IS COTTON PROGRAM MENACED?

Predictions and opinions are now being freely and wildly made as to what will be the effect in general of killing the code provisions of the N. R. A. In certain circles it is feared that Government loans on cotton may be stopped. A reasonable explanation of just how this man come about is not given. Some ardent supporters of the NRA make wild estimates of destructive effects to follow, many in good faith, but others probably for the purpose of bringing large blocs of voters into the ranks of the forces that would be pleased to override the court's decision.

There seems to be no direct connection between the Federal cotton loan program and the NRA decision, however, it is possible that Government cotton price pegging loans may be materially affected if the Supreme Court should throw out the fundamental cotton control features of the Bankhead Act. Quoting from the Dallas News, the subject is thus stated:

"The Government could hardly go ahead with a price pegging program after it had been deprived of its authority to control acreage. The theory of orderly marketing through governmental assistance, with the farm community voluntarily acting in its own interest, was once accepted but it did not work when tried. This was demonstrated by Hoover's farm board experiment.

"Price pegging without acreage control would be even more unworkable now than heretofore probably, because the capacity of the foreign market to consume a large surplus has shrunk. In event the Bankhead act is held unconstitutional, a form of export debenture or domestic allotment might be substituted, whereby the foreign market for American cotton might be built up again while maintaining prices on the domestic market. It might be as safe to peg prices in a program that expanded both acreage and foreign markets as to peg prices in one that contracted both acreage and foreign markets. But turning to a domestic allotment plan would be stepping from one emergency measure to another. What is needed is an economic program that will encourage natural expansion of foreign markets and at the same time natural expansion of industries to supplement cotton-growing in the South. Under such a program we could cease to worry about court decisions."

  - that one arson fire is said to cost more than a dozen unpreventable fires?
  - that many losses of suspicious origin not yet proven incendiary when reported, are classed as "unknown" or "miscellaneous"?
  - that arson fires swell total losses, thus affecting the cost of insurance protection to everyone?
  - that, to combat arson, special agents of The National Board of Fire Underwriters are aiding state departments and cities in the organization of arson squads and that many cities now have such squads?
  - that the model arson law has been enacted in 34 states?
  - that suspicious fires are thoroughly investigated by experienced arson detectives and that many of them result in convictions of the guilty persons?
  - that you can do your part to stop this crime, committed against society?
  - that you should report any suspicious fires to the authorities?
  - that the lives of many innocent persons are endangered by this lowest type of criminal?

ITALO-ETHIOPIAN DISPUTE

Hopes for conciliation of the boundry dispute between Italy and Ethiopia (Abyssinia) have been somewhat improved by Premier Mussolini's willingness to arbitrate. Emperor Haole Selassie of Ethiopia had repeatedly expressed his nation's willingness to arbitrate but Mussolini had shown little disposition to do so until recently when he was warned by Great Britain and France not to take armed measures against the black empire.

The arbitration commission, consisting of two Italian representatives, two Ethiopian representatives, and a neutral chairman will have until July to reach a decision.

Italy has long desired to incorporate this rich empire within her African colonial dominions which border Ethiopia on the south and east. Ethiopia embraces a total area of 350,000 square miles with about 10,000,000 negroid, semi-savage inhabitants. The headwaters of the Nile are controlled by Ethiopia. Italy, in control of Ethiopia, could dam the Nile and reduce Egypt to a desert in a year. Great Britain is thus vitally interested in the controversy and the prospect of an Italian-dominated Ethiopia. Although predominantly agricultural, Ethiopia has valuable forests and enormous mineral deposits, including iron, copper, coal, gold and silver, that have as yet been undeveloped. Italy, with few natural resources other than water power, feels that these mineral deposits are indispensable to her industrial development.

Nevertheless, it seems that Mussolini is embarking upon a perilous venture. In 1896 an Italian army of conquest was completely annihilated at Adowa, Ethiopia, by the savage Ethiopians under King Menelik, compelling Italy to recognize the country's independence. It is said that 1,500 Italians were eaten by the Ethiopians.

At this time an agreement among Great Britain, France, and Italy guaranteed the neutrality and integrity of Ethiopia. Mussolini is violating this treaty, rightfully claim England and France, and they have warned him not to provoke the blacks. Il Duce is not inclined to take orders from London and Paris and with reckless abandon continues to send more troops to Africa.

We say reckless abandon because of the tense situation in Central Europe today. Germany has not given up hopes of some day incorporating Austria in the German Reich. Germany is rearming and may attempt to take Austria by force when sufficiently strong economically and militarily. The Austrians have a new respect for Hitler since he denounced the Versailles treaty and started rearming Germany. The Austrian Nazis are not idle and public opinion in Austria favors union with Germany, generally speaking. Austria was reduced to impotence by the peace treaties and can not hope to play other than a secondary part in the European game for many years.

Mussolini, on the other hand, is determined to maintain the independence of Austria, even at the cost of a war with Germany. Last year when Chancellor Dollfuss was murdered and the Nazis attempted to seize control of the Austrian government, Il Duce sent 48,000 troops to the Austrian border. If Germany takes over Austria, a German nation of over 70,000,000 people will border Italy on the north. This is not a pleasing thought to Mr. Mussolini.

A war in Africa would weaken Italy in men and money for many years. After a prolonged war in malaria-infested Ethiopia, Italy would be unable to cope with a strong and united Germany and could not hope to keep Germany out of Austria, when the Austrians themselves want to unite with Germany. Mussolini may realize this; he may be banking on the reluctance of the Ethiopian ruler to fight a great European power. War, if it comes, will not start until fall because of the heavy precipitation of rain in Africa during the summer months. The League hopes to settle the disput by September and avert war.

County-Wide Campaign--

typhoid last year. Indications are that the present summer will bring even more typhoid. As a means of stamping out the fever and preventing suffering and death it is to be expected of every eligible person to be inoculated.

As to the cost, a charge of thirty-five cents is being made to care for the cost of the medicine used. No person is making any profit. This cost is more than three dollars less than the three shots would ordinarily cost.

A registered nurse will be on hand at the depots to administer the shots. In some cases a doctor will be on duty.

Watch the papers for the announcement of the schedule and make plans to be at the station on the specified day.

MEAL OF THE MONTH

"Convenience" is the keynote of this Meal of the Month for June but nothing in the way of appetite appeal is sacrificed. The menu is ideal for warm weather, corned beef hash, green peas and salad.

By MARIE GIFFORD
Armour Food Economist

EVEN the most loyal and conscientious wife and mother balks at spending hours in a hot kitchen when the thermometer gets into the eighties. And there's really no need to, because there are many meals which not only can be prepared with a minimum of cooking, but are actually more appetizing in warm weather.

The Meal of the Month for June is a combination which, I think, "has everything." The main dish is sliced canned corn beef hash. The vegetable is buttered green peas, easily prepared and quickly cooked. Then there is a crisp vegetable salad, sliced tomatoes on chickory. The seasonable dessert is fresh strawberry tarts with whipped cream.

I say it has everything because it meets all of the requirements of both the cook and the diner. Corned beef hash, made from the best brisket beef can be obtained in attractive tins which are enamelled. The proportion of potatoes is carefully measured and the dish is mildly seasoned to suit the taste of the most particular people.

After being chilled in the refrigerator, the contents of the can removed in a solid roll and cut into slices which can be heated and attractively browned in just eight minutes or baked in the oven with your tarts. Your corned beef hash dinner will not only be convenient, but it will be economical, healthful and delicious.

There are other canned foods which combine both meat and vegetables, offering the basis of a full meal for only a few cents. Women who have not investigated the developments in this direction recently will be agreeably surprised by the progress which has been made to improve the taste and quality of canned meats.

Texas and from numerous smaller places come reports of plans for a proper observance of the Governors proclamation. The part the railroads have played in the development of Texas, their importance to a nation as a principal vital industry, and the need for a sympathetic understanding of their problems by the public will be stressed in hundreds of public addresses radio talks and at specially arranged railroad programs.

All of the western are co-operating in making Railroad Week a success and it will be observed in all if the western states, the governors of a majority of them having followed Governor Allred in issuing proclamations.

"Open house" will be observed at the yards, stations and shops and the public at major railroad points will be invited to become more familiar with the intricate details of railroad operation. Luncheon clubs chambers of commerce and other civic bodies are planning special meetings at which the activities of the railways will be explained.

As a result of a widespread observance of Railroad Week the carriers hope to focus public attention on the problems of the railways with the hope of creating increased interest in the carriers and thus stimulating railway traffic and increasing railway employment.

In his proclamation Governor Allred referred to the fact that the railways were making a notable contribution to economic recovery as a result of their improvement and betterment programs and said that as a result of large expenditures railway service in the state had been greatly improved.

Austin, June 4.—Austin and Travis county officers announced Tuesday that they would begin immediately the confiscation of marble machines or other gambling devices.

The announcement was made after officers and City, County and District Attorneys interpreted a recent Attorney General's ruling as holding marble machines were gambling devices and came within the gambling statute.

James P. Hart, District Attorney, said that the exhibiting or keeping a marble machine, regardless of whether the game played involved skill, judgment or calculation or chance, luck or hazard, was a felony offense.

AUSTIN COLLEGE STAR ELECTED HEAD COACH

WORLEY COMES WITH FINE RECORD AT HONEY GROVE AND VAN ALSTYNE.

Coach Earle Worley, Austin College star and former mentor of Honey Grove High School has just been elected head Coach and Principal of Gatesville High School, for the 1935-36 session, replacing H. C. Brannen, who has resigned, accepting Superintendency of the Burksville Public Schools.

Coach Worley comes with an enviable record, having starred in Austin College with the Kangaroos in football, basketball, baseball and track. Coaching first at Van Alstyne, he won honors in basketball and track, and lost only one football game during his first season. His second year he returned to his alma mater, Austin College, as Freshmen Coach and Physical Education instructor.

For the past three years, he has been coaching at Honey Grove, where he has won honors in tracks for three consecutive years. The past year Honey Grove won the district in football, scoring 498 points to their opponents 0. His basketball club of the past season won the county tournament, and the track team the county and district.

Mr. Worley holds two degrees from Austin College, an A. B. and an A. M. and will also fill the position of Principal. From the above facts, one may readily see that Coach Worley is qualified to coach the Hornets in any branch of athletics. Assisted by the very efficient Coaches Baldrige and Ewing, Gatesville High's athletic stock should rise to very pleasing heights in the athletic barometer before the next season is with us for long.

He is married and will be in Gatesville all summer, preparing for the coming school year.

AGED CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

J. S. McElvany passed away at the home of his son, W. L. McElvany, of Gatesville, on Thursday afternoon, May 23. He was 82 years of age.

The funeral was held the following day by Rev. Ben Reynolds of Pearl in the Ater Methodist church which he loved.

He leaves two brothers, one son, two daughters, four grandchildren, one great grandchild and a host of friends to mourn their loss, but heaven has gained a jewel which has left its radiance on earth to yield its brightness of sunshine for all time to come.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

IN MEMORY

An angel came and entered
Our quiet and happy home,
And took a lovely flower

To that eternal home.
His life was a beautiful flower,
From the bud to the withered Rose,

Oh, how we all shall miss him,
We feel so all alone.

He left a path to follow,
For his life was a beautiful thing,
It was spent in useful service,
For his eternal King.

But life is so uncertain,
And death we all must meet,
So let us all get ready,
Our Savior and Lord to meet.

So let us not be heartbroken,
But follow in his steps,
Until our life is ended,
And we are called by death.

Grandson,
W. D. McElvany.

Managers of the Softball League together with the Executive Committee, have made a few changes in the schedule of the organization. Games are now being played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. One game is scheduled for each night which is nine innings. In our opinion this change is for the betterment of the League, and we have already noticed more interest, and more are turning out.

Tuesday night the Independents crew up set the dope to defeat the Firemen 16-5. Joe Powell, Independent hurler, did exceptionally good pitching Tuesday night, and his mates also played good ball. Carter Ray, Firemen ace, was the poorest excuse for a hurler Tuesday night than any time we have seen him this year.

Wednesday night the Independents defeated the Oilers 15-8. Blanton, who has been having trouble all year with his infield, had more trouble than usual Wednesday night. He was fair at hurling while in the box but his two short stops couldn't hold the pill, and his outfielders were also butter-fingered.

Last night the Oilers met the Firemen.

TEAM STANDING

Team	won	lost	pt.
Firemen	14	4	.777
Independents	10 1/2	8 1/2	.557
Conoco	4	14	.222

The Arbitrary Committee of the County Baseball League met Monday night to iron out a few important matters. It was agreed upon that no immediate changes would be made in the original list of players handed in. This committee, working for the interest of the entire league, expressed themselves as working for no individual club but for the organization in general.

My attention has been called to the fact that no individual may make a change in the list of players including myself. This is the Arbitrary Committee's duty.

Saturday, June 8, Turnersville is to play Jonesboro at Jonesboro. This promises to be a good game, with Turnersville a slight margin to win. Ireland is to play Pidcoke at Pidcoke, with the latter our choice. Plainview is scheduled to play the Training School at the State. Plainview is doped to lose this game to the inmates.

Sunday, June 9, Hubbard vs. Liberty at Liberty. This game promises to be one of the best for the day, with Liberty doped to win. Osage is doped to win from Levita on that day, and Mound will probably lose to Purlmela. The Osage-Levita game will be played at Levita, while the Purlmela-Mound game will be at the Mound.

In School at San Marcos

Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. John E. Miller left for San Marcos last Saturday where she will attend summer school. She is to be joined by her husband when his time is up on his mail route July 1, and they will continue in school together. This young couple, who will teach in the Clear Creek community next term, have a host of friends wishing them success and happiness.

CARD OF THANKS

Our hearts bowed in sorrow at the passing of our beloved father and grandfather, J. S. McElroy. There came to us a ray of sunshine in the kindness of a multitude of friends, their words of sympathy, and many comforting ministrations. For these we are deeply grateful, and pray that God may bless and direct each of you, comforting you in your sorrow and proving friends equally thoughtful and attentive. McElvany and son, Mr. and Mrs. McElroy and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Crowe and sons, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Snoddy and daughter.

FLOODS WORSE SINCE 1908

The worst flood in years, ravaging cities and farms in the rich Kaw Valley of Kansas, has surged eastward toward Kansas City and engineers there made ready to combat high waters comparable with those which inundated lowlying industrial sections in 1908.

Death estimates in a siege of floods and tornadoes sweeping the West and Mexico, topped 500. This figure included the dead in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska as well as in Mexico, where an estimated 400 persons were drowned.

Damage to crops and property in the three States was placed unofficially at more than $20,000,000.

TEXAS HISTORY

"Female Fortitude: A woman, a Mrs. McLellan, and her children escaped in the night from Indians who had captured them. They were met at dawn by the men rescuers, and reported that they had been cruelly treated by the Indians." Thus the Texas Telegraph and Register reported one of the many captures made by the Indians. In 1839 the Mexicans themselves caused trouble, and incited the Indians to make trouble. The Cherokees were on the war path, and Lamar's friendly agents posted along the frontier seemed to be of little use. After some fierce battles, the Cherokees were driven farther away from East Texas settlements, and the Comanche tribe was weakened also.

The Council House Fight at San Antonio in March of that year was a bloody one. Highly painted chieftains rode gallantly into battle, only to die beneath the terrible Bowie knife and the fire of long rifles the Texans carried on their saddles. For a month there was a lull. The days lengthened into three months. Settlers began to feel at ease, when a fierce uprising broke out at Plum Creek, near Gonzales. General Felix Huston, not yet departed for New Orleans, quelled the attack. Another month passed, and there was trouble again. This time Col. John H. Moore led his men to destroy an entire Comanche village on the upper Colorado. The white man proved himself superior after these conflicts. When Houston came into office the next year he found the Indians in a comparative state of peacefulness, and did all he could to keep them that way. "My brothers," he wrote, "let the war whoop be heard no more in our prairies . . . let songs of joy be heard in our hills . . . and when our warriors get together, let them smoke of the pipe of peace and be happy."

Fights with the Indians and worries over the Mexican activities did not keep life from being at least partly normal for the Texan settlers. Livings were still being made by the soil; merchandise stores were still being operated, and carding and weaving and spinning still occupied many long hours. James Cochran advertised in the Telegraph: "The subscriber begs leave to inform the citizens of San Felipe de Austin and elsewhere, that he has just received from the schooner San Felipe a general assortment of merchandise, consisting of groceries, hardware, dry goods, hats, boots, shoes, clothing, and fancy articles."

Lamar was making a good President. His laws that Congress passed were indicative of the good things to be accomplished for the Republic. The foundation was being laid for the outstanding Commonwealth, which in 1936 will commemorate its Centennial in a State-wide celebration.

PARTY FAVORS

YOU MAY have always believed that marshmallows were for eating only, but if so you have been mistaken. Of course the army of marshmallow party favors may be said, strictly speaking, to be edible, but most of them are such fetching creatures that all but the youngest admirers will want to preserve them intact.

The marshmallow pup, for example—you may call him a lamb or even a lion if you prefer. His body is two plump marshmallows fastened together with toothpicks, with a third one for his head at an appropriate angle. Cloves make his features, which have an appealing humanness, while his legs and his cocky tail are jelly strings. With only a little coaxing he may be taught to sit up and beg, or do all sorts of tricks to amuse youngsters and their elders equally.

And who could be so irreverent as to eat a Pilgrim father, sober in a black crepe paper cloak and high hat? He stands with such squareness on his two stout marshmallow legs as to impress the most frivolous minded with his dignity. Made into a snowman, all unclad, with marshmallow arms akimbo; or a soldier with a cocked paper hat and a toothpick musket, is less solemn but still an arresting figure on any party table.

Elephants and kangaroos and pussy cats as well as almost any other beast or fowl can be evolved from marshmallows with the aid of scissors, toothpicks, jelly strings, wire, and perhaps a handful of nuts and raisins. To make the work easy, wet the tools with which you work—especially the scissors and toothpicks. If fancy directs you to anchor your creation to a place card, that can be done without glue by using a little water
