County commissioners renew nightly curfew for youth

By CARL GRAHAM Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners on Tuesday renewed the county curfew and decided to return funds designated for use to train constables to the state.

PRITCHETT

Commissioners renewed the curfew, which prohibits youth under the age of 19 from being out on the streets and county roads after 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and after midnight Friday and Saturdays.

"The curfew is not set to harass teenagers," said Howard County Chief Deputy Gary Pritchett. "That is not the purpose at all. It is for the good of the citizens because chances are if teens are out after those hours they may be into mischief. That's usually the time that acts of criminal mischief occur. Unless we are really having a major problem with teens out late we will not be bothering them."

The curfew includes the communities of Sand Springs, Coahoma and Forsan. Big Spring City Council recently renewed the same curfew for residents of Big Spring.

In other action, commissioners decided to return some $7,300 to the state. The funds are generated by county fines and can only be used for training certain certified peace officers, including constables. However, the training is for peace officers who work full-time and make at least minimum wage.

In Howard County, constables' salaries are not set at minimum wage, nor are they considered full-time employees. County Attorney Mike Thomas advised the court to return the funds to the state. The commissioners agreed with Thomas and voted to return the funds.

Several changes were made in the county employee handbooks. Among them was to reinstate longevity pay for employees who, upon return, accumulate a total of three years of employment with the county. Longevity pay is given to those with three years or more service and amounts to an extra $10 per month.

With a big splash, pool reopens

By BILL McCLELLAN News Editor

Splash-In at the newly renovated Comanche Trail Park Swimming Pool has been deemed a success by city officials who were encouraged by a turnout of some 1,400 people.

"It went great, the whole day. Everyone turned out and it was a big success," said Becky Crane, city parks and recreation supervisor.

The event, co-sponsored by the city and KBST Radio, included scooter and kite-flying contests and the showing of a Disney movie, "The Emperor's New Groove" at the amphitheater.

The highlight, of course, was the reopening of the pool, which was closed last summer.

"Everyone seemed to be excited about the renovations and, too, about the slide's arrival in the next few weeks," said Crane.

New water spouts and an umbrella fountain were among the main attractions at the pool, but there was not enough time to install a dual tube slide. Officials are hoping the slide can be installed next week, or on June 11, a Monday, when the pool is closed.

The umbrella fountain was a popular item at the Memorial Day Splash-In Monday to open the newly renovated city pool as children and adults gathered under the waterfall. The event brought out thousands of people who waited in line sometimes more than an hour for their chance to swim.

Pool hours are 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, with admission set at $3.

Family Night is 7 to 9 each Thursday. Groups can rent the pool on other evenings for private parties.

Crane said public response for "The Emperor's Groove" Monday night at the amphitheater will likely prompt more outdoor movies. As many as 750 people attended the movie.

"We are thinking every third Saturday, but we'll see how it goes," she said. "We may be looking for some sponsors to help us with the cost of the movies. But it looks like something the community would really turn out for.

"It certainly works to our end to see the amphitheater get more use. It's very positive for the community," she said.

Once the city determines a schedule, the public will be notified and a list of movies will be published.

Senior Safety Workshop to provide helpful tips

By LYNDEL MOODY Staff Writer

A Senior Safety Workshop has been set for Thursday, June 7, at the Dora Roberts Community Center and will focus on medication, exercise and driving safety.

"The RSVP and SALT council want to cover some areas we feel senior citizens need to know in safety issues," said Nancy Jones.

Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) project coordinator.

The program will include three 45-minute sessions and is sponsored by RSVP and the Howard County Seniors and Law Enforcement Together (SALT). The three-hour program begins at 9 a.m.

Randall Deavers, coordinator of traffic safety programs for older adults with the Texas Department of Health, will give a presentation on safe drivers and riders.

"There are some things we need to be aware of as we age," Jones said.

"Randall will be giving some driving tips. He is very entertaining and will have some fun things for us to do."

Paula Hunt, administrator for the Dora Roberts Wellness Clinic, will demonstrate exercise and fitness safety.

"Some exercises that are right for a 25-year-old should not be done by a 65-year-old," Jones said.

Jan O'Hern, an information and referral specialist with the Permian Basin Regional Council on Drug and Alcohol Abuse, will give a presentation on medication safety.

Jones said the purpose is to make people aware of the interactions of different drugs when taken together or taken within a period of time.

"Those who go to many doctors may have prescriptions that interfere with each other," Jones said. "There are some herbs that interfere with some prescription drugs."

There will be breaks and refreshments.

"You don't have to be elderly to come," Jones said. "You can come to find out information for a parent."

The event is open to the public and is free.

'Nature Walks' returns to Big Spring State Park

By BILL McCLELLAN News Editor

Individuals, couples and families interested in learning more about the flora and fauna on Scenic Mountain are invited to participate in the Nature Walks program which will be held the first four Saturdays in June at Big Spring State Park.

Park manager Ron Alton is the guide. "I usually recommend that folks going on the walk bring a flashlight, a pair of binoculars and water," said

Alton. "They can wear flip-flops if they want, but tennis shoes and boots are more appropriate."

Walkers gather at the pavilion at the top of the park at 8 p.m. The mile-long walk leads down to the prairie dog town and back up again. The walks are open to anyone, but caution is advised for some.

"It's quite a grade coming back up, maybe for a half-mile, and coupled with the heat it can be pretty strenuous," said Alton. "People will want to take that into consideration."

An added treat is a chance to look a century old rock carvings in the native limestone.

The walk ends about 9 p.m. The cost of $2 per adult

Arrest

Deputies jail man in death of Midlander whose body was burned

By CARL GRAHAM Staff Writer

A Big Spring man has been arrested and charged with the murder of Midland resident Bob Joe Counce, whose remains were discovered May 5 in a burned vehicle in rural Howard County.

FRIDAY

Carl Stanley Friday, 27, was arrested about 5 p.m. Tuesday by Howard County Sheriff's Department investigator Brad Ingram and charged with murder and revocation of parole.

Sheriff's office personnel said Friday has a record of prior arrests on charges of arson, burglary and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Sheriff Dale Walker said other arrests may follow.

Counce's body was discovered by a sheriff's deputy on patrol about 3:30 a.m. on May 5 in the burned vehicle along FM 669.

The body was burned so badly that dental records had to be used to identify the body as that of the 64-year-old Counce.

Walker said it was clear to investigators that not only was the death a homicide, but the suspects had attempted to cover up the crime by setting fire to the vehicle.

Investigators obtained telephone records which led them to suspects in Big Spring, the sheriff said.

Walker added that several people were interviewed.

including family members of the victim and several of his associates in Big Spring and Midland.

Information from those interviews kept pointing to suspects in Big Spring, the sheriff continued.

Cooce was seen at several locations in Big Spring with the suspects on May 3.

"I said suspects because this case is by no means closed," said Walker. "We have just one arrest and we feel there may be more before we can close the case entirely."

Walker said he would not comment on who the other suspect or suspects were.

"We will see that the person or persons involved in this serious crime will be brought to justice," Walker said.

Deputies have been aided in their investigation by the Big Spring Police Department, Big Spring Fire Department, Fire Marshal Carl Condray, the Midland Police Department, the Houston Police Department, the Department of Public Safety, the Howard County District Attorney's office, Texas Rangers and the FBI.

Ex-cop on probation in missing funds case

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A judge has sentenced a former San Antonio police officer to a 90-day jail term and probation in connection with the disappearance of more than $6,000 in Crimestoppers reward money.

Richard Obrenovich, who faced a five-year maximum prison sentence, was granted the lighter sentence due to what appeared to be an otherwise reputable law enforcement career, state District Judge Philip Kazen said.

Obrenovich, 38, was also ordered to serve 320 hours of community service.

Obrenovich resigned from the department in January, after he was accused of borrowing money from the reward fund to get out of a "financial bind," said defense attorney Lyndee Bordini.

The habit spiraled out of control and eventually he was unable to replace the money, Bordini said.

Obrenovich has paid restitution of $6,600, as agreed to last month when he pleaded no contest to theft by a public servant.

Obrenovich, who was program coordinator for Crimestoppers, used official records to call posing as an anonymous tipster, authorities said.

Family's home destroyed as tornado plows through Panhandle farm

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Debbie Martin was preparing supper for her husband and four children Tuesday evening when the family saw a tornado witnesses have described as half-mile wide at the base heading toward their farmhouse. The family loaded up in two pickups, heading in what they thought was the opposite direction. When they got onto the highway, though, the tornado was running parallel to their vehicles before turning toward their rural Carson County home.

"It was awful," Martin, 38, said late Tuesday night. "It was terrifying. The tornado was between us and the house and that was it."

Their 2,200 square-foot farmhouse, two vehicles left on the land and a horse trailer were destroyed when the tornado hit. Martin, her husband and four children, ages, 18, 14, 7 and 5, survived.

"I was trying to cook supper and I have no idea where it's at — the steak and potatoes and the corn are all gone," she said.

Part of the house was thrown many feet onto railroad tracks. She said they had been leasing the house for about a year and had no insurance.

"We have an old cellar, (but) as big as that tornado was we decided to leave," Martin said. "The roof was totally taken off. All the walls are caving in."

A grain elevator near their home, located between Panhandle and White Deer, was also damaged.

"We're lucky that we did not have any fatalities," said Carson County Judge Lewis Powers.

He said the scale house on the grain elevator was destroyed. Witnesses said the tornado then lifted up over the small town of White Deer.

"It got right up to the edge of White Deer and lifted up or we would have really been in trouble," said Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Wayne Beighle. "We were real fortunate."

No one was injured as the intense storms moved through the Panhandle.

Beighle said 50 power poles were knocked down.

U.S. 60 between Panhandle and White Deer remained closed for several hours Tuesday night because of the downed lines. Rail traffic on the Burlington Northern Santa Fe line that parallels the highway also was closed.

Beighle said several head of cattle were killed. The exact number was to be determined today when daylight allowed a better inspection of the area.

National Weather Service meteorologist Joe Harris said numerous Texas counties were placed under tornado warnings and severe thunderstorm warnings. The storms dumped pea-to baseball-sized hail across the area.

Another tornado touched down near U.S. 287 between Quanah and Chillicothe late Tuesday night, damaging power lines and types, Hardeman County dispatcher Luann Elmore.

She said part of U.S. 287 was shut down for a time due to the tornado. She also said a tractor-trailer overturned on U.S. 287 and the driver was hospitalized, but his injuries did not appear to be serious.

Childress police spokeswoman Donna Hernandez said high winds flattened a barn and overturned a vehicle in Childress County.

Embassy bombings trial now entering death penalty phase

NEW YORK (AP) — Calling guilty verdicts against four men implicated in the bombings of U.S. embassies in Africa "a triumph for world justice," prosecutors must now try to convince a jury why two of the men should be put to death.

The same panel that convicted the four accused followers of Osama bin Laden will decide the death penalty part of the case, which was to begin Wednesday in federal court in Manhattan.

They were found guilty Tuesday of a global conspiracy to murder Americans, including the 1998 bombings of U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania that killed 224 people, including 12 Americans, and injured thousands of others in a hail of rubble and shattered glass.

"I am very happy, justice has been done," Charles Abiud, who was in a building that collapsed when the bomb exploded at the embassy next door, said from Nairobi.

The verdicts capped three months of testimony and 12 days of deliberations as jurors meticulously worked on the daunting task of completing the 61-page, 302-count verdict. The four men were convicted of all 302 counts. Two could be sentenced to death, while the others face a maximum of life in prison.

"Taking into account what these men have done, they should have to pay," said Adadi Rajabu, director of criminal investigations for Tanzania, who headed his nation's investigation of the bombing. "They should be hanged."

Attorneys for Mohamed Rashed Daoud Al-Owhali, 24, and Khalifan Khamis Mohamed, 27, — who face the death penalty — have admitted their clients were involved in the bombings. But they have argued that their roles were minimal compared to other defendants who will not face death.

Defense lawyers have signaled they plan to portray Mohamed as a mere foot soldier in the bomb conspiracy who is sorry about its outcome. By contrast, jurors will hear that Al-Owhali killed in defense of fellow Muslims he felt were under siege.

Prosecutors were expected to call maimed survivors of the blasts to the witness stand and display graphic crime scene photos — evidence the defense unsuccessfully fought to have excluded.

Ellen Bomer was blinded by the terrorist blast in Kenya, and she never saw the men responsible for her loss. But the sound of their convictions was welcome news.

"It was the sound I wanted to hear," said Bomer. "I felt like standing up and singing out 'Handel's Messiah' — 'Alleluia, alleluia.'"

The defendants showed little reaction as the verdicts were announced. Mohamed Sadeek Odeh, 36, who faces life in prison along with Wadih El-Hage, 40, of Arlington, Texas, took notes.

U.S. Attorney Mary Jo White called Tuesday's verdicts "a triumph for world justice and for world unity in combating international terrorism."

In the first phase of the trial, jurors heard FBI testimony that Al-Owhali confessed to riding in a bomb-laden truck to the embassy in Kenya, and tossing stun grenades to distract guards. The FBI said Mohamed helped grind TNT for the bomb in Tanzania before loading the bomb truck, seeing it off and praying it would succeed.

In court papers, Mohamed's attorneys said he should be spared death for giving the FBI "a complete and truthful statement of his role," acting "out of sincere religious belief," being remorseful, and "being improperly removed from South Africa" where he was arrested.

Lawyers for Al-Owhali have said they plan to show he was "exposed to teachings and materials which promoted jihad and martyrdom at an early age." The defendant believed the bombings were staged to prevent "acts of genocide," like the killings of Iraqi women and children in U.S. air raids, papers said.

The verdicts set the stage for more trials: Six other defendants charged with conspiracy are in custody. Thirteen more are still at large, including bin Laden. Afghanistan's ruling Taliban said convictions over the bombing were "unfair" and vowed never to hand over bin Laden.

Deliberation in yogurt shop murder case

AUSTIN (AP) — A West Virginia man accused of killing a teen-age girl in a Central Texas yogurt shop almost a decade ago says his confession was coerced, while prosecutors contend he is making up stories to hide his crime.

Jurors were set today to continue deliberating the fate of Robert Burns Springsteen IV, who would face the death penalty if convicted of capital murder in the shooting death of Amy Ayers, 13.

Springsteen's defense lawyers on Tuesday urged jurors to acquit him despite a confession given to police in 1999.

Springsteen took the witness stand during the three-week-long trial to proclaim his innocence.

The 12-person jury deliberated for about six hours Tuesday before breaking for the night at 7 p.m. The panel was sequestered overnight.

Springsteen, 26, is accused of killing Ayers during a botched robbery that turned into murder on the night of Dec. 6, 1991 at an I Can't Believe It's Yogurt shop.

Eliza Hope Thomas, 17, and sisters Jennifer and Sarah Harbison, 15 and 17, also were killed. All four girls were bound, gagged and shot in the head. The store was then set on fire.

The 1999 confession, in which Springsteen admitted killing Ayers, is the key piece of evidence. Prosecutors have no physical evidence against him as the crime scene was destroyed by the fire.

Springsteen's lawyers say police manipulated the high school dropout into giving his confession during a videotaped statement given in Charleston, W.Va. They have pointed to other early confessions from suspects that were discounted by police.

"If we're going to kill someone on the basis of their word, shouldn't we be sure that they're accurate?" said defense lawyer Joe James Sawyer.

Prosecutors called Springsteen a liar who consistently made up different stories to avoid prosecution.

Prosecutors say details of Springsteen's confession match those given by another suspect, Michael Scott, and that Springsteen gave details that could only be known by the killers.

Take a hike! You will be glad you did

Put on those hiking boots. Well, lace up the tennis shoes anyway, and plan to take advantage of a program put on by Ron Alton at the Big Spring State Park. Beginning Saturday, and for the next four weekends, park manager Alton will lead groups of people along a one-mile hiking trail on Scenic Mountain in an event appropriately called Nature Walks. Along the way, he'll point out native plants and other points of interest, including some century old rock carvings. The cost is simply admission to the state park — $2 for everyone age 13 and older. The hike begins at the pavilion on top of Scenic Mountain. Be there before 8 p.m. and expect to be through in about an hour. Because the event ends about dark, a flashlight is necessary. Alton does caution that the trail drops significantly, meaning half of the walk is up a pretty steep grade. Also, our weather these days is pretty warm even by 8 in the evening, so appropriate dress and some water are recommended. Nature Walks is a good way to learn about the flora and fauna in our area. Those who participate in the walk usually get a chance to see some of the more common forms of wildlife as well, so binoculars are helpful. Nature Walks are good fun, especially for small groups and families wanting to do things together. A picnic in the park early in the evening could be an added treat. For those who haven't been to the state park, the 200-foot bluff offers an amazing few of Big Spring and the surrounding area. There are playground facilities right near the pavilion and restrooms are close by. Take advantage of one of the more unique programs our area has to offer. We are sure you'll enjoy it.

TO THE EDITOR:

I wanted to thank Dorothy Kennemur, Bill Gonzalez, Sam Barrow, Donna Groenke, Tom Lucas, Vaughn Martin, Rees Moren, Bobbi Leonard and the staff of the Spring City Senior Center for their hard work to make the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program successful in Big Spring.

The individuals spent many hours learning tax law and preparing returns for other members of the community free of charge. The senior center supported the program by providing space and access to a telephone and copier.

It is a pleasure to offer the program to a community that is so willing to help people. Thank you for all your help.

TO THE EDITOR:

For a long time neighboring communities have thought Big Spring was just a tall building surrounded by Episcopalians.

I'm glad to see efforts being made to put a fountain in our town lake.

Proud member of the Clean Plate Club

In elementary school, the only club I belonged to was the Clean Plate Club. If you finished every morsel on your lunchroom plate, ate all the mush and mystery meat, you got to wear a button that said Clean Plate Club.

Those were the days before little girls longed — and suffered — to be like Sophia Loren or Annette Funicello. "Fun" wasn't part of Annette's name for nothing; she knew how to wear a sweater and what to do with a beach blanket. Thin, thank goodness, was not yet in.

We all were proud to wear the black-and-white button that said we'd scraped our plates. I guess our parents, too, were gratified when they saw we hadn't wasted their 35 cents' lunch money.

At a library meeting in Pike Road, Ala., the other day, I met the woman who started the Clean Plate Club. Her name was Miss Pugh.

"I was head of the lunchroom at Dalraida Elementary," she said. "I was the one who started the Clean Plate Club."

And then I remembered her sweet face, which had not changed. I could think back and imagine her overseeing the servers and watching as we youngsters marched through that lunchroom line and gratefully accepted a square meal on a rectangular tray.

It was a big deal back then, the Clean Plate Club. Everybody wanted to belong, if only you could get past the cooked carrots or the liver steak, the quicksand and swampy abyss of nutritional adventure.

My niece tells me these days you can buy fast food in school lunchrooms. You can order a taco or burger, for instance, instead of getting the meatloaf, English peas and creamed potatoes. The one meal of the day that might be balanced for children is all out of whack.

My memory of elementary-school lunch period is hazy but poignant. An impressionistic painting. Lunch was short and sweet. We lined up, walked down the hall without talking, got our groceries and sat down to eat. No nonsense, no food fights, no complaining. The milk came in little wax cartons, and you could buy an extra if you felt especially thirsty.

The teachers usually sat at a table together, no doubt swapping teacher tales. Unless we begged, and then some of the young ones might deign to sit with us.

Miss Watkins would. She was young and pretty, and we wanted her around. She wore high heels to school each morning, then slipped them off in exchange for velvety slippers. Nobody can chase fourth-graders in high heels.

Miss Watkins encouraged our creativity, letting us stage plays about Alabama history or whatever struck our fancy. I wrote an elaborate drama about Indians signing a peace treaty, smoking the pipe, only to be snookered once again by the fickle, feckless White Man.

Funny how I remember no first names of favorite teachers from that formative period. First names were off-limits, too familiar, like the teachers' lounge and restroom. You didn't dare use them. You'd think one might have sneaked into my consciousness, though, from a glimpse at a classroom roll or an office mailbox.

They were simply Miss Watkins, Miss Eason, Miss Gleason. It didn't matter if they were married or not; we probably didn't know to begin with, and the consistent courtesy title we used was "Miss."

It rocked our world if we returned from spring break or Christmas holiday and somehow got word that Miss Watkins had become Miss Smith, or if Miss Smith had become Miss Jones.

We spent the rest of the year trying to remember to use the right name.

I think consistency was what made life so much easier as a 1960s child. There were rules, we followed them, nobody yet suspected you could do otherwise.

We were almost robotic in a way, pledging allegiance to the flag, grouping around a linoleum rug to read, marching to lunch and cleaning our plates. We wanted to belong.

RHETA GRIMSLEY JOHNSON

Who cares about retirement?

I interviewed an 85-year-old man in Seminole one time. He worked at his real estate office every day, wore a tie and coat and walked with a lively step.

When he told me how old he was, I was surprised. I don't blame him for working way past retirement age.

Consider the alternative: getting old, fat, lazy and fuzzy-brained. Looking forward to doing the yard. Staying at home. Endless, mindless television.

My Army buddy in Minnesota is retired and now runs his wife crazy by staying around the house all the time. He finally got a part-time job building pallets just to get out for a few hours every day. I have another friend who has retired and brags about how little he does every day.

"I don't care how much fun you have working, retirement is better," he told me. He has just moved to Texas from Chicago. I asked him what was the high point of most of his days. "Going to get the paper barefooted," he replied.

These guys from up north just go crazy when they start enjoying our pleasant Texas climate and realize they don't have to shovel snow or do all that cold weather stuff any more.

I just realized I don't know any retired women. Interesting thought. Some of my friends have retired and that puzzles me. I don't know why they stopped working. They're perfectly healthy, have active minds and have proven themselves at whatever job they had to be able to take some time off, to do a few things, go to a few places, and return to work. But to retire?

I don't understand that. I've seen too many people turn mushy when they no longer have the responsibilities involved in working. They put on polyester leisure suits and grow fat. Smart, witty conversationalists at work become slow and dull in retirement. They miss working. Oh, yes, I've seen retired people who are very happy. Most of those are people who didn't like their jobs very much. They worked all those years just so they could retire. They put off doing things, waiting until they retired. Now they're too old to do all the things they thought about doing while they were working.

Personally, I've never considered retirement. I'm having to much fun working. Years ago I realized I can work and still have time to do what is important to me.

The things I want to do, I do. I make time for them. Work in the yard? You bet. Travel? Sure. Family time? Of course. Write books? Yep. One is with the publisher right now and another will get there before June.

I'm working on two new CDs. All that's in my spare time, apart from my "work." I put it in quotation marks because I've never considered what I do work. To me, it's fun. I get to drive around Texas and talk to people, then bring my recordings and memories back and share them.

Work? Not hardly. I probably couldn't do all those spare-time activities if I was retired.

Say whoa to condiments, heavy salad dressings and other sauces can be loaded with fat. Mexican food is a favorite, but opt for items that are not served with guacamole and sour cream.

What about daily vitamins, can you get these at the drive through? More than likely, you won't get all of the vitamins you need from a piece of lettuce and a slice of tomato. Remember, daily you need vitamin C and calcium which is found in citrus fruits and milk and you need vitamin A which can be found in dark green vegetables.

Who wants to count french fries as a vegetable?

Sorry, they don't make the grade. But, a baked potato is a good option, just lay off the sour cream, butter, cheese and bacon bits.

Also watch for sodium. A lot of foods that we eat on the road are high in sodium. The average diet of 2,000 calories should contain less than 2,400 milligrams of sodium. Sodium can be found in a lot of foods, crackers, luncheon meats, cheeses and condiments, so go easy on these items.

Drink lots of water and avoid candy, sodas and coffee for that extra boost you need while driving.

Instead, try fruit and fruit juices, these will give you lasting energy while the other sugary items will give you a good jolt and then allow back the same old tired, drowsy feeling.

Two final tips: Slow down, give your body time to tell you it's full instead of stuffing yourself and then feeling miserable, and exercise some will power — don't eat burgers and fries three meals a day, choose some vegetables and fruits too.

City's tips for tipping baffle some New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP) — In a city where a seat at the opera goes for up to $250 and a fancy dinner can run the same, can the 25-percent meal tip be far behind?

The city Department of Consumer Affairs, in a newly released tip sheet on tipping, says diners should consider leaving anywhere from 15 percent to 25 percent.

"Servers at table or counter-service restaurants rely on their tips for a major portion of their income, so if the service has been satisfactory you should tip accordingly," the agency advises in its new tip sheet.

But 25 percent? That baffles even Tim Zagat, publisher of the widely read Zagat Survey restaurant guide, and a man likely to know about tips of all sizes.

"I've never heard of anybody anywhere doing that," he said.

Zagat said New Yorkers tip an average of 18.3 percent, lagging behind top tipping cities such as New Orleans (18.7 percent) and Philadelphia (18.6 percent). Still, New York beats most West Coast cities, where tips hover around 17.8 percent. And New York tips leave Minneapolis, (16.9 percent) in the dust.

Jon Abrams, of Liverpool, England, said he's already baffled by the size of U.S. tips.

"In England we don't tip nearly as much as you do here, so as an Englishman, I can't understand tipping so much more on top of the cost," said Abrams, who said he was once accused of stiffing a bartender after tipping a dollar on an $8 drink tab.

Tom John, a personal trainer and native New Yorker, said he sticks to a simple formula: He doubles the tax, about 8 percent.

"It's what my parents always seemed to do," John said. He, too, was perplexed by the thought of tipping a quarter of the cost of a meal.

"You know, I work in the service industry, too, as a personal trainer, but no one ever tips me," John said. The city, for its part, does suggest holiday tips of $50 for personal trainers.

The tip sheet offers suggestions for a wide variety of services, from $1 for bathroom attendants to 20 percent of the fare for a "court-teous" cab driver. Calls to the consumer affairs office to explain were not immediately returned.

The consumer affairs report also notes that city law sets a ceiling of 15 percent on restaurant service charges imposed for groups of eight or more.

But, Zagat noted, "if that is a rule, it is not a rule that is being enforced in practice."

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

* Mellow out, and try an idea out on others before deciding. Feedback empowers you. Someone offers true confessions of the type you like to hear! All work and no play makes the Ram no fun. Schedule a fun outing ASAP. Tonight: Go along with someone's plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

* Your abilities illuminate a problem. You have reason to smile, as another really does acknowledge you in an odd way. Don't spend funds before the check arrives. Be a cynic when it comes to your budget. Enhance your public image. Tonight: Don't forget the benefits of a little healthy exercise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

* A serious discussion guides a child or loved one. You lighten up once you are sure your message is received. Listen to another. Reach out for someone at a distance. Make calls and return e-mail. Your sense of humor amuses those around you. Tonight: Put on your dancing shoes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

* Stay centered. If you must, pull back some. A partner examines joint issues in a different way than you do. A discussion opens up possibilities, though you might get your dander up. Creativity stems from this chat, as you'll go over possibilities. A boss admires your work. Tonight: Be comfortable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

* Use your Leonine interpersonal skills, and others will respond in a delighted way. Your presentation of another point of view wins over someone else quite suddenly. You can be sure that you don't have the whole story, but you don't need to worry about it, either. Tonight: Visit with a pal.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

* Deal with financial matters while the going is good. Others want to say yes and go along with your ideas. Pressure from a boss will pass once he understands your thought process. Let your creativity speak at work as well as at home. Tonight: Buy a long-overdue gift. (It might be for you!)

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

* Others like your ideas and where you come from. Your true self comes out when dealing with a special person in your life. Remember, you like his unpredictability and fun personality. Someone might not be as forthcoming as you would like. Tonight: Just ask, and someone will respond.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

* You know the benefit of saying little. Now is the perfect time to be more aware of the forces around you, especially because someone might be acting like a tornado. Detach, but be generous about your judgments. Work on what you can control. Tonight: Take a break just for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

* Dealings with others draw lively reactions and insights. Your communication sparkles. Others listen and go along with you. Network and expand your horizons. Someone's admiration could lead to a different type of relationship. Tonight: Get together with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

* Others seek you out. Express your caring on a more universal level, but continue to indulge a difficult associate or person. You also might surprise others with your ingenuity when it comes to business. They simply don't know the Goat well! Tonight: Work late.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

* Your inventiveness breaks new ground and permits unusual ideas to flourish. A discussion with a day-to-day associate needs to be clear and simple. Not everyone is as oblique or esoteric as you. A kind gesture won't go unrewarded. Tonight: Relax with a good movie or TV show.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

* Deal with an associate or partner about finances and something you would like to realize. Your positive attitude goes a long way toward creating much more of what you want within a partnership, be it business or personal. Don't hold back information. Tonight: Someone responds to the real you.

Sampras survives Kauffmann's first-round scare

PARIS (AP) — Imagine playing Pete Sampras at the French Open. Now, imagine taking him to five sets and three times closing to within a point of victory.

You'd think you were dreaming. So did Cedric Kauffmann.

"During the warmup, I thought it was still a TV screen," Kauffmann said. "I usually see him on TV."

Kauffmann — a virtual unknown ranked 250th in the world — almost beat the man who holds a record 13 Grand Slam titles in the first round at Roland Garros before going down 6-3, 1-6, 6-2, 3-6, 8-6 on Tuesday.

It was a close call few could have imagined, including the 25-year-old French qualifier.

"When I went to bed I thought, 'I hope I don't look too bad on the court,'" he said. "You're kind of scared."

But if Kauffmann was nervous about playing one of the greatest tennis players in only his third official ATP match, he didn't let it show.

He answered Sampras' famously powerful service and forehand with speedy returns and successfully out-rallied his opponent from the baseline.

"I gave 100 percent," Kauffmann said. "I didn't lose the match, he won it."

On each of his match points, the former University of Kentucky student stayed calm, although at one point he thumped his chest with a clenched fist to show how hard his heart was beating.

"I thought I could win. It didn't happen. Like I said, I'll wake up tomorrow and I'll feel fine," he said.

Sampras closed out the match when Kauffmann hit his final forehand wide. The fifth-seeded American grinned in relief as he congratulated his opponent.

"He didn't miss much," Sampras said. "He moved as well as anyone I've played. The guy's in unbelievable shape. He was moving like a tiger out there."

If Sampras had lost to the qualifier, it wouldn't have been unprecedented. Only the last time it happened was in the first round of Wimbledon 1989, four years before Sampras began his run of seven titles there.

Andre Agassi and Jennifer Capriati had an easier time Tuesday, winning their opening matches in straight sets.

Agassi, who won the French Open in 1999, beat Sweden's Thomas Johansson 6-2, 6-3, 7-6 (5).

"Every day is different here," he said. "It's all about making sure that you are physically and mentally ready. It's not easy, but it never has been."

Capriati, seeded fourth, overcame seven double faults in defeating France's Emilie Loit 6-2, 7-5.

"I just played one point at a time," Capriati said. "I didn't get nervous at all, I just went for it."

Big Spring's Ragan Phillips attempted to score on a wild pitch as Mike Smith (15) looks on during the Steers' 4-3 win over Canyon in Seminole. Phillips was one of 49 players who was honored as an all-district player this season.

Steers among top listed in 2001 all-district honorees

HERALD Staff Report

Of the 49 District 4-4A players announced to the 2001 All-District team, the Steers recorded eight of them.

Clint Bamert, Ryan Guinn, Aaron Olague, Ragan Phillips, Jason Choate, Jason Birmelin, Mike Smith and Jon McKinnon were named to the All-District team after finishing third in the district standings with a 8-6 record which qualified the Steers for a playoff berth, the first in almost four years.

Bamert, who will continue his pitching career at Louisiana State University, finished 6-2 in district just one win behind Andrews Brock Johns. Guinn finished the season with a .300 batting average was one of three catchers named to the first team while Olague (first base) was named to the second team.

In the outfield was Choate, who finished with a .333 average. He was among four outfielders named to the first team while Birmelin was named to the all-district second team.

Smith, Phillips and McKinnon are juniors and three from the list who will be returning next season. Smith was named to the first team as a designated hitter batting .385 while McKinnon was one of two first team utility picks. Phillips (third base) was named to the second team.

The Steers finished the season 13-16, winning five of their last seven games. They will lose a good group of seniors, two of which (Bamert and Guinn) were part of the Steers playoff team four years ago.

Cleveland career leader, Thome hits milestone homer for Indians

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Indians celebrated Jim Thome's home run, even though Roberto Alomar's meant more.

Thome became Cleveland's career leader in home runs and Alomar hit a tiebreaking two-run shot in the seventh inning to lead the Indians to a 6-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers on Tuesday night.

"This means a lot to me, especially when my teammates care enough to do this," Thome said during a champagne celebration in the locker room. "It shows exactly how close we are here."

Thome led off the fourth inning with his 243rd career homer, moving past Albert Belle into first place on Cleveland's career list.

"It feels great — it is a great honor," Thome said. "There's a lot of good guys on that list — Albert, Manny (Ramirez), on down the line. It means more that I did it with the Indians and was here that long."

With the score tied at 4, Heath Murray (0-2) walked Omar Vizquel to lead off the seventh before Alomar's second homer of the season gave Cleveland the lead.

"That walk just killed us. You have to make Omar hit the ball, and if he hits it out, you just tip your cap," Tigers manager Phil Garner said.

In other AL games, it was Seattle 3, Baltimore 2; Toronto 4, Chicago 0; Tampa Bay 5, Oakland 1; Texas 8, Kansas City 2; and Minnesota 6, Anaheim 5.

The Indians were without manager Charlie Manuel, who was serving the first of a two-game suspension for returning to the field after being ejected from a game last week.

"I just do what they tell me — if I broke a rule, I guess I deserve this," Manuel said. "There wasn't much action down here. They brought me some balls to sign and I just watched it on TV."

The win snapped Cleveland's three-game losing streak, and gave the Tigers their sixth loss in seven games.

Ricardo Rincon, Paul Shuey, Steve Karsay and Bob Wickman combined on four innings of one-hit relief. Shuey (4-1) got four outs for the win and Wickman pitched the ninth for 10 saves.

"We've been worked a lot lately, but we're pitching pretty well," Karsay said. "It was nice to get Rincon back to chew up some innings and get the game to us."

Mariners 3, Orioles 2

Freddy Garcia (5-0) pitched seven strong innings and Mark McLemore homered off Willis Roberts (5-4) as host Seattle won its sixth straight game.

The Mariners (38-12) moved a franchise-high 26 games over .500 and are off to the best start in the majors after 50 games since the 1984 Detroit Tigers began the season 39-11.

Kazuhiro Sasaki pitched the ninth for his 20th save, becoming the second-fastest reliever to 20 saves — four games behind Lee Smith's 1994 pace.

Devil Rays 5, Athletics 1

Greg Vaughn hit a three-run homer off Cory Lidle (0-4), and Tanyon Sturtze (2-4) allowed six hits over seven innings as Tampa Bay beat Oakland.

Mike DiFelice had three hits and Randy Winn had an RBI double as Tampa Bay, which has the majors' worst record at 15-36, opened a nine-game road trip with just its fourth win in 14 games.

Blue Jays 4, White Sox 0

Alex Gonzalez drove in two runs and Chris Carpenter improved to 5-0 in his career at Comiskey Park.

It was Carpenter's first shutout since July 3, 1999, when he beat Tampa Bay 5-0. Carpenter (5-2) allowed only six hits and struck out seven.

Rangers 8, Royals 2

Rafael Palmeiro homered twice and drove in four runs as Texas handed Kansas City its fifth straight defeat.

Rick Helling (3-6) allowed two runs and seven hits.

Casey Martin hopes to ride back to the PGA Tour

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — To prove his point that riding a cart doesn't give him an edge over other golfers, Casey Martin simply lists his performance on the Buy.com Tour this season.

"I've missed four out of eight cuts and made $5,000 this year, so if there's an advantage, I'd like to know where it is," he said Tuesday after the Supreme Court ruled Martin may ride a cart in PGA Tour events.

The victory ended a 3-year battle between the PGA Tour and Martin, who was born with a degenerative condition in his right leg that makes it nearly impossible for him to walk an 18-hole course.

But his struggle might just be beginning.

Even with a cart, Martin has to prove himself again on the Buy.com

Tour — sort of the sport's minor league — to become a regular on the PGA Tour. And he doesn't know how long his leg will allow him to compete.

"It would be my wish, my prayer, that I would start playing great and I could look at this time and see a change in the way my golf game goes, but I don't think there is any guarantee that that is going to happen," he said.

The Supreme Court voted 7-2 that the PGA Tour had to accommodate Martin's condition under the federal Americans with Disabilities Act.

While the ruling was a setback for the Tour, which had been appealing the case since Martin won at the federal level in Oregon in 1998, commissioner Tim Finchem said he was pleased the Court indicated Martin's situation was unique, and that the ruling may not apply to other disabled athletes.

"While we are happy for Casey Martin today, we are also happy that

Pickens retiring after absence from minicamp

IRVING (AP) — Receiver Carl Pickens has reportedly decided to retire because of a hamstring injury. The player's agent said he called Cowboys vice president Stephen Jones on Tuesday with the decision. "He's going to pack it in," agent Steve Zucker told The Dallas Morning News in Wednesday's editions. "Carl really wanted to play for the Cowboys, but his hamstring just wouldn't let him. He gave it all he had." Pickens was supposed to give the Cowboys a proven third-down possession receiver. But he did not attend any of the club's first three mini-camps. The player last month agreed to a one-year deal worth $500,000 that did not include a signing bonus. Cowboys Coach Dave Campo also wasn't happy with linebacker Darren Hambrick's absence as the minicamp opened Tuesday at Valley Ranch. The Cowboys said Hambrick didn't notify them that he would miss the voluntary practice. Campo says once players sign a contract he wants them to honor their commitments. Pickens' hamstring injury forced him to miss six games last season. The former first-round pick with Cincinnati caught 10 passes last season for Tennessee and failed to score a touchdown for the first time in his career. In recent weeks, the Cowboys have been making backup plans for Pickens by signing receivers Damon Dunn and Jermaine Copeland. Veteran Joe Bowden missed the mini-camp because of personal business. In their absence, rookie Mark Steele worked with the first-team on the strong side. Joey Galloway missed the session because of flight problems in his return from Ohio over the weekend.

Pincay, Day all-stars

GRAND PRAIRIE (AP) — Laffit Pincay Jr., the winningest jockey of all-time, and Pat Day will be among the 12 competitors in the fifth annual All-Star Jockey Championship next month. Pincay and Day are all Hall of Famers. Fellow All-Star entry Earlie Fires, a winner of more than 6,100 races, will be inducted into the Hall of Fame in August. Among those challenging them will be Jorge Chavez, who rode Monarchos to victory in this year's Kentucky Derby, and defending All-Star champion Edgar Prado. The rest of the field is Robby Albarado, Ronald Ardoin, Tyler Baze, David Flores and Aaron Gryder. The Guild, which provides financial and medical assistance to disabled and injured jockeys, also receives a portion of the proceeds from a memorabilia auction, autograph session and golf tournament. The event has raised more than $420,000 in its first four years. "It's always a great night of racing which helps benefit injured and disabled riders." The event features races of four lengths on two surfaces. Jockeys ride in each event on horses of four different calibers. Points are given for the top four finishes and the jockey with the most cumulative points is the winner. One percent of the wagering on the four All-Star races and an "All-Star Wager" goes directly to the Jockeys' Guild Disabled Riders Fund.

No time to heal for banged-up Sixers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pepe Sanchez made crisp passes, Speedy Claxton nailed jumpers and Matt Geiger swished foul shots. The problem is Sanchez and Claxton aren't eligible to play, and Geiger probably won't play when the injury-depleted Philadelphia 76ers meet the Milwaukee Bucks in Game 5 of the Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night.

After trying the best-of-seven series 2-2 with a victory Monday, the Sixers again didn't hold a formal practice Tuesday, mainly because they don't have enough healthy players to do it. Allen Iverson got his loose front tooth examined, Eric Snow underwent tests on his ankle and Tyrone Hill missed practice because he planned to go see his ailing father. "We just go out every night and try to do the job," said Jumaine Jones, one of the few Sixers who isn't banged up. "It's a tough task. It takes a team effort to help the (veteran) guys." Iverson, who had his tooth dislodged when he was struck by Ray Allen's elbow late in Game 4, was fitted for a mouthguard that he may or may not wear in Game 5. He also continues to receive treatment for the tailbone injury that forced him to sit out Game 3. Snow had a walking cast on his right foot after spraining his ankle. He had surgery on the same foot earlier this season, but this newest injury is unrelated. Snow will be evaluated by his surgeon Wednesday and his status is a game-time decision. Hill was to fly to Cincinnati to be with his

Anderson to become free agent

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets forward Shandon Anderson will become a free agent July 1, deciding not to exercise the option year of his contract, Houston television station KRIV reported Tuesday. Agent Dan Fegan said the decision wasn't a reflection on the Rockets. "This is just a good business decision for Shandon to test the free agent waters," Fegan said. He was working on a two-year contract with an option which would have made $2.4 million.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, May 30, the 150th day of 2001. There are 215 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On May 30, 1431, Joan of Arc, condemned as a heretic, was burned at the stake in Rouen, France.

On this date:

In 1539, Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto landed in Florida.

In 1854, the territories of Nebraska and Kansas were established.

In 1883, 12 people were trampled to death when a rumor that the recently opened Brooklyn Bridge was in imminent danger of collapsing triggered a stampede.

In 1911, Indianapolis saw its first long-distance auto race; Ray Harroun was the winner.

In 1922, the Lincoln

Memorial was dedicated in Washington D.C., by Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

In 1937, 10 people were killed when police fired on steelworkers demonstrating near the Republic Steel plant in South Chicago.

In 1943, American forces secured the Aleutian island of Attu from the Japanese during World War II.

In 1958, unidentified soldiers killed in World War II and the Korean conflict were buried at Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1971, the American space probe Mariner Nine blasted off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., on a journey to Mars.

In 1981, the president of Bangladesh, Ziaur Rahman, was assassinated in a failed military coup.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that prosecutors can be sued for the legal advice they give police and can be forced to pay damages when that advice leads to someone's rights being violated.

Five years ago: The House called off a contempt-of-Congress vote after President Clinton's aides turned over 1,000 pages of papers and a long-sought list of documents in the travel office firings. Britain's Prince Andrew and the former Sarah Ferguson were granted an uncontested decree ending their 10-year marriage.

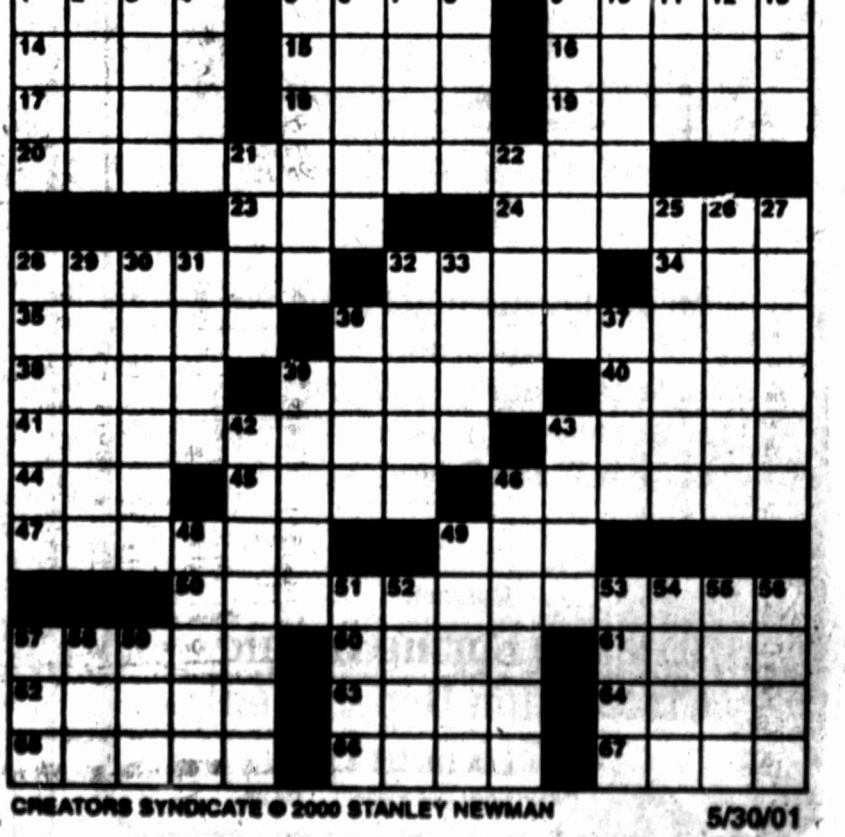

Thought for Today: "It is impossible to enjoy idling thoroughly unless one has plenty of work to do." — Jerome K. Jerome, English author and humorist (1859-1927).

When was the last time someone tacked a television ad to their refrigerator?

Words on paper. They will always be the most powerful tools human beings use to communicate. They place no limits on how much we can say, and the furthest reaches of the imagination are the only limits on what we can show. They have the power to make complex ideas simple, and simple ideas powerful. We do more than read them, we hold them. And, from the advertising we see in publications to the letters we receive in the mail, the things we hold in our hands have the quickest routes to our hearts.

Say It In Print.
