Howard County commissioners enact ban on some fireworks, look over bridge report

By CARL GRAHAM
Staff Writer

As expected, Howard County Commissioners Court approved an ordinance Monday to restrict the sale and use of bottle rockets and other types of aerial fireworks.

BARROW

Commissioners felt that despite the recent rains, the fireworks are still a threat.

Art Barrow, area engineer with the Texas Department of Transportation, addressed the court on the off-system bridge program. Two bridges that will be repaired are the ones at County Road 42 and at Birdwell Lane and the frontage road of Interstate 20.

The cost of repair will be paid by a federal program that allows the local entity to pay 10 percent of the total cost with 80 percent paid by federal monies and the other 10 percent picked up by TxDOT.

Commissioner Bill Crooker asked Barrow about rumors that a big portion of rest areas across Texas are being closed down.

"Some urban rest areas are in the process of being closed due to not being utilized as much as we would like," said Barrow. "However, on a positive note, we will be upgrading some of our facilities to a manned, 24-hour-a-day station where Department of Public Safety officers can go to get a cup of coffee.

"These facilities will be more of a tourism center and this will help them become a more secure facility. The one in Howard County will be located 13 miles east of Big Spring on the south side. The one in Mitchell County will be near Westbrook," Barrow said.

A request by Sheriff Bill Jennings for an equipment upgrade for some portable hand-held radios was approved by the court.

New dental program helps fill gap for low-income children on Medicaid

By LYNDEL MOODY
Staff Writer

Children currently on Medicaid can receive dental care from the Texas Department of Health Mobile Dental Unit located on the parking lot of Washington Elementary School.

Dr. Jim Belcher and his staff are currently accepting appointments for children age 3 through 19 who are on the Medicaid program.

Parents will need to be present for the initial exam and bring proof their child's of Medicaid status.

"We treat Medicaid children and the children of the working poor," said Belcher. "The Medicaid system has grown in terms of number of clients but not in terms of providers. We are here to fill the gap."

Currently, the Mobile Dental Unit staff based out of San Angelo will be providing service Monday through Thursday until mid-July.

In order to make an appointment, contact clinic coordinator Teresa Fletcher at Washington Elementary 264-4126 or go by the school nurse office at Washington.

"We like doing this work and find it very rewarding," Belcher said. "The kids need to have it, and we have lots of fun doing this."

According to Belcher, the program is just beginning for Big Spring, and they hope to learn from this experience.

"I hope this turns out to be a long-term project," he said. "If we have more people apply than we can finish this time, it will be taken into consideration for next year."

The Big Spring Independent School is cooperating with the TDH to help bring the mobile unit to Big Spring, he said.

Several local school nurses contacted area doctors to inform them of the program and overall doctors gave approval of the program.

Lamb camp has students returning again and again

By CARL GRAHAM
Staff Writer

On the heels of another successful goat camp, the lamb camp at Howard College kicked off Sunday morning with the arrival and check-in of all students and animals.

KIRKSCEY

The camp began with approximately 238 campers, about 18 more than attended the goat camp.

Janice Kirkscey, a 4-H instructor from Troy, has been bringing her son to the camp for five years.

"People have asked me why I drive five hours to take my son to this camp in Big Spring," said Kirkscey "I give them three reasons. First, the facilities are great. Howard College is very fortunate in that respect. Second, the price of the camp is such that even driving for five hours we still come out better than if we attended a camp closer to home. All the money above their cost is returned in the way of scholarships for the kids. That's another big plus."

Another reason given by Kirkscey is the caliber of instruction that the students receive.

"The instructors that come here are all first class and have a tremendous amount of knowledge" said Kirkscey "Other camps we have attended cost a lot more yet do not have the good teachers we have here. The instructors allow us free reign when it comes to asking questions. We take the knowledge we learn from here and

Parade Wednesday will kick off four nights of riding and roping action

By ALLISON THOMAS
Staff Writer

The 67th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo wouldn't be complete without the traditional rodeo parade.

"Any and everybody is welcome. They don't have to have an entry form, although those have been available," said Skipper Driver, rodeo board member. "We'd love to have their participation — it's open to anyone."

As usual, the parade will include floats, colorful bicycles, riding clubs and classic cars. However, there is one big difference in this year's parade. Instead of being held on the last day of the rodeo, the parade will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 4:30, kicking off the first rodeo events.

The parade will begin at the intersection of 10th and Main Street, travel north to the courthouse, then south on Scurry back up to 10th.

The top three winners in each parade category will win a commemorative plaque, and the first place winner in the bicycle decorating contest will win $100 from Fiesta Dodge. The parade will once again be sponsored by the Big Spring Herald and the KBST radio station.

"We encourage the public to come out for the parade and help us get another great rodeo started Wednesday afternoon," said Driver. "It will be a good time, especially for the children. They always love a parade."

"Then we'd encourage everyone to come out to the performance that night, Thursday, Friday or Saturday. We have a real good rodeo planned with a lot of good performers, some great talent. It's a good place to bring the entire family. We hope to see you there."

Some of the country's top cowboys and cowgirls will be showing their stuff in traditional rodeo events — steer wrestling, bareback riding, barrel racing, calf roping, bronc riding, team roping and bull riding.

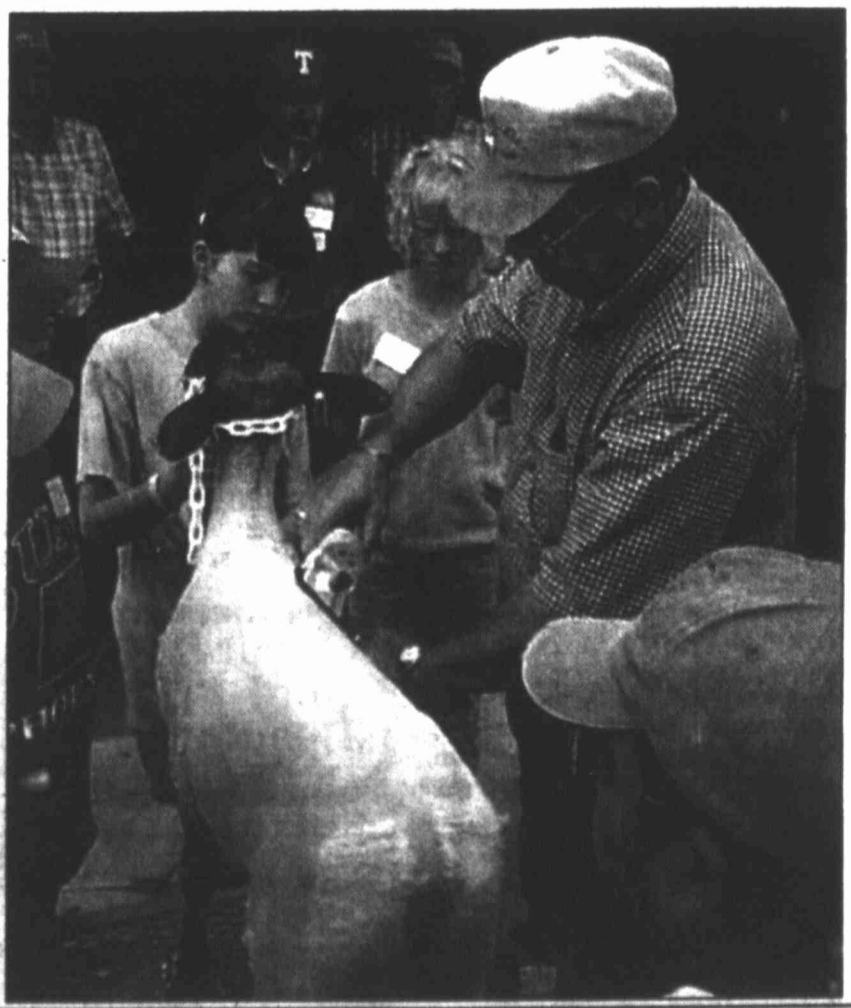

Also returning to the rodeo is mutton bustin', a yearly crowd-pleaser. Mutton bustin' is a children's competition in which kids compete to see who can stay seated on a bucking sheep for the longest amount of time.

A few lucky rodeo-goers will be able to watch the festivities from newly-installed luxury skyboxes. Seats in the boxes were quickly sold out, but early rentals for next year's rodeo are already available.

Jody Nix and his West Texas Cowboys will provide the music for dances at the fairbarn on Friday and Saturday. The dances have been a rodeo tradition in Big Spring for many years.

"We have been playing these

Eyewitness IDs in trials discussed by group hoping to stop execution

HOUSTON (AP) — A group of scholars opposed to the death penalty and people wrongly convicted by erroneous eyewitness identifications on Monday urged a halt to the scheduled execution next week of Gary Graham.

Officials with the Center on Wrongful Convictions at the Northwestern University School of Law said they believe Graham was wrongly convicted. They point out that only one witness identified Graham while six others either said he wasn't the shooter or described differently the individual responsible for the 1981 shooting death of an Arizona man.

"The jury only heard from one eyewitness who testified against Graham," said Lawrence C. Marshall, the legal director of the Chicago-based center, during a news conference at Texas Southern University's Thurgood Marshall School of Law. "There was no other evidence linking (him) to the crime."

However, Gov. George W. Bush's office has said it is powerless to grant Graham the one-time, 30-day stay allowed by law because the governor's predecessor, Ann Richards, already gave him one in 1993.

If Graham's appeals fail prior to his scheduled execution on June 22, his last chance for a reprieve likely will be the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Graham, who now prefers to be known as Shaka Sankofa to reflect his African heritage, was convicted for the May 13, 1981, shooting death of Bobby Grant Lambert, 53, outside a north Houston supermarket.

Bernadine Skillern watched from a few feet away and later identified Graham as the shooter to police. She has not wavered over the years despite pressure from Graham supporters.

Dianne Clements, of the victims rights group Justice For All, said Skillern was able to positively identify Graham as the shooter while two of the six witnesses the center claims can exonerate him have acknowledged to police they did not see the shooter.

"A judge has said his alibi witnesses are not credible and probably fabricated their stories," she said.

"There is no credibility, no factual basis for what they are claiming. They keep raising (these issues) because they keep getting denied by the courts. It doesn't mean there is relevance or truth behind it," Clements said.

Graham has said he didn't shoot the Tucson, Ariz., man, but he did plead guilty to 10 aggravated robberies he committed during the same month of the shooting.

On Monday, the Northwestern center and other Graham supporters tried to point out the potential flaws in Skillern's identification by presenting a group of 10 men and one woman who were wrongfully convicted of serious crimes because of bad eyewitness identifications.

"I believe Gary Graham to be innocent," said Kirk Bloodworth, who was sentenced to death in 1985 in Maryland for the sexual assault, rape and murder of a 9-year-old girl, before DNA tests in 1993 exonerated him.

Convicted killer blaming attorneys for sentence

TYLER (AP) — A man who tortured then drowned a Tyler woman in his bathtub before cramming her body in a barrel and dumping it in a ravine is blaming his death sentence on his trial attorneys.

Troy James Clark, who is convicted of drowning Christina Muse and stuffing her body in a barrel, says his attorneys were incompetent. He is now arguing for a new trial.

In Tuesday's editions of the Tyler Morning-Telegraph, Clark said defense attorneys Bobby Mims and Ken Nash refused to call witnesses he wanted. He also said their closing arguments in March were inadequate.

Mims used only about 15 minutes of the 50 minutes District Judge Louis Gohmert allowed him for closing arguments, the death row inmate complained. Nash complained about his client during his closing argument, Clark said.

"I know y'all don't like Troy Clark," the convicted killer recalled Nash telling jurors. "I don't like him either."

Nash reportedly told jurors during his last argument that Clark was one of the worst clients he ever had. Clark also contended his attorneys refused to call two Smith County jail inmates who could have testified he did not kill Muse.

"I told them numerous times to bring them and they wouldn't do it," Clark told the newspaper.

A Smith County jury in March sentenced Troy James Clark to receive a lethal injection for the 1998 slaying of 20-year-old Christina Muse.

Prosecutors said Clark tortured Muse with a stun gun, smashed her in the head with a board and kept her bound with duct tape in his closet for hours before drowning her on May 19.

HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Wednesday, June 14:

You switch from work to personal concerns this year. You might think everyone is working against you, but you unwittingly cause others to distance themselves. Pull back and observe when you get unexpected reactions. Others often see life differently than you do. Seek better understanding. You begin a new lucky cycle in 2001. You'll gain through what you learn this year. If you are single, many admirers will appear. Be realistic about romantic prospects. If attached, your partner might not always see eye to eye with you. View this as an asset rather than a problem. SAGITTARIUS helps you open up.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) *** Handle a situation or money matter directly.

Extremes stretch you in different directions. You might not be sure which way to go. Under the circumstances, do nothing. Make calls; get more facts. Not everyone has to agree with you. Tonight: Explore the Web.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) *** Others touch base and want to share ideas. However, you might feel stretched to the max as you attempt to deal with everyone's needs. One-on-one relating helps open a door. Get down to the basics, and solutions will come. Tonight: Go along with a partner's plans.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) *** Be more direct when dealing with co-workers. You might be living in your head more than you realize. Pace yourself. Be more aware of what is limiting you. Clear out work. Schedule meetings and discussions for the afternoon. Mix work and socializing. Tonight: Beam in what you want.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) *** Just when you thought you had everything under control, you are pushed to make decisions you might prefer to postpone. Stay in touch with bottom lines, and you'll do the right thing. Concentrate on work. Check in with an associate when you need feedback. Tonight: Work off stress at the gym.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) *** Build, rather than tearing down. You could be frustrated by both work and personal demands. Juggle as best you can. Use the afternoon to brainstorm and find answers. Schedule a stress-busting tennis game or activity for later. When you relax, answer s come forth. Tonight: Midweek break!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) *** Ask questions and carefully check out news. You might find conflicting information. Study the possibilities. As you make inquiries, you discover many options. Make decisions carefully. Take your time. Walk to clear your mind, if need be. Tonight: Talk up a storm.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) *** Others challenge your financial decisions. You might not be comfortable with what is going on. Take another look at an alternative solution. Get suggestions from those you trust. Return calls; clear your desk. Tonight: Out and about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) *** Others test your limits or ideas. You don't need to react; just listen and observe. You are more in control than you realize. Don't push others — let them see the light through their own processing. Take charge financially. Don't just wish for what you want. Tonight: Pay bills.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) *** Take a back seat and think through work pressures and requirements. Eliminate unnecessary demands. In the afternoon, you come out of the doldrums and feel invigorated. Your charisma speaks. Zero in on what you want. Talk about long-term goals. Tonight: Your choice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) *** Aim for what is important. Problems that appear can be used to empower you. You don't need to understand where others come from; just seek resolution. Free-associate and brainstorm. Take your time when making a decision. You are intuitive. Tonight: Time for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) *** Keep a high profile at work. Others clamor for more of your voice. Listen to opinions. Schedule meetings; make your feelings known. Use your intuition when dealing with a friend. Together you make quite a team. Network. Tonight: Where your friends are.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) *** Your questions need to be asked rather than put on hold. Take an overview. Taking care of details is equally important. Don't sell out to another. Understand that everyone has limits, even you. Take the lead this afternoon. Zoom in on what you want. Tonight: Work late.

Better Business Bureau won't give credit where it isn't due

DEAR ABBY: Please do your readers a service by cautioning them to phone the Better Business Bureau whenever they receive a "great" offer they are considering accepting.

I received a notice from a legitimate-sounding credit card company ("member of FDIC") in Scottsdale, Ariz., saying that I was "pre-approved" for a secured credit card. They asked that I send a check for $99, and they would issue a credit card with a limit of $500. That was exciting because my finances are in a state of disarray. I don't get many of these kinds of offers.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

I phoned the credit card company and asked how long it would take to receive the new card. The response was "six weeks." That seemed rather long, and my intuition told me to phone the Better Business Bureau in Scottsdale. I was informed the bureau has a file with pages and pages of complaints against this company.

Please inform your readers that a phone call to the BBB may not only save them money, but prevent grief and a great deal of wasted time as well. — A FRIEND IN FLORIDA

DEAR FRIEND: Better Business Bureaus are located in most major cities in the United States. They were one of the first consumer "watchdog" organizations. The bureaus provide consumer education materials, answer questions, provide information about businesses — i.e. whether there are unanswered or unsettled complaints or other marketplace problems — and help resolve buyer/seller complaints against a business, including mediation and arbitration services. They also have information about charities and other organizations seeking public donations.

BBBs that provide information via 1-900 telephone numbers charge a nominal fee for their services; some offices charge a flat fee and require a major credit card to access information. The BBB Web site can be accessed at www.bbb.org for consumer fraud and scam alerts, and information about BBB programs, services and locations.

Confederate plaques replaced at courthouse

AUSTIN (AP) — Two plaques bearing symbols of the Confederacy have been removed from the lobby of the state Supreme Court building despite calls from Confederate heritage groups for a public hearing.

The plaques were replaced during the weekend with new ones that say equal justice is available to all Texans "regardless of race, creed or color." They note that the building was constructed with money taken from a Confederate pension fund and dedicated to Texans who served in the Confederacy.

Confederate heritage groups complained about the removal during the "dark of night." They promised to press ahead with legal action and with protests if they aren't given a public hearing.

"They're going to get Confederacy in their face. We're not going to take the back seat on the bus any more," said Kirk D. Lyons, chief trial attorney for the Southern Legal Resource Center.

The original plaques contained a quotation from Gen. Robert E. Lee and included symbols of the Confederate battle flag and seal of the Confederacy.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others called the original plaques offensive to minorities and had asked Gov. George W. Bush, the presumptive Republican presidential nominee, to have them removed.

"We are heartened by the news that the hate symbols have been removed from the walls of the Texas Supreme Court," said Gary Bledsoe, president of the state conference of the NAACP. "They have presented an unnecessary stain on our judiciary."

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

The ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Tuesday, June 13, the 165th day of 2000. There are 201 days left in the year. Today's Highlight in History: On June 13, 1900, China's Boxer Rebellion targeting foreigners as well as Chinese Christians, erupted into full-scale violence. On this date:

In 1886, King Ludwig II of Bavaria drowned in Lake Starnberg. In 1888, Congress created the Department of Labor. In 1898, the Yukon Territory of Canada was organized. In 1927, aviator Charles Lindbergh was honored with a ticker-tape parade in New York City.

In 1942, President Roosevelt created the Office of War Information, and appointed radio news commentator Elmer Davis to head it.

In 1944, Germany began launching flying-bomb attacks against Britain during World War II.

In 1966, the Supreme Court issued its landmark "Miranda" decision, ruling that police had to inform suspects of their constitutional rights before questioning them.

In 1967, President Johnson nominated Solicitor-General Thurgood Marshall as the first black justice on the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1971, The New York Times began publishing the Pentagon Papers, a secret study of America's involvement in Vietnam.

In 1977, James Earl Ray, the convicted assassin of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was recaptured following his escape three days earlier from a Tennessee prison.

Ten years ago: Secretary of State James A. Baker III, testifying before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, urged Israel to accept a U.S. plan for peace talks. (Baker gave out the telephone number for the White House switchboard, telling the Israelis publicly, "When you're serious about this, call us.")

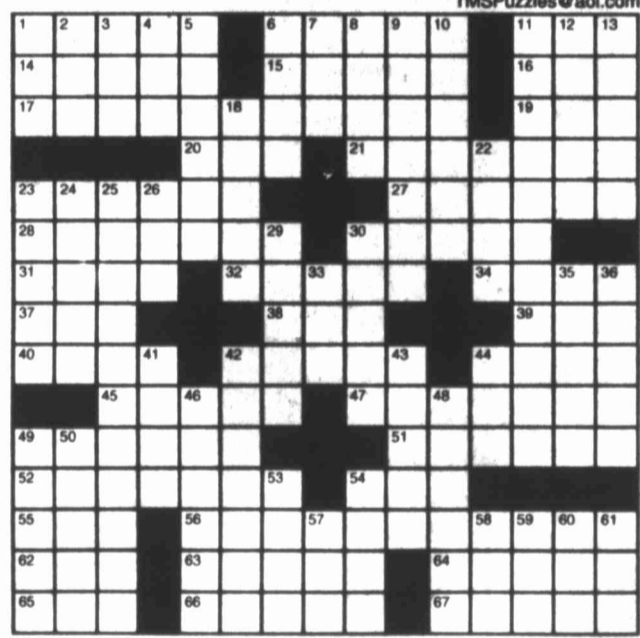

Five years ago: President Clinton proposed a 10-year plan for balancing the federal budget, saying in a televised address his proposal would cut spending by $1.1 trillion. France announced it would abandon its 1992 moratorium on nuclear testing and conduct eight more tests between September and May.

One year ago: NATO soldiers shot dead two armed men as peacekeepers tried to contain new violence in Kosovo; Russian troops, meanwhile, blocked British troops from entering the airport in Pristina, the capital of Kosovo.

Today's Birthdays: TV host Ralph Edwards is 87. Singer Bobby Freeman is 60. Actor Malcolm McDowell is 57. Singer Dennis Locorriere (Dr. Hook) is 51. Actor Richard Thomas is 49. Actor Jonathan Hogan is 49. Actor Stellan Skarsgard is 49. Comedian Tim Allen is 47. Actress Ally Sheedy is 38.
