RSDS sufferers seek national attention through local press

By CHRYS GOFF Staff Writer

Reflex

Sympathetic Dystrophy Syndrome ... has anyone heard of it?

It's a disease you feel 24 hours a day with the intensity of a red hot poker plunging into your arm or shoulder. Locally, no doctor has apparently treated anyone for it. As a way to raise awareness of the syndrome, people across the country are asking newspapers to publish information about it today in an effort to get the word out.

Sadly, this syndrome is foreign to millions of Americans, even though there are over six million victims across the United States. Doctors have been studying RSDS since the Civil War and still there is very little that is understood about the syndrome.

RSDS has been known to strike all ages, from small infants to the elderly, but the main targets are women between ages 30 and 40. The syndrome starts in one or more of the extremities, ankle, wrist, or spinal injuries, to a simple fall or stroke. The main symptom is constant severe burning pain that is rated at a higher level than cancer pain. Other symptoms that can occur include: sensitivity to touch, swelling, inability to use limbs, memory loss and depression.

There is no test to confirm or deny 100 percent the diagnosis of RSDS, so it often goes undiagnosed or misdiagnosed for months or even years. Patients are often told that the pain is in their head or that they are exaggerating their pain since no cause can be found. Nearly one in five patients commit suicide rather than continue to face the tremendous pain. Although there is help out there victims don't always know about it. There is an Internet Search for RSDS victims that can tell you where there is help available. Patients can now fight there battles and See RSDS, Page 2

GOP committee head says fund raising probe will be broader than expected chairman of the House committee investigating campaign fund-raising activities said Sunday his probe will be far broader than originally anticipated. As justification, he cited new allegations of official Chinese attempts to help the Democratic Party.

The White House aide handling the problem, counsel Lanny Davis, countered that suggestions that President Clinton encouraged improper campaign contributions in any way were "flat out wrong."

Rep. Dan Burton, R-Ind., chairman of the House Government Reform and Oversight Committee, said on NBC's "Meet the Press" he has issued 25 subpoenas already, 20 of them Saturday night for documents related to his investiga-

"We are going to look into every area where there is the possibility of illegal activity as far as influence peddling, illegal contributions, possible involve-

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ment of White House personnel and things like that," he said.

> "The investigation unfortunately is going to be much broader than I would like." He said the committee has 500 people it wants to talk to.

Burton said hearings will begin in April or May with "no way to know how long it's going to go.'

The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, under Sen. Fred Thompson, R-Tenn., is conducting a parallel investigation. That committee has issued 52 subpoenas.

Both committees are seeking documents and testimony from former Democratic National Committee fund raiser John Huang and the Indonesian conglomerate where he worked before joining the Clinton administration.

Huang, said Burton, "may very well have given information that he shouldn't have to the Chinese and others."

The Washington Post reported last week that evidence has emerged that the Chinese embassy in Washington was interested in providing money to the Democratic Party. That would be illegal under U.S. law, and no proof has been presented that the Chinese did so.

Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., a member of Thompson's committee, said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that the senators will look into the matter. "This is a very, very serious allegation,' Nickles said.

Also appearing on NBC, Davis said Clinton is "very seriously monitoring" the China issue.

insisted. however: "There's no policy affected by contributions to this president. There's no governmental actions affected by contributions to this president. The president has made that very clear."

Excesses have occurred in campaign financing, Davis said, but "it's another thing to say that the president encouraged it or approved it. That's flat out wrong.

Spring cotton update Thursday

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Staff Writer

The one thing that producers in Howard County's agricultural industry don't want is a repeat of 1996 — a less than stellar cotton crop and a sharp decrease in total agricultural revenue.

Thursday, a new season begins at 11:30 a.m. with the spring cotton update at the Dora Roberts Fair Building at the fairgrounds.

According to Howard County Extension Agent Richardson, Fort Worth Extension Agronomist Dr. Bryan Unruh will present the latest information on soil testing and fertility with emphasis being place on land previously planted to grain sorghum in "Grain sorghum rapidly depletes and uses a lot of the nitrogen that's found in the soil," Richardson said. "It puts a lot of organic matter into the soil, which is good, but it takes a lot of nitrogen to break up the organic matter left by grain sorghum."

Extension San Angelo Agronomist Billy Warrick will make a presentation on weed control, planting and on the many varieties of cotton.

Area producers will also receive an update on the local insect situation from Martin and Midland County Extension Entomologist Doug Paxton.

For producers with scheduling conflicts and can't make the Howard County meeting, the program will be presented twice more Thursday, beginning at 8 a.m. in the Stanton Community Center and at 7 p.m. at Greenwood High School in Midland County.

"We put this program on each spring as a cooperative effort between the extension offices in Howard, Martin and Midland counties," Richardson said.

According to Richardson, the moisture received in the area so far has caused a lot of optimism among producers about the 1997 cotton crop.

It doesn't take much for area producers to remember that good news for some areas of the 30-county High Plains area didn't necessarily mean good news for others area where 1996 cotton production was concerned.

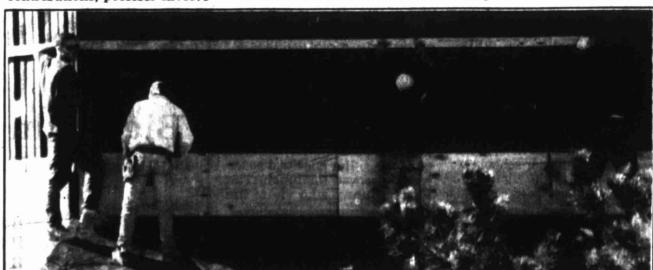

Howard County's annual agriculture income was estimated to be only one-third of what could normally be expected.

A total slightly more than $16.7 million was the expected income from agricultural sales and government receipts in 1996, according to Richardson.

Howard County's agricultural income is expected to be in excess of $55 million this year.

As far as 1996 cotton yields in Howard County, the final estimate, according to Richardson, was about 60 pounds of cotton per acre or 20,000 bales.

Approximately 100,000 acres to 135,000 acres of cotton were planted in Howard County and about 50 percent of those planted acres didn't make to harvest, according to Richardson.

Workers continue to make repairs to the roof of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College.

American fare sale draws big response, competition from rival airline companies

disgruntled American Airlines passengers seemed to be working Sunday, a day after President Clinton intervened to halt a pilots

American spokesman John Hotard said the airline's reservations system received thousands of calls on Saturday, about nine times higher than normal. Call volume was still heavy Hotard did not have exact numbers on how many people have taken advantage of the cheaper flights, but said the airline would have a better idea early this week.

American is offering discounts averaging 50 percent off domestic fares through March 14 and 45 percent on domestic fares through May 31. The discounts apply to tickets bought by March

Next time, airline bosses and passengers will look to the president when strike looms

NEW YORK - The word "strike" doesn't conjure up such scary images to the flying public anymore.

That is the precedent set by President Clinton in ordering American Airlines pilots back to work within minutes after they declared a strike early Saturday, averting chaotic disruptions to hundreds of thousands of passengers.

If pilot negotiations at four other of the nation's biggest airlines get to the brink of a walkout, airline chiefs and passengers almost certainly will be looking to the White House to keep the planes in the air.

Clinton made a hugely popular decision by effectively removing the one potent negotiating weapon in the American pilot union's arsenal. There was little obvious sympathy for the pilots in their quest for more compensation, largely because at $120,000 a year they already are among the most highly paid professionals in the

But Clinton also sent a signal to all airline workers, particularly pilots, that could severely restrict their bargaining power.

NASA orders extra, record-tying spacewalk to fix peeling Hubble Telescope insulation

SPACE CENTER, Houston - Discovery's astronauts ventured out for the fourth spacewalk in as many nights Sunday to patch insulation on the Hubble Space Telescope that's peeling off like worn wallpaper.

Gregory Harbaugh and Joe Tanner took along swatches of material from emergency kits to cover the damaged thermal insulation, and copper wire for fastening the pieces to the telescope. There was not enough time to do all the repairs, so NASA ordered the crew to conduct an extra spacewalk tonight to finish covering the torn insulation. The repair was not considered urgent, but scientists did not want to wait until the next servicing mission in late 1999. Additional sun damage to the insulation could allow Hubble's elec-

EL PASO - The Tigua governing council, worried that the tribe could eventually die out, may resurrect an effort to reduce the percentage of native blood needed to be Tigua.

The measure would be aimed at securing the rights of members like 10-year-old Jacob Ortiz, who was born to a Tigua Indian, but is not considered one by the federal government.

> The process of reducing the "blood quantum," or requirement for membership set at oneeighth, would require an act of Congress.

Many in the tribe would like the blood quantum lowered to one-16th. They also want to enroll those who are one-eighth Tigua — but weren't registered within one year of birth and to include names left off the base rolls used to establish descendancy.

Hollywood's new-found sensitivity keeping Darlie Routier murder saga off television

HOUSTON - The tale of Darlie Routier, the mother sent to death row for killing one of her young sons, seems to have all the components that draw Hollywood to a crime.

So where are all the film crews this time? Hollywood insiders say studios are shying away in large part because of an increasing reluctance to portray violence against children as entertainment.

"This has become a massive no-no for television." said Steve Fisher, who sells true-crime stories to various studios for the Renaissance Literary and Talent Agency in Los Angeles.

More Houston area public schools turning to uniforms for students on campuses

HOUSTON - School uniforms, once the signature dress of private and parochial schools, are suddenly mushrooming in popularity in Houston-area schools.

This year, 168 of 257 schools in the Houston Independent School District have uniform dress policies that range from standardized styles, like khakis and golf-styled shirts, to required outfits.

"It certainly has done a wonderful job as far as neatening up our campus," said Mary Ann Polhemus, principal at Houston's Ashford Elementary. "The kids look wonderful, the kids feel good about themselves. The fact that we are still seeing such a high compliance rate I think speaks very well for the fact that the kids like

Parks and Wildlife trying new grant program to conserve species on private property

AUSTIN - The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has kicked off a program that will pay landowners to help conserve threatened or endangered species on their property.

The agency is accepting applications for grants of up to $10,000 each to qualified landowners under the pilot program.

"It is no secret that the traditional, regulatory approach to endangered species conservation has met with some opposition among rural landowners and rural property rights advocates," said TP&W director Andrew Sansom.

"We have a different approach that we think will work. We want to try the carrot instead of the stick by offering financial incentives instead of disincentives," he said.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has allotted $100,000 for the program.

Washington, Lincoln rate more than today

oddiv is Presidents Day — the day we're supposed to celebrate the birthdays of perhaps this pations two greatest presidents, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

The only problem with all this, of course, is that today is neither Washington's, nor Lincoln's birthday

Don't go knocking down today's youth

It's a fact of life that thanks to media, political demagogues and special-interest pleaders, the reality of American life is greatly distorted. And no group in America gets as bum a rap as American youth.

They are generally depicted on television sitcoms as sex crazed idiots. Often they are por traved as delin quents or drew. rock 'n' roll music addicts.

Syndicated Columnist

And you know what's strange about this? We, who are parents and who know our kids and their friends are normal. intelligent, good people, nevertheless often buy into the stereotype, umagining that all the kids we don't know must be in that negative category. It's the old I-hate-Congress-butmy-congressman is wonderful syndrome.

Often, people who run media outlets insult young people. When they decide they must "do something" to "appeal to younger kids" they imagine that they must cover music and entertainment, as if American kids didn't have a serious thought in their heads. It never seems to occur to these media gurus that boys and girls have far wider interests than just pop music and

Well, the stereotype of kids is false. The present generation of American kids is a good one and, in many ways, smarter than previous ones. By far and away, the majority are great folks, doing well in school, obeying the law, helping out in their communities, going to church or synagogue or mosque.

One study of teenage volunteers calculated that if they were paid the minimum wage their contribution would cost $8 billion. And youngsters are interested in far more than entertainment and popular music.

Take Patrick Cooper, for example. He lives in Milton, Fla. a small town in the northwest area of the state.

After the last election, Patrick decided that the voter turnout was way too low, so he decided to do something about it. He created a page on the Internet called Future

America. When it's completed, it will have a history section, a question-and-answer section, a message board and a chat

Patrick is 13, and Future America is a page created by a young person for young people to increase their interest in and knowledge of American politics and history. I think it's a great idea and that Patrick must be a very bright and conscientious young man to think of it and then get it done. I cannot remember when I was 13, but I'm sure I was not concerned about voter turnout or political apathy among my peers. This young man, though, is no stay-at-home computer nerd. He's on the track team at his Catholic school. and he's taking tennis lessons. He only began to use a computer a couple of months ago when his dad bought a new one for the home.

He told me that his earlier interest was a possible career in science, but that he has recently been thinking about business. He credits his dad for getting him interested in politics. When I asked him who he would have voted for in the last election, he said promptly.

He only started the page on

Jan. 27, and already some 61 young people have gotten involved, though about 30 are actually working to construct the various parts of the page. These all range in age from 12 to 17.

anyone around here tell the truth

BY MARSHA MERCER

Media General News Service

WASHINGTON - Believe me, Hillary Clinton says, because I can't remember.

Believe me, Paula Jones says. because I can't forget. Believe me, Jim McDougal says, because I flunked five he detector tests. Believe me, Susan McDougal says, because I won't lie.

Believe me, Bill Clinton says. No wonder so many people don't believe any of them.

With conflicting and contradictory stories swirling in the air, somebody has got to be lying. So far, who's telling the truth and who's not hasn't mattered much - but that may be about to change.

If Susan McDougal breaks her silence and joins her exhusband Jim in implicating President Clinton in perjury in the Whitewater case; that could be the beginning of the end for the Clinton presidency.

If on the other hand, she breaks her silence and corroborates Clinton's testimony last year, her words could help return "Whitewater" to lower case status as a term used in river rafting.

The McDougais were back in the news after James B. Stewart's fascinating article about: Susan appeared in the

Suddenly, she was telling anyone who would listen that she'd rather stay in a cell than talk to independent counsel Kenneth Starr, whom she claims wants her to lie. "I'm doing this because Kenneth Starr's office blatantly told me that I could save my life f lied about the president and Wrs. Clinton, 'Susan WcDougal said on NBC. She is serving an 18-month term in all for civil contempt of court or refusing to answer quescons about Clinton before a grand urv Stewart's article traces Susan's checkered life from being a business partner of the Clintons with her husband in the tailed Whitewater land deal to her strange relationship with conductor Zubin Mehta and his wife Nancy.

Convicted in May on four Whitewater related counts, Susan McDougal, 42, still faces torgery and other charges nvolving the Mehtas - and, Stewart contends, she also holds the fates of Bill Clinton and Ken Starr in her hands.

Susan McDougal's stand for ruth - if it's sincere - comes as Americans are showing a remarkable tolerance for truth as a relative concept; especially from public figures. Pinocchios in high places are not new. Look up "lie" in Webster's and one of the examples given is

"to lie oneself into office." Bob Dole tried to make truth and trustworthiness a campaign issue. Now. Dole's home walking the dog while his wife is at work. Clinton enjoys high approval ratings despite straddling the fence of culpability. He claims he accepts responsibility for campaign "excesses" but uses the impersonal dodge that 'mistakes were made.'

The first lady has her own lawyerly way of asserting believability. She doesn't recall key events — so she couldn't have done wrong. After inter nai White House memos surinced indicating that she was behind creation of a secret White House data base for campaign donors, Hillary Clinton actually told reporters. "I would doubt that I was the person who ordered it."

Imagine George Washington saying: "I would doubt that I was the person who chapped down the cherry tree."

Paula Jones says she can't forget the alleged episode in a Little Rock hotel room that is at the center of her sexual harassment lawsuit. President: Clinton says it never happened, period.

Now comes the flamboyant Jim McDougai, hoping to reduce his possible 84-year prison term on Whitewaterrelated convictions by cooperating with Starr.

Clinton denied under oath last year that any such meeting took place, that he talked to Hale about making the loan or even that he knew about the McDougal offers as proof that he's now telling the truth five lie detector tests he took privately before the trial. The tests reportedly found him to be lying when he said Clinton had not been present.

McDougal also contends that his wife and Clinton had an affair, which could help explain why Clinton would pressure Hale to make the ban.

Susan McDougal denies having an affair. She claims that WeiDougal told her he intended to lie about Clinton and urged her to do the same.

"I am doing this because these people want me to lie." she saws.

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes have seemed to make a living playing down-to-thewire games this season, so it's only natural that their season should do the same thing.

Forsan (21-10), Ozona and Winters ended the regular season in a three-way tie for second in 8-2A with identical 7-5 league marks. Ozona and Winters play tonight in San Angelo, with the winner facing Forsan Tuesday to determine second place.

Coahoma won the league, winning 10 of 12 district games.

The Buffs had a chance to clinch second place by winning either of their final two regular-season games, but dropped one-point decision to Coahoma before losing by four to Wall in the season finale.

Despite that, Forsan coach Terry McDonald said his team is primed for its latest chal-

One thing McDonald has liked about his team has been its ability to adjust to different styles of play, and that trait will be tested Tuesday. If Ozona wins, the Buffs can expect up-tempo, fast-break basketball. If Winters wins, the pace will be considerably slower, with more emphasis on the

Lady Hawks face crucial conference showdown

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

Now that the Howard College Lady Hawks have climbed their way back to the top of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference, the challenge is to stay there.

The Lady Hawks, who hold a half-game lead in the WJCAC standings, take on second-place South Plains at 6 p.m. today in the Texan Dome in Levelland. The Howard men face South Plains in the second game at 8

South Plains' home court wasn't nice to the Lady Hawks the last time the two teams there. The Lady Texans' inside players dominated the game, which ended with a 79-56 SPC victory. In the rematch at Garrett Coliseum, Howard rebounded to take an 85-65 win. With the teams' previous contest ending in one-sided wins, Howard coach Matt Corkery isn't sure what kind of game to expect tonight. "It's hard to say," Corkery said. "It would be my guess that South Plains will be very confident at home. They play very well there. We will have to concentrate and play with a lot of intensity in order to play well there.' The Lady Hawks lead the WJCAC women's race with a 13-2 league mark, while SPC holds down the second spot with a 12-2 mark. The lofty standings for both teams comes as no surprise to Corkery.

And there was Elliott, who was outnumbered.

"We love you," Gordon told Hendrick, who was back in Charlotte, N.C., hoping to beat leukemia and the United States government. "This one's for Earnhardt, the seven-time Winston Cup champion who has won everything of value in stock car racing except its biggest race, was trying to forget another agonizing defeat.

"Gordon came up on me and the car pushed off the corner," said Earnhardt, who was seriously injured in a similar crash last July at Talladega. "I got into the wall, checked up, somebody hit me from behind. Next thing I know, we're on the roof again.'

Bill Elliott wanted to forget the experience.

"With three Hendrick cars behind you, you ain't got a meat."

That he was, courtesy of Gordon, Terry Labonte and Ricky Craven.

The 25-year-old Gordon became the youngest Daytona 500 winner, while Earnhardt, at 45, extended his record in the race to 0-for-19.

Earnhardt, his 70 career victories notwithstanding, has lost this race in a number of ways. This time, it was a crash with fewer than 12 laps to go.

Running second to Elliott, it appeared Earnhardt got too high on the bank running off turn two. His car slammed into the wall, igniting a melee in which Gordon, defending and two-time Daytona winner Dale Jarrett and his Robert Yates Racing teammate, former champion Ernie Irvan, also were involved.

The incident occurred as Gordon was passing Earnhardt.

"I had momentum and I got a good run on him off turn two. What good was it going to do for me to ride behind him and help him to win?" Gordon said when asked why he didn't wait to make the move closer to the finish.

After Earnhardt's crash, Gordon found himself second to two-time Daytona 500 champ Elliott and followed by defending Winston Cup champion Labonte and new teammate

When the green flag waved again on the 194th of 200 laps, Gordon immediately tried to turn, but was blocked. As the two crossed the finish line at the end of that lap, Gordon went almost to the infield grass to drive his Chevy into the

"I would have gone down to the people cooking down there in the infield if that's what it took to get past Elliott," Gordon said. "That was our chance to win the Daytona 500. I knew it might be the only one I get, so I had to take it."

His teammates roared by Elliott on the high side between turns one and two. Then they protected Gordon down the backstretch.

"The plan was not for me to go to the inside and them to go to the outside, I'll tell you that," Gordon explained. "I went down there and looked in my mirror and they weren't there. Then I realized we were three wide, but I had the momentum to get past and I just kept going. "Bill didn't know who to block and that opened a lane for me."

Gordon, the 1995 series champion, pounded his fists on top of the car in celebration after reaching the Victory Lane.

"This is the big one, the Daytona 500," Gordon said. "What a way to do it, 1-2-3 Hendrick, and I couldn't have done it without those guys. That was teamwork out there on the race track there at the

During the winner's interview. Hendrick called the press box to congratulate Gordon and crew chief Ray Evernham.

"Yesterday, Jeff called me and told me, 'I'm going to make smile tomorrow." Hendrick said. "This is the best medicine the Good Lord could give me right now. This is a great day for our organization." Just one lap after Gordon took the lead, a collision in turn four between Bobby Hamilton and Johnny Benson Jr., started a 10-car crash that kept Elliott from mounting any kind of attack.

"Whenever Jeff and Terry and Ricky hooked up, I was history," Elliott said. "I knew it. I was a sitting duck there at

After he hit the wall, Earnhardt's black No. 3 bounced off Gordon's car, was struck by Jarrett's Ford and Hendrick, under federal flipped. While airborne, it took Then it flipped back onto its wheels and skidded to the infield grass.

Two spectators in the backstretch grandstand were struck by the hood, with one sustaining a fracture to his right arm and the other a bruised knee. Neither was hospitalized.

Earnhardt got out of the battered car without help and stepped into an ambulance. But moments later, he got out of the safety vehicle and jumped into his car. It started and he drove it slowly to the pits, where the Richard Childress team taped some of the pieces down and sent him back out to finish the race.

"I just wanted to get back in the race, try to make laps,' Earnhardt said. "You've got to get all the laps you can. We're running for a championship."

Labonte was second and Craven third. Elliott was followed by two-time winner Sterling Marlin, Jeremy Mayfield, Mark Martin, Ward Burton, Ricky Rudd and former race winner Darrell Waltrip.

There were 12 lead changes among nine drivers and numerous position changes through out the rest of the 42-car field.

Eight caution flags slowed the the one major victory that has race for 29 laps as Gordon avereluded him, until the incident aged 148.295 mph.

Myers expected to be named Tech AD

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Tech interim athletic director Gerald Myers was expected to be offered the job permanently today after the only other finalist withdrew from consideration.

School officials scheduled an early afternoon news conference to discuss the athletic director's job.

Spokesman Richard Kilwien said it would be 'safe to say' that Myers will get the job after the withdrawl Sunday of Minnesota associate athletic director Jeff Schemmel from consideration.

Myers declined comment Sunday evening. Schemmel pulled out the same day the Houston Chronicle reported that football stars Byron Hanspard and Casey Jones did not pass a single course last season. The Tech football program already has been under scrutiny from the NCAA for more than a year.

Report: Tech players earn goose-egg GPAs

HOUSTON (AP) - All-America running back Byron Hanspard and lineman Casey Jones completed last fall's semester at Texas Tech University without passing a single course, according to a published report.

Hanspard, who rushed for 2,084 yards and won the Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back, finished the semester with a grade-point average of 0.00, the Houston Chronicle reported Sunday.

The newspaper cited sources

it did not identify. A day after Tech's 27-0 loss to Iowa in the Alamo Bowl, Hanspard - a junior announced he would make himself eligible for the 1997 NFL draft.

Jones, a senior offensive lineman, also posted a 0.00 GPA last fall, the Chronicle said.

Jones was ruled ineligible at the beginning of the season, but was able to play in the Red Raiders' final six games after obtaining a series of court orders blocking the ruling.

The Tech football program has been under scrutiny from the NCAA for more than a year. Some Tech faculty members have voiced concerns over players missing classes or expecting special treatment.

Coach Spike Dykes told The Associated Press on Sunday that he could not confirm whether the players failed coursework last fall.

"I really can't comment on that because that's information that's not supposed to be, it's supposed to be private," Dykes his team has accomplished this season — the Buffs, after winning only 13 games overall and one in district last season, improved notably on both counts this year.

He also is confident his team will rebound from its recent troubles because of the type of season it has had. The Buffs, after several cliff-hanging victories — and a few such losses this season should be used to high-pressure situations.

"That just seems to be the kind of year we've had," McDonald said. "For the most part, our games have been that way ... so the kids are used to it. I don't expect anything but a good, hard ball game (Tuesday)."

If the Buffaloes win Tuesday night, they'll face Jim Ned, ranked fourth in the Class 2A polls, at 8 p.m. Thursday at Abilene Christian University.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)

The St. Louis Rams running back was arrested and ticketed for disorderly conduct Sunday morning after he started "cursing and yelling" at police officers who came to his hotel room.

The 21-year-old former University of Nebraska star is already serving three years probation after pleading no contest in December to a drunken driving arrest in California. WORLD'S FIRST $100 SILVER PROOF

The Washington Mint Announces the Historic Striking of an Extraordinary Silver Proof - the New United States $100 Bill Struck in Pure Silver Bullion - Advance Price $99

The Washington Mint announces the limited advance minting of a milestone in silver proofs – the WORLD'S FIRST $100 Silver Proof.

This extraordinary piece of pure silver bullion has a surface area that exceeds 30 square inches, and it contains more than FOUR OUNCES OF PURE SILVER BULLION.

And NOW, during a limited advance strike period, the VERY FIRST $100 Silver Proofs for 1997 are available at a special discount price only $99!

20 YEARS IN THE MAKING

The 1997 Quarter-Pound Silver Proof is an exquisite adaptation of the United States Treasury's new $100 Federal Reserve Note. It took the Treasury unit over 20 years to create its first new $100 bill design since 1928. Their efforts have created the most striking note of the century.

Best of all, this stunning Silver Proof is even more beautiful than the original, because it's struck in precious silver bullion!

UNPRECEDENTED WEIGHT

The Quarter-Pound Silver Proof combines unprecedented weight with extraordinary dimension – it is a landmark in proof minting.

The specifications for this colossal medallic proof are unparalleled. Each one:

- Is Individually Struck from Pure .999 Silver Bullion
- Weighs Over One Quarter-Pound (4 troy ounces)
- Has a Surface Area That Exceeds 30 Square Inches
- Contains 124.41 Grams (1,920 grains) of Pure Silver Is Individually Registered and Numbered

HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, FEB. 18:

Your more possessive side emerges with a child or loved one. Consider different ways of handling this energy and using it more effectively. You are creative, inventive and fun to be with. As a result, others are drawn to you and want to be part of your life. Direct some of this ingenuity into your work. If you are single, expect to strongly focus on a relationship and romantic encounters. It could be a special year. If attached, your union will assume a more dreamlike quality. # Hill on the bubble as Magic lose again

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Orlando lost another game to Chicago and possibly its coach,

Scottie Pippen scored 22 points and Toni Kukoc added 20 Sunday, sending the Bulls to a 110-89 home win over the Magic.

Orlando's ninth consecutive loss to Chicago was also its fourth straight, triggering reports that Brian Hill was on his way out as Magic coach.

Or depending on whom you believe, he's already been fired. After the loss, NBC-TV reported that Hill had coached his last game. However, general manager John Gabriel said Hill would coach Monday night's game at Charlotte. Gabriel, though, hinted that Hill's future with the club was being examined.

"As far as Brian being fired at this moment," Gabriel said, "it's false. We're going to evaluate a lot of things, all parts of our basketball operations. We're going to try to make some improvements.'

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was; Seattle 102, the Los Angeles Lakers 91; Minnesota 107, Phoenix 96; New York 89, Indiana 80; Detroit 92, Toronto 89; Denver 112, Philadelphia 97; Sacramento 105, Golden State 85; and Portland 118, Boston

Hill, who led the Magic to the NBA finals in 1995 and to their best record last season, said he hadn't yet been told about the club's plans. Orlando, playing this year without Shaquille O'Neal, is only 24-24.

"The energy level doesn't seem to be there. Every coach is responsible for the actions of his team, the wins and losses. That comes with the territory. But nobody has said anything to me.'

Chicago beat Orlando by the same 110-89 score earlier this season, when the Magic was without injured Penny Hardaway, Horace Grant and Nick Anderson. Orlando had all three healthy this time, yet were no match for the defending world champions.

Hardaway had 20 points for the Magic, who went into the All-Star break riding a 12-2

"It's just been a complete disaster since the break." Rony NBA

Seikaly said. "We haven't had good execution offensively. Defensively, we're nowhere.'

Michael Jordan had 19 points, 10 assists and eight rebounds, barely missing his first tripledouble since coming out of retirement 23 months ago. He also had four steals, moving him past Alvin Robertson into third place on the NBA career list with 2,113.

Sonics 102, Lakers 91 At Inglewood, Calif., Detlef Schrempf scored 10 of his season-high 34 points in the fourth quarter for Seattle. Gary Payton scored 19 of his 21 points in the second half as the Sonics got their first win in three games against Los Angeles this season.

Seattle was without Shawn Kemp, who served his onegame suspension for throwing a punch at Houston's Kevin Willis on Friday night.

Eddie Jones led the Lakers with 26 points.

Timberwolves 107, Suns 96 Minneapolis, Tom Gugliotta was back in All-Star form, scoring 23 points for Minnesota.

Gugliotta had gone a combined 9-for-32 in Minnesota's first two games since the All-Star break. But he shot 9-for-14 and added seven assists and seven rebounds as the Wolves handed the Suns their seventh loss in eight road games.

Kevin Garnett added 21 points for the Wolves, 16-9 since Dec. 21. Knicks 89, Pacers 80

At New York, Patrick Ewing scored 23 points, and the Knicks held Indiana without a field goal over the final 10:12. New York, which won its fifth straight, outscored Indiana 35-14 in the fourth.

Knicks guards John Starks, Allan Houston, Chris Childs and Charlie Ward, combined for 27 points in the quarter after being held to eight points through the first three periods. Pistons 92, Raptors 89

At Toronto, Grant Hill had 23 points and 18 rebounds and Joe Dumars scored Detroit's final nine points.

Damon Stoudamire, who had 14 points and 15 assists for Toronto, missed a 3-pointer at the buzzer.

Can anybody catch Kansas?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) Eddie Sutton, who knows a thing or two about college basketball, was asked last November, "Who's going to beat Kansas?"

"Nobody," the Oklahoma State coach had said. "Well, they're probably not going to go through the entire season without losing a game. But they might." Of course, they didn't.

After dealing No. 15 Colorado a 114-74 defeat Saturday night. the top-ranked Jayhawks stand 25-1 overall and 11-1 in the Big 12. And who should be coming to Allen Fieldhouse for a rematch tonight but Missouri. the team that's responsible for the "1."

Missouri may wish it had gone ahead and lost to the Jayhawks in their first meeting because right now Roy Williams' team is probably playing about as well as it could possibly play.

"I think we can play better," the Kansas coach said after Raef LaFrentz scored 23 points in the clobbering of Colorado. Then he added with a wry smile, "It was fun out there tonight."

Or is it?

In the Big 12's only Sunday game, Tyronn Lue scored 22 points, 19 in the second half, as Nebraska beat Texas 79-67 in Linco, 1, Neb.

In other Saturday games, Baylor beat No. 21 Texas Tech 77.76 in overtime: No. 9 Iowa State used a 12.0 run late to rally for a 62.58 victory over Kansas State; Missouri overcame an early deficit to beat Oklahoma 80-73, and Oklahoma State edged Texas A&M 62-60.

ALLAN'S Best Prices in West Texas PH. 267-6276 202 Scurry Big Spring, Texas

Big 12 At Lawrence, Williams figured the star of the game was not LaFrentz who now has topped 20 points in seven straight games since center Scot Pollard was sidelined by a stress fracture in his foot. "Jacque Vaughn was the star of that game," Williams said.

Even though Vaughn scored only two points, he had a season-high 11 assists and held Colorado's Chauncey Billups to 10 points while forcing him to make eight turnovers.

For his part, Billups thought the officials were unduly friendly toward the Jayhawks in Allen Fieldhouse.

'A lot of Kansas players get away with some things they shouldn't have," he said."

At Baylor, Doug Brandt hit a 3 pointer to tie it with four seconds left in regulation, then made four vital free throws in overtime Saturday as Baylor beat the Red Raiders.

"This was a big win and it doesn't get much bigger than that 3-point shot Doug hit," Baylor coach Harry Miller said. "He's a senior and been through a lot of adversity. It was only appropriate he hit that shot and make the free throws in overtime."

Kansas State was bidding for its first home win over a top-10 opponent in five years.

They wanted it. They were digging for it," said lowa State's Kenny Pratt, who scored eight points in the final two minutes. Iowa State, which lost twice last year to Kansas State. has beaten the Wildcats in both meetings this year.
