

The Cook's Nook

A Kitchen Clinic for Cookery Ills

What's Your Trouble—Is It Listed Here?

Needles and pins, needles and pins; when a girl's cooking, her trouble begins! Even the most expert cooks have a trouble or three, and the only way to get rid of yours is to diagnose it, then give it treatment. Here are some prescriptions for cookery remedies. No need for you to shake before using them—they're tested!

Does Your Meringue Fall?
Probably too much sugar if the meringue looks sad. Decrease sugar until you find proper proportions; mixing a teaspoon of cream of tartar with the sugar before adding will help too.

Does Your Bacon Shivel?
Perhaps you are frying bacon in too hot a pan if it shrivels. Place bacon in cold pan, cook slowly; as fat melts, pour it off.

Boiled Frostings Grainy?
Crystals spoil the pretty surface of your frostings. Prevent grains by substituting 2 or 3 tablespoons white light syrup for 2 or 3 table spoons of the sugar called for in the recipe. The syrup keeps the frosting smooth and gives it keeping qualities, so you can store it for later use. A simple rule is to use a tablespoon of light syrup to each cup of sugar.

Fresh Fruit Cups Turn Dark?
Fresh fruits, such as peaches, peaches, and bananas, always turn dark in fruit cups unless you have given them an acid covering. Grapefruit, or fruit juice added to your fruit cups will prevent this, and give them a splendid flavor at the same time. If saving minutes is your problem, remember the virtue of the delicious canned grapefruit and juice.

Do Your Chops Stick?
To keep chops and steaks from sticking to the broiler, oil the wire racks thoroughly; dip the steaks and chops to be broiled right into the lard, too; this will give them a delicate brown look, besides keeping them from sticking.

Can't Make Filling?
If you find it difficult to turn out a good filling for your cakes, try this can't-fail one: simply quarter a package of pasteurized dates and put them in a pan with a cup of water. Cook to a thick paste, cool, and spread between cake layers.

Pie Crust Trouble?

You'll find pie crust is easier to make when you use a liquid shortening, but for positive success make the crust with crackers. Roll or crumble 12 graham crackers (you need about a cupful of crumbs) and mix with 1-3 cup softened butter and a tablespoon sugar. Butter a pie pan and press mixture with fingers, against sides and bottom. Put in filling and bake. Then get a new thrill with flavored crusts: use chocolate wafers, vanilla wafers, lemon or chocolate snaps for crumb pastry.

Cereal Left Over?
You probably won't have any cereal left over, even if it's oatmeal, if you stir a cup of sliced pasteurized dates into the cereal just before dishing it up. If you do, you can make the left-over cereal with dates into muffins! For each cup of cereal, reduce flour in muffins by 1-4 cup and milk by 1-2 cup. Or you can pour the still-warm cereal into molds, chill, and serve as pudding. Hominy grits may be molded into a loaf by pouring into pan while hot, then sliced, fried like much and served with light syrup, for breakfast.

Salad Dressing "Impossible"?
If your cooked salad dressing won't keep satisfactorily or you find that it is lumpy or inclined to separate in the first place, dry those tears and make this economical, fresh-keeping kind: Put an egg, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 2-3 cup light lard, and 1-4 cup vinegar in a mixing bowl; do not stir! Then make a paste of 2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1-2 cup water; add another 1-2 cup water gradually, and cook over slow fire, stirring until it boils and clears. Then add hot cornstarch mixture to other ingredients and beat briskly.

Budget Trouble?
Learn how to stretch and make a little go a long way, to save your money. You'll find that four eggs will serve six when you add 3 crumbled flake crackers and 2 tablespoons milk to each egg in your omelet. Scrambled eggs go further when crackers are used as "extenders" and meat and vegetable loaves go further when you use crumble crackers in them; creamed dishes do too, when they are served on crackers.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow
Extension Service Editor
A. & M. College

Terraces constructed more than twenty years ago are still in service on the farm of F. C. Steves, Karnes county dairy farmer living three miles north of Runge. They are believed by the county agent to be among the oldest terraces in Texas. Laid out and built as an experiment with the help of a man sent by the United States Department of Agriculture, surprisingly few mistakes were made.

American cheese making is no longer confined to cheese factories. More than half the 194 lbs. of this cheese made by Mrs. Eaf Thomas of Concord Home Demonstration Club in Johnson county this year has been sold for a fair price.

Houston county farmers, cooperating with county agent and local civic organization, are buying brood mares for farm power and for producing future farm power.

Roberts county home demonstration club women are finding that they make $5 per day by killing and canning chickens for sale.

Tarrant county 4-H club boys have more than 200 brood sows this year.

It cost Mrs. Pat McDonough of Nueces county 79 cents to renovate her bedroom closet to make it fit for the wardrobe she is developing as a demonstration with the home demonstration agent. She is making her money for clothing by selling food products in the local home-makers' market.

A Nolan county farmer put out six pounds of poisoned grain costing 30 cents one night. The next morning he picked up 120 dead ground squirrels, a pest so destructive there this year that the county agent has been called on to aid ranchers and farmers wage an effective fight.

Mrs. George Goodall Returned From Galveston

Dairy Records Basis of Herd Improvement
Lubbock—Because he tested his cows and kept records on costs and production in a dairy herd demonstration with the county agent, Arthur Dean of Lubbock county knows that his best cow made a profit above feed cost of $54.19 on a production of 360 pounds of butterfat last year, that his poorest cow made $23.31 on a production of 210 pounds of butterfat, and that the herd paid him $1.75 for every dollar spent for feed. One cow was discarded because she could not pay her way. The herd averaged 245.6 pounds of butterfat on a ration of corn, grain sorghum, bran, cottonseed meal and cottonseed.
With these records as a starting point, and a registered bull leased from Texas Technological College for improving the future herd, R. N. McClain, assistant county agent, points out that Mr. Dean is in a position to make rapid improvements in his herd management.

Fredericksburg—When freezes kill and drouths dry up green pasture, Oliver Rabke of Peteralnis community in Gillespie county puts his home-made oat sprouter to work supplying green stuff to his hens. Then the hens work for him, he says, pointing out that a flock of 450 averaged 300 eggs per day during April on sprouted oats and an Extension Service ration recommended by the county agent. The sprouter is built like a safe with 12 trays supported by small slats to hold the oats. Sides of trays are made of wood and the bottoms of tin. Beneath the lowest tray a space is provided for placing a pan of live coals to promote sprouting in cold weather.

Denton—"The most profitable farm crop is sheep," says J. J. Parks of Denton. From a flock of 140 ewes and a few well bred bucks he has sold more than one thousand dollars worth of lambs and wool each year of the last three years. In 1927 he sold $2700 worth of products from a flock of 200 but found he was overstocked for his acreage and reduced to his present sized flock. Mr. Parks practices creep feeding to get gain and finish quickly, and prepares lambs for the Easter market when prices are good as recommended by C. C. Morris, former county agent. To breed for late lambs he confines the bucks from October to May.

ble the bridge on Highway No. 36.

Following the speaking the invocation was given by Reverend White, a pioneer preacher of Coryell county.

Honorable mention should be made at this time of the wonderful cooperative work of the men and women of Jonesboro who were in charge of the arrangements of the barbecue which fed the 5,000 people present. A perfect organization took care of the meal which was handled in cafeteria style, with the women of Jonesboro acting as hostesses. Each plate was amply filled with barbecue, potato salad, pickles, bread, and cakes. The coffee was furnished by the Cooper Grocery Company.

Following the barbecue the crowd was entertained with a band concert by the Gatesville and Hamilton bands, after which Hon. Robt. W. Brown, county judge of Coryell county, took charge of the afternoon speaking. Judge Brown pointed out in his opening address the names of two instrumental citizens, Tom Watson of Jonesboro, and Judge P. M. Rice of Hamilton, who devoted much of their time to the bridge enterprise. Judge Brown mentioned the fact that after eighty years of civilization we have come to see the realization of a great span across the Leon river at Jonesboro, which joins the county seats of Hamilton and Coryell counties. Fred G. Prewitt, secretary of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce, then presented resolutions, which were adopted and will be sent to the State Highway Department at Austin. Earl Huddleston, representative from this district was the next speaker on the program and was followed by E. T. Woodward, superintendent of Division No. 9 of the Highway Department. Mr. Woodward appealed to the landowners to be lenient in their requests in order that the great Highway No. 36 might be completed. He concluded his remarks by pointing out several pertinent facts about the bridge, in which he gave the total cost at $49,500 and the length of the bridge as being 13,053 feet, built by the Austin Bridge Company.

Judge Harrow, of Hamilton, was next introduced by the chairman, and after a few remarks took charge of the arrangements for the Grand March. The procession was led by the Sheriffs of Hamilton and Coryell counties, Hollingsworth and Morgan, followed by the Gatesville band, Legionnaires, Boy Scouts and County officials. Following these came the Hamilton band and the public.

A double header ball game between Jonesboro, Gatesville and Hamilton concluded the official program of the day.

The Cook's Nook

A Kitchen Clinic for Cookery Ills

What's Your Trouble—Is It Listed Here?

"Needles and pins, needles and pins; when a girl's cooking, her trouble begins!" Even the most expert cooks have a trouble or three, and the only way to get rid of yours is to diagnose it, then give it treatment. Here are some prescriptions for cookery remedies. No need for you to shake before using them—they're tested!

Does Your Meringue Fall?

Probably too much sugar if the meringue looks sad. Decrease sugar until you find proper proportions; mixing a teaspoon of cream of tartar with the sugar before adding will help too.

Does Your Bacon Shrive?

Perhaps you are frying bacon in too hot a pan if it shrivels. Place bacon in cold pan, cook slowly; as fat melts, pour it off.

Boiled Frostings Grainy?

Crystals spoil the pretty surface of your frostings. Prevent grains by substituting 2 or 3 tablespoons white light syrup for 2 or 3 table spoons of the sugar called for in the recipe. The syrup keeps the frosting smooth and gives it keeping qualities, so you can store it for later use. A simple rule is to use a tablespoon of light syrup to each cup of sugar.

Fresh Fruit Cups Turn Dark?

Fresh fruits, such as pears, peaches, and bananas, always turn dark in fruit cups unless you have given them an acid covering. Grapefruit, or grapefruit juice added to your fruit cups will prevent this, and give them a splendid flavor at the same time. If saving minutes is your problem, remember the virtue of the delicious canned grapefruit and juice.

Do Your Chops Stick?

To keep chops and steaks from sticking to the broiler, oil the wire racks thoroughly; dip the steaks and chops to be broiled right into the lard, too; this will give them a delicate brown look, besides keeping them from sticking.

Can't Make Filling?

If you find it difficult to turn out a good filling for your cakes, try this can't fail one: simply quarter a package of pasteurized dates and put them in a pan with a cup of water. Cook to a thick paste, cool, and spread between cake layers.

Pie Crust Trouble?

You'll find pie crust is easier to make when you use a liquid shortening, but for positive success make the crust with crackers. Roll or crumble 12 graham crackers (you need about a cupful of crumbs) and mix with 1-3 cup softened butter and a tablespoon sugar. Butter a pie pan and press mixture with fingers, against sides and bottom. Put in filling and bake. Then get a new thrill with flavored crusts: use chocolate wafers, vanilla wafers, lemon or chocolate snaps for crumb pastry.

Cereal Left Over?

You probably won't have any cereal left over, even if it's oatmeal, if you stir a cup of sliced pasteurized dates into the cereal just before dishing it up. If you do, you can make the left-over cereal with dates into muffins! For each cup of cereal, reduce flour in muffins by 1-4 cup and milk by 1-2 cup. Or you can pour the still-warm cereal into molds, chill, and serve as pudding. Hominy grits may be molded into a loaf by pouring into pan while hot, then sliced, fried like much and served with light syrup, for breakfast.

Salad Dressing "Impossible"?

If your cooked salad dressing won't keep satisfactorily or you find that it is lumpy or inclined to separate in the first place, dry those tears and make this economical, fresh-keeping kind: Put an egg, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 2-3 cup light lard, and 1-4 cup vinegar in a mixing bowl; do not stir! Then maye a paste of 2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1-2 cup water; add another 1-2 cup water gradually, and cook over slow fire, stirring until it boils and clears. Then add hot cornstarch mixture to other ingredients and beat briskly.

Budget Trouble?

Learn how to stretch and make a little go a long way, to save your money. You'll find that four eggs will serve six when you add 3 crumbled flake crackers and 2 tablespoons milk to each egg in your omelet. Scrambled eggs go further when crackers are used as "extenders" and meat and vegetable leaves go further when you use crumble crackers in them; creamed dishes do too, when they are served on crackers.

PATRIOTIC YOUNG AMERICA

Students of Amherst College watched with apparent glee as young communists made a very demonstrative scene on the school campus, but the climax came when the young rebels touched fire to an American flag.

This may be a day when national patriotism and loyalty among young men is not as pronounced as it was in the time of our fore-fathers, but it cannot be said that the present generation of young Americans is not possessed with some degree of fidelity to their flag and the traditions for which it stands.

MISSISSIPPI IS NO EXCEPTION

Officers of Greenwood, Mississippi, don't allow any grass to grow under their feet. An ambitious bank robber found that out when he forced his way into a local bank and attempted to make his getaway at one o'clock in the morning.

From the amount of newspaper space given this incident it would appear that such a happening is somewhat out of the ordinary, yet we feel sure that there are many such criminals being apprehended in the very act of their "jobs."

TEXAS COTTON FOR JAPAN

Cotton growers of Texas and local vicinity will no doubt be interested to learn that Japan will buy this year 400,000 bales of cotton grown in this state; 100,000 more bales than was purchased by that country in 1932.

With the growing interest in the return to world trade, sponsored by President Roosevelt, we may readily anticipate a more extensive trade market for other commodities of American origin.

Cotton growing vicinity should be very grateful for the new market offered by Japan.

JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRACY

Saturday, June 3rd, was proclaimed by Governor Ferguson as a day "to be specially devoted to the memory of the President of the Confederate States of America and to the fine traditions of the Confederacy."

Seventy-two years ago a loyal band of patriots were engaged in civil combat in protecting the government and principles of the Confederacy.

The memory of Jefferson, like the ideals of the Confederacy, will live eternally and too great cannot be our respects to that noble character and principles of democracy for which he stood.

According to the proclamation of the Governor, flags and bunting were to have been displayed in recognition of the courage of Southern men and women who gave their lives in defense of State's rights.

Morris Federation Closes Successful Study Course Year

Morris Federation Closes Successful Study Course Year

The Morris Federation held their last meeting recently which marked the close of a very interesting year of study.

The subject for the year was "America Today—art, music, and literature." The final meeting dealt with the current subject of art, music and literature in Texas.

Mrs. W. C. Guggolz told of J. Frank Dobie's life and works, and Miss Ruth Martin brought to the club some interesting facts about William J. Marsh and his opera, "The Flower Fair of Peking."

Mrs. Robert Thomas, who lived for twelve years in Mexico, told in her own very pleasing manner of "Intimate Glimpses of Our Neighbor Across the Border."

Miss Doris Jones, local teacher and reader of much note, gave a colored preacher's version of the courtship and marriage of Ruth and Boaz.

There was quite an interesting exhibit of articles brought by the members from their homes, representing all kinds of handwork, such as paintings, knitted and crocheted and fine needle work; basketry, brass, wood, etc.

Mrs. Thomas' collection, from Mexico, of linens, silver, wood-carving and inlaid work was of especial interest. Miss Mollie Bishop, who once resided here, sent from Kerrville some of her bluebonnet paintings for which she has a state wide reputation.

One of the things which attracted greatest attention and was most admired, was a hand woven counterpane in a very beautiful and intricate design, with hand tied fringe, which was an heirloom in the Mayo family.

Besides the interesting and instructive program throughout the year which the club members have enjoyed, the Morris Federation has brought to Gatesville some interesting attractions.

Early last fall there was an exhibit of American pottery and a lecture by Mrs. W. S. Douglas. At the regular Christmas "Open House" the chief entertainment was Mrs. Lexie Dean Robertson, outstanding Texas poet, who read from her two published volumes of poems.

In March, Dr. Arthur Stout of Waco, gave his very much appreciated lecture on "Education for a Democracy."

The Federation is planning one unusually interesting attraction for the 1933-34 season.
