Through Tuesday, the Herald had received 58 entries for the parade according to entry coordinator Elizabeth Flores. Of the entries, more than three-fourths are lighted.

Although the official deadline to enter the parade was last Friday, late entries may still be turned in for review by the parade committee.

Entry forms are available at the front desk of the Herald and can either be faxed back to the Herald at 264-7205 or brought by the newspaper office at 710 Scurry. There is no entry fee.

And the competition looks fierce, with all four category champions from 1998 returning to defend their respective titles in lighted, school/church, commercial/manufacturing and civic categories.

Boy Scout Troop 25 from Sands Springs will attempt to become the first-ever entrant to win four straight titles in any category when it defends it title

Big Spring's High School and Jr. High Bands, plus the Forsan Band will perform in the parade. Also confirmed to participate in the parade are ZIT, the Texas Tech Drum Corps, Raider Red and the Texas Tech Masked Raider.

The parade will include many lighted floats this year, including first-time participants, such as McDonald's Restaurant.

"As the time for the parade nears, all of us at the Herald get excited. We expect this parade to be our best ever," said Herald Publisher Chuck Williams.

FBI makes arrest for phone threats of college women WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) -

A 21-year-old waiter was arrested by the FBI on charges he terrified scores of women at college campuses across the West by calling them and threatening to rape and kill them.

Sean Robert Francis of Middletown was charged with making more than 75 such calls since March. He was jailed without bail and could get five years in prison if convicted.

The arrest Monday calmed fears at the University of Nebraska, the University of Kansas, Montana State University, North Dakota State, the University of Oregon and Oregon State.

"The nature of his comments was extraordinarily upsetting," said Tiffany Arrington, a dorm director at the University of Kansas, where Francis allegedly made 14 calls in three hours. 'It was not the typical heavy breathing, 'What are you wearing?' It was, 'Here's what I'm going to do to you.""

Francis' lawyer, Paul Davison, had no comment.

University of Oregon police said some of the calls may have been prompted by a Playboy feature on "Women of the Pac-10." They said the caller apparently used student phone directories available on the Internet to look up names like those of

could have been any black person or any minority person. Prosecutors have not said whether they will seek the death penalty. The victim, 19-year-old Sasezley Richardson, was walking home from a shopping mall Wednesday, carrying diapers for his girlfriend's baby, when Witmer drove by and Powell shot him several times, investigators said.

The teen-ager was found bleeding on the side of a street, a bullet in his brain. He died Saturday.

The Elkhart Truth, quoting unidentified sources, said Powell was seeking admission to the Aryan Brotherhood, a prison gang. He reportedly wanted to earn a spider web tattoo for having killed a black person.

During the court hearing, the prosecutor did not address the reports of a gang inititation, and did not answer questions from reporters afterward.

When the two men were jailed, Witwer told officers he was affiliated with the Aryan Brotherhood, sheriff's Capt. John Perry said. Powell told officers he was sympathetic to their cause but not a member, Perry said.

Civil rights leaders in Elkhart called for calm Tuesday, and the NAACP planned a prayer vigil Thursday morning at the site of the shooting in the city of about 45,000 people, one fifth of them black.

Lynette Perry, a friend of the Powell family, said Powell never made racial comments and showed any interest in racist organizations.

"I know Jason didn't walk out of this house and go 'Let's go shoot a black person.' That's not Jason. There's got to be more to the story," she said.

Shooting of teen said to be racially motivated

GOSHEN, Ind. (AP) - Twowhite teen-agers were charged with murder Tuesday in what prosecutors said was a racially motivated drive-by shooting of a black teen-ager in Elkhart.

A newspaper reported that the victim was killed in an effort by one of the defendants to gain membership in a white supremacist organization.

At a court appearance Tuesday, a judge entered innocent pleas for the alleged gunman, Jason Powell, 19, and his friend, Alex Witmer, 18. Neither man had an attorney. In court papers, police said the two confessed.

"This is a particularly heinous crime," prosecutor Mike Christofeno said. "This victim was entirely random. It

'She's wore out," Dennis Davis, Jennifer's father, said today. "She's pretty exhausted right now and is just resting

Davis, 22, flew Tuesday from South America to Bush Intercontinental Airport in Houston, where she was reunited with her father.

"I can't believe it," she said upon seeing her father. "It is such a shock to see this and to be here, I'm completely on the edge of my nerves.'

The two traveled by plane to Indianapolis, where Davis' mother, Claire, was waiting for them.

"I'm just thankful she's home," Mrs. Davis told Champaign's WCIA-TV, with tears streaming down her face. Davis, an aspiring model, and her roommate, Krista Barnes, 21, of Redondo Beach, Calif., were jailed in September 1996 on charges they were paid

$5,000 to smuggle 8 pounds of cocaine out of Peru. The women confessed and were sentenced in March 1998, but their codefendants appealed. Because their cases were tied to those of their codefendants, they had to start the trial process all over again.

The two women were sentenced again this past spring, to six years in prison and a fine of $1,300. This time there was no appeal. Peruvian law requires that

University official: Safety regulations violated by bonfire builders

DALLAS (AP) - A Texas A&M official has confirmed that underclassmen were working high on the 40-foot log stack that collapsed last week, a breach of university guidelines.

Rusty Thompson, an administrator who previously served as an adviser in building the bonfire stack, said freshmen and sophomores were on the upper levels of the logs. That violates procedures set out in the 1994 'Bonfire Safety Handbook." However, Thompson said he felt comfortable with the safety measures that were in place before last week's collapse that killed 12 people and injured 27 others.

"I don't think the fact that there were freshmen or sophomores on the stack was the rea-son it fell," Thompson said in today's Dallas Morning News. "Something went wrong somewhere within that stack.'

About 70 people were stacking the wood tower for the annual bonfire before the university's football game against rival Texas when the pile gave way early Thursday.

Eleven A&M students and a recent graduate were killed. Most of the victims were freshmen and sophomores.

"I guess if the investigation were to show, just for example, that there was some real poor wiring on the logs, and then we were to say, 'Well maybe we had some people that weren't experienced enough up there, then yes," Thompson said.

"But we have to get those answers before we know what to change," he said.

Larry Grosse, a former A&M construction science professor who helped develop some of the safety guidelines, told Dallas-Fort Worth television station WFAA he thought the pile collapsed because of a failure to follow safety features.

"Sadly, there was not someone overseeing all of this to make sure it was being done," said Grosse, who is now at Colorado State University in public safety, health or welfare. Fort Collins.

Questions about design and oversight of the bonfire also have prompted the state's engineering board to examine Texas construction law to see whether it applies to A&M's 90-year-old tradition

MADD: Nation gets C-plus on drunken driving report

WASHINGTON (AP) Drunken driving could cause as many as 250 deaths and 13,000 injuries during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend. Mothers Against Drunk Driving estimated Tuesday.

The grim estimates were part of the national "Drunk Driving Report Card" released by the group, known as MADD.

The nation as a whole earned a grade of C-plus, up slightly from the C grade awarded in the group's 1996 report.

However, the House of Representatives got a D-minus for inaction, MADD said, criticizing lawmakers for failing to schedule a vote to set a national standard for blood alcohol levels at .08 percent for conviction of drunken driving.

In 1998, 15,935 people were killed and nearly 900,000 were injured in alcohol-related traffic crashes, according to MADD.

Department of Transportation figures reflect a 41 percent decline in deaths from drunken driving since 1982,

Individual states were also scrutinized, based on criteria that included law enforcement, criminal sanctions, political leadership, fatality trends and prevention programs. California received the high-

Three states- Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota — were at the bottom of the list with D-plus grades. Fatal crashes declined most companion study indicated the percentage of minority and women officers had more than doubled in 20 years.

The report also indicated that racial minorities in uniform remain more pessimistic than whites about their chances for advancement.

On a positive note, large majorities of all racial groups indicated that they had close personal friendships (84 percent) or socialized (85 percent) with people of other races.

More than half (52 percent) indicated they had more friends of another race now than they did before entering the military

The 296-page congressionally mandated survey was conducted in late 1996 and early 1997. It was mailed to 76,754 active duty enlisted Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and Coast Guard members and officers. 'More than 44,000 were returned.

Margaret Simms, research director of the Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies, a think tank that specializes in racial issues, said the survey undermines the notion of racial harmony that the military attempts to project.

"I'm sure that the disappoint ing thing for leaders in the military is the fact that there still remains some significant amount of at least perceived differences in terms of opportunity," she said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a diplomatic dispute over what was said on the EgyptAir Flight 990 cockpit voice tape, investigators can still point to hard evidence from the plane's other "black box" that a human hand caused the Oct. 31 crash.

It is that evidence, documented by the plane's flight data recorder, that allowed National Transportation Safety Board Chairman James Hall to make the unusually early pronouncement that the plane did not appear to have been brought down by a mechanical problem or bad weather.

The recorder, among the most advanced ever handled by the safety board, also does not support any theory of a bomb. Some Egyptian authorities suspect a bomb brought down the Signal Universal Flight Data York to Gairo flight Recorder aboard the EgyptAir

Among the evidence gleaned from the EgyptAir data recorder:

-The plane was in a level cruise both before and for eight seconds after the autopilot was switched off, indicating it was a normal flight until the nose was pushed downward.

-The plane's master warning alarm was not sounded until 14 seconds after the dive began, the same time the plane exceeded its maximum design speed of Mach 0.86.

The alarm is designed to sound for five reasons, including excessive speed and a cabin depressurization that would likely follow the explosion of a bomb.

While pilots are taught to dive to a lower altitude in the event toward the ocean - while the side linked to the captain's stick

-Twenty-eight seconds after the dive began, the plane's engine control switches were moved from "Run" to "Cutoff." Boeing designs the switches as 'lever locks," meaning they can be moved only if they are pulled outward at the same time they are lifted up or down. That prevents an accidental bump from shutting off fuel flow to the engines.

OUR VIEWS Solitaire coming is welcome news for Crossroads sually around this time of the year we are expressing our thanks for wonderful volunteers and the caring, thoughtful spirit the citizens of Howard County exhibit. It truly is a time to be thankful, and few communities are as generous as ours.

But there are other reasons to be thankful as well. and one of those is the welcome news that Solitaire Homes is coming to Big Spring. The builder and retailer of manufactured homes is purchasing the former Signal Homes property, as well as 11 acres to the north.

With employment opportunities for 200 people, plus the injection of an annual payroll of $7.5 million into the community, Solitaire will make a major impact in the local economy.

Likewise, Big Spring has the potential to strengthen Solitaire's position in the industry. No doubt, Solitaire officials readily embraced the fact that we have a trained workforce and a community that stands behind its businesses and its people.

Credit should go to Moore Development For Big Spring for quickly filling the void left by the closing of Signal Homes, which was a good neighbor for the city for a number of years. The hard work and long hours put in by the board, executive director and staff should not go unnoticed. We were pleased, too, that arrangements were worked out to ensure that Beacon Homes, which will be displaced by the sale of the property, will stay in Big Spring. They'll be moving out to an area at the airpark, near the interstate. The announcement of Solitaire coming to Big Spring is indeed something to be excited about, and gives us yet another special reason to be thankful. Welcome, Solitaire.

e first step to start real reform in government education is to repeal compulsoryattendance laws.

been useful in an agrarian society, in which parents CHARLEY used to work REESE their children on the farm. But in this urban society we have today, there is little danger that parents can persuade their children to work at anything. In fact, the purpose of repealing compulsory-attendance laws is to send a message to parents that public education will no longer be their free baby-sitting service; that public education instead is a benefit but a conditional benefit; and those conditions are that the parent or parents A. civilize their children before they show up for kindergarten and B. they support the child's teachers

Some children are fortunate to have good caregivers, but, sadly, many of them today do not. These poor parents (poor in the sense of sorry) need to be told loudly and clearly that if they send rude, out-of-control children to school, the school will send them right back home.

A teacher facing a classroom of 20 to 30 kids cannot possibly make up in 50 minutes what a parent has failed to do for the past five years. It is unjust both to the teacher and to those students ready to learn to turn loose in the classroom children who haven't been taught even the most basic things about manners and hygiene. Instead of holding teachers accountable for something they have no control over, the parents must be held accountable, and the way to do that is to saddle them with their own children until they prepare those children for

It's bad enough that the public system forces teachers to try to educate children whose IQ range may run from near genius to nearly retarded. Second, school districts must be granted sovereign immunity so they can not be threatened constantly with lawsuits. In the rare event that a teacher or administrator actually did injure a student, then the parents could petition the district board for compensation. But under no circumstances should individual public employees be subjected to the threat of lawsuits while doing their jobs. This suit-slinging is one of the most injurious things to happen to America. And if the public has to vote out of office every official with a law degree in order have political leaders with enough spine to reform this out-of-control legal-shakedown industry. then that's what we ought to do. Otherwise, most of our problems will remain insoluble.

Politicians are scapegoating teachers because those politicians are too gutless to address the real problems. Look at the poor school district in Decatur, Ill., now under siege by Jesse Jackson for expelling some hoodlums who rampaged through the stands at a football game, endangering the lives of innocent people.

And look how quickly the white politicians in Illinois cave in to Jackson. Jackson is a demagogue, a racist and an opportunist. He has no business injecting himself into a school disciplinary problem just to attract media attention to himself.

In addition to getting rid of the lawyers, we may have to get rid of the cowards who are so susceptible to cultural and racial intimidation that they are willing to sacrifice the interests of children just to avoid trouble with a professional trouble-creator.

Finally, we need to elect legislators who, at least, have sense enough to ask teachers what their problems and needs are before imposing some bluesky scheme on them dreamed up by a speechwriter or some grant-hog in a college of education.

TO THE EDITOR:

Dr. Guy Owen has some very good points in Life! in Thursday, Nov. 18, issue of the Herald. We all would prefer good health to what we (most of us) have now. We should not be so concerned about our diet, except, for the most part we do not have access to really quality fruits, vegetables and grains anymore.

We have moved into town, let our gardens go back to a weedy lot, cut down or ignored our fruit trees and insist on a quick and easy meal rather that watching what we eat.

Fruits and vegetables are now picked green and shipped in from thousands of miles, away, sit in a warehouse at grocery stores until their color is pretty, then put out of us to buy and consume. We need fruits and vegetables that have been fed solar energy and vine ripened to obtain those necessary nutrients. When in 1911, the miller of wheat found that he could process cereal grains so that the dirty looking brown husk was ejected and we were offered pure white flour, we lost most of our necessary B vitamins. In addition, we were deprived of the natural fiber necessary to keep our digestive tract clear for absorption of the foods we eat. This has opened the door for manufacturers of vitamins, minerals and food additives. Some of these are good, but our body will not digest a purified mineral. Only those in food form can be taken into our blood stream and deposited in our fat tissues for energy, bone and muscle development.

Diets are fine when we take into consideration just what our body needs. An Eskimo would not survive on a normal West Texas diet, nor would we survive on a diet of fat and blubber native to the Eskimo. In 1997, the American Heart Association reversed their earlier declaration that a high carbohydrate diet was absolutely necessary for a healthy heart. No eggs, no butter and hardly any protein were best. Now, they have reversed their diet to include more protein. Carbohydrates turn into sugar in our body, and too many carbohydrates are not good for us, more especially a diabetic.

We should be careful in selecting our vitamins and minerals also. Only food form based vitamins and minerals can be absorbed into our blood stream for absorption by muscle and bone structure. Heed Dr. Owen and exercise more. We have for the most part become couch potatoes. ROY SIMMONS BIG SPRING

"This is something families can really enjoy together," Pittman said. "On Sunday afternoon, that seems to be a good time for families to get together and do something fun."

Museum staff said they have already received several calls about the event, especially from adults asking if they can the attend. Pittman said it is aimed at all ages.

The houses can be eaten, since the "glue" that holds them together is icing, and all decorations are edible. Or they can just be taken home and enjoyed for the holidays.

Pittman said he will attend the session to serve as an adviser and instructor, but encourages people to design their own decorations.

Americans hit the road in record numbers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before and after the turkey, almost 20 million passengers will take to the skies this Thanksgiving week. Millions more will travel in cars and buses. Amtrak is scheduling more trains and making them longer for what normally is the busiest travel period of the year.

U.S. airlines are expecting a record 19.8 million passengers in the week and a half surrounding the holiday. That's 10 percent more than the 18 million who flew during the Thanksgiving holiday last year, said David Fuscus, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association, which represents major air carriers. "It's just going to be busy,"

Fuscus said. "The airlines gear up for it. People need to be patient." Bookings are up 2 percent to 3 percent at TWA, said Mark Abels, a spokesman for the St. Louis-based airline. On Wednesday, 40,000 passengers — 10,000 more than normal are to board TWA planes in St. Louis, the airline's hub, he said. "On Thursday, though, we have lots of seats," he said.

Syliva Harris, a 30-year-old legal receptionist from Virginia Beach, Va., said a fear of flyLike the skies and rails, highways are to be more congested than last year too.

out," Ms. Harris said during a layover at Union Station in Washington. "I thought I would leave early, but it was very crowded already."

Amtrak projects a 28 percent increase in ridership during the holiday week, said spokesman John Wolf. During a typical week, 410,000 travelers ride Amtrak trains. The number of train travelers during the Thanksgiving holiday will climb to 525,000, he said.

"Ridership on Wednesday will go up 94 percent from a normal Wednesday," Wolf said. To accommodate passengers, Amtrak will add 61 trains to its scheduled departures in the Northeast and the Pacific Northwest. Together with additional passenger coaches added to trains in the Midwest, Amtrak will offer 46,000 more seats than normal nationwide, Wolf said.

Erica Stocker, a 21-year-old college senior studying at American University, hoped to beat the travel crunch by leaving Monday for Philadelphia, where her father planned to pick her up for a 45-minute ride home to Egg Harbor, N.J. "I managed to get out of all my classes, so I thought I'd get an early start," she said as she waited for her train at Union Station.

Like the skies and rails, highways are to be more congested than last year too.

The American Automobile Association says 33.8 million Americans are to travel 100 miles or more during the holiday weekend, up from 33.6 million travelers last year. Nearly 28 million will be driving.

Others will board the bus. The Dallas-based Greyhound Lines Inc. says it had more than 500,000 bus passengers during the six-day Thanksgiving holiday last year. At least that many holiday travelers are to board Greyhound buses this year, said spokesman Kristin Parsley.

LAMESA — After senior standout Lance Brock took a charge with 1:03 remaining and the Steers trailing by just one point, 47-46, it appeared as if Big Spring was in mid-season form and ready to take a come-from-behind win against Lamesa.

But after Big Spring turned the ball over three times in the final 49 seconds, any chance of catching the Golden Tornadoes evaporated, as the Steers dropped a 51-46 loss in non-district basketball action Tuesday.

Big Spring led 15-11 after the first quarter, but had a poor offensive output in the second quarter - getting outscored 17-8 as the Golden Tors took a 28-23 halftime lead.

"Our offensive skills aren't where they need to be right now," Avery noted. "We have several new faces running our offense and I think it's going to take time to gel and feel comfortable with each other. At times, we look really good, and then we have a quarter like we had in the second period."

"We shot 34 percent from the field and 38 percent from the free throw line, though," he noted. "I feel confident that we'll get better. It's just taking a little bit longer than we want. I know the kids are frustrated, but if they're patient, it will come together."

Chemistry and confidence. That's what Big Spring's Lady Steers displayed Tuesday night as they took a 50-36 nondistrict basketball win over Midland Greenwood's Rangerettes.

More importantly, that was exactly what Big Spring head coach Kathy Loter has been seeking from her very young team.

Oddly enough, the best chemistry Tuesday came from a lineup dominated by underclassmen

In fact, the Lady Steers took charge in the second quarter outscoring the Rangerettes 17-10 - with a junior, one freshman and three sophomores on the floor.

While the Lady Steers game plan was clearly to pound the ball inside to the posts, sophomore Meghan Pudliner and freshman Christina Gwyn came up empty in the first quarter, and both finished the evening with just four points.

Despite their lack of offensive production, Pudliner and Gwyn played havoc with the Rangerettes' plans. shutting down Greenwood's inside game offensively and dominating the boards on both ends of the court.

Luckily, the Lady Steers had an ace in the hole - junior point guard Melissa Forth, who scored all of Big Spring's points in the first quarter, staking the home team to a slim 7-5 lead after eight minutes of play.

Then Big Spring unveiled its best kept secret — that sophomore guard Brittany Bryant can be deadly from three-point range.

But it was clear that Loter is expecting the Lady Steers to continue the trend of scoring from outside.

'That's going to be a huge key for us ... especially for our posts," she explained. "Once we get to where we're consistently scoring from outside, it'll open things up for our post players."

The Lady Steers' 17-point second period allowed them to take a 24-15 lead into the halftime intermission, and in the second half, guard Angela McGee began to heat up a little, as well.

As a result, the Lady Steers were able to maintain their advantage in the third quarter and entered the final period with an 11-point lead at 36-25.

And when the Rangerettes tried to make a late charge in the final eight minutes, McGee scored Big Spring's final six points to finish the night with 10 points.

With her trio of three-pointers, Bryant paced the Lady Steers production with 17 points and Ford joined her and McGee in double figures with a 13-point showing.

Garden City, Forsan manage varsity split; Lady Buffs win 7 13 6 16 - 42 HERALD Staff Reports GARDEN CITY - Garden City's Lady Bearkats improved their record to 4-0 Tuesday with a 48-42 win over Forsan's Queens, but the visiting Buffaloes made sure there would be no sweep as they took a 55-44 win in the boys' varsity nightcap in non-district basketball action.

The Lady Bearkats kept their record unblemished behind the game-high 17point performance of Kyndra Batla and M'Lynn Niehues' 15-point showing.

While none of the Queens managed to reach double figures, Callie Burt's eightpoint showing being the best Forsan could muster, they surprised the Lady Bearkats with a man-to-man defensive scheme that took Garden City most of the first half to get accustomed to.

"That really surprised us," first-year Lady Bearkats head coach Mike Wallace said following the game. "We hadn't expected them to man up on us, but they did. I guess they figured we wouldn't be able to handle the pressure, and we really didn't there in the first half."

In the evening's final game, however, the Buffs rallied from a 31-25 halftime deficit and outscored the Bearkats 17-4 at crunch time to improve their record to 2-1 on the season.

Logan Stanley paced the Buffs with 17 points, while the best the Bearkats could muster was the 11-point showing from Boyd Batla.

The loss left the Bearkats with a 1-2 record going into the Thanksgiving holiday break. Both Garden City teams will return to action Nov. 30 when they play host to teams from Robert Lee.

STANTON - Stanton's Lady Buffaloes played the role of ungracious host in non-district basketball action Tuesday, blowing out McCamey's Lady Badgers.

The Lady Buffs, who improved to 3-1 with the 66-23 victory, were led by Rachel Madison's 11 points. Jessica Thompson and Kaci Moore added eight points apiece, while Jessica DeLeon chipped seven more.

Stanton all but squashed any hopes the Lady Badgers might have had in the first quarter when they held the visitors scoreless.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FOR distance who might not be as THURSDAY, NOV 25:

You could be overly serious at work this year. Be careful that you don't lose perspective on your life and neglect other demands. You could get too involved. Pace yourself. You need frequent breaks; plan on at least one long vacation. A good exercise pro gram might also be necessary. If you are single, romance could be very important to you. Still, be careful with ties that involve the office. If possible, separate business and pleasure completely. If attached, share more of your professional life - you 'll become much closer and feel more secure. CANCER understands you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic: 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Home is clearly where the heart is. Think about having an important talk with a family member or friend. Keep the reins on a tendency to go way overboard, be it with the turkey feast or emotionally. A loved one could be touchy. Tonight: Happy at hom e. TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

*Recognize that you are overwhelmed or are taking things too seriously; it could impact those around you. Let go of your feelings of responsibility and get into the fun nature of the holiday. Others seek you out to catch up on news. Tonight: Chitchat the night away.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

You may have good intentions, but you may still be out of sync. Be careful not to make another feel that it is his problem. Remain open-minded. You could be feeling a bit down. Have a talk with a trusted friend. Get into the holiday celebrations. Con tact friends you adore. Tonight: Cut the overindulgence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

When you aim for what you want, you succeed way beyond your wildest expectations. Friends want to be near you to share their good vibes. Allow greater fun in your life. Don't feel you have to be the HOROSCOPE bouncy or happy as you are.

Recognize your role in bringing others together. Happiness stems from being with others and sharing the holiday. Be careful if betting on football your team could disappoint you! Tonight: Where the fun is.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Build on an established relationship. Be wise; don't negotiate your position on another matter. Make must appearances. Get into the convivial mood of the day. An older relative appreciates your attention. Flattery gets you everywhere! Tonight: Visi ting with others. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

*Loosen up. Don't take a partner so seriously. Tune in to your spiritual side. Allow your caring to emanate. Take time to visit with in-laws and make long-distance calls. Another clearly cares a lot. Be positive, and everything will work out. Tonight : Enjoy, enjoy, enjoy! SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec.

21) *Relate closely to another. Examine your long-term desires. A friendship is important to you, but you need to be more openly nurturing. You can make a big difference within your intimate circle. Take time out for a snooze. Tonight: Togetherness works .

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

*Build on established strengths. Make a special effort to understand where others are coming from. A child or special friend could be down, even if it is Thanksgiving. Take the extra time to include him in the crowd. Tonight: Get into the social natu re of the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  Don't let a low-level depression mark your day. Instead, think of others. Go that extra mile. You might not be in the mood for Thanksgiving, but releasing anxiety will help. A midday snooze helps you recharge and feel better. Maintain a moderate appr oach. Tonight: Make it an early night. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) *Romance touches your heart, even if you are more to to the feast than the cast of characters. Be sensitive to another's feelings when talking with him. Your attitude has more of an impact than you realize. Others clearly care; your ebullient nature i s contagious. Tonight: Romping along. BORN TODAY Actor John Larroquette (1947), actress Christina Applegate (1972), football player Bernie Kosar Jr. (1963) For America's best extended horoscope, recorded by Jacqueline Bigar, call (900) 740-

Pets need proper shelter during cold winter weather

DEAR ABBY: When I heard the perfect project, one our the weather report for a nearby mountain community, I was reminded of an item I had clipped from a newsletter a few months ago. The temperatures are already down to freezing in some areas and soon will be downright cold in many locations. Responsible pet owners must consider that their pets need protection from inclement weather, so I dug out the clipping and hope you will print it as a reminder. — HIGH-

DESERT ANIMAL LOVER DEAR ANIMAL LOVER: Thank you for sharing that item. Countless pets will thank you in the months to come. It should not be assumed that a dog's or cat's "fur coat" is sufficient protection from icy weather. Read on:

PROTECT YOUR PETS FROM WINTER'S WOES (Author Unknown)

In many parts of the country, winter is a season of bitter cold and numbing wetness. Help your pets remain happy and healthy during the colder months:

Do not leave dogs outdoors when the temperature drops. Regardless of the season, shorthaired, very young or old dogs, and ALL CATS should never be left outside without supervision. Most dogs, and all cats, are safer if kept indoors, except when taken out for exercise. Short-coated dogs may feel more comfortable wearing a sweater during walks. No matter what the tempera ture, wind chill can threaten a pet's life. A dog or cat is happiest and healthiest when kept indoors. However, if your dog is an outdoor dog, he/she must be protected by a dry, draft-free doghouse that is large enough to allow the dog to sit and lie down comfortably, but small enough to hold in his/her body heat. The floor should be raised a few inches off the ground and covered with cedar shavings. The house should be turned to face away from the wind, and the doorway should be covered with burlap or a rug. DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing the letter from the reader who suffered great injuries and was charged with DUI without the use of alcohol. A copy of that letter has been laminated and now hangs in our department. It will be shown to patients who give us the excuse, "I am OK to drive." Also, please tell your readers not to drive after having medical procedures that involve sedation or anesthesia. As a nurse who works in an endoscopy unit, I encounter patients almost daily who insist they are "safe to drive" and that they have "done it many times before. Patients who are to receive any type of anesthesia or sedation are instructed by the physicians to have a responsi ble driver to take them home. Please, Abby, through the power of your column, remind your readers to follow these important pre-procedure instructions. The medical staff who will prevent you from driving home are not trying to give you a difficult time; we are trying to prevent injury or death to our patients, or God forbid, an innocent bystander. DIANA PASINI-WOJNISZ, WILMINGTON, DEL. DEAR DIANA: Thank YOU for a letter that's well worth space in this column. I hope that anyone who is having a medical procedure performed that requires sedation or anesthesia will take your letter to heart, and not attempt to get behind the wheel of a car until the medication is completely out of his or her system. DEAR ABBY: For many years, I searched for a family project to give added meaning to the holidays and instill in our children the foundations of 'social service." Three years ago, at Thanksgiving, I found whole family could share.

Since most people get both Thursday and Friday off from work, we decided to spend all of Thanksgiving Day cooking a complete Thanksgiving dinner and delivering it to a needy family. With three children aged 7, 3 and 1 at the time, even the youngest could "help" mash potatoes and bake cookies.

Each year it has given us an opportunity to get acquainted with wonderful people who were in difficult circumstances, experience their joy at receiving these gifts, and feel we have something worthwhile to celebrate at our own Thanksgiving, which we now celebrate on Friday.

This family project has provided us with an altruistic and uplifting focus for the holiday. We have chosen to focus our giving on immigrant families who often work at the most unpleasant and dangerous jobs, and receive the lowest pay. However, any group that has personal meaning to the individual, such as the elderly, people with AIDS and single parents - the list goes on and on would appreciate some special care on Thanksgiving.

Also, before Christmas, the children and I were cleaning out closets to make room for new toys and wishing we could find a good use for the old toys. We made a few calls and located a homeless shelter that welcomed our donation. Abby, we have a limited income, and cannot always afford to contribute to new-toy drives. However, we had an abundance of used-butstill-nice toys my children had outgrown, which made the children in the shelter very happy indeed.

We found our shelter by looking in the Yellow Pages under "Housing Assistance and Shelters" and "Social Service Organizations." If at first you don't connect, keep calling! This has become a family tradition, and I can't tell you how much it has enriched our lives. DARIA DOERING, SAN DIEGO DEAR DARIA: What an inspiring way you have chosen to teach your children to share their abundance with others. Churches and synagogues can also provide names of families and older people who are in need and would welcome being included in a family celebration. Thank you for providing living proof that it is more blessed to give than to receive. DEAR ABBY: I have lived on the West Coast for more than 20 years. I go home to the East Coast every summer for four to five weeks. Friends and family insist on always treating when we go out to eat. When I protest, they say, "But we're so delighted that you spend your vacation visiting us," or, "But you spend all that money flying here to visit us. Some of these people have visited me on the West Coast, and I've thought, "Now it's my turn." However, this time when I offered, the response was, "But you're saving us so much money by providing us a place to stay, use of a car and meals at home.' After all these years, I feel that the scales are very unbalanced. I try to be gracious and appreciative and always send thank-you notes. Can you suggest another strategy, Abby? -EAST-WEST TRAVELER DEAR TRAVELER: Since your hosts refuse to let you pay for anything when you visit them, reciprocate by sending them a lovely house gift after your return home. Include with it a short note reiterating how much you enjoyed their hospitality. For an excellent guide to becoming a better conversationalist and a more attractive person, order "How to Be Popular." Send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447.
