'Night Out' meeting set for Tuesday

A meeting has been set Tuesday to make plans for creating a National Night Out organization in Big Spring.

To begin at 5:30 p.m. in the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce board room, the meeting is open to anyone interested in preventing crime in their neighborhood. Speakers will include local police officers familiar with National Night Out and other crime-prevention programs.

Anyone who wants to volunteer to serve with a local National Night Out group, or organize a gathering in their neighborhood on Aug. 1, is encouraged to attend.

For more information, call the Herald at 263-7331, ext. 236.

WHAT'S UP ...

TODAY ❑ American Legion By CARL GRAHAM Staff Writer A 17-yearold Big Spring man being held as a suspect in the shooting deaths of three individuals has been charged with MARTINEZ capital murder.

David Martinez was presented Wednesday with the increased to $250,000, according to District Attorney Hardy Wilkerson. Martinez is accused in the shooting deaths of 39-yearold Simona Hollingsworth Deleon, 56-year-old Janie Mendez and 21-year-old Chris Delgado. Also wounded in the shooting spree at a Sixth Street residence was their roommate, 24-year-old Vicki Green.

reports, Green despite warrant and his bail suffering multiple gunshot wounds, including one to the head summoned police to her residence and identified Martinez as the gunman who opened fire on her roommates the night of June 25. Green was airlifted to University Medical Center in Lubbock where she was released on June 28 according to hospital records. According to a friend of the

Entities budget for increased gasoline costs

By CARL GRAHAM Staff Writer

Increased gasoline prices not only have motorist digging deeper in their pocketbooks when filling up their tanks but it also has city county and school administrators looking at increased budgets to compensate. McQUEARY

Big Spring Independent School District Superintendent Bill McQueary said that with the upcoming budget studies, gasoline prices will definitely be an item to look at

"We will definitely be taking into consideration the gas situation and the increase of the price we are paying," said McQueary. 'We will look very closely during the budget studies that will be coming up in a few weeks. We may have to cut back on some of our travel.

McQueary said that the five football games that are on the road to such places as Lubbock and Plainview are not really a problem. "We are only talking about five road games there and I am not too concerned about those," said McQueary. "It's those other frequent long-distance trips that I am more concerned with. I am, however, somewhat optimistic that the prices will soon be going down but we can't always count on that happening." McQueary said the school budget year runs from Sept. 1 through Aug. 31. Big Spring ISD board will begin working on the new budget next week.

Tax rebate Slight hike seen by city of Big Spring By BILL McCLELLAN News Editor

Big Spring saw a slight increase in sales tax rebates, comparing June of this year to the same month in 1999, according to the state comptroller's office.

The city received $261,576.03 this June, compared to $258,542.22 an increase of 1.17 percent. For the year, Big Spring has received $1,783,996-49, up .29 percent from the same period a year ago.

With few exceptions, cities across the Big Spring area saw increases for the some of which month were substantial.

June's sales tax rebates were up 11.59 percent in Andrews, for instance, comparing $47,694.94 to last year's $42,737.59. For the year, sales tax rebates are at $334,441.83, up 10.27 percent.

Harry Potter books go quickly in Big Spring

By ALLISON THOMAS

Staff Writer The fourth book in the wildly popular Harry Potter series came out Saturday, and Big Spring stores are having trouble keeping it on the shelves. The books, written by J.K. Rowling, chroniyoung wizard. Those wishing to purchase the new book, "Harry Potter and the Goblet of cle the adventures of a Fire," have a few options quickly ahead of them, but not much time. Stores that have not already sold out expect to do so shortly.

On Cue, which sells books, CDs and movies in the Big Spring Mall, has sold out of copies. However, employees expect to receive a new shipment of Harry Potter books Friday.

"We did have it, but we're out right now," said Tabitha Wright, a sales associate at On Cue. "It sold out very

Big Spring bus terminal to receive $100,000-plus in repairs and renovations

By JOHN A. MOSELEY

Managing Editor

More than $100,000 worth of repairs and improvements are planned for Big Spring's bus station after Greyhound Lines Inc. received almost $2.7 million in federal funding for intercity bus projects from the Department of Texas Transportation (TxDOT).

State officials awarded more than $5 million in federal funds to enhance intercity bus service across the Texas The state

Transportation Commission approved the measure during its monthly meeting.

Greyhound was one of eight transit entities that will share in the $5.15 million and has earmarked its share of the funding for nine projects.

Big Spring's terminal, located at 311 E. Third St., was built during the mid-1960s and is in need of repair and renovation. Kristin according to

HOROSCOPE

HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, July 14:

Doors open this birthday year, often without you doing anything. Allow others to display their colors first, like a peacock, then decide if you like their plumage. You don't often agree with others. Agreement results from your willingness to understand others better, and they you. Popularity increases. If you are single, expect important changes in your status during the next year. You might, however, go through another relationship before you meet "the one." If attached, juggling both of your needs is a high priority. CAPRICORN plays devil's advocate.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) **** Others turn to you. They count on your ability to organize and integrate. Take your natural place, and steer, in the direction you feel is appropriate. Know that someone is always going to give you flak. Worry less and stay true to yourself. Tonight: Out on the town

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ***** You plunge into weekend mode early. Your mind wanders. Reach out for others. Start making plans for the next few days. Confirm an important meeting, especially the time. Tonight: Split ASAP. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

***** Keep discussions on a one-on-one level. You cannot afford confusion, especially because your finances might boomerang. Nurture another's willingness and receptiveness toward you. A relationship intensifies as a result. Get down to basics. Tonight: Be with your favorite person.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ***** Defer to others. They hold the cards. Sometimes you learn more if you allow others to state their case. You need to mull over what is happening. Avoid being cantankerous or challenging. Popularity soars if you stay quiet for now. Options open up then. Tonight: Play the weekend in.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) **** Your even pace and willing attitude at work help others relate to you. On some level, you can be an awesome figure. Be sensitive to your needs. You might want to start that diet or exercise plan. New resolutions involving your health and diet could work. Tonight: Dot your I's and cross your T's before you leave work

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

***** Creativity comes forth. Your choice lies in where you direct your energy. The underlying theme focuses on liking whatever you are doing. Brainstorm at work and test different ideas. Express your jovial nature. Others work with you more easily. Tonight: Flirt the night away.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

*** Handle a personal matter before you attempt to focus on work. Because your mind drifts, you have a difficult time accomplishing what you need. Your sense of humor comes out when dealing with family. Use care with an authority figure, or that person could become contrary. Tonight: Be a couch potato?

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ***** While you can often be taciturn, suddenly you become a chatty Cathy, sharing with others. Return calls, but know that others could be surprised at your diffuse manner. Catch up on news with co-workers and bosses. Tonight: TGIF.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

**** Scan finances and bills carefully. You don't need to agree with another about spending, but you do need to be responsible. Understand that there isn't one "right" way. Loosen up and discuss alternatives. At lunch, buy a card for an important friend. Tonight: Your treat.

Our youth need basics for education

ne of the most important resources we can give our children is an education. With that in mind, it's time again to be thinking about another school year.

Soon, many of us will be debating what our younger children should wear to school, how many shirts, trousers, dresses and pairs of shoes to buy. Unfortunately, however, many families in Big Spring stop far short of those decisions. They simply cannot afford what many of us take for granted – necessities such as paper, pencils, notebooks, crayons, scissors, rulers and the like.

That's where the Salvation Army steps in. Last year, this wonderful non-profit organization handed out school supplies to 298 Big Spring children from kindergarten to eighth grade. Without those items, almost 300 children would have been at an immediate disadvantage when the first class bell rang in the fall.

Imagine, not being able to afford notebook paper or an eraser – simple things, yet ones that are necessary in our society to help form the building blocks of a good education. Imagine too, the embarrassment of a little boy or girl who doesn't even have the basic supplies.

These children deserve the opportunity to have a good education. And it is in our best interest to see that they do. A small helping un one of John Wayne's old movies, he would often say to a young lieutenant, "Never apologize, Mr. Cahill. It's a sign of weakness.

Current trend of apologizing is goofy

Well, I don't agree that apologizing pened in the CHARLEY past is defi-REESE nitely a sign of a weak mind

An English wit once observed that not even God can rewrite history, though historians do it all the time. What happened in the past happened, and since we were not there, we bear no responsibility for it. Not only should we never apologize for things that happened in the past, we can't apologize for it without making a fool out of ourselves

In other words, it's goofy to apologize for something you had nothing to do with. And it's even goofier to apologize to people who were not even victimized by whatever it is you're apologizing for.

The idea (which is floating around in the corners of Congress) of paying reparations for slavery is plain stupid. There are no slaves and no ex-slaves. There are no slave owners and no exslave owners. Furthermore, American slaves were enslaved by Africans. They were emancipated by white Americans and white Europeans.

Speaking only for myself, if I were black, I would a heck of a lot rather be born a descendant of a slave in America than a descendant of a king in Sierra Leone or the Congo. Not all blacks are descendants of slaves. There have always been free blacks in America. In fact, the 1830 census listed nearly 4,000 free blacks who owned slaves. In 1860, there were about 160,000 free blacks living in the South. As for the claim that the present condition of some

blacks in the late 20th century is a result of their ancestors being slaves, I say that's a load of horse To quote Cassius, "The fault, dear Brutus, lies not in the stars but in ourselves that we are underlings.'

apples.

Amen, brother Cassius (one of the plotters against Julius Caesar). Neither stars nor ancestors are responsible for our lives. We are. To try to lay the blame for our failures on our ancestors is the ultimate cop-out.

I have to say, though, that if there is a psychic disease of epidemic proportions in America among people of all races, religions and ethnic backgrounds today, it is avoiding responsibility. The U.S. government ought to change the national motto to "It Ain't My Fault." That, of course, is a surefire way to guarantee failure because anybody who wastes energy blaming others for his or her own shortcomings is a loser, pure and simple.

As a matter of fact, that's a common characteristic of petty criminals. Whatever they did, it's never their fault. Whenever you hear people repeating that theme, you might as well write them off. They are and always will be worthless to themselves, to their families and to their countries

It's important to study the past because it's easier in hindsight to see what worked and what didn't work. But it's a big mistake to get hung up in the past. The past was not our time, not our world, not our responsibility. The present is our time, our world and our responsibility

Better to make sure we don't foul up than to waste time pointing fingers at people long dead.

All we owe the people of the past is to look at them in the context of their own time, not in the context of our time. They, like us, fell out of the womb into an already existing society with already existing beliefs and institutions. Like us, they had no choice but to play the cards God dealt them.

It's our play now, and the pot is the future.

Beginning Monday, the Salvation Army will be taking applications for school supplies. If you know of a family in need of help, encourage them to take advantage of this opportunity to obtain basic school supplies for their children. Applicants will need to bring some information such as Social Security cards, proof of residency, income and expenses.

Finally, donations to the Salvation Army school supplies program are an investment. They are an investment in education, an investment toward a child's future and an investment in the future of our community.

To make application for the program or to make a contribution, the Salvation Army offices are located at 811 W. Fifth.

the Germans If Franklin Delano Roosevelt had done nothing more than start the Civilian Conservation Corps during his time in public life, he'd be judged great in my book. It's become fashionable for the Radio Right and new, mean-spirited conservatives to bad-mouth FDR and his New Deal programs. But you don't hear many who remember the Depression making light or little of programs that simultaneously, improved (or created) public parks while providing work for a whole generation of young men.

Whenever I go to the mountaintop, I like to stop at Dowdell's Knob, Roosevelt's favorite picnic spot, where our classiest president insisted on rather elegant outings, replete with silver serving pieces. The CCC made the stone barbecue grill that's still there.

You can look out over the treetops and imagine the relief the man must have felt to escape for a few hours the responsibility of leading a country through Depression, then war. The Georgia perch must have seemed a million miles from the Oval Office and its round-the-clock worries.

I suddenly remembered a theory I've road-tested before: Maybe a president is no better than his getaway, no saner than his sanctuary leaves him.

Harry Truman also made an excellent choice for his recovery time. His vacation house was in Key West, and at its heart a poker table and good friends who knew how to use it. Old Harry wore vacation shirts that never needed tucking in, brightly colored, often in a fish print. When it came to relaxing, the man had exquisite taste.

Jimmy Carter plugged into Musgrove Plantation on St. Simons Island to recharge. I once was privileged to see the outside of that sweet hideaway, tucked on the marsh side of and then the island. A+ for Carter Presidents like Bill Clinton who take golfing vacations to sundry swell spots remain unfocused and unrested, I'm convinced, and thereby have trouble accomplishing much. Golf is OK for regular nine-to-fivers, but a president needs more inspiration than a cup in the turf.

Likewise the George Bush bass fishing hole at Pintlala, Ala. I know Key West, sir, and Pintlala is no Key West

A president needs to find and stick to a spot, a certain, terrific spot, one that fosters his own peace so he can shortly resume worrying about world peace. A leader without a retreat is in worse shape than a man without a country.

It's a little harder to pull off now than it was in FDR's time, of course. Roosevelt could tool about unmolested in his roadster, picnic with his mistress, entertain 200 friends for $20. It was a different era.

Even a wartime president could take a day off now

Computer program adds power to your debt payments

By DEBBIE L. JENSEN Feature's Editor

For the family that is barely treading water because of debt, or just can't seem to save anything after all the bills are paid, there are two new resources to help

Dana Tarter, Howard County extension agent family and consumer science, has a computer program that will give monthly debt payments more power. And a web site sponsored by the extension service will show you how small changes can add up to big savings.

"What you need to think about are your financial goals," Tarter said. "What do you need? A lot of times we confuse 'need' with 'want.'

These days many families are struggling under a large amount of credit card debt.

"The beginning of school is a good time to look at this, because there are going to be expenses school supplies and new clothes," Tarter said. "Ideally you are going to start saving for that ahead of time."

In addition, Tarter suggested looking at what are "must-haves" such as required school supplies, and what items - such as clothes — could be carried

HOW TO USE POWERPAY

With PowerPay, you learn to save time and money by paying off your debts more quickly. It requires discipline, however, in that every time one debt is paid in full, that amount of money is transferred to increase other payments.

On the computer program, you plug in information such as the name of your creditors, the current balance, monthly payment and interest rate for each one.

The computer will print out a repayment schedule and a debt reduction calendar that shows when you will pay and how much.

Anyone can get an appointment to use the program, and Howard County Extension Agent Dana Tarter will help you. Call her at 264-2237 for more information.

your goal, the PowerPay plan can help you do it more quickly. With its disciplined approach, you can reduce the time it takes to pay off debts by several months to a year or more. And in the process, you will also reduce the amount of interest you are paying.

PowerPay works like this – you determine a fixed amount to pay on each debt each month. When one bill is paid, that amount is transferred to another bill so it can be paid off more quickly, and so on.

The computer program at the extension office will calculate a personalized debtrepayment plan. It will tell you how much time and money you can save by using PowerPay's method.

Using the program, you can decide whether to pay off the highest-interest debt first, or the smallest debt first, and the advantages of each choice.

Thinking about consolidating your debts? Check it with PowerPay first. The program will calculate the actual savings of that method

If saving is your goal, the extension service has a web site called Choices for Saving. It helps you calculate the impact of even the smallest savings over time. "It's fun to look at this,

There are wide swaths of empty country across the Lower 48 states, from California's Mojave Desert to West Texas and Nebraska's Sandhills. But the ranger station was pegged as the most remote place by Susan Boswell, president of Cartographic Technologies in Brattleboro, Vt. Her company was asked by an automaker to find the place most distant from a publicly maintained road.

Analyzing Census Bureau records, she found that roads are "uncomfortably close" nearly everywhere. The nearest road to the Thorofare Ranger Station is only 20 miles away.

"My husband (Pat Loter) is the baseball coach and he is in baseball from January to July," Loter explained. "We have two young kids. One (Mattie) is entering the first grade and the other (Jesse) is going into third grade. I just wanted to spend more time with them.'

At least for now, the move means that Loter's coaching career, which spans over 19 years, is over. She's been a myriad of places, including four years at Levelland High School under legendary coach Dean Weese and another two years at South Plains College under longtime coach Lyndon Hardin.

She married Pat around that time and ventured east with her husband. After a year as junior high coach at Brownsboro, she went to Hawkins as the head coach. After that, with Jesse on the way, she took an assistant's job at Canton.

The Loters then moved south. First they went to Marion and Kathy assisted at nearby Seguin. Then she became a head coach for the third time at Navarro, a school located in a town called Geronimo.

Then It was over to Wimberly for three years as head coach. She pointed out that she'd coached the kids who were winning state championships for the school. From there, it was up to Big Spring.

She may one day get back into coaching, but doesn't see that happening least for a while.

"Right now, I haven't a clue if I'll get back into it later," Loter said. "I know I'm gonna miss it. I loved everything about coaching. I was a gym rat."

The Merchants took down the host team, Lubbock Monterey, by a 16-9 score.

Ullrich's strategy is to stay within striking distance of Armstrong and attack in the 19th stage, a time trial that starts in the German town of Fribourg.

"Armstrong is very strong, but I hope to do something in the time trial in Fribourg on routes that I know well," the 1997 Tour winner said.

But top sprinter Erik Zabel doesn't seem to have too much hope for his teammate.

"For our team, it has been a really good Tour de France," he said. "Ullrich is doing well to be second, and we are happy. We are four minutes behind, but Armstrong is a great champion and is really impressive.'

He preserved his energy until the 10th stage, when a stunning climb to Lourdes-Hautacam saw him storm past tour rivals Ullrich, Pantani and Alex Zulle to take the yellow jersey.

The only spark of hope for his rivals that day was the lack of support from U.S. Postal riders on the final climb.

"Armstrong's team looks less commanding and unified that last year," said Frenchman Christophe Moreau, who started Thursday in third place, 5:10 behind. "Lance was wearing the yellow jersey on the final dash along the Champs Elysees on Sunday, > July 23. Armstrong is under no illusions about the challenge ahead.

> "It is the hardest climb of this year's tour," he said. "It is very special, very mystical. It is so hard that if you are good, you can make a big difference.'

Thursday's climb will be unforgiving. Just 14 miles from the finish line, riders are barely 900 feet above sea level: By the end, they are at an altitude of 6,000 feet.

Mont Ventoux's special place in tour history adds spice to the stage.

The peak has witnessed some of the 97-year-old race's greatest climbing and one of its greatest tragedies.

In 1967, British cyclist Tom Simpson, cheered on by fans under a burning sun, collapsed and died near the peak. It was learned that his blood contained amphetamines, a stark reminder that drug problems are nothing new to cycling at all.

The U.S. captain, who often complains he has a hard time persuading top players to show up for the international competition. put his own name among the list of four he announced Wednesday for the July 21-23 semifinal against Spain.

McEnroe, who would only play doubles, was forced into the move.

Andre Agassi strained his back in a minor car accident last weekend, while Pete Sampras who's had his differences with McEnroe in the past is hobbled by a shin injured while winning Wimbledon for his record 13th Grand Slam title.

Todd Martin, Jan Michael Gambill and Chris Woodruff, who lost in the second round of the Hall Fame of Championships in R.L., Newport. on Wednesday, fill out the U.S. roster.

None of them is ranked in the top 25.

"We've lost two of the best players that ever played. This certainly has not turned out the way I had it planned out in my mind," McEnroe stated.

"I haven't been that suc cessful in getting the play ers to play. Todd was injured. Pete was unavailable for the first match. Now Pete and Andre. (Michael) Chang has said 'No' both times that I've asked him to play. Jim Courier recently retired."

Blood donors may help those struggling to live

ment on the letter from "Little Abby's Mom" regarding the need for blood donors? I delivered my second child three months premature. He had many of the problems that premature babies go through to donate blood for him, and without the use of community blood. my son would have died. I am grateful to those blood donors who, probably without knowing it, are heroes in their own right.

VAN

BUREN

I am a coward when it comes to needles. Because of this, I ask that someone hold my hand when I donate blood. I receive a few snickers from onlookers, but I couldn't allow another mommy who may be facing the same problem to experience the anguish of not having "nice, clean" blood for her child.

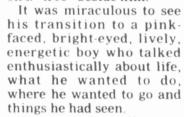

Please, Abby print my let ter so "Little Abby's Mom" knows I said thank you for recognizing how important it is for even cowards like me to donate blood. It's easy and takes only a small amount of time to help save the lives of so many people. FAITHFUL BLOOD

DONOR IN PHOENIX P.S. My son is now 6 years old and brings joy to everyone with whom he comes in contact

DEAR FAITHFUL: If your letter isn't a forceful reminder of how important our nation's blood supply is to all of us, perhaps the next letter will do the trick. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: The letter

DEAR ABBY: May I com- leukemia. During the course of his disease, there were several instances when he became white as a sheet, droopy, listless and exhausted. He would have to go to the hospital emergency room, where he was put in a reclining chair with a bag of blood hanging on a "tree" beside him.

Our son literally was given the gift of life. I am grateful to those anonymous blood donors who gave a few hours of their time and a few pints of blood so that our son could live a few more months. LOUISE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR LOUISE: After reading your graphic letter. no one can doubt the importance of available blood as artillery in the battle for life. Now for some important information:

DEAR ABBY: There is a common misunderstanding that all blood comes from the Red Cross. In fact, while the Red Cross provides about 46 percent of the nation's blood, a network of independent, nonprofit, community-focused blood banks supply 47 percent of America's blood. Hospital-owned blood banks provide about 7 percent.

For the 72 community blood banks who work 24 hours a day to assure enough blood is available for the critically ill and injured in their respective communities, this is an important distinction. Thank you for helping to make this known. - LISA MAYLES, DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC RELATIONS, LIFESHARE, NORTHEAST OHIO'S COMMUNITY BLOOD CENTER

DEAR READERS: To find the nearest communityfocused blood center, call 1-888-256-6388 for the independent blood centers' hotlines 2000 UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

A REE FALLS IN THE FOREST. Does it make a sound if no one is there to hear it?

The answer is: Who cares? If an audience isn't there to listen then the sound it makes is lost forever. Just like your advertising dollars when your radio or television commercial doesn't get seen or heard.

In order to insure that your message is effective, you must reach your audience. It's that simple. And in today's economic environment where every penny counts and advertising budgets are cut to the bone, you can't afford to hit and miss.

That's why newspaper advertising works so well for your specific needs. Your audience looks to the newspaper for the ads, as well as the news. They read it at their convenience, and they'll take time to read and digest your ad message.

And since the newspaper is published every day, you can keep your selling message current and advertise special sales and events. You'll see results right away, too.

For cost-effectiveness and effective results, newspaper advertising is the best bargain you can get.

The Grand Instrument Happy Birthday, Piano!

Do you have a piano at home? When the piano was born 300 years ago, only the nobility could own one. Today it is in millions of homes, churches and theaters throughout the world. Experts estimate that about 10 million kids are taking piano lessons in this country alone.

History

In about 1700, a harpsichord maker, Bartolomeo Cristofori, invented a brand-new instrument for an Italian prince. It would change music forever.

Its sound comes from plucking metal strings. There is no way to change the volume.

But Cristofori's invention was different. Its music was made by little hammers striking the strings.

The harder musicians hit the keys, the louder the sound was. Now musicians could control the softness or loudness of the music.

People thought this was so amazing that they named the new instrument the "soft loud," or "pianoforte" in Italian. Over time, people shortened pianoforte to piano.

The popular piano

By the end of the 1700s, the piano was an important status symbol in Europe and the American Colonies. At that time a skilled worker would have to give up almost a whole year's salary to buy a grand piano. It was a luxury only the wealthy could afford. Fifty years later, the price had dropped enough so that more and more people could afford one. It became quite fashionable for middle-class homes to have a piano. This issue is based on the exhibit: "PIANO 300: Celebrating Three Centuries of People and Pianos" at the Smithsonian Internationa Gallery in Washington, D.C. It will run until June 3, 2001.

Composer Wolfgar Amadeus Mozart (1756 1791) was one of history's most brilliant piano players. By the time he was 4, he was already giving concerts for European royalty. Here he is playing a duet with his sister, Nannerl. Their father Leopold, is holding the violin around the piano in the parlor. Although some men played, it was usually women who played in the home. People expected every wellbred girl to play the piano. Some used it to attract a husband, and then, after the wedding, never touched a piano again. Many others played all their lives, at churches, social gatherings, and for their own pleasure. Advice books in the 1800s said an educated woman must be good at music, dance, needlework, drawing and manners.

In the mid-1800s, family life centered young women

Some superstars

Franz Liszt (pronounced LIST) was the first musician to play a solo piano concert. He composed more than 600 pieces for the piano.

Clara Wieck Schumann had to overcome much prejudice in her concert career. In the 1800s, the public believed women who played on stage had bad character. People also thought a woman could never play as well as a man. But she was so talented that people had to accept her.

into this piano, it would play the music automatically. People didn't have to learn to play in order to make music.

In 1942, Harold Rhodes designed a special piano to help servicemen injured in World War II. These pianos were small enough to be played in bed by wounded airmen recovering in hospitals. He used parts from wrecked airplanes to make his instrument for many rock musicians. With today's electronic pianos, musicians can just press a key and get a variety of sounds.

With digital pianos there are no hammers striking the strings. When a musician touches the keys, prerecorded notes are played.

Computer discs have replaced paper rolls in today's player pianos. Musicians can even put discs in the piano and record their own playing.

The Mini Page thanks Patrick Rucker, Cynthia Adams Hoover and Edwin Good, curators, "PIANO 300" exhibit of the National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution.
