GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1933

HERE and THERE

By Joe Quinn

THE new President of the United States will take the oath of office Saturday, March 4th will mark the beginning of a new era of administration and if the confidence of the people is great enough that date will mark the beginning of a recovery in economic conditions. Without that confidence there is little that can be accomplished by President Roosevelt despite his party affiliation and zealous nature.

DEMOCRATIC leadership, prohibition repeal, the Muscle Shoals construction project, and more than a dozen other factors are not sufficient to restore America to economic stability. It takes something more powerful than that combination and that is a general feeling of confidence which can be maintained only through the individual fidelity of the people. As soon as the administration can sense that spirit of confidence coming from the people, governmental officials will instinctively take their hands out of business and the longed for results will be rapidly forthcoming.

THEY say history repeats itself. Well, it looks like Joan d'Arc has been born again, and this time in the soul and body of Mrs. L. A. Pearson, a farmer's wife living near Sidney, Nebraska. However, it doesn't seem like there is going to be any burning at the stake for Ma Pearson. She is rapidly gaining in popularity, not only among her own neighbors, but all over Nebraska farmers are beginning to sing the praise of Mrs. Pearson. It was this colorful figure who first led a band of half-scared, though destitute farmers, into some several auction sales putting the mortgage holders on a fast run.

LAWs have become so intricate that even a friendly bull pup who answers the call of three different claimants must spend several nights in the county jail before he can get bail. Probably it was alienation of affections, for all the dog knows. At any rate the pup is still out on bail while a certain Texas County Court ponders over the rightful ownership of the canine. With three people, each claiming to be rightful owners, it looks like it is going to be a hard case for the judge. But after all, it's only a wise dog that knows his own master.

WITH the closing of a lengthy controversy in Geneva, Switzerland, at a meeting of the League of Nations, where little Japan played the role of defendant, time came for the vote to be taken. Unanimously, with the exception of Japan's vote, the League voted to reprimand the defendant for her action in the Manchurian situation. Then came the dramatic episode. Three little Japanese representatives politely rose from their seats and marched out of the room.

When interviewed about their actions their reply, in substance, was that they could not be bothered by the attitude of any uninterested nation, they intended to continue with their present plans. And almost in the same breath declared themselves openly in favor of World Peace. Now what can be done about a thing like that?

NOW that Roosevelt has officially announced the personnel of his cabinet, speculations may cease. Of course, many of us had some sort of prediction about the future cabinet. The natural thing, of course, was that there were many diversified opinions. Eddie Cantor chose as secretaries of the Interior, those famous surgeons, the Mayo Brothers, saying that they knew more about the "Interior" than anyone else. This writer thinks, however, that position should have gone to Walter Winchell. He has them all skinned when it comes to "inside dope."

Building Notes

Ike Smith, who lives in the southeast part of Gatesville, has let the contract for the erection of a beautiful five room residence. This building will be of frame construction. W. H. Galloway is the general contractor and A. C. Bates has the contract for the concrete work for the foundation, etc. The lumber was sold through the Wm. Cameron Lumber Company.

P.-T. A. Speaker Coming Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of the Gatesville Parent-Teacher Association will be held on Tuesday evening, March 7, at 7:30 at the High School Building. The devotional will be led by Mr. C. E. Alvis and special music will be rendered. A vocal solo, "Year's at the Spring" by Beach will be given by Mrs. Ola Mae Parks, and a trio, "Spring-Time" by Donizetti will be given by Mesdames D. I. Glass, Ola Mae Parks and Mr. Brooks Sasse.

The chief attraction of the program will be an address on "The Home" to be delivered by Mrs. J. M. Dawson of Waco. Mrs. Dawson is a speaker of national repute. She has filled speaking engagements in many of the leading cities of the United States and is acclaimed to be one of the leading woman speakers of America. Mrs. Dawson has very capably directed the campaign among the Baptist people of the state which has been responsible for the erection of "The Women's Memorial Dormitory" at Baylor University. This is one of the finest dormitories in the South and is a distinct tribute to the ability of Mrs. Dawson. She is especially gifted as an inspirational speaker, and is frequently chosen to deliver inspirational addresses at conventions and assemblies of various kinds. For the past several years she has been the chief speaker at a girl's camp at Ridgecrest, North Carolina. Mrs. Dawson is not only prominent in church affairs but also takes an active part in civic organizations, and is in a position to bring a very valuable address on the assigned subject.

It is hoped that the people of Gatesville will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Mrs. Dawson on this occasion, and a special invitation is given to nearby Parent-Teacher Associations and the people in the surrounding communities to attend this meeting and profit by this unusual program.

Hundreds Visit Coryell Motor Co. to See New Model V-8 Ford

The new model Ford V8 has been on display at the show rooms of The Coryell Motor Co. for a week, and according to the management, it has met with a public acceptance unsurpassed by any previous new model.

A steady stream of visitors viewed the new Ford V8 cylinder 112-inch wheelbase motor cars when they were put on display Saturday at the showrooms of Coryell Motor Co., Ford dealer, Gatesville, Texas.

Throughout the week the crowds about the new cars showed unusual interest in the new bodies and their appointments. The new Fords are the most powerful ever built. Fourteen body types are available, including both standard and Deluxe types of the Roadsters, Phaeton, Coupe, Tudor and Ford Sedans. The Cabriolet and Victoria are exclusive Deluxe types.

The new Ford bodies are characterized by a new and distinctively modern note, with flowing streamlines. The front end ensemble of sloping Vee radiator grille, new skirted fenders, newly designed lamps, horn and bumpers is most attractive. The windshield has a 20 degree slope. A wide choice of body colors is available. Colored wheels are optional on the Deluxe types.

Bodies are of all steel construction and therefore sturdy, strong, and safe. Many sections are joined by electric welding.

Body interiors are exceptionally roomy, the bodies being materially wider and almost a foot longer than formerly. Seats are wide and deeply cushioned. Front seats in closed cars are adjustable. A choice of broadcloth or mohair upholstery is used in the standard body types; broadcloth, mohair and bedford cord in the Deluxe models.

The interiors reveal a number of convenience features. The instrument panel is directly in front of the driver with a roomy package compartment at the right. The coincidental ignition and steering lock is located on the steering column bracket.

The doors are unusually wide, allowing easy access to the seats. Doors on all closed models may be locked from the inside. A single key operates both coincidental lock and door locks.

On all Deluxe models a concealed ash receptacle is located in the center of the instrument board with a cigar lighter just above it. The Deluxe and Tudor and Gordon sedans and Victoria are also provided with an ash tray in the rear compartment.

Safety glass is used in the windshields of all body types and in the rear windows of cars with rumble seats. Deluxe body types are fitted with safety glass throughout, while standard body types may be similarly equipped upon special order.

All closed cars are fitted with dome lights while the Deluxe body types have cowl lights and rear compartment arm rests. The Tudor and Ford sedans and Victoria have a convenient radio aerial. All Deluxe cars are equipped with twin matched horns and two tail lights.

Prominent Texan Gets Appointment on Post Master General Staff

The following news items is from Washington and carried by recent issue of the Dallas News. Mr. Evans is well known to many of this section of Texas.

The appointment of Silliman Evans of Fort Worth and prominent in management of the Garner boom for the presidential nomination, as Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, is forecast in well defined reports in Washington and in new administration circles in New York. The Postmaster General is to be James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and through whom, according to the understanding, patronage of the new administration is to be distributed.

Mr. Farley may adopt the system of disregarding numbers to designate members of the Little Cabinet in his department and make all "Assistant Postmasters General," with an assignment of the work of the department. Under the present regime, the fourth assistant supervises postal buildings and sites, among other duties.

Mr. Evans has been nationally prominent in the aviation industry as vice president of the American Airways, Inc. Some years ago he was a member of the staff of The Dallas News, following which he became staff correspondent of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, with which publication he served for many years. Ten years ago Mr. Evans was Washington correspondent of the Star-Telegram. Returning to Texas he became associated with the aviation lines in the State and is now with the American Airways, with offices in New York. He has been a close adviser to Mr. Farley since the Chicago convention in political matters and was strongly supported for appointment by Texans in Washington.

The present Fourth Assistant Postmaster General is John W. Philip of Dallas, appointed by President Hoover in May, 1929, and prior to which he was postmaster of Dallas. Officials of the department who come under the rule of patronage are making ready to vacate their offices next Saturday. Mr. Philip is returning to Dallas within a short time.

Event Citizens Endeavor to Have Waco Bus Haul Daily Mail

At present there is a campaign on among some of the citizens of Evant to improve their mail service as noted in the News some few weeks ago. The following is the exact wording being used on a petition to those in authority for a change of the mail system at that place.

"We, the undersigned citizens of Evant, desire to call to the attention of the postal authorities the disadvantages to the people served from this post office to have mail carried on the motor buses now running through here between Waco and Brownwood which would give us mail twice a day each way. Mail now going east on the Santa Fe railway leaves here 8:30 a. m. and going west leaves Lampasas 4:10 p. m. the next day. The motor buses arrive here from both Waco and Brownwood 10:00 a. m. and 6:20 p. m. The 6:20 bus would make the same schedule east and west on the Santa Fe that we now have and going north and east via Waco could gain about fourteen hours on the present schedule via Hamilton which leaves Evant 8:00 a. m. This would give us the morning paper from Dallas, Ft. Worth, Waco and Brownwood at 10:00 a. m. The Dallas News now reaches here one day late."

In event that this change becomes effective, Gatesville will be afforded better mail service to Evant. A letter mailed here early in the morning will reach Evant and a reply could be returned in the same day. Also better service will be given Gatesville for out-going mail to the West. Letters leaving here in the morning would be picked up at Brownwood and dispatched with almost twenty-four hours ahead of letters sent around by the way of Temple.

Shepherd Motor Company Showing New Plymouth 6

The show room of the Shepherd Motor Company, local dealers for the Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles had on display Saturday, their first new model of the 1933 Plymouth Six Two-Door Sedan car.

This new automobile is proving itself a great favorite among automobile users, having been on the market for five years and each year seems to be gaining favor over the preceding year. The new car is of the 1932 model except that it has many new important improvements.

The body lines are along the trend of 1933, graceful and slender, showing the streamline effect more than ever before. Fenders deep and come close to the hood, while the radiator is sloping to the front. The motor is the well known floating power, relieving from the body of the car any vibration while traveling at any rate of speed. With the usual free-wheeling and for a slight additional cost, may be had with the new automatic clutch equipment.

The windshield is built of the new duoplate glass, which is considered shatter-proof and very durable. The interior of the car has many new improvements and is richly upholstered in very beautiful material. Anyone desiring more particulars about this new car may have an opportunity to see it and have a thorough demonstration by calling Mr. Shepherd at the Shepherd Motor Company, telephone No. 9.

Visitors Coming In B. Y. P. U. Meet

All County 1st and 2nd Team for 1933

Pearl first team—Grady Keeton, forward, Claud Huff, Forward, Theo Whatley, Center, Doyle Preston, Guard, Doad Simms, Guard, M. Tharp, Coach.

Second team: Curry, Forward; Plainview: Hollie Harrell, Forward; Turnersville, Bob Weaver, Center; Evant, Ward, Guard; Jonesboro, Mr. Zion, Sidney Goff, Guard; Jonnie Edwards, Coach Ireland.

There will be plenty to say no to the above selection, but there you are any way.

Keeton of Pearl was by far the outstanding forward at the tournament, scoring 31 points in one game. This is Keeton's first year and he will be worth watching for the next three years.

Claud Huff a veteran of three years not only has an eye for the basket but is an outstanding guard. He always wanted the outstanding forward on any team for his man.

Now here may be some fuss but Whatley the long short artist that can not be guarded can hit the ball off the six footers if he is much shorter. So Theo Whatley first for the center position, Doyle Preston, the outstanding player in Central Texas, and the boy who has directed the Dragons three years can have any position on the team he wishes.

Doad Simms, guard, fast, jump over the moon and has been there on the job for three years, and you all must admit he is an outstanding player.

Coach M. Tharp, of course, a man that came in a school that never won the County Championship until he took over things and built a team that is getting better from year to year. You just have to take notice Coach Tharp works a year ahead.

Before the tournament someone asked why Theo Whatley and Doyle Preston was not in there working with the rest of the boys. The reply was, "I have a team for this year, and here is your 34 crew." So 75 per cent of the credit for the 1931-32-33 Champs goes to the man that works hard and plays the game fair. Coach Tharp—here is hoping many more County Champ teams with a District and State Champ thrown in.

The second team has real outstanding players, and would be on the first team if not for the Pearl Crew.

Woman's Auxiliary of Presbyterian Church Elect Officers

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church met at the manse on Tuesday, February 28, at 3 p. m. The following officers and secretaries of causes were elected: President, Mrs. J. M. McLean, vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Roberts, secretary, Mrs. E. L. Taylor, treasurer, Mrs. R. W. Ward, secretaries of Foreign Missions, Mrs. P. H. Olsen, of Assembly's Home Missions, Mrs. L. M. Stinnet, of Synodical and Presbyterian Home Missions, Mrs. Claud Byron, of Spiritual Life, Mrs. J. P. Kendrick, of Christian Education and Ministerial Relief, Mrs. Frank Jones, of Religious Education, Mrs. Milton Patillo, of Literature, Mrs. J. A. Hallman, of Christian Social Service, Mrs. Q. A. Ellis.

The meeting for March 7 is a very important one. At that time written reports from all officers and Cause Secretaries of their year's work will be presented. The topic of the program will be "Our Marching Orders," building the program around the text, "Speak unto the Children of Israel that They Go Forward." (Ex. 14:15.) The whole program is developed in a most unusual way, and every member is urged to be present. The Auxiliary camp will be set up, the tabernacle in the center, groups of small tents, each with its standard, on the four sides. After each report is given, the standard is set forward and the tent rolled and placed in order for the march.

The Auxiliary will meet at the church, instead of at the manse as previously announced, at 3 p. m. Don't miss this program. This is the month in which we close our church year. Come and let us see just what we have done this past year.

—Reporter.

Recent Charges on Texas Tax Rendition Laws and Tax Exemption Rulings

The following is a copy of a letter received by Ivy Edmondson, Coryell County Tax Assessor, and shows some of the many facts of interest concerning renditions this year. This letter is not an official ruling from any state authority but is merely an interpretation of the present laws concerning property rendition: Non-Residents: It is the opinion of the State Comptroller that in order for a person to claim a homestead exemption on any property it is necessary for him to be living on the property, or that he has lived on the property and made the same his home at some time. The mere fact that a person might own a tract of land in most any county in the State would not, in itself, give him the privilege of claiming such land as his homestead, but he must live, or must have lived on said place as his home at some time. Single Persons: As a general proposition a single man or woman can not claim the homestead exemption, but there are exceptions to this rule. Where an unmarried daughter is living in the homestead of her parents she can claim the homestead exemption, or where a single woman owns a home and is supporting member of her family who is dependent on her, then in that event, she could claim the homestead exemption. This same rule would apply to an unmarried son. Widow or Widower (without dependents): A widower or widow can claim the homestead exemption as long as he or she lives on and does not abandon the homestead established during married life. The rule that seems to be generally followed by the courts is that when the homestead right is acquired it is never lost except by the voluntary act of the person acquiring such right. In a decision of the Supreme Court reported in 6 S. W. 2d, p. 350 it makes clear the proposition that a widower or a widow, could claim homestead rights even though he or she might have no children. Undivided Estates: It is the opinion of the State Comptroller that property belonging to an estate, where some of the heirs make their home on the property, would come under the homestead exemption amendment, and that such heirs could claim the homestead exemption. In the case of minor heirs the guardian can claim the homestead exemption for the benefit of the minor heirs. Duplexes, Apartments: Where husband and wife occupy part of such building as a homestead, then homestead right is extended to entire building, and homestead exemption can be claimed. Homes Under Contract of Sale: A person holding under a Contract of Sale has merely a right or option to purchase and the property should be rendered in the name of the vendor until title passes. Such persons holding under Contract of Sale can not claim this homestead exemption. Can Any Property Be Designated As a Homestead: You are advised that the mere designation of a piece of property as a homestead does not invest such property with the homestead rights, but the property so designated must be used, or must have been used as a home. Home Burns Down Prior to January 1st and Rebuilt After January 1st, Is Vacant Lot Exempt You are advised that the fact that a home burned down before January 1st and the lot was vacant on the 1st of January would not divest the lot of its homestead exemption, where the party had not purchased other property as a home but intended to rebuild on the lots on which the former home stood. The owner would be entitled to the tax exemption on the lot, where vacant or where another home is in the course of construction. Building Used As Homestead Connected With Small Business, Such As Grocery, Meat Market, Etc.: Where husband and wife occupy part of such building as a homestead, then homestead right is extended to entire building, and homestead exemption can be claimed. Foreclosures: When the holder of notes secured by the homestead takes the property after January 1st but before the rendition thereof for taxes, such lien holder is not entitled to the advantage of the homestead and can not render same taking exemption. The homestead exemption is intended for the use and benefit of the resident house holder and not for his creditors after the homestead ceases.

House Passes Cotton Bill by Close Margin

Washington, Feb. 28.—The Senate's plan for boosting cotton prices by forming a government pool to encourage 1933 production slashes was passed today by a 188 to 183 House vote. It returns to the Senate with minor amendments. The narrow margin of victory was accomplished through last minute vote changes. Representatives Kniffin and Underwood of Ohio, Democrats, and Huddleston, Democrat, Alabama, who had planned to vote "no," changed their votes to "aye" just before the result was announced.

The bill as passed by the House would pool cotton stocks of the American Cotton Co-operative Association, estimated at 1,500,000 bales and 710,000 bales of cotton collateral held by the Agriculture Department on crop and seed loans. Producers agreeing to cut their 1933 production at least 30 per cent below the 1932 figure would be given options on a share of this cotton and benefit to the extent of any price increase. President Hoover's attitude toward the bill was not publicly known, but in some informed Republican circles he was said to be opposed to it.

In Memory of Dovie May Thompson of Jonesboro

We have seen death steal away from our Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., Church, and home, a beautiful, lovable flower which was blooming into womanhood. There was always a sweet tender smile and a cheerful word from Dovie May which helped one along life's pathway. This sweet character has passed to the Happy City, to tread down the flowery beds beneath the Tree of Life, to listen to the murmur of the River of Life. Eternal and to the angels serenade. This is where she will take her golden harp and join in with the angels in their song. Flowers of rare beauty soon fade. They can only be remembered by their beauty. Dovie May can be classed as a beautiful, lovable flower, sending rays of sunshine to some lonely person, the violet and the brier-rose they perished amid the summer glow. Then when I think of one who in her youthful beauty died, the fair young blossom that grew up and faded by our side. In the cold moist earth we laid her and we wept that one so lovable should have a life so brief, but this sweet young friend of ours so gentle and so beautiful should perish with the flowers. As days, months and years pass on her life will bloom as a guide to one who is treading along this rugged pathway of life. Her life will live on as an example for the ones she left behind. A FRIEND.

The Cook's Nook

Hints From a Cook's Kitchen Diary Prepared for Readers of This Paper.

The Celestial Kingdom Sends a New Recipe.

Straight from Peiping comes a new recipe for a toothsome corn-bread which is steamed instead of baked. The recipe has been somewhat Americanized and is easy to follow: Sift together 3/4 cup corn-meal, 1 cup flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Mix this with 2 cups milk, 1 beaten egg and 2 tablespoons maza. Stir in 1-2 pkg. pasteurized dates, quartered; pour into an oiled pan and steam for 1 1/2 hours. Serve hot with butter.

Sip on These Some Sunday Night.

Ham Sandwiches are nothing new or extra-thrilling, but Ham Sandwiches "Saute" are something else again! Slices of baked ham are put between slices of white bread, the sandwiches then dipped into egg and milk mixture and fried in maza, first on one side, then on the other. Serve with spiced peaches, add some hot coffee and tiny cakes, and your Sunday night menu is complete.

Grandmother Made This First

In Grandmother's day Dried Apple Pie was a dish fit for even the visiting Preacher. A metropolitan hotel served it recently in its Early American restaurant and it was so popular it has become a regular specialty of the house. Simple for you to duplicate; just line a pie tin with pastry, lay slices of dried apples in it, alternating them with pitted pasteurized dates; add the usual cinnamon, sugar and butter, put on the top crust and bake.

A Breakfast Thrill.

The process for canning grapefruit juice has been recently improved and latest tests indicate that not even the experts can tell it from the squirt-in-the-eye variety. Laboratory tests prove that the valuable vitamin C is not lost in the canning process. Now the whole family can have its morning grapefruit juice without even having to own a squeezer!

Fans Are Fancy.

Most hostesses are familiar with "pickle fans" for garnishing cold meat and salad platters. Now potatoes are so prepared, for decorating the meat or fish platter. Slice the potatoes lengthwise in quarter-inch slices, fasten five slices together 15 minutes or so until brown, basting them frequently during the cooking with maza to give them a golden brown color.

If You Like Ginger.

For a new flavor, try dropping a piece of crystallized ginger in your cup of tea. In making puddings or custards in which lemon is used, a little powdered ginger "dashed" into the ingredients will bring out the rich flavor. Some people like a dash in mayonnaise which is to be used for fruit salad. Dates stuffed with ginger—using pasteurized dates and crystallized or candied ginger—have always been a popular sweetmeat. And some cooks like to garnish the cocktail of grapefruit with candied ginger.

When Ice Cream Isn't.

Ice Cream Filling in Layer Cake is making a "grand slam" with bridge party-goers of late. The cake part is any mixture you wish to use, the baked cake chilled in the refrigerator.

Ice Cream Filling: Mix 3 table-spoons of flour with 1-2 cup sugar until they are thoroughly blended. Add to this 1 1/2 cups hot milk and stir, in a saucepan, over the fire until it boils. Mix 3 egg yolks with 1-2 cup white karo syrup and 1-2 teaspoon salt, stir into thickened milk mixture. Remove from fire and beat in stiffly-beaten 3 egg whites. Flavor with lemon, cool. Whip 3-4 cup cream; beat mixture and add cream. Divide mixture into 2 or 3 cake pans (same size as layer cake) freeze in refrigerator and use between layers. Pile shredded coconut on top.

Bill to Control Small Loan Associations

Colson of Crimes and Montgomery Counties has introduced an Anti-Loan Shark Bill designed to correct loan shark conditions in Texas. Colson said "The activities of money lenders to lend small sums at exorbitant rates of interest have long been a source of complaint and the cause of much distress among their victims. Investigations throughout the State indicate the widespread activities of the lenders generally known as "short note brokers" salary buyers, and loan sharks. Investigations made by welfare agencies have exposed deplorable conditions not only in the large city but in the smaller towns. Interest rates ranging from 100 per cent per annum to more than a thousand per cent per annum on small loans to poor and needy persons are the general rule with this type of lender. Many of the loan offices charging exorbitant and illegal rates are chain organizations owned in the North and the East."

Volson's Anti-Loan Shark Bill puts the small loan business under strict regulations and provides for the licensing of individuals or concerns to supply loans in sums up to $300.00. The Bank Commissioner of Texas is named as the licensing official and is given broad powers to regulate the business. Service charges by the lenders are regulated, and the Bank Commissioner is given power to further revise such charges at his discretion. Severe penalties including loss of principal, interest, fine and imprisonment are provided in case of violation. Banks, building and loan associations, live stock corporations are exempt.

Ask State to Buy Supplies of Prison

Austin, Feb. 20.—Recommendation that the State adopt a policy of purchasing from the Texas prison system and eleemosynary institutions, supplies needed by the state institutions, which can be produced economically, was made Monday by the Legislature by the joint legislative committee on organization and economy.

It was proposed that the Board of Pardons and Paroles be discontinued and its work, as well as the general supervision of the prison system, be placed with a department of public welfare. That department would control all eleemosynary, correctional and the other welfare institutions.

It also was recommended that the parole system be revised and plans made to gradually erect modern prison units at suitable locations.

The present management of the prison system was commended for "its administration of the system, among prisoners and its efforts to broaden the prison's industrial and maintenance of excellent morals work."

Centralization of the prison system was opposed.

"Plans have been advanced for the construction of a new prison system on a new site, but such a complete removal of the system from the property now owned seems unnecessary," the report said. "With over 5,000 prisoners, it will be necessary to continue to operate a number of units in order to avoid too large a population in a single unit. The best experience and practice advise 1,200 in a unit. Any large number against a population of more than creates unnecessary hazard of riots and other disturbances and complicates the problems of administration."

It was recommended that "statutory limitations on the use of prison made products and industries by state departments be removed."

The report said failure of the State to take full advantage of the prison's ability to provide commodities for the state departments "creates a vicious circle involving unnecessary tax collections for the ultimate benefit of a few persons who profit from state contracts for supplies at the expense of the tax payers, while additional taxes must also be collected to support idle prisoners."

Higher Education Needs Deflation, Foundation Finds

New York, March 1.—Economic retrenchment by the Nation's schools of higher education was urged in the twenty-seventh annual report of the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching Sunday.

Stressing a need for what it termed a deflation in the financial policies of colleges and universities the report said a day of reckoning has come for education as well as industry.

Charges of waste, inefficiency and lack of unified control were made in the case of California in a section of the report devoted to the findings of a commission which investigated the state of higher education there.

Among the measures suggested by the foundation for economic readjustments which would cause the least human hardships among personnel or institutions involved were: Economy in expenditures of all kinds.

Reduction of the types of courses offered by colleges when similar courses are offered by more competent neighbor institutions.

The Relation of Young Women to World-Wide Work

"In the harvest field of the Master is work for all. With a keen realization of this fact, as well as of the fact that in the more than 23,000 churches in the Southern Baptist territory were many young women who should be banded together and trained for service, the Women's Missionary Union in annual session in 1907 completed plans for organizing the scattered societies of young women and the Young Women's Auxiliary came into being. It is when young women are grouped into their own auxiliaries that they discover for themselves and demonstrate to the church that today missions the calling for the hand, heart, and mind of the young and strong.

By reports January 1, 1932, there were 3,819 Young Women's Auxiliaries in our 19 southern Baptist states and an ever increasing number out in our foreign fields so that Y. W. A. is truly a world wide, an international organization.

Young Women's Auxiliary feels the thrill of belonging to the 39,149 organizations of Women's Missionary Union along with 2,840 Girl's Auxiliaries, 3,516 Royal Ambassador Chapters and 6,986 Sunbeam Bands. "It's great to know that I am a part of so big a force as that," said one Y. W. A. girl as she saw herself apart of the Women's Missionary Union, Auxiliary to Southern Baptist Convention.

Our watchword is Daniel 12:3. "And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever." Our aim is to unite the young women of the southern Baptist churches in an enduring missionary enterprise, through which they shall show forth the beauty of holiness, by systematic Bible study! a radiant and convincing Christian life in all social relations; personal service for the spiritually and physically destitute around them; mission study and regular and proportionate giving towards wide missions.

"That in all things He might have the preeminence."—Col. 1:18.

Our counselor is Mrs. Garner Stockburger. Our officers are as follows: president, Winola Sasse; vice president, Inez Rogers; secretary, Dola Boykin; treasurer, Irma Lee Rutherford. These officers, together with various committees, are striving to make ours a worthwhile organization. We hope that every Baptist young woman, from the age of 17 to 29 will think seriously about becoming a member of Y. W. A. Think it over and be present every Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 in the S. S. building across the street from the church building.

Want Law to Hold Accident Damages For Hospital Fees

Dallas, Tex., March 1.—Headed by Representative John N. Thomas of Tahoka as chairman, a legislative committee spent Saturday afternoon visiting Dallas hospitals to investigate arguments made by these institutions in behalf of a pending law that would give them a lien against damage claims of automobile accident victims.

Bryce Twitty, business manager of Baylor Hospital, was their host. The committee of Representatives toured Baylor and Parkland Hospitals and listened to the arguments of officials in behalf of the proposed legislation. They spoke with numerous accident victims, interviewing them about the treatment they received and about their ability to meet the hospital bills.

Get Both Sides
The hospitals seek the legislation as a measure of protection against accident victims treated as emergency cases by them for which they receive no compensation because of the patients' inability to pay. Because of the emergency nature of such cases, they are given no chance they say, to make prior investigation into the moral or financial standing of the patients. Later these patients, according to the hospitals, collect damage claims but still leave their hospital bills unpaid.

Two Out of Thirty Pay

The committee members did not commit themselves while here, although they made an earnest study into all phases of the question. The pending law would limit the hospital's charges in such cases to $5 a day. Mr. Twitty said that at Baylor Hospital Saturday there were thirty such accident cases and only two patients paying.

Bobbed-Haired Wife Leads Nebraska Fight on Foreclosures

Sidney, Neb., March 1.—A middle aged, bobbed-haired farm wife, Mrs. L. A. Pearson, has become a storm center of the Western Nebraska mortgage moratorium movement.

Instrumental in stopping a foreclosure sale in Scotts Bluff County last week, Mrs. Pearson announced Sunday she would organize farm holiday associations until every move to dispossess farmer-debtors is halted.

Her official position is vice chairman of the Cheyenne County holiday group. There has been friction between her followers and Henry Blome, county chairman, whose leadership has been more conservative.

Similar organization work has been done over Western Nebraska as part of the Corn Belt movement to stop foreclosures on mortgaged property and accentuated rural distress.

A crowd of farmers gathered last week to help Mrs. Pearson stop a foreclosure sale, but the next day the Sheriff without interference obtained a writ of replevin for the chattel property.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

According to R. G. Dunn & Company, stability in many branches of industry is more sustained than at any time in the past three years. A survey by Standard Statistical indicates that, while trade outlook for the immediate future is irregular, a number of major lines are strengthening. It is interesting to note that food products are making a better showing than industry in general.

The belief is widely expressed that a clear-cut legislative program at Washington would probably do more to initiate trade activity than any other single development at the moment. The present congress has created the impression in business that almost anything may happen, thus forcing industry to be extremely cautious.

The Boston News Bureau observes: "All of the factors now at work may make for further shrinkage in purchasing power, but it brings into closer readjustment the various factors that will ultimately make for stability. And the more rapidly investment confidence is strengthened the sooner will the processes of financial revival be stimulated."

The index of farm prices reached a new low on January 15th, standing at that time at 51 per cent of the pre-war average. (A year ago the index was at 63 per cent.) Eggs took a drop larger than the seasonal conditions warrant. On the other hand, small advances have been recently registered by apples, horses, wheat and cotton.

Continued severe weather, coupled with damage to crops from other factors, plus a favorable expert situation, gives rise to the hope of substantial improvement in the next year domestic consumption of wheat may balance production, thus eliminating the need for foreign markets to absorb our surplus.

It is held that the farm mortgage situation, while bad, gives no cause for the hysteria that has been sweeping over the country in recent weeks. Foreclosures for the present year, if they increase in the same proportion as in 1932, will total about 267,000. This is only 4.3 per cent of the number of farms in the country. Another favorable sign is that insurance companies and banks have been following an extremely liberal policy in the matter of farm mortgages, only foreclosing when no other course is possible. The present acuteness of the situation is, also, mainly sectional.

Great interest is expressed in Roosevelt plan for providing jobs. It is to be a huge experiment, and is expected to give employment to 200,000 men in the Tennessee Valley alone. It includes: Reforestation, creation of flood control basins, reclamation of fertile bottom lands for agriculture use, etc. Mr. Roosevelt believes that the entire project will be self-sustaining, and can be financed through bonds.

Recent reports on major industries show:
Rayon—Leading viscose producers reported booked solid for March. January shipments at new high for that month for several concerns.

Men's clothes—Prices low, improvement in sales expected.

Steel—Production increased. Manufacturers feel turn for better has taken place.

Oil—Ability of California oil industry to stave off price collapse this year, in spite of internal strain and breakdown in Midcontinent markets, source of much comment.

Rubber—Price cuts emphasize intensely competitive situation within the industry. Tire buyers can fill their needs below cost.

Farm equipment—Manufacturers realize that special inducements to farmers must be made to maintain present trade position.

Budget increases of about 10 per cent have been registered by Congress. The greatest increase, of $130,000,000 was for the executive office and independent establishments. Other marked increases were registered by the departments of agriculture, interior, postoffice, war, commerce, with decreases by the treasury, state, justice and labor. Is this the way economy pledges to the taxpayer are to be kept?

ROADS ON THE BARGAIN COUNTER

In pointing out to highway officials and engineers the importance of building good roads now, T. H. MacDonald, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, said that roads are on the bargain counter today.

He observed that roads are almost the only "commodity" which can be built now without glutting the market, and that the Bureau of Public Roads is now interested in three angles of the lowest-cost road movement: First, extending the mudless and dustless road mileage; second, protecting the investment in gravel roads by the addition of bituminous binders; third, the increased safety resulting from road improvement.

It is the Bureau's opinion that a road should not carry an expenditure beyond its own earning power—in other words, that it should not cost more than gasoline surveys show it can earn through motor vehicle and traffic taxes. Even when all types of road are amazingly cheap, as at present, the need for scientific selection of materials and methods is great.

The farmers are the great sufferers from inferior roads. They need mudless, dustless arteries that will permit inexpensive and fast transport at all seasons of the year.

TWO CLASSES OF TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

Robins B. Stoeckel, Motor Vehicle Commissioner of Connecticut, divides traffic violators into two classes—the inadvertent violator, and the "automobile criminal."

The inadvertent driver means to be careful and competent, but he is congenitally a poor driver, or is slow in his reactions, or is absent minded, or is easily distracted from the business of operating a car.

The automobile criminal presents an entirely different problem. He may be a good and competent driver in all respects save one—deliberate disregard for the rights and safety of others.

On the one hand are the inadvertent violators, who should be helped and do not belong in the courts—on the other, the intentionally dangerous, who are a real menace to public safety.

"SHARE THOSE JOBS"—CHEAPER THAN CHARITY

A total of 2,700,000,000 marks (six hundred forty million dollars at current exchange) is to be mobilized by Germany during 1933 to provide jobs for as many as possible of the nation's 5,600,000 unemployed.

The United States government has also thrown its resources into the fight against unemployment and has produced some excellent results. But it is probable that Germany will discover what we have—that government relief projects can be of but temporary benefit.

To "share the work" costs nothing and "providing jobs is always cheaper than charity," not to mention the social profits accruing therefrom. Its influence on purchasing power is tremendous, aside from what it does to prevent and overcome distress and poverty.

PEACE AND TAXES

The friends of world peace are the best friends of tax reduction as well.

The cost of war—past, present and future—is the major item in the operating cost of every great power. In this country, 72 per cent of all federal funds go for war debts.

SOAK THE AUTOMOBILE OWNER?

The Federal gas tax will undoubtedly be with us another twelve months.

Is anyone optimistic enough to think that such a remunerative tax measure will ever be repealed? The marvel is that it has not been increased.

How many taxes can you think of that were established as emergency measures, that have ever been dropped? Or, if they were dropped, have not been disguised and collected just the same under a new name?

TEXAS LEGISLATIVE FACTS

By Texas Press Legislative Bureau

Austin—Many measures are pending in the Legislature designed to reduce the cost of government. They range all the way from simple resolutions to constitutional amendments. Legislators are giving attention to the problem of local taxation, as it is affected by State law, and bills are pending whereby local governing bodies will not be hampered in economy efforts by State law and constitutional provisions.

Senator Purl of Dallas has introduced a resolution providing for a constitutional amendment abolishing the fee system, except as to public weighers, notaries public and county surveyors. It is believed that voting in Commissioners Courts the right to fix salaries for officials who are now compensated fees would result in great savings to the taxpayers.

There seems to be a well-defined purpose to reduce the cost of the State government an average of 25 per cent. The House has already passed the judiciary supply bill, providing for that amount of reduction in salaries of district judges, appellate court judges and district attorneys.

Presidents and regents of teachers colleges are reported to be agreeable to a 25 per cent reduction in their budgets.

The House has before it a bill reducing automobile fees one-third. Passage of this or some similar measure is regarded as certain.

A constitutional amendment, introduced by Senator Walter Woodward, would limit the total cost of the State government to $10 per capita per year. This proposal is unique in that it would compel economy by placing an arbitrary limit on expenditures. Approval of the amendment would place expenditures on the same per capita basis as 1927. In 1925 the per capita cost of State government was $8.50. The peak was reached in 1920 when the figures were $14. Last year the per capita was $12.50.

It is claimed for this amendment that it would provide an automatic check on taxation, which is now virtually without limit. Another claim is that it would compel the discontinuance of bureaus, commissions and departments once their usefulness had passed. Instances of government bureaus and services being discontinued are rare. It is argued that this amendment would require the abolishment of less needed services when necessity for new ones arises.

The general trend is for tax reduction measures, but several bills have been introduced seeking to tap new sources of revenue. The most far-reaching is the proposal to levy a three per cent tax on gross receipts from sales and professional services. Estimates of the amount that would be derived from this levy vary from fifty millions to 100 millions. It is certain that many businesses would be compelled to stand an increase in their State taxes from eight to ten-fold, and many lines who now pay no State ad valorem would be heavily taxed.

Another new source of revenue is suggested in the bill providing for an income tax. The tax on individuals would begin on the first $1,000 of net income with a rate of one per cent and graduate up to seven per cent on net incomes above $11,000. The corporation rate would begin at two per cent on the first $1,000 and graduate upward to six per cent on incomes above $6,000. Deductions to those of the Federal income tax, would apply.

The belief, however, is that the two bills will be combined and modified to carry some of the features of both. Few will predict, however, what the final fate of these new tax measures will be. There is determined opposition to both, based chiefly on the theory that there should be no new taxes levied but that the State budget should be balanced by economies in expenditures.

A constitutional amendment has been introduced for increases in salaries of a few State officials. The Governor's pay would be increased from $4,000 to $12,000; Attorney General from $4,000 to $10,000; Treasurer and Land Commissioner from $2,500 to $6,000. Many other State officials now receive much higher pay than these.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH TEXAS

By S. W. Adams, Austin, Texas

I have said a great deal about lobbyists down here, and I want to say again that the thousands of well-dressed, well-paid, men and women coming here day after day, with the hundreds who maintain large hotels in the several hotels where they encumber the legislators into knowing by "indirection" what they want them to do, as wine, women and children make hardtimes seem a piker, are destroying Texas.

As I watch the hotel procedure, as I watch the struggling legislators fighting for what they think is best for you at home, with lobbyists in the corridors of the capitol, in the reception rooms, before the committees, always with hypocrisy on their lips and a lie as their background—as I note the beaten forms of these 180 men, as they are buffeted about by the contending forces for evil, as they are washed hither and yon by the cross currents of greed, as I see hour after hour of their time frittered away with no noise, no quiet, no time for thoughtful meditation and consideration—I am not surprised to see men push the button to register their vote with this query on their lips: "What are we voting on, Tom?"

As an illustration: A few weeks ago I sent example of work of Capital rats here, wherein I said that $3,000,000 were transferred from Highway funds to Pension fund to pay off Confederate Warrants, and that the capitol rats paid $260,000 of these warrants, and then used the $2,740,000 to pay off capitol rats' warrants, and Treasurer Lockhart complained that I did him an injury, saying that the money was not transferred to Pension fund but to General fund, and that it had been used to pay both general and pension warrants.

The designing lobbyists and proponents of bad bills always talk under the plea of helping the weak, etc. Legislation MUST be protected from lobbyists. The right to petition a government for redress does not carry the right to go in armies to harass the Legislators until they are driven into doing foolish things with their legislative vote. A man would have a right to listen in, but I am convinced that the committee hearing where men are allowed to come with their moss-grown facts and outworn lies, taking up the time of the members, ought to stop.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings that affect the dinner pails, dividend checks and tax bills of every individual, National and international problems inseparable from local welfare.

Even though the business statistics show no definite change, there is much encouragement in the fact that a relative degree of stability has been reached and maintained in the past two months.

Readjustments are taking place which will have a healthful influence on industry in general. Weaker units are being eliminated—a necessary prelude to general recovery.

The efficiency of industrial operations is steadily increasing. One of the most interesting signs is that a virtual mortgage moratorium is gradually taking effect.

The center of this is in the midwestern states, where officials and courts have shown a tendency to aid the farmer in his fight against foreclosures. The largest mortgage holders—insurance companies and banks—are showing an extremely lenient attitude.

Efforts to stabilize the oil industry took concrete form with the adoption by the American Petroleum Institute of a new and aggressive policy to eliminate evils. Main result sought is balancing of production with consumption.

Late reports on major industries show: Copper—Higher prices are expected. Great interest shown in withdrawal of American Smelting and Refining Company from Copper Exports, Inc., the world association formed in 1929 to sell copper outside this country. Lumber—New business fairly good, with demand exceeding production. Further slow improvement in next 60 days is expected.

Shipping—Apprehension is expressed that the coming World Economic Conference will attempt to stop federal subsidies of U. S. shipping. These subsidies, in the form of mail contracts, have made it possible to meet low-wage scale, foreign competition.

Steel—Seasonal buying recently caused improvement. Scrap prices have been firm, and finished steel prices weak. Canners—Outlook extremely uncertain for food canners, with prices low. However, shipments have been larger than last year.

Legislature Wants All School Books Printed Here in Texas

Austin, Tex., Feb. 28.—A bill which will probably precipitate a fight on the floor of the House of Representatives provides that all free textbooks used in the public schools of the state be printed engraved, lithographed, bound and otherwise produced in the state, by citizens and residents of the state.

The text book situation has commanded the attention of the legislature from the time of the inception of free text books, said Representative Rogers of Farnsworth, author of the bill. "We believe that when so much money is expended for the benefit of the state, paid out of the pockets of the taxpayers, that the taxpayers should get the most benefit from the expenditure. Regardless of the fact that the printers will benefit directly, the sum total expended will be just that much more money remaining in Texas to add to the buying power of her people. To send it out of the state would result in that much loss."

Mr. Rogers pointed out that Texas could probably profit immeasurably by giving more attention to the encouragement of spending state funds in Texas. "This state," he said, "has reached the point where it must retrench its financial affairs when that seems almost impossible, and raise funds for the cost of the ensuing two years of government when that task looks equally hopeless. We must do everything in our power to make it easier for the populace to carry on in the face of this discouraging situation."

Client—What do you think of the idea of giving the money back to the bank and asking for a light sentence? Lawyer—Rotten! How would you be able to pay me then?

Business conditions in the Philippines show no improvement, with credits and collections difficult. Industrial activity is at a high level in Japan. Italy showed a heavy unfavorable trade balance in 1932. Conditions in Austrian industries are unfavorable. In Finland, the low exchange value of the mark during 1932 enabled export industries to increase sales abroad, and marked gains were shown in textile, food-stuffs, metal and other industries.

Miss Sadler's Marriage to Mr. James Watkins Solemnized Monday

The wedding of Miss Ruth Sadler, daughter of Mr. H. P. Sadler, of Gatesville, and Mr. James Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watkins, of Llano, was solemnized at the First Methodist Church, Feb. 27, at high noon. The impressive wedding ceremony was read by Rev. W. Ward.

The church was beautifully decorated in flowers and ferns. Tall floor baskets of Easter lilies marked the place where the bridal party stood, and the chancel rail was twined with smilax. White satin bows marked the pews reserved for the family and wedding guests.

Miss Jacquelin West, cousin of the bride, accompanied by Miss Orpa Mayo, played as a violin solo "Meditations from Thal's" by Massenet. This selection was also used during the ceremony. Miss Wilma Sadler, another cousin of the bride, sang two numbers, "Your Heart is Mine," by Lohr, and "Because," by D'Hardelot. Miss Mayo played Lohengrin's Wedding march for the bridal party to enter and Medelhonn's was used for the recession.

Miss Dorothy Ayres, maid of honor entered first. She was gowned in a lovely pink rough crepe dress. The dress was cut on long fitted lines and had an empire waistline. The only trimming was wide pleated ruffles of organdie on the short sleeves. Her accessories were in white and she carried an arm bouquet of Dorothy Perkins roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her father. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. Clifford Watkins, his brother.

Miss Sadler wore a lanuin model in deep cream and white. It was severely plain, made of crinkle crepe with a jacket of the same material. The dress was closely fitted with an extremely high waist and neckline. The jacket was made with large armholes and a long tight sleeve. Her only ornament was a large taffeta shoulder bow. She wore a close fitting turban of the same material as her dress and her shoes and gloves were white. She carried a sheath of bride's roses and lilies of the valley tied with long satin ribbons. For something old she carried a point lace handkerchief made for her by a cousin when the bride was born.

All of the men including the ushers, Mr. Hal Guggolz, Mr. Chestnut Nowlin, Mr. William Watkins, and Mr. Earl Newsom wore the conventional black.

The couple departed immediately for a wedding trip through points in South Texas and Louisiana. They planned to attend the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

For traveling the bride wore a tailored frock of navy blue accessories.

The gift from the bride to her bride's maid and attendants were lovely compacts, while the groom presented the best man and ushers with bill folders.

Miss Sadler was born and reared in Gatesville. She was graduated from the Gatesville High School in 1924. She took her college degree from Southwestern University where she was a member of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

Mr. Watkins was graduated from the Llano High School. He also attended Southwestern University where he became a member of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He later attended the University of Florida where he took his degree.

The union of this couple is the culmination of a romance begun when they were both students in Southwestern.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Sadler and daughter, Sally, of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Sadler of LeGrange.

The guests from Llano were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Watkins, Mr. William Watkins, Mr. Earl Newsom, Mrs. Frank Kathmann, and Miss Adele Kathmann.

Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Watkins of Galveston, Mr. Chester Nowlin of Valley Mills, Mr. Hal Guggolz of Corsicana, Miss Dorothy Ayres of Austin and Mrs. L. E. Kincaannon and son, Louis, of Duncan, Okla.

Miss Claxton, aunt of the bride, honored the out of town guests with a luncheon after the wedding.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Years ago above-ground silos were tried extensively in Texas and for the most part failed, or at least, ceased to be used. In the last two years county agents have been showing farmers how to dig and fill trench silos with feed at a ridiculously low cost. Now they are spreading rapidly all over the state. Last year 393 new ones were dug, and a total of 523 filed.

To extend the spring garden season into the summer, and to advance the fall garden season by at least one month, concrete tile tub-irrigation systems were installed in 283 farm gardens last year with the help of farm and home demonstration agents. The cost for home-made tile was about 1 cent per foot.

American cheese totaling 118,513 pounds was made on Texas farms last year by home demonstration club women and girls. It takes about one gallon of milk to make one pound of cheese.

In 54 Texas counties last year 2854 farmers were helped by county agents to grade products to secure premium prices on the market. Among the products graded were fruits and vegetables, corn, turkeys and eggs.

To aid in getting a supply of sorghum syrup for home use and for sale, 36 Texas county agents last season assisted 673 farmers in making high grade syrup. An acreage of 80 gallons of syrup was made from one acre of cane.

An average of $1.22 per tree, of which three-fourths was listed as profit, was made by the 1658 Texas farmers last year who had previously budded native pecan trees to improved varieties with the help of county agents. The report is compiled from 66 counties. The average tree yielded 20 pounds.

Hereford—It pays to feed a balanced mash ration to turkeys, H. L. Hershey of Deaf Smith County has found after conducting his first demonstration in cooperation with R. O. Dunkle, county agent. Out of 162 turkeys raised from six hens, 84 were ready and finished for the Thanksgiving market and graded No. 1. There was not a crooked breasted turkey in the lot. They were fed a ration consisting of one Victoria—Cow peas alternated with rows of corn in 12 demonstrations in Victoria county last year furnished abundant turkey feed and left vines to be turned under for improving the soil. It is reported by J. L. Moore, county farm agent. The practice met approval of the farmers using it, one of them, Edwin Zucker, declaring that 15 acres planted this way saved him $100 in turkey feed. He valued the crop at $130.

Hemphill—A net profit of slightly more than $100 per acre was made by 30 Sabine county farmers last year who cooperated with Preston Goen, county agent, in growing tree acres each of tobacco by demonstration methods. Fertilizers cost an average of $8.29 per acre, and plants, labor and equipment an average of $40. The average price received per pound was one and three-fourths cents.

Luling—Daughters of a circle bull have outstripped their mothers at the rate of 116 pounds of butterfat per year in the herd of Perry and Landrum of Luling, it is reported by T. H. Royder, county agent. Records kept in this demonstration herd show that 8 of the first daughters of a circle bull furnished by the Luling Foundation Farm produced at the rate of 480 pounds of butterfat per year while the average of 15 older cows, including the mothers of these heifers, was 364 pounds per year. The increased production due to the bull would amount to $23.31 per cow per year, with butterfat at 20 cents per pound.

Houston—Making chill which so pleased the palate of her customers that she had to rent a small building and buy a large sized canner in order to supply the demand is the 1932 record of Mrs. Roy J. Loucks, Harris county home industry demonstrator working with Miss Opal Roberson, home demonstration agent. The first few months after perfecting her chill Mrs. Louck conducted this business from her home, but the demand from the grocery stores to which she sold her products was so great that she had to enlarge her workinl space.

Graham—Five members of the girls' 4H clubs in Young county managed their families' flocks and by their records proved that a little money can still be made in poultry by dint of steady work and good planning. Egg sales and poultry consumed at home produced the greater part of the $725 return on labor and investment they made in 1932. One hundred twelve other girls who were poultry cooperators in the county showed that the value of their poultry work for the year had been $1209, the larger part of which had come from eggs sold and consumed at home. The girls learned by their work that shade and plenty of clean fresh water were essential factors to any profit at all; and that none could be cleared in the summer unless the flocks had green feed and plenty of milk.

Boise—Did you see that pedestrian who was struck by the auto dare the driver to try it again?

Noyes—No; did the autoist take up the challenge?

Boise—No. He said it nearly broke his heart to pass up the chance, but that he had to meet a train.

Tom Hunter Suggests All To Thoroughly Consider Proposed Sales Tax

Austin, March 1.—"The chance for the adoption of a tax system that will fairly allocate the burden, rests entirely with the people," Tom Hunter said today in an interview with a Bureau representative.

Hunter is observing the present session of the legislature as the "people's lobbyist," and for the State Tax Payers Association. He is paying his own expenses.

He declared today that only the protest of the common people against tax burdens, will prevent the legislature from enacting a sales tax which will have the practical effect of shifting from the big money to the salaried worker.

Attention was called to the Hunter resolution adopted by the State Taxpayers Association at their recent meeting here.

"While we advocate the enactment of a fair sales tax, not pyramided, if new taxes must be levied, we realize that no good can come from such a tax unless it replaces, and better allocates some of the existing taxes.

"Moreover, it will be a futile and wasteful enactment unless a portion of it is retained to the counties and schools.

"It would be unfair to the poorer people to enact a sales tax unless a special graduated net earnings tax also is levied upon the high brackets of income.

"Our tax system must be constituted that the combines of wealth be now required to pay their just portion of the cost of government.

"In the current agitation for the Sales tax," Hunter commented, "legislators and even tax payers are forgetting that the end sought is economy.

"The false supposition that the small property owner is to be relieved of a portion of his present taxes has drowned out the cry of the people for relief from the overwhelming cost of government," he said.

"Taxpayers in judicially considering this whole subject, should keep in mind these important facts: The bill most likely of enactment at this time does not reduce your local taxes one single penny, and the small home owner has already been relieved of the necessity of paying state taxes on his homestead up to the value of three thousand dollars.

"If we are to have a sales tax, the people should make certain that it will not be an addition to their present load. They should make certain that their local taxes will be reduced, in an amount at least equal to the additional cost of living which the sales tax will entail.

"To big corporations, to big property owners, to persons with big incomes, the sales tax undoubtedly will be abson from heaven. To you and me it is liable to be a curse sent from hell.

"Our only recourse is to impress our legislators with our views; to make them see this proposition as we see it. If we are going to have a sales tax, let's have a fair sales tax worked into a blending system requiring all to pay in proportion to their ability."

Bradstreet and Dun Agencies to Merge

New York, March 1.—Two household words of American business for generations are about to be yphoned. On Monday details will be announced of the merger of "Dun's" and "Bradstreet's," the two leading mercantile agencies of the country.

"Dun's" dates back to the panic of 1837, when Arthur Tappan, a well known local merchant, turned from a wrecked business to a new occupation—that of furnishing other merchants information on which they could base their credit grants to prospective purchasers. Tappan's first files were made up almost solely of his own customers, and were mainly in the South.

Benjamin Douglas entered the firm in 1846 and Robert Graham Dunn became a partner in 1854. In 1860 the firm became Dunn, Boyd & Co., and subsequently R. G. Dun & Co.

Henry Bradstreet formed the Bradstreet Company in 1849. Both of these companies have gathered credit information on firms no matter what their size. Their weekly reviews of business have been accepted as authoritative for years, as they were known to be unbiased and unspired and therefore accurately chartered the Nation's trade pulse.

Although official details are not known, it is understood the newly combined organization will be known as Dun's & Bradstreet's and that Arthur Whiteside, president of Dun's, will hold the same position in the merged company. In some cities the offices of the two firms will be combined, but in other places, where only one office now is located the staff may be expanded.

Our only recourse is to impress our legislators with our views; to make them see this proposition as we see it. If we are going to have a sales tax, let's have a fair sales tax worked into a blending system requiring all to pay in proportion to their ability."

EGGS WILL SAVE THE DAY WHEN GUESTS ARRIVE UNHEARLED

There always comes a time when unexpected guests find the home-maker unprepared. As carefully as she may have planned, she may go to the cupboard and find it comparatively bare. There may be no meat or potatoes, no cans of salmon, tuna fish or crabmeat, but if a half dozen eggs are on hand, she has nothing to fear when guests come to her home at the eleventh hour.

As an emergency food, nothing equals eggs. Everyone likes them, there are hundreds of ways of serving them and to use them now is true economy, for prices are at the lowest in years. With eggs and milk, the housewife can always have a nourishing meal within a very few minutes.

Few foods are as nutritious weight for weight, as eggs. They form a corrective and protective food, full of vitamins and sunshine, and they are easy to digest. The housewife should form the habit of storing them in the refrigerator and using them liberally—in egg dishes or in combination with other foods.

Following is a splendid "guest emergency recipe," easily and quickly prepared, which will delight the unexpected guests:

- Eggs a la Goldenrod. 4 hard-cooked eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika or pepper Parsley, if on hand.

Put eggs on to cook and while they are cooking make a thin, white sauce with butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Remove eggs from fire. Separate hard-cooked yolks from whites of eggs. Chop whites fine and then add them to sauce. Cut four slices of the toast in halves lengthwise. Arrange on platter and pour over sauce. Force yolks through potato ricer or strainer, sprinkling over the top. Garnish with parsley.—The Poultry News.

Editorial (By Carmen Coward)

I want to be a follower of truth for three reasons: To build up my character, for the love of the human race, and to respect my parents and teachers. A good name—a good character—is rather to be chosen than great riches, and truth is the significance of a good name. As a tree is known by its fruit, so is a man known by his character. So may I help though all my trials and temptations to keep that little flower of truth growing in my heart and thoughts. If everyone would plant the little seed, truth, in his heart and cultivate it, what a different world this would be. If every person, the liar, the indifferent, the deceiver was true with himself, there would not so much killing, robbing, and unfriendliness existing in the human race. Let us help to plant these little seeds in the hearts of the people and produce some good fruit. Since truth is planted in our hearts in the home and in the school, let us respect our dear parents and teachers enough to keep it growing. If we will let it grow, it will be hard and in time impossible for us to be untruthful with others and with ourselves.

The seniors will present a play, entitled "The Road to the City," Friday night, February 25. Everyone come. Plenty of fun.

On February 16 the school turned out at one o'clock to go to Gatesville to see the final ball games. Three buses went and several cars. Everyone went that could possibly do so. All came home with a smile on their faces because in spite of the team's defeat they had spent an enjoyable afternoon. The high school on Thursday morning began at 8:30 instead of 9:00, and classes were held until 1:00 o'clock with no noon intermission. All classes met.

Turnersville Girls Defeat Turnersville All Stars.

The Turnersville school team defeated Turnersville Allstars Friday afternoon, Feb. 18. The allstars have a good team but the school team proved best. The score was 25 to 13. This was the first time the Allstars had been defeated.

Turnersville Allstars Defeat Mountain View.

The Turnersville Allstars defeated the outsiders of Mountain View Wednesday night, Feb. 16, the score being 32 to 12.

P.-T. A. Program.

A full house was present at the community meeting of the Turnersville P. T. A. Friday night, Feb. 17. The following program was rendered: Reading, Bettie Jean Harbin; a solo, Miss Ruth Davis; song, "Parting the Clouds With Sunshine," by the pupils of Miss Estelle McKneely; talk, "What We Parents Admire in Teachers," Mrs. A. D. Daniel; talk, "What We Teachers Admire in the Parents," Miss Germond; songs, Miss Pearl Jones, Mr. Grady Russell, Mr. J. E. Hollingsworth, Mr. Ernest Pierce; reading, Cleo Holder; piano solo, Miss Wilma Harrell; piano solo, Miss Lillian Garren. The meeting ended after a half hour program by a stringed orchestra.

Jokes.

Miss Carroll: I see they're talking about putting a tax on bachelors, and I think it will serve them right. Miss Germond: Yes, why not? All other luxuries are being taxed.

W. D. Sharp: The other night I had to go through the woods past the place where that man was murdered. But I walked backwards the whole way.

Emroy Pederson: What was that for?

W. D.: You poor fish I did it to see if anything was coming up behind me.

Virgil Lee: When a person does any thing very well, I think he ought to get credit for it.

J. T. Garren: Not always. I have such a good reputation for being a good card player that I can't get anybody to play with me any more.

Mr. Jones: Who was Mars, Flora, Agnes Vickery: Oh, I know I can answer that one. He was secretary of war in Jupiter's administration.

Mrs. Basham: Now, Bourcely, you must not eat so much ice. Bourcely: But, mother, I don't eat the ice; I just suck the juice.

Ralph Colthary: Who is your family doctor?

W. D. Sharp: I can't tell you. Ralph: Why not? Don't you know his name?

W. D.: Well, Dr. H.—used to be our family doctor, but now mother goes to a stomach specialist, father goes to a heart specialist, my brother to a throat specialist, my brother to a lung specialist, and I'm taking treatment from an osteopath.

Dele Kelley: If you love a rich man and a poor man, which would you marry?

Lorene Wallace: I'd marry the rich man and be good to the poor one.

Eugene (Hooley) Harris: A lot of girls are going to be made unhappy when I marry.

Ruby Mae Galch: Why, I didn't know you were a polygamist.

Miss Carroll: What is a polygon? Von Gilmore: A parrot that has escaped.

Herman Foust: (With deep anguish) If you don't marry me I'll blow my brains out.

Jennie Mae Pederson: Oh, would you, really? I wish you would do it. It would be a great joke on father, for he says you haven't any.

ON TEXAS FARMS

More than 2500 garments made by 187 farm women in Limestone County last year by home demonstration methods saved these women an average of $12.50 apiece.

Half the farm families of Grayson County were helped to can and preserve food by demonstration methods last year by the home demonstration clubs of the county. The amount of canning increased 75 per cent over the previous year.

In Armstrong County wheat farmers have gone in strongly for treating wheat for smut by the machine method of applying copper carbonate dust to the seed. The county agent reports 35,000 acres planted to treated wheat, done at a cost of 3 cents per acre. Smut can damage the crop in the county to the extent of $40,000, local elevator men declare.

The greatest series of terracing demonstrations ever held in Hill county ended with 3550 acres terraced in December. The yearly total as given by the county agent exceeds 6000 acres.

A 10-acre pasture developed as a demonstration by Edd Fulgham in Wood County paid $18 per acre in grazing last year, according to the county agent. Horses, cows and males were charged from 2 to 5 cents per head per day for the rich pasturage, and calves were charged at half rate. The average cost of improvement and upkeep was $1.80 per acre.

Two years ago self-feeders for hogs were practically unknown in Goliad County. Now they are so common that hog feeding without them is regarded as a sign of poor management. The new system of feeding hogs by self-feeder on rations of corn and equal parts cottonseed meal and tankage, introduced by the county agent, has revolutionized hog raising and has led to the general use of hogs to dispose of corn at a small profit.

Cuero—Eight demonstrators who farmed 50 acres of Texas blackhul kafir produced 2800 bushels of grain which was an increase of 10 bushels per acre over the usual production of DeWitt County, according to annual report figures of County Agent J. A. Oswalt. Three h e g a r l demonstrators cultivated 15 1-2 acres which yielded 630 bushels not including the second crop which was, in some cases, as great as the first.

Nine hundred tons of silage was stored in 18 trench silos dug from plans provided by the county agent; 14 self-feeders for hogs and two for cattle, and seven modern poultry houses were likewise built, using plans from the same source.

Working with Mr. Oswalt 26 farmers improved their pastures by planting clovers and grasses that furnish grazing the year round. These men pooled their seed orders and brought into the county sour clover, hubam clover, alfalfa, California burr clover, dallis grass, black medic clover, and white sweet clover. One of these pasture demonstrators cut 9,000 pounds of hay in May from five acres of hubam clover after it had furnished 30 days of grazing for 29 head of dairy cattle. The 4 1-2 tons of hay a value of $30 and the grazing was worth $22.

Six farmers kept feed and production records on their dairy herds under the supervision of the county agent. In the six herds there were 70 cows which produced 284,834 pounds of milk containing 13,592.2 pounds of butterfat. The production records showed that cows producing over 300 pounds of butterfat returned 1 3-4 times as much profit as those producing from 250 to 300. And they made 2.8 times as much profit as the group that produced from 200 to 250 pounds.

Nineteen farmers with 5132 hens kept the Extension Service poultry calendar record on their flocks and seven of them exceeded the State standard of 160 eggs per hen while all the rest except one exceeded the egg record. The seven best flocks ranged all the way from an average of 162 1-2 eggs per hen to 206.3 for the year. Six other farmers carried on turkey demonstrations and raised an average of 15.6 poult per hen as compared to the county average of 7.4.

Nine 4-H club boys feeding their pigs self feeder style learned that they could get 100 pounds of gained weight with 6 bushels of shelled corn and about 50c worth of tankage and cottonseed meal. Another group of club boys raising pigs got their hundred pounds gain with 7 bushels of corn and 65 gallons of skim milk.

Good Equipment is Essential to Good Training

The most important thing in training young people for a useful career (next to that of the faculty) is the physical equipment of the school. This is especially true of the Business College, because much of the training in our business colleges consists of mastery of the latest modern office machines.

The Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration maintains modern and up-to-date equipment. High school graduates who are planning a business career will be interested in the type of equipment used by this big school.

The Tyler Commercial College owns its own building, which is of pressed brick construction, 140 feet wide by 135 feet long, three stories high with especially constructed annex on roof for Cotton Classing. The entire building is especially designed for its permanent home. Unlike the average small business college, this big school does not occupy a few small office rooms up stairs or a garage or drug store without ample space.

We own over 300 standard make typewriters. Our Banking Department is equipped with fifteen Electric Driven Bank Posting Machines, Adding Machines and Calculators.

So far as is known, is the only Business College in the United States having a broadcasting station, representing an investment of over $25,000. Fourteen large, spacious class rooms, equipped with over 1,200 modern double and single desks. Large, spacious College Auditorium, with a seating capacity of over 2,000.

Office Training Department equipped with the latest office machines, such as Multigraphs, Mimeographs, Addressographs, Folding Machines, Typewriters, Shorthand Machines, Bookkeeping Machines, and a most modern Filing Department in connection.

The School of Radio operated in connection is equipped with all modern equipment for teaching all phases of Radio, including Television. Government licensed Technical Training short wave Station in connection. Telegraphy and Western Union Departments fully equipped with Motor Generators, Telegraph keys and sounders, especially built Western Union Typewriters, and all modern equipment. Cotton Cladding Department operated the year round, with government approved Samples as a basis for grading and stapling.

Space will not permit a full description of all the equipment of this big school. Bear in mind, young people, unless the school you attend has sufficient equipment to efficiently train you, your success will not be what you expect it to be. Write for the current catalog of this school, "Achieving Success in Business." It is free. Address the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, Tyler, Texas.

'What's The Use?'

"What's The Use?" says a student. "I am tired of trying. Everything seems to turn against me. My lessons don't turn out right, I failed my examination. Some one is taking my place on the ball team. I'm going to take the 'easiest way'." The bank employee works hard, has secured the confidence of his employers, but yields, embezzles; the ex-convict struggles awhile to be straight and gives up; the business man falls and flees by way of suicide—"What's The Use?" they say. This is a coward's question, a weakling's whine; it is a despicable excuse of a traitor. There is always use. If you have failed it means that you can succeed in another way. Have the will power to stay with your problem and you will succeed. A tire will blow out at its weakest part. A human can reinforce their weakness with will power and determination and the question of "What's The Use?" will be answered.

Primary Room

We were given the opportunity to render four numbers on the 4-square program Friday morning. We think this was the best club program we have had this year. We will render the following program in chapel Friday morning. When I am a Woman—by twelve girls. When I am a Man—by twelve boys. Bear Hunting—S. W. Hampton and Knox Whitt. Readings—by Oma Lee Medart, Clara Mae Wright, Leota Freeman, Curtis Non Manning and Charleen Cox. Song—by S. W. Hampton and Ethellen Andrew. Mother Goose in Health Land—2nd grade by eight girls. Following songs by all. The Cow Jumped over the Moon—Baa Baa Black Sheep and Little Jack Horner.

3rd, 4th and 5th Grades

The third grade wrote letters of children of other countries. The highest grade was made by Wanda Smith; next to the highest, Edwin Graham. Below is a copy of Wanda's letter.

Pearl, Texas, Feb. 23, 1933.

Dear Doris:

How are you this cold day? I wish you were up here with me. We would go skating. Gee, I surely do have the fun skating and making snow men.

I have two pet dogs that I am teaching to pull me in my sleigh. I go for a ride every morning. Oh, it surely is some fun to go over hills and downs.

I eat lots of meat to keep me warm. I feed my dogs meat so they will be able to pull my sleigh.

Oh, I have the warmest dress made out of nice warm fur. I like to wear clothes made from bear skins.

Your Classmate,
GUESS WHO.

School News 6th and 7th grades

Last week we progressed fine. In our seventh grade reading we are still studying the Scout Laws.

In the sixth grade we have been studying about circles.

In our seventh grade arithmetic we have begun to study a little algebra. It is very interesting.

Last Tuesday our seventh grade English club had a good program.

In our seventh grade civics we are studying industry. It is very interesting.

Last Tuesday our Junior girls went to Evant to play basketball and won the game. The scores were 16 and 7 in Pearl's favor.

Freshmen

Busy! busy! busy! Well, of all the busy people in the school the Freshmen are the busiest. Probably an artist will develop from our group as we have had to draw about six maps in history. (This means many more than that because some of us have to draw them over.)

Jack Medart is about to work us all to death trying to keep up with him in algebra. We are glad to welcome three Sophomores back in our class. They are about to learn to divide.

We have been studying descriptions in English. We have enjoyed describing some of our classmates and friends.

We have had a good many reports in General Science, but we don't mind that.

We are glad to report that every Freshman student will represent us in something at the District Meet at Evant.

There were five seniors that tried out for declamation Friday night and they were all Freshmen. We also had two numbers on the Four-Square program. A play, "Mrs. Brown's Millinery," and a special song.

Along with our work we are having our fun. If anyone runs out of jokes or pranks to play on the teachers or students, just come to Tom Preston. He has more wit than the Freshmen Class needs. Then maybe he will have more time to devote to his declamation.

Sophomore Class

The Sophomore boys helped the ladies of the community dig their flower beds that were at the school. Our class will be represented by a large number in the district meet at Evant. The debaters from our class, Finley Perry and Virgil Freeman, have been working very industriously on their debate. Iris Culp will represent us in both basketball and play ground ball as a Junior girl. Jack Elam and Grady Keeton are on the Senior boys volleyball team. We hope all of these will win in the various games they enter.

The Junior News

Of all the imposed people in this school the Juniors are the ones. We just wonder if it's because the seats we sit on are directly in front of the teacher's desk. Anyway, we will continue to do all the errands and have our English period cut short. (For by all things we don't mean to be griping. We are merely stating facts.) Anyway our English period is long enough, especially when we have to memorize "The Gettysburg Address," and the last paragraph of Lincoln's First and Second Inaugural address.

In American History we have completed a five-hundred word theme on slavery. We are going to draw a map of the thirteen original colonies and each time we study about a state entering the union we add this state to the map.

One of the members of our class saw the basketball game at Temple Friday and Saturday.

We Juniors have challenged the Sophomores to a spelling match. We feel sure that the Juniors have the best spellers in school.

Senior News

The Seniors have been working the past two weeks on the debates.

We have at last picked our girls' debating team from the Senior Class.

The girls we have selected are Erma Lee Brown and Edith Dyson.

We have now selected our play title, "The Man in the Moon," which consists of thirteen characters. Six boys and seven girls. This uses every member of the class. Some of the students have never been in a play before, but we want them to have the thrill of being in one play before they complete high school.

Buster Dyson, one of our most popular workers, has been absent from school several days. We would like for him to get back in school and stay.

"Woes of woes." The Seniors are taking solid geometry. We wonder if there will be any need to plan a graduation exercise.

Sports

After winning the county this year which made three years in succession, the Dragons made a good account of themselves at the district meet which was held at Temple Feb. 24-25. Their first game was with the strong Rose Bud team, champion of Falls County. The scores were 39 and 23 in favor of the Dragons. The next game was with the tall boys from Mart, champion of McClendon County. Against these tall boys the Dragons played their best game of the season and defeated them 31 to 24. The next game was with the Temple High Wildcats. Here the Dragons met defeat. This team, Temple, won the district by 10 points. This is three years for the Dragons to be in the district meet and we believe that teams there were stronger than ever before.

Our prospect for a baseball team is stronger than ever before.

Personals

Last Wednesday afternoon a number of club ladies appeared on the campus with hoes, rakes and huge buckets of dirt. We were quite surprised to find that they were going to work up the flower beds on each side of the west entrance to the school building. The Sophomore boys assisted them in this work. We are very happy to have these ladies help us in beautifying our campus.

The girls club team in basketball have been coming to school quite often to practice with our girls, as they were planning to play at Permela's tournament. We are glad to have them as it gives us some good practice.

Mrs. Harris, our primary teacher, has been trying out some of her pupils for future champions for the "Dragon Line Up." Jackie Harper seems to be in line for Keeton's place.

A good crowd was present at the Four-Square meeting last Friday night. Although Coach Tharp and the Dragons (ten men) with many fans were in Temple for the District Basketball Tournament. Among our visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Barclay from Cow House and Mrs. Scott and Miss Emma Scott of Slater. We are always glad to welcome these teachers.

The primary students will have charge of the chapel program for next Friday morning. Don't fail to attend this program.

Miss Bessie Earl Whitt, one of our ex-students, is leaving this week for an extended visit to Port Arthur. We will miss Bessie Earl for she is always on hand to help us.

The following high school students saw the games at Temple: Erma Lee Brown, Irma Doyle and Merle Brown. Also Loy Morgan from the intermediate grades. Loy also visited his mother.

Jokes

It was the first of the month and all the bills had come in. Mr. Tharp was short of cash and was complaining to Miss Laura about buying so much. "Look at all these bills I have to pay," he said. "What would you do if you were in my shoes?"

Much to his surprise she replied: "I'd get a shine."

Miss Winters: "Betty, what is a peninsula and give an example." Betty: "A peninsula is a neck of dirt that water never touched—Well, Foster Dyson has one.

One day Rube Preston and Buster Dyson were talking. Buster said, "I get up every morning at three o'clock."

Rube replied: "That's nothing. I get up at one thirty."

Buster did not believe Rube so the next morning Buster got up at one o'clock and went to Preston.

Mrs. Preston met him at the door. "Where is Rube?" Buster asked. "Oh, he was around here early this morning," she replied, "but I don't know where he is now."

Bill Cutting Poll Tax to $1 Passed by House, 106-26

Austin, March 1.—The Texas house of representatives passed a bill Monday that would reduce the poll tax to $1. The vote was 106 to 26.

In most counties, voters are required to pay a poll tax of $1.75. The constitution levies a poll tax of $1, the state levies an additional tax of 50c and the counties, in all but eight instances, levy a tax of 25c. Under the bill the state and county tax would be eliminated.

Sharp Opposition

There was a sharp division of opinion in the house on the proposal to allow the counties to levy a poll tax of 25c in addition to the proposed state tax of $1. Proponents of the county tax asserted the counties would be crippled financially if they were prohibited from making the levy. An amendment to allow the counties to levy the tax was defeated 64 to 58.

Would Decrease Revenues

Should the reduced poll tax bill become effective it was estimated that it would decrease the receipts of the general revenue fund by $750,000 annually. Sponsors of the bill, however, said it would increase the receipts of the available school fund by $200,000 because more persons would pay their poll taxes if the amount was reduced. All of the constitutional poll taxes goes to the school fund.

Crop Loan Group to Study Limits Put on Acreage

Dallas, Tex., March 1.—Adjustment of alleged discrimination in acreage reduction restriction between the crop production loans and the Agricultural Credit Corporation loans is expected to be one of the important matters taken up by the new Texas agricultural advisory committee at its first meeting Wednesday morning at the Baker Hotel, it was announced.

Under the new regulations, a cotton farmer seeking a 1933 loan from the Department of Agriculture's $90,000,000 fund for crop production loans must agree to 30 per cent reduction in his major crop acreage. Loans are limited to $200 for an individual farmer and $1,200 for a farm owner with a group of tenants. The Agricultural Credit Corporation, which makes larger loans, does not have the acreage reduction restriction on its borrowers, who may give crop mortgages as security although most of them are live stock raisers. The alleged discrimination is unfair to the small farmer, it was said.

John W. Carpenter of Dallas is chairman of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's committee, as he was of former Gov. Ross S. Sterling.

Schley School

March 2nd. What does that mean to us? It should mean much. When we think of how our forefathers fought against odds, endured all kinds of hardships, and still had the determination to go on, we should be encouraged to keep faith, and work all the harder in these times of depression. We have good homes, plenty of food, a country of freedom and money conveniences that Travis, Bowie, Crockett, Fannin and others gave their lives that we might have. Let's not forget them, and do our share in keeping faith with our Texas heroes.

We are reviewing our geography. We are to make product maps, locate or find the other countries' relation to us.

We enjoy studying our history. We haven't got very far as we studied reading the first term. Our spelling average is about A and B.

The pupils of the fourth grade framed a miniature picture of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, also silhouettes of Lincoln for window decorations.

An agreeable response was shown for the Circulating Library and reports were made in the Friday afternoon Story Hour.

The number combinations have been sufficiently mastered by beginners that they are now ready to take over the mechanics of numbers.

The pupils of the fourth grade have made an intensive study of Holland and its people. They will now take up Switzerland.

An interesting study of the migration of birds, their habits, etc., is being carried out by the third grade. Many different species are found and reported on.

Our rhythm band is progressing nicely. The children now play "John Brown's Body," "Old Black Joe," "Yankee Doodle," and "Spanish Caviar."

The second grade has the best record of the four grades as to amount of reading. They have dramatized many stories.

Miss Whatley visited the school recently.

Miss Iva Baker visited us one day while visiting homefolks.

Miss Ruby Baker's visit was enjoyed a week or so ago.

Mrs. Jim Alford and little Jim Mildred were pleasant visitors last Friday.

Come again. We are always glad to have visitors.

Our chapel program has come up lacking a few times since County Meet work has taken up so much of our time.

On next Thursday night a short program will be given at the school house. Everybody come and let's get acquainted.

Things We Would Like To See R. A. Baker bake. Oshie Lee Bales bale. Clarence Blackman black. Frank Wittie's wit. Mrs. Richardson's riches. Marie Hayes make hay. Margaret Powell pal.

Earl says he likes Sunday best. They never ask you to chop wood.

J. B.: "Does your mother object to kissing?" Iva Lee: "Do you want to ring the whole family in on this?"

Mrs. Vernon: "Sarah, make a sentence using income correctly." Sarah: "Ma opened the door and in come a cat."
