

Editorially Speaking

July 4th, 1951 . . . Independence Day

July 4th, Independence Day, presents opportunity to take stock of our nation . . . on this its birthday.

We have not decided just how this particular birthday should be considered: is it one of our first birthdays or one of the last? Though the United States is the youngest nation in the world, it also can be considered the oldest for today there exists no nation that has stood, without revolution, or loss of face, or radical change in government since 1776. We alone have gone forward with a singleness of purpose, carrying on the function of government as outlined by that famous 1776 document.

The only conclusion, then, is that we have something precious, something worth working for and honoring in our way of life, just as it was protected by our forefathers.

And it is only up to you and to me to see that no deviation is allowed from the constitutional rights and obligations; for it is in our power to determine if this birthday will be young in the nation's history, or whether it will be one of the last.

We offer no apologies for the warnings regarding the welfare of our nation; for we sincerely believe there is justification for alarm. Is it not deplorable, disgusting, and even dishonorable to fight wars on far-flung battlefronts, but sofly terming them skirmishes? Yes, the "Korean Skirmish" has cost us dearly.

Isn't it embarrassing for you and myself, as stockholders in this great nation, to be wholly ignorant of its foreign policy?

Is it befitting that we send government representatives to neighboring countries (Mexico in this instance) who have contributed to the vice, corruption and graft in our own municipalities. Yet this action has been condoned on the highest levels as proper!

Inefficiency, vacillating policies, absence of moral stability, all these are inroads within our nation that could well designate July 4th, 1951, as one of the last "Independence Days."

You ask what little people like you, myself, and our neighbors can do about preserving a great government? There's plenty, believe me. Did you ever wonder why all the big apples were on the top of the basket? It's because there are a lot of little ones holding them up. There's an intentional moral here.

The future . . . its up to us.

Muleshoe Editor Takes Off On Horse Meat

From The Muleshoe Journal
I wouldn't if I knew it, eat a piece of horse meat, no matter what. I believe I would starve first, but maybe not. To die of hunger must be pretty bad, but from where we sit right now, you wouldn't do it.
But an article by Tom Linder, commissioner of agriculture in Georgia says:
During World War II, when meat was rationed, there were those who went into the business and donkeys to sell to people to eat.
At that time there was no law on the book against the sale of horse meat for human consumption.
In 1943, the Legislature passed an act regulating the sale of horse meat and outlawing the sale of dog meat in the state.
After the War, when controls were taken off, we had no more trouble with horsemeat until recently. Now it is beginning to appear in places again. Very few people in Georgia will eat horse meat if they know it.
The world is hungry. I have before me the Chicago Daily Tribune dated June 11, 1951, which carries a long article on the disappearance of the horse from the farms in England. Some of the high points in this article show that 1949, 120,000 horses were slaughtered in Britain for human consumption and there has been an enormous increase since the International League for the Protection of Horses confirmed the increase. The royal Society for the Protection of Animals announced that at the present rate of consumption, there will be no horse left in Britain a decade or so from now.
We had better try to raise enough beef and pork and poultry for our tables and build up a horse and mule population to have on hand when gasoline gets scarce and the old tractors have to go in the shed.
We are a nation more dependent on oil wells and oil refineries than all the nations of the earth put together. We had better think on these things.

From The Canadian Record

It is just possible that General Douglas MacArthur is one of those rare birds in national politics . . . a completely honest man . . . and that he means exactly what he means when he repeats that he is not seeking nomination for President of the United States.

From our observation of the General over a period of years . . . close-range observation for more than two years of it . . . we are inclined to believe that what General MacArthur says is what General MacArthur means. We hope that is true in this case.

We believe that General MacArthur is a great man, a great general, and a fine administrator. We also believe that he would be a poor choice as president of the United States.

We do not question his honesty, his integrity, or his patriotism. We agree almost wholeheartedly with his political views.

But while the General's proven administrative ability (first in the Philippines, later in Japan) is hardly open to question, his experience in government has been almost entirely in the climate of an actual . . . though benevolent . . . dictatorship.

With all his fine qualities, the general is no diplomat. There is a world of difference between a Philippine Assembly or the Japanese Diet, and the United States Congress. The voice of command which worked wonders among the naive Filipinos and the conquered Japanese would bring chaos in Washington.

We would prefer to take the General's politics at face value . . . to believe that he is conducting a one-man crusade against the Truman administration because he sincerely feels, like many of his fellow Americans, that his country is gravely endangered by Administration policies, and not because he personally wants to succeed the man in the White House.

If his aim is to unseat the man who fired him, whether for personal or patriotic reasons, we enthusiastically join in cheering him on his way. Our enthusiasm, however, would be stretched beyond the breaking point if it came to the point of supporting Douglas MacArthur for President of the United States.

Are We Good Salesmen of Shares in Friona, Parmer County?

Upon recently being appointed president of the New York Stock Exchange, the former head of a Connecticut college stated after a query regarding his policies:

"I'll try to be a salesman of shares in America."

Now that brings up a very interesting and close-to-home point . . . how many of us are salesmen of shares in our country, our state, and particularly Parmer County and Friona?

I can think of some mighty good salesmen of shares in our community. First, there's the merchant who renders that "something plus" in his service. Only this week we noted a businessman who happened to be out of stock in a certain item, but he referred the customer to a friendly competitor down the street, thus rendering a welcome service, promoting better city-rural relationships, and making a friend of that other merchant.

Then there have been the numerous farmers who have contacted this editor, saying "Stay in here for better rural roads. That particular road north may not touch my property but sooner or later one will and we must start somewhere. I'll consider my neighbor now, for I will undoubtedly need his help or consideration later. But let's have roads to serve that great section to the north!"

We could cite instance after instance of similar acts of "salesmanship" for our community. What are you doing?

The trouble with great minds is they sometimes grate.

Rogers on Migrant Labor:

The people in the cotton producing sections of the 18th District will remember what happened during harvest season last year when the Labor Department refused to permit the children of migrant workers to help their parents in the fields. The rigid enforcement of this unfair law resulted in many of the counties having to put these people on their relief rolls, forced the children to be at large and roam the streets while their parents were at work, and created many hardships too numerous to mention, both on the workers and the people in the District. Several of us have introduced bills to cure this situation, but these bills are still in committee. In an effort to speed up this legislation I offered an amendment to the migrant labor law on Wednesday. I was joined in this amendment by Mr. George Mahon, Mr. Clark Fisher, and Mr. Omar Burleson. The amendment was knocked out on a point of order on the ground that it was not germane to the bill, since the bill had to do with imported labor from Mexico, while my amendment was for the purpose of helping citizens of this country. We are continuing the fight to correct this legislation and will not miss an opportunity to bring it up. I thought you folks would like to know what happened in the House of Representatives when this amendment came up and I show you the proceedings as they took place in the House and as printed in the Congressional Record.

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, Mr. Chairman, I want to urge the adoption of the Poage bill, as it is legislation that will be of great help to the farmers of this Nation. The amendment that I offer at this time is offered as a further aid to the farmers and an aid to migrant workers of this country, and for the purpose of correcting an injustice that is now present in existing laws. This injustice that I refer to was brought about by a Senate amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act in 1949. The wording of the amendment operated to prevent and prohibit the employment of the children of these migrant workers. The result is that the migrant workers who are following the harvest in order to earn a living cannot use their children to assist them. In many cases these workers have large families, that is, 9, 10, or 12 children. All of these children who are under 16 years of age cannot work in the harvest if school is in session in the district in which they desire to work. This creates a situation where the children of these migrant workers must be left to roam the streets or find something to do while their parents are working in the field. The law does not require them to attend school in those districts but prohibits them from working in those districts while school is in session. My amendment merely provides in effect that these children may work so long as they are not legally required to attend school. It does not in any manner permit anyone to engage in unfair child-labor practices nor condone sweatshop tactics. I would not under any circumstances acquiesce in unfair child-labor practices nor in existence of sweatshops. This amendment does not allow a child to do any work that he is not allowed to do under the present law. It merely clarifies ambiguous and misleading language now existing in the law that has created a serious problem and will continue to do so. The migrant worker with a large family who is not allowed to use his family while work is available is forced to appeal to the relief boards in order to provide a living for his family while he is working and following the harvest. This has resulted in a serious social problem, and unless this law is corrected it will operate to contribute to child delinquency and in many cases to crime. The reason that many of you are not familiar with the problems of which I speak is because the enforcement of this law began only last year and the full force of its bad effects will not be felt until the harvest season of this year.

"MR. MAHON, Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, I yield."

"MR. MAHON, I want to thank the gentleman from Texas and commend him for offering his amendment. It has been my pleasure to collaborate with him in drafting the amendment and in seeking support for it. I wish to urge that no point of order be made against it. It is not true that the amendment offered by the gentleman should be incorporated in this bill and, if it is held to be subject to a point of order, should it not be incorporated in a separate bill? With the farm-labor situation as it is, we need only the Poage bill as written but a provision in some form which would meet the situation described by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Rogers).

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, That is exactly right. The reason this amendment is now offered is that we are fast approaching the harvest season. People in the farming districts all over this country are going to feel the pressure of this matter this year more than they have ever felt it before. I urge the adoption of this amendment. Let us put it in this bill, so that the farmer can be helped in harvesting crops and in producing the agricultural products we so badly need."

"MR. FISHER, Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, I yield to the gentleman from Texas."

"MR. FISHER, The amendment offered by the gentleman is absolutely sound, whether it meets the parliamentary situation or not. The gentleman has a bill pending, and so do I and the gentleman who just spoke, Mr. Mahon, before the Committee on Education and Labor now on the same subject. As it now stands, a terrible injustice is being heaped upon the migrant workers themselves because they are not permitted to pursue their normal livelihood and accumulate money to buy food and clothing and so forth during the school year which follows immediately after the harvest. The gentleman is to be commended on bringing this up and for presenting the reasons for it. I am hopeful that we will have a hearing, if the amendment is not placed in the bill, and that legislation correcting this injustice can be brought in soon."

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, I thank the gentleman. There is one particular situation I have in mind, and I can bring you isolated cases by the dozen. A boy finished high school when he was 15 years old. Because he was under 16 he could not work in agriculture under the present law."

"MR. SHELLEY, Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, I yield."

to the gentleman from California.

"MR. SHELLEY, Does not the bill before us only contemplate the bringing in of male adult workers?"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, That is exactly true, but the people I am trying to help are not the children of the aliens but the children of the people that live in this country and have to make a living following the harvest."

"MR. SHELLEY, So in addition to bringing in these Mexicans under a wide open thing we want to take the American migrant workers and destroy all our child labor standards as applied to them."

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, You are not destroying any child labor standards. If the gentleman knew anything about the Fair Labor Standards Act, he would know that statement was not true."

"MR. CRAWFORD, Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, I yield."

"MR. CRAWFORD, As I understand the amendment, it does not interfere with any of the children attending school during the school term?"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, That is exactly right."

"THE CHAIRMAN, The time of the gentleman from Texas has expired."

"MR. CRAWFORD, Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman may proceed for two additional minutes."

"THE CHAIRMAN, Does the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Cooley) renew his point of order at this time?"

"MR. COOLEY, Mr. Chairman, I will withhold my point of order further."

"THE CHAIRMAN, Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?"

"(There was no objection.)"

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, Here is what happened: Under the previous provisions of section, I believe, 13 (c), of the Fair Standards Act, there was a provision that children could work in agriculture. It was not in those exact words, but it was to the effect that they could work in agriculture so long as they were not legally required to attend school. That was amended in 1949 by a Senate amendment, and the language was changed at the insistence of the Secretary of Labor. It read this way, that those children could not work in agriculture so long as school was in session in the district in which the employee was living at the time of employment. So the result is that you are not creating a new pool of child labor. The children are allowed to labor right now under those exemptions, but you are prohibiting a child who is legally out of school in one district to work and help in another district where school is in session."

"MR. CRAWFORD, The gentleman represents one of the great districts of Texas, does he not?"

"MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS, That is right."

"MR. CRAWFORD, A district where the children of families in that district attend universities and are college graduates and live on the ranches and on the wheat farms and grow cattle, and all of them, I would venture to say, in all of the families which the gentleman represents, who live on the farms, the children start work at anywhere from 5 to 7 years of age and work right on through? Is that not true?"

"MR. ROGERS OF TEXAS, Yes, sir, I did when I was that age. The situation under the present law is that a man who owns a farm and has four or five children can keep his own children out of school to harvest his own crop, but a man who is not fortunate enough to own land himself—

"MR. CRAWFORD, But who works in agriculture."

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, That is right—he cannot keep his own children out to work another man's harvest."

"MR. CRAWFORD, It is a case of destroying the child and destroying his future to live within the concepts of some crazy law that Congress has passed."

"MR. ROGERS of Texas, That is right. In many instances it seems to be the order of the day to use every available means to teach the child how not to work. This is not the kind of principle upon which this country was founded and it is not the kind of practice upon which this country will endure. I want to express my deep appreciation to my distinguished colleagues from Texas, Mr. George Mahon, Mr. Clark Fisher, and Mr. Omar Burleson, for their untiring efforts in seeking relief from the injustices of the present law, and I am sure they will join with me in the observation that our efforts will continue to remedy this situation should the point of order be sustained and this amendment not be made a part of this act. The outstanding work of these gentlemen toward a solution of this problem is well recognized by all the Members of this House."

"THE CHAIRMAN, The time of the gentleman from Texas has expired."

"It seems that dolls that cry 'mama' when you squeeze them have gone out of style. Night clubs nowadays remind us of the gay nineties. The women are gay, and the men are around ninety."

"The Cradle of Liberty"

Someone has, in speaking of the churches of our country, called them 'The Cradle of American Liberty'. And well may they be called that. As we read history, we find the Pilgrim Fathers . . . the Revolutionary Heroes . . . the Pioneers on the Prairie . . . centering their affairs around the House of God. They literally made living the words of the Psalmist when he said: "I was glad when they said unto me, 'Let us go into the house of the Lord' ". As we seek to build a better, more understanding civilization today, let us follow the example they set. Join your friends in the church of your choice.

Even the Post Office Money Order Has Undergone a Facelifting; Streamlined Postal Form Placed in Use Monday

Patrons of more than 42,000 Post Offices found the new and more convenient money order available Monday morning, July 2, 1951. Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson announced today.

Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the depositing or cashing of a check.

The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip and purchasers will fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past.

The regulation that money orders must be cashed at specific post offices has been eliminated. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a post office in another city an additional fee was charged.

The new system makes available to the Post Office Department the most advanced electronic business machines. One machine, the IBM Type 808 Proof Machine, has been especially developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantage of the modern proof machine in widespread use by banks and large department stores throughout the country. Another of the principal machines to be used with the new system is the Electronic Statistical Machine, work-horse of the 1950 Census tabulation.

The Postmaster General described the inauguration of the new money order system as the largest single accounting change ever made in postal history and said that the development comes after exhaustive study by the Post Office Department, the General Accounting Office, the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board.

The Department urges users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, spindled or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery.

Last year more than 300,000,000 money orders, totaling upward to five billion dollars were issued and paid by the Post Office Department.

The new money order system will be under the management and supervision of Assistant Postmaster General Osborne A. Pearson, who directs the Department's Bureau of Finance.

All new money orders will clear Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. The Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional Post Offices.

The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of the postal service, as well as to effect economy and better to serve the general public.
