ART AND ESSAY CONTEST

Wells Fargo Bank and the Big Spring Herald are inviting Howard County students to participate in an art and essay contest to help commemorate the one-year anniversary of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks in New York and Washington, D.C.

Students will grouped into five divisions - an art contest for students in kindergarten through the sixth grade; an art contest and an essay contest for junior high school students; and separate art and essay contest for high school students.

Artwork and essays should center on the student's feelings on the day of the attacks and how their lives have been changed as a result Artists may use whatever medium they wish. Essays must be no longer than 1,000 words for those in the junior high division, while high school division essays must be 1,500 words or less.

The winners in each division will receive a $100 savings bond, while second- and third-place finishers will receive $50 savings bonds.

Winning entries will be announced and prominently featured in the Herald's commemorative edition on Wednesday, Sept. 11, 2002. All entries will be published in a special section that day.

To be eligible, entries must be turned into school officials before Aug. 30.

Infant abducted from Abilene parking lot

Authorities continued to search Wednesday for a month-old infant who was snatched from a minivan while the mother turned her back to return a shopping cart in an Abilene parking

The mother screamed as she desperately tried to stop the getaway car, and was dragged more than 30 feet.

Police Sgt. Kim Vickers said numerous leads have failed to help police find the stranger and the infant, Nancy Crystal Chavez.

"The longer time goes, the harder it gets to solve any case," Vickers said. "We have really gone to the public to ask for information, and people are really trying shopping at the Wal-Mart Supercenter about 4:30 p.m.

She placed her three children, including a 2- and a 6year-old, in her minivan and left the sliding door open as she stepped about 10 feet away to return a shopping cart. She then saw a woman pulling the infant and car seat, which had not been fastened to the seat, out of the van and into another car, investigators said.

"The woman started screaming and trying to get the lady to stop," Vickers said. "The mom got there in time to grab onto the car and was drug about 30 to 40 feet.'

A man heard Chavez's screams and smashed into the passenger side of the fleeing car, possibly breaking the window, police said. Authorities said a second person may have been in the car with the abductor.

A surveillance video captured the car circling the parking lot in "some type of stalking manner" before the abduction, Vickers said.

Vickers said the video from the store parking lot was distributed to television stations. The video did not reveal the car's license plate number.

The vehicle was described as late 1990s turquoise, midsize, four-door sedan, possibly a Pontiac Grand Am or Buick Skylark.

The suspect was described as heavy set, 5-foot-6 to 5-8, with shoulder-length brownish blonde hair. She is believed to be in her late 20s or early 30s.

The Abilene area does not yet have the Amber Alert system, a spokesman for KTXS television said.

A dispatcher with the Department of Public Safety in Abilene said various police departments were notified of the abduction.

Gov. Rick Perry on Monday announced that a Texas Amber Alert System is being established statewide.

OUR VIEWS

Getting set for a great county fair

hether you find enjoyment in passive ways such as admiring art or more active ways like holding on tight for a wild carnival ride, there's little doubt that the Howard County Fair will have something to make you smile.

The fair officially begins a week from today and runs through Saturday evening. We say "officially," because folks will start bringing in their creative arts entries as early as Monday and the final gate at the fairbarns won't close until after the goat show ends on Sunday. The general fair, however, opens Wednesday, and it's shaping up to be a good one.

Those who enjoy art — everything from decorated shoe boxes to paintings and photography will find plenty to admire. And if you've been thinking about entering but haven't, there's some extra incentive to enter your artwork this year. In addition to selecting the winners this year, judges will be picking some of the best entries for a 2003 calendar. In fact, plans are to have the calendar printed before the fair is over.

. Agricultural products and baked goods are other county fair staples. It just wouldn't be a fair without selecting the best tomatoes, peppers, bread and cookies.

A carnival will crank up daily at the fairgrounds, with lots of rides for the young and young at heart.

Evenings will be filled with toe tapping and hand clapping. Jody Nix and the Texas Cowboys will headline the first night of the fair. Thursday's big entertainment will be the Colgate Country Showdown, a chance for budding musical performers to hit the big time. Winners advance on to regional, state and the national competition with $100,000 at stake.

On Friday, the talented brother-sister duo of Nick and Bonnie Norris will take the stage. And on Saturday, there will be the annual Battle of the Cheerleaders.

Scattered in between will be livestock shows steers, goats and lambs. Other events include the Kountry Kids contest, an antique tractor pull and a domino tournament.

A variety of booths set up by businesses, civic organizations and individuals will offer products and information for fair-goers.

As usual, there will be plenty of food and drink to go along with the fun and excitement.

We hope you'll take advantage of what promises to be a great family-oriented good time. See you at the fair!

West Nile Virus brand new in U.S.; not as deadly as other forms of encephalitis

By ANDREIA MEDLIN

Features Editor

Beware the dreaded mosquito. Not only does it keep hapless slumberers awake at night with its incessant whining and leaves its signature itchy red bump where it has feasted on an unwary victim's fluid of life, now they say it can kill Mosquitos have often been accused of carrying deadly diseases such as AIDS for years. And now there are reported cases of mosquitos carrying the West Nile Virus which can cause encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

Although this is a rare occurrence, for a patient that is elderly, very young or has a compromised immune system, it can be potentially deadly.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention they have now confirmed seven of 14 suspected human cases of the disease.

In a report released by the Associated Press this morning, results are pending on six other suspected cases, including two from Dallas County and four from Harris County.

But according to Texas Department of Health zoonosis specialist Cathy Parker there is really nothing to be concerned about "You're more likely to die from something else," said Parker.

"Most people will not realize that they have it (virus). They may think they have a cold or the flu and the symptoms will go away within a day or two.

"For those who may show symptoms, they will have fever, headache, a rash, conjunctivitis (eye infection), a cough or cold," Parker explained. "Someone who gets the severe illness will have a more severe headache, disorientation, paralysis or some evidence of neurological trauma."

Treatment for the illness includes administering an antiviral medication, keeping the patient hydrated with plenty of fluids and preventing secondary infections such as pnéumonia.

The TDH has been following the disease since its first reported case in New York in 1999, but the disease was first discovered in a woman from the West Nile district of Uganda in 1937. The disease spread across areas of Africa, Eastern Europe, West Asia and the Middle East carried by mosquitos from victim to victim in that region.

Virus is new to this country. It's been everywhere else but here. The St. Louis virus has been in Texas for years," Parker said.

There have been five reported deaths resulting from West Nile Virus in Louisiana with no deaths due to the virus in Texas, but there have been seven confirmed cases in the

"We have to remember that much of Louisiana is below sea level and we don't know where those people lived. There is a lot of swamp down there," she said.

Information from the Environmental Protection Agency indicates that mosquitos like stagnant water. Portions of marshes, swamps, clogged ditches and temporary pools and puddles are all prolific mosquito breeding sites.

Other sites in which some species lay their eggs include tree holes and containers such as old tires. buckets, toys, potted plant trays and saucers and plastic covers or tarpaulins.

Although the risk of contracting the disease is extremely low, less than one percent, there are precautions that can be taken to prevent contact with an infected mosquito which, according to Parker, would be maybe one in 500 in 'The ratio in Louisiana was much higher by 20 to 30 percent," she added.

For more protection, using a mosquito repellent and keeping the yard clean is recommended

"Use a repellent with DEET, check the yard for things that may hold water. Change the dog's bowl daily to make sure the water is always fresh and keep the yard mowed and clean," said Parker.

Other precautions offered by the Environmental Protection Agency that can be taken to discourage mosquitos are to empty standing water in old tires, cemetery urns, buckets, plastic covers, toys or any other container where the mosquito larvae might live.

Empty and change the water in bird baths, fountains, wading pools, rain barrels and potted plant trays at least once a week if not more often.

Drain or fill temporary pools with dirt. Keep swimunclogged.

To keep those pesky mosquitos away the Environmental Protection Agency offers these tips -•Empty standing water in old tires, cemetery urns, buckets, plastic covers, toys or any other container where the mosquito larvae might live.

•Empty and change the water in bird baths, fountains, wading pools, rain barrels and potted plant trays at least once a week if not more often.

 Drain or fill temporary pools with dirt. Keep swimming pools treated and circulating and rain gutters unclogged. Use mosquito repellents when necessary and follow label directions and precautions •Use head nets, long sleeves and long pants if you venture into areas with high mosquito populations. If there is a mosquito-borne disease warning in effect, stay inside during the evening when mosguitos are most active.

•Make sure window and door screens are "bug tight." Replace your outdoor lights with yellow "bug" lights.

Contact your local mosquito control district or health department. Neighborhoods are occasionally sprayed to prevent disease and nuisance caused by large mosquito numbers.

it because the West Nile you venture into areas with lights. Contact your local can contract the disease it is very unlikely they will show symptoms. The TDH is testing birds that have been found dead and requests that if anyone finds a dead bird they suspect was infected with West Nile Virus to call local authorities. "I'd talk with the Big Police Spring Department Animal Control to determine if the bird should be tested," explained Parker.

Big Spring City Manager Gary Fuqua said that the city is spraying for mosquitos periodically.

"Fortunately there hasn't been a lot of mosquitos because we haven't had much rain," Fuqua said. But because of the rain Big Spring received last night the city will be spraying again within the next two days, he added. There are some guidelines to keep in mind before calling however

'We are only testing three species - crows, blue jays and hawks. These birds have the highest mortality rates from the disease."

"People don't think about sleeves and long pants if lights with yellow "bug" pets such as dogs and cats. Parker said. "If you find a dead bird call Big Spring Animal Control.

If you feel it's necessary to contain the bird, pick it up with a plastic bag like a grocery bag. Put it over your hand like a glove and pull it over the bird once you've picked it up then place it into another bag and keep it in the refrigerator or other cool place until animal control can pick it up.

There is one aspect of turning in an animal suspected of containing the virus that is of tutmost importance to the researchers - "It has to be fresh.

If its eyes have been eaten out by ants or its been dead for more than 24 hours it's no good to us," said Parker. For more information on

Concerns arise about abused playmate

Dear Annie: My 7-year-old daughter, "Kelli," likes to play with two brothers who live down the block. The older boy is 9 years old. Two years ago, he was sexually abused by a 12-yearold boy. We just found out about it. My husband now says Kelli can no longer play at the boys' home. He insists that a victim of childhood sexual abuse will repeat the abuse with other children.

I want to protect Kelli from a potentially dangerous situation, but I don't want to keep her from playing with her friends or punish this poor boy because of what happened to him. What should I do? Kelli's Mom in St. Louis

Dear Mom: While it's true that many abusers were victims of abuse as children, not all victims abuse others. However, your husband is right to be concerned.

Has the boy received counseling? Is his home supervised when Kelli visits? Have you talked to Kelli about her body and the importance of not allowing others to touch her inappropriately? Have you told her to report any such "touching" to you immediately? If the answer to all these questions is "yes," you have little to fear.

However, it wouldn't hurt to encourage the children to play at YOUR house where you can keep an eye on

I am uncomfortable attending her social functions and a bit resentful that I have to buy expensive gifts when she makes 10 times what I do. I can manage the shower, but is there any way for me to get out of the wedding without losing my job? - Plenty Disgusted in New York

Dear New York State: Yes. When you receive the invitation, reply, "So sorry I won't be able to make it." If vour boss asks why, tell her you have plans that you cannot break. Then, make arrangements to be out of town on the wedding day.

Send a token gift that doesn't break your budget along with your regrets and best wishes.

Dear Annie: I have been dating "Will" for four years. He's a great guy but has never learned basic courtesies, and I'm not sure how to teach him.

Will is clean, neat and organized. However, it never occurs to him to thank someone for inviting him to dinner. He doesn't know that when he invites another person to lunch, he is obligated to pay. He wouldn't think to put out drinks or snacks when company drops by. I have tried to set a good example, but it isn't rubbing off.

A few of our friends have mentioned that Will is "rude," but I know he is just unaware of how to behave. How can I help Girlfriend in Mission Viejo, Calif.

Dear Girlfriend: Be more direct. Next time you are invited to dinner, tell Will, 'We must send a thank-you note." Invite a friend for lunch, and say, "She is my guest, so don't let me forget to pick up the tab." Some guys need to be told.

FDA warns about dangerous Chinese diet pills that contain fenfluramine

WASHINGTON (AP) -Americans should avoid two Chinese diet pills because they may contain a drug banned for causing dangerous side effects, the Food and Administration warned Tuesday.

The Chinese products are among several linked to hundreds of illnesses and several deaths in Asian countries this summer, but FDA officials said they had information on only the two in the United States. If others come to their attention the warning will be extended, said spokesman Brad Stone.

The pills are called Chasu Jianfei Diet Capsules and Chasu Gempi, and typically are sold in small markets as alternatives to Western medicine, the FDA said.

The pills apparently contain fenfluramine, a oncepopular prescription diet medicine banned in the United States in 1997 after it was linked to a dangerous heart problem.

China's health ministry has banned about a dozen different diet products this summer because they illegally contained fenfluramine. Some of the products have been linked to 560 cases of liver or thyroid illnesses in Japan, and at least eight deaths in Japan, China and Singapore.

Products such as traditional Chinese pills can be sold in this country without approval of the FDA, which usually determines if drugs are safe or work as advertised. But the FDA can crack down if such normally unregulated products are found to be unsafe, so it ordered its agents to watch for any new imports of the Chasu products.

The FDA urged consumers not to take any of the pills already sold, and to notify the agency if they see the products for sale. The FDA may be reached at (888) INFO-FDA.

Howard County Library valuable asset to those going back to school Summer Reading Program is over with and it is back to school on Monday, August 19. We have really enjoyed having the extra people in the Library during the summer.

'Don't forget about us, we are still here during the school year. The Library has access through the TexShare Database System to hundreds of research sites.

Contemporary Authors, Literary Criticism, Medline, History, Business and many others are just a few of the areas in which students can access.

We are here, ready and willing, to help anyone who requires help in researching any topic.

Work is being done on our website and we hope to show it off by the first of September. The Library has slowed down purchases of new items. A few are trickling in and today's column will spotlight those that have "trickled" in by way of donations. The first book spotlighted is a book that has been donated by Bebe and Ardis McCasland in honor of Marie Rembert.

Bebe presented a program this summer for the Summer Reading Program on birds. The Audubon Society has compiled the "Encyclopedia of North American Birds" (REF

Official: Labor deal possible within days

Baseball's top labor lawyer thinks it is possible to reach a bargaining agreement "in the next several days" to avert a threatened walkout by players.

One day after the union held off setting a strike date, talks resumed Tuesday and focused on two key issues: management's desire for increased revenue sharing and a luxury tax that would restrain spending by highpayroll teams.

Though neither side pointed to any specific progress, management lawyer Rob Manfred said: "I think both parties feel tremendous close enough that it is possias quickly as possible.

The union's executive board has scheduled a telephone conferencé call Friday, and could set a strike date then if it thinks a deal isn't close. If a date is set this week, Aug. 30 is the most likely one to be picked, a person familiar with the players' deliberations said, speaking on the condition he not be identified.

Asked if he thought a settlement could be reached before the conference call, Manfred replied: "Friday is a little too specific for me. I continue to believe we are pressure to get this resolved ble to make an agreement in the next several days.

Union head Donald Fehr was more reticent in discussing the latest session.

"At this stage, daily running commentary is not something, I would suggest, that would enhance rather than detract from making a deal," he said.

But Johnny Damon of the Boston Red Sox said players 'get the feeling the owners think we can get something done by the end of the tax is the biggest hurdle to a settlement, disagreeing on what it is supposed to do. Manfred views it as a restraint on payrolls, not a device to transfer money from the richer clubs.

"We view it as certainly something that artificially restrains payroll," Fehr said. "But one of the things it does is transfer money. He's being grossly oversim-

> Owners first proposed increasing the amount of locally generated revenue that clubs share from 20 percent to 50 percent. They also asked for a 50 percent luxury tax on the portions of payrolls over $98 million, including 40-man rosters and benefits.

> On Sunday, owners raised the payroll threshold to $100 million, according to one participant who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Astros survive Cubs' rally, keep pace with Cards in NL Central

CHICAGO (AP) — With two outs, a one-run game and the No. 8 hitter on deck, Chicago Cubs manager Bruce Kimm figured an intentional walk was a "no-brainer."

Uh, not exactly.

Brad Ausmus made Kimm pay for the move, hitting the first of Houston's three straight RBI singles. The three runs proved to be the difference, as the Astros held on for a 5-4 victory over the Cubs on Tuesday afternoon in a game interrupted twice by rain.

"We had that big inning, and that was enough to hold up for us," said Jeff Bagwell, who had an RBI and two runs scored for the Astros.

The Cubs did rally, as Joe Girardi hit a two-run single in the sixth to cut Houston's lead to 5-3. Alex Gonzalez then led off the ninth with a solo homer off Billy Wagner.

But Wagner retired his next three batters for his 27th save.

Munro (3-2) got his first victory since July 23, allowing one run and seven hits in five innings. He also got his first major league hit and RBI.

He spoiled his own shutout, forcing in Moises Alou with a wild pitch in the fourth. Rain began falling shortly after that, and the game was halted three outs shy of being official.

'We came in and Jeff Bagwell was like, 'That would be a shame if that first hit doesn't count," Munro said. "I started to take that into consideration. It was like, 'Man, let's go!"'

But Munro came back out after the 46-minute delay and got three outs for the victory. He needed some help from Jose Vizcaino, though.

With two outs, Bill Mueller doubled and Sammy Sosa singled to shallow left. Vizcaino made a spectacular defensive play, cutting off Daryle Ward's throw and then hurling the ball home to get Mueller.

be coming together too late for the Chicago White Sox.

Jose Valentin had two homers and six RBIs, including his sixth career grand slam, and new center fielder Aaron Rowand went 4-for-4 as the Chicago White Sox beat the Texas Rangers 12-3 Tuesday night.

Chicago has won five of its last six, but still trials Minnesota by 13 games in the AL Central.

"I always felt we were due for some good baseball," White Sox manager Jerry Manuel said. "It's unfortunate that it took so long.

"Our pitchers are settling in and guys are swinging the bat the way we felt they were capable all year long."

Valentin hit his slam right-handed, his first homer and first RBIs in 35 at-bats from that side of the plate this season.

When Valentin batted left-handed against Todd Van Poppel in the eighth, he hit a 428-foot shot down the right-field line.

It was the 11th multihomer game for the third time. His six RBIs matched a career high; he also drove in a run when he reached on a grounder in the first.

"Not only the two home runs, but I'm swinging the bat better," said Valentin, who is 8-for-17 with three doubles and three homers since an 0for-13 skid.

Paul Konerko added a three-run homer, his 25th, in the ninth.

Rowand reached base in all six of his plate appearances. In addition to a double and three singles, he was hit by a pitch and walked.

Since taking over as the everyday center fielder July 27 after Kenny Lofton was traded to San Francisco, Rowand is hitting .298 (17-for-57).

"I'm not going to try to get ahead of myself, but it's a good start," said Rowand, hitting .233 overall in 85 games. "I'm just trying to stay on top of the ball, but it also takes a little luck to get four hits.'

Jury: Penders did not defame former assistant

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Texas basketball coach Tom Penders cleared was Tuesday of charges that he defamed a former assistant following a 1998 grade scan-

Former UT assistant Eddie Oran sued Penders over statements Penders made in 1999 about the improper release of a Texas player's grades to a radio station. Oran claimed Penders smeared his reputation, keeping him from getting another job: Oran sought as much as $900,000 in damages for loss of income, loss of his job at UT, personal humiliation and mental anguish and suffering. The $900,000 is the amount Penders received in his resignation settlement with Texas.

A 12-member Travis County jury denied each of Oran's claims. Because it was a civil case, only 10 members had to sign off on the verdict and two jurors

After the verdict was read, the two former coaches shook hands and exchanged quiet words.

"I just told him I still felt the same way about him as I did when he worked for me. He'll always be a part of my family," Penders said. Oran originally took the blame for releasing Luke Axtell's grades, a violation of federal student privacy laws, in March 1998.

The scandal led to Penders' leaving Texas shortly afterward. Penders did not take Oran with him to a new coaching job at George Washington University. Penders has since left school.

Oran later changed his story and said Penders orchestrated the grade release. Oran's claims first surfaced publicly in depositions taken for a lawsuit Axtell filed against the school.

After the depositions were leaked to the media, Penders gave several interviews to defend himself. He suggested Oran was changing his story to appease officials at UT and bolster his reputation in the university community.

Oran, who now makes about $80,000 a year selling cars in the Austin area, said that Penders lied about him and that he hasn't been able to get another coaching job

Penders' attorney, Jon Smith, said Oran has only himself to blame.

Oran acknowledged during testimony that even if Penders was involved, he could have chosen not to release the grades. That, combined with the lawsuit against his former boss, smeared Oran's reputation, Smith said.

"He hates to admit it, but he's a grown man who can make his own decisions." Smith said. "Eddie Oran wants to go back and change history.

Although jurors were not asked to decide if Penders was responsible for the release of Axtell's grades, the coach said the verdict should resolve the conflict once and for all.

"From the very beginning I told the truth," Penders said. "I just I felt it was a closed issue. One juror, however, Denise Burk, said she sided with Oran and believed Penders played a role in the grades release. "He (Penders) was basically saying, 'You can't coach anymore because of what you've done. You're going to have sit here and sell cars in Austin," said Burk, who was one of two jurors who did not sign the verdict. She was the only juror who agreed to comment on the verdict.

"I believe he was defamed. I believe Oran should have won today," Burk said.

Cowboys sign new fullback

SAN ANTONIO (AP) -Saturday's distress call from Dallas was good news for Derrick Harris. The Cowboys were in the market for fullbacks and Harris was looking for a team.

From there, things moved quickly. By Monday, Harris had signed a contract, taken a physical and hustled from Houston to San Antonio to ioin the Cowboys in training camp. Early Tuesday morning, he was on the Alamodome field blocking linebackers. catching screen passes and otherwise working to prove himself to the coaching staff.

"There's no free time for me," the 6-foot, 250-pound Harris, who left the morning practice session to study the Dallas playbook in his hotel room. "This is my first year as a free agent, and I don't want to go through free agency again."

Cowboys head coach Dave Campo had plenty of fullbacks at the start of camp, but injuries have taken a toll.

Rookie Jamar Martin suffered a season-ending knee injury on the second day of camp, and converted linebacker Scott Zimmerman was lost for four weeks with a high ankle sprain sustained in Friday's preseason win over Oakland. That left the team with only one player at the position - Robert Thomas, who himself is coming off an ankle injury that limited him to only five games in

"I've got confidence in Robert Thomas," Campo said Tuesday. "We had the opportunity to bring in a veteran guy because we want competition there. "(Harris) does some things that we like," the coach continued. "It's good for Robert (Thomas) to see Campo said the Cowboys approached another free-agent fullback as well, but lost interest when the player failed the team physical. Thomas, 6-foot-1 and 273 pounds, professed to be comfortable with having a new challenger at fullback, where the primary role on the field is blocking for running back Emmitt Smith.

"That's the nature of the beast," he said. "They have to have somebody (as a backup). Like when I went done last year, we had no true fullback in here.

Troy Hambrick, Smith's understudy at tailback, replaced Thomas in the starting lineup. Hambrick finished the season with 579 yards on 113 carries, but little of that yardage came as a fullback.

ed linebacker, didn't want to talk about his recovery from the ankle trouble that sidelined him last season. 'What injury?," he asked

Thomas, another convert-with a bit of annoyance in his voice. Last year Thomas gained 40 yards on six carries before he was hurt, 24 of those yards coming on one play against Tampa Bay.

Swoopes, Comets roll past Lynx in regular season finale

Williams scored a seasonhigh 15 points to lead the Houston Comets to a 63-51 victory over the Minnesota Lynx on Tuesday night.

Williams, acquired by the Comets (24-8) in a trade with Indiana this season, was 5for-6 from the field and 3-of-6 from the free-throw line.

"I just wanted to come out and play," Williams said. "I talked to Coach (Van) Chancellor today and he said he wanted all of us to get out on the floor. I was waiting for my chance and wanted to try to make the best with it."

Houston will face Utah in the first round of the playoffs after finishing a game behind Los Angeles for the Western Division title and throughout the playoffs. Los Angeles beat Phoenix 63-56 Tuesday night. "I told them before the game we were going to have to reach down and pull out a victory tonight regardless of what happened to L.A.," Chancellor said. "We got to play a lot of players that aren't starters tonight." Minnesota, after shooting 28 percent from the floor in the first half, battled back in the final 20 minutes to cut the Comets lead to nine. But Williams hit a 3-pointer and added a free throw in the last 6:47 to help seal the victory.

Tamara Moore scored 11 points for Minnesota, which lost its last three games to finish the regular season a HOUSTON (AP) - Rita for homecourt advantage franchise-worst 10-22. Katie Smith, Minnesota's leading scorer on the season, was 3of-10 from the field and scored nine points.

"We were just cold for most of the game and Houston continually got good, open looks and made the most of it," Smith said.

Rebecca Lobo and Sheryl Swoopes each scored nine points for the Comets. Lobo was 4-of-6 from the field and hit a 3-pointer in the first half.

Both teams were without their second-leading scorers. Minnesota's Svetlana Abrosimova sat out her third game in a row with a lower back sprain, and Houston's Tina Thompson missed her third game because of a bruised hip.

Horoscope

You often find yourself in

the midst of confusion. Don't get uptight, rather learn to detach and pull out of these situations. Your creativity proves to be your best friend this year, as you find answers to tough problems. Be extremely careful with your finances, and don't randomly trust others. Perhaps being a bit more cynical ultimately serves you. This spring you will begin a new life and luck cycle. What you have wanted will start to materialize itself. If you are single, a relationship will dawn with spring. This tie could develop into an important relationship. Go with it. If you're attached, discussions often revolve around money and children. Don't get into "either or" situations, or you might not like what happens. Your mate becomes unpredictable! Choose to look at this behavior as exciting. SAGITTARIUS adores you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic: 4-Positive: 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  Aggravation could be the byproduct of pushing to have certain matters fall in your court. Unexpected developments reminding you that you are not in control. Continue to take the back seat for now. Soon you will be in the driver's position. Tonight: Detach. Escape into a preferred pastime.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  You will pull your hair out if you continue to insist on having things as you like. Observe what others are doing. Knowing that you don't have control, allow others to run with the ball. Agreement, much less a clear path of action, could be close to impossible. Tonight: Fulfill a loved one's request

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  You might feel as if you are literally in the trenches as you attempt to get some. conflict with a financial key work done. Not everyone sees situations with the same perspective as you. Allow others time. Discussions could be touchy right now. Tonight: Respond to another's over-

CANCER (June 21-July 22) * Pull out that creative touch, especially when dealing with demanding loved ones. Not every thing needs to be expensive, quite the contrary. Visualize more of what you want. An associate throws a boomerang in your path. Jump! Tonight: Off to the

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  Your temper and ire could easily be aroused by present events. Holding your self back might be close to impossible. You will be better off if you play your cards close to your chest Surprises run through the day. Make the best of a difficult situation. Tonight Breathe a sigh of relief, as the emotional winds change

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  No matter what you do or say, you engender conflict, even when trying to pacify others. A domestic situation might be particularly volatile. Understand that you aren't changing anybody, and you'll head in the right direction. Tonight: Mosey on home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  Recognize when you hit a dead end. As much as you explore your options left and right, you won't find an out or a solution right now. You easily could be hurt by what another suggests or says. Don't react, because by tomorrow you'll see matters differently. Tonight: Swap war stories with your SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  Make the best out of a difficult situation. Use your magnetic personality to take some of the pressure off. A boss means what he or she says. His or her demand needs to be fulfilled. Confusion surrounds a meeting and finances. Tonight: Pay your bills.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 Dec. 21)  Do nothing Minimize your plans if possible, as a disruptive influence runs through your life. A boss shares ideas that you feel very uncomfortable with. Remain mum, as new information will be forthcoming. Trust your resources. Tonight: Do something just for yourself!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  Keep your longterm goals in mind when making key decisions. Others might not choose to do something that is very important, thus frustrating you. Do not swallow your anger, but express your emotions in a meaningful manner. Tonight: Reflect while taking a walk.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  What might be important easily could backfire. A friendship could be in matter. You might not understand everything clearly right now, because someone might be holding back. Eye the long term, and vou'll stay calm. Tonight: Find your pals.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) * Your ability to visualize works for you. Communicating your ideas right now could become a problem. A boss or higherup could be difficult at best until later. Conflicts arise between those you love. The solution lies within. Tonight: Work late.
