissioners that when Aguirre surveyed the building before construction began, the old air conditioning unit was operational and that original drawings showed that three therm'stats in the building were to be moved to a different location, not taken out.

"During construction," Deadman said, "the controls and copper tubing were inadvertently taken out."

Architects also speculated that some of

Voting box consolidations get OK

Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray informed county commissioners last week that she had been in contact with Texas secretary of State Tony Garza regarding permission to consolidate the county's 21 polling places for the Dec. 10 runoff for the District 28 Senate seat.

Commissioners approved Ray's request Monday, and the county's 21 voting boxes will be reduced to six boxes for the runoff.

Ector County is also combining its polling places, reducing 42 boxes to five.

The race is between Republican State Rep. Robert Duncan of Lubbock and Democrat and former Lubbock mayor David Langston to fill the seat vacated by John Montford.

After discussion the issue for several minutes, commissioners decided to combine the 21 voting boxes in the following manner

Council approves extending umbrella for Cornell's guards

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Early in October, the Big Spring City Council passed an emergency resolution allowing Cornell Corrections' guards to carry weapons under the city's umbrella until Cornell becomes certified. Tuesday the council extended that emergency certification by 30 days.

The Federal Bureau of Prisons requires that when management of a prison or prisons changes hands, the new management company undergo a recertification process. This applies to Cornell as the new operator of the correctional facilities in Big Spring.

The extension carries the same indemnity clause as the first resolution, releasing the city from any liability in the event of any type of incident whereby the city could be sued.

Thirty Cornell guards are covered by the resolution.

A representative from Cornell told the council that there is a requirement that all uniformed employees by certified investigators in order to carry weapons. Cornell plans to challenge that requirement, but plans to be certified within a few weeks.

According to Cornell, other prison management companies have paid several thousand dollars in fines in the last three years because of the Texas Board of Private Investigation and Security.

Councilman Chuck Cawthon, voted in favor of the emergency resolution on Oct. 10, but questioned doing it again saying the reason the city sold its interest in the correctional centers in the first place was to be relieved of the liability that ownership carries.

The question of liability in the event of a suit was posed to City Attorney Mike Thomas who said the city could be sued if there were an incident, but the indemnity clause should protect the city. Thomas added Cornell's financial stability is a protection to the city along with the indemnity clause.

After discussing the matter, Mayor Tim Blackshear called for the vote, which is required to be unanimous whenever an emergency resolution is consid-

City writing off uncollected debt on utilities rolls

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council granted permission to city administrators to write off $46,588.72 in uncollectible utility charges during its meeting Monday.

According to Finance Director Tom Ferguson, this is the amount that has accumulated in the inactive accounts file since the city last charged off uncollectible accounts in September 1995.

According to city officials, an uncollectible accounts is generated when a customer requests termination of service and then receives a final bill, with credit given for any customer deposits held by the city. If the final bill is paid, the account is removed from the accounts receivable list.

Final bills not paid, become part of the inactive accounts receivable list. An inactive account is also generated when a customer's service is turned off due to delinquency and the customer never pays to have his or her service restored.

The city also has miscellaneous accounts receivable amounts in the general fund ($4,642.80), utility fund ($888.54), airport fund ($6,196.92) and $4,293.67 in other miscellaneous accounts that has been deemed uncollectible.

Medal of Honor recipients honored at VA's ceremony

From Lexington to the Persian Gulf, veterans have been there for us. Speakers at Monday's Veterans Day ceremony at the local VA hospital said we now need to be there for veterans.

The VA Medical Center hosted its annual Veterans Day remembrance Monday morning, marking the holiday that has been set aside in tribute to veterans of the nation's armed forces.

Keynote speaker Richard Ingram, a retired Air Force brigadier general, said this nation should never forget the sacrifice made by its veterans.

"(Veterans) answered the call for this country — a call that led to loneliness, danger and, for some, death," Ingram said. "In time, 40 million men and women have served this country in time of war, and a million have given up their lives in the process."

From the battle of Lexington to start the Revolutionary War, to U.S. peacekeeping forces in Bosnia today, American men and women continue to answer their country's call, Ingram said.

"These young men and women (are) ready to fight," he said. "How is it that common people rise to such uncommon valor? The answer has always been very simple: They are answering the call of their country's needs."

Counts backing VA retirement home here

By STEVE REAGAN

State officials are at the midway point of deciding whether to build retirement homes specifically designed for veterans.

State Rep. David Counts made that statement during remarks at Monday's Veterans Day observance at the Big Spring VA Medical Center.

Texas has the highest number of veterans in the country. But the figure that distresses Counts the most is that this state also has the highest number of homeless veterans in the nation. Almost one in every three homeless U.S. veterans hail from Texas.

"Texas has no homes for veterans, and almost every other state in the nation has at least one," Counts said.

To correct that situation, state officials are conducting a survey to decide the feasibility of constructing such retirement homes for veterans "so that they can have a quality of life in their later years," Counts said.

The homes, if they are built, will be financed on an 80/20 ratio — 80 percent of the financing would come from the federal government, while the remainder would come through state and local sources.

One of the conditions for the homes — having a VA hospital in the vicinity — makes Big Spring a candidate for the project. A group of local residents, led by Johnnie Lou Avery, has already approached Counts to push for this area as a site.

Counts homes the project will receive a green light from the state in the next one or two years. If so, competition for the homes should be intense.

"Other cities that have VA hospitals are going to compete for these homes," he said. "But I think we can do it. I'm excited at the prospect."

Coahoma board formally adopts AEP guidelines

COAHOMA — Establishing a schoolhouse of last resort was the main topic of business for Coahoma Independent School District trustees Monday night.

Trustees formally adopted guidelines for an Alternative Education Program — a program to deal with "problem" or disruptive students — during a special meeting at the administration building Monday.

Many schools in Texas have AEPs, and Coahoma found itself in need of such a program when two students qualified under state guidelines.

Simply put, alternative education provides a last chance for problem students to redeem themselves before they are expelled from the district. Superintendent L.D. Monroe said.

"You can't expel students from regular education (except under specific conditions), but you can expel them from alternative education ... This is the last stop in the disciplinary process. The only other step possible after that is expulsion."

The new state education code adopted as part of Senate Bill 1 two years ago spells out criteria for expelling students from a district. According to the guidelines, students must be automatically expelled if they:

- Are caught with firearms or other illegal weapons on campus.

- Are charged with major felony offenses such as aggravated assault, rape, murder, arson, aggravated kidnapping or indecency with a child.

- Retaliate against a school official.

Expulsion under these circumstances is for a minimum of one year, although the superintendent is given leeway in modifying the length of expulsion.

Short of committing the above offenses, however, educators must place problem students in an AEP before resorting to expulsion, Monroe said.

Students are placed in alternative education after all regular methods of discipline, including in-school suspension have been exhausted. At that point, district officials will meet with the student and parents before assigning the child to the AEP.

Ainsworth speaking at Coahoma High School

By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

COAHOMA — In conjunction with Parent Involvement Day at Coahoma High School, Ed Ainsworth will speak to parents and students on teenage sexuality.

Ainsworth will deliver his program at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium.

Ainsworth, a noted speaker, will deliver a message aimed at promoting abstinence.

"Let's face it — we cannot deny that there is a major problem in our nation on this issue," Ainsworth stated in a press release. "We know that it costs you, the taxpayer, more than $17 billion a year. That is what our government spends on teenage pregnancy each year."

Ainsworth has spoken to more than 35,000 students from junior high to college the past two years, and uses interactive teaching methods that involve the students in the learning process. He uses videos, role-playing, visuals, music and an educational game to get his point across.

Aside from his address tonight, Ainsworth will talk to Coahoma students in three sessions Wednesday. He will speak at the high school from 8:15-9:15 a.m., at the junior high from 9:20-10:20 a.m. and to Coahoma fifth- and sixth-graders from 10:30-11:30 a.m.

Also, he will be available throughout the school day to talk to individual students.

There is no admission charge for the programs, and the public is welcome to attend, CHS Principal Cindy Young said.

Ainsworth's program goes hand-in-hand with Coahoma's Parent Involvement campaign, which is being observed throughout the week, Young said.

The observance began Monday during a meeting of the elementary school PTA. Other programs on tap include parent volunteers reading to elementary children Wednesday.

Boy Scouts staying active prior to 80th anniversary of Troop 1

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

As a prelude to the 50th anniversary of the Buffalo Trails Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains, dozens of boys and girls will camp out and explore the ranch with Scout leaders Nov. 15-17.

A variety of activities are scheduled for the "Mystery of the Mountains" campout.

Virtually all available camping time slots have been taken for next year's golden anniversary.

Slow but steady progress is being made with renovations to the new scouting center at 6th and Scurry. The office and workroom have been completed, most of the electrical wiring has been replaced and plans are being made for rehabilitating the kitchen area as well as the plumbing.

Buffalo Trails Scout Executive John D. Johnson, was a recent visitor at the Lone Star District meeting and informed local Scout leaders that Alex Sosa has been named Big Bend district executive.

It was also reported during the meeting that more than $250,000 has been given or pledged for Scout Ranch improvements.

Volunteers who lead scouting units in the Lone Star District were appreciated by the district committee last week at a spaghetti supper in their honor at First United Methodist Church's Garrett Hall.

District Chairman Ladd Smith and his wife Betty sponsored the meal. Troops honored at the dinner include Troops No. 1, No. 4, No. 5, No. 16 and No. 125; and Cub Scout Packs No. 29, No. 179, No. 305 and No. 501.

Troop No. 1 will also be celebrating its 80th anniversary on Nov. 24 from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at First United Methodist Church's Garrett Hall.

The celebration will include a flag ceremony, comments from guest speaker Walton Morrison and comments from longtime Scouting supporter Joe Pickle. A presentation will also be made to First United Methodist for its continuing support of Troop No. 1.

Troop No. 1 was organized and received its first charter on Sept. 30, 1911. C.S. Holmes was the troop's first scoutmaster and organized the troop at the insistence of Big Spring resident Mrs. B. Reagan. No records of the first troop exists, but the history of the troop indicates that the nucleus of that first troop came from a Sunday School class conducted by Holmes.

Landon Wegner is a member of Troop No. 1 and said Scouting gives him the opportunity to do things that life outside of Scouting doesn't.

"I like doing things with people my age and I enjoy being a leader," Wegner said.

Troop No. 1 has engaged in activities such as repelling, canoeing and flying in airplanes to earn aviation merit badges.

Scoutmaster Tommy Wegner said scouting is a great teaching tool for the boys who get involved. "We try to teach the boys to be honest and fair in their dealings with people and not criticize the shortcomings of others," Wegner said.

He added, "We do a lot of camping, which teaches the boys to be independent and do a lot of things for themselves. It gives them a sense of responsibility."

Some of the activities Troop No. 1 is involved in includes the recent Good Turn Food Drive, the flag ceremony for Memorial Day services, acting as church parking assistants, and assistance in selling programs at the Native American Inter-Tribal Gathering.

Eagle Scout projects for the troop have included refurbishing Jefferson Park; cleaning, repairing and painting playground equipment at Elbow School; and restoring, cleaning and remarking gravesites at Luther cemetery.

Current members of Troop No. 1 include Wegner, Slate Broyles, Justin LeFever, Colin Stanley, Kyland Wegner, Nathan Smith, J.C. Bowling, Michael Lewis, Cody LeFever, Tony Wyrick, Mark Warvington and Gary Gnuschke. The troop meets at 7 p.m. Monday at First United Methodist Church.

"As we salute our veterans, we can and should continue to reflect ... that we continue to pay freedom's cost," he added.

Ingram, who retired from the Air Force in 1988, rose through the enlisted ranks before receiving his officer's commission in 1958. He served as an instructor pilot, fighter pilot, staff officer, squadron commander, wing commander, base commander and commandant of a professional military college during his time in service.

During the Vietnam War, he flew more than 280 combat missions, including 69 over North Vietnam. His awards and decorations include the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, Legion of Merit and Distinguished Service Medal.

The observance also included a laying of a wreath and a 21-gun salute.

After the ceremony, Ingram assisted former Marine Maj. George O'Brien in dedicating the VA's Wall of Honor. O'Brien, a former Big Spring resident who is this area's only Medal of Honor recipient, dedicated the wall, which includes plaques recording the deeds of the 46 Medal of Honor recipients from Texas.

Students in the program are segregated from the regular school population, and go through a no-frills education regimen.

"It's rather structured," Monroe said. "It will meet all their educational needs ... but it will be minus any regular social activities."

Students in the program — which will be housed in the district's tax office — are there for one reason only: to learn. They are not allowed to participate in any extra-curricular activities, and they are not welcome on school grounds after hours.

The equipment in question could have been stolen before construction began, which means the county may be able to file an insurance claim for the lost equipment because of vandalism.

"In any case, a working system has been damaged or modified to the point that it's no longer a working system," Deadman said.

After Monday's morning session, architects, on the advice of commissioners, decided to sit down with contractors and go over the plans point by point to try to work out the problem.

The architects returned for an afternoon session to inform commissioners of what was discussed with contractors.

Commissioners were informed that a $6,387 charge by the electrical contractor to the county for electrical service would not be allowed by Aguirre Associates, a decision Bruyere said did not make the electrical contractor happy.

Bruyere added another charge for $1,185 for relocating three air conditioning units by the electrical contractor would not be allowed because the general contractor and mechanical contractor understood that the phrase relocating meant moving the units and reconnecting it the way they were before they were moved.

"The electrical contractor should have done the same," Bruyere said.

Commissioners then voted 3-to-2 to approve an additional $2,280 in work order changes, some of which include compliance with state regulations.

Bruyere told commissioners Aguirre Associates will write a summary of their discussions with contractors letting commissioners know just where the county stands financially.

city to write off the accounts, Councilman Chuck Cawthon said, "I don't like to do this, but I don't know what else to do about it."

City Manager Gary Fuqua added, "Although we write these accounts off, we will continue to try to collect these accounts through a collection agency."

Council members also voted unanimously to authorize Fuqua to designate both sides of Airbase Road, 450 feet north and south of West 13th Street, near Anderson Kindergarten as no parking areas between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily.

The reason for the designation is that parents are dropping children off at several points on Airbase road and not at designated areas, which is causing a traffic hazard, according to City Engineer Ralph Truskowski.

Other action by the council included its acceptance of a matching 10 percent Department of Justice block grant in the amount of $29,990 to be used for anything the department needs with the exception of salaries.

Police Chief Jerry Edwards said the department already has its match of $3,332 set aside and a committee has been formed to look at how the department will use the funds.

Another item brought before the council, though not an action item Tuesday, was a request that the city pick up the $4,206 per year still needed to fund the Mobile Meals Program (Meals on Wheels).

•Precinct 4 — With the exception of boxes 405, 408 and 409, voters in this precinct will vote at the 11th and Birdwell Fire Station.

Despite 1,403 of 10,038 residents who cast ballots in last week's general election not voting in the District 28 special election, County Clerk Margaret Ray said the runoff is an important issue for Big Spring because it is part of the 28th Senatorial District.

Early voting for the runoff will begin on Dec. 2 and continue through Dec. 6, instead of having two and a half weeks of early voting prior to the runoff, according to Ray.

"50 Years of Music"
worth celebrating

This Saturday at the Stampede is a chance to reminisce about the impact Hoyle and Ben Nix had on the music industry and West Texas.

"Celebrating 50 Years of Music — A Tribute to Hoyle and Ben Nix" is the theme of the event scheduled for 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and is being organized by Hoyle's son, Jody. The two brothers formed their band on Nov. 11, 1946, and first performed at Yell's Inn, a place west of Big Spring. In 1954, they built the Stampede as a home base for playing their Western Swing style of music.

Although Hoyle and Ben have passed on, you can still capture the feeling of the music as several men who have been band members throughout the last 50 years will be in attendance. Two of those are original band members, Charlie Smith, a banjo player, and Tommy Harvell, who played guitar.

Some of the other men who will be there include Larry Nix, Dusty Stewart, Don Tolle, Bill and Gene Madry, Kenneth "Little Red" Hayes, Gene and Martin Thomas, John Minnick and Irland McCormick.

This is a chance for the community to go back to the "good ole days" of packing in the Stampede for some good country music and dancing.

Jody Nix and the Texas Cowboys will perform for the first hour then the former West Texas Cowboys will play and sing the remainder of the night.

So starch those jeans, polish those boots and make your reservations for an evening of fun, reminiscing and dancing as we celebrate 50 years of music.

Devising system to keep up sequel — 'Clinton II'

By ANN McFEATHERS
Scripps Howard News Service

WASHINGTON — It's time to devise a scorecard, based on President Clinton's campaign promises, for judging his second term.

Bob Dole made much of the fact that in 1992 Clinton promised a middle-class tax cut and health care for everyone and did not deliver either. In 1996, Clinton has been more modest.

In every speech, Clinton has promised to mobilize a million volunteers through his AmeriCorps program to make sure every third-grader learns to read. He never said exactly how this would be done or how it would be tested or measured. But you can bet that reporters will be prowling around, trying to ascertain the reading skills of the nation's 8-year-olds.

Clinton called for school uniforms for public school youngsters. Again, he never really said this would be done — he merely suggested he'd use the bully pulpit. But easy enough to measure in a few years. He also vowed to connect every classroom to the Internet by 2000.

He vowed to prod Congress to expand the Family and Medical Leave Act to let parents attend parent-teacher conferences and take children to the doctor. And he wants a flex-time law to permit employees to take overtime pay in either money or time off.

Far more difficult is Clinton's promise to put one million welfare recipients to work by 2000. He has proposed to give businesses a tax credit for every person they hire off welfare and keep employed. He also promised a program to give private job placement firms a bonus for every welfare recipient they place in a job if the worker stays.

That's how he intends to persuade businesses, especially small ones, to hire untrained, unskilled workers, some of whom don't know the basic rudiments of how to succeed at the job.

He also has promised to help communities put welfare recipients to work repairing schools, fixing streets and "making their neighborhoods shine again." In that vein, he promised more empowerment zones to draw businesses into poor neighborhoods and to help people start their own businesses.

He also promised to balance the budget by 2002, when he will be out of office. But he did not promise to continue to bring down the deficit every one of the remaining years he's in office. Many think the deficit will creep up again next year or the year after that.

He absolutely, positively promised 100,000 more police officers on the street. So far, there are about 17,000 more than when he started. If he fails to deliver on that promise, it's a big failure. Also, he promised a ban on "cop-killer" bullets and said he'd push a victims' rights constitutional amendment. And he pledged to use anti-racketeering laws to break teenage gangs.

Probably more than anything else, he's promised to improve education. "By the year 2000, the single most critical thing we can do is to give every single American who wants it the chance to go to college," he vowed when he accepted his party's nomination in August.

If he fails to deliver on a $1,500 tax credit for each of two years of post-secondary education for high school graduates, he will have failed on a major plank of his re-election campaign.

Likewise, he's put his weight behind a $10,000-a-year tax deduction for college tuition. That will be difficult. The Republican-controlled Congress would rather see capital gains tax cuts and an across-the-board tax cut.

He also pledged to get enacted a $2,600 grant for unemployed and underemployed workers for training and skills. He called it a "new GI Bill for America's workers." He will be judged on whether he delivers.

He wants to expand IRAs "so that young people can save tax-free to buy a first home" and end capital gains taxes for middle-income families who sell their homes.

He promised to protect the environment and pledged to clean up 500 toxic waste dumps by 2000.

He said that by the turn of the century, the Pentagon's weaponry will be modernized by 40 percent.

He promised to install "the most sophisticated bomb detection equipment in our major airports and search every plane to or from America — every flight, every cargo hold, every cabin, every time."

In the waning hours of the campaign, pushed against the wall, he also promised campaign finance reform. Tough to enact, but he gave an ironclad commitment.

There were no bold new schemes such as overhauling the nation's health care system. On the other hand, he wasn't skimping with his promises.

While Clinton is a lame duck, Vice President Gore, who clearly is running to succeed him, will have to answer on whether they kept those promises. And the history books will record it all.

A voter's sour view of government and the presidential election of 1996

By PAUL CRAIG ROBERTS
Scripps Howard News Service

If you need an optimistic take on the election try this one: Bob Dole's defeat may be good for the Republican Party and Bill Clinton's win may not mean that the people actually prefer him.

A clued-in electorate could have decided the Republican establishment which backs Dole is incapable of leadership and Clinton is history anyway as a result of the scandals and, if not, is at least checked by his tarnished image and a Republican Congress.

The rejection of Dole, following the prior rejection of Bush, is the electorate's way of clearing the deadwood that is the Republican establishment out of the way of the reformers with true conviction who might have what it takes to forcefully address the real problems and real concerns.

These are not what Dole assumed: that people expect the president to "feel for" them and spend a massive amount of government money on them.

Their election of Clinton is a way of forcing the timid Republicans to overcome their fear of confrontation and to hold Clinton and his minions responsible. With the administration tarred with Republican claims of perjury, obstruction of justice, illegal foreign campaign contributions and illegal use of federal agencies, the Republican Congress is put to the test. If it cannot stand up and take the decisive actions necessary to restore the integrity of government the party will lose support to a reform party such as Ross Perot's.

Clinton senses this and already has moved to neutralize the Republicans by asking for Dole's support.

This is all to the good. A party in the grips of careerists devoid of conviction and courage is useless to the country. If the electorate cannot do anything about the narrow interest groups that control the Democratic Party, it can at least create a new party to do them real battle.

Whether Republican or Reform, this new party will have some distinguishing characteristics. It will not, for example, share George Bush's or the League of Women Voters' confidence in government. And it will not be confused by the old conservative idea that government at the state and local level is somehow immune from the vices that affect the folks in Washington.

It will be a party that realizes government is more of a problem than a help — a necessary evil that should be limited in scope. It will be made up of people who are fed up with unaccountable government running over people, their rights and property in the name of causes, whether civil rights, environment or crime-fighting. In the name of protecting this and combating that, government has become tyrannical.

Judges have cut themselves loose from the Constitution, and regulatory bureaucrats have cut themselves loose from statutory law. As a columnist I know that people are aware of this and concerned about it because they write to me about their concerns and they respond when I address these problems.

It will be a political party that will hold federal judges, including Supreme Court justices, to account when they "discover" rights in the Constitution that are nothing but the subjective values of the judges or ways of advancing causes that they support.

When the IRS, FBI, wetlands regulator or any government agent abuses a citizen, heads will roll in a major manner and the powers of the agency will be severely curtailed. Restitution will not be confined to a monetary payment that is ultimately borne by the taxpayers. Law will be restored as something that protects citizens rather than something that government uses to abuse them.

Immigration, "civil rights" and educational policies that balkanize the country will be halted as there can be no country without one people. Commonality is not an abstract thing. It must be felt. Group rights are its antithesis. Advocates of group rights will be recognized as a fifth column working, in effect, to overthrow the country.

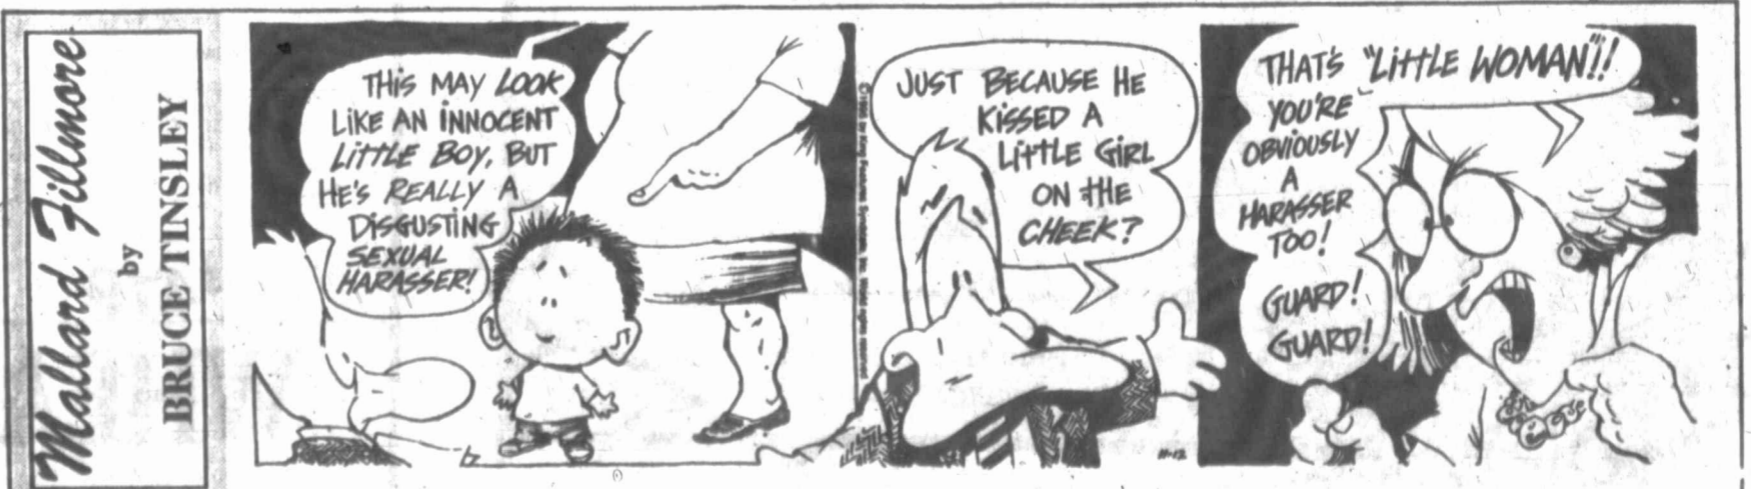

The new party will recognize that however much misfortune there is in the country and the wider world, the only guard against its spread is personal success. The country's tax, economic and welfare policies will become keyed to the success of families. People who stand on their own feet will cease to be resources for the government to exploit in behalf of its welfare plantations.

It will be a party that reaffirms the American founding, not one that wants to use coercive government in behalf of its causes and its constituents. As neither the current Republican nor Democratic Party is capable of this, this election which rejected the Republican establishment and left Clinton in position for a conservative-driven effort at impeachment is the best possible outcome.

John Smoltz wins NL Cy Young, keeps award in Atlanta locker room

ATLANTA (AP) — Even though John Smoltz was the best pitcher in baseball this year, he couldn't bring himself to say he's better than teammate Greg Maddux.

Maddux's unprecedented streak of four straight Cy Young Awards officially came to an end Monday with the expected announcement that Smoltz was a landslide National League winner over Florida's Kevin Brown.

Maddux, who was merely a great pitcher this year instead of superhuman, had to settle for a tie for fifth in the balloting.

"Maddux is the best pitcher in baseball," said Smoltz, who received 26 of the 28 first-place votes and was second on the other two ballots. "I don't know if I'll ever not believe that. I believe strongly in my abilities and what I'm capable of doing. But with any kind of support and luck and breaks this year, he could have been right there, too."

Even under the best of circumstances, though, it would have been tough for Maddux or anyone else to beat Smoltz this year.

The 29-year-old right-hander was 24-8 with a 2.94 ERA, winning 14 consecutive decisions from April 9-June 19. He led the majors in wins and his total was the Braves' highest since 1965, when Tony Cloninger went 24-11. Smoltz also led the majors with 276 strikeouts and 253 2-3 innings.

Not even Brown, the only starter in baseball with an ERA below 2.00, came close to Smoltz.

"He had a great year," Smoltz said of the Marlins right-hander. "If he played for the Atlanta Braves, he would have won the Cy Young."

Atlanta's prized pitching staff became the first to win four consecutive Cy Young Awards and has won five of six, a streak that began with Tom Glavine's in 1991.

Maddux won for the Chicago Cubs in 1992 and then won in each of his first three seasons with the Braves. This year, Maddux ranked second in the league to Brown with a 2.72 ERA, but a lack of run support left him with a 15-11 record.

"I'm very honored to at least temporarily lift that throne he's had for four years," Smoltz said. "I think the competition this staff has shown and the ability to pitch with those guys, I know I'll look back and be honored to be playing with those guys for so long."

Smoltz doesn't know if he'll be part of the best rotation in baseball in 1997. A free agent, he will be begin listening to offers from other teams on Friday, though he would prefer to re-sign with the Braves.

"Realistically, we live in a world that's not so much a baseball game as much as it's a business," he said. "I plan to sit down with my wife and my two agents and hammer it out. It won't be a quick decision. My idea of a perfect situation would be to stay here. This is home for me. But I won't close any doors."

Smoltz, who received a $250,000 bonus for winning the award, also received two second-place votes for 136 points. Brown had two firsts, 26 seconds and 88 points.

Andy Benes of the Cardinals was third, Hideo Nomo of the Dodgers was fourth and there was a three-way tie for fifth with Maddux, Trevor Hoffman of the Padres and Todd Worrell of the Dodgers.

Atlanta's six-game World Series loss to the Yankees took some of the pleasure away for Smoltz.

"That tarnishes this a little bit. I truly wanted to win the World Series," Smoltz said. "But if I can remove myself from being a team player and just look at it personally, this is definitely the most gratifying award I've received to this point."

There also was a sense of redemption in Smoltz's voice. Even though he had double-figure wins in six of the previous seven seasons, he never won more than 15, leading many to believe that he wasn't taking advantage of his full potential.

Actually, though, Smoltz was troubled for several years by a sore elbow that finally required surgery. This year, fully recovered, he silenced all the critics and took his place alongside Maddux and Glavine.

"Everybody felt like I was in the shadows and needed this to be the equal with those teammates of mine or be considered one of the best pitchers," Smoltz said. "I never felt like I needed it, but it's definitely gratifying to take the pressure off that."

District 4-4A playoff entries enjoy hometown edge

By JOHN H. WALKER
Managing Editor

District 4-4A's three playoff teams all enjoy the same advantage this Friday night — playing in their hometowns. Sweetwater's No. 4-ranked Mustangs (10-0) host El Paso Burgess (6-4) in the Mustang

Playoff Pairings — 9

Bowl, San Angelo Lake View (8-2) hosts El Paso Bowie (7-3) in San Angelo Stadium and Andrews (5-5) hosts El Paso Riverside (9-1). All three games start at 7:30.

Lake View goes to the playoffs in Division I — or the "big school" division, which was added this year by the University Interscholastic League.

Big Spring's Steers (2-8) had a shot at making the playoffs had a roll of the dice come up in the Steers favor.

Big Spring could have advanced to post-season play with a win over Andrews in the event Pecos defeated Fort Stockton, which the Eagles did.

Instead, Andrews claimed a 7-6 win in what turned out to be a defensive battle after both teams lost their top offensive performers.

Big Spring lost 1,110-yard rusher Antwone Edwards to a broken thumb on his first carry of the game and Andrews lost district leading rusher Shaud Williams, who suffered a hip pointer early in the contest and carried the ball only three times.

The Steers Frankie Green rose to the occasion, however, rushing for 178 yards on 28 attempts. In addition, quarterback Tory Mitchell had 84 rushing yards on 14 carries.

Despite an excellent ground game, the Steers again could not get anything going through the air, and Andrews was able to make its one-point margin hold up.

The Steers finished the season with a 2-8 overall record and 1-4 in district.

Sweetwater captured the district championship by overcoming two-time defending champion Lake View in the Mustang Bowl.

It was Sweetwater's 28th straight regular season victory while the Chiefs saw their three-year, 14-game district winning streak come to an end.

Lake View made it close to the very end by driving to the Sweetwater 11-yard line in the final minutes, only to see the effort fall short when a pass by quarterback Sterlin Gilbert was intercepted by Shedrick Williams.

Sweetwater was led by tailback Jason Blueford, who racked up 155 yards on 23 carries and scored two touchdowns. The awesome Mustang ground attack had 307 rushing yards in all. Gilbert passed for 180 yards, but had only nine completions in 26 attempts and suffered two interceptions.

Pecos broke through for its first district victory, 17-7 over Fort Stockton.

The Eagles broke a 7-7 tie in the fourth quarter to grab the win.

Jason Abila led Pecos with 181 yards. Pecos finished at 5-5 overall, while Fort Stockton went 4-6. Both teams went 1-4 in district play.

Chargers top Lions on big play, 27-21

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Herman Moore, a receiver making a cameo appearance on defense, took a swipe at the ball and missed. Cornerback Ryan McNeil jumped, but it went through his hands.

Andre Coleman, standing near the back line of the end zone, didn't miss. The 5-foot-9 receiver caught Stan Humphries' desperation 46-yard pass on the last play of the first half, boosting the San Diego Chargers to a 27-21 victory over the Detroit Lions on Monday night.

"I think they just forgot about me," said Coleman, who proved that you don't have to be big to make huge plays in the NFL.

Just when it seemed like Barry Sanders, another little guy who makes big plays, was going to take control of the game and help take some pressure off coach Wayne Fontes, Coleman redeemed himself by making the spectacular play.

Coleman lost his starting job to rookie Charlie Jones a week earlier. Jones was knocked out early Monday night with bruised ribs, and Coleman proceeded to make two mistakes in the span of three plays. He fumbled on a reverse and lost 7 yards, then dropped a perfect pass from Humphries.

"It was a little frustrating," Coleman said. "But that's all it takes sometimes, is one big play, and all of a sudden it changes the momentum. It just so happens that was the play and I'm glad I made it."

That the Chargers got off the play was big in itself.

Jason Hanson missed a 53-yard field goal with 1:21 left in the first half, keeping the Lions' lead at 14-10 and giving the Chargers the ball on their 43. Humphries threw passes of 8 and 15 yards to Terrell Fletcher, then lost 18 when he was sacked by Henry Thomas and fumbled. Humphries recovered the ball.

San Diego was out of timeouts, but Detroit called one with 37 seconds left. After an 11-yard screen pass to Fletcher, center Courtney Hall was called for a false start. Since the penalty came in the final two minutes, 10 seconds were run off the clock, leaving San Diego with two ticks before the big play.

Humphries said he tried to throw it high and about 5 yards deep in the end zone.

"It ended up going over the whole pile and Andre caught it in the back. It's all luck," Humphries said.

The Chargers (6-4) eagerly accepted it.

"It's about time we got a little bit of that. It's been a long time coming," coach Bobby Ross said.

Ross figured two seconds was enough time.

"I said, 'What the hell, let's take a chance at it.'"

The Lions, it turned out, had 12 men on the field. But the two closest to the play got burned. The 6-4 Moore — the NFL's leading receiver coming into the weekend — was in because of his size and jumping ability. McNeil was trying to box out Coleman.

"Right before I got ready to jump, I knew I had a chance to catch it," Coleman said. "It seemed like all the other guys were in the air and the ball hadn't come down yet, so I just jumped and it landed in my hands."

Adversity gets Cowboys playing tough at right time

IRVING (AP) — There's nothing like a little adversity to get the Dallas Cowboys to play like defending Super Bowl champions should.

Dallas improved its record to 6-4 Sunday after a 1-3 start with a 20-17 overtime win in San Francisco thanks to Chris Boniol's 29-yard field goal. The Cowboys trail Philadelphia and Washington, both weekend losers, by only a game.

"I would have been skrewed if we lost that one," said quarterback Troy Aikman.

Philly beat Dallas last week on an Aikman interception that backfired into a 104-yard interception and lateral touchdown.

Aikman made another late interception against the 49ers, but he got a second-chance. Linebacker Fred Strickland's interception of Elvis Grbac on the next play set Aikman up for his game-tying touchdown pass to tight end Eric Bjornson.

Then the Cowboys won in overtime with Barry Switzer hugging Aikman until his quarterback produced a big smile. Switzer got some of Aikman's eyeball on his face and shirt.

"The win meant a lot to both of us," Switzer said. "We had lost to them the last three times. A coach and a quarterback have a lot in common."

"We had to win this game," said guard Nate Newton. "Lose this one and drop back to .500 and it might have been all over."

Particularly with the vastly improved Green Bay Packers coming to town next Monday night.

"We've got the playoffs in our sights now," Newton said. "And I don't care where we have to play it, frozen tundra of Lambeau Field or 3-Com Park again, I don't care. We just have to keep winning."

The win proved costly for the Cowboys. Switzer said Monday that free safety Brock Marion broke a shoulder blade and could miss several weeks.

"I had one of those things once and it was two weeks before I could even raise my arm," Switzer said.

Safety Bill Bates and backup center Clay Shiver sustained concussions but both were expected to play against the Packers. Switzer said he also expected wide receiver Kevin Williams, who has missed three weeks with an ankle injury, to be ready for Green Bay.

Kindle's explosiveness sparks Lady Hawks

By CLIFF NEWELL
Sports Editor

Matt Corkery needed an outstanding player to build around when he became head coach of the Howard College Lady Hawks, and he definitely has one in LaTonya Kindle.

The 5-7 sophomore shooting guard led the HC women in scoring as a freshman with 11 points per game — and sparked the Lady Hawks to a 28-4 record and the regional semifinals.

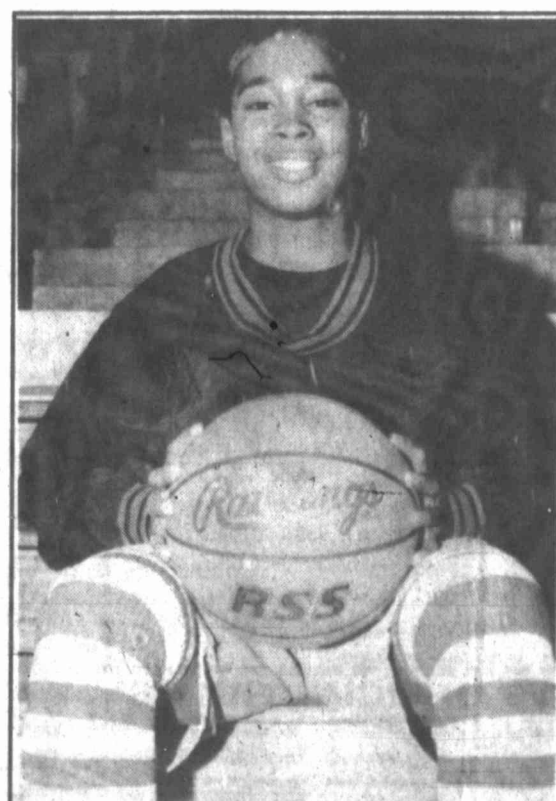

That's a hard first act to top, but Kindle can do it.

"LaTonya is an explosive player," Corkery said. "She can score anytime she's on the floor, either by the 3-pointer or by penetrating. She really has a well-rounded offensive game."

"Defensively, she has a lot of quickness. She's learning how to play better position defense. It's a learning process, but she's making a lot of strides."

So far, LaTonya is savoring the new system Corkery has brought to Howard. It brings her back to her run-and-gun high school days in San Bernardino, CA.

"Oh, yes, I really relate to this system," Kindle said. "We're running the floor, we fast break, we spread the floor. I like it." Last season was "scary and all" for Kindle. She didn't expect to become the leading scorer and an all-conference selection for a powerhouse program like Howard, but that is exactly what happened.

"I was surprised it went so well," she said. "I was able to gain confidence quickly."

Things are a bit different this year. She is now the sophomore being counted on for leadership.

"I feel added pressure, but it could be good pressure," Kindle said. "I think the freshmen are looking up to me like I looked up to the sophomores last season."

Kindle came a long way to get to Big Spring. She was an All-CIF selection and league MVP while averaging 18 points per game for San Bernardino High. That earned her a spot in a senior all-star league and soon afterward a call from Texas.

"Two days after I started in the league, I got a call from coach Corkery (then a Howard assistant)," Kindle said.

"I wanted to get away from San Bernardino and see what the other side of the world was like. I wanted to see what Texas was like."

Howard certainly liked the way Kindle looked in Texas, and this season should be even better.

"This team has things we need to work on," Kindle said. "In the long run, I think you'll see us in the national tournament. Our freshmen are good, and are sophomores are coming out of their shell. They're stepping it up."

Kindle is certain to continue her career at a four-year school.

"LaTonya is definitely getting a lot of attention," Corkery said. "She has a lot of options."

Kindle is majoring in criminal justice. But the crooks may have to wait.

"To be honest, I'd really like to play in the new women's pro league," LaTonya said. "That's my goal."

Wacker paves way to resign as Minnesota football coach

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — After five losing years as Minnesota football coach, Jim Wacker paved the way this morning for resigning at season's end.

"What we are going to do is in the best interest of the program and the best interest of the players. And that's all," Wacker said in a radio interview.

"It's been a fun run and I would not trade it for anything in the world," he said.

He did not say he was resigning, but that he wanted to end the season with at least six wins. The Golden Gophers are 3-6 and on a six-game losing streak following a 45-28 loss Saturday to Wisconsin; two games remain.

"It's our job to win six and if we don't, then they need a change, then you need to bring in a new man, a new person, a new face, a new enthusiasm and then the players get excited, and boom, all of a sudden this thing will turn," he said.

"More than anything I want to see a winning football program at the University of Minnesota," he said.

Wacker met with the team early this morning. Players who filed out after declined to comment. The university also had no comment.

Wacker's media luncheon is scheduled for 11 a.m., when he is expected to make the resignation official. It would be effective at the end of the season.

He told friends Monday he wanted the Gophers to be able to hire a new coach by Dec. 1. He said it was a tremendous disadvantage when he was hired in late December 1991 and couldn't assemble a staff until after Jan. 1.

HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13:
This is your year. Review your finances, and make decisions for your future. You might be tempted to move around more and be busy through 1996. However, it would serve you to take a hard look at your day-to-day patterns. The unexpected develops with home and domestic matters. There may be a change of residence, a new roommate or a change on the home front. If you are single, romance is likely to pop up when you least expect it. This could happen anywhere, even during your daily routine. If attached, work on the quality of your communications. Both of you need a break from the hectic pace. CAPRICORN understands you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Take the lead professionally. Do not take a back seat. You are harder on yourself than anyone else. It is important to stay on target. Avoid distractions. Be nice to yourself, as well as another. Gentleness can complement responsibility. Tonight: Say "yes." ****

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Reach out for another who is at a distance. Evaluate the pros and cons of a new venture, recognizing that there may be some negativity. Open up to what is possible at this time. Do not be self-critical about your inner chatter. Tonight: Go for the unique. *****

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Candid disclosure is important in making a key decision. You are heading toward an important goal; a steady course is crucial. You hear good news from a co-worker. Be careful about a relationship that could be developing into more. Tonight: Have dinner for two. *****

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Agree with a boss, even if he is cantankerous. Your endurance, sense of timing and graciousness count in the long run. Let your creativity and energy entwine. You might need a long lunch break if you are going to ace the day. Tonight: It's party time. *****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Focus on work, and get the job done. Consider what is restricting you. Consider different premises and ideas. You display vulnerability and caring with a family member. Consider integrating work more into your life. Tonight: Put your feet up. *****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Don't let an associate rain on your parade. Instead, smile and go on your merry way. Imagination and bounce will carry you through any problem. Your vitality is high, so not much can stop you. Communications could turn most pleasant. Tonight: Kick up your heels. *****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Let domestic matters take priority. You feel another is pushing you too hard. Don't let anyone's attitude get to you. Listen, think and evaluate. There is a change coming. Right now, building security is primary. Tonight: Order in. ***

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
You might be tired, but your charm more than makes up for any lapses. You feel good because of what is going on. Reach out for others. Arrange a meeting via telephone. Communications are intense. Ease up the pace where you can. Tonight: Go to a favorite spot. ****

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Your more possessive side emerges. Question what is important for you in the long run. Avoid speculating about finances. Touch base with your needs, and support yourself in asking that they be met. Discussions are heartfelt. Tonight: Indulge. ***

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Shake off a family member's, or possibly your own, negativity. Open up to what could be. There is no time like the present. A friend gives you the additional push that can make a difference. Trust your charisma. Tonight: As you like it. *****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Much is happening behind the scenes. You might exaggerate what feels like an affront or a major change. Examine what you want during this period. Pouting won't help, so maintain your perspective. Tonight: Take command of your ship. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
A financial limitation provokes a different point of view. Listen to a loved one whom you care a lot about. Evaluate your interests with an eye to the future and a special person. You might discover that material gain isn't all you want. Tonight: Seek friendship. ****
