1997's successes to be touted at Moore's annual meeting Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Moore Development for Big Spring, the community's economic development agency funded by a one half-cent sales tax, will hold its annual meeting at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

The meeting is open to the public.

The annual meeting, which will be the last for executive director Danette Toone, is expected to draw a larger-thannormal crowd because U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, State Rep. David Counts and Land Commissioner Gary Mauro are scheduled to attend.

Toone submitted her resignation last week. She and her two daughters will be moving to Temple to join her husband, John, who was transferred there by TU Electric.

While here, the trio of elected officials will tour the site selected to host one of four veterans homes.

It is also expected that Mauro will use the trip to test the waters in his anticipated run for governor against incumbent George Bush.

This meeting is expected to be one of Moore's more upbeat

Signal is located at the cor-

The veterans home is located on a 24-acre site north of I-20 and south of the Big Spring State Hospital.

The company, which received assistance from Moore to expand its operations, also increased its work force as it heads toward an around-the-clock operation.

Vet's group finds F-4 to add to memorial

One of the fiercest weapons of the 1960s may soon add some luster to the Big Spring Vietnam Memorial.

Members of the local Vietnam Veterans chapter will go to Wichita Falls next week to look into the possible acquisition of a F-4 jet fighter for the local memorial.

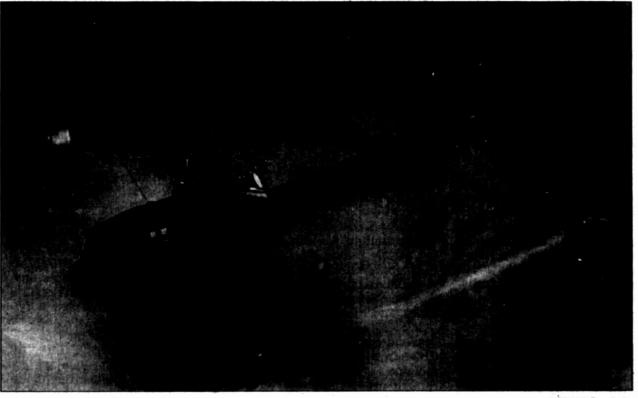

The F-4, constructed by McDonnell-Douglas Corp., was the premiere fighter used by the U.S. Air Force and Navy during the Vietnam War. Nicknamed the Phantom, its unique design and full-throated roar of its engines makes it readily identifiable to aviation buffs.

Local committee members were looking for an aircraft to complement the UH-1 Huey helicopter currently on static display at the memorial, said retired Air Force Col. Jim Little.

Little and others in the committee contacted officials at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base in Tucson, Ariz. — the facility that stores and catalogs decommissioned Air Force planes to enlist their search for a suitable aircraft. About three weeks ago, committee members received word that a recently decommissioned F-4 had been located at Sheppard AFB in Wichita Falls, and that they can have the aircraft free of charge.

The next step now is for com-

"We can save so much more money if we get it in-state," said committee member Charlie Lewis. "If we get it from Arizona, the price will double.'

Little said money for the project would be raised through donations, and that no taxpayer money will be used.

SMMC requests commissioners to review marginal case policy after bonded-out inmate remains for more treatment

By CARLTON JOHNSON

One of the topics at Monday's meeting of the Howard County Commissioners' Court was how the county resolved marginal or questionable — cases in indigent health care.

Marvin Wise, who works in the Scenic Mountain Medical Center (SMMC) business office. brought the issue to commissioners Monday.

"Up to two and a half years ago, if we had a marginal case the court would reconsider it later because there was usually money left over at the end of the budget cycle," Wise said.

"Since 1985, the county has never gone over budget where the indigent health care prois concerned," added. "I'd like for the court to reconsider marginal cases again and use the left over funds to resolve them."

The question before commissioners Monday involved a Howard County inmate who was taken to SMMC on Sept. 15.

According to Welfare and Indigent Health Care (IHC) Director Irene Dominguez, the inmate was taken to the hospital on Sept. 15 and remained there through Sept. 18, amassing a $3,000 bill.

What Wise was questioning was the fact that the inmate in question was taken to the hospital in handcuffs and shackles, as is any inmate, but was released that evening on a personal recognizance bond.

Since the inmate was not an IHC patient, the county agreed to pay the cost of the emergency room visit and nothing more, according to Sheriff Bill Jennings and Dominguez.

Commissioner Sonny Choate told commissioners he thought Wise should be able to appeal the case, but if people are able to pay their bill they should do

County Judge Ben Lockhart was not naj with wise's implication that the Sheriff's office bonded the inmate out, even though he was in the hospital another two days, leaving SMMC to pick up the bulk of the bill, which totaled slightly more than $3,000, including the hospital visit and two bills from doctors.

Ag producers to gather tonight to talk weevils

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Local agriculture officials and cotton producers will gather tonight at 7:30 in the Sands High School cafeteria in Ackerly to establish a committee (made up of the gin representatives) that will represent the proposed Permian Basin Eradication Zone.

The meeting is part of a continuing effort by local producers and officials to fight the boll weevil, which has turned up in large numbers in the High Plains area of West Texas in the last few weeks.

According to statistics provided by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers Inc., 27 traps in Howard County caught at least 15 weevils per trap during the week of Sept. 29 through Oct. 3 for a minimum total of 405. That number could be higher.

The same statistics show Martin County traps caught approximately 330 boll weevils during the same period.

For the week of Oct. 6 through

Oct. 10, boll weevil numbers week was 115 weevils and an have exploded in the 25-county area represented by Lubbockbased Plains Cotton Growers (PCG)

According to PCG representative Roger Haldenby, the hardest hit areas have been producers in Howard, Martin Midland and southern Dawson counties, as well as one other area in the region — the central part of the 25-county High Plains area, which includes the counties of Hale, Floyd, Lubbock and Crosby.

The most recent statistics show significant boll weevil trappings in the following counties: Howard, at least 405; Martin, at least 375; and Dawson, at least 700.

Traps in Hale, Floyd, Lubbock and Crosby counties caught several thousand boll weevils in each of those counties.

Some traps in Hale, Floyd. Lubbock and Crosby counties caught more than 100 weevils

Overall, the trap average in the 25-county PCG area for the overall total of $120,932 weevil caught in 1,056 traps.

Just as producers in these areas are banning together to form a smaller zone to protect their areas from the boll weevil. producers in Yoakum, Terry, Gaines and northern Dawson counties are taking similar measures.

At tonight's meeting in Ackerly, producers will be discussing the formation of a committee to communicate with Agriculture people like Commissioner Rick Perry and Texas Boll Weevil the Eradication Foundation.

The meeting will include producers from Dawson (southern part), Martin, Howard and Midland counties.

"Producers within the proposed zone are being asked for their input through petitions and surveys at cotton gins located throughout the zone," Howard County Extension Agent David Kight said.

Surveys and petitions will be gathered and summarized after Wednesday.

"Each gin within the proposed zone is being asked to elect or appoint two representatives to help with the actual design of a boll weevil control program within the zone," Kight said. "This group of producers will try to put together a program that will be beneficial to all producers within the zone." Once the surveys and petitions have been studied, a meeting of all area producers will be set up to discuss the proposed

Because the Aug. 1 referendum on establishing a boll weevil eradication program failed, producers will not be able to vote on any new proposals before the first of the year.

The failed referendum would have established a suppression program in the 19-county Southern High Plains-Caprock Boll Weevil Eradication Zone, but was defeated by a margin of 52 percent to 48 percent.

Tonight's meeting will be a

Sands voters vote 'poor' to cut funds sent to state By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

ACKERLY — In a unique election, voters in the Sands school district decided to make themselves poorer and save money, all at the same time. Voters OK'd two measures that will lower the district's wealth per student, thus lowering the amount of money it has to send to the state each year.

Under guidelines set up by the exceeds $280,000, the district is required to send the state a certain amount of money each Voters, therefore, took action to correct that situation, voting on two measures that will lower the school's wealth per student from $297,000 to $280,000. The provisions, allowing the district to purchase "attendance credits" from the state, and authorizing Sands CISD to educate out-ofdistrict students, take effect immediately. Out of 69 ballots cast, only

"The board was surprised and very pleased with the results," Bryant said. "A lot of times, when people feel they don't understand the subject they're voting on, they'll vote against

Both measures increase the district's attendance figures, thus lowering its wealth per student. By knocking the figure down to $280,000 per pupil, Sands should realize a savings of about $60,000 this year, Bryant said.

"Chances are we'll still have to send some money to the state, but it will be a lot less (than before the election)," Bryant said.

Before the election, Sands CISD officials figured that they'd ship out $77,000 total to the state and to Big Spring and Lamesa school districts, which are considered "poor" districts under the Robin Hood guide-

As for the long-term outlook for Sands, Bryant said it depended on attendance and mineral valuations in the next few years. If attendance increases and valuations remain stable, the district's wealth per student will decrease, lessening its obligation to the state.

If, however, valuations increase without a corresponding rise in attendance, wealth per student figures will jump, increasing the amount of money Sands will have to pay out, Bryant said.

Aside from the F-4, committee members plan to secure different types of artillery pieces for display at the memorial, although no action is planned along those lines this year, Lewis said.

Also in the works is construction of a chapel-like structure which would house photos of all Howard County residents killed in action in the war, Lewis said.

In a related item, Lewis said he was extremely grateful over local response to the committee's drive to purchase flags for the memorial. The flags arrived last week, and will soon be flying 24 hours a day at the site.

Dominguez pointed out to Wise and commissioners that the man could fill out the paperwork to see if he qualifies for IHC assistance. The problem has been finding the man once he was released.

Anyone can attempt to qualify for IHC assistance and have up to 90 days following treatment to file the necessary papers, meaning Wise has until Dec. 16 to get the man in question to fill out the necessary paperwork and get it turned in.

If the man is eligible for IHC assistance, the county would end up paying the full $3,000 rather than Crooker's suggested compromise of 50 percent.

been asked to complete.

After the surveys about the proposed zone are gathered and studied, they, along with the boundaries of the zone, will be submitted to Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry, according to Kight.

It's beginning to feel like Christmas time at the Herald offices t's beginning to feel a lot like Christmas — at least around the Herald offices, where planning for the 11th Herald Community Christmas Parade is now in full swing.

Scheduled for a 5 p.m. start on Saturday, Dec. 6, the parade will be held in conjunction with the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's Trail of Lights for the third straight year to help grow that downtown celebration.

Growth has been something we've experienced with your annual parade.

Last year, for example, it consisted of 77 entries the largest in community history. Crowds along the Gregg, 6th and Main Street routes were estimated to exceed 10,000 persons.

This year, the goal is 100 entries and we're hopeful that at least one-half of them will be lighted.

If early entrants are an indication, we're well on our way. In fact, as early as May, we were getting calls of inquiry regarding the parade theme — "Our Favorite Christmas Carols" - length of float, number of people on the float and so on and so forth.

Recently, we've picked up several more entrants including at least a couple of first-timers - who are excited about the prospects of the parade.

We're inviting bands from throughout the area, including Big Spring, Coahoma, Colorado City, Forsan, Garden City, Lamesa and Stanton.

We've also extended an invitation to some area college and university bands and drill teams, as well as some military bands...

We know we sound like a football coach in that final pre-game interview but, if we get a break here, a band there and everything comes together, you'll see a West Texas Christmas parade the likes of which you've never seen before.

Mark your calendar — the Nov. 21 entry deadline and Dec. 6 parade are two dates you're not going to want to miss

TO THE EDITOR:

I am incensed by the TV program titled, "Nothing Sacred." The film showed Catholic priests and nuns in situations, and conversations, which made fun of both Catholic and Protestant beliefs.

I am thankful that "Focus on the Family" radio program gave three sound bites, and that was enough to make anyone sick!

"Focus on the Family" is offering a sheet which gives the names and addresses of the companies which finance this program. The sheet is free. "Focus" also provides a cassette of the program for $7. Their address is Colorado Springs, Colo., 80995-7451.

I urge everyone who believes in the principles of the Bible to write and get this material, and let those companies know that we do not go for such trash!

Today, while much progress has been made, prodded by the Supreme Court and by major pieces of anti-discrimination legislation, almost everybody agrees we have yet to achieve a color-blind society. Blacks still lag behind whites in income, education and other measures.

Even so, race these days is seen less as a black and white issue than as a multiracial matter of "ethnicity." Specific steps to remedy specific problems are largely over. Today, we're into soft focus solutions.

Politicians find it easier to talk about the need to celebrate diversity and the rich gifts of various nationalities and ethnic groups than to take action that might improve conditions of particular groups, say, African district in the United States." The county schools there are more diverse than New York or Los Angeles or Chicago, the president said, citing a newspaper report that students from 182 countries speaking more than 100 different languages attend county schools.

Sounding like a counselor or a sociologist, Clinton recited a litany of questions: "How are these differences dealt with within the schools for the children? How are the kids dealing with their diversity and shared values? Is there an explicit attempt to do this? How do they get along?"

He wants to know how the parents are faring, too. He wants to know what the parents say to the children, what the children say to the parents, what the parents say to their employers, what the teachers say to everybody.

Communication among people is important, but all this talk sounds exhausting. It sounds more like an Oprah episode or oral history than the basis of coherent federal policy on race, but Clinton contends the talk may tell us where we need to go in the future.

American Airlines funding anti-Love Field ads

DALLAS (AP) — With advice and money from American Airlines, a citizens group has launched an expensive campaign urging other residents and the Dallas City Council to oppose expanded flights from

The campaign began Monday with ads on at least six Dallas-area radio stations expressing concern over safety and noise if flight restrictions are eased at Love Field.

The airport is five miles northwest of downtown Dallas. Most airlines moved their operations to Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport in the early 1970s. American Airlines is the largest carrier operating out of DFW Airport, about 20 miles northwest of downtown Dallas.

The ads urge listeners to contact council members and voice their opposition to changes that Congress made last week that would erase many of the rules now preventing airlines from operating out of Love

Russ Jewert, chairman of the Love Field Citizens Action Committee, confirmed that the group purchased the radio spots through a Chicago-based agency used by Worth-based air carrier. "American is a contributor to us, and we're happy to have that," Jewert said. "We consider them a very strong ally, and we're happy to have them.

An American official confirmed that the airline had donated money to the group, but neither Jewert nor a company spokesman would say how much.

"The Love Field Citizens Action Committee has paid for these ads,' American spokesman John Hotard said. "American Airlines supports the committee's efforts to make people aware of the downside of opening up Love Field and has made a contribution to the effort."

Mary Poss, deputy mayor pro-tem in Dallas, said American's involvement in the ad campaign may reduce the impact of the group's message at City Hall and in the community.

"If the average listener knows the opposition paid for the ads, the ads will be less effective," she said.

Restrictions on carriers operating out of Love Field are contained in the so-called Wright Amendment, passed to protect DFW American Airlines on the advice of the Fort Airport. The Wright Amendment was named for former House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth, who pushed the legislation through Congress.

Southwest Airlines, a low fare carrier considered a strong competitor to American Airlines on routes where both operate, has been flying out of Love Field for years. But the carrier is allowed to fly only to the adjacent states — Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Last week, Congress approved changes to allow flights to three additional states -Kansas, Mississippi and Alabama — and would allow the startup of a Legend Airlines, a new airline that proposes to fly to several cities from Love Field.

The changes cleared the way for Legend Airlines to fly to any U.S. airport using modified jets with no more than 56 seats.

Proponents say the changes will mean lower air fares and more competition. But the Love Field citizens' group said it fears that more flights will mean more noise and traffic for their neighborhoods.

HOUSTON — Kevin Byrd was pardoned last week after 12year-old DNA evidence cleared him in a 1985 rape, but the semen sample that saved him came close to being tossed from an overcrowded warehouse.

Harris County trial exhibit chief Melchora Vasquez has a backlog of evidence to destroy. Last week, for instance, she destroyed 50 rape kits from old cases from a list compiled in 1994. The exhibit inventory goes back decades, Vasquez said, although she's not sure how many potential DNA samples

Late-starting Cowboys stumble to 3-3 with 21-16 loss to Redskins

SCOREBOARD

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

LANDOVER, Md. — If the aging and stale Dallas Cowboys are ready to surrender the NFC East title for the first time in six years, the energetic and innovative Washington Redskins are more than ready to take it away.

Though outmanned, the Redskins were not outsmarted as they capitalized on the Cowboys' predictability and moved into first place in the division with a 21-16 victory Monday

"It was important for us to come out and show not only Dallas, but the world, that we are a force to be reckoned with," Redskins guard Joe Patton said.

The force held together even after Terry Allen and Michael Westbrook left with sprained knees in the first half, adding to an injury list that had already depleted the offensive and defensive lines. The Redskins (4-2) made up for it with a solid game plan, mixing it up on offense and defense to take a 21-3 lead early in the third quar-

"Dallas is pretty basic," linebacker Ken Harvey said. "We knew they were going to try to run the football and establish a ground game. We just had to put them in a position to pass the

They did that by stacking the line with a variety of formations to hold Emmitt Smith to 61 yards on 17 carries - just 34 after he gained 27 on his first two runs. When it came time for Troy Aikman to pass, he had to contend with cornerbacks Cris Dishman and Darrell Green.

"(Defensive coordinator) Nolan called a great defensive game plan," Dishman said. "He told Darrell and me that we have to hold up our men for this defense to work."

With Allen out, second-year running back Stephen Davis stepped in and had the biggest game of his career: 94 yards on 22 carries and two touchdowns. Another backup, tight end James Jenkins, caught a 13-yard TD pass for his first reception of the season and his first scoring catch in three years.

The Cowboys (3-3), still the only NFL team without a rushing touchdown, scored on a 16-yard fumble return by Dexter Coakley and a 14-yard pass from Aikman to Michael Irvin. But the rally was too late, and the fivetime NFC East champions are now in third place, behind the Redskins and the New York Giants (4-3).

"It's going to take us to stay strong, See keep believing in one another, and keep pushing the envelope hard, and hopefully we'll crack it open." Smith said. "It'll take some prayers as well, because it could easily be a very ugly season for us if we're not careful.'

Dallas had only two sustained drives - the one for Irvin's TD and an opening drive that took them to the Washington 2 before the Cowboys settled for Richie Cunningham's 19-yard field goal. On first-and-goal, rookie tight end David LaFleur jumped early and Dallas was set back to the 7.

That's been typical of the Cowboys' its Jacobs Field magic again. Trailing 4-0, the Indians scored two runs and had runners at second and third with two outs in the ninth when Omar Vizquel sent a grounder through the middle that had game-tying single written all over it. This time, though, Roberto Alomar made the play as the Orioles survived with a 4-2 victory, leaving the Indians with a 3-2 lead in the best-of-7 series.

"Whatever chance we might still have, we still have a chance," said Orioles starter Scott Kamieniecki, who combined with Jimmy Key to blank the Indians for eight innings. "Until you deep-six us, we're going to come out playing."

As will the Indians, although Cleveland manager Mike Hargrove isn't sure what to expect in Game 6 on Wednesday at Camden Yards.

"The way this series has been. I don't see how anyone can feel confident about anything. We've got out work cut out for us going back into Baltimore. Certainly, we'd rather be in the position we're in, but they have a very good ballclub. It's come down to the last two games.'

After an off-day, the best-of-7 series will resume with Cleveland's Charles Nagy facing Mike Mussina, who struck out an ALCS record 15 in Game 3 and will again pitch in the twilight. For the first time in three games at Cleveland, the Orioles weren't undone by the bizarre or unexplainable. There was no steal of home on a botched squeeze play in the 12th inning or two runners scoring on a wild pitch.

Meanwhile, the Indians let down their rowdy fans by not putting away the Orioles.

"It's kind of disappointing because the fans have been doing a great job for us this series," Vizquel said. "They deserved to see us win.'

Leading 2-0, the Orioles added two crucial runs when Eric Davis, whose comeback from colon cancer surgery has given the Orioles an emotional lift.

Lady Yearlings squads post wins over troublesome Sweetwater

HERALD Staff Report

Runnels Junior High's Lady Yearlings volleyball squads were forced to three games in both matches Monday evening, but managed to return home from Sweetwater with wins over the Lady Ponies.

In the opening match, the Lady Yearlings Black took a 15-12, 3-15, 15-7 win.

Jessicia Woodward got things off to a good start, serving for seven points in the first-game win. Taylor Kennedy, Meghan Pudliner and Alicia Kremsky added two points each from the service line and Ashley Newton and Jesse Weir were both credited with one point.

After a second game in which

Ashlev Keener's one marker were all Big Spring could muster, Kremsky, Kennedy, Pudliner, Amber Mayes and Newton provided even scoring for the rubber game win. Kremsky's four goals led the way in the third game, while Kennedy, Pudliner and Mayes each had three points and Newton provided the other two.

A similar scenario was played out in the nightcap, as the Lady Yearlings Gold posted a 15-5, 4-15, 15-4 victory.

Latrisha Rollins, Chelsea

Stanton drops into No. 6 spot despite big win

From staff and wire reports

After having twice impressed balloters in The Associated Press' high school football poll by scoring 56 points, Stanton's Buffaloes must be wondering how last week's 64-7 win over McCamey drops them out of a tie for fifth place and back into sixth in the Class 2A ranking.

The Buffs debuted in the AP poll's top 10 two weeks ago in the No. 9 spot, then climbed to a tie for the No. 5 spot with Garrison last week.

Stanton's slip is nothing to the drop LaMarque experienced.

Losing to Tyler John Tyler couldn't knock La Marque from the No. 1 spot in Class 4A. A second loss, to archrival Texas

La Marque's seasonlong hold on the top spot ended Monday, paving the way for Denison to move to No. 1 for probably the first time in school history.

The fact that Denison's ascent comes at La Marque's expense may be extra gratifying to some Denison fans. After all, it was La Marque that beat Denison in championship games the last two years.

Texas City's 28-12 victory sent the Stingarees (5-1) from ninth to fifth. La Marque (4-2) fell to eighth. Only two new teams entered the poll this week, San Antonio MacArthur at No. 10 in 5A and Crawford at No. 10 in 2A. Falling out were Beaumont West Brook in 5A, East Bernard in 2A.

MacArthur has been out of the poll since being ranked 10th one week in 1979, according to Walk Sports Services, which has compiled every AP poll since 1974.

Walk's research also shows that Denison has never been No. 1 in those 24 seasons, not even during the school's championship year in 1984. The Yellow Jackets' highest ranking before this season was third at the end of 1988.

Denison coach Bob Brown wasn't too interested in the news of being No. 1. Like many coaches, he's of the opinion that regular-season rankings mean little.

"It's how we finish that counts." Brown said.

Denison finished each of the last two seasons playing for championships. Six games into this season, the Yellow Jackets look primed for another long playoff run.

"I'm really pleased with our

While most guys are on the mend, Brown knows his entire team will be roughed up plenty in upcoming weeks by opponents seeking the glory of knocking off No. 1.

"Because of what we've accomplished the last few years and the notoriety we've gotten, it means an awful lot to people to beat ol' Denison and they're playing their heart out against us," Brown said. "But it helps us, too, because we know we're not playing any weak sisters."

Marlins' Brown set — apparently — to pitch Game 6 against Braves

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

ATLANTA - The Florida Marlins insist Kevin Brown is all set to start tonight. Then again, they've had trouble keeping track of their ailing ace lately.

In the latest bit of intrigue during the NL championship series, both general manager Dave Dombrowski and manager Jim Leyland said Monday that the pitcher traveled on the team charter Sunday night.

"Yes, yes, he did," Dombrowski said. "He did come in with us last night," Leyland said. "So unless the airline had bad food, I guess he'll be ready tomorrow.

Except that it wasn't so.

Brown was not on the Marlins' plane s they headed to Atlanta, where they hold a 3-2 lead over the Braves heading into Game 6.

Instead, he did not leave Florida until 9:05 a.m. EDT Monday on Delta flight 1168 from Fort Lauderdale. It was an easy trip, aside from Brown finding someone else sitting in his assigned seat.

"Another night at home in my bed. A little more rest. I feel fine," said Brown, scratched twice because of a viral infection. "I'm throwing unless lightning strikes me.

But wouldn't the Marlins have noticed if their No. 1 starter was missing going into the most important game in franchise history?

"They thought he was on the plane," Marlins spokesman Ron Colangelo announced. "They didn't know he all day.

There have been times in the past when teams have not wanted a pitcher's condition to be fully known. In the 1982 World Series, for example, the Milwaukee Brewers continued to insist reliever Rollie Fingers was available against St. Louis, even though he wasn't.

Brown, who won the opener, was scheduled to pitch Games 1, 4 and 7 in Leyland's original rotation.

'Sure, I was disappointed," said Brown, appearing more gaunt than usual. "I was supposed to pitch Game 4 and I was pushed back to Game 5, and then pushed back again."

Having seen the Marlins juggle their rotation on nearly no notice — Florida coach Rich Donnelly called Braves manager Bobby Cox four hours before gametime Sunday to tell him Livan Hernandez would replace Brown the Braves weren't sure who to expect

"Everybody says Brown, but you never know, do you?" Atlanta hitting coach Clarence Jones said.

"I'm not using it as an excuse, but when the guys go home, they want to know who's going to be pitching," he said. "They like to know who they'll be facing.'

If Brown does not pitch, the Marlins would likely turn to Tony Saunders. The rookie was 3-0 against Atlanta in the regular season and got a no-decision in Game 3. "You just tell yourself it could be one of those two guys," Braves leadoff man Kenny Lofton said. "We've faced both of them before."

Probably, if you aren't checking the Public Notices columns of this newspaper regularly.

Public Notices are required by state law to protect your rights and to help you function more effectively as a citizen. Access to information about what government agencies are doing is what makes the American the most powerful citizen in the world.

The Public Notices give you access to information you need . . . about new local laws that will affect you . . . about plans for major land use changes . . . about were roads will go ... whose land will be condemned ... how your tax dollars will be spent . . . about court actions that could be important to you, or just plain interesting.

Whether you know them as Public Notices or as "the legals", it pays you to check the Public Notice columns in this newspaper each issue. What you don't know might cost you!

SPRING HERALD

HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FOR WEDNESDAY, OCT. 15: Major changes occur within partnerships this year; you might feel another isn't relating to you in a desirable manner. On some level, you feel excluded. Active, sometimes challenging communications will help break the barriers that exist between you. You have a lot of energy that you need to direct. Creativity is high; your libido seeks an outlet. A new love or hobby is a strong possibility. If you are single, you are likely to meet someone this year who will make you feel wonderful. If attached, working together on a key project bonds the relationship. ARIES, though difficult, adores you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your energy ebbs midday but will come back strong. Evaluate key projects. Are they going the way you want? If not, seek others' advice to change their course. You can create the outcome you envision. Tonight: Enjoy the night out!*

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You are overwhelmed by feelings of depression. It's only a passing phase, but it sure doesn't feel like it! Do something just for yourself. You will recharge. An associate has keen business ideas. Brainstorming helps. Tonight: Soak in a hot bubble bath.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Go for what you want. An obstacle is in your path, but you have the knowledge and understanding to skip over it. Don't get bogged down. Associates have a totally different viewpoint. Seriously weigh a trip that involves an educational opportunity. Tonight: Be playful.* CANCER (June 21-July 22)

What seemed to be a career option might be closed off. Think through how much effort you want to put into resuscitating this project. An associate pulls back or changes his support at the last minute. You're being pulled in two different directions. Tonight: Work LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You are dynamic, and it is challenging to make another hear your words. There are many viewpoints. Someone doesn't understand yours, you can't grasp his. Adjust plans; be flexible. Nothing is written in stone. You are overwhelmed.

Tonight: Hold down the VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Close relating is key to making a decision, though it might appear that a partner doesn't want to share his views. Later in the day, others open up more easily. You have enough on the front burner to keep you. occupied. Don't lock into one issue. Tonight: You maintain a juggling act.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) A partner is closing you off; it is likely to change later on. Communications can be rough, or someone could be flaky. Reactions are provoked. Besure of what you are doing before you launch into a tirade.

over one person. Tonight: The party goes on.* SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

Popularity is high. Don't obsess

Be direct about what is happening at work. A feeling of being left in the cold or alone might overwhelm you; however, you will be able to bounce over that hurdle. Your strength intimidates others at times. Take some time off. Tonight: Indulge yourself.*

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec.

A loved one is hard on you, so you feel like excluding him. A surprise event allows communications to flow. Don't hold back; express your feelings. Decisions are how you see. them. It isn't an either-or situa-: tion with a loved one. Tonight: Negotiate a midpoint.*

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.

A domestic matter might be easier to ignore, but that course of action isn't possible anymore. Think through what you are trying to accomplish. There is enormous pressure between home and work. Your ability to juggle comes into play. A money matter is highlighted. Tonight: Go for what you want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Keep everything flowing, and allow another space to express himself. At first there is anger, but once you clear it up, you can work as a team again. Your positive approach saves the day, just when you feel talks are closing off. Tonight: Chat the night away PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Hold on to your wallet. Follow through on a work-related matter. Handle a problem more directly. Trust your intuition, and follow through accordingly. Pressure is high to produce. Hold your ground where you don't feel comfortable. Tonight: Grant a wish.

"Picture Perfect," whose mar-ried sister didn't want "Picture's" flance in their family portrait, made me chuckle. By agreeing with the sister, you implied that tying the knotwas a guarantee of permanent: family status. A son-in-law can end up "out of the picture" just as easily as a flance can. Several years ago, we had a family portrait taken that included our parents, my husband and myself, my two mart-paste over obsolete heads, or covering the face of each ex-

Although most of us now display the abbreviated portrait, I keep the one with the exes tucked away in a family album. All three were good men and are a part of our famile ly history, even if not a part of its future. — PICTURE THIS IN HANFORD, CALIF.

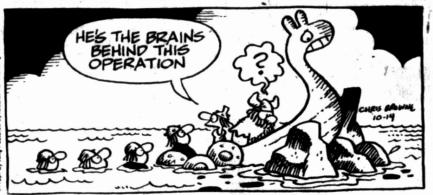

DEAR PICTURE THIS: I think I've got the picture. It's dizzying to think that the only way to have a family portrait is to include blood relatives only. However, many readers wrote suggesting that this family have two portraits made - one with the flance, and one with-
