H. S. LATTIMORE

Judge H. S. Lattimore, Champion of Children Will Visit Gatesville

Judge H. S. Lattimore, widely known for his championship of the home as opposed to divorce and his interest in delinquent children, a candidate for the Supreme Court of Texas, will visit in Gatesville today.

He has been judge of the Court of 96th District, in Tarrant county and at present is on the bench of the Court of Civil Appeals, second district. His public service began when the 96th District Court was created and Lattimore, then a successful Fort Worth attorney was appointed to the post. With his customary enthusiasm for work, he attacked the most difficult and trying cases which were transferred from crowded dockets of the three other Tarrant county. His disposition of these cases, many hotly contested legal tangles which had been tried and re-tried, won him instant attention.

It was at this time that the tragic plight of delinquent children was borne in upon him and at his request such cases were

Methodist Home-Coming Promises Novelty Celebration Sunday, 24th

A very eventful day locally is not far away with the approaching Home-Coming celebration to be held at the First Methodist Church of Gatesville, Sunday, June 24, which begins officially with the morning service at the 11:00 o'clock hour.

A very urgent invitation has been extended all past pastors of the local church and former laymen who now reside elsewhere. The Home-Coming will also mark the 80th Anniversary of Methodism in Coryell county, the 100th Anniversary in Texas and the 150th in America. The idea was conceived by the local pastor, Rev. Marcus M. Chunn.

One of the outstanding features of the day will be an old-fashioned barbecue dinner, in which the Gatesville Methodists will act as hosts to the "home-comers" and visiting brethren from the various Methodist congregations throughout the county. Many of the churches have already responded to the invitation stating that a representative number from their respective congregations will be present.

The occasion will be celebrated with the following program:

11:00—Sermon by the Pastor.
12:30—Lunch.
2:00—Old Fashioned Singing.
2:30—Brief sermon by former pastor, J. W. W. Shuler.

3:00—Home-Coming Hour.
8:30—Sermon by Rev. J. H. Baldrige.

the historic old church (Gatesville). Its membership represents a fine type of Methodism. And they have a record of service that should challenge many other churches in Methodism. With their new building they are ready to enter into the forward movement with all methodists everywhere. Our centennial celebrations this year ought to inspire all our people to renewed activity and zeal for Christ and the Church," writes former pastor T. E. Bowman, in response to the invitation to attend the home-coming.

Beginning next Monday morning, all young men of this county who can answer the eligibility rules of the C. C. C. may sign up with the local Administrator, Fred G. Prewitt, at the City Hall.

Although it is not certain where the group from this vicinity will be sent it is probable the twenty accepted locally will be stationed at Belton.

County Judge Brown Represents Coryell At Highway Meeting

When the Highway 36 Association met at Gustine, Comanche county, Wednesday, Judge Rob't W. Brown, of Gatesville, was a speaker on the program, representing Coryell county.

The Gustine meeting was the second annual parley of the Highway body and was attended by representatives from Temple to Abilene, interested in the promotion of Highway 36 connecting those points.

P. M. Rice, of Hamilton, was re-elected president of the organization and C. E. Alvis, of Gatesville, was named one of the vice-presidents.

Coryell was the only county represented which reported construction work within the year.

The body passed a resolution asking that each interested county seek to get their individual appropriations spent on Highway 36, and to ask that the Highway Commission spend a part of the recent $12,000,000 appropriation on Highway 36.

Softball Managers Meet and Confer on Matter of New Rules

At a meeting Wednesday evening of the managers of the local softball clubs the following were present: Roger Miller, Floyd Zeigler, M. B. Sasse, Charlie Mounce, Bob Arnold and Archie Gartman.

A committee was named to publish new rules for the second division of the Softball League. The first division closes Friday, June 29. Many drastic changes were suggested in the present rules; among them was one, which was readily approved at the meeting, demanding that teams scheduled to play must be on the diamond by 8:15 o'clock or forfeit the game to their opponents.

A committee representing the Fire Department met with the managers.

Newspaper wrappers were first issued by the United States in October, 1861.

'round the square

By
The Snooper

Watching Frank Wilson driving his truck around the square, I waited to see if he had any peaches, but was disappointed to see it was tomatoes instead. Reverend Chunn is able to drive his car without the white gloves he has been wearing since his experience with gasoline and fire. Among those who started the morning off right with a chummy chat were Dan Graves and Clyde Bailey, both seemingly in their usual good humor. The attractive town-car labeled, "ANDY" may be linked with the names of two popular young men, Garland Anderson and J. R. Saunders. From the looks of that bunch of roasting ears John Gossett had under his arm one wouldn't think this country was badly in need of rain. Reports are that Postmaster Ford has been promoted from water-boy to first-string catcher on the Roundtable Club. Waldine Dolins tried to make me believe she had a new car but the Snooper investigated the matter to make sure.

Man and Beast Vie for Softball Honors

"When a dog bites a man, it isn't news, but when a man bites a dog, that IS news," so it is said. That same principle might justly be applied to the story of the forthcoming donkey softball games. When a man rides a donkey, it isn't news, but when a man plays ball astride a burro, it is news.

Saturday night, June 23, will mark the first of a three-game series of donkey softball games to be played in Gatesville at the Fair Park, sponsored by the local Volunteer Fire Department.

Proceeds of the game will be used to install additional lighting equipment for the diamond and pay for the newly erected bleachers.

Teams composed of local talent will participate in the three games, beginning Saturday. The players will be mounted on donkeys, and those who have not seen this peculiar and highly amusing form of sport need have no fear of disappointment in witnessing the opening game. Bleachers capable of seating 250 spectators have been erected on the east side of the diamond and two 700 watt lamps have been added to the seven electric flood-lights already in operation.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the High School Band under the direction of D. W. Diserens.

The game will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Rules for the game will be found in the Softball League Column of this issue of the News.

VARIETY FOR A CHANGE

The editor will indulge upon the patience of the readers of the News from time to time as he attempts to express himself on certain matters in this particular column of the newspaper. It is thought that perhaps a slight deviation from the customary editorial technic used in this column might provide a little interest for the readers.

The editor was highly pleased with the information which he obtained from his attendance at the 55th Annual Convention of the Texas Press Association. There was less of the usual convention ballahoo and more of the constructive atmosphere than one might expect. A great deal was accomplished. A remarkable spirit of general optimism prevailed. Newspapers should be considered a good barometer of conditions throughout the country.

June 24 will be a great day for Methodism; the 150th Birthday Anniversary of Methodism in America, 100th Birthday Anniversary of Texas Methodism and the 80th in Gatesville, besides being Home-Coming Day for the local church. The local celebration is nearer to a reunion of local pioneers and former citizens than any other one occasion held within the past several months in Gatesville. Many of the old-timers and former residents have been extended personal invitations to come back for the celebration.

The prospective Municipal Auditorium seems to be a non-prospective project at present. The matter has been either subdued or is suffering from lack of attention either at Washington or locally. Members of the City Council, it is believed, cannot agree on the proper action to take.

Whether the residents of Gatesville know it or not, the local Board of Education has founded planse for a real civic enterprise. This worthy undertaking is in the form of a modern combination gymnasium and auditorium with a seating capacity of approximately two thousand people. The subject is not merely one of popular talk but the Board has delved into the matter with extreme seriousness and the odds are about three to one that Gatesville and Coryell county will see the construction of an up-to-date coliseum which will serve as a great asset to this vicinity.

People lack a lot of being consistent these days. Take the crippled beggar, for instance, who picks a spot next to the door of a five-and-ten store to sell his pencils. Ever to the beggar, it looks like "competition is the life of trade."

FORD LENDS MASTER WORK TO ART SHOW

Chicago.—Two rare old paintings by Fra Angelico, the Italian monk of the Florentine school, may be seen by visitors to A Century of Progress collection, on exhibition in the Art Institute this year. They were lent by Edsel Ford.

Fra Angelico painted religious subjects, and fittingly led a holy, self-denying life. He painted with great diligence, never retouching or altering his work in the least.

Mr. Ford also supplied another religious painting, "A Madonna and Child with Cherubim," by Benozzo Gozzoli, an early Italian painter.

"The best hung and most advantageously arranged exhibit of masterpieces I have ever seen," was the comment of Baron Von Hodenberg of Bremen, Germany, on the new World's Fair exhibit, at a private showing just before the Fair opened.

STUMPIN' THE STATE

WITH THE SPECTATOR

TOM F. HUNTER of Wichita Falls is the next gubernatorial candidate in the list of "majors" compiled by your correspondent in Tuesday's paper. Hunter entered the 1932 arena comparatively unknown—and with two well-known figures in the race—Ross Sterling, seeking a second term as Governor and "Ma" Ferguson. Both of these candidates were known in every nook and corner of the state.

At first Hunter's crowds were small, but as the campaign neared its close and the people began to study his platform more carefully, his audiences increased to amazing proportions. When the final count for the first primary was tallied, Tom Hunter had 220,000 votes to Ross Sterling's 296,000. And, according to your correspondent, that was a plenty good start toward the Governor's chair for an unknown candidate.

Hunter is basing his candidacy for the state's highest office on the keynote that "Texas not only needs a New Deal but a New Dealer."

The following are some excerpts from his platform: "To accomplish a recovery in Texas we must do two things. There must be a restoration of an easy available credit, and the retention for the people of Texas of the proceeds of the state's natural resources—A net earning tax must be placed upon the larger brackets of income, such as pipeline companies—A reasonable tax on sulphur and salt alone would retire the twenty million dollar relief bond issue."

An idea of Hunter's strength in Central Texas may be had from the "Next Governor's Poll" conducted by the Temple Telegram, in which Hunter ran first until the last two tallies in which he was nosed out by Jimmie Allred. Allred won by something over 200 votes. Many competent observers predict that these two candidates will sweep this section of the state. But we must go on with the next "major" on our list.

CHARLES C. McDONALD is a well known figure in Texas politics, past and present. This is his first campaign for an office of his own, but he has been a Ferguson lieutenant for years and has helped Jim and Ma in their frequent races for office.

McDonald was appointed Secretary of State under former Governor O. B. Colquitt and served during the years of 1911 and 1912. Under the appointment of Governor Jim Ferguson he was appointed Assistant Attorney General in 1915-16.

McDonald is basing his campaign on an old age pension, a reduction of taxes, and shorter hours of work. His campaign has received a tremendous impetus from the powerful support of the Ferguson Forum hammering in behalf of his campaign.

McDonald began his campaign with a larger bloc support than any other candidate, with Ferguson and his lieutenants with him. However he had expected to capture a big per cent of the wet support, but four major candidates are for repeal, and besides, efforts to paramount repeal have fizzled.

SOFTBALL SYMPTOMS

By TEDDY
The Baptists gave Ward's crew little trouble Monday night, meeting with a defeat of 9 to 3. Ward's bunch showed much improvement over their games of last week.

Arnold's gang crushed the Highway 15 to 5. The Road-gang has lost interest in the game, but have a fair team.

The Methodists are still in the winning streak, nosing out the State 18 to 3, with no trouble.

The Baptists downed the Bachelor bunch Tuesday night 18 to 3. These churchmen have plenty "pep" when they play one of the weaker teams of the league, but they lack "spunk" when they play one of the three leading teams.

—MY—DOPE—

Today—Ward's crew will defeat the State with ease.

The Fire Boys will end the Methodists winning streak, but may have trouble.

Monday—The Fire Boys will defeat the Baptists, but will have plenty trouble.

Ward's gang will defeat the Highway.

The first of the three game series of softball on donkeys will be played Saturday night. See this amusing event, and you will also help equip the local softball diamond with a few more lights.

DONKEY SOFTBALL RULES

Just in case you are not familiar with the rules of the game, here they are:

1. The bases shall be only 60 feet apart; there shall be a four-foot square about each base. The ball shall be a regulation indoor ball, thrown in an underhand manner. Indoor bats shall be used. The game shall be five innings in length. Balls will not be called on the batters, but three strikes shall constitute an out. This rule shall be subject to change at the discretion of the managers of the teams.

All Players Mounted

2. All players except the pitcher and catcher shall be mounted on donkeys. They also will ride when coming to the bat and in running the bases. A baseman must be mounted on his donkey when a putout is made, and the donkey must have his foot on the base. This is on a forced play. In other plays the baseman must touch the runner and not the donkey to make a putout. Stealing bases is allowed and is very successful, there being no bounds imposed upon the runner. He may ride all over the field in making a base. Runners may advance one base on any passed ball except to the pitcher.

3. While ball is in play the catcher and pitcher are not permitted out of a rectangle 10 feet in width, and should they do so it shall constitute a balk. Any ball that stops or is stopped on the lines marking this rectangle shall be declared a foul.

4. A player or runner may stand in the base dismounted from his donkey. He cannot leave for any reason without mounting his donkey, however. A runner is allowed to advance three feet from a base after he has made that base, but on any attempt to steal he must return to the base or make the base he has attempted to steal.

Throwing or Retrieving Ball

5. All players will be permitted one step off the donkey in making a catch or retrieving the ball. More than one step taken in doing this shall advance all runners one base. Outfielders may throw the ball while dismounted but all infielders must be mounted before throwing ball.

6. Donkeys shall be given a position and remain there throughout the game.

Any changes can be made in the rules at the discretion of the managers. No spurs or saddles of any sort shall be used.

MRS. LOU SUMMERS

Mrs. Lou Summers, age 66, died last Sunday at the home of her son, Walker Summers, here after an illness of several months.

Funeral services were held at the Bethel Church Monday with Rev. J. W. Dunn and Rev. G. W. Siler officiating. Burial was in the Bethel Cemetery.

Mrs. Summers was born at Statesville, North Carolina, but came to Texas 41 years ago and has since resided in Coryell and McLennan counties. For the last three years she had made her home with her son, Walker.

Murrell-Lane

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Young near Turnersville was the setting for a wedding of interest when Mrs. Young's sister, Miss Hope Murrell of Gatesville, became the bride of Mr. R. C. Lane of Tyler, Sunday, June 17, at twenty-three in the afternoon. Rev. M. M. Chunn, pastor of the Methodist Church of which the bride is a member, officiated in the ring ceremony.

The bride wore a coat dress of navy shear, effectively trimmed in white linen. Her hat, shoes and other navy and blue accessories completed the ensemble.

Mrs. Lane, who is the daughter of Mr. A. H. Murrell of Jonesboro, was born and reared in this county and for the past several years had made her home in Gatesville with her sister, Miss Ruth Murrell. She graduated from the Gatesville High School and has attended several higher institutions of the state: Sul Ross Teacher's College at Alpine, Southwest Texas Teacher's College at San Marcos, and North Texas Teacher's College at Denton, majoring in Home Economics. She has taught Home Economics in this county, but resigned her position for the coming year.

The groom, who is a native of Kentucky, is a geologist and for the past several years has been associated with the firm of Hudnall and Pirtle in Tyler, Texas. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and has done graduate work in the University of Chicago.

The couple left in their car for Kentucky where they will visit the groom's mother, but after June 26 they will be at home in Tyler.

He has been an independent oil operator and business man for the past 20 years, and by hard work and actual experience he is today acknowledged by the oil fraternity to be one of the best informed oil men in Texas.

Statement to Voters
From Ardell Williams
Candidate For Office

To the People of the 52nd Judicial District:

Fully realizing that there are some voters who I have not had the privilege and opportunity to meet during my campaign for the office of District Attorney of the 52nd Judicial District, composed of Coryell, Comanche and Hamilton counties, by the method I wish to present my candidacy and to ask for the vote and support of the people of this District.

For the information of those who do not know me, I might say, that I am 28 years old, was born and reared in Hamilton county, Texas, completed High School at Hamilton in 1924, did two years of college work in John Tarleton College, Stephenville, Texas and graduated from Cumberland Law School at Lebanon, Tenn. June 1929 and was admitted to the Bar of Texas during the same year. From the time of my admission to the Bar I have been actively engaged in the practice of law; was elected County Attorney of Hamilton county in 1930 without opposition; preferring to enter the private practice of law I declined to ask for re-election to the office of County Attorney. This being the second campaign I have ever made for any office.

During the closing weeks of the campaign I will endeavor and do all that is possible to see those who I have not already seen.

I have the kindest of feeling for my opponents and regard them as my friends. I have and shall continue to conduct my campaign upon a high plane, without slander, innuendo or insinuation against any one. I am not making this campaign upon personalities, but upon my own merits and qualifications and not upon the de-merits of anyone seeking this office.

If elected, I have no promises to make except, that I will perform all the duties which the law of this State requires of the District Attorney with all the energy and vigor at my command. I pledge to all that under my administration the criminal laws will be enforced with no fear of nor favor to any offender, and in this connection I will heartily cooperate with the sheriffs and all other law enforcing agencies, to the end, that the citizens of this district may be secure in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights of life, liberty and property.

I shall not ask for this office for more than two terms.

To those of my friends who have encouraged me to make the race and who have said a kind word in my behalf I am truly thankful and deeply appreciative of the confidence which they have sought to repose in me.

I am a member of no political organization, except the Democratic Party, therefore, I have no enemies to punish or no friends to reward but will be free to vigorously prosecute all offenders of the law regardless of their station in life whether it be high or low. I believe in a fair and impartial investigation of all offences before the Grand Jury and when a bill of indictment has been returned in speed trial and a fearless prosecution and not in persecution.

Thanking you for any or whatever consideration you deem proper to give me, I am,
Yours sincerely,
Ardell Williams.

CHURCHES

First Christian Church

Bible Study at 10 o'clock every Lord's Day morning. Come and worship with us.

Church of Christ

Our meeting closed last Sunday night, June 20th, and we are delighted with the results that came from the efforts which were put forth. Several persons obeyed the Gospel and the members in general were refreshed and revived by the truth which was preached by Bro. Dunn. Bro. Clarence Williams proved himself as a singer and a preacher during his stay with us. Those who came to know him liked him better as our association increased. He left on Saturday to be at Grapevine Sunday where he was to fill his appointment with the church there.

There are a number to whom we are thankful for favors shown to us during the meeting. We are very grateful to Dr. Hall for giving us the privilege to place the sign on the corner of his lot on Main St. advertizing the meeting. The J. R. Graham Lumber Co. furnished some lumber for which we thank them. The Christian Church was very kind to let us use their baptistry for baptizing purposes. We thank them very sincerely for this courtesy.

There was a fine spirit of cooperation manifested among the members in various connections. All of this just shows what we can do when we work together as the Lord teaches that we should do.

Next Lord's day Bro. Dunn will preach for us at the regular hours for Sunday. Come and hear him. After this month Bro. Dunn will leave us for other fields of labor entering into his protracted meeting season.

Come to our Bible study at the regular time Sunday morning 10 o'clock.

A cordial welcome awaits you.

Presbyterian Church

Congratulations to the Methodist. We extend our congratulations to Methodism and the Methodist Church for her 150 years of zealous Missionary effort in America, for her 100 years service in Texas, and for her 80 years Gospel preaching in Gatesville. May God richly bless you now and in the kingdom which is to come, for your zealous, earnest evangelistic preaching of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. The Presbyterian Church, having been in America 100 years longer than the Methodist, have been slower in pushing out into frontier countries. It has been the fine example of the Methodist Church that has set the pace of other Evangelical Churches in America. We thank God for the Methodist.

Off for Intermediate Camp

On next Monday, the pastor with eight boys and girls will leave for a five day camp near Belton. Last year ninety boys and girls registered. We hope to have as many again this year. The pastor will return in time for the services the following Sunday.

There will be the usual services on next Sunday, with the pastor speaking at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Those present on last Sunday enjoyed the special musical number rendered by our Young People's Choir under the direction of Mrs. Andrew Kendrick. We feel fortunate in having so much young talent in the church.

The public is most cordially invited to worship with us. You will receive a hearty welcome.

Jas. M. McLean, Pastor.

German Bethel Baptist Church

Often we do not realize that success is not necessarily doing some great thing, that it is not making a tremendous strain to do something great, but that it is just honestly, earnestly living the every-day, simple. We are told of young men, who wrote an older friend, that if they were sure they could be a Webster in law, an Edison in invention, a merchant prince like Wanamaker they would be willing to make any sacrifice, to undergo any hardship in order to achieve the particular end. It was Longfellow, who said: "The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well, and doing well whatever you do, without a thought of fame." Exercise the common every day virtues, be scrupulously honest, be true in every friendship, hold a helpful, accommodating attitude toward those about you. "This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein, for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." Joshua 1:8.

The services next Lords-Day will be as usual, the Lord willing: Sunday School 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m.

B. Y. P. U. service at 7:15 p. m. and following that will be a short preaching service, both in the English language. Rehearsal periods for both choirs will be announced Sunday. The pastor expects to see you at church in each of the services on Sunday. Invite your friends and bring them with you. Always welcome, friends. God bless you!

W. H. Buening, Pastor

The pastor is in Fort Worth in a revival meeting. In his absence the services will go right on.

Sunday evening at 8:15 four young people of the church will bring a discussion on "Looking to Jesus." Those who will speak on the program are Misses Emma Lera Gregory, Lois Welch, Irma Lee Rutherford, and Mr. Brooks Sasse.

There will be special music at both morning and evening services.

Method of Measurement In South Texas May Be Adopted by Entire State

College Station—The measurement of corn and cotton land on farms under contract with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is under way in Extension Service District No. 5 in South Texas where contract compliance must be checked earlier than in the rest of Texas. The measuring method used in that section may be adopted later for the entire State, depending on results obtained and on the final settlement of certain debated details, the Texas A and M College Extension Service reports.

A community committeeman is being employed for every 50 to 100 farms, and farmers are helping in the measurement. The acres in growing cotton are being measured, and rented acres also if there is any doubt. If more acres of cotton are growing than the contract allows the farmer must plow up the excess. In addition a check is made of the crops growing on the rented acres, and the uses for which they are planted. A count is also made of the number of tenants and day laborers this year and last year.

Flame of the Border

By VINGIE E. ROE

Copyright, Doubleday, Doran & Co., Inc. WNU Service

Of herself she thought last and least, of Starr Stone most.

If only they had met in those early days of which he spoke, before that one misstep had put him in El Diablo's power, made him an outlaw, a Border renegade. When the sweetness, the kindness in him had been paramount. Before sin and wrong had put the leopard spots upon him.

But the spots were changed at last when it was too late. To his face he had repudiated El Capitan, signed his own death warrant, for anyone leaving the dark service of this monstrous bandit put himself "on the spot" as truly as any in more modern places.

And he had done it deliberately, to prove to her that he was changed even to the death. The courage which had shone in his face at that repudiation had been magnificent. He knew, none better, the fate of El Diablo's double-crossers, and he double-crossed him high-handedly and with supreme finality.

"Oh, Starr!" wept Sonya with her forehead on her clasped hands. "Oh, my man of all men! My one and only love!"

In the warm dark silence the heart in her seemed to melt in anguish, the tides of life to run swiftly out.

For her it was the ebb of finite things, the last low hour before the end. In a dull coma of hopelessness, her face swollen with weeping, she sank lower and lower against the great bed, her lips apart, her black head disheveled.

And into this last deep abyss there dropped a tiny sound.

The outside bolt, huge and heavy, slipped slowly in its slot!

Instinctively the girl shrank back against the bed.

Manuel!

Manuel, her master!

She stifled a scream on her open mouth, her hand across it.

And then a voice, whispering into the darkness, a breath of a voice as lovely as music, said "Senorita!"

"Si," said Sonya, gasping, "I am here."

There was the murmur of a moving form, and Concha knelt carefully before her. Sonya reached out and touched her incredibly, but the girl drew sharply from the contact.

"Attend," she said, "if you are brave—are you so, senorita?"

"I am very brave," said Sonya simply.

"Then listen. You I hate from my soul's bottom—I could strike you now with my two hands—but there is—another, whom I love. Oh, Mary Mother! Love!" she said as if to her inward self. She stopped a moment then went on.

"If you can follow me without a sound there is—a hope. Can you walk so?"

"Without a sound," said Sonya, and bent forward to unlace her boots. Swiftly she took them off.

The Mexican girl reached out and took her by the sleeve. That hatred in her would not let her touch her flesh. Softly, step by step, the two young things crossed the silent room, listened at the partly opened door, and slid through it. In the long dark passage they listened again, then went south along the wall toward a door which also stood ajar.

Through this—and the night sky was above them, the tall cottonwoods against the stars. Like wraiths of the gloom they entered the grove, passed through it, came out on the open landing field.

Before the little hangar Sonya saw in the starlight the ghostly shape of a little gray ship. They made toward it swiftly, and as they reached its protecting wing a man stepped out from the hangar behind; a tall man, naked to the waist, his head bare, his feet also, a man who was prepared for "spreading up" on the morrow. Starr Stone drew them both against the gray ship's side.

"Sonya!" he whispered, "Oh, Sonya!"

Through This—and the Night Sky Was Above Them.

ya!" Then, "Listen. We have one chance in a million. This plane is still warm from a trip Manuel took this afternoon. I heard it come in about dark."

"Yes," said Sonya, "so did I."

"It is fueled. They are always so. Thank God—and Concha—we are here. I have just disabled the other one, I think, though not as permanently as I could wish. We've got to take that one chance, Sonya. It's our only one. Get in quick."

With his hands under her elbows Sonya went up along the side, dropped into the little seat, felt swiftly for the safety belt.

"Safe?" the man whispered tensely.

"Safe," she answered pulling the buckle tight.

Then she saw Starr Stone turn to Concha and take her in his arms.

"Concha," he said softly but loud enough for Sonya to hear the whispered words, "I leave thee. It is fate. But never will I forget thee, nor this thing which you have done. Always while I live I will remember. Adios, little one."

And, bending his tall head, he kissed her on the lips.

"Ready," he said, and, pushing the girl beyond the plane's wing tip, he caught the propeller's blade.

Up and down he swung it—one, two, three, then a fourth vehement time, and came lithely up and over into the pilot's seat as the roar of the catching engine thundered into the night.

And Sonya Savarin, looking down with wide drawn eyes, had seen, just as they surged for the start, a long red spurt of flame where Concha stood in the shadows, heard, above the roar of the motor, the faint, sharp crack of a shot.

"Oh, God!" she cried, a sob in her throat. "Oh, God! Conchita!"

Conchita, who, saving her lover yet could not save him apart from his, had made the last great sacrifice for love itself.

The pouring crowd that flowed along the field, lighted now, could wreak no vengeance on her, for Concha, too, was gone among the stars.

CHAPTER XIV

On Lone Mesa's Top.

SONYA clung to the cockpit's edge with clutching fingers, her eyes, burned dry of sudden tears, fixed on the future, if future there was to be. The aching sorrow for the lovely Mexican girl who had loved Starr Stone sank deep in her heart, never to be quite eradicated.

The memory of all sane and ordered things was dim and far away—the ranch house that was home, the faces of Serge and Lila and the child.

And Rodney Blake! With a shock she remembered him.

He was a stranger to her. She could not recall his face with any clearness. There was only one face clear to her. The face of this man so miraculously snatched from death to life, this man who drove an airship through the midnight sky toward life and love and liberty.

Presently, watching tensely, she saw the great pale ribbon of the Rio Grande.

The Border!

The international line!

She held her breath as they passed above it, and let it out in a great sigh.

A little longer, and they would be safe.

Safe—and home.

Home!

What would it mean to her and to Starr Stone?

The stern face of her brother—Rod Blake who had so grimly promised that no people, no country, no man should ever take her from him—and Marston of New York, the man who came to find who sent the contraband from Mazatlan to the coast!

They had not cheated destiny after all. They were headed straight for this, and Starr Stone knew it! For that he would not leave her to save himself she knew full well, Confronted with this new knowledge of disaster Sonya wet her dry lips, cast desperately about for something she might tell these three grim men, and found nothing.

And then, leaning her face across the cockpit's polished edge, she became conscious of something; felt something of a seventh sense. Exactly as a dog senses danger which he cannot see, so this girl of the wild land sensed new danger now. It was as if the hackles of her spirit rose.

What could it be?
