HEB offers shoppers chance to help West Texas Food Bank

HERALD Staff Report

HEB Grocery shoppers will get a chance to help the local food bank program at the check-out stand.

In a new state-wide "Check Out Hunger" program, HEB is providing $1 and $2 coupons for customers to select and hand to the cashier when they wish to make a donation. The program runs until April 30.

"HEB has had a relationship with the West Texas Food Bank for a long time," said Scott Edwards, director at the Big Spring store. "This is a way for us to invite our customers to participate in that."

Each donation will appear on the customer's receipt, along with their grocery items.

"That's the design of the program," Edwards said. "The customers can choose if they want to make the donation, and it's very easy to do so."

Eddie Garcia, coordinator of the HEB Food Bank Assistance Program, said the grocery company supports 18 food banks — 16 in Texas and two in Mexico.

"The 'Check Out Hunger' program is a different approach from HEB's usual method of supporting food banks, because we team up with our customers to address local hunger needs," Garcia said.

However, Big Spring residents may recall that the local grocery ran an identical program during the Christmas holidays, which was to benefit the Salvation Army. Edwards said as more people find out about the donation programs, he expects them to become more successful.

"I hope we can increase awareness of this program, and I expect then we will have more people donate to it," he said. "Of course, we want people to know that everything that is given here, stays here."

"We really have our customers to thank for the success of this program," said Garcia.

Christian retreat center hits funding snag

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

Construction on the first self-contained, 36,000-square-foot nondenominational Christian fellowship center in West Texas has slowed, as organizers confront a need for further funding.

"We still need to raise $300,000 to finish. If we had the funds, we would be finished in about two months, and opened. I believe we are about 70 percent complete now," said Joyce Wash, a member of the board of directors for the Christian Renewal Center.

And although the center is not complete, Wash said a Midland group has already reserved the center for next year.

The center, once completed, will have 40 two-person apartments with connecting restrooms for those individuals who attend a Christian weekend at the facility.

As many as 20 rooms were built in the new construction phase, while another 20 rooms have been created by remodeling the building, which was a night club.

The center will also be complete with a chapel, a conference room, a large gathering room that will seat more than 300 people, and a nursery and youth activity building, she said.

The chapel, which will feature 26-foot of stained glass ceiling, will be constructed as a second floor of the building.

"We gutted parts of the building down to the metal rafters, and then put it back together. We have redone all the electrical lines and plumbing and we're tying into city water and sewer," she said.

Each room will also feature reverse osmosis water for those attending, and 3,500 yards of carpet are yet to be installed.

Along with constructing the second-story chapel and towers, as well as the stair case to reach those areas, Wash said all that remains is the red Spanish tile facade, the landscaping in the garden area and the youth activity building.

"And the furnishings. We've got 82 beds to buy. I have truly been amazed at how quickly this has come together and at the low prices we have received for so much of the materials and labor," she said.

A wheelchair accessible room and bath has also been constructed, and the center has a fully functioning kitchen with a new buffet-type serving area.

Wash said the idea for a fellowship center came after she and her husband attended a Christian walk, which has become a popular method of renewing faith and dedication of purpose.

"Recently, in my opinion, there has been a big move for the body of Christ as a whole, and denominations have nothing to do with it," she said.

The idea for the center came as vision to them, she said, and her faith convinces her the project will be completed.

"We were graciously blessed by the Dora Roberts Foundation, and that has been the only pending grant we have received. This vision is real, and it's still there. I know God will finish this place, in His time," she said.

Renewal Center will offer site for spiritual renewal

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

The Christian Renewal Center being constructed on south US 87 will be a location for various groups of Christians to gather together for spiritual renewal.

"This will allow those who attend to shut the world out, and get away from the world, and to learn about God's unconditional love," said Joyce Wash, a member of the CRC board of directors.

Wash said a common name today for these type of three-day retreats is a "walk," and the CRC will provide a central location for as many as 80 pilgrims and teachers.

Other groups that might utilize the new facility are pastors who gather together for retreat and rejuvenation, as well as other Christian groups who chose the peace and seclusion offered by the center.

"We don't know now where this will lead," she said.

The CRC will be nondenominational, and open to any and all Christian-based fellowships, she said.

A non-profit corporation has been formed to handle the business end of the center, as well as to secure the federal documents need to obtain non-profit status.

Also, the board of directors are seeking grant monies which require the completed federal forms, she said.

"No one involved will ever profit (financially) from this. A company donated the land and the building, and if years down the road it might be sold, it is not to benefit the organizers," she said.

The CRC has a large gathering room in the main entrance of the facility that might be used for choir concerts and speakers or other evangelical work, she said.

Also, the center may be used on a daily or a weekly basis for other types of Christian fellowship, as determined by the CRC or by different representatives of organized Christians, she said.

"The Christian Renewal Center is being built for the sole purpose of bringing together all denominations in the Body of Christ in the hope that all believers can fully understand the unconditional love of our Lord," she said.

Council will consider Port-to-Plains coalition

By BILL McCLELLAN
News Editor

Big Spring City Council will consider joining the Port to Plains Coalition in a meeting set for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Howard County Commissioners Court has already signed off on the measure, which has also been endorsed by the Transportation Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the coalition is to establish a southwest to northwest international trade corridor from Denver through Amarillo, Lubbock and Big Spring and on to the U.S.-

Mexico border at Del Rio to promote economic development. Coalition cities and counties are being asked to fund an engineering study to consider the feasibility of a corridor and to help promote it.

The agreement calls for the City of Big Spring to pay $14,353.40 — its portion of the contract, based on population.

In other new business, the council will consider:

- Approval of a grant application in the amount of $783,906 for the West Texas Narcotics Enforcement Task Force;
- Appointment of auditors for the annual outside audit;
- An amendment which would make afternoon school zones be in effect from 2:45 until 4:30 instead of until 5 p.m.;

• Authorizing the city manager to execute amendments to the 1998 and 1999 solid waste grant contracts with the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission;

• A resolution to adopt a Big Spring master parks plan;

• A request for a temporary mobile home permit at 904 E. 13th St.;

• Designation of stop signs on Donley Street yielding to 14th.

Council members will also hear a report on Big Spring Day in Austin, scheduled for April 19, and discuss possible sale of Mount Olive Cemetery.

Under second reading, the council will consider a resolution designating school zone boundaries around the new junior high and the investment report for the end of January.

The meeting will open with a Census 2000 proclamation, followed by public hearings on the adoption of the master parks plan and on submission of grant application to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Development Program.

Also on the agenda is an executive session to consult with an attorney on matters involving litigation.

Rain

Areas north of Big Spring get up to an inch; Others remain dry as a bone

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

Howard County received varying amounts of rain Sunday, from no measurable precipitation south and west and up to three-tenths of an inch in northern portions of the county.

"We had between three-tenths and seven-tenths of an inch of rain," said Van Gaskins, who lives in Knott in northern Howard County.

"It was spotty, and while this is good, we still need a lot more. But this may keep the sand from blowing a little longer," he said.

Reports indicating Knott-area farmer Larry Shaw received an inch of rain were unconfirmed.

Records with the USDA Agricultural Research Station indicated Howard County received .03 inches of rain, or three one-hundredths. This brings the yearly total to .31 inches of rain.

Normal measurement of rainfall for this time of year is 1.41 inches of rain, leaving Howard County more than an inch short.

"We need three or four inches of rain, but it really depends on how it falls," Gaskins said.

"If it falls really fast, it sears the ground and runs off. Four inches of rain that falls fast might actually measure about three-quarters to an inch of rain. If it falls slower, it all soaks into the ground," he said.

Marilyn Skaggs at the Coop Gin in Ackerly, said their rain gauge recorded one-half inch of rain.

"It rained all day, and it is wonderful, but of course, it's not time to plant yet," Skaggs said.

Donnie Reid in Coahoma said measurable rainfall in the east part of the county was minimal, less than one-tenth of an inch.

"It was nice to see, but it was really light. This wind will have it all dried out by dinner, and then the dust will blow," Reid said.

Horace Tubb, who lives about five miles south of Big Spring, said there was no measurable rainfall there Sunday.

"I think we got a fog, but that didn't hurt my rain gauge any," he said.

And Gracie Hanson in Stanton said they experienced a "little shower Sunday, but not enough to amount to anything." Sunday's precipitation was the first measurable moisture since early January.

The last precipitation that created any ground moisture at all was the late December snowfall.

Prior to that, the last rain came on Halloween night — 137 days ago.

On Tuesday, area cotton producers will begin holding a series of meetings regarding the funding of a boll weevil eradication zone through acreage assessments.

The first meeting will be at noon Tuesday at the Ackerly Co-op Gin. Meetings will also be held next Monday at Grady High School and March 16 at Howard College.

Lady Steers provide surprise with Concho Belle finish

HERALD Staff Report

SAN ANGELO — Big Spring's Lady Steers track team turned in a surprisingly strong performance Saturday, finishing second in the team standings behind Amarillo Palo Duro at the Concho Belle Relays.

The Lady Steers piled up 148 points, to finish just 19 points off Palo Duro's 167-point total in the team standings, throwing somewhat of a shock at District 5-4A rival San Angelo Lake View's Maidens who finished third with 139 points.

Lake View entered their home meet with their eyes set on battling Palo Duro for the meet's team title, believing like many others that the Lady Steers — supposedly in the middle of a rebuilding year — wouldn't be a factor.

Big Spring's squad, however, sent a message that the District 5-4A meet later this year will be a melee.

While the Lady Steers didn't dominate with first-place finishes, the piled up the points with an extremely deep team that nickle-and-dimed the opposition.

In fact, Big Spring managed just three first-place finishes. Alexis Casillas chalked up the first of those in the field events, clearing the bar at 5 feet, 2 inches to win the high jump, while teammate Latrisha Rollins was fifth with a 4-8 jump.

Angelica Hinojos added the second top finish, motoring to a 12.5-second clocking in the 100 meters. She also played a part in the Lady Steers' win in the 400-meter relay, teaming with Chanta Farr, April McGee and Amanda Rubio to post a time of 50.7 seconds.

Big Spring's 800-meter and 1,600-meter relay teams also added valuable points, both of them crossing the finish line in third place.

Angela McGee, Rollins, Casillas and Kourtney Rushin teamed together to post a 1:53.8 in the 800-meter relay, while April McGee, Angela McGee, Rubio and Farr combined for a 4:23 in the 1,600 relay.

April McGee added fourth-place finishes in the triple jump and long jump, adding to the Lady Steers' total, while Rollins added a sixth-place point in the triple jump.

Leandra Williams and Karen Paradez chipped in third and fourth places in the shot put competition, Williams coming up with a 31-11 heave, while Paradez tossed the iron ball 30-1.

In the distance running events, Jennifer Tubbs led the way for Big Spring, finishing second in the 3,200 meters with a 14:01 clocking and was fourth in the 1,600 meters at 6:39. 0.

Ashley Larson added a second-place clocking in the 1,600 meters at 6:17.6 and was fifth in the 800 meters behind Rubio's 2:46.0 time that earned fourth place.

In addition to Tubbs' second-place finish in the 3,200, teammates Kate Leannah and Kasha Burton finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

Lisa Rocha added a third-place clocking of 17.1 seconds in the 100-meter hurdles and was fifth in the 300 hurdles with a 53.6. Nikki Daniels added a fifth in the 100 hurdles with a time of 17.7.

The remainder of Big Spring's points came in the 400 meters where Farr finished third at 63.6 seconds and Karen Martinez was fourth at 66.1.

In the meet's junior varsity division, Big Spring finished third with 73 points — trailing only Brownwood's young Lady Lions and Midland's Lady Dawg JV.

The Lady Steers JV was strongest in the weight events, Amber Mays taking a first-place finish in the discus, while Dena Cook and Latoya Banks were third and fourth.

That trio also finished strong in the shot, where Cook was first, Mays was third and Banks was fourth.

Paige King finished second in the triple jump and was fourth in the 200 meters. Teammate Nikki Leyva was sixth in the 200.

Kali Froneberger added a sixth-place point in the 100 hurdles, then teamed with King, Leyva and Shelby Tissue for a third place in the 400-meter relay. The same foursome finished sixth in the 800-meter relay.

The Lady Steers thinclads will take a break for competition, returning to action on March 20 when they travel to Sweetwater for the Lady Mustangs Relays.

The great 'Yankee Clipper' Joe DiMaggio dead at 84

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, the elegant Yankee Clipper whose 56-game hitting streak endures as one of the most remarkable records in baseball or any sport, died today, his lawyer said. He was 84.

"DiMaggio, the consummate gentleman on and off the field, fought his illness as hard as he played the game of baseball and with the same dignity, style and grace with which he lived his life," said Engelberg, DiMaggio's next-door neighbor in the Harbor Island community.

When DiMaggio left the hospital on Jan. 19, he was invited by New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner to throw out the ceremonial first ball at the Yankees' home opener April 9. After DiMaggio came home from the hospital, a sign was placed on his bed saying "April 9 Yankee Stadium or Bust."

The New York Yankees' center fielder roamed the basepaths for 13 years through 1951, missing three seasons to serve in World War II. During that time he played for 10 pennant winners and nine World Series champions, batted .325 and hit 361 home runs.

But more than anything it was The Streak, during the magical summer of '41, that riveted a country fresh from the Depression and elevated him from baseball star to national celebrity.

He ascended even higher atop the rank of popular culture in 1954 when he wed Marilyn Monroe, a storybook marriage that failed all too quickly and left him brokenhearted. For years after she died in 1962, DiMaggio sent roses for her grave but refused to talk about her.

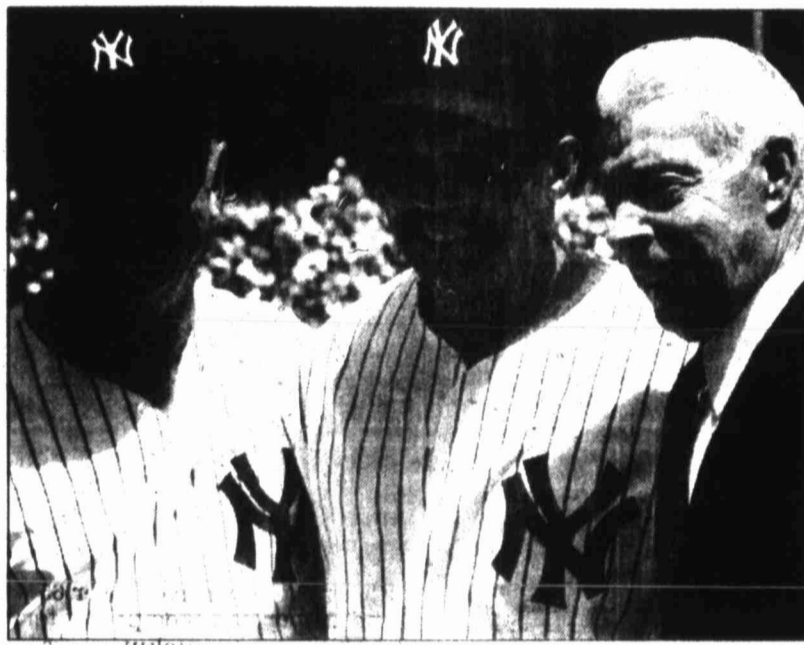

His swanky swing and classy countenance inspired wistful lines in literature and song, including Paul Simon's lament to lost heroes in "Mrs. Robinson" from the movie "The Graduate."

"Where have you gone Joe DiMaggio?"

"A nation turns its lonely eyes to you."

"What's that you say, Mrs. Robinson?"

Joe DiMaggio, shown here posing with the late Mickey Mantle and Reggie Jackson during a 1993 Old Timers Day program at Yankee Stadium, died today at the age of 84.

Indeed, but his legend stands — shoulder-to-shoulder with the likes of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and very few others who could measure up to them on the sports scene this century.

He batted .325 lifetime, with 361 home runs, won three American League Most Valuable Player awards, appeared in 11 All-Star games and entered the Hall of Fame in 1955. He played for 10 pennant winners and nine World Series champions. For half a century, he was introduced as "the greatest living player."

DiMaggio's exceptional numbers don't account fully for his almost legendary place on the American cultural landscape, the reason why Simon sang about him and Ernest Hemingway wrote about him. There was something about the courtly bearing of this son of Italian immigrants that made him special.

"I would like to take the great DiMaggio fishing," the ancient Cuban fisherman says in Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea." "They say his father was a fisherman. Maybe he was as poor as we are and would understand."

A handsome man of quiet strength DiMaggio embodied the kind of hero parents wanted their sons to emulate.

He had class, on and off the field.

Though unusually shy, DiMaggio also could come across as your friendly neighbor, as he did in his later years, touting the virtues of a savings bank and "Mr. Coffee" on television to a generation that never saw him play. In more recent years, he devoted himself to his grandchildren and, four great-grandchildren and, to raising money for the Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital in Hollywood, Fla.

He didn't seek the limelight, but lived his life slipping into and out of it, uncomfortable when it shined on him. The story goes that when Monroe squealed delightedly that she had been cheered by tens of thousands of troops in Korea, and told DiMaggio he couldn't imagine what that was like, he deadpanned, "Oh, yes, I can."

No ballplayer ever heard more cheers than DiMaggio did during The Streak. There was a song written about it, and crowds waited for him to come to town. In city after city, he kept The Streak alive, getting at least one hit in every game from May 15 until July 17 in Cleveland — 56 games. No one has come close since.

During an appearance in 1991, commemorating the 50th anniversary of The Streak, DiMaggio expressed surprise it was still a record.

Coronado takes title with second victory over Lady Steers

HERALD Staff Report

LUBBOCK — The road to the championship game of the Lubbock Invitational Softball Tournament proved to be too tough a hill to climb for Big Spring's Lady Steers on Saturday.

The Lady Steers, who were forced to battle their way through the loser's bracket after dropping a 4-2 decision to Lubbock Coronado in Friday's opener, had nothing left late Saturday when they again faced the Lady Mustangs in the title game.

The result was a 10-0 run rule championship win for Coronado, but Lady Steers coach Dan Arista had almost nothing but praise for his team.

"These girls are something else ... real competitors," Arista said after watching the Lady Steers succumb to fatigue, inclement weather and a talented Lady Mustangs lineup.

"It would have been real easy for this bunch to pack it all in after losing the way they did in that first game," he added, noting that a pair of unearned runs in the top of the seventh inning allowed Coronado to break open a 2-2 deadlock and send Big Spring into the loser's bracket.

"And as cold and windy as it was on Saturday, it took some character to play the way they did," Arista continued.

After giving up those crucial unearned runs in the first game, the Lady Steers rebounded with shutout wins over Frenship (10-0) and Borger (8-0), and opened Saturday's action with a 13-3 win over Lubbock Monterey.

That win over the Lady Plainsmen wasn't as easy as the final score might have appeared, however, as Monterey went into the fourth inning with a 3-0 lead.

But when the Lady Steers finally cranked up the offense, Monterey has not solution. First baseman Juanita Valdez sparked the Big Spring offensive explosion with a fifth inning home run.

Things got no easier. The Lady Steers battled their way to a 7-5 win over Lubbock High in a see-saw affair, then outscored Dumas 17-10 to earn a spot in the championship round.

"We just didn't have anything left," Arista said. "The conditions were terrible ... cold and windy ... and we'd had to play one game right after another. We never had more than 15 minutes between games."

While Arista continues to be concerned about the number of errors his team is committing, he couldn't help but be pleased when four Lady Steers were named to the all-tournament team.

Senior Jessica Canales and sophomore Kaci Aciri, who shared the pitching duties throughout the tournament, were also impressive at the plate, as was Valdez.

Canales led the way offensively with 12 hits, driving in four runs and finishing the tournament with a .429 average. Valdez had nine hits during the tourney, drove in nine runs and finished at .409. Aciri pounded out eight hits and drove in six runs, finishing with a .348 batting average.

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the tournament, however, was the performance of senior outfielder Renee Sheen, who joined the other three on the all-tournament team after finishing with eight hits, five RBIs and hitting .400 during the tournament.

While the varsity was playing in Lubbock, the Lady Steers junior varsity was playing host to Midland Greenwood and romping to a 15-5 win behind the pitching of Nicole Chesworth and Bridgett Cain.

Chesworth went four innings on the mound, allowing three Greenwood hits, while walking three and striking out four. Cain came on to pitch two innings of no-hit relief, allowing two walks and striking out four more.

Cain also led the way offensively, pounding out a double and a triple. Candice Cerda and Amber Viera finished with a single and double apiece, while Melissa Ray added a pair of singles.

The Lady Steers, now 13-4 on the season, will travel to Monahans on Tuesday. They'll take on the Lady Lobos at 5 p.m. with a junior varsity game scheduled to follow.

Steers make early exit at Levelland

HERALD Staff Report

Big Spring's Steers managed to score plenty of runs in Friday's opening round of the Levelland Invitational Baseball Tournament, but couldn't keep opponents from scoring a little more.

As a result, the Steers saw their record drop to 0-5 on the season and made an early exit from the tournament with a 13-12 loss to Seminole and a 9-8 loss to Amarillo River Road.

The Steers will try to chalk up their first wins of the season today as they travel to Midland for a 4 p.m. doubleheader with Midland Lee's Rebels at Christensen Stadium.

Steers pitcher Clint Bamert wound up being the hard-luck figure of the day Friday, as he entered the opener with Seminole as a seventh-inning reliever with Big Spring owning a 12-11 lead.

Unfortunately, he gave up a two-run homer that allowed Seminole to take the win.

The second game saw Steers coach Bobby Doe pencil in Bamert as his starter, only to have the junior give up six runs in 2 1/3 innings of work. Arthur Olague went the rest of the way, allowing two runs.

"We played decent," Doe noted. "We were able to hit the ball pretty well and didn't play too bad defensively. We just couldn't keep the ball in the park. That makes it pretty difficult to win when people are hitting that well against your pitchers."

In the Friday nightcap, Jason Choate, J.J. Aguirre, James Clements and Daniel Beauchamp all turned in 2-for-3 performances at the plate.

ABILENE — Injuries to key relay members Kyle Britton and Jimmy Hawkins ruined any chance Big Spring's Steers had at winning Abilene Wylie's Bulldog Relays on Saturday, as the host team piled up 120 points to win the team title.

The Steers, unable to enter either of the relay events, finished third with 69 points, one point behind Canyon's runner-up 70.

Not surprisingly, senior sprint star Tory Mitchell paced Big Spring's showing, winning the long jump with a 22-10 leap before winning the 100 meters with a 10.1-second clocking and then leading a one-two-three sweep in the 200 meters with a time of 20.44 seconds.

Doug White, who finished third in the long jump at 20-10, and won the 400 meters with a 50.6-second clocking, was second in the 200 at 22.7, while Jason Woodruff was third at 23.7.

The Steers also got field events points from Blair Nutting, who posted a 38-51/2 for fifth place in the triple jump; Jeremy Baeza, who's 40-0 in the shot put gave him sixth place; and Keith Newton, who was sixth in the discus.

Rolando Ledesma provided fourth-place finishes in both the 800 meters and the 1,600 meters. He was clocked at 2:06.0 in the 800 and 4:57.0 in the 1,600.

Arthur Gonzales rounded out Big Spring's point production with fifth place in the 300 hurdles at 42.1 seconds and was sixth in the 110-meter high hurdles at 16.0.

The Steers travel to Fort Worth for the O.D. Wyatt Relays.
