

Two Local Firemen Attend State School

Two volunteer firemen left Saturday to attend a week long fire school at College Station, under the auspices of Texas A. and M. College.

Representing Friona will be Doc Camp and Troy Kemp, both city employees. Their attendance at the meet will mean a three per cent credit for Friona on fire rates.

Conductor of the school last year was H. R. Braton. Firemen who attend learn the latest safety measures and the latest fire fighting methods.

COLUMN LEFT

We still have a few copies left of last week's Star telling of the Baptist Church formal opening. We suggest that these copies will be mighty good keepsakes, serving in future years as reminders of this great day in local Baptist history.

Both the Southwest Public Service and the West Texas Gas Company have notified us that they will each have a permanent serviceman stationed in Friona commencing August 1st. Now that is NEWS for which we have been waiting . . . a good many years. Friona is growing, and more and more firms are taking note, increasing their services to keep pace. However, we believe that steps on the part of some firms several years ago would have speeded our growth even before now.

C. I. "Stoney" Wall, president of the West Texas Gas Company, together with T. F. Cartwright, comptroller of that firm paid the Star a visit Tuesday.

These gentlemen were naturally on the mission of discussing the proposed gas rate increases. One point cleared up in the analysis was that all rates over their territory will be the same, but because of low consumption in past years for Friona, our overall increase will be greater than some other towns, although individual increases will be the same as any other individual consumer throughout the 47 communities served. It's a hard point to clarify in print.

Grandmother Messenger visited us yesterday, talking of the day-long services at the Baptist Church last Sunday. She commented that when called upon to talk Sunday afternoon, she had no prepared discourse, nor had she even thought of having to speak on her feet, so she just talked from the heart. Now isn't that wonderful? The most sincere and most enjoyed talks are usually made in just that manner. I'll never fail to admire that person who can hold the attention of his or her audience, free from the distracting notes or shaves of copy.

CL

There must be something to it! We refer to a chance remark made by ourselves in our first month here and an identical remark made by our new reporter, Phyllis Dishman, in her column last week entitled Monday Morning Musings. The comment: We've seen that sign at the edge of some towns, "Home of 1094 good people and a few old soreheads", but we certainly believe that could not be the case here in Friona, for here everyone seems to be contributing to the friendliness and general welfare of the community. After more than a year here, we are convinced that this is just the finest community and the finest people found anywhere.

CL

We've missed a vacation for a couple of years now, and believe me, that schoolboy dreaming of vacation time and swimming and fishing has nothing on us! In fact we've just taken that map down from the office wall, 'cause there's nothing that invites the wanderlust like that gadget, the road map with its red thoroughfares stretching to every latitude.

Ever hear of the nudist with varicose veins who went to the masquerade party disguised as a road map?

More Than 600 Irrigation Wells Now Contribute to Parmer County Economy

Irrigation, the fairy godmother of Parmer County, has waved its magic wand and transformed a two-crop farming community into a staple agricultural economy.

Where once ranching, wheat and grain sorghums provided the bulk of annual income, growers have today taken part of the gamble out of such single-crop dependency; and, leaning on subsurface water for support, have branched out into the many crops of diversified farming.

Now seeded acreages of cotton, wheat, barley, maize, oats, corn, sudan, alfalfa, irrigated pasture and sugar beets have dispensed with the once necessary habit of "putting all your eggs in one basket."

What such a change has meant to Parmer County and stable farming is quickly apparent when there comes along a bad year of wheat farming, or a drought.

Today almost half of the county's 549,000 acres are under irrigation, according to records of the Soil Conservation Office. First tentative tries at irrigation were begun by J. H. McFarland, Jess M. Osborn and N. L. Tharp, who drilled wells on their properties some ten years ago.

Within the past three years, however, the program has moved into high gear and now 250,000 acres are irrigated by some 600 wells in Parmer County.

FACTORS LISTED
What caused this spurt of interest? Many soil conservation officials believe that the greatest factor in progress made by engineers in developing economical irrigation pumps, pumps that would retail at a low enough cost to make irrigation profitable and by increased yields and the near-guarantee of a crop, has increased the profits of farming.

The irrigation belt runs almost along the railroad, according to the charts in the soil conservation office. It almost divides the two soil types in the county. Land to the south of "running Water Draw is sandy land, but the northern part has light, heavy soils.

Land now fed by underground water supplies supports the largest cotton acreage in Parmer county history; many acres of cotton have been planted in the area from the Bailey County line north to Hub and east to the Deaf Smith County line.

In addition, some 800-900 acres of barley and oats have been planted.

EARLY ENTHUSIASTS
Irrigation of sudan was important to Parmer County farmers when pioneer planters discovered that sudan can be grown round here as a cash crop, one (Continued on Back Page)

Public Poll

"DOES YOUR HUSBAND DO ANY WORK AROUND THE HOUSE?"

Mrs. Ralph Smith—
Yes, he does. He dries dishes, and helps with the washing and helps take care of the children. The yard work is his complete responsibility, so he takes charge of mowing the lawn and cutting the weeds. I really don't think I had anything to do with his willingness to help around the house; he's been doing it ever since we got married.

Mrs. S. T. Thornton—
No, he doesn't; but then he just doesn't have time to, because he gets up and leaves at six in the morning and comes home again about eight at night. He is so busy he seldom has time to even mow the lawn. I think he's probably glad to get out of doing the housework, but I don't think he minds doing the yard work and wishes, really, that he had more time for it.

Mrs. Frank Spring—
Yes, he does help around the house. His main help is at breakfast time. He doesn't do much cooking, but he's a lot of help at breakfast. His work is his responsibility, too. I take care of the flowers; and he takes care of the lawn.

Mrs. Wesley Foster—
Yes, Wesley helps. He helps with the dishes, and sometimes cooks breakfast. His specialty is biscuits and I think he makes real good biscuits. All the yard work he takes care of and even does it without being reminded. I don't know whether he minds doing it or not, but he never does complain about it.

Mrs. Jimmy Tidwell—
My husband is a great deal of help around the house. He does just about everything except the cooking and the laundry and drying dishes. And I don't mind that, because I have a dish washer. But he repairs broken appliances or furniture, keeps the yard and shrubs, paints and papers the house, does some carpenter work and is especially good at refinishing furniture.

Mrs. Carl Maurer—
I'm afraid he just isn't much of a man about the house. He has helped with the dishes, and he doesn't complain too much, but he doesn't do any of the cooking, and he isn't much help around spring cleaning time. He just doesn't have time, I guess.

Water users will have an opportunity August 9 to say whether they think the State Board of Water Engineers should create an underground water conservation district in the Panhandle-South Plains.

The Board of Water Engineers has called a public hearing for 10 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 9, in the municipal auditorium at Plainview. Underground water users from the 21-county area designated by the Board as the proposed Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 may testify at the hearing.

On evidence presented, the Board will decide whether to create the water conservation district, which would be the first and largest of its kind in the state. Creation of the district will have to be approved by the voters.

The proposed water district embraces about 13,000,000 acres of farm land which lies over a huge underground water reservoir. It covers all of Lubbock, Hale, Parmer, and Swisher counties and parts of Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn, Oldham, Potter, Randall, Terry and Cochran counties.

If created, the district would act through an elective five-man board of directors to promote conservation of the area's underground water resources. This would be done through regulation of the spacing of irrigation wells, preventing pollution, conducting educational programs on water conservation and conducting experiments on the recharging of the reservoir.

WEATHER

Hot days and nights have prevailed this week, with a few very light and scattered showers falling over the area. Temperatures have hovered in the upper 90's in the afternoons, dropping to the high 60's at night.

Most of the row crop is in need of rain which can well be a determining factor in a possible bumper feed crop this year.

Practically all wheat has been harvested, though a few loads still are dribbling into the elevators.

Cotton over the county is looking good though insect control will have to be commenced at an early date.

Meetings Called For More Study Of Insect Control

With cotton coming to the forefront in Parmer County, more insect control meetings are scheduled for next week; this time they are sponsored by the Extension Service of Texas A. & M., supervised locally by County Agent Joe Jones.

Below is listed meeting times and places; immediately after congregating, the attending farmers will go to nearby cotton fields to inspect the insects, learning proper identification and studying control measures. An entomologist from College Station will be present to explain controls.

All meetings will be held Monday, July 23rd. Bovina High School, 9:30 A.M.; Friona, Gym., 11:00 A.M.; Lubbock, 2:00 P.M.; Larlet, 3:30 P.M. County Agent Jones has toured the entire county this week and reports most cotton looking mighty good, but he says there's evidence of web worms, boll worms, aphids, and flea hoppers.

FATHER DIES

Ed White, proprietor of White's Grocery and Market, received a message Wednesday, informing him of the death of his father, J. C. White, who died at his home near Arcadia, Florida, on Sunday, July 15th. The deceased was in his 85th year, and had been in delicate health for the past several months. He was a native of Southern Illinois, and had lived in Florida for the past quarter of a century.

Mr. White was a brother of John White.

Meet Your Parmer County Neighbors: the Metzners

Life of New Friona Physician Has Not Lacked for Color, Travel, Education

Family is Enthused About People, Climate Of Friona, Southwest

Today, we'll go visit the Metzners; although Dr. R. W. T. Metzner has been in Friona since June 11, Mrs. Metzner and Ronnie arrived only about a week ago. But now that they have moved into their new home and gotten all settled, it's time to say hello.

The Metzners are living in a green roofed white house that faces south on 10th street, so go right up and knock on the door.

Be prepared for Ronnie to answer the door if he's awake he probably will. Ronnie is a carrot-topped three year old with a fair complexion and scattered freckles, coloring which he inherited from his mother. He is also a five wire, very much interested in machines, electric lights and cycles.

Mrs. Metzner is a charming red head, a nurse before her marriage, an Ohioan, who says, "We've lived in larger places for so long, where people never have time to be friendly neighbors, that one thing which impressed me about Friona right away were the lovely people." She goes on to explain, "Why, when we moved down to Friona from Akron last week, the first people I met were two little girls, Mary Tom Spring and Linda Gee; they were sitting on my front porch with a bouquet of bachelor buttons to brighten up the house. And you know, we felt royally welcomed to Friona."

Although the Metzners moved their furniture into the house without doing a bit of painting or re-decorating, the color schemes are perfect for their Weren't we lucky?" Mrs. Metzner pointed out how well the green sectional sofa and the modern blond furniture went with the darker green decor of the living room, where a faint touch of Chinese modern marks her decorations. In the kitchen, her yellow breakfast set was a perfect match for yellow and gray cabinets.

"The book shelves look a little bare," she said, "but we haven't many of our books down here." Their extensive library is made up mostly of medical books and treatises on theology.

CHILDHOOD AMBITION

Dr. Metzner's childhood ambition was to be a medical missionary to Africa, but while doing his medical training he developed an allergy which resulted in a skin condition that prohibited the mission board's sending him to tropical zones. Part of Dr. Metzner's interest in Africa stems from his great respect for the work of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the brilliant European authority on Bach and on theology, who renounced these careers 40 years ago at the age of 30 to study medicine and then to serve the natives of French Equatorial Africa.

So included in the Metzner library are most of the worn literary works both by and about the beloved Schweitzer.

TIDELANDS

The Honorable Ed Gossett, of the Wichita Falls District appeared before the Rules Committee this morning to obtain a rule bringing to the House Floor the Tideland Bill. As I told you in previous letters, this bill has been progressing step by step and should be on the House Floor for a vote within the next three weeks. The chances for passage are excellent. The entire Texas Delegation has worked continuously on this bill and we look forward to success. Mr. Gossett is resigning from Congress effective July 31st and the passage of this bill well certainly be an outstanding final act to close his distinguished and brilliant career as a congressman.

DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT

The Congress has been working on the Defense Production Act for the past week and final action on the bill is not yet in sight. Perhaps it will be finished before this letter reaches many of you. Many amendments are being adopted to the bill. Most of these are aimed at a curtailment of bureaucratic control and are for the purpose of keeping the entire control program under the command of Congress, where it belongs. This Congress is consistently refusing to delegate its powers to bureaus and boards staffed by appointed individuals. There are very few members of Congress who are opposed to fair, honest and equitable controls in an emergency, but most of them feel that if controls are necessary, there should be no favoritism. It is not the controls for emergency needs that the members fear but it is the administration of those controls. Based upon past experiences, this Congress feels that the administration of controls should not be turned over to bureaus and boards with no strings attached. There is not a member of Congress who is not vitally interested in stopping inflationary trends, but most of us do not want to deliver the control of this government into the hands of a few appointed individuals with the powers to regiment the people of this country by dictatorial orders. Such a procedure could increase the danger of inflation rather than decrease it. It must be remembered that the creation of more boards and bureaus with regulatory powers requires the employment of many, many people to enforce those powers. Our purpose has been to reduce the number of federal employees. It is only by this method can we reduce domestic expenditures substantially. Domestic expenditures must be reduced substantially if we are going to meet the defence requirements without higher taxes and hope to have some reduction in taxes. The house yesterday refused to accept a conference report on an appropriations bill because it did not contain an amendment that would prohibit the filling of over 25 percent of the vacancies occurring in the departments during the next fiscal year. We sent the bill back to the Committee with instructions that this amendment reducing federal employees be attached to the bill.

FEDERAL SALES TAX

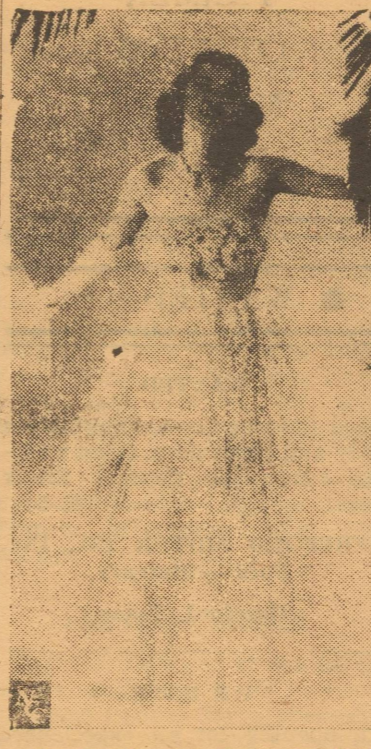

Proponents of a federal sales tax are now presenting testimony to a Senate finance committee in an effort to get this congress to pass a federal sales tax. The organization. The Committee for Economic Development, represented by J. Cameron Thompson, Minneapolis banker, urged five percent retail sales tax on all items not now taxed by federal excise tax.

Food and housing would be exempt. Mr. Thompson suggested that no increase be made in corporation taxes. He said individual income taxes should be hiked by about 800 million dollars more than the $2,850,000,000 proposed in the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax-raising bill, and said that he wanted the impact of that move shifted to the lower income groups. A retail sales tax of 5 percent as urged by Mr. Thompson would certainly put the impact on the smaller income groups. Such a tax would amount to a great deal more than the 12 1/2% increase in the individual income taxes for defense purposes. The 12 1/2% increase in the House tax bill is 12 1/2% of the individual income tax itself and not 12 1/2% of an individual's entire income. The 12 1/2% increase that was voted amounts to less on the individual than the original plan to increase the income tax by three percentage points; that is, 12 1/2% of your income tax is less than 3 percent of your income. by the same reasoning, if you are required to pay 5% retail sales tax on everything you buy, it would amount to an approximate increase in your taxes of 30 percent of your income tax rather than 12 1/2%. I have asked for suggestions about a federal sales tax in previous letters and I would like to hear from you folks as to how you feel about a federal sales tax. I don't want a federal sales tax passed as an additional tax. If the people feel that the federal sales tax would be a more equitable tax and more fair distribution of the tax burden, I would like to know it. In any event I don't want to see a federal sales tax passed unless it is a substitute for the income tax or some other tax. We are paying more taxes now than we should, and they need to be reduced at the earliest possible moment; which will be when our defense requirements are met.

DISPERSAL OF GOVERNMENT PLANTS

Congressmen Albert Rains of Alabama and Brooks Hays of Arkansas offered an amendment to the Defense Production Act which would require that any government plants erected in the future or any plants erected through government loans hereafter be dispersed over the country and not concentrated in such places as New England and the Middle West where much of our industry is vulnerable to enemy attack. It was amusing to note that a coalition of extreme right-wing Republicans and left-wing Democrats and Republicans developed to defeat this amendment. The amendment's strongest supporters were the Jeffersonian Democrats from the Atlantic Ocean across the Southern States and through Texas. It looks like the folks in the New England and Middle Western states are afraid industry might find out what a great country we have and how well they can do in our section. We are continuing the work to bring industry to the South and Southwest and will finally be successful.

his favorite team is the Boston Red Sox. He developed this love for the Boston team while attending Harvard.

"And I guess I'm doomed to be a Red Sox fan, as long as there's a team," he says.

"He not only listens to the games all day," points out his wife, "but he sits up for all the sports broadcasts at night to hear a recap of the game he listened to all afternoon."

As for football, his favorite team is the University of Michigan; and he picked up that love for the Wolverines while attending Medical School at Ann Arbor.

"I'd still like to see them play at least once a year, if it were possible," Dr. Metzner declared. Although his wife doesn't share his complete enthusiasm for baseball and football, she does enjoy playing tennis with him and swimming. She frequently drives to Hereford in the afternoon so she and Ronnie can spend some time in the pool.

MEET RONNIE

Incidentally, Ronnie is a water baby from way back. He's been allowed to play (closely supervised) in pools and on beaches since he was six months old or so.

"He loves the water; and it's good for him," said his mother.

Ronnie was born April 10, 1948 in Chicago. He was one of a pair of identical twins. The other little boy was named Robin Carol, but the babies were premature. Ronald Carl weighed only a little more than three pounds at birth.

"He was in the hospital for seven weeks before we could take him home," the Metzners said. To look at Ronnie now, you'd never suspect he was once a very frail child. He's healthy and he's curious and the combination keeps his mother busy most of the time.

Currently his major occupation is helping his dad level the lawn. The big tractor that does the job is the most wonderful thing Ronnie has seen since Santa Clause.

FAMILY HISTORY

The Metzners were married in Buffalo, New York; although she is from Akron, Ohio, and he is from Wheeling, West Virginia. They were married at the University Presbyterian Church on Christmas Eve, 1946.

"The church was one of those staunch, straight, white, spire-topped New England type churches, set up on a knoll with snow covered ground all around it. It looked exactly like a Christmas Card and we thought it was a beautiful symbol," Dr. Metzner explained.

Incidentally, Wesley Robert Tichendorf Metzner, is his full name.

"I got named Tichendorf because my mother's father, being an old southern gentleman with several daughters and no sons wanted a namesake, and since I was the only grandson I got stuck with it," Dr. Metzner chuckled.

His father is credit manager for Hazel-Atlas Glass Company in Wheeling, the company that makes most of the barrel-shaped glasses which cafes use, and most of the corrugated garbage cans.

"No matter where I go, there are always these souvenirs to remind me of Wheeling," he explained.

He graduated from Tridelpia High School in Wheeling, where he played tennis on the high school team. Then he went to Harvard (where he developed his love for Boston Red Sox after seeing Ted Williams play so often).

At Harvard he was assistant manager of the freshman baseball team, played the bass drums in the band and the cello, was a member of the debating team and sang bass with the Harvard Glee Club for three years.

Highlight of this experience was the occasion when the Glee Club sang with Koussevitsky at Symphony Hall.

And, though you would probably never suspect it unless I told you, the good doctor Metzner once won a bicycle marathon of 100 miles distance between Harvard and Smith College. This resulted in all the participants getting their picture in the Boston Globe amid no end of guffaws and jibes.

Harvard University sponsored several deputation teams which went out from various churches to surrounding towns over the week-end, taking their student groups to teach Sunday School, present a special program on Sunday morning and then carry on a visitation program in the afternoon to entertain shut-ins. Friona's new doctor took an active part in all these programs during his days at Harvard.

EXTENSIVE MEDICAL TRAINING

In 1941 he was graduated with an A. D. degree in biology and the next fall entered the University of Michigan medical school. He interned at St. Mary's Hospital in Duluth, Minnesota, following his graduation in July, 1944.

He was in medical school during the war when the normal four year course had been concentrated into three years, omitting summer and Christmas vacations.

One year of his residency was spent at the Cleveland Clinic and it was here he met Miss Patricia Gilbo, the pert, red haired nurse who was soon to share his life.

"She had trained at City hospital and was an ace neuro-surgical scrub nurse then at Cleveland Clinic," he says with pride.

Mrs. Metzner is one of four children. Her two sisters live in Akron and her brother, also married to a nurse, lives there, too. "I just grew up planning to be a nurse. I guess my mother had a great deal of respect for the nursing profession," Dr. Metzner's only sister also lives in Akron.

Young Dr. Metzner, who is only 31, has done an amazing amount of studying and training. He served for a year as a surgeon with the New York State Institute of Malignant Diseases, which specializes in cancer research.

Then he went to Chicago where he took a preceptorship under Dr. A. M. Vaughn, an American Board of Surgery Man, doing medical research and also teaching physiology at Loyola University School of Medicine.

MISSIONARY AMBITIONS

Toward the end of 1948, Dr. and Mrs. Metzner, and six months old Ronnie were in New York. He was a staff member of the Presbyterian Mission Board and wanted to go to the Cameroon district of Africa to do missionary work among the natives there.

His family had purchased their tickets to sail on the Queen Elizabeth for Paris, where they planned to spend a year in France, learning the language before sailing for French Equatorial Africa.

But a combination of circumstances prevented their carrying out these plans, even after they had progressed that far.

First of all, the longshoremen at the port struck, and the boat didn't sail. Then young Ronnie, still a mighty small baby and in need of special care, became a concern to his parents. Reports from France indicated that both fuel and food were dire shortages abroad.

"And having lost one baby, we didn't want to take any chances with Ronnie," the parents said.

They decided it might be better to postpone the trip until spring when the weather would be warmer and the baby stronger.

Then the allergy and neurodermatatic condition which effected Dr. Metzner's skin became acute. Even doctors seem not to be immune from the ills of human flesh. He consulted many of his friends.

COMES TO SOUTHWEST

At last the University of Chicago Clinic suggested that he would benefit from the hot dry climate of the Southwest, of the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico and Arizona. Where he should not be, they decided was in a tropical country where the weather was hot and humid.

And that's how Dr. Metzner came to the Panhandle.

"One of the nicest things about Friona is the people. I guess nothing makes more difference to your work than the attitude and personality of your colleagues and your patients. It's been delightful here. I think the people are wonderful," he said thoughtfully.

The Metzners hope to stay in Friona. Mrs. Metzner is planning her flower gardens for next year. "I hope to get some crysanthemums in for this fall, but I may be a little late," she said.

Her grandfather was a florist and her interest in flowers and shrubs is somewhat inherent.

Dr. Metzner is polishing up his barbecue recipes.

"Yes, I can cook," he says.

"But I do it only when I have an opportunity to make a big

Make Sure of the Foundations

No building can endure if it doesn't stand on a solid foundation. Neither can great character be built on a flimsy foundation. A small structure — may for a while get along without bed rock — but a great temple must rest on a secure foundation or it will collapse. The Rock of Ages has been the foundation throughout the centuries on which great lives were built. Join your friends in the church of your faith this Sunday.

When you have a child in the cuddly, crawling stage, you have the perfect reason for installing an automatic electric water heater — the safest water heater made. Your child can crawl right up to the water heater, pull itself up by holding on to its spotlessly clean sides, wrap its arms around the water heater and be perfectly safe, thanks to the complete insulation and no-flame features of an electric water heater.

These same features make an electric water heater equally safe for you, too. There's no fear of gusty winds blowing out a flame—there's no flame. There's no waste heat, either, because only an electric water heater is completely insulated so that all the heat goes into the job to be done.

Reddy Kilowatt's special water heating rate makes electric water heating economical, too. For plenty of hot water always, safely, economically, see your electric appliance dealer now.

of the few areas in the entire world where sudan can be grown for seed as well as used for pasturing cattle. E. D. Chitwood who began raising it 20 years ago was one of the first in the area to realize the potentials of the crop.

Parmer County also boasts some 500 acres of land planted to hybrid corn, with A. L. Black having planted the largest acreage in the county.

Over near Black, K. W. Neil utilized some of his irrigated land for planting sugar beets.

Owner of the largest number of wells in the country is Lee H. Suddeth who has 24 wells, irrigating some 5,000 acres of land.

Wells, powered by natural gas diesel and butane fuel affect almost one-third of the land owners in the county.

Bill Kennedy, Work Unit Conservator for the S.C.S. says the best irrigation system in the area belongs to N. L. Tharp and is located two miles north of Farwell.

"It is good because it recognizes the importance of soil-moisture relationship; leaves no tail water because he runs his rows to prevent such waste; he makes use of concrete underground pipe which delivers water from the pump to the location for distribution. Thus he gets to the field with all the water he starts with," Kennedy pointed out.

Tharp started his project two years ago and now has five wells for 2,000 acres. Powered by butane and diesel, they range from 270 to 300 ft. depth.

Tharp is raising cotton, maize and sudan on his land, and his irrigated or permanent pasture supports black angus cattle.

"He uses all his land within its capabilities and leaves in native

HYDE FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hyde and son, Truell and wife, and Mr. Hyde's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Alair of Earth, Texas, left Saturday afternoon for Okemah, Oklahoma, where they attended a family reunion. Eight of the nine children were present, and 42 people attended the big dinner Sunday at it was spread under the large trees. The group attended church services in a body, with Sunday School being held in the yard at the home.

pasture land which is not suitable for cultivation," the soil conservation authority pointed out.

Although there is no doubt but what the recent drought has caused an increased interest in irrigation, farmers are also able to look at results in the field and know that irrigation helps them to raise better and larger crops.

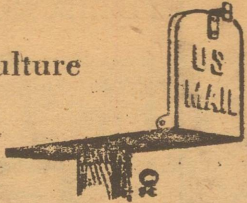

Experiments such as Tharp is conducting at his place may soon become standard farming procedure over the entire county, some prophesy.

EVERYONE BENEFITS

Naturally, when the farmer benefits, the business man and the professional men with whom he works benefit, too. As banker Frank Spring pointed out, "Irrigation has made a big difference in the stability of farming in this county."

With the irrigation underway in Parmer County, residents are petitioning the state to create a water district in this region. To carry out this plan, they will need the signature of fifty Parmer county land owners, but such a water district, if acknowledged, would guarantee the future safety of irrigation in the county, local authorities conclude.

FRIONA Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture NEWS LETTER
By J. Alan Romich, Mgr.

NOTE: This note was received airmail from Al Romich, Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture manager who this week is attending the Southwestern Institute for chamber of commerce managers in Dallas, Tex.

...owdy Neighbor:

Telgrams were sent to President Truman, Senator Johnson, Congressman Walter Rogers and the chairman of the national democratic committee urging the Pogu Bill be passed and signed by the President. This bill deals with the Mexican nationalists, enabling agreements for them to work in the cotton fields of the states. The president signed the bill. More than 250 are attending the institute here this week.

Wright Williams and your manager have been successful in securing some Mexican help to work in the cotton in Parmer County. If you are in need of help, get in touch with one of us.

The wheat crop really surprised us all; it came through much better than we expected.

Plans for the fair are going along at a good pace... there will be a meeting very shortly to formulate the plans and get started on making this a bang-up year for the Parmer County Fair.

Graef-Welch Vows Were Read in Olton; Couple to Live in Lazbuddie Community

Miss Reta Joye Graef, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Graef, became the bride of Mr. James Welch, son of Mrs. Ray Lawhon, in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, July 14th. The rites were read in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ in Olton.

Bro. Raymon Carson officiated before an altar decorated with an arch of greenery flanked by baskets of pink and white.

Candles were lighted by Clayton Ray Graef, brother of the bride and Janice Lawhon, sister of the groom.

Before the ceremony Miss Nealy Mace Steinbock played "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life", "Always" and "Indian Love Call". She also accompanied Miss Lou Ann Gee who sang "I Take Thee, Dear", "I Love You Truly" and "Bridal March".

Ushers were James Beavers and John Carson. Walter Baker served as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace over bridal satin ballerina length dress designed with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves coming to a point over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of seed pearl. She carried a white Bible topped with red roses and white satin streamers tied in love knots.

The maid of honor, Miss Charlene Graef, wore a ballerina length dress of green dotted swiss patterned after the bride's. The four bridesmaids, Miss Carol Ivy, Mrs. Levina Brown, Miss Paula Daniel and Miss Martha Blankenship wore identical dresses in pastel shades of dotted swiss.

The reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Carson, aunt and uncle of the bride. A pink and silver color scheme was used. The table was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake. Miss Charlene Graef presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Livian Brown served cake. Miss Martha Blankenship presided at the guest book.

For the wedding trip the bride chose a blue pique dress and white accessories. She wore a rose bud corsage.

After a short wedding trip to Ruidosa they will be at home in the Lazbuddie community where the groom has farming interests.

"THANK YOU" NOTE

Mrs. Bert Shackelford, who is confined to a Dallas hospital, has asked that her sincere appreciation be extended to the many friends who sent her cards and flowers last Sunday on the occasion of her birthday.

Bert spent Sunday with her and reported her as looking some better and being able to rest some in a wheel chair and also walking for short distances.

FRIONA

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Friona has always been a thriving town with a lot of intelligent people within its homes. But I am going to be inclined to change my decision if some people don't realize that what I have to say is of importance to us all. I speak not only for my own want but I speak for all the teenagers in Friona. You all of course wonder what a young boy is doing trying to tell a pack of perfectly mature intelligence what needs to be done.

You all wonder why there is so much meanness in our town. "Why" you all say are the teenagers loitering around town. The reason is as simple as boiling water. We don't have anything to occupy our time. What is the answer? The answer is that our town needs some recreation. Swimming or any other sort of recreational facilities.

In short I'm only saying for the rest of the kids that "We need some recreation."
