IRELAND OIL NEWS

(Special to the News)

By Dave Grubb

Increasing interest is being manifested in the Pugh, Pace, Doyle number one, and it is being watched with more renewed interest than ever before, as the drill goes down penetrating the oil sands. Wednesday evening they encountered a new oil sand with quite a lot of oil of the highest grade gravity test of any yet found.

New oil men are on the scene watching developments and with their maps and charts, and with the favorable reports rendered by the Geologist with the high gravity test oil that is being created. It looks like the future of an oil field is very bright indeed. The rumor of another oil well being spudded in, in the very near future by another well known company is being considered as very favorable.

ANOTHER LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD IN BIG CITY

Dr. Dean B. Jones, graduate of Baylor Medical College, who has for the past year been doing his interne work in Baylor Hospital at Dallas has just received an appointment as Physician of the Medical Arts Hospital located in the Medical Arts Building in Dallas.

Dr. Jones is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Jones of this city, and a brother to Dr. Kermit R. Jones.

According to Judge Robt. W. Brown, the local committee recently selected to co-operate with Federal authorities in the selection of the site and the establishment of a Soil Erosion Camp in Coryell county have been busy the past few days and are getting arrangements lined up for early action.

The local committee is composed of Judge Brown, D. W. Sherrill, county agent, and Fred G. Prewitt, county relief administration. Word has been received by this committee from Robert Fehner, Washington National Director of Soil Erosion Camps, and Regional Director, L. T. Merrill of Tyler, that E. T. Nagle, former county agent of Coryell, and Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood of Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, had been delegated to select the location and establish the camp.

In a telephone conversation Saturday morning Mr. Nagle informed Judge Brown that he (Nagle) and Gen. Hagood would confer on the matter in a few days, and that he hoped to be in Gatesville the latter part of this week to view the several proposed sites and go further into the matter of selecting the location for the camp. A representative from Gen. Hagood's office will probably accompany Mr. Nagle.

In the meantime, Judge Brown says the local committee will go ahead looking over proposed sites and try to have something suitable for Mr. Nagle and party to view when they arrive here. In selecting a proper location for the camp, Judge Brown says there are several things to be considered as of prime necessities, such as an ample supply of pure water, proper drainage, and access to power and light circuit; other desirable features would be gas connection, sewerage, and shade trees.

Information will be given out in a short time detailing the particular requirements asked of the farmer who wants his field terraced and otherwise serviced by the camp. A certain of the work and expense will be met by the government, while there are certain other things the land owner must do and expenses he must meet. As soon as the committee receives full information on this part of the plan it will be passed onto the public through the press.

It is estimated that the camp, when in full working capacity will employ probably 250 men. The local committee has already received a number of applications for employment in the camp.

FARMER'S PRODUCE IN NEW QUARTERS

George Hodges, proprietor of the Farmer's Produce, announces elsewhere in this issue that he has moved to the Dickie Building at the rear of Thomson Grocery Company.

Mr. Hodges states he will be in the market for the merchandise farmers of the county have for sale, and will be glad to see them at his new location.

EROSION CAMP FOR CORYELL COUNTY

Just exactly what does an Erosion Camp mean to citizens of this County? Well, first, the government places these camps at places where erosion both by water and winds ruin the soil of the farms, removing by one way or other the top, and sometimes the sub-soil, which makes the fields either unproductive, or at least lessens the production. Tons, tons and tons of good old Coryell County soil, the money soil to the farmer, is washing into the Gulf, rivers and creeks of the county and state. People heretofore, have just sat by and watched their money (figuratively) wash away from them.

To the others of us who have no farms, tho we are interested in them, this will bring more money to the farming interests, and in turn will increase their buying power, making it possible for them to get things they have wanted before and have hesitated in buying on account of lack of funds. These men, approximately 250 strong, will receive as base pay approximately $30.00, the most of which will be sent to their parents in addition to the cash they receive, the necessary building, labor, drainage, and other work to be done in preparing a camp of this sort will cost money. Light and power, gas, provisions, clothing, and an innumerable number of other articles of equipment must be bought for a project like this. As we see this, indirectly, everyone in the county is going to benefit monetarily from this camp. We're all for it, because this is certainly something WE can stand. We believe it's going to help YOU, too, in SOME way, so let's clear the way for a CCC Erosion Camp in Coryell County.

FEDERAL HOUSING ACT

F. H. A. officials were here some days ago, and explained fully the working of the Federal Housing Administration organization as concerns everyone in Coryell County.

In our making the town, it seems the consensus of opinion that this act will only effect or benefit the lumber yards and building trades. Let's see!

After a house or home is built, say, and the lumber yards and building trades have received their benefits. What next? We've never known of a new house being built unless it was furnished with something, if nothing other than goods boxes. Usually the builder has an idea, or the builderess, since usually two build houses or homes, that they will equip the house with some new furniture, rugs, linoleum, shades, draperies, and an unlimited amount of other necessities and luxuries. Then, too, the house expects to be lighted, gased, and watered, insured, taxed, probably advertised, so what have you, but nearly all of us getting something out of the new project. Even the banker who makes the loan reaps his benefit in the shape of loans, re-financing, etc. We could go on indefinitely as to who is going to reap the benefit of the new home—but just think a bit the other side of your nose—even the government is going to make on the deal, since it's real estate and property improvement makes more taxes. By the time all this money gets around, you're, every one of us, is going to have our finger in the pie, that is, if we have anything to sell, or are doing anything at all besides loafing.

Think this over, folks, this F. H. A. could be made to mean "Fortune Handed All," especially if there were enough of this to bring back that old pal of ours, Prosperity.

"Today the magic possibilities of industrial regimentation and the so-called planned economy no longer cast the spell of yesterday. That spell is broken. That is the most important thing that has happened. It is a real progress."—Alfred P. Sloan., Jr.

World Comment

By JOE BURNS

THE BALKAN POWDER KEG

THE BALKANS are seething again. The seed of all European wars fought since 1870 have been sown in southeastern Europe. Russia and Turkey fought in 1877-78 for the supremacy of the Balkan region and both were deprived of the fruits of victory by the Congress of Berlin, called and dominated by Bismarck, Iron Chancellor of Germany. In 1912 and 1913 bloody wars were fought between the Balkan alliances favoring the Central Powers and the Entente Powers. And rivalry between Germany and Austria on the one side and Russia and France on the other for the control of the Balkans and the Near East brought on the World War.

Since 1918 the Little Entente, consisting of Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Yugoslavia, have dominated the Balkan region and kept the peace. But the former Central Powers, vanquished by the war, are demanding an equal status with the victorious powers, including enlarged armies and territorial revision.

The Balkan Peninsula commonly is said to embrace Albania, Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, and European Turkey. Historically and politically Austria and Hungary are closely associated with the regions south of the Danube.

A change in the government of Austria is expected minutely. The government of Chancellor Schuschnigg does not have the full support of the Catholic groups. Even more significant are indications that the Vatican no longer is enthusiastically behind Schuschnigg. Vice-Chancellor Prince Ernest von Starhemberg, leader of the Heimwehr or Home Guard, and Agriculture Minister Beithler are at odds and both are reported scheming to seize control of the government. A restoration of the monarchy in June has been reported, also.

Hungary is dissatisfied with her present status among the family of nations. Although a member of the League of Nations, Hungary has consistently refused to adhere to the treaties which stripped her of rich territories and limited her army to a small police force. They demand that Hungarian subjects living in Czechoslovakia and Rumania be returned with the lost provinces. The government also wants a larger army so that the frontiers could be adequately protected in case of war between two neighboring countries. The Little Entente powers and France have willingly granted Austria the right to strengthen and increase her armed forces in order to keep her out of the clutches of Germany, but they fear that Hungary with a large army might try to seize some of their territories. Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia were created by the peace treaties out of Austrian and Hungarian lands.

Czechoslovakia is perhaps the most tranquil of all the southeastern powers. The Czechoslovak army is one of the best drilled and equipped in Europe, and the Czechoslovak soldier is among the sturdiest in Europe. 3,500,000 former subjects of Austria live in Czechoslovakia. Germany has cast covetous glances toward this section of Czechoslovakia people by fellow Germans and the Czechoslovaks fear an attack.

The political situation in Yugoslavia has changed little since the assassination of King Alexander some months ago. Prince Paul, head of the regency governing for Boy-King Peter, has not adopted a conciliatory policy toward the subject races as promised and riots have occurred in several Slovenian and Croatian cities in the last week. The Slovenians and Croats demand political autonomy and equal representation with the Serbs in Parliament.

Rumania is domestically quiet at the present and is rapidly arming for future conflicts. The government recently authorized the expenditure of $25,000,000 for the army. Rumania expects to have the most formidable armed force in southeast Europe in two years.

Bulgaria has joined the growing chorus for an increased army. The Bulgarian army was also limited by the peace treaties. King Boris is the absolute ruler of the nation now after vanquished the Fascists in a coup last month.

Persistent reports come from Greece that a restoration of the monarchy is imminent. Since the defeat of the Republic

COPPERAS COVE NEWS

(From Copperas Cove Crony.)

Large Crowd Attends Play Before a large and appreciative audience, the Senior class of Copperas Cove Hl. School, presented their play, "That Lu-oas Family," Saturday night. The play was well presented and greatly enjoyed by one of the largest crowds assembled in the local auditorium for several years. Prof. J. C. Culwell directed the play. The major softball game of the season will be played at the local field next Friday night, between the Copperas Cove All-stars and the San Saba team. The All-stars, fresh from the victory over the Gatesville team, are in fine form and Manager Teinert and his boys should furnish the Saba boys some very tough opposition. The San Saba boys will arrive Friday evening and the game will be called at eight o'clock.

The Cove boys are going to Marble Falls Monday to show their stuff against some very good teams from that part of Texas. The chances of the boys winning this tournament are very good as the games are to be played in the day time. The team has several capable hur-lers with Robertson and Fritz topping the list. Both boys are plenty fast, Fritz having exceptional control. We wish the boys all the luck possible.

IRELAND NEWS

We are having some fine rains and creeks are now all full of water. Spring oats are improving since the rains, but on account of the dry weather that prevailed for so long, the yield will not be large.

Quite a lot of road work has been done the past week from the County line on the public road through town; gravel is being hauled and plating the road which was needed very badly.

Mr. Clyde Boyd, while out hunting one night the past week, was bitten by a copper-head snake. He was rushed to the Hamilton Sanitarium and a serum was promptly administered. He is at home and is slowly improving.

Messrs. C. D. Allard and son, Wayne, spent last Sunday in Ireland visiting friends. Mr. Allard was for a long time agent for the Cotton Belt here; he is now and has been for a number of years the agent for the Cotton Belt at Dawson, Texas. We are glad to learn of his great success; may it continue.

Mr. Jim Newton from Clyde, Texas, returned to his home the past week after visiting his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bunnell and family.

Rev. C. F. Bell has been quite a sick man first of the week, but we are glad to report that Bro. Bell is much improved and is able to be out again.

Dr. G. E. Sutton, veterinary inspector, has finished making the T. B. Test on cattle in Hamilton county and has been busy this week making the tests in this part of Coryell county.

The closing exercises of our school was enjoyed by a large number during the week. The graduating class was composed of Miss Jammie Lynch, Miss Etoil Huckabee, Mr. Alvin Mor-witz, Kinnard Humphreys, and Marvin Botlinger. The diplomas were presented by Mr. Jim Dooley president of the board of trustees.

The teachers are to be com-mended for the splendid work they have done. The picnic day was enjoyed, then the fine basket dinner that had been prepared was a feast for all. The play Saturday could not have been better and was enjoyed by a large crowd. Success to the teachers, patrons and pupils; you are deserving of it all.

News Fashion Suggestion

Now that spring and graduation days are over, it is time to begin planning our summer wardrobes. All-over laces, nets and eyelet embroidery are ideal for cool frocks made with smart coats of the same material to slip on when a light wrap is necessary. For the warm days at home I would suggest several frocks of the beautiful floral batiste and flaxons.

"ROAD TO RUIN" STORY OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY SHOWING AT PALACE WED.

The "Road to Ruin" will be shown for one day only in Gatesville.—Don't Miss It!

When Ben B. Lindsey as Juvenile Judge in Denver was trying to awaken the public to the terrible facts of Juvenile Delinquency he was a target for all kinds of attacks. Clergymen thundered at him; politicians threatened him; scandal mongers assailed him, "Liar, charlatan, notoriety seeker," shouted. "It couldn't happen to my girl!"

Yet Judge Lindsey was telling the truth—always. And he was helping, shielding, saving the daughters of some of the very people who so bitterly attacked him. It could and it did happen to their daughters, and it can happen to almost any man's child unless the parents can be awakened to the danger that confronts the youth of today. "The Road to Ruin" which comes to the Palace Theatre Wednesday, May 22, one day only, is a very frank and straightforward presentation of the facts of Juvenile Delinquency and affords serious food for thought for all parents as well as containing a tremendous warning to all the younger people.

Juvenile Delinquency is one of the great tragic developments of present day America that the public must take cognizance of. It is a problem that threatens the future if not the very life of the youth of every family. Changing living conditions,

WHAT WOMAN doesn't thoroughly enjoy serving a dish at a party, whatever the occasion, which makes her friends a little jealous because they didn't discover it first? Sometimes it may be a salad, sometimes a main course; quiet often it is tricky little hors d'oeuvres; but this time it will be a dessert—one of those delectable frozen desserts called marlows because their most important ingredient is marshmallows.

An apricot marlow for choice—rich in flavor, velvety in smoothness imparted by its base marshmallow base, it will never be suspected of being anything but a product of the hostess' resourceful skill. Though a good many who eat are likely to marvel that anything so creamily perfect could be produced by a mechanical refrigerator—as of course it couldn't, without marshmallows. But they will never suspect the presence of the marshmallows unless you are charitable and explain that anybody can make a perfect marlow, and why.

The woman who uses an ice cream freezer can save the bother of agitating, by using this method. Perfect ice cream may also be made in a mold packed in an ice-salt mixture. Be sure to cover it tightly and seal with adhesive tape.

If you prefer you may use canned apricots and their juice in this recipe, but dried apricots have in greater degree that tangy, biting flavor which makes this ice cream so full of character. Of course they must be prepared by scrubbing, soaking in cold water until soft, and cooking to tenderness in the same water, which should be sufficient in quantity to furnish plenty of juice.

APRICOT MARLOW

16 marshmallows ¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup apricot juice ¼ pint whipping cream
¼ cup pureed apricots

Steam the marshmallows with the apricot juice until they are melted to a smooth blend. Add the apricot puree and orange juice and cool. When cold and slightly stiffened, combine with the stiffly beaten cream. Pour into containers and freeze without stirring.

The remainder of the fruit and juice, put through a sieve together and slightly sweetened if desired, makes a delicious sauce for this marlow. Chill the sauce thoroughly before serving.

It is not necessary to use whipping cream for a perfect marlow. Day-old coffee cream which can be beaten stiff is equally satisfactory.

Managers of the local Softball League have decided to change the schedule and play games on Tuesday and Thursday nights instead of Tuesdays and Fridays. At present the league is behind three games. The Managers voted to make-up these games one each week—provided the weather permits them to do so.

The team standing remains as was in last week's paper. No games will be played tonight due to the commencement exercises of the local high school.

The dates for the games rained out on May 10, 14 and 17, will be announced at a later date in the News.

The County Baseball League has been slowed up a little on account of the weather. We have no reports of games played the past week. Managers are requested to take note and play these games sometime this week, so the league will not get behind with their games, and the sooner these games are played, the better.

News comes to the writer of a certain team protesting a player on the Osage team by the name of Sheffiner. This player's name appeared in the two Gatesville papers as "Shofold." I got the list of players from Kenneth Hedgpath, who stated he took the name down over the telephone, and it was an error on his part. I like the idea of protesting on any grounds that are substantial to protest on, however, felchanging moral standards, unavoidable unhealthy contacts, coupled with growing parental neglect, have combined to produce a mental attitude in the rising generation that is causing the authorities and thinkers of the Nation grave concern.

lows this league was formed for sport and the entertainment one may derive from it, and let's think of it in that way.

CHAPTER IV
WHAT HAS HAPPENED
Chick Thompson, owner of a puppet show in a carnival, is left with the care of his baby, Poochy, when Chick's wife dies in childbirth.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Yeah," repeated Chick. "The husband stuff. Where'd you get it?"
"Where'd you want me to do? I was in a spot, wasn't I? Come on, drink your coffee."

Chick sat at the small table while Daisy poured the coffee. Chick, however, was determined. "They're not gonna take him away from me, Daisy. Not if I can help it."

"What're you going to do?"
"I thought about it all night. I was a sucker to come back with this outfit. I've made up my mind to quit. For good, this time."

Daisy's voice was hardly audible. "Quit the show, you mean?"
"Yeah."

"When?"
"Right away. I'm takin' Poochy—maybe Fingers, if he wants to go. I'm gettin' outa this town."

"Where do you figure on going?"
"Some place where they'll never catch up to me."

Daisy was thinking fast. If Chick went now—but there was no thinking of a future without Chick—and Poochy.

"You don't have to run away, Chick—"

"No?" Hang around, I suppose, and just wait for 'em to walk in and take Poochy, huh? No, sir—not me, I'm travelin'."

Daisy was desperate now. "Listen, Chick—you know what that woman from the Children's Society said yesterday? She said if Poochy had a mother they couldn't do anything to you."

"Well," said Chick, "he hasn't got one. So what's the use of talkin' I'm goin' out and dig up Fingers. He rose to go."

"Wait a minute, Hon—use your brain." Daisy clutched Chick's arm. "You can get him a mother, can't you?"

"Yes—that's it," Daisy saw success in sight. "And they'd lay off me, huh?"

"Sure. She said if he had the right kind of a mother, there's nothing the Children's Society could do."

Chick was thoughtful now. "Is that so? Whadda you know about that? That's pretty good. All I'd have to do is dig up—"

He turned suddenly and kissed Daisy on the cheek. "You're okay, Daisy. That's pretty smart. Yes, sir, I know exactly the kind of a girl to get, too."

Daisy's face clouded as Chick continued. "Somebody like Nell—you know, nice and clean—an educated. That's the important thing—the education. Just what Poochy needs, too. Mugs like us are no good for him. Gee, Daisy—if I can find the right kind of a girl, my troubles are over, ain't they?"

But Chick didn't wait for an answer. He grabbed his hat and ran for the door.

"Chick!" came Daisy's cry. Chick stopped short. "Huh?"

Daisy's last chance. "I just happened to think—of course, it's a good idea, but—but if you find the girl you want, you'll have to marry her, you know."

Mountain H. D. Club
Gladys Martin.
The club will meet Tuesday, May 28, with Mrs. Joe Blacklock as hostess.

The three servings of vegetables should consist of one-half cup starchy, one-half cup leafy, and one-half cup other vegetables per person.

Such canning problems as "Why do beans and okra turn dark?" were also discussed. Miss Martin gave a demonstration on beet canning.

Members present were Mesdames Otha Carothers, Gladys Fry, Myrie Music, and the hostess, and one visitor, Miss Gladys Martin.

PALO PINTO—Egg shells and match boxes cut in half with the cut edges placed next to the ends of the hotbeds were used by Mrs. G. T. Cross, Palo county home demonstration club member, as containers for tomato seed in her hotbed.

For her egg plant and cucumber seed, Mrs. Cross made boxes out of oatmeal and meal paper bags. By cutting squares of this tough paper, folding it in triangular shape and sewing them up the corners on the machine, she made boxes which were very serviceable. "These can be made very quickly and easily by sewing one right after another," she said.

WHARTON—That poison bran mash is effective in controlling cutworms in young cotton fields has recently been proved by Earl Frels of Wharton county who satisfactorily poisoned worms on 65 acres of young cotton with the mash, according to J. A. Scofield, county agricultural agent.
