

Gatesville Wins From Turnersville To Cop Honors in Basketball Tourney

The local high school Hornets, who have won seventeen games out of eighteen starts, defeated the strong Turnersville quintet to cop honors in their Invitation Basketball Tournament held here Saturday night, winning the final by a score of 29 to 23. The Turnersville lads led most of the way, at times leading by four or five points, when local fans would come out of their seats biting their fingers many times endeavoring to put forth every effort to cop honors.

Between 475 and 500 fans attended the games Saturday night, the largest paid number ever to witness games in the local gym. Local fans at the drug stores went wild as telephone calls came from the gym that Turnersville was leading and the next few minutes a report would disclose that Gatesville was in the lead. Some seem to think that the locals did not hit their stride until the third quarter, others were of the opinion that if Turnersville could have continued their stride they would have won the Tourney. That is something merely to think about, but shows how evenly matched the teams were.

The Gatesville quintet was presented with a beautiful trophy, while Turnersville won a silver loving cup as runner-up in the finals. Crawford, who was winner of the first consolation, was also presented with a cup as well as Moline, who was runner-up in that division.

With Rosebud, Turnersville and Gatesville in the finals and Turnersville drawing a bye, Gatesville defeated Rosebud Saturday afternoon 38-22. McGregor, Moline and Crawford were pitted against each other in the first consolation. Crawford drew a bye and Moline defeated McGregor Saturday afternoon 27-26. Crawford defeated Moline that night 23 to 20.

Mrs. Ethel Johnson Indicted on Two Counts; Makes $30,000 Bond

Mrs. Ethel Johnson, 46, of Dallas was indicted here late Saturday by the grand jury for the slaying of her son, Joe Blankenship, 20, and his 19-year-old bride, near Copperas Cove August 19, 1934.

More than 100 witnesses were called before the grand jury in the investigation of the double slaying, once called a murder and suicide by an official coroner's verdict.

Late Saturday afternoon the indictment had been returned, Sheriff White notified Dallas officers to arrest Mrs. Johnson, wife of a federal radio commission inspector, and hold her for local officers. Local officials as well as Dallas officers set forth to take Mrs. Johnson into custody from Saturday at noon until Monday morning, at which time she appeared in Gatesville and surrendered to Sheriff Joe White.

Mrs. Johnson, charged several weeks ago in a complaint filed by the dead girl's father, W. E. Davenport, prominent San Angelo attorney, was arrested in Dallas and brought to Gatesville and placed in the county jail. On Thursday, January 10, Mrs. Johnson was released on $10,000 bonds in each of two counts.

On August 19, 1934, Joe Dean Blankenship and his bride of less than a year were found lying side by side, on the farm of Mrs. Johnson's father, George Middick, near Copperas Cove. A pistol lay nearby.

On yesterday afternoon, after Mrs. Johnson had turned herself over to local officers, she was released on $30,000 bond, $15,000 in each case. The definite date set for trial had not been announced at press time on this issue of the News.

Under the plan Coryell County is divided into seven communities with three committeemen to be elected from each of these combined communities.

The cotton program is a farmers' program and should be run by the farmers. They are given the privilege of electing their community committeemen according to their own desires and opinions. It behooves them to elect competent and efficient men to these responsible positions.

The date and time of the election has been set for today at 10 o'clock in the several voting places designated in the county, a list of which was published in the News last week.

Farmers are urged to let no other business prevent them from voting today on this important matter.

THE WORK PROGRAM

Bare outlines only are available of the organization with which the President proposes to handle the expenditure of the $4,800,000,000 (billions) relief fund which now awaits Senate approval after passage by the House of Representatives. Division of responsibility between a project planning section which will be headed by Rear Admiral Christian J Peoples, the navy's talented organizer of supply, an allotment section and on inspection section assures co-ordination within the mechanics of spending. The difficulty will come in extending this co-operative scheme to the Government departments which must be affected by any plan of public works, especially as Washington reports that the PWA is to be transferred as quickly as possible to the new organization.

In theory the President will constitute the liaison agency. He is to retain final say on all projects. To a large extent the Roosevelt genius for keeping his assistants on good terms and his grasp of principal questions will require his actual participation. But this organization will be a large one when all is said and done and the co-ordinating staff can not be the least important.

There is sound judgment in setting up a separate structure to handle the tremendous expenditure instead of calling in the ordinary departments of government. Every one regards the plan as temporary. It must be brought to an end as soon as necessity permits. It is outside the routine which involves the administrative departments. To handle it, these would have to add temporary personnel. With an independent organization, the help can be hired and retained only as long as necessary without affecting civil service relationships.

For the moment, Admiral Peoples is persona grata with Congress which is decidedly hostile to Ickes and perhaps to Hopkins. The Admiral will find that congressional affection wanes rapidly for people who hold big spending jobs. Fortunately he is a sailor with the necessary experience in damning the torpedoes and going ahead.—Dallas News.

STEP BACKWARD

Relief workers are not sanguine that President Roosevelt's efforts to throw a large part of relief back on states, cities, counties and townships will work.

The prediction is made that, in spite of the president's wishes, relief work will become an increasing problem of the federal government. The thought is that the government may, indeed, have to place a graduated income tax against all who earn to supersede all local grants and charities.

Furthermore, as public works increase, they will encroach so extensively on work of private capital that a progressive form of socialism will develop.—Temple Daily Telegram.

World Comment

By JOE BURNS

It seems as if the Japanese thirst for conquest was not satisfied in 1931-32 when Manchuria fell under the sword of Nippon. Now the Chinese province of Chahar is the object of Japan's peace loving hords—and, as usual, the Chinese are helpless to prevent the hosts of His Imperial Majesty, the Son of Heaven and Divine Ruler of Japan, Emperor Hirohito, from sweeping south of the Great Wall and taking what they please. The Chapei, Shanghai, and Manchurian incidents did not seem to awaken the Chinese people as a whole to the inefficiency and incompetency of their government manifested thruout the brief but bloody warfare of this period.

THE HOUSE Thursday voted 328-78 for the four billion dollar jobs-for-all bill, which authorizes President Roosevelt to spend this huge sum as he sees fit to provide jobs for nearly four million unemployed. The bill also authorizes the expenditure of $880,000,000 for direct relief purposes until the new work program is in full operation. The large Democratic or perhaps I should say New Deal majority swamped all opposition to the measure and it now lies before the senate for final confirmation.

The rapprochement between Italy and France, effected by the conversations between French Foreign Minister Laval and Premier Mussolini, is now to assume more important ramifications. France is now pledged to lend Italy a substantial sum to prevent the collapse of the gold bloc, which comprises France, Belgium, Netherlands, Italy, and a few other nations. This is important in the relationship of the two countries and, while aiding Italy in its present financial crisis, will bring about mutual good-will between the two peoples.

Opposition to Senator MORMIS SHEPPARD seems to be crystallizing over the state. Most "plots" against the venerable senator will probably be hatched in Washington during the next two years but of course they will have to be brought to Texas to be carried out. The opposition is naturally intra-party. Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana, leader of the cash bonus group and very popular with veterans over the state and nation, is being urged by friends to oppose the senator in 1936. Rep. Sam Rayburn has also been suggested as a possible candidate. It has even been rumored that former governor James E. Ferguson will attempt a political comeback and try to unseat the veteran Sheppard.

Texas will need a hot senatorial race in 1936 to take the place of the interval during which Jimmie Allred will seek (and most likely serve) his second term. There will probably be little opposition to Allred. That is, unless the candidacy of Cyclone Davis assumes formidable dimensions by that date.

AUTO SHOW FACTS

Dallas, Jan. 28.—Projected on a scale designed to bring visitors to Dallas from a 150-mile radius, the Southwest Spring Auto show of the Dallas Automotive Trades Association will be held Saturday to Tuesday, February 9-12.

Twenty-five separate and distinct makes of automobiles in a wide variety of body styles will be displayed in a decorative setting in the automobile and manufacturers building at State Fair grounds. There will be music, entertainment, and many allied attractions. Opportunity will be afforded the thousands expected for the show to compare the various makes and judge their respective advantages.

"The spring show," said X. R. Gill, president of the association, "is designed to afford the rare opportunity to see a practically inclusive cross-section of the auto industry at a time when all the new models have made their appearance. On one floor will be displayed nearly 300 automobiles of various body styles. It will be a show such as is rarely seen in many of the largest towns of the country."

H. D. Bradshaw is chairman of the show committee with Jack Estes, N. J. DeSanders, C. S. Hamilton and W. E. Cabeen as members with J. H. Connell, executive secretary, as manager of the show.

TONKAWA INDIANS

By FRANK SIMMONS

In Coryell county along the Cowhouse River and the Leon River, and their tributaries, the Tonkawa Indians had their home at the time of the coming of the white settlers. Their territory also included the Bosque watershed and extended down to the Waco territory at the mouth of the Bosques. Within this territory in the Bosque watershed are three places that derived their names from the Tonkawa Indians. Tonkawa Spring, on the Witte farm a few miles above Crawford in McLennan county. Tonkawa Creek of which the spring is the source flows near the town of Crawford and enters Middle Bosque below that town and Tonkawa Park, a state park established on Tonkawa Creek near Crawford. This park was laid out and developed in 1933 and is a place of great scenic beauty.

Old chroniclers tell that this nation of people were peacable intelligent and easily controlled and that their mortal fear of the Kiowa and Comanche, at whose hands they had suffered a great deal, made them willing allies to the whites with whom they consorted for protection against their old enemies. This nation numbered between four and five hundred warriors. It was the Tonkawas boast that a white scalp was never lifted by number of their tribe. The people were hunters and agriculturists. They grow corn, beans, pumpkins and grew corn, beans, pumpkins and wild fruits and nuts.

The old Tonkawa Trail ran a northeast-southwest direction crossing from the Bosque territory to the southwest. This trail crosses what is now Highway 7 near the Cox Spring a few miles east of Gatesville. Along this trail are some carvings locally known as the "bowl and spoon carvings." This was probably the national highway used by wandering members of other nations in crossing this territory on hunting expeditions.

When Fort Gates was established in 1849 the Indians made the settlement their main rendezvous. In 1853 the country was becoming well settled by white and the entire Tonkawa Nation was moved to the reservation around Fort Graham. Many Tonkawa, however, wandered back at times, among the settlements where they could always be seen for they are reputed to have been peacable. In 1870-71 when Gen. McKensie was ordered to force the Comanche onto the plains, he enlisted the Tonkawa warriors as scouts and history is replete with records of their bravery and how they hung relentlessly upon the heels of the Comanche as the latter retreated back into the high plains country. There is at present a small remnant of this once honored race of Indians, hemmed up on a reservation in Oklahoma.

There are numerous archaeological remains distributed throughout this territory. Every creek bank and cave and many mountain sides have a history record written in the stone handicraft, and flint quarries where they quarried the coveted flint that they depended upon for a livelihood as we depend upon iron.

The artifacts of this territory have been collected by Dr. Clyde Bailey of Gatesville, Elbert Thomason of McGregor, Jacob Olson and G. W. Anderson of Clifton and the writer, all of whom have elaborate collections of stoneage art left by the Indians. Other collectors also have gathered material from this territory.

Indian Raids in Coryell

In 1857 the Indians made a raid on Owl Creek and committed several murders. I find in an old pioneer record that in 1857 two men named Brown and Pierce, together with a little boy named Dave Elam, were hauling rails when they were attacked by Indians. The two men were killed and scalped. The boy was severely flogged but escaped. (Dave Elam, name error, a kin of Mrs. Elms.)

Mrs. Irene Elms, at the age of 81 years had lived in the Sugar Loaf settlement when an Indian raid was made there. In this raid the Riggs family was murdered, according to Mrs. Elms. Together with their children they had been hauling wood and were unarmed. Mr. and Mrs. Riggs were murdered and their home set on fire. The two girls, 9 and 11 years old, were made captives by the Indians, however, they were soon released, abandoned and found their way to an abandoned house where they spent the night. The next morning a neighbor found the two children and carried them to safety.

In 1860 Elder J. C. White of Coryell county and Elder Griffith of Hamilton county were attacked by Indians near Rainy Creek Church, which had been established in 1857, by Elders Samuel Wheat and Jesse Graham of the Primitive Baptist faith. They escaped to the brush but Griffith was so badly wounded that he afterward died.

In 1863 a Mr. Williamson and a Mr. Henderickson were going to their home on the Cowhouse River when they were attacked by Comanches. An Indian horseman ran a spear thru Mr. Williamson, killing him instantly. He was scalped and his body left by the Indians. The body was recovered by the settlers. Mr. Henderickson escaped.

In 1864 Capt. Gideon Graham's little boy was captured by Indians near Sugar Loaf mountain. To prevent him from being recaptured by Capt. Burleson, the Indians pierced his body with a lance. Capt. Burleson returned the boy's dead body to Mr. Graham.

In the years 1866 and 1871 raiding Indians came into the Jonesboro settlements stealing horses and making their escape.

Many parties of rangers from Coryell county pursued raiding Comanches into the vast prairies of the West.

It is said that many Indians visited the settlers on friendly missions. Mr. Pidcoke, for whom the town Pidcoke is named, lived among the Indians for many months. He gained their undying friendship. The Chiefs Yellow Wolf, War Loop and Buffalo Hump were his steadfast friends and often visited his home where the village of Pidcoke is now located.

I have not visited all of these historic spots but there are people in the county who can identify them sufficiently well, that markers may be placed at each, to preserve this history for posterity.

These remarks have been drawn largely from printed records and from pioneers who remember them from early days. Especially the accounts of Indian raids. — McGregor Mirror.

TECH STUDENTS TRY HAUPTMAN

Lubbock, Jan. 24.—"We find Richard Bruno Hauptman guilty." This verdict has been rendered by 75 per cent of the students and faculty members of Texas Technological College. The Press Club, journalistic organization, sponsored an all-day straw vote of Techsters by ballot, and conducted the voting in each of the divisions of the college.

The ballots included, "On the evidence thus far presented in the Lindbergh case, I believe that Hauptman will be acquitted—or that he will be convicted."

Forrest Weimhold, president of the Press Club said, "We are making this survey to get the reactions of present day newspaper readers to this case, who have obtained practically all of their information concerning it from newspapers. We believe that in this way we may be able to tell whether or not newspapers are ethical, fair and impartial, in handling the news of the Hauptman trial. In the event that the jury's verdict is "guilty," our belief will be that the papers have been impartial, and of course, ethical. The whole thing on our part is merely an experiment.

U. S. CIVIL SERVICE COM. WARNS MISLEADING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The United States Civil Service Commission says that numerous letters received at its office from different parts of the country indicate that misleading information is being given to the public by agents of some of the correspondence schools which give instruction in preparation for civil-service examinations.

To guard against the loss of money paid for tuition of this kind the Civil Service Commission informs the public as follows:

No one can promise appointments to positions for which the United States Civil Service Commission holds examinations. The claim that such assurance can be given brands the person making it as a fraud.

Information regarding examinations for the United States Civil Service may be obtained from the boards of the United States Civil Service Examiners.

There is such a board in each community which has a post office of the first or the second class. In nearly all cities the Civil service is located at the post office.

Before paying for tuition, or signing a contract, it is advisable to make inquiry concerning the prospect of examinations. There is reason to believe that agents of some schools deceive the public as to the probability of early examinations.

No school has advance information regarding the need for employees or the probability of examinations.

GOLDTHWAITE BEAUTIFIES FOR CELEBRATION

Goldthwaite, Jan 28.—The Mills County Advisory Board, realizing that those who in reality would like to see their community and section of the State properly presented to the multitude of visitors coming to Texas in 1936 for the State-wide celebration of the Centennial must to a large extent develop their own plans and outline their own work, is determined to be in the forefront of the endeavor.

Several of the ladies' clubs of this city have in mind or already have inaugurated programs for beautifying the city streets and the highways in this section by planting flowers and shrubbery along the borders. They also have begun a campaign among householders and other property owners to put all premises in a high state of repair and improvement and maintain same in that condition.

President's Mother 'Joins Up'

While little Sally Cotillo, aged 6, does the sales work, Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, contributes the first quarter for a birthday greeting to her famous son.

The greeting, the world's largest anniversary message, will bear the names of those who, unable to attend the 1935 Birthday Ball for the President on Jan. 30th, nevertheless want to join in the nation-wide celebration and at the same time contribute to a national fund for war on infantile paralysis.

Through an arrangement made with Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, the birthday greeting will be delivered with all names to the President. Postal offices throughout the nation will accept names at twenty-five cents each. All money raised will go to the infantile paralysis fund, 70 cents of every dollar being used for local rehabilitation of paralysis victims in the community in which the contributions are made, and the remaining 30 per cent for the President's Birthday Ball Commission for Infantile Paralysis Research, of which Col. Henry L. Doherty is chairman.

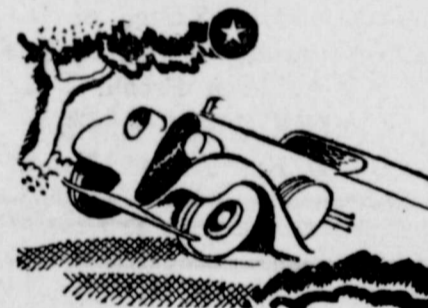

Both Sally and Mrs. Roosevelt are active workers in the campaign. Besides making the first birthday greeting sale to the President's mother, Sally is the little girl who posed for Howard Chandler Christy's 1935 Birthday Ball poster. She is the daughter of Supreme Court Judge Salvatore Cotillo of New York City.

Mrs. Roosevelt is not only the first to contribute to the birthday greeting, but is also honorary chairman of the Birthday Ball for the President at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, at which she will have the box of honor.

ble and fall and none shall raise him up; and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him."

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson left the following verse from Jeremiah for her successor, James V. Alfred: "And the proud shall stumble and fall and none shall raise him up; and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him."

The coach to succeed Ray Morrison as coach of S. M. U. Mustangs for 1935 is to be elected this afternoon when the officials of that institution meet. Dr. C. C. Selectman will recommend Matty Bell, assistant coach there the past season. Matty Bell is in line for the job of head coach at Simmons University at Abilene also. Clyde Littlefield, former coach of Texas University, also is in line for the position at S. M. U.

Local all-stars got their much talked-about oyster feed Friday night in the city park. Maurice Ewing, local high school mentor, partook of some eight or ten dozen of these creatures. Earl Busby seemed to like them best "raw." The married men were ashamed to eat the necessary amount to fill them up, and took some home — supposedly for their wives. The writer who was allotted the measly sum of two dozen had to force the last half dozen down. Eighteen all-stars attended the feed and some twelve dozen oysters were left over.

The Gatesville high school Hornets won the finals in the Invitation Basketball Tournament Saturday night by defeating the strong Turnersville quintet 29 to 23.

Local coaches and managers are making preparations for their spring softball training. Archie Gartman, who is trying to dismiss all ideas of managing a team this year agreed to put the boys through the paces in spring training in order that the incoming manager might be in the thick of the fight for the pennant. Gartman made the statement Saturday night that he would accompany his team to California so he could put his boys through the mill in his "undies." Truman Blanton, mentor of the churchmen, is undecided as to where he will take his crew. Blanton stated that if Gartman went to California he would dismiss all intentions of going to the west coast, but would probably go to Florida. Doyle Baldrige, who led the bachelors on their short jump to the cellar last season, hasn't made a statement regarding spring training for his mates, however, it is understood that they will stay in Gatesville, due to the fact that the entire crew is afraid of getting "hitched."

IN MEMORY OF COLLETT RAINER

The death angel visited the hospital and claimed as its victim little Miss Collett Rainer, elder daughter of Mr. Wood Rainer of this city.

Collett was born July 21, 1922, and passed away January 16, 1935, at 4:15. The mother preceded her in death December 24, 1934. A few days before she died she called her father to her bedside and said: "Well, Daddy, if it isn't the Lord's will for me to stay here with you, I'll go be with mother." Oh, if all of us could have that much faith in our Lord Jesus Christ.

All was done that doctors and nurses could do for Collett's recovery but God knew best to take her home. She lived her short life in this city and attended school.

It is impossible to reconcile oneself to the loss of such a child. But God will lead the sorrowing ones into the light by and by. Little did we think, little did we know the suffering Collett was undergoing. But a quiet voice said, "Come", and the Pearly Gates were opened wide and she was welcomed over there. A link has gone from the family circle to the home of the pure and good, where she is resting safely with God.

Weep not, dear father, for your darling is waiting at the Pearly Gates of Heaven to welcome you. She is through with her suffering. Her short stay with you was sweet, but God saw best to call her home from this world of suffering to a home of rest.

Collett is survived by her father, Wood Rainer, one sister, Ida Mae, three brothers, J. W., A. D., and Sonny. She died in the Baptist Sanitarium, Waco, and was prepared for burial by Waco undertakers. Rev. C. A. Morton conducted the services at the grave.

MODERNIZATION LOANS FINE BUSINESS SAYS THIS BANK

The Industrial Bank & Trust Co. of St. Louis, one of the comparatively few large banks of the country with long experience in unsecured personal loans, went in for modernization loans in a large way as soon as Title I was made effective.

It has made 700 loans to date, and reports not a single delinquency in meeting payments.

"We consider it fine business" says a spokesman for the institution, "and we are going to get all of it we can."

In 20 years the bank has loaned $90,000,000 on personal paper, with a loss of less than one-fourth of 1 per cent.

According to figures submitted by the Associate Director for Massachusetts, the amount of modernization and repair work developed in his State last week was $615,000, making an estimated total of $9,381,571 worth since August 1
