Staff Writer Trustees for the Big Spring Independent School District learned Thursday their worries about next year's funding are not going to get any easier.

According to the district's attorney, Kevin O'Hanlon, of the Austinbased law firm O'Hanlon and Associates, the Texas Education Association is meeting today to discuss severe budget cuts in public education for the next biennium.

"They're going to lay out a budget cut plan at the direction of the legislative budget board ... to cut $1.7 billion out of the budget for the next biennium," O'Hanlon said.

Facing a deficit budget in the billions of dollars, legislators in Austin are scrambling to find a solution to the state's financial crisis.

HOUSTON (AP) — On the eve of her anniversary Clara Harris was told to remove her pearl earrings and wedding band so she could be taken into custody after a jury determined she murdered her cheating husband in the parking lot of the hotel where the couple married.

On Friday, Valentine's Day, David and Clara Harris would have been married 11 years.

Jurors convicted Clara Harris on Thursday of murder for running over David Harris with her Mercedes Benz, ending what her mother-in-law described as "a marriage made in heaven." Jurors were expected Friday to begin deliberating what punishment fit Clara Harris' crime. She faces between five years and life in prison.

Defense attorneys asked jurors to sentence Clara Harris, 45, to no more than 10 years probation. They say "sudden passion" drove the dentist on July 24 when she found her orthodontist husband leaving the hotel with his mistress.

Rural schools concerned about Robin Do

AUSTIN (AP) - Urban Democrats concerned about a GOP-backed plan to eliminate the state's school finance system without a replacement have found some unlikely allies: Republicans who represent rural Texas.

The existing share-the-wealth system is based heavily on local property taxes. It attempts to give all students an equal education by giving schools in property-poor areas money from wealthier districts.

Many wealthier districts, however, have reached the legal tax limit, making it hard for them to raise more money for their schools even as they give $1.5 billion to the state.

Many lawmakers, mostly Republicans, made campaign promises to eliminate the system, and the state's top three leaders --- Gov. Rick Perry, Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst and House Speaker Tom Craddick have made the issue a priority.

But lawmakers from big cities and the border area fear a new system could mean less equity for poor districts that now depend on the system known as Robin Hood.

High school cancels Sharpton visit

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) - The Rev. Al Sharpton's appearance at a Corpus Christi high school for Black History month has been canceled as a safety precaution after the school received threats.

Sharpton moved his appearance today to The Church of God Pentecostal church, at 2:30.

Aides to Sharpton said the civil rights activist would not be deterred by threats of bombs and other violence that reportedly were telephoned this week to the school and radio stations.

Akbar Muhammad, a local liaison to Sharpton, aid someone representing himself as a m the Ku Klux Klan sent threats to a radio station while he was on the air at a local radio station discussing black history. He said the threats included a KKK demonstration in front of the high school.

"It's going to real important that each member of this board contact your entire legislature delegation and make it absolutely clear the priority that leave the district behind needs to be placed on public education," he said.

The news wasn't a welcome message for trustees, who learned earlier in the meeting that the district is facing an $58,000 unexpected increase in insurance cost for this year's budget.

"Last year, we saw a 24 percent increase; this year we have a 35.9 percent increase," said James McFarland, assistant business manager. "I called other school districts and we're doing good. One school district saw a 100 percent increase."

Search for shuttle debris winds down

LUFKIN (AP) - Search teams from several federal and state agencies have arrived in Texas to take over efforts to recover debris from the space shuttle Columbia, giving local crews a break after nearly two weeks of scouring East Texas.

Local search crews in Nacogdoches, Sabine, and San Augustine counties won't be sent back into the fields and forests Friday, county officials said. Most of the shuttle debris has been found in those counties.

Twenty-person Interagency Incident Management teams arrived in Nacogdoches on Thursday. The teams will be mostly staffed by the U.S. Forest Service rangers, but also will include staff from other federal and state land management agencies, said spokesman Frank Beum.

The crews will likely start work Saturday after an additional nine teams arrive today.

eorgi Vins spent most of fifteen years in Russian prisons. He was completing his third five-year sentence which was to be followed by five more years in Siberian exile when he was suddenly given a suit of clothes, stripped of his Soviet citizenship and sent to the United States. Bill Moyers interviewed

Vins. He asked, TEETERS "Your father died in prison, your mother was arrested. You've spent much of your life in prison. You once wrote, 'Our life has not been given to empty dreaming,' what has it all meant? What do you think this signifies?'

Vins answered. "I do not regret the years I have spent, even the years of suffering. This has been the purpose of my living."

Could such a statement really be true? Does suffering add meaning to life? Robertson McQuilkin writes, "It is suffering and then glory. Not to have suffering means not to have glory." Paul the apostle wrote that the purpose of suffering in his life was "to keep me from becoming conceited because of these surpassing great revelations, there was given to me a thorn in the flesh" (1. Cor., 12:7). If I read Paul correctly, I can glean a couple of reasons that might help us deal with suffering.

First, it has something to do with Paul's person "to keep me from becoming conceited because of these surpassing great revelations:" Paul had been granted a peek into heaven. He both heard and saw things that were inexplicable. It would have been easy to puff up in pride at being given such privilege. Paul's suffering would keep that from happening. But let me hasten to ask a question. How many of us are really concerned about being conceited or not? Whether we are or not,

Suffering is not always a bad thing

God is! Leviticus 26:19 says, "I will break down you stubborn pride." 2 Chronicles 26:16 says, "But after Uzziah became powerful, his pride led to his downfall." Psalms 31:18 says, "With pride and contempt they speak arrogantly against the righteous." Proverbs 31:18 says, "Pride goes before destruction, a haughty spirit before a fall." Isaiah 31:11 says, "I will put an end to the arrogance of the haughty and will humble the pride of the ruthless." Do you get the idea that God is serious about controlling our pride?

Winston Churchill had a somewhat gruff exterior. Yet inside he had a tender heart. In the summer of 1941, Sergeant James Allen Ward was awarded the Victoria Cross for climbing onto the wing of his Wellington bomber at 13.000 feet to extinguish a fire on the starboard engine. With only a rope tied around his waist he was able to douse the fire and return to the aircraft's cabin safely. Ward was summoned to the prime minister's residence. Awestruck, he us unable to answer Churchill's questions.

"You must feel very humble and awkward in my presence," Churchill said.

"Yes, sir," mumbled Ward,

"Then," countered the prime minister, "can you imagine how humble and awkward I feel in your presence.

Learning how and when to humble yourself can be difficult but also rewarding.

Paul next explains a second reason that is back of our suffering. It is called pain. Verse 7 of 2 Corinthians 12, concludes, "There was given me a thorn in my flesh, a messenger of Satan, to torment very gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired signifies, in the final sense, a theft from those who hunger and are not fed.

Tis the season for stupidity

killed 13,000 civilians directly and another 70,000 died in the aftermath from no water, no food, no electricity, no medical care, etc. I'd like to get rid of Saddam Hussein myself, but how many lives is it me." The immediate question that pops into our mind centers on the why of suffering. Though way short of being an expert on the subject, let me offer some thoughts aimed in the direction.

Big Spring Henald Friday, February 14, 2003

First, some suffering happens simply because we're human. A good example is seen in the aging process. The older we get, the more we hurt. It's that simple.

Second, some suffering is brought on by our own disobedience. The results of rebellion can be drastic. Warren Wiersbe explains, "In his grace, God forgives our sin; but in his government, he must permit us to reap what we sow.'

Third, suffering can be used to build character. Romans 3:3-5 reads, "We know that suffering produces perseverance; perseverance, character, and character, hope. And hope does not disappoint."

But here's the main lesson we must learn. Whether we like it or not, suffering is a part of life. Therefore, what happens if we ignore the lesson it tries to teach? Let me try and answer with the story of Bob Gross. You probably don't remember Gross, but he played in the National Basketball Association some years ago. Having hurt his ankle, Gross was determined to go ahead and play. The team doctor gave him three injections of a painkiller in different locations in his ankle. Gross played. However, he wasn't in the game long until he battled for a rebound and heard a loud snap. A couple of attempts up the court rendered Gross useless as he collapsed on the court in a heap. His career came to an end. Nobody remembers his name today. He lost his future because he ignored the symptoms of pain in this life. I submit that we must be careful not to do the same in our lives.

percent of that tax cut would go the richest 1 percent of Americans and three-quarters of it would go to the richest 5 percent. In the years beyond that, the concentration at the top actually gets worse, according to citizens for Tax Justice. To pay for that, he wants to raise the rent on subsidized housing for the poorest people in the country and break up Head Start, sending it down to the states, where governments are frantically cutting everything they can. Money to pay for everything from cleaning up Superfund sites. to leaving no child behind is being slashed to pay for this obscene tax cut.

We're about to got to war with a country that hasn't fired a shot at us or anyone else. Our war plan calls for us to "shock and awe" Iraq by smashing 800 cruise missiles into Baghdad in the first 48 hours of the war. That's one every four minutes night and day. According to Harlan Ullman, the "defense intellectual" who advocates the "shock and awe" tactic, it's supposed to work like the atomic bomb on Hiroshima. That worked, all right. During the last Gulf War, we worth? And do they get to vote on it?

Meanwhile, Al Qaeda - the people who attacked us to begin with are still running around getting ready to deliver "packages." North Korea is busy building nukes. Our allies all think we're wrong, even if their governments have been strong-armed into supporting us. When all your friends think you're about to do something stupid, it might be wise to listen to them.

What passes for diplomacy in this administration is stunning. What in the name of heaven are we doing allowing people like Richard Perle to speak for us? According to UPI, Perle - chairman of the Pentagon's Policy Advisory Board - said Tuesday, "France is no longer an ally of the United States, and the NATO alliance must develop a strategy to contain our erstwhile ally or we will not be talking about a NATO alliance." Do these people know nothing about how dialogue is conducted among civilized nations? Couldn't they at least read "How to Win Friends and Influence People"?

I have news for Mr. Perle. Our allies have democratically elected governments. Their people overwhelmingly oppose this war. What do we expect their governments to do? The antiwar sentiment ranges from 47 percent and rising in Britain (a full 81 percent now agree that a new UN mandate is essential before a military attack is launched), putting our friend Tony Blair in electoral peril, to 88 percent against the whole idea in Turkey, where the new government has been literally bribed into going along with us. Who knows what future reckoning it faces at the polls?

ever-tactless Donald Rumsfeld managed to lump Germany with Cuba and Libya. We don't have enough enemies that we have go around insulting our friends?

We sound just as bellicose and arrogant as the anti-American faction in Europe accuses us of being.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing this week revealed that plans for a post-Saddam Iraq are virtually nonexistent. "Who will rule Iraq and how?" asked Sen. Richard Lugar "Who will provide security? How long might U.S. troops conceivably remain? Will the United Nations have a role? Who will manage Iraq's oil resource? Unless the administration can answer these questions in detail, the anxiety of Arab and European governments, as well as that of the American public, over our 'staying power' will only grow." The Defense Department has been moving troops to the Middle East for months, but it opened an office of postwar planning only three weeks ago.

And for a final piece of bad news to complete your day, the antiwar movement has disgraced itself by refusing to allow Michael Lerner, the editor of the intelligent (and very liberal) Jewish magazine Tikkun, to speak at the San Francisco peace rally this Sunday. Lerner was blackballed by the most left-wing of the four sponsoring peace groups, something called ANSWER, for being "pro-Israel."

I am completely disgusted. Why should there be any ideological litmus test for being antiwar? Why isn't the peace movement looking for as broad a coalition as possible? This seems to be the season for stupidity.

DeMay hurls 2-hitter at Northwestern Colorado

By TOMMY WELLS

Sports Editor

Freshman pitcher Jennifer DeMay and shortstop Bianca Paz gave Howard College head softball coach Dawn Wuthrich the best Valentine's Day gift imaginable Thursday afternoon – a real gem.

DeMay tossed a two-hitter and Paz pounded out a pair of home runs and helped led the Lady Hawks to a 9-1 rout of Colorado Northwestern University at Foundation Field. In all, HC touched NWC pitchers for four dingers.

The win sends the Lady Hawks into today's opening round action of the Midland College softball tournament sporting a 3-4 record for the year.

DeMay was almost untouchable off the mound. The former El Paso prep standout allowed Northwestern just two hits in the contest while setting down nine batters via the strikeout.

Paz, a former Las Cruces standout, highlighted the Lady Hawks' offensive effort. She went 2-for-2 in the contest — both hits were homers — and drove in two runs. Kortney Kemper also carried a big stick for Howard College. She had three hits in the game, including a homer.

Freshman Angela Piper and Zera Trevino also contributed to the Lady Hawks' power game. Piper belted the team's fourth homer of the evening and helped Howard roll to a run-rule victory. Trevino went 2-for-3 from the Midland College.

plate in the game.

Howard College is scheduled to begin pool play this afternoon in Midland. The Lady Hawks, who played Vernon Regional Junior College at 11, a.m., will play Western Oklahoma at 1 p.m. and Northwestern Colorado at 5 p.m.

Forsan will face Jim Ned Saturday at 'The Dorothy'

By TOMMY WELLS

Sports Editor

It seems like ages have past since the Forsan Buffaloes have found themselves holding a ticket to the state basketball playoffs.

Just how long has it been? Consider this, the last time Forsan ventured into the post-season, current FHS stars Wes Longorio and Brent Huff weren't even in junior high school yet. They were still running around the playground as elementary students.

That fact will become a part of history tomorrow night when Huff and Longorio lead the Forsan Buffaloes into their first post-season game since 1997. The Buffs will face the Jim Ned Indians in a playoff warm-up game beginning at 6 p.m. in Howard College's Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

"We're excited about being where we are," said Forsan head coach Terry McDonald. "We think we deserve to be here. The kids have worked very hard this year and it's paid off.

The game will pit two of West Texas top Class 2A teams. Both Forsam and Jim Ned captured their respective district titles this season.

MIDLAND — Through the first 39 minutes of Thursday night's showdown with the Midland College Chaparrals, the Howard College Hawks could score from the inside and convert the the short jumpers but somehow, some way, the 3-point shot eluded them.

The Hawks managed to sink just one of their first 10 3-point attempts over the first 39 minutes. Then, when they needed it most, Jared Fears came up with the bomb that ended the Chaparrals hopes of ending an 8game losing streak in front of a large home crowd in Midland's Chaparral Center.

Fears buried a 3-pointer from the corner with 12 seconds left in regulation to help spur the Hawks to a 65-62 win.

The 3-point shot was a major turnabout for Fears. Prior to sinking the game-winner, the sophomore guard had committed two turnovers that had enabled Midland to stage a late rally and pull to within two, at 60-58, with 1:28 to play.

"He went from goat to hero pretty fast," said Hawks' head coach Chris Jans. "I'm proud of him because a lot of kids would have gone in the tank and not have done anything positive after that. For him to step up and hit a shot like that when we needed him most it's a good representation of the type of kid he is.

The Hawks seemingly had the game well in hand with three minutes to play. Vas'shun

The Buffaloes, who have been ranked among the state's Top 20 for much of the year, head into the contest as the District 3-2A champion. Overall, Forsan is 23-5.

"We wanted to make sure we played a good, quality team since we were going to be off for a week," said McDonald. "And they (Jim Ned) are certainly a good, quality team."

Jim Ned, the District 9-2A champion, is 28-3 and has won its last 10 straight games. The Indians were ranked as high as No. 5 in the state polls this season.

Tickets to the contest are priced at $3 per person. All tickets will be available at the coliseum.

The Buffs are scheduled to open the state playoffs next week against either Ozona or Alpine

Sevey wins heavyweight accolades at Greenwood

Coahoma's Sammy Sevey was one of the top powerlifters at the recent Greenwood Powerlifting Invitational meet. The Coahoma standout won the Super Heavyweight division by turning in a stellar effort.

Sevey hoisted a combined total of 1,385 pounds in his three lifts.

Teammates Brandon Hart and Chris Beck placed third and fifth, respectively, in their weight classes. Hart recorded a total mark of 1,075 pounds. Beck upped a total of 945.

Coahoma standout Mitchell Gutierrez was fourth in the 123-pound division with a total of 700 pounds. Dusty Martin, Zack Phillips and Nathan Sellars all turned in solid efforts in the 198-pound division, while Antonio Gonzales and Kasey Huckabee did well in the 148pound ranks.

The Coahoma powerlifting team is scheduled to return to action next weekend at the Lubbock Invitational Powerlifting Meet.

Hawks to host Odessa this afternoon in baseball

The Howard College Hawks will host the Odessa College Wranglers today and tomorrow at Jack Barber Field. The doubleheaders will begin at noon each day.

Due to repairs being made at Odessa College's field, the games were changed. The outfield wall at OC's home field blew over during recent high winds, forcing Wranglers' officials to shuffle games until repairs are completed.

The Hawks will travel to Odessa on March 21-22.

Texas Tech coach poised to capture career win No. 500

LUBBOCK (AP) - In another her." season, reaching 500 wins might be celebrated as quite an accomplishment.

But for Texas Tech women's basketball coach Marsha Sharp, it's not even the biggest milestone in her conference. Or in her own home arena.

Sharp's feat is dimmed by the recent spurt of coaches reaching 800 wins. Tennessee's Pat Summitt, Texas' Jody Conradt and Texas Tech men's coach Bob Knight have all done that within the past month.

Sharp got win No. 499 when Tech beat Texas A&M on Wednesday night. Her first shot at 500 comes Saturday when the Lady Raiders play at Baylor.

"Obviously it's a neat thing for her to be able to do," Knight said. "I think everybody (at Tech) would be very pleased for Compared to what her peers have done, Sharp said 500 doesn't seem "like such an aweeome thing."

"But at the same time, I don't want to discount that milestone because there have been so many people involved in it," she said, referring to assistants, administrators and players. "To think about an entire group making that kind of a commitment over a 20-year period of time is special to me."

Sharp played for the nationally known Flying Queens at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview before getting into coaching. Her laid-back demeanor, warm and friendly personality, and basketball savvy have helped propel her to the top level of her profession. No. 7 Tech (20-2, 9-1 Big 12) already has notched its 14th consecutive 20-win season and is hoping to win a second national championship. The Sheryl Swoopes-led 1993 team won the first.

Sharp already has earned a spot in the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in Knoxville, Tenn. She'll be inducted in May.

Now in her 21st season, Sharp, 50, intends to keep coaching as long as it's fun.

"I hope she stays around for her to coach my kids," said Natalie Ritchie, a Lady Raiders player.

As for reaching 800, Sharp would need about 12 1/2 more seasons at her career average of 24 wins a year.

Summitt and Conradt would love to have company in their 800 Club. The next likeliest candidate is LSU's Sue Gunter, who is at 671.

Conradt's Lady Longhorns were the dominant force in the Southwest Conference until Sharp brought the Lady Raiders to prominence. They've maintained a friendly rivalry, with Conradt getting career wins Nos. 500 and 800 against Sharp.

"It's made my job a lot harder since she's established such a powerhouse in Lubbock," Conradt said. "It's really great for our sport to have a program like Marsha's established at Texas Tech to set a standard, to have everybody out there looking to see what's happening on the national level with Tech and hopefully other programs in our state." Sharp said that when she leaves coaching, she doesn't want the number of victories to define her careér.

"There's no way that the number of wins will be important, only from the standpoint that you hope it made a lot of people successful and a lot of people proud," Sharp said.

Tech athletic director Gerald Myers said great athletic programs that sustain success over many years are the result of strong leaders.

"That's the case with Marsha," he said. "She deserves the credit for creating this program and sustaining it."

WOMEN

Continued from Page 1B Lady Chaps rallied to claim an 83-70 victory in the Chaparral Center. It was clearly a game the women could have won. Howard College forced 17 turnovers and led much of the contest.

The Lady Hawks, courtesy of strong starts from Belqui Guardado, Alecia Humphries and Traci Hemphill, rolled to a quick 9-6 lead. Desire Bostice boosted the Lady Hawks' lead to 11.7 with 11:48 left in the first half by turning a pass inside from Alexis Britt into a short baseline jumper.

Midland College hit stride from there. The Lady Chaps 18-7 run over the ensuing six minutes and grabbed a 25-18 lead. The Lady Hawks refused to go quietly though. Brittani Calhoun, Hemphill and Bostice engineered a 6-0 HC run late in the half that cut Midland's lead to one, at 25-24, with 2:32 left.

The Lady Chaps closed out the first half with a 6-2 run and took a 33-26

FW coach celebrates breaking win record

FORT WORTH (AP) -As Robert Hughes was being honored Thursday for becoming the nation's winningest high school basketball coach, he looked at the clock and abruptly stopped his speech. He was late for practice.

"I've got to get to practice," Hughes said, walking briskly toward the door. "I've got to get the hell out of here."

So much for celebrating his 1,275 victories. The only thing that matters now to the Fort Worth Dunbar coach is getting ready for the next one.

About 100 teachers, administrators, former players and dignitaries attended a reception to honor Hughes, who became the nation's winningest coach when Dunbar (30-1), the topranked Class 4A team in the state, beat Fort Worth Polytechnic 71-62 on Tuesday night.

Before realizing he was already 20 minutes late for his team's 4 p.m. practice for which he is religiously early and would never allow a player to be tardy _ Hughes had been recalling his early days of coaching in the late 1950s and telling stories that prompted many laughs.

Still, the 74-year-old man who had never anticipated being a coach is humbled by all of the hoopla in response to his record.

"I've had all kinds of benefits. I'm blessed, and I know it," said Hughes, 1,275-248 overall in-his 45 seasons. If it gets any better than this, I'll needsome tranquilizers."

There was an overflow crowd at TCU's 7,200-seat coliseum for Tuesday's record-breaking game, which had been moved from a city gymnasium to accommodate the expected large crowd. That was about three times as many people as attended TCU's game the following night.

Since then, hundreds of fans and former students have called and U.S. Rep. Martin Frost congratulated Hughes during remarks to Congress on Wednesday morning. Dunbar High's booster club sold out of its 200 Tshirts emblazoned with Hughes' picture and record, and has ordered 800 more.

Hughes broke the record that had been held by Morgan Wootten, who retired in November with a record of 1,274-192 and no losing seasons in 46 years of coaching at DeMatha High in Hyattsville, Md. The two coaches had traded the record in the mid-1990s.

Two years ago, the 71year-old Wootten became just the third high school coach inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame.

The closest person to Hughes and Wootten in the record book is Ralph Tasker of Hobbs, N.M., with 1,122 wins, but he retired in 1998 after 57 years of coaching. The closest active coach to Hughes has 1,100 wins, and no one else has more than 1,000.

This is his 36th playoff team, but the last of Hughes' four state titles - and the only one since coming to Dunbar in 1973 - was 10 years ago. He has had just one losing season, but even that team went to the playoffs. Hughes arrived at Dunbar in 1973 after coaching 14 years at I.M. Terrell High.

in charge could make all the difference in your judgment. Do you find that this person is unclear? Look at him or her as somewhat of an idea person. You'll understand him or her better this way. Tonight: Happy at home. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 Keep reaching out, thinking through a decision that helps you head in a new direction. Creativity needs to come into play when making plans. Break out of the mold. Do something a bit different. Speak your mind when asked a question. Don't push too hard. Tonight: Out and about.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) * Deal with a vague partner or loved one. You might need to ask for some support and help. On the other hand, you might be the one acting as an anchor. Do what you must to reverse a situation or change directions. Indulge both yourself and someone else. Tonight: Your treat. LEO (July 23-Aug.

22) You're personality opens up new doors, allowing you to head in a different direction. You find someone's feedback to be instrumental. This person has a more universal way of looking at issues. Express your happiness and upbeat personality. Know that anything is possible. Tonight: Whatever makes you

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  News filters in, even if you decide to isolate yourself. Key into a project, understanding that this is what you want. You don't have to answer calls or do anything specific. Take your time with a friend who asks for advice. One-on-one relating brings understanding. Tonight: Make mystery OK.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) * Question what would make you content. Friends happily join in, because they agree and want to be part of the action. Don't say "no" to an invitation. You could be surprised at how much fun you will have. Let go. Check in on a friend; stop at a favored spot. Tonight: You are the party. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) * You're inspired. Others appreciate your suggestions and work with them. You might not see that you're doing something differently, but others do. A must appearance draws new acquaintances. Network and party away. Others naturally join in. Tonight: Accept an offer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)  Take your time with someone at a distance. What feels like a gut feeling or comes through like a sixth sense needs to be honored. You could be delighted by what happens. Distance yourself from someone you don't "get" or understand. Tonight: As AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  Without realizing it, you inspire others. Listen well to feedback from a child or partner. You find that this person has much to offer. Together, take off and make the most out of the moment. Your playfulness speaks for itself. Let it all hang out. Tonight: Ask and expect to receive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Start a project, but don't be surprised if you suddenly become scattered. You have less control than you realize. Not everything is as it seems. Ask more questions. Someone's feedback proves instrumental Listen, especially if his or her thoughts ring a bell Tonight: Don't push your self piled this list, but came up empty. The quotes are adorable and perfect for Valentine's Day. From the mouths of babes . . . here is the list:

A Child's Definition of Love

"Love is when a girl puts on perfume and a boy puts on shaving cologne, and they go out and smell each other

"When my grandmother got arthritis, she couldn't bend over and paint her toenails anymore. So my grandfather does it for her all the time, even when his hands got arthritis, too. That's love.

"When someone loves you, the way they say your name is different. You know that your name is safe in their mouth.

"Love is when you go out to eat and you give somebody all of your french fries without making them give

Dear Annie: I just received an invitation to a wedding and was told that the bride and groom have registered, not only for dishes and linens, but also for their honeymoon. This way, guests may purchase part of it for the couple so they can have a nicer trip than they otherwise could afford. I have even discovered a few Web sites that encourage honeymoon registration, making it seem perfectly fine. Tell me, Annie, is this really proper for a wedding gift? - Texas Invitee

Dear Texas: No. It's tacky However, it is also gaining in popularity, so don't expect the idea to vanish anytime soon.

Dear Annie: I have been dating "Derek" for eight years. During that time, we have set quite a few wedding dates, but at the last minute, Derek always finds some reason to change our plans.

Last week, Derek insisted on setting another wedding date, but from the way he is behaving, I believe he is going to flake out on me again with some other lame excuse. I know I should say that it is now or never, but he is good to me, and I love him. How can I get him to do the deed? -- Memphis, Tenn.

Dear Memphis: Derek either is suffering from a bad case of cold feet, or he has no intention of getting married. Perhaps he believes if he keeps making promises, you will hang around. (It has worked so far.) Decide which is more important, Derek or wedding bells, because you are not likely to get both.

Dear Annie: About a week ago, I received a letter from the Social Security office, stating that it didn't have my 17-year-old son's correct address in order to send him his $12,000 check. I didn't know anything about it. When I called the Social Security office. I found out that "Jeremy's" biological father had applied for the checking account in my son's name, and I assume he is planning to forge my son's signature in order to deposit the checks into this account. My ex says it's none of my business.

Is Jeremy's father doing something illegal? Can this hurt Jeremy down the road? My stomach is in knots. Please help. Disgusted by the Scam Artist

Dear Disgusted: If your ex-husband is applying for. and receiving, Social Security benefits that Jeremy is not entitled to, he is in violation of the law. It is also against the law to open a checking account in someone else's name in order to cash their checks without their consent. Do NOT let Jeremy deposit any of these checks. Notify the Social Security office that your son may be receiving checks to which he is not entitled. Let the authorities handle it from there.

Dear Annie: I'd like to offer a suggestion to "No Long John Silver in Hartford, Conn.," whose sister's parrot, "Truman,' refused to be caged. Truman's owners ought to potty train the bird. Parrots are extremely intelligent, and this task is easily accomplished. However, it is unacceptable to allow Truman to eat at the table. Having watched parrots eat for a number of years now. I'm convinced their purpose on earth is to throw food out of the trees so that the scavengers on the ground can eat, too. -- The Real Long John Silver

Dear John: We received quite a few suggestions about Truman. Most told us that the owners should invest in bird diapers and products that will clean up whatever the bird leaves behind. We also discovered vou can purchase costumes for your parrot, including a tuxedo, complete with top hat and a cane. We're plotzing.

GRANVILLE, Ohio · Jazz singer Bobby McFerrin doesn't get nervous any more before a gig because he doesn't worry any more about what the audience is expecting.

"You're successful every time you perform, because everybody is moved - one way or the other," said McFerrin, participating in an artist-in-residence program last week at Denison University.

McFerrin said he came to the university, about 25 miles east of Columbus, because he likes being in situations where he doesn't know what he's going to do. McFerrin, best known for his 1988 pop hit "Don't Worry, Be Happy," said his favorite performances have been the results of surprises.

Jane Fonda withdrew her $12.5 million donation to the Harvard Graduate School of Education, derailing plans to establish a research center to study gender in education.

WHAT DO YOU WANT FIRST?

SOMETHING CROOKED

Fonda will withhold the balance of her donation, roughly half, and the unused portion of her initial contribution will be returned to her. School officials declined to say how much of it is left.

The Boston Globe quoted unidentified Fonda associcist. ates as saying the actress was frustrated with the university's handling of her 2001 bequest, the largest single gift in the graduate school's 83-year history. She felt the school was retary. being slow in finding someone to head the center, the newspaper quo as saying. But a school spokesman, Margaret Haas, described the relationship between Harvard and Fonda as "very cordial." MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) · The man who plays the president on television is
