About 400 Attend Farm Bureau Meet Tuesday Evening, Concluding Drive With Near 600 Memberships Reported

Uncle Jay Entertained At Program and Feed

The Parmer County Farm Bureau Federation brought its annual membership drive to a close Tuesday night, with a well-attended public program at the Friona gymnasium giving a rousing climax.

Reports indicated that the Bureau now has near 600 memberships as compared to a previous high of 375 members.

Awards were presented to teams who led in the concentrated drive, with the Farwell duo taking first prize. Charlie Thompson and Walter Kaltwasser each received hats as first awards. Billfolds were presented to the runner-up Lazbuddie team, Melvin Sachs and Jimmy Seaton. Third place team, Bruce Parr and D. B. Ivy received quantities of permanent anti-freeze.

Guest speaker for the occasion was J. B. Lynn of Amarillo, known to his radio public as "Uncle Jay". Lynn gave a short entertainment program, using audience participation and a question-answer session to keep the audience in an uproar.

The meeting was conducted with President Bruce Parr presiding, flanked at the speaker's table by members of the board of directors.

Carl Schlenker, legislative board member from the county organization, told of the work the Bureau was accomplishing regarding legislative matters on a state and national level. Melvin Sachs tabulated the membership drive results, and Billie Sudderth presented Uncle Jay with an honorary membership in the local organization.

Arlena Hartzog talked at length of the cotton situation in the county, substantiating his appeal for more cotton with figures as to prices, production, needs, etc.

The meeting was concluded with the serving of coffee, pop, and doughnuts by the Home Economics department of the Friona schools.

LEGIONAIRES MEET

The American Legion and Auxiliary had a game Monday night. Those present played canasta. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor were host and hostess.

Public Poll

What projects do you think the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture could assist in promoting during 1951?

Mrs. Charles Wise: I would like to see a youth center here. I have ten age children and I certainly don't like for them to be out on the streets at night, but what is there for them to do besides go to the show occasionally? I think that two or three parents could take turns sponsoring parties or recreation nights and each one's turn would not be more than once every two or three months. I am sure.

Mrs. Allen Stewart: I think it would be well to fix the park into a playground and picnic ground, so that there would be some place near to go and picnic and so the children could play.

Mrs. Glen E. Sparkman: I think the public library would certainly be a helpful project for the city.

Mrs. Earl Black: The library project would be a good deed; it would help the students and adults too.

Mrs. J. G. McFarland: More paved streets!

Mrs. W. A. Senter: I never see enough paved streets being constructed.

Mrs. John Blackburn: A cleaner Friona, if that is possible! I mean keep the streets clean of trash, etc. With everyone cooperating, I am sure it might be possible.

Mrs. Wesley Foster: Paving the roads in and out of Friona is badly needed. I think Parmer County has far less than its share of farm roads.

Better Farm Management Is Stressed At Thursday Irrigation Day Meeting

Water, Fertilizers, Cotton Discussed by Over 160 Attending

Some 165 farmers of Parmer County attended the Irrigation Day program at Farwell last Thursday, hearing the speakers emphasize proper soil management through fertilization, proper irrigation, and cultivation.

Speakers included Duke Thornton, agricultural chemist with the Texas A. & M. Extension Service, Miles Kelley, engineer of the Soil Conservation Service, Bob Thurman, irrigationist of the Extension Service at Lubbock, and several local speakers.

In stressing the use of commercial and barnyard fertilizers, it was adequately pointed out that any farming system which maintains a high productivity from season to season must include practices insuring plant nutrients being put back into the soil as they are taken out. Barnyard manure was recommended as very effective when spread in a mixture containing super phosphate.

Thornton brought out the point that best use of fertilizers was on leguminous crops, with the legumes permeating the soil with the nutrients, legumes enabling faster penetration and

Burial was in the Friona cemetery.

"Question Box" New Mid-Week Feature by Congregationalists

A new feature of the mid-week meetings of the Congregational Church held each Wednesday at 8:00 P. M. is to be introduced Wednesday the 28th. The pastor, the Rev. George E. Meyer announces a "Question Box". Questions may be asked regarding the lesson of the evening which for the 28th is to be Jesus' Galilean Ministry, or about any point not made clear in the previous Sunday morning worship hour service. A box will be provided for questions. They may be signed or unsigned or may be asked at the time of the service on Wednesday evenings.

The subject of the service the 21st was "What is Christ?" "Who is Christ" and "Christ and the Church". Everyone is welcome at every service of the church.

Agreements Reached With Southwestern Associated Firm

Agreements were reached in Hereford Tuesday with the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company, whereby that firm would recognize the West Texas Rural Cooperative as a connecting company. The Southwestern Associated firm serves Friona and Bovina in Parmer County.

Understandings were reached regarding approximated areas to be served by each firm, with the S. W. Associated stating intention to serve a small area around the two towns, possibly a 2-mile irregular radius.

Spurred by a concentrated drive of the Parmer County Farm Bureau, subscribers are still being contacted for the cooperative service, and the Friona area already has enough members to assure construction. The RTA hopes to be able to complete the minimum equities in both the Hereford and Friona areas by March 1st.

Attending the Tuesday meeting from Parmer County were Claude Miller, Frank Spring, Harold Carpenter, Floyd Schlenker, Bedford Caldwell, Alan Romich, C. R. Elliott, and Bruce Parr.

Parmer Boys Take Share of Prizes At 4-County Show

Parmer County FFA and 4-H Club boys brought back a very creditable list of awards from the Four County Junior Livestock Show held in Hereford last week-end.

Jimmie Gore, Friona, took 1st and 2nd places in the Heavy Black Poland China division, also copying Reserve Champion honors.

Harris Dunn, FFA exhibitor, took 1st and 2nd in the Light Poland China, showing the Champion.

W. A. Tinney showed 3rd and 5th in the same division.

Jackie Rule copped 3rd place in the "All Other Breeds" division with a spotted Poland China entry.

The 4-H boys did quite well with their pig entries, too, with Huey Lowrie of Bovina taking 1st, 3rd, and 4th places in the Lightweight Hampshire class. He exhibited the Champion Hampshire, and added further to his winnings with 1st place award for showmanship, this alone netting him $10.00 and a 5-year subscription to the Farm and Ranch publication.

Jerry Gleason of Lazbuddie exhibited the Reserve Champion Chester White, and won 3rd place in the lightweight class.

Troy Christian, of Farwell, placed 5th and 6th with his lightweight Chester White.

The Parmer County boys showed two breed champions and two breed reserve champions.

Considering the fact that the local boys entered only 17 pigs in the show, the winning percentage was even more remarkable.

Observance of Worldwide Brotherhood Week Is Urged; But Warning Sounded that Brotherhood Does Not Mean Weak-Kneed Political, Religious, Social Compromises

February 18th to 25th has been designated as "Brotherhood Week", proclaimed by the President of the United States and sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

For the first time, this observance is being honored beyond the confines of the United States.

We suspect that the sponsors of the week are going all the way, advocating World Brotherhood, Understanding, Friendship, Tolerance, and Forbearance among every race and creed as the happy cure-all for the ills of the world.

To our mind this assumption is theoretically correct and in most cases workable. But we still like to withhold a "whole-hog" attitude, simply because of the practical factors involved, the frailties of human nature.

If brotherhood means minimizing our own beliefs, compromising our religion, or even the Monroe Doctrine, we cannot string along. But if brotherhood is understood as meaning a sincere helpful attitude and intense study of the other man's ways with the object in mind of determining "which" practice of "which" man is correct, then we endorse the program in its entirety.

We believe that this matter of compromise is widely different from the true meaning of "brotherhood". We compromised, to our everlasting shame, when we forfeited our desire to open sessions of the United Nations meetings with prayer to the Almighty God. How often, compromise really means forfeit. And, believe me, I think we could have exercised a "brotherly" attitude to all nations of the world without debanking the necessity of prayer in such high-level meetings.

We were "brothers" to the Philippine Islands for decades, giving them handouts of staples and frills alike. Why, that would not even be good for my own brother. Had those islands (I merely cite them as an example) been better indoctrinated as to the stern necessity of working for just pay rather than waiting for handouts, they would have been much better prepared to function as their own government when the time for them came to assume a brother's seat in the nations of the world.

Yes, let's be brothers, but just ones. Just decisions and actions call for wise understanding, not a wishy-washy series of compromises, concessions and handouts that carry no promise of respect.

Acting as wise brothers, the citizens of the United States could accomplish untold tasks. And I do believe there is embraced within the confines of our country an ample store of wisdom. Maybe we should requisition a few more of the wiser attitudes from this storehouse before we go all out to consider the Chinese as brothers, capable of understanding and practicing Democratic government. The Oriental mind has for centuries clicked along in a different sphere from our own. It is not capable of coincidental democratic effort with our own at the present. We anticipate that some day it will be, but today is another story.

In this same train of reasoning, proper brotherly action toward Uncle Joe's ilk would be a sound threshing, or at least a stern attitude based upon a clear-cut foreign policy simple and definite enough for Mr. Stalin and Mr. J. Q. Public at home to understand.

So, we appeal, practice brotherhood 52 weeks per year, but KNOW what you are doing, don't just compromise!

Money and man are much alike. The tighter each gets the more it talks.

People used to marry for better or worse. Today it's for more or less.

Before marriage they bill and coo. After marriage the cooing stops and the billing begins in earnest.

We remember when the country's crime problems were solved in the high chair instead of the electric chair.

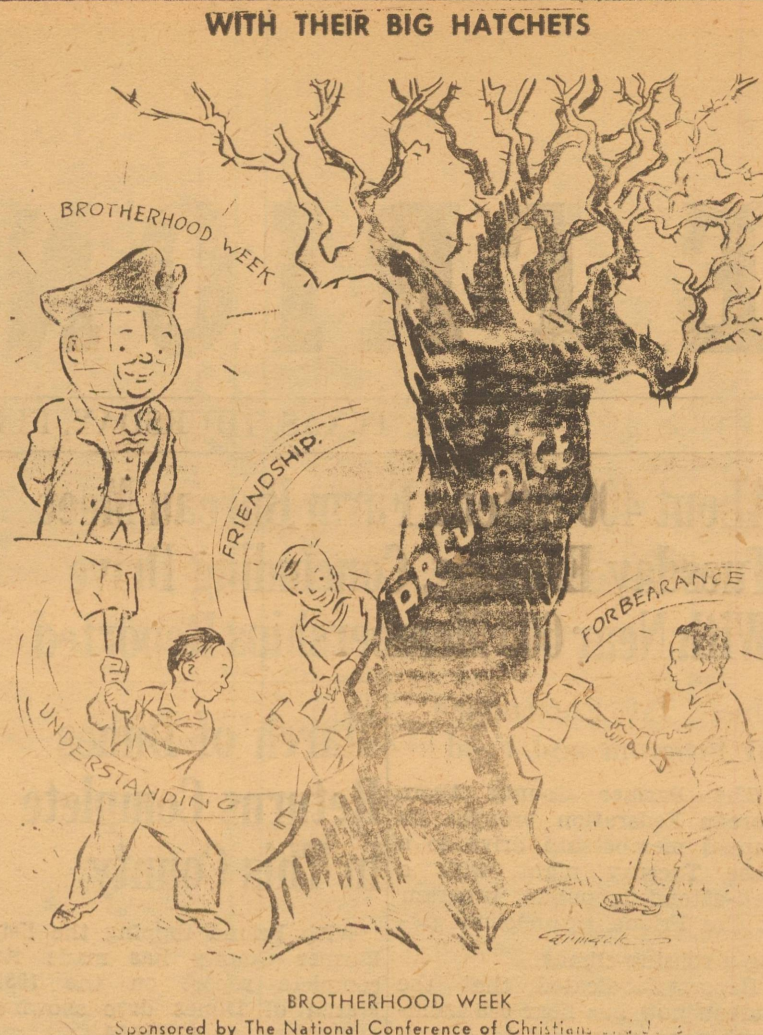

The guy who said that money talks wasn't referring to hush money.

You can't say that the man with the moustache is a bare-faced liar.

If necessity is the mother of invention, then luxury must be the father of it.

Mumble a few words in church and you're married. Mumble a few words in your sleep and you're divorced.

Most people who marry for money find out they could have borrowed it cheaper.

'How I Became a Girl Reporter' Written By a Man . . . Hyman Goldberg; Humorous

Doubleday & Co. $2.00

In a humorous manner, Hyman Goldberg tells "How I Became a Girl Reporter". Writing stories about girls has been his outstanding newspaper work. But it was not always so and the book tells of other incidents as well as the main theme of girls.

At the age of 16 Goldberg began his work as a newspaper man for the Evening World as a police reporter and progressed from there through many stages of the reporting game to reach his present status. He learned early from those about him that "a working man must wait until the working day is done before hitting the bottle."

Ten chapters of the 26 in the book are devoted to the girls of whom he says, "My girls are beautiful, or, at least, pretty." Beginning with the movies as a background for the beauties he tells of a number of experiences he had in Hollywood and New York. Some of the stars of whom he writes are Evelyn Keyes, Veronica Lake, Frances Gifford, Virginia Mayo, Mary Anderson, Ava Gardner, Elizabeth Taylor and Maria Montez. The last named he lists as one of his top favorites as a beauty and friendly. In other chapters there are more stars.

He has interviewed girl authors, or those aspiring to be; models, both for the fashionable stores and those who pose for artists; girls who pose for color photography to be used on magazine covers as well as those who pose for advertisements. Bathing beauties are a part of the game, too.

Beauties in the society section where a large part of the page is given to their picture and less space to their abilities or their usual doings that rate them a place, are among his acquaintances also. Goldberg says that he gets along well with the girls which is as it should be, "girls and boys are meant to get along well together" he writes.

One phase of his reporting took him to Washington where he was supposed to see Bernard Baruch, whom he was told walked in a certain park every day. He haunted the park for days until he learned that Baruch was out of town. Later Faruch wrote him and he returned for the meeting but he hated to leave the city empty handed. In looking about he claims he made two scoops. One was about Cattle Warts and the other Hickory Picker Sticks. Digging deep he brought forth quite a story he claims.

In spite of the girl angle some of his army experience is told of, most whimsically. First he got a severe "charley horse" and had to be carried to his tent, and later in drilling he passed out from heat exhaustion and was carried inside; again in working out he failed to make a wall but was determined to jump the ditch, only to fall and break his ankle. Once more he was carried to camp.

"Sergeant Fox," I heard someone remark as we went off, "has been carrying that guy around in his arms all over the state of Mississippi, like he was his own mother."

"I turned my head to look at Sergeant Fox . . . even upside down, I could see he was blushing."

After that he was put to writing on "The Yank" a paper for the army so avoided any following this that he became more training. It was some years a girl reporter

DO YOU KNOW whether or not an oral chattel mortgage is valid?

A chattel mortgage is a lien created upon personal property. Generally it is what the Bank wants on crops and machinery when a farmer borrows money from the bank. It also covers other personal property, such as furniture and cars.

With several exceptions, chattel mortgages may be oral as well as written. An agreement between two men that a certain piece of machinery shall stand good for a specified debt, and that if the debt is not paid, that the Creditor can come get the machinery, will constitute a valid oral chattel mortgage.

Practically all chattel mortgages are reduced to writing and signed, and this is the preferred practice for several reasons. One is that it is easier to prove exactly what the parties agreed to, and not have to depend on memory. Another reason, is that the written chattel mortgage may be filed for record, and put interested parties on notice. An oral chattel mortgage is not binding on anyone except those who have actual knowledge of it.

FARM NEWS

K. W. Neill, farming B. E. Peabson's place in the Black community, is a new Parmer S.C.D. cooperater. Neill has one of the best farm plans we have seen in a long time. It takes in most conservation practices and shows a balance in farming operations. A large number of farmers in the district would consider this plan as a guide. A copy is on display in our offices.

The conservation practices that may be accomplished under this plan are: Cover Cropping (Legumes), Stubble Mulching, Strip Cropping, Seeding Pasture, Pasture Improvement, Irrigation Land Preparation, Rotation of Hay and Pasture, and Improved Water Application. Neill plans to put in 65 acres of Hubam Clover. This is not a new crop for him. He grew clover last year, improved his land and harvested the seed.

Engineers made a topographic map for Roy and J. R. Euler in the Black community last week. Nearly all of Euler's land lays almost perfectly for irrigation except 10 or 12 acres in the southwest corner. Roy says it is probably a good thing that he has this area because it really makes him appreciate his good land. Sanders and Terrell, working with ideas offered by Euler, will be able to use the map in planning an irrigation system for the three steep area. J. R. Euler mentioned a one and a half yard carryall that he is thinking about getting. He said that if anyone else was interested in getting one to let him know, and by ordering together the freight rate might be lower.

We were talking with F. T. and Carl Schlenker out in the Rhea community last Wednesday. F. T. Schlenker would like to get trees for a windbreak. According to Henry Peevehouse, SCS technician in Hereford,

M. K. Thornton, Extension Service Chemist, spoke at the irrigation bmeeting at Farwell last Thursday. He pointed out these eight things that are happening to our soil since the white man took over the Plains.

- (1) Nutrient removal
- (2) Loss by leaching and drainage
- (3) Increase in acidity
- (4) Organic matter being destroyed
- (5) Accumulation of salts
- (6) Lower form of land—i.e. wire worm in soil instead of earth worms.
- (7) Loss of porous soil structure
- (8) Erosion

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

GIVING THEM INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION IN THE HOME

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Copyright 1946 by Williams Newspaper Features Box 413, Fort Worth, Texas

Just so surely as life begins in the home so does that influence which is to mold character for either good or bad. The juvenile delinquency problem of today would not be so great if the youngsters in the home were given more individual attention from their parents. The sin of omission or neglect has arrested too many "well intended" parents. They try to mean well but forget that those hours of personal attention in the home can never be matched by outside teaching.

Be a pal to that girl or that boy of yours while a pal means so much. The supervised wholesome recreation and individual attention from father and mother will pay great dividends in a law abiding citizenry. It is too late after those most precious days pass and you find you have miserably failed as parents and the strong hand of the law has to be called in to discipline where you failed. Keep them in Sabbath Schools and church.

Congressman Rogers Emphasizes Belief Government Employees Also Should Sacrifice; Introduces Tax Measure

TAXATION OF EXPENSE ACCOUNTS AND SIX WORKING DAYS A WEEK FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES:

On February 12th I introduced HR-2576 to make certain expense allowances of the President, Vice-President and members subject to tax. The passage of this bill will cost this congressman, as well as other members of Congress, approximately $800.00 a year each under the present tax rate. An increase of taxes would increase that $800.00 to approximately $1,000.00. This is in addition to what we are now paying. I have never been willing to ask something of someone else that I wasn't willing to do myself. On February 13th I made the following statement on the Floor of the House of Representatives.

"Mr. Speaker, the people of this great country are looking to this Congress and to the Federal Government for the leadership to which they are rightfully entitled, and among those people are numbered the men in Korea who have so gallantly stemmed the tide of Communist aggression. The American people have been told and we all know that we are headed into a period of sacrifices and hardships in order to meet the tests of free men. This period of sacrifice and hardship is not going to be shortened by selfishness and greed on the part of individuals, but it can be shortened by unity of purpose and sincere industry by all. Lip service alone will not suffice; therefore it is my position now that the members of the Executive and Legislative branches of this Government should submit for taxation their annual expense account allowances; that all departments of the Government should be open and doing business six days a week without further costs to the taxpayers, and that Federal employees should lead the way toward production and greater efficiency without additional cost."

"This bill and my statement have caused a great deal of comment, both pro and con. I have been severely abused by some Federal employees—this abuse did not come from the 13th District of Texas. We have reached a point in our history when the primary question is, 'How much are we willing to give for the preservation of our liberties?', and not 'How much can we get with the least amount of effort?' I did not introduce HR-2576 for the purpose of trying to make anybody happy, or for so-called political reasons. I introduced it and I made the statement in connection with it because I believe it is right, sound and honest. To date, not one sound argument has been presented against the bill or against the statement.

BUDGET
Higher taxes for defense and preparedness — YES. Higher taxes for non-essential and domestic spending—(emphatically) NO. There is more at stake in the present situation than individual gains and satisfaction. This applies to capital and labor alike. The question is not, will the proposed budget be cut, but how much. This will be answered by the result of present concentrated study by the Congress.

PROFITS FROM GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

The enactment of legislation leaves no doubt but that Congress does not intend contractors to get rich at the expense of taxpayers. I am not satisfied with the procedure that is permitting contractors to let sub-contracts without bids. Something must be done about this.

PRODUCTION
No one doubts the capacity of American industry and agriculture to produce when necessary. The defense program, if not permanent, is certainly semi-permanent. A sound foundation is being laid that will enable this country to go on all-out production with the least amount of waste on the shortest notice. A similar plan is being used in the manpower situation.

THE GREAT DEBATE
The obvious political aspects permeating the great debate were given a severe jolt when General Marshall announced that the force contemplated for Europe was around 100,000 men.

THE TEXAS DELEGATION
The members of the Texas delegation meet every Wednesday in the Speakers dining room and have been getting good solid information on all fronts from high government officials, such as George C. Marshall, definite highlights.

These informative programs make these weekly luncheons plans for a continuation of these informative programs.

Senior Play To Be Presented March 2nd, 3rd

Imagine a missionary in far-off Alaska with a lively family of daughters who seldom see anyone but Eskimos! It looks as if the girls are "stuck" in that remote outpost, too, for their father (Gaylord Maurer) is a zealous man, whose determination to succeed has not been cooled by the long Arctic nights.

The anticipated arrival of young Dr. Baird (J. Vonne Pulks), fresh from the States, throws the girls into a near panic. Arlene (Helen Nita Carr) is in a dither about his probably being tall and blond, Georgienne (Vera Ann Jones) wears whalebone beads as a lure; even Mrs. Seils (Mary Lou Miller) puts on seldom used rouge! The Reverend is outraged. "This comedy must stop instantly," he shouts. "It was an evil day when the missionary barrel brought those dishes wrapped in copies of True Romances. Now let us hear no more of Dr. Baird."

But he hears little else. In fact, the friendly competition for the favor of the attractive doctor, when he does arrive, all but undoes the good Reverend. Dr. Baird is well able to protect himself from the onslaughts of pretty females, however. He's able, it seems, to protect Reverend Seils from an outside danger, too.

The Reverend has always wanted to salute the sun (after the long Arctic night) with a blast from his bugle. He's certain the natives have at last reached the point where they'll not view the scene with fear and suspicion. So, on the appointed day, he ascends a little hill, and waits. But he has miscalculated. The sun fails to appear. That's really something.

Socialized Medicine Was Topic Club Meet

The Modern Study Club met with a regular meeting Tuesday night in the clubhouse. Denise Magness played a piano number "Claire De Lune" and DeAnn Buske played "Gertrude's Dream Waltz".

The program presented the pro and con's of socialized medicine. The forum was led by Valois Osborn, and Wilma Jones and Connie Tidwell discussed the advantages and disadvantages.

Hostesses were Melba Neelley and Clydie Black.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fortenberry and son have gone to Florida to visit Mrs. Fortenberry's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Blackburn and daughter from Farmington, New Mexico, are visiting friends and relatives in Friona.

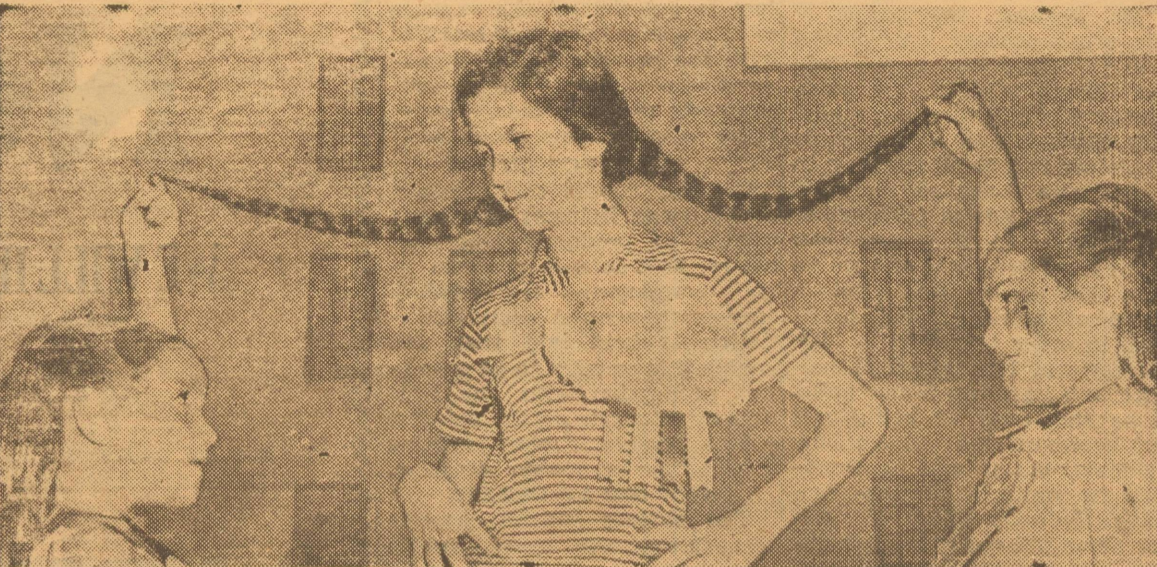

The natives are in open rebellion. Disbelievers set fire to the church. It is here that Dr. Baird proves himself more than a physician. How the faith of the little congregation is restored; how Ahmogah (Keith Brock) is converted; how the four daughters, including Marjorie (Betty Ann Stevick) and Sylvia (Ruby Mae Shaffe), receive their rewards (we won't tell you which one gets the doctor); how Mrs. Achukuk (Jean Knight) gets the ceremonial kiss from the embarrassed minister — all these make "Sunrise by Request" what it is — one of the rarest 3-act comedies in years. Don't miss it!

"Sunrise by Request" is to be presented by the Seniors March 2nd and 3rd at 8:00 P.M. in the Methodist Church. Admission prices will be announced later.

Mr. Glen Cunningham and Mr. Raymond Cook are directing the play.

DISCUSS PROPOSED RADAR FENCE . . . Taking time to check some material before a session of the armed services committee in the nation's capital are (left to right) Major Gen. T. H. Landon of the United States Air Force, Rep. Melvin Price (D., Ill.) of the house armed services committee, and Maj. Gen. Francis L. Ankenbrandt, the United States Air Force director of communications. The armed services group met in secret session to hear testimony of the Air Force generals on the proposed U.S.-Canada radar fence. Such a project would need cooperation between U.S. and Canadian defense chiefs, which is virtually assured.

TALE OF THE PIGTAILS . . . Anna Filippini, 12, was a winner at the children's aid society's pigtail contest in New York recently. Why? Because she had the longest pigtails, naturally. Stretching them out so that all may see them are two other winners in the children's society's contest: Hanna Harkavy (left), 5, and Deborah Harkavy (right), 8½, who tied each other for the greatest number of pig-tails on one head. Anna hails from the Lower West Side children aid society. All three contest winners are wearing emblems signifying their excellence in the contest. Anna offered no advice to future aspirants in the contest.

Congregational Group Will Go to Waynoka

The Congregational Church of Friona is invited by "Letter Missive", a custom inaugurated by the Pilgrim Fathers of Congregationalism at Plymouth, Mass., in 1620, to be represented by pastor and three delegates, as a part of an "Associational Council", which is to meet at Waynoka, Oklahoma, on Sunday, March 4th, at 7:00 p.m. for a recognition service of the Rev. Stephen Matheny the recently called pastor of the Congregational Church of that city.

The "Associational Council" is requested to review the proceedings of the church and minister, examine the minister's and hear his statement of faith and religious experience, and if all be deemed favorable, proceed to recognize the Rev. Mr. Matheny as the pastor and teacher of the church.
