Who will be the ultimate survivor?

The weather in the African Safari will not be the only thing heating up as the Big Spring High School theater department presents its last play of the year, "Survivor, Every Vote Counts," by Kelly Meadows.

"It's set in the African Safari," said Tracie Lindsey, high school theater teacher. "We have a host, a cameraman and two tribes." Lindsey promises the parody will deliver all the emotion, drama and backstabbing schemes that made the top-rated television show famous. "We have one tribe with a set of four sisters

Local Junior Achievement program looks for volunteers

By LYNDEL MOODY

Staff Writer

Another year wrapped up, Kathy Lusk, coordinator for Junior Achievement, has begun recruiting community volunteers to help expand the program for next year.

"It's a very fulfilling program,"

Lusk said. "We usually get business leaders from the community but volunteers don't have to be from the business industry."

Junior Achievement is school-based program where community volunteers help students gain an insight about real life choices as they begin to think about the future.

Classes focus on aspects such as personal finances, to how one's choice of a career can impact lifestyle.

"Junior Achievement has programs from kindergarten through 12th grade," said Lusk.

about the event, call Bob Deavenport at 756-3254 or 756-3425.

Services in Big Spring will take place at the Big Spring Vietnam Memorial on Swords Road Monday at 11 a.m.

Bikers from the Permian Basin Vietnam Veterans Memorial Committee participating in the annual Ride to Remember patriotic parade will visit the observances in Big Spring.

"Basically, it's a bunch of bikers that got together," said Ride organizer Bill McNeil. "I started this thing with a fellow named Ron Gray about five years ago. We're doing it to remember the guys that went to war for us and didn't come back. We're kind of riding in their place."

The bikers will place a wreath at the memorial. McNeil said more than 200 bikers participated in last year's Ride to Remember.

HERALD photo/Roger Cline
Anna Holcomb of Big Spring is one of many area residents remembering family members who served in the United States military this Memorial Day. Hoakum's father, Army Cpl. Edward A. Hesselbach, was wounded in Germany in 1918. Hesselbach was presented the Purple Heart along with this print — signed by President Woodrow Wilson — of the spirit of Columbia honoring a kneeling soldier.

"We start at the Vietnam Memorial over here at Midland International Airport. We Big Spring there on the north side by Rip Griffins, then we go right straight south on 87," he said. "It's just a remembrance ride to try to get the public, the citizens of the country, to start remembering what Memorial Day's supposed to be about."

The local observance will also include a tribute to the military men and women who gave their lives in Iraq. John Wayne Metcalf, stepfather of Coahoma's fallen hero, Marine Pfc. Chad Bales, will speak at the event.

Vietnam Memorial Committee members will also dedicate a restored AH-1G helicopter at the event. The gunship, used as a tank-hunter in Vietnam, bears its pilot's call sign "Hammer Head."

At least two and possibly three pilots who actually flew the helicopter will be present at the ceremony Monday.

Local leaders, including representatives from the Big Spring Police Department, Howard County Sheriff's Office, the Big Spring Fire Department and Howard County Volunteer Fire Department will be on hand; as will members of the Christian Motorcycle Association.

The Big Spring Color Guard will present the colors and the band One Star Shy will provide live music. Recorded music and sound production will be provided by Jack Nixon.

The public is encouraged to attend.

YOUR VIEWS

TO THE EDITOR:
John Grant's ideas on water conservation Friday's Herald are things that need to be done. Water is in short supply in West Texas, and will become more so in the future.

I can add one more idea to conserve water. Instead of green grass, one can decorate a yard with xeriscape plants, shrubs and cacti which are suited to our arid climates.

TO THE EDITOR:
The Texas Democrats are an embarrassment to our state!

I am ashamed of their childlike behavior in running off to Oklahoma just because they're no longer the controlling party in Texas.

What they are doing is abdicating the duties of the office. They all need to be recalled.

If I have my way, they would all be sent packing.

A SMALL PRAYER

by K. Rae Anderson

May we reach out to you, Lord, through our faith and form a spiritual partnership.

Amen

Suggestion, temptation or direction?

I heard it on the radio the other day. It wasn't the first time. But on this occasion, it hit me a little differently.

"God tempts no man," a preacher was saying.

Now wait a minute, I thought...that can't be.

God tempts no man? I realize, of course, it's the devil who is the main source of temptation. I'm pretty sure he's the one who whispers late at night, "There's one more piece of chocolate pie in the icebox and everyone else is asleep." And it may be the devil who prompts us to shake our fist and yell rather loudly and sometimes profanely when we get cut off in traffic.

But I don't think it was the devil who stood behind my desk last week and said "Wow, what a beautiful day. Why don't you go to the lake?"

Now you may disagree with my thinking here, but it was the good Lord who made the heavens and the earth, and it seems to me that includes the sky and the lake.

We all know that there are days when it is pleasant to be outdoors and days when it's better to stay inside. You could say that God simply makes days — bland, mediocre days — and leaves it up to the devil to throw sand or sun around for affect. But I don't buy that. I think God is probably pretty proud of his handiwork. If He took the time to put leaves on trees and colored feathers on birds, then He also has a say in whether the sun shines or the dirt blows. That's the way I've got it figured, anyway.

So I think it was God who set up that scene — a nice, warm breeze, sun slowly sinking, filling the blue sky with streaks of yellow and orange. And I think it was God who suggested I go to the lake.

So there you go. Call it what you want. Suggestion, direction, temptation. I say the Lord tempted me. He said, why not go out and look what I have done. Look at this beautiful sunset I have made for you. Enjoy it.

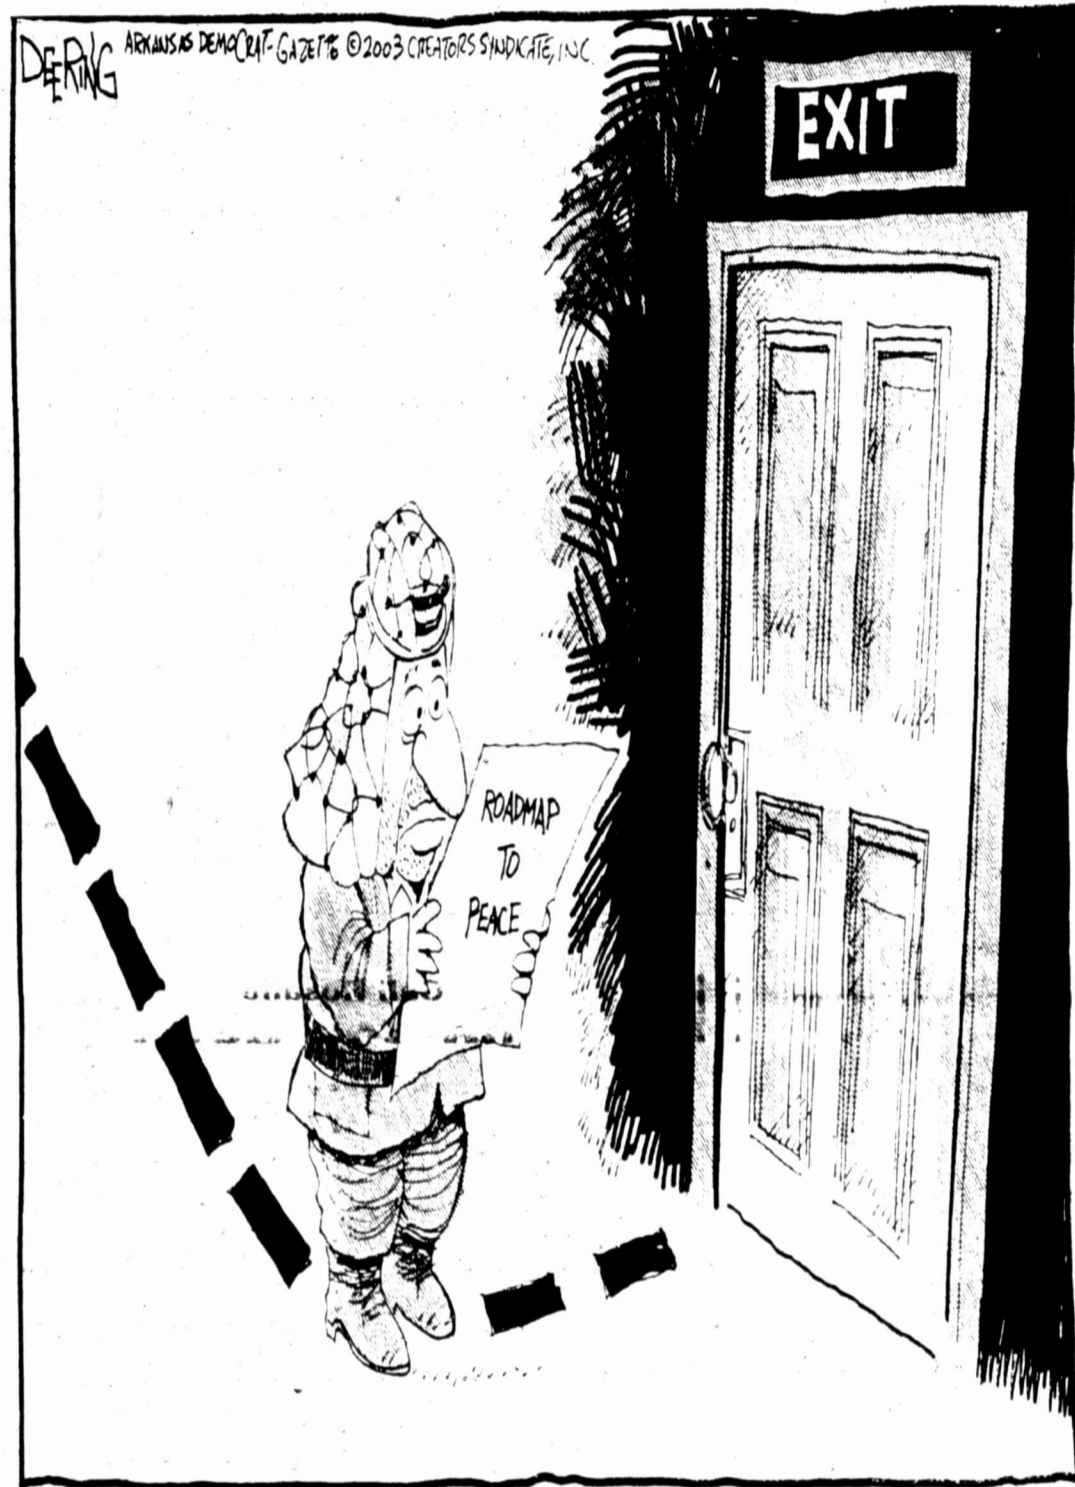

And I did. It wasn't the first time He has tempted me. Twenty years ago, God put a woman in front of me and told me that she would look after me all my life.

I figure the fact that she doesn't listen to a word I say is the devil's doings.

Should we allow women in combat?

Now that the fighting in Iraq is all but over, it's time we ask some hard questions about the role women soldiers played in this latest American conflict. One woman died, and two others were taken hostage, one of whom was severely injured, because their orders took them close enough to danger to make the military's prohibition against women serving in combat a mere fig leaf. Two of these women, including the female soldier who died, were also single mothers. There is no question that these women performed bravely and honorably, but their individual courage isn't the issue. What remains to be seen is whether it is in our national interest — and civilization's — to send young women and mothers into battle in the first place.

The debate over women in combat raged through much of the 1980s after the Supreme Court upheld the military's right to exclude women from the draft largely because they were presumed unfit to serve in combat. But with little notice or fanfare in the early 1990s, female soldiers began performing roles that would take them ever closer to danger once fighting broke out.

At the Clinton administration's urging in 1993, Congress repealed laws that barred women from serving as members of combat aircraft and warship crews. The following year, Secretary of Defense Les Aspin repealed so-called "risk rules" that restricted women from certain jobs if they were deemed at high risk of hostile fire or capture. While the military still bars women from serving in combat per se, it no longer tries to keep them out of harm's way.

Feminists, always anxious to prove women are as tough and capable as men, applaud these changes, though I doubt many rushed down to recruiting offices in the months leading up to the war to put their principles to the test.

Most young women who join the military do so to learn a skill, have a secure job with decent benefits and serve their country. Among enlisted women, the desire to fight is minimal only 29 percent believe women should be able to serve in combat positions, according to surveys taken by the Army in 1992. But whether some women are willing to kill — and risk being killed — to defend and serve their country isn't the point. The real issue is whether we should encourage them to do so.

No matter how much modernists pretend otherwise, women are different from men, and their roles are not interchangeable. Females are not just smaller versions of males; they are also, on average, far less aggressive and more nurturing, qualities that suit them to be good mothers but not warriors. Not only do women do all the childbearing, but the period of their lives in which they can help perpetuate the species is far more limited than men's as well. As it so happens, females' prime childbearing years — their twenties — coincide with the age at which most male soldiers are likely to fall in combat.

Asked about the growing risk the new rules pose to soldiers who also happen to be mothers, one retired Army colonel snapped, "What about the males who get blown away? Which is worse, to lose the father of a child or the mother of a child?" It's hard to believe he didn't know the answer to that question. As tragic as the death of a father is in a young child's life, it simply can't compare to the loss of a mother.

Nor should we be concerned only with the prospect of the ultimate separation of mother and child when a female soldier dies. What about the effects of even a few months' separation of an infant or toddler from his or her soldier mom deployed halfway around the world? The military's only concern is that the soldier has a "care plan" in place so that combat readiness won't be impaired, but a generation of military dependents may be harmed by such indifference to their well-being.

In the name of equal opportunity for women in the military, we've chosen to ignore nature or worse, we're committed to altering it. We may succeed in training succeeding generations of young women to become warriors, but we can't begin to know the toll our hubris will take on the individuals involved, their families and our society.

NEWS BRIEFS

Texas Senate OKs key bill

AUSTIN (AP) - A massive government reorganization bill designed to save the state about $315 million over the next two years was approved by the Senate on Thursday.

Legislators say the streamlining measure is critical to balancing the state budget but the Senate version is about $100 million less in savings than what House leaders hope to pass. Lawmakers this week are negotiating a $117 billion two-year state budget that stays within a $9.9 billion shortfall.

The House had originally projected its bill could save about $800 million. The sponsor of that measure, Rep. David Swinford, R-Dumas, said Thursday that figure has been cut in half after the House took out savings that required schools to cut expenses not related to classroom teaching.

Congress finishes tax cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress finished putting together a tax cut Thursday less than half what President Bush wanted but still big enough to send 25 million families rebates of at least $400 this summer and boost middle-income workers' paychecks about 4 percent the rest of the year.

Most workers would see bigger paychecks beginning in July, and many parents would get an advance refund worth $400 for each child late this summer. Bush said he would sign it after votes are completed Friday by the House and Senate.

The last sticking point was how to distribute $10 billion in new Medicaid assistance. The money is half the $20 billion in new aid going to fiscally strapped state and local governments over the next two years, bringing the total cost of the package to $350 billion, the maximum that moderate Senate Republicans would allow.

U.N. gives Iraq go-ahead

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Putting aside bitter divisions over the Iraqi war, the U.N. Security Council gave the United States and Britain a mandate Thursday to govern Iraq and use its oil riches to rebuild the country. The resolution opened the door to a quick resumption of oil exports.

The 14-0 vote was a victory for the Bush administration, which won the backing of the chief opponents to the Iraq war - France,

Russia and Germany - even though those nations felt the United Nations wound up with too little say in shaping Iraq's future.

Algerian quake kills 1,000

ROUIBA, Algeria (AP) - Rescuers clawed by hand through rubble as stunned and weeping survivors wandered through collapsed buildings Thursday, after Algeria's worst earthquake in two decades killed nearly 1,100 people, injured thousands and left thousands more homeless.

Officials feared the death toll would increase with the search for bodies and survivors, helped by emergency teams from Europe and Asia that rushed to this North African country of 30 million after Wednesday night's disaster.

Hamas asked to halt attacks

JERUSALEM (AP) - The Palestinian prime minister, who is under growing international pressure to rein in militants, summoned leaders of the Islamic group Hamas to his office Thursday and asked them to halt attacks on Israelis.

However, Hamas said that at best, it is willing to consider a partial truce.

Birdwell Lane Baptist Church announces new pastor, wife

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer

Big Spring's newest Kings are working for the King of Kings. Steve King and his wife Wilda have taken over the reins at Birdwell Lane Baptist Church, 1512 South Birdwell Lane.

"We're coming from Graham," Steve said. "We were both born and raised in Young County, both graduates of Trinity Valley Bible College and Seminary, graduates of Arlington Baptist College."

The couple has been involved in ministry all over Texas, he added.

"We worked at Calvary Heights Baptist Church in Springtown, Grace Baptist Church in Graham, also at Bible Baptist Church in Cisco," Steve said. "Now I'm pastor at Birdwell Lane Baptist Church in Big Spring, where my dad was born 77 years ago."

The Kings plan to step up the church's youth and children's ministry.

"We always work with the young people and we'll be starting a young people's ministry at our church," Steve said. "We love kids. Children are the number one priority to us in the world. I believe we have a lost generation and the children need to be reached. They really do."

Steve and Wilda King

Birdwell Lane Baptist already has an exciting youth mission through a camp at Fort Davis.

"Every year we have 25 to 30 young people saved at Fort Davis," Steve said. "We'll be having three weeks of camp this coming summer."

The couple have some skills to offer the children's ministry.

"We're professional clowns. We have a clown ministry we've done over the years," Steve said. "I play bluegrass gospel music. I play the mandolin, the guitar and the upright bass."

The couple has been married 33 years.

"We have two children, Brandy, 29, and Bill, 25. We've got five grandsons and two granddaughters. We've been in the full-time ministry now for 21 years, and we're enjoying every minute of it."

Dedicated to caring for others

Longtime Crossroads area nurse, the late Johnnie Amos, memorialized with Torchbearer Award

By LYNDEL MOODY
Staff Writer

A long-time Big Spring nurse was honored by the VA Medical Center May 9, for her contributions to the field.

"We are honored to recognize the late Mrs. (Johnnie) Amos with the 2003 Torchbearer Award for the significant promotion of nursing art, science and professionalism," said Katie Lara, West Texas VA Healthcare System chief of nursing.

AMOS

The award was presented to Amos' widower, George, and her granddaughter, Dusti, during a brief ceremony held in conjunction with the hospital's week-long celebration of National Nurses Week.

Employees Evelyn Dawson, a registered nurse, and Angela Willborn, a licensed vocational nurse, both received the excellence in nursing award during the ceremony.

A long-time Crossroads area registered nurse, Amos was instrumental in establishing the first licensed vocational nursing program at Howard College. She served as director and as an instructor for 26 years.

"She was a role model for every student who ever worked with her," said Ramona Harris, who served as an instructor under Amos and later became director of the LVN program. "She was very bright, very self-assured, very knowledgeable and she stood up for herself in all situations."

Harris described Amos as a visionary in her field.

"She was ahead of her time in nursing," Harris said. "She gave every student every chance in the world, but she set her standards high."

Amos was born on Nov. 9, 1915, in Garden City to the early Chaney pioneer family. She graduated from Big Spring High School and Baylor University School of Nursing.

She performed her post graduate study in surgical techniques at Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago and then worked as a private duty nurse in several Dallas hospitals, including St. Paul's Methodist and Medical Arts.

Amos entered civil service as a general and surgical nurse on Fort Apache Indian Reservation in Whitewater, Ariz., where she met her future husband, George Paul Amos. After a three-week engagement, the couple married in the appropriately-named New Mexico city, Gallup.

The couple moved to Big Spring in 1942 where Johnnie worked at Hall-Bennett Hospital.

Before her death on Dec. 20, 1998, Amos received numerous awards during her teaching career, including the Distinguished Instructor in 1973 from Howard College Board of Trustees.

"Carrying on her legacy are hundreds of LVNs, but most especially her granddaughter, Dusti Amos," Lara said. "Dusti is a registered nurse and she works at the Texas Tech University Medical Center."

COVENANT HEALTH SYSTEM IS LEAVING BIG SPRING BUT WE'RE STAYING

Doctors who practice at the Malone Hogan Clinic believe that physicians are the life blood of the medical community and they are staying!

However, there is a perception in the community that since Covenant Health System is leaving Big Spring, the doctors will be leaving too! That's not true! The doctors are still seeing patients in their offices. They are still very much a part of the Big Spring Community...their families have lived here for many years...their children attend local schools.

The best thing the community can do is to continue to see your doctor in Big Spring for your health care needs so that they can maintain their practices in Big Spring and offer you high quality health care right here, right now!

Miller

Lorin Miller took a big step toward laying claim to the title of Lady Hawks this week when she didn't have to go to the new centerpiece.

Miller, who was named MVP last month to relocate the school's College women's basketball team in one swoop Monday night, was named MVP in a quick poll by fans and a local newspaper by signing Colorado State's school standouts.

Dallas hoping for a win at home

DALLAS (AP) — The Mavericks' first game into the Western Conference final against the Dallas Mavericks on Thursday night has been ahead for three minutes.

Still, the Mavericks' home for Game 1 of the Western Conference Friday night tied the San Antonio Spurs' game apiece.

"I don't think I played a good game," Dallas point guard Steve Nash said Thursday. "I haven't played my best yet and haven't found my rhythm. And since I've tied, in a way, I really haven't started."

With all the technicals called during the two games, neither the pace or flow of the game from two 60-minute halves. The best basketball series has to offer is still to come.

That's got to be frustrating for the Mavericks considering they've been on the court for more than 30 minutes this season and find themselves in a bit of a technical without the home advantage.

The whistles are only things slowing down the Mavericks. Dallas coach Avery Johnson and coaches who credit San Antonio Thursday for an excellent defensive effort with Tim Duncan and David Robinson blocking the Mavericks' haven't seen the son.

"I think both teams were very focused, and it was a good game played by both teams," said Dallas coach Avery Johnson. "Steve Van Exel, who was cold after practicing, was very hot-handedly in the last round. Dallas past San Antonio in the last round, what it should be — both teams are seeing what the best moves are and with the win."

Miller begins rebuilding Lady Hawks' program

Lorin Miller took the first step toward laying a new foundation for the Howard College Lady Hawks this week. And he didn't have to go far to find the new centerpiece.

Miller, who was hired last month to reload the Howard College women's program, took care of two major weaknesses in one swoop Monday — bringing in a quick, sure-handed guard and a local attraction — by signing Colorado City High School standout Alison Lopez to a collegiate deal. The deal could benefit both Lopez and Howard College by giving the HC women a sure-handed point guard and giving Lopez a chance to display her talents close to home.

"It has been my dream to play college basketball and to get an opportunity to play at Howard, so close to home, is great," said Lopez, who averaged just under 20 points a game this past season for the Lady Wolves. "Howard has a proud tradition and I hope to be able to contribute to their success."

Miller, who is taking over a HC team that won just two conference game this year, is just as happy to have Lopez on board at Howard.

"We are elated to have Alison coming to Howard," said Miller. "She is at the top of the class of our incoming recruits. She is not only a gifted athlete, she is a great student as well."

"We are looking forward to seeing her play for us," he said.

In Lopez, the Lady Hawks will have one of West Texas' top performers. Lopez was an all-district performer and was recently tabbed as an alternate for the Texas High School Coaches Association all-star game.

Miller has coached many years in the junior college ranks and brings a wealth of knowledge of the game. He has coached both softball and basketball and even had a stint as a coach for the NBA's Seattle SuperSonics.

Dallas hoping for calls at home

DALLAS (AP) — Two games into the Western Conference finals, the Dallas Mavericks have been ahead for less than three minutes.

Still, the Mavs returned home for Game 3 on Friday night tied with the San Antonio Spurs at one game apiece.

"I don't think we've played a good game yet," Dallas point guard Steve Nash said Thursday. "We haven't played really well yet and haven't found our rhythm. And since we're tied, in a way, the series really hasn't started yet."

With all the fouls and technicals called the first two games, neither had the pace or flow expected from two 60-win teams. The best basketball this series has to offer is likely still to come.

That's got to be a bit frustrating for the Spurs, considering they've led for more than 93 of 96 minutes this series and find themselves in essentially a best-of-five series without the homecourt advantage.

The whistles aren't the only things slowing the Mavericks. Dallas players and coaches were quick to credit San Antonio on Thursday for playing excellent defense, especially with Tim Duncan and David Robinson providing low-post shot-blocking the Mavs haven't seen this postseason.

"I think both teams are very focused, have very good game plans to stop one another and counter-moves," said Dallas' Nick Van Exel, who has gone cold after practically single-handedly lifting Dallas past Sacramento in the last round. "That's what it should be about — both teams battling and seeing who has the best moves and comes out with the win."

Class 2A Region I Softball Finals

An Unlikely Rivalry

HERALD photo/Tommy Wells
Coahoma coaches Robby Dickenson (center) and Dicky Stone (right) talk to their team following their 8-1 win over Eastland last week in Abilene. Coahoma will try and nail down its sixth berth in the Class 2A state tournament in eight years tonight when they face the Eula Lady Pirates in the Region I finals in Snyder. The two teams have faced each other four times in the regional finals in the past six years.

Coahoma, Eula set to renew playoff rivalry tonight with trip to state hanging in balance

By TOMMY WELLS
Sports Editor

The Coahoma Bulldogettes rarely play the Eula Lady Pirates. In fact, since the team began playing softball a little more than decade ago, the two teams have played just seven times. Neither Coahoma nor Eula have ever been in the same district, or even played one significant regular season game.

It's almost an antithesis of a rivalry.

But a rivalry it is, nonetheless. One that will see its latest chapter unfold this evening when the two teams invade Snyder to square off in the Region I Class 2A finals.

Coahoma and Eula are scheduled to meet in the regional finals for the fourth time in six years beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Snyder High School's Cates Softball Complex.

"It has developed into quite a rivalry," said Coahoma head coach Robby Dickenson. "Every time we have played them it has been real tough."

Coahoma has held a decided edge over Eula through the years. The Bulldogettes have never lost to the Lady Pirates, winning all seven outings. Four of those wins have sent Coahoma to the state softball tournament, including including 1998 when the CHS girls stormed to the Class 2A state crown. The Bulldogettes eliminated Eula three straight years in the regional finals from 1998 to 2000.

"They're our No. 1 rival," said Eula head coach Stacey Herring. Dickenson agreed, saying the two teams know sooner or later they're destined to meet.

"I think we both know that somewhere down the line, we'll be seeing each other."

The rivalry gained a new level of intensity this season. After the Bulldogettes ousted Eula in the regional semifinals last year, the Lady Pirates went home and let their goal for the 2003 season be known via the Internet.

Playing like one of the boys, Sorenstam holds her own in first round of Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP) — Annika Sorenstam had everyone fooled.

Watching her split fairways and putt for birdie on every hole, no one could have guessed what was going on inside — the pounding heart, queasy stomach, jangled nerves. "It never went away," she said.

Looking at her score, no one could have guessed it belonged to a woman.

In an atmosphere that matched the historic occasion Thursday, Sorenstam held her own at the Colonial with a 1-over 71 that left her in the middle of the pack.

The first woman in 58 years to compete on the PGA Tour played like one of the boys.

"It was more than I could have ever expected," Sorenstam said. "It's just a thrill to be here. I'm very happy with the way I played."

Sorenstam was six strokes behind Patrick Sheehan and Mark Calcavecchia, but the 71 gave her a decent chance to make the cut.

Even if she doesn't, it might not matter.

For one round, under the kind of scrutiny only Tiger Woods can appreciate, Sorenstam showed why she was worth a sponsor's exemption, and why she is the best female golfer in 40 years.

With a gallery that stood a dozen deep and strained to see every shot, Sorenstam missed only one fairway.

The only time she stood in a bunker was to read a putt.

"She's a machine. She's awesome," said Aaron Barber, who played with Sorenstam and had a 72. "I've never played with someone over 18 holes who didn't miss a shot." Dean Wilson, the other player in their group, had a 71.

Only 35 players finished ahead of Sorenstam, among the early starters on a damp, cool morning. Toward the end of the day, 1 over par left her out of the top 70, which is where she needs to be to make the cut.

But this wasn't an experiment to see if the LPGA's top player was better than the men. She only wanted to see how her game stacked up on a longer course (7,080 yards), with tucked pins, against the best competition golf has to offer.

"This is almost more than I can handle," Sorenstam said.

The last woman to play on the PGA Tour was Babe Zaharias in 1945. The last time there was this much interest in one round was when Woods made his professional debut in the 1996 Greater Milwaukee Open.

Wife joins husband on minor league team's baseball roster

ARLINGTON (AP) — Alex Rodriguez hit a tiebreaking home run in the seventh inning, and the Texas Rangers beat the Tampa Bay Devil Rays 10-8 Thursday to extend their winning streak to six games.

Hank Blalock and Einar Diaz each homered and had three RBIs for Texas, which completed a three-game sweep. The Rangers, who wasted a five-run lead, are on their longest winning streak since taking eight in a row last June 19-25.

With the score 8-all, Rodriguez hit his 13th homer of the season, a drive off Travis Harper (0-3). The Rangers scored again later in the inning when Donnie Sadler came home on Mark Teixeira's double-play grounder.

Todd Van Poppel (1-0) pitched 1 1-3 innings of scoreless relief, and Ugueth Urbina got three outs for his 15th save in 16 chances.

Tampa Bay trailed 8-3 before a five-run fifth inning. Aubrey Huff, a Mineral Wells, Texas, native, homered off Colby Lewis, his 13th of the season, and Marlon Anderson hit a three-run double off Ryan Shouse. Two outs later, Carl Crawford singled home Anderson.

Lewis allowed seven runs and six hits in four innings as his ERA in May increased to 15.12 in five starts.

Tampa's Seth McClung gave up seven runs and six hits in 3 1-3 innings.

redirect the focus away from officiating, which at this point isn't very easy.

Mavericks owner Mark Cuban said he received 750 e-mails concerning the officiating by the time he went to sleep after San Antonio's 119-106 victory in Game 2 Wednesday night, then had another 500 when he awoke. A common theme: Why does the NBA assign playoff games to referees whose personalities affect the way the game is called?

Joey Crawford was the most-talked about official.

Bolstering his reputation for having a short fuse, Crawford called four technical fouls in the first quarter, ejecting Dallas coach Don Nelson with two quick technicals during a timeout. Nelson walked to the center of the scorer's table and stared at Crawford.

It happened so quickly and under such tame circumstances that most of the Mavericks didn't even see what happened. That confusion made them doubt it was a motivational ploy, even though Nelson has been known to try that stunt.

Spurs coach Gregg Popovich, who used to work for Nelson and remains his close friend, saw right through it.

"I know fully what Nellie was doing," he said Thursday.

The Mavericks are hoping that playing in front of a raucous crowd biased in their favor will help sway some close calls from the officials.

Although Nash said, "it's why people play for homecourt advantage," he also hopes his team can find something else to focus on.

"It's stupid to even worry about referees," he said. "They have a tough job to do. Let them do it. No matter what's happening, whether you're not getting a fair shake on a given night, there's nothing you can do about it. It's not deliberate. Even if it is deliberate, what are you going to do about it?"

San Antonio's Stephen Jackson agreed.

"The best bet is to keep your mouth closed and play basketball," he said.

Everett hits 1st homer in Astros' win

HOUSTON (AP) — Jeriome Robertson won for the first time in more than a month, Jeff Kent had a pair of RBI doubles and Adam Everett hit his first major league home run as the Houston Astros defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 Thursday night.

The Astros have won five of eight games this season against the defending NL central champion Cardinals.

Robertson (2-3) went 5-2-3 innings and allowed one run on four hits, striking out four and walking none for his first win since beating Cincinnati on April 10.

Robertson had four no-decisions and two losses since his previous victory. He went down to the minors May 2, but was recalled 10 days later.

Billy Wagner pitched the ninth for his 12th save in 13 chances.

Brett Tomko (2-3) went 1-1-3 innings and allowed five runs on eight hits.

Albert Pujols hit his 11th home run to give the Cardinals a 1-0 in the first. He has homered in five of his last six games.

After Pujols' home run, Robertson settled down to retire 12 of the next 13 batters — the only baserunner reaching on an error.

PLAYOFF

Priority No. 1 in Eula — beat Coahoma. To keep it fresh in their minds, the Lady Pirates had that placed on their school's Web site for them — and the world — to see.

Both Eula and Coahoma head into this evening's showdown with a full head of steam. Eula, 19-9, earned its way into the regional finals by routing Sonora 13-1 last Thursday in San Angelo. The Bulldogettes, 18-12-3, dispatched Eastland, 8-1, in front of a standing-room only crowd in Abilene.

The Lady Pirates and Bulldogettes have more in common than tradition this fall. Both are keyed by young, successful pitchers and solid defenses.

Eula is led by pitcher Cassie Hillin, a sophomore who has all but three of her team's victories this year. In the Lady Pirates' rout of Sonora, she hurled a two-hitter.

The Lady Pirate offense is built around two steady hitters in Courtney Clark and Channing Morris. Clark is hitting just under .500 for the season. Morris had a pair of clutch hits last week.

Freshman Sarah Dunn leads the Coahoma defensive effort. The right-handed pitcher has yielded just two runs in the Bulldogettes' three post-season outings.

Adding to her ability is the defensive play of a solid infield consisting of Victoria Walker, Ashley Lang, Ashli New and Tawna Jacobs and catcher Ruby Garcia.

What will it take for Coahoma to continue its dominance over Eula — and earn its sixth trip to the state tournament in the past eight years?

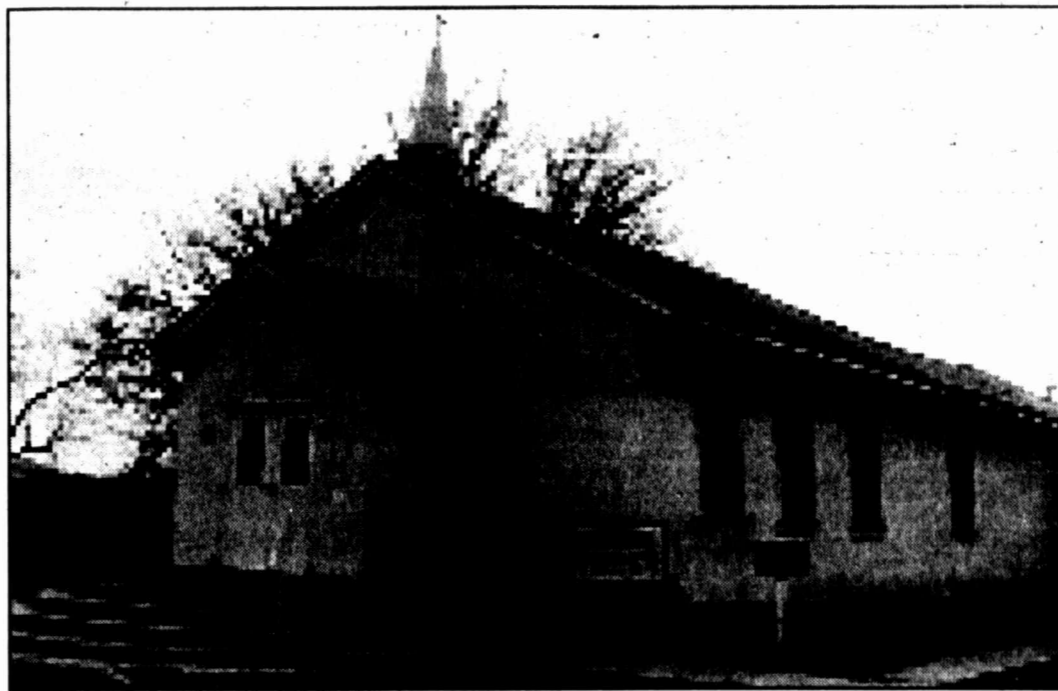

"We know we're going to have to be at the top of our game," said Dickenson. "We can't make any mistakes against them."

Herring agreed. "That's how it has always been when we play them," she said. "The team with the least amount of errors will advance."

BY JOYCE JILLSON

Gemini solar vibes are chatty, mischievous and ready for a good game.
Many folks
at work will be intent on figuring out
how to slip into the next higher position without any one noticing.
The answer
is easy; you assume a bit more responsibility, and the perks go natural-

JOYCE
JILLSON

ly to you as well. Tonight, Pisces lunar energy reminds us everyone is fragile.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You deserve to have a weekend to yourself and will be able to if you pay attention to small things, finishing up and polishing projects. New people met today become your clients or customers.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Consider what you're looking for in a friend because you'll attract the wrong sort if you're not consciously trying to do better for yourself. All things being equal, you may as well find someone who gives as much as you do.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There is no time to waste on being jealous of what someone else has.
Your big break is just around the corner. This afternoon brings a prime opportunity to change the way someone views you.
Be lighthearted.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Charitable work may be one of the greatest gifts you can give to society, but the one who really benefits is you. After all, your life is made rich
by what you contribute,
not by what you accumulate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22).
Get involved with people who appeal to you and capture your imagination. If you're not being challenged by your personal life, you'll probably bore yourself and others with your interaction in that area.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY
(May 23). You make a splash in career realms, but the real coup comes this month with a brilliant romance. Singles in love can hardly tear themselves away from prospects met now through August. Your luckiest love matches are Libra and Aquarius. You receive a considerable sum of money from a relative in July or November. Your lucky numbers this year are: 54, 35, 28, 15 and 6.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept.
22). Careers and health flourish with attention to detail. Don't take the easy way, though you'll have many chances to do so.
Powerful people trust you because they see you consistently doing the right thing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.
23). Leadership abilities are strong, but you must still prove yourself by following instructions. One judgment call could make you rich. Try to be fair even when others are not.
Ask for commitments, or people will forget what they said.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.
21). You are what you tell yourself you are. Accepting this might bring a false idea to light.
Dispel beliefs about yourself that only make you feel weak. After all, you're the one who gives ideas power.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov.
22-Dec. 21). Your uncon-mon drive feeds your fire-sign tendency to ignite
everything in your path.
Your appetite for luxury swings a bit out of control. To avoid damages, put yourself in affordable environments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Energy is high,
with plenty of ideas buzzing around in the atmosphere. A major change brings wild success. This may mean chopping your hair, quitting your job or wearing something out of someone else's wardrobe.

(Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You'll be judged by what you say, so it's no time to mince words. Salespeople could pressure you, not surprisingly, since you look like a million bucks.

You'll get plenty of practice saying "no" and be pursued even more.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Gentrified living gives a sense of calm and order to your crazy day.
Cell-phone etiquette comes into play. It's offensive to let your ringer disrupt the time
you give to a client or interrupt a meeting insomeone else's office.

WEEKEND LOVE
FORECAST: You'll be packing in the fun this weekend with the Gemini
sun promising to keep it light.

ARIES: The journey goes somewhere fun and exciting.

TAURUS: An element of seriousness tonight forces you to look at your core attraction to someone and work out any problems standing in the way.

GEMINI: You won't
even be able to keep track of all the new people you'll meet.

CANCER: If you go
with those bright, last-minute ideas for dates and parties, your lack of planning is certain to work out in your favor.

LEO: Use the element of surprise on your mate,
and take him or her on an unplanned trip.

VIRGO: Get in the car,
and stop at the first romantic place that comes across your path.

LIBRA: As long as you relax, you don't have to worry about the entertainment - it's you!

SCORPIO: Let the optimistic qualities of sweet-ies serve you up a playful weekend.

SAGITTARIUS: The
clearer you are about your romantic expectations, the more likely they are to be met.

CAPRICORN: Loved ones try and spend your money on the most interesting things; keep a tight hold.

AQUARIUS: Partners are exceptionally close tonight. PISCES:
A love affair is humbling
as well as intoxicating.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: Aries and Capricorn can go for the long term. Aries has a special fire that can really heat up Capricorn's
"afterburner," and Capricorn's stability and calmness can blend well with Aries' zest for life.

For the relationship to last, Aries must learn to take Capricorn's needs seriously, and Capricorn
must make allowances
for the impulsive qualities of Aries.

BERLIN - The Rolling Stones will be allowed to play until nearly midnight at Berlin's Olympic stadium in July, a Berlin court ruled, rejecting a complaint from residents.

National noise pollution laws clamp down on loudness from rowdy parties to outdoor beer gardens after 10 p.m. But a Berlin administrative court said Thursday the July 15 concert is a "rare occurrence" for the German capital and therefore the Stones could play until 11:30 p.m.

The Stones' concert is one of few to be staged at the enormous Olympic stadium, which usually hosts sports events.

Peggy Lee's portrait now hangs in the Reiland Fine Arts Center at Jamestown College.

More than 50 people attended the dedication ceremony in the college's music wing to honor the sultry singer, who died in January 2002 at 81.

The photographic portrait was a gift from Lee's family, presented when she was awarded an honorary doctorate in music from Jamestown College three years ago.

Jamestown College President Robert Badal said hanging the portrait was delayed until the fine arts center was completed.

"She was a phenomenal success and ... we're doing something to remember her," Badal said Tuesday.

Lee, who was born in Jamestown, grew up in Jamestown and Nortonville, a small town to the north, and graduated from Wimbledon High School.

She won a Grammy Award for best contemporary female vocal performance for "Is That All There Is?"

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) - The European Union awarded its annual movie prize to Scottish director Peter Mullan for "The Magdalene Sisters," a provocative depiction of an abusive Catholic convent.

The $28,000 prize is awarded each year at the Cannes Film Festival to the European film shown in the largest number of EU countries. To qualify, the movie must be the director's first or second feature-length film.
