HC officials urging students to file financial aid forms

By LYNDEL MOODY

Staff Writer

Marie "Hall Scholarship applications are now available at local colleges and Howard College officials urge students to complete and return their financial aid forms quickly.

"We encourage students to turn in their financial aid forms as soon as possible because the financial aid process does take some time to complete," said Ann Duncan, director of enrollment management

According to Duncan, the earlier a student turns in the financial aid form, the better chance they have to qualify for grants and scholarships before that aid is completely distributed.

The Permian Basin Area Foundation has announced that Marie Hall Scholarship applications are now available for students.

Marie Hall Scholarships are for students who either graduate from high school or maintained a permanent residence for the last five counties: Andrews, Borden, following colleges or univer-Crane, Dawson, Ector, Gains, Garza, Glasscock, Howard, Kent, Loving, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Scurry, Sterling, Ward or Winkler.

Scholarship awards, ranging generally from $250 to $1,500 per semester, are available to students of any academic pursuit.

"We average two to three students who receive a Marie Hall Scholarship a year," Duncan said.

Recipients of the scholarsities:

Howard College, Big Spring; Angelo University, San Angelo; Midland College, Midland; Odessa College, Odessa; Sul Ross University, Alpine; Texas Tech University, Lubbock; Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, Midland, Odessa or and Lubbock; the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, Odessa.

On Saturday, five women from West Texas will tackle Taiwan.

The group is a Rotary International Group Study Exchange who will represent District 3490 while making friends, learning about business and experiencing the culture of the country. They will spend one month in Taiwan, living with host families and visiting tourist sites, along with hospitals, schools, parks, farms and temples.

"This is a way of learning about different countries and cultures," said Kathy Lusk, Big Spring Mall manager and team leader. She said the exchange is made "in a spirit of fellowship, cooperation and respect.'

Lusk and fellow Big Spring resident Patricia Flores, assistant registrar at Howard College, will be joined by three other women from the district. They are Kali Smith of Dumas, Leslie Dutton and Lubbock.

The groups are chosen in advance each year, and spend months planning and preparing for their stay.

Stanton ISD trustees combine principal jobs

By LYNDEL MOODY

STANTON Stanton Independent School District (SISD) trustees have decided to combine the duties of the elementary and junior high principals for a temporary time.

The SISD board held a special meeting to discuss the elementary principal position currently held by Lance Morton, resigned on Feb. 12.

Morton, who has been with the SISD for about 10 years, currently plans to finish the year, White said. "We will expand the duties of Cindy Riney, (the

pal) to include kindergarten through eighth grade," said Jim White, superintendent for SISD. "We will hire an assistant for her.

"We would like to have her work with the assistant for two years with the idea of the assistant moving into the elementary principal position," White continued.

According to White, the combination of the two jobs will be doubling the work load of Riney who will receive a raise for the added responsibilities

Rinev has been working for the SISD for almost 10 vears, beginning as a English teacher at Stanton High School. She has been

Baylor student wins $10,000 in Internet contest

WACO (AP) Baylor sophomore Stephen Klein wasn't expecting a package from Federal Express.

And he was unaware that surfing the Internet would be so profitable

When he opened the package Friday, Klein, a 20-yearold finance major, learned that he had won $10,000 in a drawing by iWon.com, an Internet company that offers a site people can use to search the World Wide Web.

"I was pretty shocked." he said. "You enter those things, but you never expect something to come of it. I've never won anything close to this. I think I won a camera once.

Samantha Better, public relations coordinator for iWon.com, said Klein won in a daily drawing for the $10,000 the company offers to individuals who register and use the site. When people use the site they are given points, which are then used in the drawing.

"Basically, each point is like an individual raffle ticket," she said. "They are randomly selected by a computer, and that person gets the $10,000.

Klein, who has been told he'll receive the money in about 30 days, said he plans to put most of the money toward his tuition, but he will also set some aside for a vacation this summer.

"My dad and I have been talking, and I think we are going to take a trip to the Grand Canyon, and then up to Yellowstone," he said. I have been wanting to do

Pediatricians say they ean't afford to treat poor ehildren

EL PASO, Texas (AP) Children newly enrolled in Texas' health plans for the poor are being turned away by a third of the pediatricians in this West Texas

The doctors say they are paid too little to see the overwhelming numbers who need their help. Other pediatricians are warning they will follow suit, threatening access to health care for some of El Paso's most vulnerable children, the El Paso Times reported in Sunday's editions

Seven doctors at El Paso Pediatric Associates no longer take new patients enrolled in Medicaid or the Children's Health Insurance Program. Some doctors have left El Paso in recent months for jobs in other cities because of the low reimbursements. "Taking care of them is strictly a break-even proposition," said Dr. Stuart Kahn, one of the seven doctors. "They utilize services more, and they're sicker than our other patients. In the past several months, El Paso pediatricians have seen a dramatic increase in the number of poor patients in their practices, driven by successful community efforts to enroll children in Medicaid — the health insurance program for the poor - and in CHIP, a federally funded health insurance plan for the working poor, the doctors

But doctors are paid far less to treat those children than they would receive under commercial insurance plans - in many cases, half as much. For example, El Paso pediatricians make about $100 for a well-baby checkup covered by commercial insurance plans. But CHIP pays doctors $62 for the same service, and Medicaid pays $50

'Our rates are cut and cut and cut, and we have to work more and more to break even," Central El Paso pediatrician Dr. Arturo Casillas said. He has closed his practice to new CHIP clients and is considering telling his current CHIP patients to go elsewhere

A medical practice that carries more than 50 percent Medicaid or CHIP patients will go bankrupt. according to the Texas Medical Association.

In some cases, El Paso physicians are paid less for services than are physicians in other parts of Texas

"It's hypocritical for the state to say it cares about kids when the rates are so low." said Dr. Gilbert Handal, regional chairman of pediatrics for Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center in El Paso

Two years ago, state legislators boosted the Medicaid reimbursement rate by 2.7 percent — the first increase in eight years.

Countdown begins for first crew-swapping mission for station

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA the low 60s by Friday, Priselac said. began the countdown today for the first crew-swapping mission at the international space station. Space shuttle Discovery is scheduled to blast off at sunrise Thursday with a crew of seven, three of whom will remain at the space station until at least July. The shuttle is in excellent shape, but the cold could interfere. Shuttle weather officer Ed Priselac said there is a 30 percent chance that temperatures in the low to mid-40s could delay the flight. The concern is that ice buildup on the external fuel tank could break off during launch and strike the shuttle. Launch-time temperatures should reach months. We won't see you until the landing,

The chill did not affect the mood of the space station's next residents, Russian cosmonaut Yuri Usachev and American astronauts Jim Voss and Susan Helms. They will replace the three men who moved into space station Alpha in early November.

"We're ready to go up to the international space station, get firsthand information from the Expedition One crew, take over and stay there for 4) or five months," Voss said upon arriving at Kennedy Space Center late Sunday night.

Helms already is bracing for the possibility of a longer mission.

"We'll be up there a long time, several

Besides the so-called Expedition Two crew, Discovery will carry up a module filled with supplies, equipment and a few science experiments for the space station.

This reusable, cylindrical moving van, built in Italy and named Leonardo, will be attached to the space station. Once its contents are unloaded, the van will be returned to Discovery's cargo bay for the trip back to Space shuttle Atlantis returned to Kennedy Space Center on Monday, almost two weeks after landing at Edwards Air Force Base in California. Atlantis was diverted to California because of bad weather in Cape Canaveral, after successfully delivering the U.S. Destiny laboratory to the space station. The shuttle made the cross-country trip bolted to the top of a jumbo jet.

NASA test director Jeff Spaulding acknowledged that the shuttle launch pace has been quick, especially in the past month. But he added: "I think it's a good Helms called out a special hello to her 7year-old nephew, Bryant West, who traveled to the launch site fre Wichita, Kan. He had to keep a safe distance from the crew to prevent the spread of germs.

"Bryant, I won't see you for about six months," Helms said. "But please be there to greet me on landing.'

Former first lady, President Bush christen carrier

(AP) — Former first lady Nancy Reagan christened a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier in the name of her husband on their 49th wedding anniversary.

But it was President Bush – not former President Reagan - who stood at Mrs. Reagan's side Sunday as she broke a ceremonial bottle of American sparkling wine against the ship's bow

The former president, who turned 90 on Feb. 6, has Alzheimer's disease and was home in California recovering from a broken hip he suffered in a fall in January.

"I want to thank the Navy for giving us such a wonderful present, such a little thing," Mrs. Reagan said of the massive, $4 billion ship — the first carrier to be christened in the name of a living former president.

"I wish Ronnie were here," she said as the crowd cheered. "But somehow, I think he is.'

Bush, the principal in Georgia.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. speaker at the event, hailed Reagan as a great leader and an advocate of naval power. By the time Reagan left office in 1989, the Navy had 15 carriers and nearly 600 ships. Today, it has 12 carriers and about half as many ships.

"Upon this ship we have put the finest of American names," Bush said. He promised to build military strength in keeping with Reagan's "vision of optimism, modesty and resolve.

"When we send her off to sea, it is certain the Ronald Reagan will meet with rough waters as well as smooth," the president said. "But she will sail tall and strong like the man we have known. ... All of us here wish the ship Ronald Reagan Godspeed. And we wish Ronald Reagan God's blessings.

Service road changes are anticipated ou've no doubt heard by now about the FM 700 project, the planned changes along the services roads and U.S. Highway 87 overpass at around Wal-

Basically, they entail making the north service road one-way going west and the south service road one-way going east. An exception is the southwest quadrant, that section from U.S. 87 west to Wasson Road. That stretch will remain two-way, to allow traffic easier access to the Coronado subdivision.

There are two other major parts to the plan. One is to construct a U-turn on the east side of the U.S. 87 overpass, to allow traffic heading west to curve back around to the east without having to go through stop lights. The third part is moving the FM 700 exit just east of U.S. 87 farther east by about 1,000 feet.

There are other changes, primarily pertaining to traffic signal lights, all designed to move traffic project through the area more easily.

And that's the purpose of the entire scheme to get traffic through the signals at U.S. 87 and Goliad more quickly, and in a safe manner.

It will be a while before anything takes place. The Texas Department of Transportation project won't go out for bid until late this year and construction isn't expected to start until early in 2002. And perhaps that's good, because we think one road construction project at a time in our city is enough

But we should point out that one plus during construction of the FM 700 project is it will not cause the traffic tie-ups and delays that have occurred with the U.S. 87 renovation between Fourth Street and Interstate 20. That's because most of the work involved with the FM 700 project will be additions. Roads won't be torn up in

Yes, there maybe some construction to maneu ver around when the U-turn is being built and the exit ramp on the north side is put in. But these will be minimal inconveniences.

Overall, the FM 700 project is one designed to improve safety and traffic flow. It's a while off yet, but we're already looking forward to the finished product.

Napster may be on its way out, but America's music industry still has to contend with the unregulated swapping of copyrighted songs on the Internet.

As officials with the Freedom Forum noted, the First Amendment guarantees freedom of music, not free music

Napster had appealed on the basis that sharing music over the Internet was no different from taping a TV show to watch later or giving a friend a tape of favorite tunes. The court, however,

Numerous other sites exist on the Internet to exchange music

Enforcing any ban on music-swapping will be difficult.

The music industry must adapt and learn to use the new technology to its advantage. That means coming up with a way to distribute music online.

Of course, the reason that credit-card companies are having increasing difficulty collecting debts is because they have been pursuing a policy of pushing credit cards on those with marginal credit. So we need to bail the companies out by making life harder for every worker who loses a job.

As though this were not festive enough, we also have Shrub Gits Tuff on Foreign Policy. I am deeply indebted to Charles Krauthammer of Time magazine for elucidating "the Bush Doctrine." He is particularly pleased that the United Krauthammer, the Boy Bismarck, has found the answer. We're looking at a horribly destabilized nuclear power with 5,000 warheads lying around. Let's kick it in the ribs a few times and see how it likes that. How many times was Rome invaded by barbarians?

Meanwhile, here I am in New York City, where Mayor Rudy Giuliani is having a cow because some museum put up a picture of a naked lady in the Last Supper place of Jesus. The mayor is so upset that he wants to yank public funding for the museum and set up a League of Decency to decide whether or not naked ladies are art.

This is clearly a good idea. The mayor, who is in the middle of a messy divorce, should appoint both his wife and his girlfriend to the League of Decency to help make these decisions.

Why does this remind me of the Republicans investigating Bill Clinton to see if campaign contributions influenced his decisions?

Meanwhile, everybody in town is going to see the naked lady because this is New York and they're all art critics. Is this a great country or what?

Stanford still unanimous No. 1 pick in AP men's poll

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the second straight week and third time this season, Stanford was a unanimous No. 1 in The Associated Press college basketball

The Cardinal (27-1), who avenged their only loss of the season last weekend with a victory at UCLA, received all 70 first-place votes and 1.750 points from the national media panel Monday.

This is the third consecutive week Stanford has been atop the rankings and the seventh time this season. Its first appearance at No. 1 this season, on Jan. 8, was a unanimous selection.

Stanford, the only Division I team with less than three losses, clinched at least a share of the Pac-10 title with the 85-79 win over UCLA. The this week with home games against Arizona and Arizona State.

Michigan State (24-3) moved up one place to second in the next-tolast poll of the season after beating Wisconsin and Michigan last week to earn a share of the Big Ten regular-season title.

Duke (26-4), which beat North Carolina on Sunday to share the Atlantic Coast Conference regularseason title, dropped from second to third. The Blue Devils lost to Maryland earlier in the week.

Illinois, the co-champion of the Big Ten with Michigan State after beating Minnesota on Sunday, moved from fifth to fourth. Florida, Cardinal close their regular season—which beat Kentucky on Sunday to earn a share of the Southeastern Conference regular-season championship, also moved up one place and was fifth

North Carolina dropped two spots to sixth and was followed in the Top Ten by Iowa State, Arizona, Kansas and Boston College

Maryland, which followed its 91-80 win over Duke with a 102-67 victory over then No. 7 Virginia, made the week's biggest jump, from 16th to No. 11. Virginia dropped five spots to 12th and was followed in the Second Ten by UCLA, Mississippi Kentucky, Oklahoma, Syracuse, Georgetown, Notre Dame and

The last five ranked teams were Joseph's. Wake Forest. Wisconsin, Ohio State and Fresno State.

The appearance is the first of the season for Ohio State (20-9), which has won seven of eight, including a victory over Illinois

Fresno State (24-5) returned to the Top 25 after being out the last two weeks. The Bulldogs, who won the Western Athletic Conference regular-season title, have won four straight after losing consecutive road games to TCU and UTEP.

The Hawks split another twinbill with the Chaparrals on Sunday, suffering a 6-5 loss in the opener before rebounding for an 8-3 win. The split improved the Hawks' record to 3-1 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play.

Tiger loses more than tourney in hitting water on final hole

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) Woods lost more than a tournament in the Dubai Desert Classic. He lost some of the fear factor, too.

To the chagrin of thousands of fans lining the 18th fairway Sunday waiting for Woods to win, he blew it when he hit into the water hazard for a double-bogey 7. That allowed Thomas Bjorn of Denmark to get the winner's trophy with a simple

'The intimidation is disappearing," Bjorn said. "People are now starting to realize you can't get intimidated by him. You have to beat him. "A lot of people are talking about Tiger being in a slump. That's way out of proportion. The guy is playing fantastic golf. He just hasn't won in the last couple of weeks."

The disappointed fans included Dubai's Crown Prince Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, the world's richest thoroughbred owner who named a promising 2-year-old colt "Dubai Tiger" and gave appearance money.

Woods has lost before. This time, he seemed to crack

Bjorn, Woods' playing partner for four straight days, parred the 547-yard hole for a 3-under 69 and a composite 22-under 266 two better than Woods (72) and Padraig Harrington

Ian Woosnam (69) and Mathias Gronberg (68) were 4 shots back, with Indian Jeev Milkha Singh (71) and England's Brian Davis (70) another shot behind. Dead even after the Dane birdied the 17th from 8 feet and Woods missed his from 10 feet, the American made three mistakes on his next three shots. Woods pushed his tee shot amid clumps of brush and low-hanging tree branches. He escaped with an 8-iron, but the shot went long across the fairway into thick rough Next, he drew on a 9-iron from 150 yards, but his touch was too soft, and the ball dropped inches short into a pond guarding the green.

"From the rough, I actual-Woods about $2 million in ly hit a pretty good shot, but I was protecting against the flier," said Woods, who rushed to a waiting plane with few comments after his round

His trip to the Middle East took 25 hours. The return must have seemed longer.

'Hats off to Thomas, he played well all week and he deserves the title." Woods said. "I didn't really feel as comfortable as I needed to feel on the final day with my golf swing and putting stroke. Bjorn joined a short but growing list of players who've beaten Woods down the stretch. The American is still ranked as the world's best, but he's not as intimidating

'This is the best perfor mance of my life by far. the 30-year-old Dane said. "I've won plenty of golf tournaments. I played in the Ryder Cup and came back from 4 down after four, but this is the performance of my life.

"The world's greatest player was here and I took him on head to head.

Woods' last U.S. Tour victory came in September in Canadian Open. although he's won three non-tour events since then.

ence, the Duke Blue Devils stayed outside and made ACC history

With Jason Williams scoring 33 points and Shane Battier getting 25 points, 11 rebounds and five blocks, the third-ranked Blue Devils went 14-for-38 from 3point range Sunday in a 95-81 victory over No. 6 North Carolina.

Duke (26-4, 13-3), playing without injured starting center Carlos Boozer. moved into a tie for first place with the Tar Heels (23-5, 13-3), setting an Atlantic Coast Conference record by winning or tying for its fifth straight league title

'This is the result of coming to work every single day with the dedication needed to be a champion." Battier said. "Not once, but five Duke improved to 19-0 this times. That will be some-season when scoring 90 or thing to look back on.'

While it seemed everyone else was worried about how Duke could make up for the loss of Boozer, who broke a bone in is right foot, the Blue Devils concentrated on other things

We came into this game not worrying about Xs and Os." said freshman Chris Duhon, who had 15 points and four assists in his first coreer start. "This game was more about heart and desire and a will to win. We knew we were outsized, we knew we were going against the world, but we had a bigger heart, a bigger will to come out and quiet all the Williams was 7-for-13 from 3-point range, while Battier was 4-for-10 as the Blue Devils won in Chapel Hill for the third straight year. The 38 3-point attempts tied a school record set earlier this season against North Carolina A&T.

The way they played broke our rhythm," UNC coach Matt Doherty said. "I don't think we were real sharp handling the basketball. You've got to give them a lot of credit because they came into a tough situation being a man down.

In other games involving other co-champion.

ranked teams on Sunday, it was No. 4 Illinois 67 Minnesota 59; No. 5 Florida 94, No. 15 Kentucky 86; No. 9 Kansas 75, Missouri 59: No. 17 Syracuse 93, St John's 91 in double overtime: No. 18 Georgetown 79, No. 19 Notre Dame 72; No. 22 Wake Forest 76, North Carolina State 58; and Dayton 65, Xavier 62.

Joseph Forte, the ACC's leading scorer, led the Tar Heels with 21 points.

Duke led by two at halftime, but gradually pulled away midway through the second half. The Blue Devils went up 72-57 with 11:55 left on a layup by Mike Dunleavy

The Tar Heels were shooting for their first outright ACC regular-season title in eight seasons, but the Smith Center crowd instead exited early on Senior Day as more points.

"They took something away from us - definitely. North Carolina's Jason Capel said.

The victory also gave Duke an ACC-record 124 wins in a four-year period. breaking the mark of the Duke teams from 1989-92.

Frank Williams scored 15 points to lead the visiting Illini (23-6, 13-3) to a share of their second Big Ten Conference title in four seasons. Bill Self became the first coach in 22 years to win a title in his first season in the Big Ten. Because of their win over co-champion Michigan State in their only meeting, the Illini will be the top seed in this week's conference tourna-

Questions remain after Ruiz gets decision over Holyfield

LAS VEGAS (AP) — In the days before he fought Evander Holyfield, John Ruiz wondered what the boxing world would think if he beat him. Did he beat a great champion who never gives up? Or did he beat an aging fighter who doesn't know when to give up? It might end up being a bit of both. But for now, Ruiz knows one thing for sure — he beat a heavyweight champion. "It can only get easier now because he's one tough guy," Ruiz said. "I hope he retires because I don't want to see him again.' Ruiz almost couldn't see Holyfield in the late rounds of Saturday night's fight. Both of his eyes were swelling shut, and blood was flowing from three cuts on his face. Ruiz went down in the 10th round on a low blow, and Holyfield seemed to be rallying, just as he did the first time the two met. But then a crashing right hand to the head of Holyfield early in the 11th round put the champion on the canvas and Ruiz back on top.

Two rounds later, Ruiz had a unanimous decision that made him the first Hispanic to win a piece of he heavyweight title.

"It's a joy and an honor," Ruiz said. "I feel speechless."

True, the fight was for the WBA portion of the title that a judge ordered stripped from Lennox Lewis. True, most of the world considers Lewis the real heavyweight

And, yes, Holyfield appeared to be a shell at the age of 38 that he was of the fighter who beat Mike Tyson. But the improbable rise of Ruiz to the position where he can call himself a champion is still quite remarkable indeed, considering this was the same heavyweight who was knocked out in 19 seconds by David Tua five years ago.

"John Ruiz is everything that is good about boxing," said his manager, Norman Stone. "We made it to the top on credit cards. Everybody knocked John Ruiz.'

It was an ugly fight filled with fouls and clinches, and Ruiz's bloodied and puffy face looked even worse. But he triumphed in a war against the fighter who calls himself a warrior.

"This proves John Ruiz is a good fighter," Holyfield said. "I thought I was winning the fight. Unfortunately, he hit me with an overhand right to the temple.

Exposed once again Saturday night as an aging fighter, Holyfield must now answer the questions about why he continues to fight. And continue he will, vowed Holyfield, on his way to a fifth world title

"It's not over with me," Holyfield said. "There's nothing to think about. I will go out on top and I will go out as a champion.

Ruiz, nothing more than a journeyman before dropping a close decision to Holyfield when they met last August, evened things in the rematch when he took control of a close fight with a huge right hand early in the 11th round that put Holyfield down for one of the few times in his career.

Holyfield got up, but desperately hung on to Ruiz the rest of the round, at one point grabbing him around the waist and stumbling all the way across the ring hanging on so he wouldn't fall down.

There was no question about the unanimous decision, but there were some about the legitimacy of the title in a division where Lewis is considered by almost all to be the true champion.

Mom hopes letter will

Dear Ann Landers: I know I can't be the only single mother with this problem, so I hope you will allow me to use your column to write a letter to mv ex-husband. Maybe it will help him see the light.

Dear Ex: I know the children haven't spoken to you for several months They are old enough now to call and visit you on their own if they wish. I asked them to call you today because I think it is important they stay in touch with you. I didn't do it for your sake. I did it for theirs. You have been telling people I "turned the children against you." I didn't have to do that. You did it all by yourself. You criticized and yelled at them during courtordered visitations. When you refused to pay child support, I had to get your wages garnished — twice. Then you lied about your income, putting some of your money in your new wife's name. You should be ashamed. You profess to love your children, but you don't want to support or care for them. You might want to know how your children are doing, but you never bother to call. Your oldest is in medical school. The middle child is studying pre-law in college. The youngest is on the honor roll in high school. You haven't sent them a birthday card, graduation card or holiday gift in years. These are not stupid kids. They know you just bought a big house with a swimming pool. When you refused to help pay their college tuition, they figured out where that money went I hope someday soon you will wake up and smell the coffee. Get to know these three great kids while they are still willing. It's becoming harder every day to get HOUSES FOR Ex-Wife in the Midwest Dear Midwest Wife: Give up, already. Your ex-husband may never appreciate his wonderful children, and if you keep harboring a grudge, it will look as if the person with the problem is Granted, you deserve high marks for raising such successful children on vour own, but two are adults now, and the third is well on his way. So, put away the crying towel and the hatchet, and enjoy the fruits of your labors. Forget about the no-goodnik. Apparently, his children already have. Dear Ann Landers: I am 27 years old, and my sweetheart, "Beatrice," is 22. We have been going together for almost a year, and we get along great. We are honest with each other and care deeply for one another. I am in college and work two jobs. I also do a lot of work around my apartment. Beatrice graduated from high school four years ago and has neither applied to college, nor has she found a job. She lives with her parents, and they support her. Whenever I bring up the subject of college or work and try to give her some guidance, she pretends to listen to my advice, but nothing changes. Beatrice is intelligent and perfectly capable of handling college and/or a job. Why won't she do something with her life? Please help me understand and tell me what I can do to help. — Jerry in Iowa

Dear Jerry: I see several things at work here – a lack of confidence, clinical depression, and the possibility that Beatrice is a freeloader. Four years is a long time to be sitting around doing nothing. It doesn't help that her parents are supporting her and expect zilch in return. Beatrice needs professional help to get out of this rut Please see that she gets it as soon as possible.
