Camels do not obtain their full growth until sixteen years old.

White horses are used by circus bareback riders, not because of their beauty, but because they do not show the resin which is sprinkled plentifully over their backs.

Some African savages still believe that white men are the ghosts of black men, that all deaths from diseases are caused by evil spirits, and that apes are a race of human beings.

Begins Fifth Year as Local Baptist Pastor

REV. C. A. MORTON

Last Sunday morning, October 14, marked the beginning of Rev. C. A. Morton's pastorate of the First Baptist Church of this city for the fifth year.

Dan E. Graves, at the request of the Board of Deacons, spoke words of appreciation of the pastor and his family. Following his remarks, the church, filled to capacity, arose in a vote of appreciation.

Among the facts presented by Mr. Graves were: that the pastor had averaged speaking four times a week during his four years in Gatesville, performed something like 100 weddings, conducted over 150 funerals, raised some $30,000.00, and during these four years received some 500 members into the church, half of which came by baptism, and that the entire church is in happy fellowship and prosperous condition.

The Pastor responded with words of appreciation. Another large crowd filled the church Sunday night, at which service members were received.

This election will climax the program of homecoming week in honor of the annual football game between Baylor and A. and M. on Carroll Field, Saturday, October 27.

Miss Cross will be formally presented to the students in chapel on Thursday morning of next week when the junior class will have charge of the chapel exercises.

Teachers Meeting at G'ville Draws Large Number Over County

PLAN PROGRAM FOR YEAR

Some two hundred school teachers of Coryell County, nearly one-hundred per cent, were present at a meeting at the Gatesville High School Auditorium last Saturday morning from ten until twelve. The meeting was called by R. W. Stephens, county superintendent.

The assembly voted to organize plans for the County school program this year.

Speakers on the program included, besides the county superintendent, J. M. Witcher, Superintendent-elect, and Erceel Brooks, representative of the state department of education.

Frank L. Williams, superintendent of the Gatesville schools, made a short talk in which he directed his remarks to teachers in the rural schools emphasizing the subjects that should be taught in order to prepare students for further pursuit of their high school education.

Hon. Frank West, former state representative, discussed the terms of the proposed amendment which is so vital to school patrons at this time.

FIREMEN MAKE CITY TOUR OF INSPECTION

In the interest of Fire Prevention locally two members of the Gatesville Volunteer Fire Department made the rounds Wednesday calling on business houses, making what they called an inspection tour.

After inspecting the premises of each place of business called upon the occupant was given an inspection report, giving the date of the inspection together with a list of possible existing hazards. The list was checked to show in what way the occupant of the store or office might improve conditions, making them less conducive to fire.

Plans Near Completion For Rodeo & Barbecue At Jonesboro Saturday

FREE BARBECUE TO PATRONS

Enthusiasm at Jonesboro is running very high as the boys prepare for a day of entertainment in the form of a rodeo and barbecue, which will be held at the old bridge Saturday, October 20.

The pits and tables are being prepared to take care of the meat and a cook of no little ability has been obtained to prepare the barbecue. All patrons paying admission to the show will be served a free meal.

Six live Brahmas from the famous Uierce Ranch near El Campo and four from the Robinson Ranch at Huntsville will furnish the wild element for the steer riding.

The stock is being pinned and riders are getting in practice each afternoon.

There will be plenty of bucking horses and mules in the show. The noted "bad" horse from Cranfil Gap, that has never been ridden will be on the program, besides many other rodeo attractions.

NAMED PRESIDENT OF CHURCH UNION

The East Gatesville Union met in Oglesby last Friday evening, October 12.

An interesting program was rendered by the young people of the Oglesby Methodist church followed by a brief business meeting at which Miss Pauline Haney of this city was elected president of the union. A short recreation hour was conducted by Rev. C. D. Wooten of Eddy.

A number of young people represented each district including a group of fourteen from Gatesville.

It was reported that the Union will meet at Eddy November 2.

The pamiir Plateau is known as the Roof of the World.

West Is This Week's Hornet Foe in Contest to Be Staged There Today

Despite their decided loss to Clifton here last Friday, the Gatesville Hornets spent their time this week working hard in preparation for their second conference game with the West football team to be played at West this afternoon (Friday).

West's record this year to date reveals very little to boast of and the local eleven will stand an even chance with the McLennan county team, not withstanding the fact that the game will be played at West.

Coach Ewing and assistant coach Baldrige spent most of the time this week training their pupils on offensive tactics. Joe Powell, who still continues to nurse a wrenched hip, will probably be out of the game today. In that case the job of punting and passing will be a weakness with the localites. Other members of the Hornet squad are reported to be in good condition and will be ready to go.

Four guards, Weaver, Chapman, Myers and Lowrey will likely see equal service with Bauman, McDowell, Sims and Morgan doing similar duty in tackle assignments. Culberson is slated for a full afternoon performance at the pivot position. In the backfield Hair, Dickie, Chamlee and Scott will likely start with Rutherford, Bone, and Bradford ready to see relief duty.

'round the square

By
The Snooper

Mrs. Arch Boyd thought she would be the first to tell me about her new neighbor, Frank Williams, Jr., but I could tell it from the look on big Frank's face the minute I saw him—clear across the square early Thursday morning. Isn't it funny how you will find certain things running in groups. For instance, last Wednesday morning I spied David Franks and Sherrill Kendrick, representatives of two banks, walking toward the drug store for a "coke" possibly. Over my left shoulder I see Minnie Lou Witt, with a hand full of checks and money heading for the First Nat'l. Hearing a familiar voice I see Dan Graves passing the day with someone, en route to the Gv. Nat'l. So it looked like for a few seconds that all the bankers in town were trying to cross the street at the same time. You and I have heard various stories about faithful dogs and devoted masters. Uncle Reb Dickie and his dog are typical examples of mutual affection.

I will think—talk—write . . . Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be. . . . .

The public schools of Texas will be subjected to possible jeopardy when an amendment concerning state taxes appears upon the November 6 general election ballot. This amendment provides that the amount of revenue collected by the state during each two-year period by means of taxes, licenses, permits and fees shall not exceed $22.50 per capita of the population of the State, and that the expenditures of the State Government of funds derived from these sources during any two-year period shall not exceed $22.50 per capita. With the amendment now facing acceptance or rejection by the voters of Texas school authorities are coming to the front in defense of the education for Texas' youth. Leaders claim that the passage of this amendment will jeopardize the entire school system of this state by causing the present per capita appointment of $16.00 to be reduced to approximately $9.00. Should the amendment pass, the citizens of Coryell county will have their choice of either seeing the standard of local schools decline or be forced to raise county and city taxes. Let us not be misled in thinking that the amendment should be passed in order to reduce taxes—the education of our children is far more important than that.

Various women's clubs of Waco have united their efforts in an attempt to beautify central Texas highways prior to the Texas Centennial. The general plan is to adopt certain types of shrubs, which the highway department has graciously consented to plant, and have each county accept the responsibility, through a local committee, of seeing that the shrubs are obtained for this purpose. Another feature is to promote interest in flowers among the towns of this section of the state with the hopes that each town will adopt one particular flower and urge its citizenship to plant as many as possible of this type in yards, gardens and along city walks. It is likely that very soon we shall hear more from this program through some of our local clubs, which will deserve the cooperation of every individual interested in civic beautification.

* * * *

Press reports state that proponents of the House Bill seeking nearly $9,000,000 for financing the Texas Centennial would obtain this sum from taxes on such luxuries as theaters and cosmetics together with a tax on pipe lines. And as for cosmetics it was our impression that Texas should look her best for the birthday party. We are afraid that with too heavy a tax on "camouflages" some of our women might boycott cosmetics and in that case it is likely that they won't look their best.

* * * *

President Roosevelt came to the defense of the man on the relief roll by stating that anyone willing to work and out of work should not be classified as a pauper and should not, then, be denied the privileges of voting. Such a statement from the President was made when he was told that in twelve states persons on relief rolls were being denied the right to vote.

World Comment

By JOE BURNS

The last of France's four great war chiefs is gone. Raymond Poincare, president of the trying days of the World War, passed away quietly in his Paris home early Monday.

Poincare has been an important figure in French politics for more than forty years, giving up his post as premier in 1929 because of ill health. He had the distinction of serving a term as president of his country, being premier three terms, which is an even more important position in France than the presidency, elected to the Chamber of Deputies, corresponding to our national House, when only 27, and also holding important positions in cabinets of other premiers.

In his varied career he witnessed the fall of Napoleon III and the subsequent humiliation of his country at the hands of Germany, instilling in him an irrepressible hatred of everything German which lasted throughout his life, and then was at the helm during the World War when Germany again was threatening to overrun France. He guided it safely through this period and saw it emerge from the great conflict as the leading continental nation.

France has lost in the past two weeks two leaders who cannot be replaced. Louis Barthou, struck by an assassin's bullets, intended for another, passed away when on the verge of making his country two new friends among the important nations of Europe. And Poincare answered the call of his Master peaceably.

Foch, Foffrey and Clemenceau, the other great personages of the war for France, are gone and now there remains only Millerand, former premier and president, Doumergue, president premier, and Caillaux, former cabinet officer, out of that famous school of noted French statesmen.

The Japanese, with the cheapest labor in the world and the most modern machinery, are fast depriving Great Britain and the United States of their markets, especially of textile goods. The British are feeling the inroads of the Orientals in their colonies and the United States in Latin America. According to Henry Lauten of the Textile Export Association, the Japanese competition is becoming more intense daily. Japanese trade expositions are touring the world, obtaining new markets and negotiating new pacts and reciprocity agreements.

Britain is taking drastic measures to protect her merchants. The dominions are being persuaded to levy high duties against Japanese rayon, glass, electrical supplies, and other articles which the Nippons are experts at making and selling cheap.

The United States has done nothing other than mass the entire fleet in the Pacific to spend the winter. This has only incensed some factions in Japan and spurred the Jap merchants on to greater efforts.

The loss of trade by American manufacturers is of vital importance to all citizens, without a doubt. Our trade must be expanded if we expect our factories, shipping lines, export houses and other concerns to take on some of the unemployed. With a revival of trade, business and construction will return to normal. Our government is watching trade statistics closely and we can look to it for some measures which will protect our manufacturers and us in the long run. It is amazing, however, how the general run of world events can affect the little man back home in the country village.

'THE MAN WITH TWO FACES' A BAFFLING DRAMA OF MYSTERY

One of the strangest and most baffling murder mystery dramas is scheduled to be shown at the Regal Theater beginning Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock, under the title of "The Man With Two Faces."

The picture is based on the tremendous stage success by George S. Kaufman and Alexander Woolcott, two of Broadway's most famous playwrights.

Edward G. Robinson has the role of a noted Broadway actor and director, while Mary Astor plays the part of his sister, one of the most beautiful and talented actresses of her time. Ricardo Cortez, usually the villain of the piece, has the heroic role in this picture, being the theatrical producer who is in love with his star performer, Miss Astor.

She, however, is married to a worthless scamp, a part enacted by Louis Calhern, who has not only caused her physical and mental breakdown before, but is again holding her under a hypnotic spell, and swaying her to his will in order to reap the benefits of her current success.

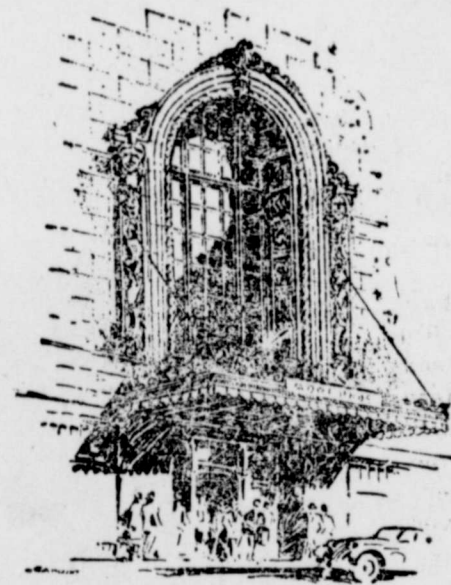

Then the husband is found murdered in a fashionable hotel suite occupied by a mysterious Mr. Chautard, presumably a foreign theatrical producer, but who has vanished as into thin air without leaving a trace.

Several persons are suspected of the crime. The police are completely baffled until a strange coincidence reveals the slayer to a single officer, who forgets it.

CONCRETE HIGHWAYS PAY FOR THEMSELVES

Three reasons why concrete is the most economical pavement:

1. Long life and low upkeep—funds which would otherwise be spent for repairs may be used to complete our highway system.
2. Scientific investigation has proved that it costs motorists up to 2 cents per mile less to drive on concrete than on inferior surfaces. The saving is in gas, oil, tires and car repairs.

3. Concrete builds business, promotes travel. A town on concrete is moved closer to all markets.

And in addition to these money-reasons concrete pavements give motorists relaxation . . . comfort . . . and SAFETY!

Pave Texas highways with concrete . . . attract more Texas Centennial visitors . . . advertise Texas to American motorists.

This boy is going to be Near-sighted

THE above picture illustrates one of the very common causes of nearsightedness... one of the reasons why twenty children in every one hundred have defective vision today. What is happening in this picture may be happening in your own home... damaging the eyes of your children. The boy is reading in poor light... and in order to see the printed words without effort, he has brought his eyes much too close to the book. Constant reading in this position will eventually cause nearsightedness.

If your boy holds a book less than 14 inches from his eyes, he needs more light, or glasses, or perhaps both. Remedy the lighting in your home by providing each member of the family with his own reading lamp... equipped with at least one 100-watt lamp, two 60's or three 40's, according to the number of sockets. Then see that these lamps are properly shaded to eliminate glare or shadows. We will gladly help you correct the lighting in your home. Phone today for an appointment.

FOOTBALL CHATTER

By TEDDY

Coaches Ewing and Baldrige will accompany their young Hornet squad to West this afternoon to meet the West High aggregation. The West club will prove to be plenty tough for the locals playing on their gridiron. West at present is two touchdowns better than Gatesville, but if the locals are primmed for the game, as they were when they defeated Moody, West will have trouble holding them to one touchdown.

Local Basketball goers will have a mass meeting Monday afternoon at five thirty in the district court room. I am in favor of making this a county league instead of a city league. It will be of more interest, and will mean much more to the local high school in the future.

Most of the sport-editors in the southwest visited the different camps of the Southwestern Conference teams and then made their selection. In most every instance Texas University was selected to end up in the cellar or near the bottom. It is interesting to note that Texas hasn't lost a game, and if they can defeat the Rice Owls one week from tomorrow they will have a good chance of winning the Southwestern Conference without a black mark against their history of the year.

Gatesville Junior Team Defeated 13 to 0

The Gatesville Junior football team met a thirteen to nothing defeat at the hands of a strong Killeen team at Killeen last Saturday. Killeen's touchdowns came in the first and last quarters. They had Gatesville on the defensive most of the time.

Glenn White was the standout in the line for the Gatesville team with Gayle Thompson playing a good game in the backfield. The two teams will meet again here next Thursday.
