Child poverty in Texas on the increase

By KATHY GILBERT
Staff Writer

Child poverty in Texas is higher than once thought, a new study shows. U.S. Census figures show that an estimated 1.5 million, or 28.6 percent, of Texas children lived in poverty in 1993, the latest year for which data is available.

Cuts in food stamps and welfare benefits threaten to make the numbers rise, Pam Hormuth, director of the Texas Kids Count Project conducted by the Center for Public Policy Priorities said Tuesday.

Howard County had a slightly higher child poverty rate than the state — about 28.4 percent.

Poverty rates are calculated by looking at the number of children in families whose income falls below levels set by the U.S. Census, Hormuth said.

A two-person household with one child hits the poverty line

HOWARD CO. CHILD STATISTICS

A sampling of Howard County children's health statistics released by the Texas Kids Count Project:

	1985	1994
Percentage low birth weight	8.4	6.1
Percent mothers receiving little or no prenatal care	N/A	7.6
Infant mortality rate (per 1,000 live births)	13.2	6.7
Child death rate ages 1-4 (per 100,000 children)	80.4	0.0
Percent of all birth to single teens	9.6	11.7
Teen violent death rate (per 100,000 teens)	111.8	42.6

when their income is at or below $9,960 dollars; a four-person household with two children meets the poverty requirements with an income at or below $14,654, according to Census Bureau documents.

In a review of other indicators of child well-being, the study also showed Howard County's number of low birthweight babies dropped by 27.4 percent between 1985 and 1994 while the state showed an increase of 2.9 percent. The number of Howard County mothers receiving little or no prenatal care was higher than the Texas figures — 7.6 percent vs. 5.9 percent.

Howard County's infant mortality rate dropped dramatically, the figures show. In 1985 13.2 infants died per 1,000; in 1994 the number was nearly halved to 6.7 per 1,000, a change of 49.2 percent.

The county's child death rate also dropped from 80.4 per 100,000 children to zero.

About 20 percent more unmarried teens gave birth in Howard County in 1994, than in 1985. However, the increase is due in part to changes in TDH policy, Hormuth said. In Texas, teenagers who could name the father on the child's birth certificate were counted as "married" prior to 1994, she explained. Now they have to

'Heroic' effort lands Liles Bee crown

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Forsan Junior High School student Kacy Liles became the second consecutive runner-up from the previous year to return the next year to capture the Howard County Spelling Bee title.

Liles, who finished second last year to Sarah Sanghavi of Runnels Junior High, correctly spelled "heroic" in the 25th round of competition to become the 1998 county Spelling Bee champion.

The difference between this year and last for Liles was more study.

"I studied a lot more this year, but I didn't think it would take 25 rounds to win," Liles said. "I worried at the beginning, but if I won it would be OK and if not, I knew I would do my best."

Liles said she thought words this year were a lot easier.

Parents Rick and Debbie Liles were also excited about Kacy being able to return and do so well.

"We're very proud of her," Debbie Liles said. "It's nice to be able to do this," Rick Liles added. "We want to give thanks to the Lord and say that Kacy worked really hard." Liles battled Goliad's Landon Jenkins and Runnels' Nathan Smith, also a participant last year, through the 17th round, when Jenkins misspelled "interference."

Liles and Smith traded words between the 18th and 23rd rounds, and in round 24, Smith stumbled on the word "pretzel" after Liles had correctly spelled her word.

The next round gave Liles the victory and the opportunity to compete at the Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock on March 28 and possibly win a trip to Washington, D.C. to compete in the finals of the 1998 Scripps Howard National Spelling Bee.

For her victory, Liles received a plaque, a first place ribbon and a dinner from Furr's Cafeteria.

Smith received a second place ribbon and a dinner from Mel's.

Jenkins was awarded the third place ribbon and a dinner from Albertos.

Each of the top three finishers also received a $50 savings bond. Participating banks included Norwest Bank, First bank of West Texas and Security State Bank.

The top finishers as well as all of the participants received other assorted prizes from Sonic, Subway Sandwiches, Pizza Inn and the Big Spring Herald.

Spelling bee coordinator Pat Williams considered the bee a huge success.

VLB taps Park to run vet's homes

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Late Tuesday evening the Texas Veterans Land Board (VLB) selected The Park Associates Inc. to design, build and operate veteran's homes planned for Big Spring, Bonham, Temple and Floresville.

Park Associates has 30 days to agree to contract details on the project with the VLB or the board can begin negotiations with other applicants.

VLB Spokesman Steve Speir said Park Associates will tour the four sites sometime in the next couple of weeks to determine where to begin building.

The architect for the project will be Dallas-based Rees Associates Inc., which specializes in planning and interiors and is nationally recognized as a leading healthcare and senior living planning and design firm.

In making the announcements late Tuesday, VLB

Local agency administers HUD properties

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Many people associated with Big Spring's Housing Assistance Payment Program (HAPP) are also familiar with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

HUD is a term used to describe units owned by a landlord, rented to families receiving assistance, funded by the federal agency and administered by Big Spring's HAPP.

"In the past, many of the regulations governing the partnership between the housing agency, the recipient family and the landlord had not been enforced," Big Spring Housing Director Mark Gentry said. "While most families receiving assistance are normal families, some families had not been appropriately screened for eligibility or for zero-tolerance police background checks and some recipients had been allowed to relocate to another unit subsidized by the program even after damaging a rental unit."

These few individuals in general, caused all program recipients to be known as HUD people and the substandard units they lived in to be called HUD homes, according to Gentry.

"Within the last year, more than 100 families have lost their housing assistance for cause and at least 50 homes have either been removed or not allowed on the program for being substandard," Gentry said. "These substandard units which the housing agency had improperly allowed a few unethical landlords to rent for the full Fair Market Rate (FMR) caused a number of families to accept the only housing made available to them."

It is bad landlords like these for which HUD Secretary Andrew Cuomo has pledged a partnership with the Department of Justice in order to crack down on their abuses, according to Gentry.

It is unfortunate that the HUD program has had a stigma of abuse, but it is one we have pledged to overcome," Gentry said. "It is for this reason that we ask that our program be known for what it is, and that being a rental assistance or housing assistance program."

It is a fact that an overwhelming majority of the families receiving assistance are hard working households who do reside in decent rentals provided by good landlords, according to Gentry.

"In a way, the housing agency now functions as a property manager to enforce the landlord's lease," Gentry said. "We Howard County 4-H members roped in more than $22,000 in the Houston and San Angelo Livestock Shows in the past two weeks.

"I'm very pleased with Howard County and the kids," said Assistant County Extension Agent-Agriculture Brandon McGinty. "Some may not have made the sale, but they were always there for Howard County."

Fifteen members competed at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo from Feb. 26 to March 6. Cade Bowlin placed 21st with a fine wool cross lamb, and Mandi Hanslik placed 12th with a medium wool lamb. Lauren Middleton, Luke Bowlin and Cassie Dargaard also exhibited lambs in preliminary contests held in Rosenberg.

Terrill Bibb took 5th place, Collin McMillan took 9th place, Mandi Hanslik took 10th place, and Trevor Bibb took 14th place in hog sales. Terrill Bibb and Morgan Kight showed hogs in preliminary competition in Brenham.

Kyle Kight's Charolais steer took 1st place, while John Purcell placed second with his Angus steer. Terrill Bibb's Brangus steer placed 8th and Natalie Nichols placed 10th with his Limousin steer. Megan Knight and Nick Bailey also exhibited their steers. Emily McCann placed 5th with her Brangus heifer.

"He was just a good steer," John Purcell said about "Gizmo," a lightweight Angus (1111 pounds) who brought in about $6400 at the show. Purcell, a Big Spring High School sophomore, said that after seven years, he was ready to call it quits. He was pleased with the win.

Howard County also had a strong presence in the San Angelo Livestock Show and Rodeo, held March 9-14. Exhibitors from the crossroads area included Meagan Kothmann, who showed two wether goats; Cade Bowlin, with two fine wool cross lambs and "This is a real effort from the community to support education in Big Spring," Williams added.

A total of 95 words were correctly spelled during Tuesday's competition, 25 by Liles.

Some of the words tripping up contestants during the competition included lamppost, gopher, stench, giraffe, mistletoe, harmless, impossible, steamroller and lightning.

Other competitors in the 1998 Howard County Spelling Bee included Michael Hall, representing Marcy Elementary; Amber Ritz, Elbow Elementary; Manuel Holguin, Coahoma Junior High; Tony Emerson, St. Mary's Episcopal School; Brian Thomas, Washington Elementary; Sohna Tubbs, Bauer Magnet Elementary; Katy Hunnicut, Moss Elementary; Tiffany Emerson, College Heights Elementary; and Jacob Nichols, Kentwood Elementary.

The bee was announced by Howard College's Dr. Mary Dudley and judges for the contest were Mark Odle, president of Norwest Bank; Terri Newton, executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce; and Frances Wheat, district director for State Sen. Robert Duncan's Big Spring office.

check off a box saying "married," to qualify. The numbers of single teens counted by TDH accordingly skyrocketed that year.

"We will probably need to work on this in Howard County," Dr. Miguel Escovedo of the Texas Department of Health, Region 9-10, said in reviewing the study.

"The challenge for Howard is how do we get the state health department to do more in Howard County?"

New programs in the area include a prenatal care and family planning education program at the Big Spring office of the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

"This is a terribly important topic and some interesting findings," Escovedo said about the study, "data like this motivates us even more to help in some way."

Howard County's has an advantage in having a direct clinical presence here, Escovedo said. "But we will need to work on some new programs in the areas of teen pregnancy awareness," he said.

Children are impacted more than adults by poverty, said Barbara Evans, community services director for the Texas Department of Human Services' (DHS) Regional Office in Abilene, "simply because they're at an age where they can't get a job or fend for themselves."

For every adult on welfare, there are an average of two children, she explained. DHS is attempting to combat the problems by promoting job training for the children's parents.

Other efforts include the 1996 state-mandated rule that welfare recipients must sign a "personal responsibility statement" to receive benefits. Some of the conditions include immunizations and school attendance, Evans said. "The state is saying 'if you can't work because you didn't get an education, don't do that to your children,'" she added.

Other findings of the study include:

• Texas ranks at the bottom in several key areas of child well-being. In 1994, Texas ranked among the 10 worst states in the rate of children in poverty (rank=41), teen birth rate (rank=48), and dropout rate (rank=47). Only Mississippi and the District of Columbia had higher teen birth rates and only West Virginia had a higher dropout rate than Texas.

• Between 1994 and 1996, improvements were seen statewide in the rate of teens arrested for violent crimes and the teen birth rates. However, the rate of low birthweight babies went up slightly between 1994 and 1996. (Rates by county are not yet available).

• Between 1985 and 1994 statewide:

• The infant mortality rate decreased. Infant mortality has improved from nine to seven deaths per 1,000 births. Texas' ranking among the states has improved from 19th in 1992 to 16th in 1994. In 1996, the infant mortality rate in Texas dropped even further to 6.3 per 1,000 live births.

• The child death rate decreased. The child death rate has gone down from 37 to 29 deaths per 100,000 1-14 year-olds. Homicide is the leading cause of death for children 1-14 and the second leading cause for youth 15-24.

• The teen violent death rate decreased. The rate dropped from 81 to 73 per 100,000 15-19 year-olds. Texas' rank improved from 36th in 1992 to 32 in 1994. In 1996, the rate again improved to 66.4 per 100,000 teens.

• The dropout rate decreased. According to the Texas Education Agency (TEA), estimated longitudinal dropout rates decreased from 34 percent in the 1987-88 school year to 10.3 percent in the 1994-5 school qualify the family for program eligibility but do not select the family. It is the landlord's responsibility to select the family and further screen them."

"We make available all the necessary information from the tenant's file and complete a police background check on all adult family members," Gentry added. "In order to select a good renter we recommend prior to accepting the prospective family that the family is home-visited at the current residence to verify acceptable environmental upkeep."

A good recommendation for anyone considering renting property on the open market is to inspect properties on a monthly basis for tenant upkeep.

In lease enforcement compliance, the housing agency does work in partnership with the landlord, according to Gentry.

"If the family does not maintain the property according to the lease agreement, it is in the best interest of the landlord and the housing authority that the family is evicted and/or terminated from receiving future assistance," Gentry said. "In resolvable disputes, the resident's continued housing assistance is leveraged and the full rental amount may become the family's responsibility until the conflict is resolved, damages repaired or there is acceptable reimbursement to the landlord."

The housing agency also is obligated to enforce its contract with the landlord, meaning that at all times the landlord is required to assure that a unit is decent, safe, sanitary and can pass a housing quality standards inspection.

"Another function of the housing agency is a federal requirement which necessitates that it function as a community agency and a synergist working in cooperation with other community improvement organizations," Gentry said. "This includes involvement in providing a better housing and living environment for families, eliminating substandard housing, community improvement, effecting code enforcement, encouraging home ownership, and uplifting and encouraging self-improvement through edu-

Chairman Garry Mauro said there were four excellent proposals but Park Associates was best able to meet the goals of the VLE.

"There is a pressing need among Texas veterans and their families for these facilities," Mauro said. "By allowing Park to design, build and manage our facilities, we can save time and construction costs and get the homes open and running as soon as possible."

In regard to time of construction, the homes are expected to be built pretty close together, according to Speir.

Park was selected after its bid proposal scored highest from a rating system that awarded points on criteria that included factors such as design, management and construction experience, the number of health/long-term care facilities previously constructed, the company's philosophy of patient care and their plans for protecting residents' rights and dignity.

The company, whose Park Associates Health Care Centers operate facilities in New York, Illinois, Indiana, and Texas, scored 898 out of a possible 1,000 points.

'Mini-bust' has oil officials antsy

ODESSA (AP) — That cheap gasoline Texas motorists are enjoying has the Texas oil industry nervous, but no one is ready to panic, oil industry officials say.

Although the 1986 oil bust is still fresh in their minds, West Texas oil industry people are hopeful it's just a speed-bump on the road to better prices and not something that will again derail the economy.

"Three months ago, things were as good as they could get," Kirk Edwards, president of Odessa Exploration, said Tuesday. "Nobody knows which way this thing will go or how long it will last."

The price of the benchmark West Texas Intermediate crude oil stood at $13.23 a barrel Tuesday, a five-cent drop from Monday, and the lowest price in almost a decade. On Monday the price tumbled 78 cents, about 5.5 percent.

Overall, oil prices have plummeted more than 40 percent since early last fall, when they were in the $23 range.

The low prices are being blamed on overproduction in countries like Venezuela and Saudi Arabia, which is selling off its oil to service its national debt. Overproduction, combined with an unstable Asian market and a mild winter, triggered the decline back in September.

Some crews in the service sector will likely be trimmed if the prices continue to drop, Edwards said. But so far there are no reports of massive layoffs, he noted.

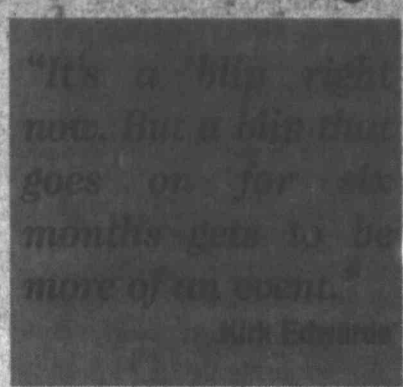

The natural gas industry is still thriving with prices 30 percent higher than at this time a year ago.

This means that companies with expanded portfolios can weather a "mini bust," Edwards said.

"It's a blip right now," Edwards said of the decline in oil prices. "But a blip that goes on for six months gets to be more of an event."

It's too early to predict the storm's effects, said Mark Tompkins, regional manager for Phillips Petroleum.

"It's going to cause everyone to really stand back and look at their plans," said Tompkins.

"There will probably be a slow-down."

The prognosis is better now, says economist Ray Perryman, who predicted the bust in the 1980s.

"I think (prices will) be this way for a year or so," Perryman said. "I see nothing approaching the situation (in the early 1980s)."

Summer tourism, stable world politics and a solid economy will nudge oil prices back up late this year, Perryman predicted.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is expected to meet in the next month, but Perryman is doubtful it will take action to boost prices, and he disputes the notion that import tariffs on oil from the Middle East would help stabilize domestic oil prices.

"Personally, I'm not in favor of doing anything that would artificially tamper with the market," Perryman told the Odessa American.

Local oilmen feel powerless because the factors driving the drop in price is beyond their control.

"There's not a thing we can do out here that will have an effect on oil prices," said Steve McCoy, manager of contracts and marketing at Patterson Drilling. "We're the whipping boy."

The full effect of the low prices will be felt in about two months, McCoy said.

But his company has already begun decreasing production, he said, noting that the company now has about 45 rigs operating at full capacity, compared with 69 rigs last fall.

"It's frustrating when a bottle of Evian water or a quart of milk costs more than a gallon of gasoline," McCoy said.

Dow sues Union Pacific for late deliveries

ANGLETON (AP) — Union Pacific Railroad's crippled freight network has landed the company in trouble with one of its biggest customers.

Dow Chemical Co., one of several companies complaining of a rapid decline in on-time rail deliveries since last year, has sued the railroad, alleging $25 million in damages.

The lawsuit was filed Tuesday in Angleton state court.

Midland, Mich.-based Dow also claims the railroad breached its contract by failing to provide reasonable service.

"The service disruptions have affected numerous of our product lines with our key industry segments," said Anne Ainsworth, Dow spokeswoman. "Our losses are continuing to mount."

She said some of the company's 115 manufacturing plants worldwide have been forced to close down for days at a time because of service delays.

The lawsuit alleges that "UP refused to acknowledge the nature and extent of its service problems."

"UP repeatedly represented that the rail crisis would soon be over," the lawsuit says, adding that "Only after months of deception has UP finally conceded that it does not know when the rail crisis will end."

John Bromley of Omaha, Neb., a spokesman for the railroad unit of Dallas-based Union Pacific Corp., said late Tuesday he had not seen the lawsuit and could not comment.

It's the second lawsuit alleging Union Pacific service delays. Entergy Corp. filed a similar lawsuit several months ago.

The railroad was also criticized Tuesday by the general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who accused the company of unsafe practices and threatened to call a strike.

Dennis Penning, who represents 1,100 Union-Pacific engineers, accused the railroad of rushing its implementation of directional running — scheduling trains in only one direction on specific tracks — last month by forcing engineers to operate over unfamiliar lines.

"We're an accident looking for a place to happen. They're violating our safety rights out in the field like you wouldn't believe to relieve their congestion," Penning told the Houston Chronicle from his St. Louis office. "I'm going to do whatever it takes to stop this."

SBC Communications to help launch women's museum

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Telephone giant SBC Communications Inc. is donating $10 million to help launch a national museum dedicated to the achievements of women.

An announcement of the donation was set for today in Washington, with first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton expected to attend, the San Antonio Express-News reported.

The $25 million project, named Women's Museum: An Institute for the Future, is to open in October 2000 in a restored and renovated 88-year-old building in Dallas' Fair Park.

The $10 million donation presented through the SBC Foundation, SBC's philanthropic arm, is the single largest donation ever made by the San Antonio-based company, the newspaper said.

"It is a literal dream come true," said Cathy Bonner, president of the Austin-based Foundation for Women's Resources, which is leading the project.

"It's a dream that wouldn't have come true without the courage of someone like (SBC chairman) Ed Whitacre. This has really raised the bar for corporate excellence in connection with women."

In a prepared statement, Whitacre said SBC's gift "supports the use of advanced technologies that will encourage women across generations, across cultures, across centuries to connect and share their ideas, experiences and dreams."

Half of SBC's customers are women, and its companies — Southwestern Bell, Pacific Bell, Nevada Bell and Cellular One — currently employ about 63,000 women, representing 54 percent of the total workforce.

Cassandra Carr, SBC's senior vice president for human resources and a member of the museum's national advisory panel, said the announcement is fitting for National Women's History Month.

"It's not just a museum of history, although that's very important."

"It's also something that's going to look forward and help women stretch their own boundaries," Ms. Carr said.

The SBC gift is a challenge grant meant to draw other private and corporate donations.

Dallas could kick in $1.5 million if its voters approve a bond proposal in May, leaving $3.5 million to be raised.

OUR VIEW

Twelve winners were on the stage

Forsan Junior High student Kacy Liles' "heroic" effort on Tuesday made her the 1998 Howard County Spelling Bee champion.

She correctly spelled the word "heroic" to win the bee, and is headed for the regional event in Lubbock. But she was far from the only hero on the Howard College Auditorium stage.

The other 11 students, all of them knowing there would be only one winner, are to be commended for their courage. They gave Liles and runner-up Nathan Smith, of Runnels Junior High, a run for their money. The concentration and intensity of the spellers made for an exciting "bee," that often left audience members on the edge of their seats. It was evident that everyone who entered had prepared very well — a tribute to the students and their parents.

Also deserving of a pat on the back are all of the local principals who took the time to see that their school participated. Several of them even came to cheer on their school champ — a show of support that we are sure the kids appreciated.

Our gratitude also goes out to spelling bee coordinator Pat Williams, whose hard work over several months made the event possible.

All in all, this was another successful Howard County Spelling Bee, and for that, many people can take credit. But to the students, who practiced long hours to be ready to face the judges and an audience, we want to say a special thanks for a job well done.

Howard County Spelling Bee participants included Michael Hall, Amber Ritz, Manuel Holguin, Tony Emerson, Brian Thomas, Sohna Tubbs, Katy Hunnicut, Landon Jenkins, Tiffany Emerson and Jacob Nichols.

Citizens get loans; foreign countries get gifts

As another reminder of the moral bankruptcy of the federal government, please note that federal aid to Americans struck by natural disasters is in the form of loans. Most foreign aid is a gift.

Charley Reese
Syndicated Columnist

If someone can think of any rational justification for this travesty, please let me know because I can't think of one.

Congress taxes Americans. When these taxpayers are wiped out by a tornado or flood, the politicians rush down to get their pictures taken and prove themselves to be great philanthropists. Don't worry, they say. Help is on the way.

Yes, it is. These wiped-out taxpayers now have the privilege of borrowing at interest their own money from their own government.

But when the lobbyists for foreign countries come around — and there seems to be more lobbyists for foreigners than for Americans — then Congress simply writes them a check. Hey, you don't have to pay it back. You don't even have to be grateful, Congress says.

Foreign aid is, of course, unconstitutional. There is no wording in the Constitution that even a shyster lawyer could construe as authorizing the federal government to tax Americans and give their money to foreign governments.

But if you still think we have a constitutional government in this country, you probably think Bill Clinton plans to take the vows and enter a monastery when he finishes his second term.

It's really the fault of Americans. Every year Congress quietly rolls through the foreign aid appropriation and authorization bills. A handful of good people in the House and fewer in the Senate vote against it. But the American people, year in and year out, chew their cud and roll their eyes or blandly accept the canned responses from the politicians.

The old mantras of "It's in our national interest" or "It's a matter of national security" are recited. Sometimes the apologists will say, "Well, they (the foreign governments) will spend most of it with us, anyway."

As Tonto once told the Lone Ranger, "What is this 'us' business, white man?"

I don't know about you, but I am not in the business of selling tanks, land mines, mortars, fighter bombers, missiles and other such goodies. I am not in the business of training foreign soldiers and secret police or of supplying dictators with advanced computers so they can better spy on their citizens.

But even if you are in those businesses, it is not the business of Congress to tax Americans in order to supply your customers with the funds to buy your weapons. If you can't find a dictator with his own money, tough beans.

However, as long as American citizens remain apathetic, they will never have a government that serves their interests. Many Americans seem to prefer socialism to liberty, but for even those, I have bad news. What you are getting is not socialism but a form of corporate fascism.

To put it in class terms, the game being played is "tax the middle class to fund welfare to keep the lower class quiet while providing the main benefits to the upper class." When the middle class finally shrinks to nothing, force will be substituted for welfare as the means of control.

I don't mean to sound gloomy, folks, but the awful truth is that if citizens don't control their government, the government will control them. Things will not "just work out." The tendency of all governments is to increase their power at the expense of liberty.

What the Revolution gave us was the opportunity to govern ourselves. But if we don't, then you can bet your bippy that other people will govern us to benefit themselves at our expense. Active citizen or victim — take your choice.

The man who put the kick in tabasco

Walter McIlhenny is the man who made tabasco sauce famous both in food and fashion. He was a crackerjack businessman, gourmet, wine connoisseur and host par excellence. He never married.

Tumbleweed Smith
Texana Columnist

He lived on Avery Island, a three-mile-long, two-mile-wide piece of land in Louisiana's bayou country 120 miles west of New Orleans. It is a subtropical paradise that has been in the McIlhenny family for generations. It is a wildlife preserve that features desert palms, magnificent cypress trees and gnarled oaks bearded with Spanish moss. Avery Island has about 350 residents, its own post office and school. It also has a salt mine.

Walter's family started making the tabasco sauce shortly after the civil war. His grandfather, Edmund McIlhenny planted some capsicum pepper seeds given to him by a friend passing through on his way to Mexico. He took the tiny red peppers from the plants and mixed them with Avery Island salt and vinegar. The result was a unique pepper sauce. McIlhenny poured it into small cologne bottles and called it Tabasco pepper sauce, from the name of the river and town in southern Mexico where it originated.

Walter learned how to shoot at an early age and in 1931 was named one of the best 100 shooters in the nation. He said that gave him confidence when World War Two came along. He was awarded the Navy Cross and Silver Star for gallantry on Guadalcanal. Walter took over the presidency of the company in 1949. Walter once served a meal in the salt mine. The tables and chairs were carved from rock salt and light was by candlelight. The men wore tuxedos and the ladies wore formals. He loved sharing his yacht, The Heron, with friends. Walter's love of food came naturally. His grandfather once enjoyed a meal at Arnaud's restaurant in New Orleans so much he wanted to start it all over again. So he did.

In the 50's Walter created a three ounce bottle of Tabasco pepper sauce to be sent to troops in Korea. He later enlisted a chef and a top flight mess sergeant to produce recipes with a basis in Creations for the fighting men in Viet Nam. He sent them cook books wrapped around a two ounce bottle of Tabasco sauce. Walter's rules for a perfect dinner: No more than eight people sharing one conversation. Plan well so the party will have an air of spontaneity. Light the room in such a way (candlelight is best) that even your plainest guest will look attractive. Avoid playing background music at full volume. Food is best displayed on a plain white linen tablecloth set with sparkling silverware and glassware. Serve coffee and dessert in another room.

Moving around will invigorate guests and the party will get a second wind. Make sure bouquets of flowers don't block the view of people at the table. Never discuss business at the dinner table. Guests should never be allowed to clean up afterward because it creates confusion. Wines should be selected with utmost care. Walter died in 1985 at the age of 74. People on Avery Island say he was the best example of a gentleman you'll find.

Paul Newman: The dream candidate

Paul Newman joked with a reporter that he wouldn't mind retiring in the Atlanta area. He'd race cars all day, he said, and run for New Gingrich's congressional seat.

That news set my own heart to racing. I hereby volunteer to be Newman's campaign manager. It would be pleasant duty and a cakewalk.

Every voter in her right mind would pull for Paul. Some might even move from other districts to have the chance to vote Newman, or to shake his hand.

Think of the campaign slogan possibilities: We Need a New Man in Washington! Newman, Not Newt! Paul's Easier on the Eyes. Make Love, Not War! Political consultants the world over would kill for a candidate such as Paul Newman. His looks are classic. His habits clean. His family credentials are sterling. His wife of 40 years, Joanne Woodward, is a Georgia native. Paul's had more opportunity to cat about than Hugh Hefner. Yet he's remained with Joanne,

Rheta Johnson
Syndicated Columnist

happy and housebroken, by all accounts.

Newt, on the other hand, must continually squirm under the hot lights his own party uses for morality interrogation purposes. And even Republicans have to admit you can't look at a bottle of Windex without thinking of Newt's glass house.

There'd be no contest between Newman and Newt in the family values department. William Bennett & Co. would be in a real dither redefining "virtues." The liberal movie star makes Mr. Conservative look like a lounge lizard.

Then there's the matter of who's done the most for humanity, Newman or Gingrich. On the one hand, you have Newt and his Contract With America. That seems to be Newt's proudest moment, standing on the Capitol steps with all the fresh-faced freshman lawmakers, promising to do some actual work.

On the other side, you have Mr. and Mrs. Newman's life-long service to humanitarian causes, beginning with being the first white Hollywood couple, way back in the 1950s, to become active in supporting civil rights.

And let's not forget to mention Newman's spaghetti sauce and salad dressing and the millions it's raised for charity. He never gives a penny of profit. (Which gives me the idea for yet another slogan: Vote Paul Newman! Not Just (window Dressing)!

Paul could challenge Newt to a debate; there would be such interest a network might carry it.

"I can eat 50 boiled eggs," Paul would say, lifting one perfect eyebrow. (Finally, a politician's promise that's specific.) How could Newt or anybody else top that?

Paul has had political experience, too. He played Earl Long in the 1989 movie "Blaze." That's enough to show you how not to act.

I wish Paul would move to my neighborhood and take on Bob Barr. Newt's so ambitious he'll take himself out of the congressional game sooner or later, anyhow. Paul could make mincemeat of Barr in about 30 seconds.

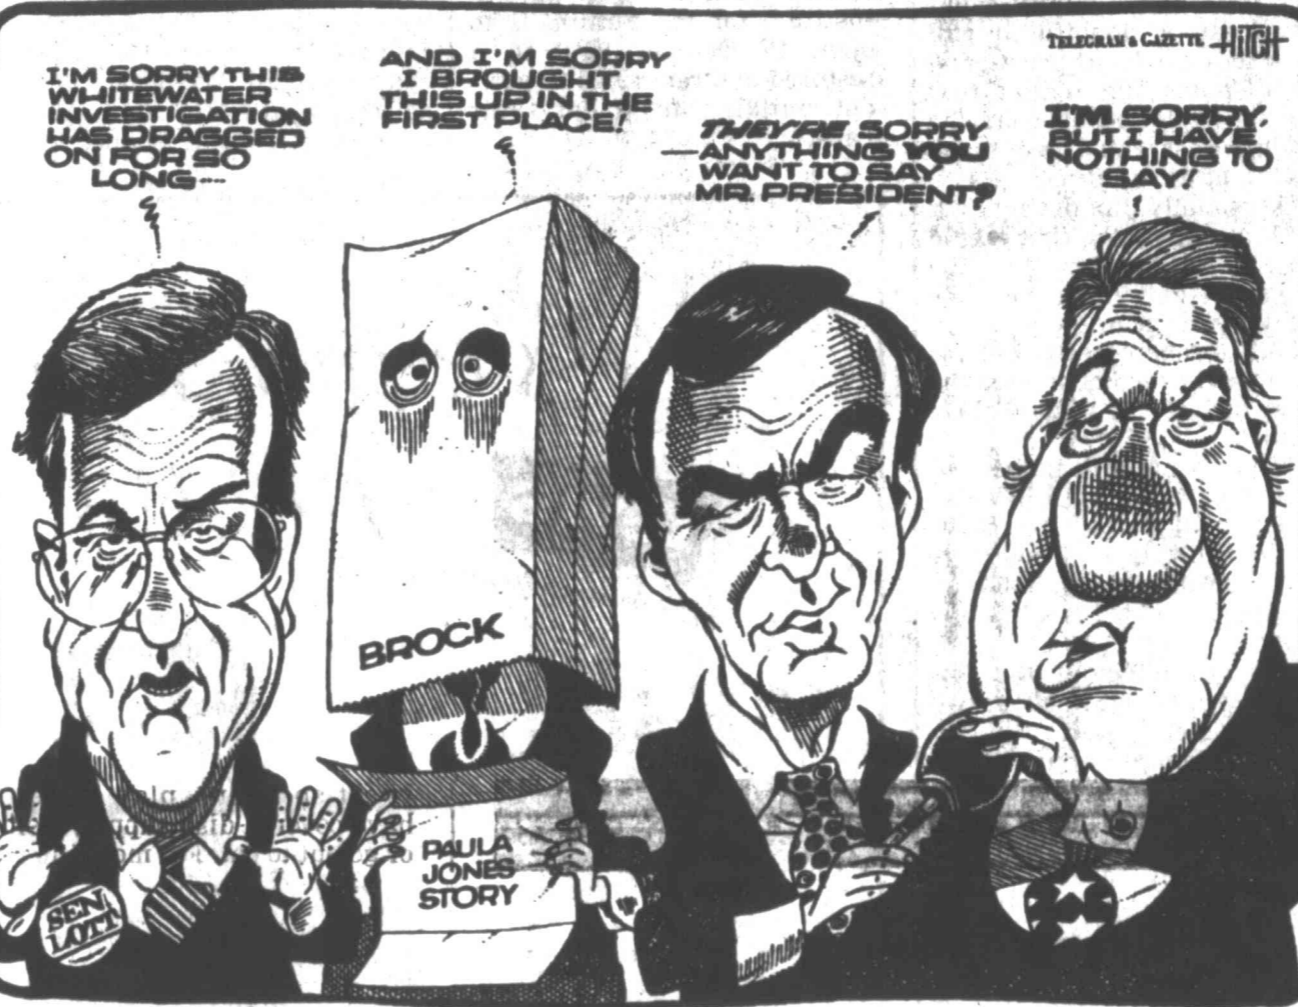

But there are dozens of conservative congressmen and only one Paul Newman. He can't whip them all. Or maybe he could. Why is he thinking so small?

It reminds me of that climactic scene in "The Verdict" when the jury asks whether it can award Newman's client more than she's asked for.

Paul Newman for President! Let's not pussyfoot around with this Candidate for the Ages. Why waste a good thing?

Can't you just see him on Inauguration Day, bare-headed and gorgeous, taking the oath? America the Beautiful!

Many women were positive influence on Avery's life, choices

EDITOR'S NOTE: This contribution from Johnnie Lou Avery is part of the Herald's observance of March as Women's History Month.

I have been shaped by strong women in my life from earliest influences — but I have also been shaped by strong men. I needed the balance from both sides as I strove to be tough, spunky, resourceful like those who mentored me.

My parents were poor and had little education, but they had pride and character, and non-judgmental love. I thrived in that atmosphere. Then, I was fortunate to have strong, demanding, exacting teachers, even though I was brought up in the era where females were subtly discouraged from math and sciences. I graduated from high school in 1956 and began working full time so I could go to college at night. It took a lot longer that way but I had encouragement all along the way.

In 1961, President Kennedy established the President's Commission on the Status of Women and appointed the former first lady Eleanor Roosevelt as its chairwoman. She was my hero! I watched closely what was happening with the new Commission and knew it would have an impact. The Roosevelt Commission, as it became known, provided the groundwork for the modern women's movement in America...some of the unexpected results included:

—the forming of Commissions on the Status of Women in every state;

—advocating equal pay for equal work that became law in 1963, with the Equal Pay Act;

—the passage of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act which forced changes in the way society treated women as earners and borrowers.

At one point, I thought I would have to drop out of college because finances were so short and that was in the days before financial aids offices. A miracle happened—the local BPW (Business/Professional Women's Club) gave me a scholarship that enabled me to stay in school and several of the Club members took me under their wing with needed encouragement and support.

My husband was my school mate and friend early on. He was the single strongest influence in my life, but after 32 years of marriage, he died of a terminal illness. It was during that difficult time that I was re-taught lessons of courage and faith and strength of character. Our daughter had the great fortune to be fathered by a strong, sensitive man. As I look back over my life, I can see how the landscape is dotted with those special people who touched my life and gave me confidence to be what I should be, not what someone else wanted of me.

One of my favorite memories is of a woman I met after she was 65 years old. She was one of the first people I met when we moved to Big Spring in 1965. At the time, our daughter was 18 months old. Joni and I went to the First Christian Church to meet the minister and tell him our family would be transferring our membership from the Abilene church the next Sunday.

Before I got to the church office, a white haired tornado came barreling down the hall. She was all business, shook hands with little Joni, introduced herself and then proceeded to tell me where the nursery, our Sunday School rooms, and everything else we needed to know. Then she took me to the minister. Over the years, I got to know this woman as one of the strongest I've ever known and one of the most interesting.

This woman was Margaret Barnett. When she was 84 years old, she was still volunteering at the VA hospital. When she was 82 years old she took a computer course and bought a computer for the express purpose of her genealogical research. She mastered it quickly. At 92 she fell. Please see WOMEN, page 6A.

Something for everyone

Ag Expo includes home design workshop, cooking demonstration

The Annual West Texas Ag Expo will be on Thursday at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, with exhibits open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The 27th Annual Ag Appreciation Luncheon, which honors farmers and ranchers and their families, will be from noon to 1:30 p.m. at the East Room.

The luncheon is free to all farming and ranching families; tickets are available at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office. A special highlight of the luncheon will be the announcement of the Ag Producer of the Year at 12:30 p.m.

Special interest programs will be conducted during the afternoon of the Ag Expo in the East Room of the Coliseum. From 2 to 2:45 p.m. Dr. Linda Burchfield, County Extension Agent in Crane County and Registered Interior Designer, will present a workshop entitled "What Does Your Home Say About You?"

She will include information related to styles of home decorating, colors and accessoriz-

ing. Come to this workshop to find out what colors are best and how to freshen your home for spring.

From 3:15-4 p.m. Amy Reagan and Kathy Butler will be on hand to demonstrate recipes from Kay Shaw's "All Occasion Cookbook."

Kay is a resident of Big Spring and her recipe book is full of her favorite recipes. Tasting will follow the cooking demonstration.

Other programs held in conjunction with the Ag Expo include:

- 9 a.m. to noon - Permian Basin Cotton Production Meeting
- Weevil Eradication - Does it Work?
- Facts of the Cotton Boll

Weevil on the Southern High Plains

- Cotton Marketing Update and Risk Management
- Cotton Production
- Laws and Regulations
- 2 to 2:30 p.m. - Early season evaluation and control for cotton

2:30 to 3 p.m. - Laws and regulations

3 to 4 p.m. - Sprayer calibration and reviews of spray equipment

CEU's will be available for participants in the Agricultural Sessions.

The West Texas Ag Expo features exhibits and displays of agricultural related equipment and business available in the Howard County area.

Admission is free and open to the public. Educational programs held in conjunction with the West Texas Ag Expo are sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Howard County and are also open to the public free of charge.

Don't miss the 1998 West Texas Ag Expo!

What is MVPS?

Extreme fatigue and a pounding heart are two of the most common symptoms of mitral valve prolapse syndrome (MVPS) says cardiologist Phillip C. Watkins, M.D., co-founder of the Mitral Valve Prolapse Center of Alabama in Birmingham.

Although MVPS affects up to 15 percent of the population, according to the American Heart Association the vast majority have very mild heart valve abnormalities that will never show up as symptoms or cause health problems.

The heart is a strong muscular pump divided into four chambers. The two upper chambers receive blood and send it into the lower chambers through issue flaps called valves. The purpose of these valves is to prevent backflow of the blood.

If the valve fails to close tightly, blood will leak backward. This leakage may be heard as an extra sound called a murmur - by a doctor while listening to the heart with a stethoscope. Many conditions that are not real abnormalities can cause an extra heart sound. This type is called a functional murmur. An abnormal sound caused by a structural change in the heart or vessels connected with the heart is called an organic murmur.

MVPS can also cause dizziness, fainting, shortness of breath, panic attacks, depression and gastrointestinal problems.

The mitral (bicuspid) valve is located between the left upper chamber and the left lower chamber - one of four sets of valves in the heart.

If the valve is severely damaged, it may have to be replaced surgically. But in most cases relief is obtained through a regimen of exercise, dietary adjustments and medication.

MVPS patients often have lower blood volume than other people because their bodies don't signal their brains when it's time to drink more liquids. Please see PRIME, page 6A.

100th birthday celebration

Vera Jane (Bugg) Davis Lee celebrated her 100th birthday March 9 at Stanton Care Center. Her daughter, Marilyn Taylor of Big Spring gave the cake for the party, which featured friends, family and members of her church as guests.

Other relatives who joined in the celebration included: her son, Joe E. Davis, Jr., of Marion, Ala., granddaughter Deana Deiler of Niceville, Fla., grandson Norris Lee Pennington of Marble Falls; great-grandson Robert Deiler of Niceville, Fla.; niece Dorothy Thomas and daughter-in-law Verna Davis, both of Big Spring.

Born in Sterling County to the pioneer family of James Henry and Susan Bugg, Mrs. Lee came with her husband, Joe E. Davis, Sr., to Big Spring in 1919. Her husband had lived to the age of 94. Mrs. Lee survived her seven brothers and sisters, including Almous H. Bugg, who was also a longtime resident of Big Spring. Mrs. Lee had moved to Stanton Care Center from Big Spring only a few years ago.

At the age of 70, she had taken up painting, and became a popular artist in Big Spring, selling many of her paintings. Mrs. Lee was also a long-time member of First Church of God in Big Spring.

ODDS-N-ENDS

HOUSTON (AP) — Kathleen Rohm spent a week holding a curbside vigil through sun, wind and rain, hoping someone would help find her missing dog.

It worked: Precious has come home.

The 4-year-old Shetland sheepdog disappeared March 5 from a friend's house. Ms. Rohm and her friend believe Precious scooted away through a hole in the fence.

Not content with merely posting fliers, she set up camp at an intersection near the house and stayed there six days and five nights.

Meanwhile, Sal and Fran Ferruzzo, who live two miles west of the intersection, found a dog that had been barking near their home for three days. Ferruzzo said the dog was lodged between two fences and was "ice cold and soaking wet."

He recognized the dog from a television news story and remembered driving by Ms. Rohm's vigil. He called Ms. Rohm, and an hour later Precious and her elated owner were reunited.

"It was incredible. She just dropped to her knees and the dog ran right up to her," Ferruzzo said.

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — There's no such thing as a free lunch — unless you're Stan Caspary.

Then, not only are there free lunches, but free cars, free trips and free cash.

Caspary, 62, enters contests for fun. And he wins.

Last week, he won a limited edition cobalt-blue Ford Thunderbird with a leather interior in a Valvoline motor oil contest that organizers told him had 700,000 entries.

He's not sure what to do with the car. It won't fit in his garage with the red Thunderbird he won in a 1994 Anheuser-Busch drawing.

"I'm just sort of amazed, I guess," Caspary said Monday. "The weird thing is, I never won anything until that first Thunderbird. And then it just hit — I just can't explain it."

Since then he's won trips to Australia, New York and Las Vegas; a $1,000 cash prize; and free lunch from a local diner.

WOMEN

She pretty much sums up the attitude of most of the tough, spunky women I've known and admired. Women who aren't afraid to try new things at any age, who have a certain zest for life, who march to the beat of their own drums but have a real sensitivity to the other marchers.

I've reached the age and stage where I can appreciate the interdependence of the generations and the passing of the torch from one to another. I remember in my young adult years, my contributions and leadership was active. I had to be leading the charge, out front doing things, making things happen. Then gradually, I began, almost without realizing it, deferring to the younger group. Now, I'm content to support, encourage, give guidance if asked, or do what I can best do without any remorse that someone else is leading the charge. From this vantage point I can see there is a need and a place for all three types of leadership because as leaders mature, other leaders must be trained and allowed to take their right place. The quality of my activities have changed, too. Where I once used my energies first for my family and my job and then for civic contributions, I now focus my time and efforts on the larger picture. There are two examples that point out this fact.

The first is a state aging study I've tackled which will ultimately result in a step-by-step plan for people to begin preparing for the aging process at age 30 or 35. That entails months of focused work.

The second, is serving as director of a bank board. When I was invited to join the First Bank of West Texas board of directors, I wondered what I could bring to that organization. I knew I would bring a different sensitivity (the only female view on the board). But, now I believe my greatest contribution has been a willingness to ask questions without fear of losing face.

I know I can't be responsible unless I understand what's going on. I do my homework, but if I still don't understand, I keep asking questions until I do.

One last example of those people who have influenced me is that of my daughter, Joni. She is in her early 30s, successful and a natural positive leader.

I'm learning new things from her everyday and loving every minute of it. The roles have reversed... the torch has passed... and change keeps coming.

The Master Creator of our universe has a plan and a harmony and when we understand that it is easier to live a fearless, serene, and confident life. And I thank Him everyday for those strong and wonderful people who have touched my life and shaped my attitudes.

The 'PC' of Barbie

By MARIANNE COSTANTINOU
San Francisco Examiner

BERKELEY, Calif. — Is nothing sacred?

Barbie — the dress-up doll, the cultural icon, the fantasy image of little girls and grown men — is being dissected, again.

It wasn't enough that a San Francisco store got worldwide publicity and made a small fortune two Christmases ago, selling such wacky, sicko, anti-Barbie makeovers as Trailer Trash Barbie and Drag Queen Barbie.

Now, the intellectuals and PC Police are weighing in, trashing the wildly popular, beloved toy that's not only been a fixture in girls' toy boxes since 1959, but has become a hot collectible among adults.

On Thursday, about two dozen UC-Berkeley students gathered for a seminar about Barbie and her impact on popular culture.

"It's actually kind of nauseating," said Alicia Brown, who teaches women's studies at San Francisco State University, summing up her lecture and slideshow presentation for the Berkeley Women's Resource Center as many in the audience furiously took notes.

To the naive eye, Barbie is merely a hard plastic, 12-inch doll with a build and wardrobe to die for. But to feminists, the blonde, blue-eyed classic is no innocent babe in toy land.

They see Barbie as a Eurocentric, sexist, classist, imperialist weapon of crass commercialism that has insulted women and ethnic groups with a homogenized and impossible to attain definition of feminine beauty.

Didja get that? And so it went Thursday. Then came the fun part. Several brought their own Barbies, remodeled for the liberated woman of the '90s.

There were the Lesbian Lover Barbies: a belly dancer with shoulder tattoo and supple belly, and her partner in a pink sheared hairdo.

There was GI Jane Barbie: a GI Joe doll in fuchsia evening gown and heels, illustrating that muscular can be feminine.

There was Pleasantly Plump Barbie, stylish in a blue lame jumpsuit, a homage to Everywoman with a healthy appetite.

Also, in deference to the audience, a bevy of Smart Barbies: college educated (of course), dolled up in the white smocks of scientists and doctors.

And, the sadistic hit: Wonderbra Barbie. This Barbie needed the padded brassiere because she was flat chested, courtesy of a power sander that made off with the doll's legendary bust.

"She has to wear a Wonderbra like the rest of us," said Tamara Keith, 18, a Berkeley junior, who said she recreated the doll in her own image.

Also like Keith, Wonderbra Barbie is on the short side. Keith chopped off two inches from the doll's legs.

Recasting Barbie in their own images was fun, but it made a point, said Brown. Women come in all shapes, sizes and colors. Barbie should, too.

Lady Steers open District 4-4A play with 10-0 route of Lake View

By JOHN A. MOSELEY
Sports Editor

Big Spring's Lady Steers opened District 4-4A softball play in impressive fashion Tuesday afternoon, demolishing San Angelo Lake View's Maidens with a 10-0 win in six innings.

The Lady Steers, perhaps smarting from a perceived slight during last weekend's Canyon Reef Classic tournament in Snyder in which they posted a 6-1 record and finished in fifth place, literally clubbed the Maidens into submission in the second inning when they sent 12 batters to the plate and grabbed a 9-0 lead.

They would close the game scoring one run with nobody out in the top of the sixth.

The win, which improves Big Spring's record to 17-4 overall, sets up an early showdown with Andrews' Lady Mustangs — the team they tied for the District 4-4A championship last season and an opponent that has beaten them twice in close tournament meetings this season.

While few could find fault in the manner in which the Lady Steers dispatched Lake View, Big Spring coach Wes Overton said he believes his team might not have played to its potential as a result of looking ahead to Friday's game with Andrews.

"Our plan has always been to take each game as it comes and to try and improve every time we walk onto the field," Overton explained. "But I think it would be pretty hard for our kids not to have been thinking a little about Andrews."

"It didn't have a negative effect on us today," he added, "but I think it kept us from being as dominant as we could have been."

If the Lady Steers are capable of being more dominant, Lake View can only thank the schedule makers for providing the distraction.

Big Spring was anything but distracted in the bottom of the second inning when they turned what some had expected to be a pitching duel between Lady Steers ace Jessica Sisneros and Lake View's Alicia Blair into nothing short of a nightmare for the Maidens' ace.

Lady Steers left fielder Sunni Smith led off the eight-hit romp that provided nine Big Spring runs with a single. First baseman Juanita Valdez added another single and designated hitter Angie Phillips loaded the bases when she reached base on an error.

Center fielder Mandi Lance singled to drive in the first Big Spring run and right fielder Jessica Canales added another single to plate Valdez.

Blair couldn't stop the bleeding and was now facing the top of the Lady Steers' order. Shortstop Monica Rubio ripped a double to drive in a pair of runs and second baseman Honey Belew singled to drive in another.

Additional singles by catcher Jessica Cobos and third baseman Melissa Martinez completed the hitting romp, but by the time the Maidens could get out of the inning, Belew, Cobos and Martinez had all scored to make it 9-0.

The Maidens managed to keep from suffering any more damage until the bottom of the sixth when the Lady Steers seemed to see an approaching thunderstorm from the west as a reason to end things early on the 10-run rule.

Martinez led off the Lady Steers' sixth with a single and moved to third when Lake View left fielder Beth Mooreland dropped a fly off the bat of Smith, who was able to reach second on the error.

Valdez slapped Blair's next offering to the plate right back at her and the Lake View pitcher, trying to keep Martinez at third, was unable to make a play.

That left the bases loaded for Phillips, who promptly singled to right for the game-ending 10th run.

Sisneros, who went the distance scattering eight hits and striking out five, improved her record to 11-1.

Lady Hawks rally for 69-66 win in opener

By JOHN H. WALKER
Managing Editor

SALINA, Kan. — Howard College's Lady Hawks (32-2) moved a step closer to the national championship here Tuesday afternoon with a 69-66 come-from-behind win over Walters State (Tenn.) College in the opening round of the National Junior College Athletic Association tournament.

Howard now faces Olney (Ill.) Central College at 8 tonight. Olney beat Coffeyville, Kan., 85-75 in the final game Tuesday night.

"They have a real good team," Howard Head Coach Matt Corkery said of Olney's Blue Knights, who improved to 33-1 with the win.

"They're a smart team," he said. "They don't make many mistakes and they're always looking for the open player."

Like Howard, Olney plays an up-tempo brand of basketball on offense and applies half-to-three-quarter court pressure on defense.

Like some of Howard's other wins this season, the victory over Walters State wasn't a work of art.

"It wasn't very pretty, but it was a win," acknowledged Corkery.

As late as with 12:35 to go in the game, Howard trailed by nine points, 60-41, after Walters State had gone on an 11-2 run fueled by three 3-pointers by Shalene Haire.

But after Haire hit her fifth trey of the half, Corkery called a full time out to make defensive adjustments.

When the Lady Hawks came back on the floor, gone was the zone defense that had left Haire wide open on the wing — replaced by Howard's pressure man-to-man defense with Jeanine Horton guarding Haire.

Haire never scored again.

"We didn't play with much intensity until we were down nine points," Corkery said. "I'm just happy we came back ... you shouldn't paint yourself into that type of corner because you may not always be able to get out of it."

Howard fans planning bus trip to Salina

Howard College fans are planning to charter a bus to travel to Salina if the Lady Hawks win tonight.

Reservations for the trip must be made by 6 p.m. today. The cost of the trip will depend on the number of people interested in riding.

The maximum number of seats available is 46.

For more information, contact Linda Conway by calling 264-5010.

On the floor after the timeout, Howard knocked four points off the spread in a hurry when Shawnta Johnson hit a jumper with 11:29 left followed by a Karlita Washington steal and coast-to-coast layup with 11:04 on the clock.

On the layup, Washington came down awkwardly and gave Howard fans a nervous moment or two as she lay on the floor. After a brief delay, she walked off with Head Trainer Everett Blackburn and Buffle Powell and soon returned to action.

Less than a minute after Washington's layup, Johnson hit another jumper to pull the Lady Hawks to within 60-47.

A Jennifer Vinum jumper brought them to within one with 9:35 left and a pair of Ricka McKee free throws put Howard on top, 51-50, with 9:04 left.

Johnson stretched the lead to three on a jumper following a five-second inbound violation by the Lady Senators, but a 3-pointer by Sumer Black put Walters State on top, 57-55.

Jovanae St. Cyr tied the game at 57-57 and Johnson gave Howard the lead following a McKee steal, but a quick 6-0 run by the Lady Senators put them up 62-61 with 3:44 left in the game.

On the ensuing trip up the court, however, Johnson got

Near upset of Trinity Valley, Wallace State win spotlighted in first round's other games

By JOHN H. WALKER
Managing Editor

SALINA, Kan. — There was one upset and very nearly another Tuesday as the first round of the 1998 NJCAA Women's National Tournament got off to a raucous start.

Wallace (Ala.) State came from 22 points down to beat Louisburg, N.C., in the tournament's second game. That upset followed a near upset in the tournament opener, as Westark (Ark.) pushed top-seeded Trinity (Texas) Valley to the precipice before falling 61-57.

In other first round games, Gulf Coast (Fla.) ripped Crowder (Mo.), 81-41; Western Nebraska trimmed Cincinnati (Ohio) State, 56-52 and Olney (Ill.) Central topped Coffeyville (Kan.), 85-75.

First round play resumed at noon today when Central Arizona played Northwest Mississippi. That game was followed at 2 p.m. with Ricks (Idaho) facing Iowa Western.

After playing to a 26-26 tie in the first half of the tournament opener, Trinity, now 32-0, started the second half on a 15-2 run, only to see Westark battle back to tie the game at 52-52 when Heather Ward hit a 3-pointer.

Trinity, rotating 6-7 post Rhonda Smith and 6-4 forwards Shantia Owens and Alicia Gasiorowska, failed to intimidate the Lions with their size. Instead, it was the play of 5-9 wing Yalika "Boo" Barnes that made the difference.

Barnes, from Montgomery, Ala., had 20 second half points and kept the Lady Lions off-balance on both ends of the court.

Barnes led all scorers for the Lady Cardinals with 24 points, 18 in the second half. Jamie McDonald added 12 for Trinity Valley.

Shinika Parks led Westark with 17 points, while Tari Cummings added 13.

The game was delayed 12 minutes in the first half when Westark's Cummings and Regina Koonce and Trinity's Diamond Jackson and Gasiorowska collided while going after a loose ball.

Both Cummings and Koonce suffered severe cuts to the head, while Jackson injured her right arm. Cummings and Jackson both returned, but Koonce changed to street clothes.

Game Two
Wallace, Ala. 76,
Louisburg, N.C. 74

In the first upset of the tournament, Wallace State's Lady Lions came from 22 points down to catch Louisburg's Hurricanes at the free throw line as the game wound down.

Louisburg looked as if it would run away with the game early on.

After a basket by Staci Elder tied the game at 24-24 for Wallace, Louisburg went on a 16-4 run over the final six minutes of the first half to lead 40-28.

Louisburg stretched its lead in the second half until Wallace State Coach Larry Slater called a timeout with 17:30 left and pulled his starting lineup.

Wallace's reserves cut a 24-point lead in half, 52-40, before Slater started re-inserting his starters.

Then, with a mixture of three starters and two subs, Wallace went on a 16-4 run that allowed them to take the lead for the first time in more than 20 minutes, 64-63, with 6:05 left in the game.

Wallace fell behind again, but used a tenacious defense to send Louisburg into the loser's bracket.

Wallace got 25 from Tart Blair and 24 from Staci Elder while Jackie Higgins led

Steers prepare for district opener with 8-2 victory over Greenwood

By JOHN A. MOSELEY
Sports Editor

Big Spring's Steers evened their record to the .500 mark Tuesday, pounding out an 8-2 win over Midland Greenwood's Rangers in a non-district baseball game.

The Steers would trail only momentarily in the game, but were clearly in control throughout the afternoon in improving to 7-7 overall.

"We played kind of like you'd script it on paper," Steers assistant coach Greg Winder said after having been thrust into the lead management role when head coach Bobby Doe was forced to stay in bed with the flu.

"We put the ball in play and made them field the ball ... sometimes they didn't and we took advantage of those opportunities. We hit the ball well and ran the bases well."

Greenwood drew first blood after the Steers had played air-tight defense behind starter Jeff Denton in the first two innings. The Rangers took a 1-0 lead in the top of the third when right fielder Leland Foster doubled to right center with one out.

Denton seemed as if he might get out of the jam when he struck out Rangers first baseman Luke Richards, but then issued a walk to shortstop Blayne Moody and gave up a 2-2 single to second baseman Gabriel Pallanez that plated Foster.

But the Steers immediately took control when first baseman Joe Owens led off the Big Spring third with a walk and moved to second when left fielder Eric Hansen reached base on an infield single.

Third baseman Aaron Boadle, who would later in the game turn in a number of impressive defensive plays, reached base on a fielder's choice when Rangers pitcher Frankie Keller fielded a bunt and threw out Owens at third.

That only served to delay the inevitable, as catcher Clayton Pate stepped to the plate and ripped a single to left that gave the Steers a 2-1 lead.

Pate was replaced on the base paths by courtesy runner Chris Olson who would move to second when Brock Gee managed another infield hit.

That's when the wheels seemed to fall off for Greenwood. After center fielder Marcus Hyatt managed to advance the runners by grounding back to the mound, second baseman Wes Mouton hit a slow roller to third.

Rangers third baseman Wes Smith, trying to make a play on the speedy Mouton, first bobbled the ball in trying to pick up the grounder, then threw wildly to first, allowing both Olson and Gee to score. It would be the first of sixth Greenwood errors that ruined any chance the Rangers had of keeping the Steers in check.

Denton, who went five innings in taking the win, ran into a little trouble of his own in the top of the fourth when the Rangers Steven McFarden led off and reached base on an error.

Teammate Wes Smith reached base on a fielder's choice play and moved to second when catcher Michael Ortiz grounded out to third.

Denton then walked Keller and designated hitter Monty Magee singled to left, scoring Smith.

The Steers managed to end the threat on the play, however, as James Clements took Hansen's throw from left and relayed it to Boadle in time to cut down Keller.

The Rangers would never threaten again, and the Steers would ice things away with three runs in the fifth and another in the sixth.

Pate, who finished the day 2-for-4 at the plate with a couple of RBIs, led off the Steers' fifth with a double. Successive one-out singles by Hyatt, Mouton and J.J. Aguirre, coupled with a Greenwood error, allowed Big Spring to make it 7-2.

By that time, James Darling had taken over in relief of Denton and allowed just one base runner in the two innings he worked.

The Steers' nine-hit attack was also paced by Mouton, who went 2-for-3, and Gee, who was 2-for-4 on the day.

The Steers will now take a break until 4 p.m. Tuesday when they open District 4-4A play at San Angelo Lake View.

Big Spring second baseman Wes Mouton prepares to make the throw to first in a bid for a double play after forcing out Greenwood's Steven McFarden (12) during the fourth inning Tuesday.

Bulls find there's no substitute for Jordan in 90-84 win over Pacers

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who needs reserves when you've got Michael Jordan?

The Chicago Bulls didn't get a single point, rebound or assist from a backup player Tuesday night, but it didn't matter.

Jordan scored 35 points, made a big steal with 29 seconds left and hit two clinching free throws as the Bulls beat the Indiana Pacers 90-84 in a showdown between Eastern powers.

The five Chicago subs contributed nothing except three turnovers and five fouls.

"I don't think I've ever seen that. ... There's a first time for everything," Jordan said. "They're laughing about it now. It's good, because they know the next game they can at least be better than this game."

Indiana's reserves outscored Chicago's subs 32-0, but the Bulls still increased their lead over the Pacers to 3 games in the Central Division.

All five Chicago starters played at least 39 minutes, and Dennis Rodman, who grabbed 19 rebounds, played the entire 48 minutes.

"Phil kind of stuck with the starting five," said Jordan, who rebounded from a subpar 17-point effort the previous night against New Jersey. "The bench didn't give us any input, but that won't happen too often."

Toni Kukoc and Ron Harper each scored 17 points for Chicago. Chris Mullin led Indiana with 18.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Denver 90, Washington 89; Atlanta 117, Toronto 105; New York 100, Philadelphia 96; Orlando 99, Vancouver 92; Dallas 99, Boston 93; Houston 96, Milwaukee 91; Phoenix 107, Sacramento 80; Cleveland 96, Portland 82; and Los Angeles Clippers 107, Golden State 102.

Nuggets 90, Wizards 89

Anthony Goldwire sank a 3-pointer with 7.2 seconds left as Denver rallied for their third victory in four games.

Denver (8-59) needs to win two games to avoid finishing with the worst record in NBA history, the 9-73 mark set 25 years ago by the Philadelphia 76ers.

LaPhonso Ellis scored 18 points for the Nuggets, now 2-32 on the road. Chris Webber led the Wizards with 26 points and 10 rebounds.

Hawks 117, Raptors 105

Mookie Blaylock had a triple-double and Tyrone Corbin led a 3-point barrage with 20 points as Atlanta won at Toronto.

The Hawks hit 13 of 27 shots from 3-point range to hand the Raptors their seventh defeat in eight games.

Blaylock finished with 11 rebounds, 12 assists and 10 points. Steve Smith scored 21 points for Atlanta, while Doug Christie led Toronto with 30.

Knicks 100, 76ers 96

Allan Houston scored 31 points, Larry Johnson had 26 and New York held off visiting Philadelphia after nearly blowing a 22-point lead.

The Knicks snapped a three-game losing streak and won for only the second time in their last eight games. They also snapped Philadelphia's three-game winning streak and prevented the 76ers from matching their longest victory streak of the season.

Allen Iverson scored 29 points for the Sixers.

Magic 99, Grizzlies 92

Nick Anderson had 21 points and 12 rebounds as the Magic spoiled Vancouver coach Brian Hill's return to Orlando.

Horace Grant added 15 points, and Bo Outlaw had 11 points and 11 rebounds for the Magic. Blue Edwards led the Grizzlies with 19 points.

In his first game in Orlando since he was fired by the Magic last year, Hill received a standing ovation from the crowd.

Suns 107, Kings 80

Antonio McDyess had 19 points and Rex Chapman scored 12 of his 17 in the third period as Phoenix won its fifth straight.

Cliff Robinson finished with 18 points for the Suns, who gave coach Danny Ainge a victory on his 39th birthday.

Sacramento, despite Mitch Richmond's 19 points, lost its fifth straight game and fell to 6-29 on the road. It was the Kings'

24th consecutive loss in Phoenix since January 1988.

Rockets 96, Bucks 91

Clyde Drexler wasn't distracted by his impending retirement, getting 15 points and nine assists as Houston beat Milwaukee.

During the game, sources told The Associated Press that Drexler will retire after this season to coach his alma mater, the University of Houston. Drexler is a 10-time All-Star who made the NBA's 50 greatest players list last year.

Elliot Perry and Armon Gilliam each scored 20 points for visiting Bucks. Matt Maloney scored 19 points for Houston, including 5-for-8 from 3-point range.

Mavericks 99, Celtics 93

Michael Finley scored four of his 16 points over the final 50 seconds as Dallas extended Boston's losing streak to five games.

Finley's 18-foot jumper with 46 seconds left gave Dallas the lead for good, 95-93, and he added two free throws down the stretch.

Rookie Chris Anstey scored a career-high 26 points for the Mavs. The visiting Celtics were led by Antoine Walker's 23 points.

Cavaliers 96, Blazers 82

Vitaly Potapenko tied his season high with 18 points as Cleveland snapped a six-game road losing streak.

Shawn Kemp and Brevin Knight each scored 20 for the Cavs. Arvydas Sabonis had 20 points and 10 rebounds for Portland, which went nearly nine minutes without a field goal during Cleveland's decisive surge in the fourth quarter.

Clippers 107, Warriors 102

Rodney Rogers scored 30 points, including a go-ahead 3-pointer with 20 seconds remaining, to give Los Angeles a victory at Golden State.

The Clippers (15-50) have won five straight over the Warriors.

Louisburg with 20.

Wallace improved to 27-3 with the win while Louisburg fell to 26-3.

Game Four

Gulf Coast, Fla. 81

Crowder, Mo. 41

This game was never close, as Gulf Coast's Commodores led 37-13 at the half and stretched that margin over the game's final 20 minutes.

Kaunda Williams led all scorers for Gulf Coast with 27 points while Sheree Hallmark added 11 and Qesha Burley 10.

Crowder got 13 from LaDonna
Martin.

Gulf Coast, which beat No. 2-ranked Central Florida in the Region VIII finals, improved to 27-2. Crowder, which came into the tournament with the worst record, drops to 21-13.

Game Five

Western Nebraska 56,

Cincinnati, Ohio 52

Western's Cougars got their first 30-win season in school history when Erica Scriven, celebrating her 19th birthday, made some clutch shots down the stretch.

Cincinnati's Surge, 29-3 after the loss, had taken a one-point lead late in the game when Scriven, a 5-9 wing from Sterling, Colo., started pushing the ball.

Scriven connected on Western's only 3-point shot of the game with less than two minutes left, then hit both ends of a one-and-one to put the Cougars on top for good.

Carrisa Johnson led Western with 16 points, while Ashley Strickland had 12. Lenora Combs led all scorers for Cincinnati with 19 points.

Game Six

Olney, Ill. 85,

Coffeyville, Kan. 75

Olney's Blue Knights improved to 33-1 after weathering a late charge by the Red Ravens, 29-6.

Olney led by as many as 17 points, 69-52, when Coffeyville began a methodical comeback.
Three 3-pointers by Coffeyville's Twania Bennett cut the margin to 11, 75-64.

Coffeyville, the host team because the tournament is being held at a site in Region
VI, continued to peck away, getting to within six, when Angie
Lackey hit from the paint.

Olney then took advantage of a Coffeyville timeout to make a defensive adjustment and stop the Red Ravens run.

Olney had four in double figures — Nicole McDaniel with 26,
Monica Bernat with 19,
Heather Bates with 12 and Summer Daum and Autumn
Alexander with 11 each.

SPORTS BRIEFS

From staff and wire reports

Coahoma T-ball, softball registration set

Coahoma T-ball and Division I-III softball registration will continue from 6 to 9 tonight at the ball park concession stand.

In addition, youngsters may sign up from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday prior to tryout sessions set for a 2 p.m.
start.

For more information, contact Troy Kerby by calling 394-4748.

Lady Steers Boosters meeting Thursday

The Big Spring Lady Steers Booster Club will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday at the Big Spring High School Athletic Training Center.

Anyone wanting to support the Lady Steers softball, track, volleyball and basketball teams, as well as the cheerleaders, trainers and managers, is urged to attend.

Members of the group will be making plans for concession stand operations and the upcoming Lady Steers Athletic Banquet.

For more information, call Kelly McBee at 393-5672 or Shirley Johnson at 267-1541.

Lady Mavs win Snyder track meet

Goliad's Lady Mavericks piled up 166 points to take the team championship at the Snyder
Middle School Track Meet.

The Lady Mavs got first-place finishes from Stormie Huff in the high jump, Rachelle Guinn in the 100 hurdles, Carl Wise in the 300 hurdles and Dana Lockhart in the 400 meters.

In addition, Latoshia Banks, Guinn, Huff and Lockhart teamed to finish first in the 400-meter relay.

Guinn was second in the triple jump, while Courtney Grock was third and Sterling Burchette was fourth. Brock was second in the high jump and Wise was third in the Long jump.

Amanda Chapman and Brittney Griffen finished third and fifth in the 100 hurdles, while Brock added a sixth in the 300 hurdles. Burchett and Banks were fourth and fifth in the 100 meters, while Yael Portocasero was third and Kassie Rubio was fifth in the 400.

Eve Tobar added a second place finish in the 1,600 meters, while Donna Payne was sixth.

The 800-meter and 1,600-meter relay teams finished third and second, respectively.

LADY HAWKS

two more of her team-leading 22 points to give the Lady Hawks a lead they would never relinquish.

A 6-0 run by the Lady Hawks staked them to a 67-62 lead and set up the win.

"Howard has a real good ball club," said Walters State Head Coach Dave Kragel. "I don't like to lose ... I hate to lose ... but we lost to a team that's a very good ball club."

As it has all year, Howard's bench played a major role in the game despite the fact the reserves scored just 14 points.

"They had to come in real early off the bench," Corkery said. "They did a good job ... in the backcourt, they made some things happen and they maintained the tempo we wanted."

Howard's defense stymied
Walters State All-American Joanie Mungro, who was held to just seven points — 10 below her season average.

"We had the ball in her hands

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 19:

Expect only the best this year, and you will be greeted by just that. Let go of conventional goals, and aim for heart-felt desires. You are likely to realize them when you least expect it. Your professional image is enhanced, though you could make an unexpected change in your field. Others find that you offer a lot. Your magnetism is unusually high. If you are single, a relationship comes out of a friendship, or both combine at once. If attached, your union expands and becomes much more of what you want. Late 1998 through 1999 is a prime time for you. SAGITTARIUS pushes you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Too many ideas are not a problem for you. Be realistic about how many projects you embark upon. Your energy level is high; you can accomplish nearly anything. But remember, there is always a tomorrow! Check out a challenging workshop. Tonight: Get concert tickets.**

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Close relating opens doors left and right. Excitement marks an opportunity that is simply too good to turn down. You are out and about, a force to be dealt with. A partner appreciates being your sidekick. Go to a friend's gathering. Tonight: Happy with your significant other.**

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Listen carefully to someone's feedback; it could be a real eye-opener. Let your need for experimentation lead you down a new path, both professionally and emotionally. You have many more options than you allow yourself to consider. Popularity peaks. Tonight: Embrace life.**

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Plunge into tasks, and don't let someone else's erratic behavior throw you. Take the high road; be open to change and greater possibilities. Explore all that could happen. Your high energy comes through at work. The boss is amazed. Tonight: Get a good night's sleep.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You are a live wire. Others love receiving your attention, and throw themselves into your space to get more. Your creativity comes out with finances. Discussions are active and allow new breakthroughs. Check out a possible trip. Energy crackles around you. Tonight: Shift into flirt mode.**

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Get into security-related issues. You are building a happier, better life. You operate well with a co-worker; plan to do more with this person. In a new project, make sure each of you is putting in equal effort. Use caution when dabbling with funds. Tonight: Put your feet up.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Your specialty is communications. A loved one surprises you with a confession. You are very touched, but it could affect your relationship in an unintended way. Excitement marks your attitude and interactions. Take time to do something you love. Tonight: Hang out with friends.**

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Finances are enhanced because of an unexpected windfall. Use your high vitality, and follow through on what matters to you. You are considering a work change that will permit more quality time at home. Priorities are important. Don't back down. Tonight: Play it low-key.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Your expressive personality melts another's resistance. Make the most of the magic. Do something you've always wanted to. Caring abounds because of your sunny attitude. A sudden change in a loved one's behavior illuminates you. Tonight: Content and comfy.**

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
There are times when it is best for you to step back. This is one of them! Unexpected financial developments could have your mind buzzing. Do not let another push you too hard over funds. Take your time making your own decisions. Tonight: Vanish mysteriously.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Your unexpected behavior provokes responses, as usual. Think about eliciting less anger and expressing more affection. Money seems to be coming to you from various sources. News comes forth that proves worthy of celebration. Tonight: You are full of powerful magic.**

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
You are dynamic and playful. Listen to a boss who has great moneymaking instincts. Intuition plays a role in what happens. Be willing to put in an extraordinary effort at work. Be available to pinch-hit if necessary. Don't let a secret out; keep it under your hat. Tonight: In the limelight.

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR OIL AND GAS WASTE DISPOSAL WELL PERMIT
HAT Oil & Gas, Inc. P.O. Box 280, Snyder, TX 79550 is applying to the Railroad Commission of Texas for a permit to dispose of produced salt water or other oil and gas waste by well injection into a porous formation not productive of oil or gas. The applicant proposes to dispose of oil and gas waste into the San Andros/Clearfork Formation, Hyden Lease, Well Number 1. The proposed disposal well is located 3 miles North of Luther in the Luther, East (Spraberry) Field, in Howard County. The waste water will be injected into strata in the subsurface depth interval from 2950 to 6000 feet.

LEGAL AUTHORITY: Chapter 27 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, Title 3 of the Texas Natural Resources Code, as amended, and the Statutory Rules of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas. Requests for a public hearing from persons who can show they are adversely affected, or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing, within fifteen days of publication, to the Environmental Services Section, Oil and Gas Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711 (Telephone 512/463-6792).

PUBLIC NOTICE
RESIDENTIAL HOME OWNERS' HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION
I. All residential homeowners who acquired their home in 1997, must file an exemption form with the Appraisal District to be granted the exemption for 1998, even if they purchased a home with a homestead exemption from the previous owner.

II. If neither spouse is receiving an over-65 exemption and either spouse turned 65 years of age during 1997, you can qualify for the over-65 exemption, BUT YOU MUST APPLY with the Appraisal District. A person over 65 years of age may transfer their homestead exemption when he moves to another homestead.

III. If neither spouse is receiving an exemption for FICA disability and either spouse became disabled before midnight January 1, 1998 you can qualify for a disabled homestead exemption BUT YOU MUST APPLY with the Appraisal District.

IV. All residential homeowners who received an exemption, homestead, over-65 or disabled, for 1997 the District will carry the exemption(s) forward without application. You need only apply if you fall in one of the above 3 categories.
