Rain Fire Wind

Rain, hail and winds covered the entire area, but all but missed Muleshoe Friday. It came as close as Sudan, which received .75 inches; Springlake, .75 inches; Plainview, .48 inches; and Littlefield, .65 inches. Muleshoe received what weathermen call a "trace".

Firemen from Muleshoe and Earth battled two prairie fires between the two northwest South set by lightning, the blazes burned an estimated 6,000 to 7,000 acres before controlled.

Some hail — all of the non-damaging variety — was reported in numerous towns, including Slaton, Levelland, Lubbock, Springlake and between Ralls and Lorenza.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said substantial amounts of water covered all major highways in the High Plains area at one time during the afternoon and evening. Only U. S. Hwy. 84 between Slaton and Southland was closed, this one for about an hour.

Despite the few instances of damage, the storm and its ensuing rains could be classed only as beneficial to agriculture and as a relief to area residents from a hot and dusty day.

This week's meeting of the Retail Committee of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce revolved around reports and plans for various retail promotions.

The group is planning it as a "grass-roots" spectacular which will include efforts by every with the Springlake School system.

No definite date has been set as of yet, but clubs and organizations are being contacted.

The idea grew out of a recent highly successful cotton promotion in Levelland and a meeting of local interested persons a few weeks ago. The group's next meeting is scheduled for June 15th in the 1st National Bank Building. (See C of C Page 6)

Library

Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe Area Public Library will meet at 4:15 in the Library building.

City Council has been extended an invitation to tour the building and see plans for remodeling.

Spring Is Here - And So Is The Annual Building Boomlet

Spring is here, and so is the annual building boomlet. New houses are springing up like mushrooms — particularly in the Richland Hills district. The area immediately surrounding the school is the most intensely affected.

Houses being built there are of both the custom built and speculative type and range in price from a top of about $45,000 to about $17,000.

Alex Adams, well known local builder and developer seems to be particularly active in the area with at least three and possibly more buildings under construction.

Adams will be the owner of Muleshoe's first true apartment house. The apartment building is nearing completion here, and will contain four two bedroom modern luxury apartments.

To be equipped with built-in oven, electric washer and carpeting, the apartments will rent in the $125-$135 bracket. Each will have one and one-half baths.

Further west in the area, a reporter counted about 14 new housing starts. Most of the new homes are of the three bedroom variety erected on large lots.

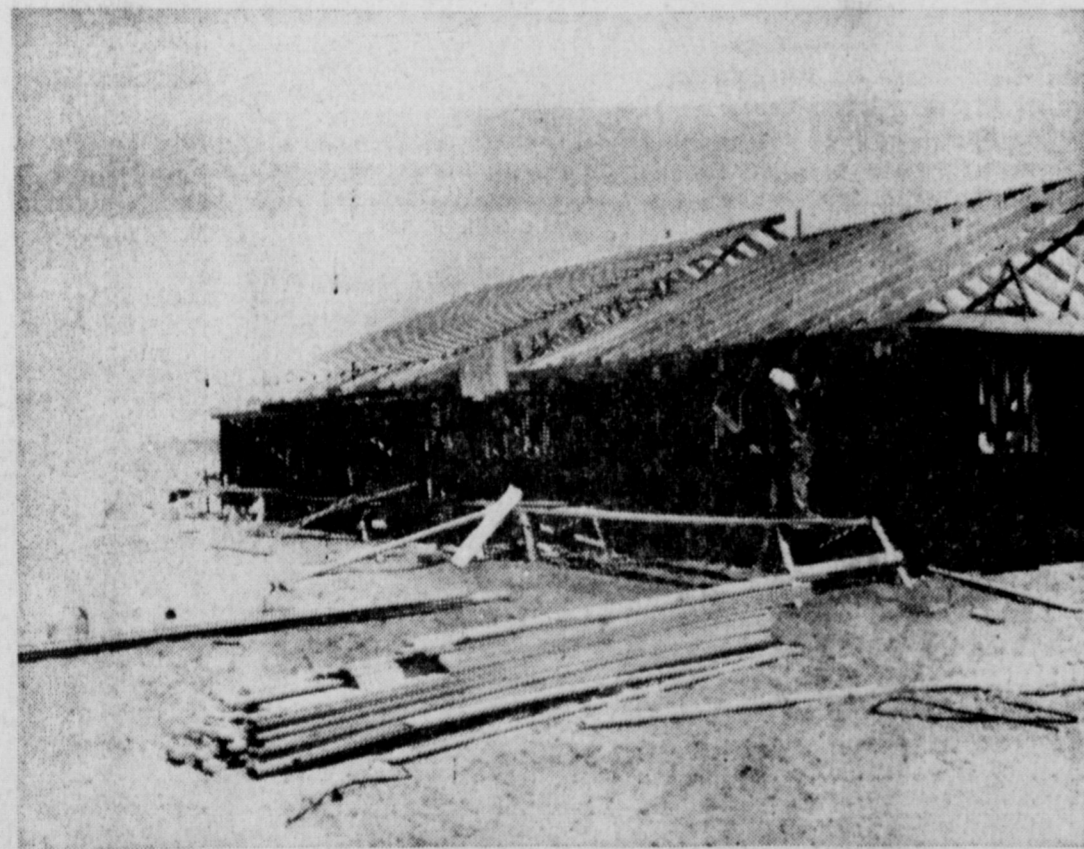

Probably the most costly and most stunning home going up in that area is the home Adams is building for Cecil Davis. Reports state the cost will be about $45,000.

A Lubbock firm, Nash Phillips Copus, is also active in the area, where they are erecting three bedroom homes across from the school.

To get an idea of the size and pace of Muleshoe's current building program. Add to the approximately 14-16 new housing starts in Richland Hills five new homes going up in the Morrison Country club addition, and another three or four in the close-in county area.

To this must be added plans to soon begin construction of a $175,000 addition to the First Methodist Church, complete remodeling of the front and sides of D&G Grocery and White's Cashway Grocery's new addition and paving improvements.

These are only a few of the many, many signs of Muleshoe's consistent and not so slow growth that will stand out if you'll just take a 10 minute drive about Muleshoe. Why not do this Sun.

ONE OF ABOUT 24 — This new three bedroom home at 1910 Avenue G is only one of about 24 new housing starts in Muleshoe recently. It is being built by Alex Adams as a speculative home.

YET ANOTHER — New home rising in the Richland Hills

FIRST — Muleshoe will soon have its first complete luxury apartment house. To contain four units of two bedrooms and one and one-half baths as well as built-in oven, washing machine and wall-to-wall carpeting, the building is nearing completion at Ave. E and 17th St.

By "popular request" (several favorable comments from our friends) this column resumes "this one more time" after one year's absence from Journal papers. Our assumption is "actions speak louder than words". However, often words must be written additionally, when opportunity and desire so arise.

The library, our children, high school graduation and summer (not spring) fever are timely local topics.

These topics unify in a challenge to Muleshoe today, in our opinion.

The facts of library work and progress to-date have been well-publicized. Summer 1964 is just around the corner, with happy children, for future-facing graduated seniors and for most warm-blooded adults.

Now is a good time to act, write and speak your opinion concerning the Muleshoe library. The county listened in February and accepted the bookmobile program which jointly serves our cooperative four-county area. Muleshoe city councilmen look now to home-town citizens.

Those of us connected with the library program are even more convinced than ever that permanent Muleshoe area library service (as well as bookmobile facilities) is a means of enriching all our lives as well as molding the minds of children. We believe a library is one of the best investments our community can make.

Two cases, among many, illustrate both the want and the need:

There is desire in the eight-year-old boy's eyes as he sweeps the library floor (in his clean cub scout uniform) but raises his eyes to the books on the shelves above. He is told, with regret, he cannot take books home from the library NOW, but must wait until the bookmobile comes to Muleshoe every third Saturday. He continues disappointed in his volunteer service at "his" library.

The joy of one little miss, while her parents visited a the Library Silver Tea, was sitting on the floor (in her Sunday dress) looking at "one of those wonderful books . . . Can I take this one home to read?"

What is your answer to these boys and girls?

— jph —

As the graduates receive diplomas so they are given advice.

The library promotes the art of reading as a tool of democracy as no other institution except the schools. Thousands of people, both young and old, have improved their minds by using books made available from public library shelves.

So the graduate is often advised "Reading is the source of

AAUW Concludes Year's Study Program, "Occident And Orient"

The Muleshoe A. A. U. W. members met Monday May 18 in Jr. High Library, and culminated the year's program, "Occident and Orient" followed by a Chinese dinner at the China Inn in Clovis.

Mrs. Jim Martin gave an interesting discussion of oriental foods and methods of cookery. She stated that the orientals take great pride in the cutting, preparing, and serving of their foods. The orient is adopting some Western trends in foods, but the oriental customs in food still dominate the Eastern hemisphere.

Mrs. C. E. Moore, president of the local branch, presided during the business and announced a program workshop which will be held at the Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo, Saturday, May 23.

Mrs. E. W. Johnson was appointed to direct the Reading Program for the Muleshoe Library which the local branch voted to sponsor.

Members attending were Mrs. Mabel Laughlin, Mrs. Aileen Stewart, Mrs. C. E. Moore, Mrs.

Close Spaced Sorghum Increases Yields

Close spaced grain sorghum may have a place in your farming operation. It has several advantages over other planting methods. Generally, increased result. Also, due to the increased yields result. Also, due to the increased amount of ground shaded by the plants, less water is lost by evaporation from the soil. The sorghum plants also tend to shade weeds to a greater degree when they are close planted.

Close spaced planting is the planting of crops in twenty inch rows or less. Drilled plantings are also included in the definition. Although the rows are closer together than in other methods, plants are more widely spaced in the row. Therefore, the pattern of plant distribution is more uniform overall. Due to the better distribution, each plant receives more benefit from its share of sunlight, plant food, and water. This, in turn, enables each plant to produce more grain.

Another benefit from close planted grain sorghum is the degree of erosion protection received. The plants cover more of the ground. This gives the soil a shield against both wind and water. As an example of this increased protection, the necessary amount of crop residue needed to protect an acre of soil from wind erosion is approximately five hundred pounds less in drilled than in ordinary row plantings on sandy loam soils. Also, land with slopes of one to three per cent does not need to be terraced if planted in spaced sorghum.

There is one main disadvantage to close plantings. Conditions may permit a thick stand of weeds before the sorghum plants are tall enough to shade them adequately. In such instances, the weeds are hard to control due to the difficulty of cultivating between the rows. Although the weeds may not be a large factor in decreasing grain yields, they may interfere with harvesting operations. Weed populations may be increased from year to year, due to increased weed seed production. One method of eliminating this problem may be the use of pre-emergence herbicides to keep young weeds from coming up.

Although there may be a problem with weeds, the advantages of close spaced grain sorghum largely outweigh its disadvantages. The experiment station at Halfway has done work on close planting of sorghum, and the results have been good. The practice has been highly recommended by the station. Because of increased yields, better utilization of fertilizer and water, and greater erosion protection, close planting of sorghum may work well for you.

SPRINKLER irrigated sorghum planted in 16 inch rows for protection against erosion and increased production.

Lesson Here

The vital financial importance of tourism and of the Texas tourist dollar to Mexico is more than just talk these days.

The ultra-luxurious new Juarez Race Track to open in May of this year just across the river from El Paso is estimated to cost $7,500,000 in American dollars. It has been called the Taj Mahal of racing by some who say it is the most splendid on the North American continent.

The grandstands will be completely enclosed with solar-gray glass and the main building will have year-round air conditioning. The surfaced parking lot will accommodate a minimum of 3,600 cars.

Much of the marble is hand-hewn, which today even in Mexico is a dimming art. All flooring is terrazo marble. Across the entrance a stunning mural of Venetian tile, 60 feet long, depicts Mexican history. Most of the inside walls are tile, the remainder a Yucatan hardwood.

Average Man's Choice Fixes Society's Destiny

The following is an editorial which appeared recently in the Plainview Daily Herald.

The average man controls the course of society.

Someone once said facetiously that so many of us being below average is what makes the average so low.

Most of us have no great illusion about ourselves. When we take an honest inward look we feel that we are indeed only about average.

The greatest trouble with having this feeling is that the average man will leave it to the "greater minds" to take leadership. In them he sees greater ability and responsibility in solving the problems of our times.

This attitude has been fittingly said to be the commission of a singular disservice to those who entertain it.

Be it true that in most ways we are about average, we yet have it within our power to raise ourselves above the level in whatever ways, many or few.

We can do this only if we have taken advantage of every gift bestowed upon us.

What the average man chooses determines the destiny of society and of this nation.

The average man must define what he thinks the "trouble is" and do something about it.

It was Dryden who said: "My only difficulty is to choose or reject."

His 17th century dilemma — to choose or reject — becomes even more of a dilemma to modern man. In the 20th century there are so many more sources of information, that it is difficult, if not impossible, for the average man to keep abreast and to choose that which is useful and reject that which is not.

He must read, and be choice about what he reads, and not believe just because it is in print.

He must recognize propaganda when he sees it and appraise it.

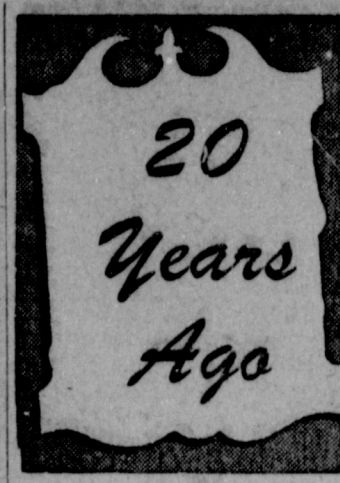

He must appraise and classify what he sees (TV) and hears (radio and TV, and the spoken word generally).

Happy is the man who looks to original sources for information, who shuns slogans of the politicians and the sundry advocates of pet causes or courses of action, who thinks independently, and doesn't easily stampede with the herd.

How to choose and how to reject, what to choose and what to reject, is the dilemma of everyday life.

What the average man chooses or what he rejects sets the course of society.

How important, then to observe, study and think independently, and not follow like a sheep.

Word was received here Monday that Flight Officer Rodger I. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas was missing in action over Yugoslavia since April 24.

The communication came in a telegram to Mr. Thomas from the war department, but gave no details. It stated that Ira was missing in the Air Action of the 24th of April and that any further news would be sent when available.

(Lt. Thomas was at home on leave during the following August after being missing 43 days. The medals he was wearing indicated citizen to keep abreast and to choose that which is useful and reject that which is not.

At a recent meeting of the Muleshoe School Board, John Johnson was appointed to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Howard Carlyle.

C. E. King was elected president of the board and J. Clyde Taylor secretary.

A Few Tips On Fly Fishing For Trout

By MYRON POOL

Editor's Note: The following talk was presented by Myron Pool at this week's regular weekly meeting of the Muleshoe Rotary Club. It obviously impressed the listeners so we thought we'd let the general public in on it.

I'm sure many of you know a lot more about fly fishing than I do. However, it is one of my best loved sports. Usually we do our fishing around South Fork Colorado, which is between Del Norte and Creed on the Rio Grande River. I have fished there for the past 15 years and have had real good fishing on nearly every trip up there.

My first experience in trout fishing was in 1942, my brother Mart taught me how. When I first started he would rig up my rod and reel and give me a few lessons in casting. Then he would go one way and I would go the other way, we had agreed to meet in a certain place when we had caught our limit. In an hour or two he would come hunting me with his limit in the creel, and I would have two or three finger length trout. If I had any at all, after some one has shown you how to rig up, you just have to learn to fly fish for yourself. After about five years I learned how well enough that I could go out and catch a mess of fish if not my limit. Since then I have caught my part of nice trout from keepers up to three and four pounds.

I usually fish with a good grade glass rod from 7 1/2 feet to 8 1/2 feet long, and use an automatic reel. Manual reels are just as good, but I started with an automatic and have continued to use them. Your reel should balance on your rod, and your fly line should be a good grade HCH double tapered nylon line.

If you are wet fly fishing, you should use a 5 to 6 foot, 4 to 8 pound level nylon leader, with one, two or three dropper loops for wet flies. Usually two flies are sufficient, as it is a little easier to cast with not more than two. Many times I have caught two fish at one time. The flies to use will have to be determined after you start fishing. I usually start out with some standard fly, and keep changing until I find one the fish will strike. Some of the standard flies are: Rio Grande King, Mosquito, Grey Hackle both in the yellow body and peacock body, coachman, Royal Coachman, Black Gnat, Western Bee and Red Ant. There are many others but if you try these and get no strikes you might as well quit.

Dry fly fishing usually starts about mid July and lasts through September. The water has to be clear, and dry fly fishing takes quite a lot more skill than any other fishing I know any thing about. You use the same equipment except that you should use a 7 1/2 foot tapered leader of about 4 pound test, using only one fly tied on the end. It must be oiled frequently with a good dry fly

SOCIAL SLANTS

Delving into history of the Church after Christ lived and died, it is interesting to note that it was some six hundred and sixty years before an instrument of music was introduced. Pope Matialian brought the first organ into the Catholic at that time. It was almost one thousand years later that the class system of teaching (Sunday School) was recommended by Roger Drake in 1780 or 1781. The Methodist Church accepted the class system first.

The face of a female is a good place to start if you would like to know what makes her "tick". The face of a Christian woman shows patience, hope and humility; a courageous woman who trusts in her own abilities is carefully made-up, with a high fashion hair-do at all times; the weak ones with their discontented mouths enjoy each illness and make the most of it, while the woman that has been beaten by life cares neither for her appearance nor home or any other possession!

Congratulations to the Muleshoe 4-H Club for winning honors at the District Contest held in Lubbock Saturday. Several first and second places were brought back to Muleshoe and several of the hard-working boys will get to go to the Jamboree held at A and M, sometime in June. The efforts of these boys and girls are not to be taken lightly. On the job training in the fields that the youth likes best will give each a head start on the kids that will start traveling on the same road later.

When the house wears a look of gloom, when the kids don't fight among themselves and when Pa slips around like a cat after a rat then you know Ma is on a rampage!

oil to make the fly float with the current. Of course, you must have a good pair of hip boots with felt soles preferably or a pair of waist length waders.

Bailey County Totals Three Rural Accidents

The Highway Patrol investigated 3 rural accidents in Bailey County during the month of April according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson, patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person injured and an estimated property damage of $2,850.00.

The rural accident summary for Bailey County from January through April of 1964 shows a total of 15 crashes resulting in three persons killed, four persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $13,142.00.

Schools will soon be out and children will be popping out in all directions. They will be running from behind parked cars, trees, or shrubs. Watch for children coasting down sloping driveways and streets. Another dangerous spot is around bridges along highways where children may have been playing, swimming, or fishing underneath the bridge.

This means that motorists must be constantly on the alert at all times during the summer months for children popping out from unexpected places. Remember, children are unpredictable. The Sergeant stated, "Let every child be a living warning sign."

Everett Cody Completes NCO School

4TH ARMORED DIV., GERMANY (AHTMC) - Army Specialist Four Everett F. Cody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cody, Earth, Tex., is scheduled to graduate from the 4th Armored Division Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Academy in Germany, May 8.

Specialist Cody received five weeks of rigorous training in leadership and exercise of command, map reading, the history of weapons and military teaching methods.

With this and the above equipment you are completely outfitted for fly fishing.

Learning how to fasten you leader on to your fly line and how to fasten the fly on to the leader is important, as it is very easy to whip a knot loose and lose either the fly or both fly and leader if it is not tied properly. Its rather disgusting to get a good fish on and then lose knot. So tie you knots properly him because of a poorly tied and pull them down tight.

Fly fishing in small streams is a few feet each time to cover usually done up stream. You cast as far as possible ahead of you to attract the trout by your fly before he sees you. If he ever sees you the jig is up. You will portant. However, your cast not catch the fish at least for direction you fish is not so impull in and recast moving down new territory.

To me trout fishing is a wonderful sport and pastime for those who like to fish. I'm not an expert by any means, but I do enjoy the sport.

Both the Democrat and the Republican parties have recently held the County Conventions and it is a shame no more interest was shown by the general public. If you know which party you believe in, why not go out and give good workers anywhere so next time that old feeling of depression hits, go out and join a party. We may have a potential powder-puff president in our midst.

Burriss Safety Lane Has Bear Equipment

Front end alignments are done the way they should be done by Burriss Bros. Safety Lane at 402 N. 1st St. As its name implies, Burriss Bros. Safety Lane specializes in those automotive services that protect you while traveling. Front end alignments and good brakes, for example, are the best insurance you can buy — the kind that actually helps prevent accidents.

Proper alignment makes your car drive better, giving you better control of the vehicle. Burriss Bros. also point out that good alignment and balancing saves tires and makes them wear evenly and longer.

Brakes and wheel bearing will be checked for you at the firm too. In rainy weather it is particularly important that brake linings be in top condition to assure fast stops when you need to stop.

Both these men are expert mechanics and have been in this business many years. They know all the details of balancing and aligning wheels and there is no guess work involved. They have the proper equipment to do the job right and it is done right when the car comes out. They use the Bear Wheel Aligning system which is considered by all to be the best on the market and is the one used by practically all safety lanes in every city.

Most people don't know that the rear wheels of a car need to be balanced and aligned just the same as the front ones. If a rear wheel is out of line it can cause tires to wear unevenly and do other damage to the car. It pays to have all four wheels balanced and lined up so that all four tires will wear longer and evenly.

Drive your car to the Burriss Bros. Safety Lane today and have your wheels checked — they may need to be aligned and they may not but you will know what their condition is and you can then drive with peace of mind and security.

Shown above is W. F. Burriss, co-owner of Burriss Safety Lanes at 402 North 1st St. This company uses latest type of Bear Safety Equipment.

from Paymaster THE FIRST SWEET SORGO-SUDANGRASS HYBRID

Sweet Sioux is the first sweet sorgo-Sudangrass hybrid on the market—another result of pioneering in seed research at Paymaster Seed Farms.

Sweet Sioux yields sweeter, finer stems of high sugar content for more palatable grazing. Too, Sweet Sioux produces over a longer period of time; seedling vigor permits early plantings that result in fast, early growth; quick regrowth after grazing or harvest provides continuous grazing or several cuttings of hay, silage or green chop.

Come in and let us demonstrate the advantages of "Calf-a-teria Tested" Sweet Sioux—first sweet sorgo-Sudangrass hybrid on the market.

Today's Meditation

SACRIFICIAL LOVE
Someone living in the first century and writing to a friend about the Christians said, "Behold, how they love one another!" There seems to be an unseen tie that binds them together in love. Even those who have never met before seem to recognize each other. They help the needy, visit the sick, call on those who are in prison; and, in the arena, when sentenced to die by hungry lions, they gather into a circle and pray. Christian brothers in the faith seem to be almost closer than kin in the flesh. This attitude impressed non-Christians who scarcely knew what love was until they saw it demonstrated by the Christians. Love is a characteristic mark of the Christian faith. Jesus bids us to "love one another," for said He, "by this all men will know that you are my disciples." (Jn. 13:34-35).

St. John, writing to the Christians of his time, called attention to the divine love, saying: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." (1 Jn. 3:1) His love was sacrificial, for "he sent his son to be the propitiation for our sins." (1 Jn. 4:7).

Love for God is enjoined by the Great Commandment: "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your mind, and with all your strength." (Mk. 12:30) This is man's highest duty. It should be given priority over all else in life.
