PWA and WPA Plans Must Be in District Office Soon for O. K.

Closing date on PWA and WPA loans and work projects will close September 5 and September 12 respectively, according to information contained in speech by President Roosevelt Monday, August 26.

All applications for work on the PWA projects must be in the Fort Worth District Office on September 5, and those for the WPA must be in the Waco office by September 12.

According to Floyd Zeigler, County Judge, it is not necessary for complete plans and specifications to be submitted, but enough so that the work may be passed on by the authorities.

Mr. Zeigler also stated he had some detailed information on both of these which he would be pleased to pass on to school districts or other organizations in the county planning to submit projects, which might help them in planning their work.

These partially detailed projects, he said, would earmark appropriated money and the completed specifications could be sent in as time permitted. It would be distinctly understood that these incomplete plans would be passed on but not necessarily granted.

From time to time other information is available at the office of the County Judge, and he advises the News that he will be only too glad to assist any organization planning work of this kind.

BAND CONCERT TUESDAY NIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK IN RABY PARK

According to D. W. Diserens, band director of the Gatesville band, there will be a band concert next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Raby Park.

Mr. Diserens requests that all band members be present as this will be close to the last concert. He especially desires the presence of all who have not been present more than one other concert.

Everyone is invited to come out and listen.

City Employs Engineers To Help Put Over WPA Program; Many Ideas

In lining up for the WPA program as outlined by the government, the City of Gatesville has employed as engineers to prepare specifications the Southwest Engineering Company of Austin, who are represented here by Homer Trimble. They are to be consulting engineers on any and all WPA projects to be worked up by the city council.

Among the proposed projects to be worked on are completion of the municipal auditorium, street paving, construction of storm sewers in different parts of the city, extension of the water system, in the business section, including larger lines and larger fire plugs, and a white way for the business section.

The City Council has instructed the City Auditor, Fred Prewitt to file projects with the WPA authorities on the above improvements, which will be started as soon as they can be prepared and approval received.

Mr. Prewitt also stated those wishing squeegee paving on must have curbs and gutters put in along their property as no streets would be worked over unless this improvement was made. This prevents the pavement work from chipping off around the edges, and would shorten its life.

CCC CAMP MEN TO GET SHOT NEXT WEEK; CAMP NOT FULL

Men who make the personnel of the CCC are to receive their "shots" next week, so they will be ready for the work outlined by the ECW when the authorities are ready for them to start.

The personnel at present is 169 and when the full quota is reached there will be 200 housed at the camp.

Completion of all the work on the camp will be accomplished the latter part of next week, and at present the boys are helping finish up the camp and doing the necessary policing and other detail work.

No orders have yet been received as to when the ECW work will actually start, but it is thought that it will be a week or two, on account of the men having to receive their shots and make other preparations as to housing and living conditions before the work will begin.

R. H. Williams, who is also Educational Adviser of the Neff Park CCC camp, has been ordered to include the local camp under his supervision, according to Robert Cook, Company Clerk.

for the new Federal Building which is to be erected in Gatesville. This report is untrue. Proper blanks have been furnished to all parties requesting same of me. A supply is still available and will be cheerfully furnished to any bonafide agent or owner who desires to submit a proposal. Any one who desires a blank will please see me in time to submit their proposal prior to the opening of bids at the post office at 9 a. m., September 9th, 1935.

Tom F. Reese Former District Attorney Here Thanks the Voters

Former District Attorney Tom F. Reese who has recently resigned as District Attorney and accepted a position with the United States Treasury Department presents here with a statement to the people of this district, giving reasons for his designation and thanking those of this district for favors shown him while in office as District Attorney.

Mr. Reese's letter is as follows:

To the Citizens of the 52nd Judicial District:

Last year the citizens of this District elected me to the office of District Attorney, and to show my appreciation for that honor I gave the best service that I could. A few weeks ago I was offered an appointment in the United States Treasury Department I took into consideration not only the duty which I owe to my family and myself, but also my obligation to the citizenship of our District. I believed that if I accepted this appointment I would still be serving the citizenship but in a broader and more useful field. Therefore, I resigned the office of District Attorney to accept the greater opportunity and responsibility.

In whatever work I may be called on to do, I have no higher ambition than to turn in a record which may show in a substantial way my honest appreciation for the good will and support which the people of my home district have so generously given to me, and without which such progress as I might lay claim to would never have been possible.

Sincerely yours,
TOM F. REESE.

REGAL THEATER TO INSTALL WESTERN ELECTRIC SOUND SYSTEM

L. B. Brown, owner and manager of the Regal Theater, has stated to a News' reporter that soon hear and see talking pictures produced on his screen by the world's greatest sound system—Western Electric Wide Range. Mr. Brown states that this is the finest sound system that brains can build—made by the same people who build your telephones. The purchase order was given Wednesday of this week to the Electrical Research Products, Inc. The equipment will arrive in Gatesville about the tenth day of next month—September.

Mr. Brown says that 75 per cent of the new season's products will be made with wide range sound and with his new system the Regal patrons will absolutely miss nothing. So far, there are only a few Wide Range systems in the state. Only two pictures so far have been made wide range. With this new set-up the Regal Theater will be first in Gatesville with the very latest word in sound production, the same that is in the world's largest theaters in New York City. Mr. Brown says you've never heard talking pictures until you have heard Wide Range.

OFFICIALS OUTLINE ACTION AGAINST SLOT AND MARBLE MACHINES

Due to the increase of and widespread operation of various types of marble machines, slot machines, and gambling devices in Coryell County, and due to the further fact many of the operators of these machines may be unaware that the operation of these machines is illegal, we wish to request the cooperation of the citizens of this county in disposing of the objectionable devices without delay and without the necessity of criminal prosecution. We will be glad to give anyone desiring the same, the benefit of any information which we have with reference to the legality of devices now being operated by them.

RAM AND BILLY SALE SEPT. 9; FREE PENS FOR ALL

Under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, Lions' Club, County Agent Guy Powell and W. E. Lasseter, H. S. Vocational Agriculture teacher, Coryell County is to have the First Annual Ram and Billy Sale, Monday, September 9, at Faunteroy's Crossing.

Sheep and goat men from all parts of this and surrounding counties will be present with their offerings, and all stockmen desiring to sell theirs will bring them in on that day.

Ample pen space will be available without cost to the stockmen, and buyers are assured that quality animals will be available on the day of the sale. Breeders, buyers, and men who appreciate quality animals must co-operate to make this First Annual Ram and Billy Sale a success, and we are informed that this will not be an auction sale.

WIFE OF TOM CONNALLY DIES SUDDENLY IN WASHINGTON

Funeral services for Mrs. Tom Connally, wife of the junior senator from Texas, was held at 5 o'clock at the Connally home in Marlin. Officiating, were the Reverends H. S. Munger, S. D. Dollahite of the First Baptist Church, Marlin, and J. W. Bergin of Georgetown, former pastor at Marlin.

Mrs. Connally died unexpectedly of a heart attack in the office of her husband Monday afternoon in Washington. Congressman Connally was called from the Congressional chamber when his wife was stricken, but was assured by her that she would be alright. Thirty minutes later Mrs. Connally had another stroke and Mr. Connally was called, her death coming a short time later.

Notables at the funeral were Governor James V. Allred and Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt, Congressman Luther Johnson of Corsicana, Edgar Witt, chairman of the United States Mexican Claims Commission.

Supt. Williams Details Information For School Opening September 14

In order that all students and prospective students might be fully informed relative to the opening procedure of the Gatesville Schools this information is herewith given.

All schools will open on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, September 14. All pupils in all grades are expected to be present at that time, including those who have enrolled prior to that time. After the opening program in the gymnasium enrollment will begin in the elementary school and will continue in the high school. As enrollment is completed text books will be issued. Beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Saturday, a short schedule of classes for lesson assignments will be run so that regular classwork can begin at 8:45 the following Monday.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 9, 10, 11, and 12 are set aside for the enrollment of all senior students in the high school and for all students who have not previously attended the Gatesville High School, except Gatesville seventh grade graduates. Pupils who come on these days may enroll at the high school at any time convenient to them. Each pupil must bring a transcript of his work from his rural school and must also present a rural high school tuition certificate properly signed by the trustees of the rural school. These blanks may be had from the office of the county superintendent or from the high school office.

Entrance examinations will be scheduled on Monday morning, September 9, at 10 o'clock. All students from unclassified rural schools and who expect to graduate from this high school in one year must be present for these entrance examinations. Procedure for the examinations will be explained at that time.

All high school students from classified rural schools will be admitted on their regular grade level. Students from non-classified rural schools must take entrance examinations or spend a minimum of two years in this high school before graduation.

Each prospective student is urged to watch this paper for a complete list of graduation requirements and to plan his work to fit these requirements. There will be published also a complete high school schedule from which each student may make his own selection of courses. Assistance in enrollment will be given by teachers at the above designated time. All students not covered by the above enrollment dates will enroll on Saturday morning, September 14.

HOBNOBBING

Hobnobbing—slang according to Literature, but it's in the Blue Book, when it comes down to brass tacks as to value. Palavering, or just plain visiting is what we are referring to.

Recently, about twenty-five local citizens representing a local club visited folks in a certain community (Pearl to be exact) and both the visitors and the visited had a whale of a time, especially the visitors. We believe this visiting gets both parties somewhere. They, both of them, entertained and were entertained. It was no "stiff necked" affair with a lot of "soft soap" from both sides. It was a friendly, co-operative effort on the part of both visitors and visited to become acquainted on a rockbottom basis, without any of the sham and pretense, so usual with a meeting of this type.

Visits of this sort get someone somewhere, whether that someone be from one community or another. It's the congenial atmosphere that counts, not the program, the banquet, or anything that is said, but the heart and soul of the affair that leaves the lasting impression.

This is one of the best ideas that has been started in this section and we are anxiously hoping to see that it is furthered and in this way. In reference to people in Gatesville, we can say that those in the other communities will KNOW that we are "just country people moved to town," and that we are technically and actually interested in their well being and progress, even tho we do not make our livings actually in their community.

Such a movement as this is what cements relationships, promotes good will and helps to solidify action and efforts in any county, state or nation. More of it, that's what we say!

BLIND CORNERS

Stop—Boulevard—Thru Traffic! All signs of the times and designed to stop traffic at strategic points. We have these at Main and Leon at Lutterloh Avenue, and again on Main and Eighth, but since the building of the First Baptist Church at Main and 10th, no corner in town needs a STOP signal as badly.

This corner is particularly "blind" and with the construction going on now, it is even worse than it will be when completed. However, when the building is completed, it will probably be necessary for a stop signal to be placed there—and to be observed—because that's a perfect setting for "the perfect accident" with no one to tell the tale. It's plainly going to be Suicide Street, with all its fixings.

Another, we've noticed in our ramblings, is where the "new" Highway starts. Not that there needs to be a stop signal, but there are a lot of mesquites growing on the corner which make it impossible to see until you are in the middle of Main Street at that point when coming out of Lover's Lane.

This is a suggestion that might prevent an accident, serious or not, so it's prevented.

World Comment

By JOE BYRNS

CONGRESS concluded its 235 day session—the longest since 1922—at midnight Monday, leaving behind a record of legislation that for generations promises to affect vitally the personal welfare of millions of American men, women, and children, the trend of business and finance, and the whole national future.

While spending weeks on end correcting defects in legislation hastily passed at the outset of the New Deal and meeting pressing immediate problems like relief, it found time to enact such laws as the social security act founding a great national system of old age pensions and unemployment insurance and to revise the country's basic banking and credit controls.

Following is a summary of major congressional achievements: SOCIAL SECURITY ACT—Provides immediate Federal contributions to assist the State in pensioning the needy aged; established a permanent Federal old-age annuity system under which 25,000,000 workers and their employers will be taxed beginning in 1937 and in return will be paid $10 to $85 a month when they are 65; established federal-state unemployment insurance system; provided Federal contributions to the States for needy mothers and children, crippled children and the blind.

NATIONAL REFENSE—Voted nearly $1,000,000,000 for the army and navy; increased enlisted strength of army from 115,000 to 165,000; authorized sedies of new air bases and ordered hundreds of new airplanes for army and navy; started 24-ship naval building program.

NEUTRALITY—Places absolute embargo on shipment of all war materials to belligerents up to March 1, 1936; authorizes President to prohibit vessels from American ports to deliver men or munitions to belligerent ships at sea.

FARM MORTGAGE MORATORIUM—Replaces Frazier-Lemke act which Supreme Court found invalid; permits bankruptcy proceedings which would stay foreclosures for 3 years, with farmers given right to redeem property after that time.

RELIEF—Gave President Roosevelt $800,000,000 for direct relief and $4,000,000,000 for work relief.

TAXES—Levied new taxes estimated to yield $250,000,000 annually, to be derived largely from higher income taxes, higher inheritance and excess profits taxes.

AAA AMENDMENTS—Gave congressional approval to processing tax rates and benefit payments to farmers in effort to protect legality of New Deal's crop control program; continued Bankhead cotton control act.

One of the unique characteristics of the session was that highest personal honors were carried off by a group of newcomers. Democratic leaders—with two exceptions—proved weak, incompetent and unfitted for their responsibilities. The Republican leaders had little to lead. In contrast to their elders of both parties, a little band of rookies displayed high qualities of enlightened statesmanship, stanch fighting ability and outstanding parliamentary skill.

Democratic leaders in the House were particularly weak and incompetent. Heading the list for all-around inadequacy was Speaker JOSEPH BYRNS, amiable, gangling glad-handed, personally popular with the rank and file but utterly without the capacity to lead or dominate.

As a result, there was no coherence or discipline in the overwhelming Democratic majority. Committee chairmen ran their own show in their own way, making it necessary for the White House to deal with each one individually instead of the speaker holding the reins.

Democratic floor leaders controlled the Senate with an iron hand, using the huge Democratic majority to overcome all opposition. JOE ROBINSON, majority floor leader in the Senate, supported the President loyally and energetically, despite secret qualms about many New Deal measures. Joe held his hair-trigger temper in check. He never winced at hostile press comment. He labored untiringly and patiently to keep his unruly command in line. That the Senate, contrary to pre-session expectations, cooperated more or less cordially with the President is due in very large measure to the skill and leadership of bgrly Joe Robinson. Robinson will be rewarded with a Presidential endorsement in his campaign for re-election to the Senate next year and is reported to have been promised a Supreme Court judgeship when a vacancy occurs.

Sharing leadership honors in the Senate with Leader Robinson was Vice-President JOHN NANCE GARNER, of whom all Texas is proud. Garner, who has spent forty-five of his sixty-five years in the pursuit of politics, is the power behind the scenes. During this session, Garner succeeded in getting in better backstage political licks for that Administration than any Vice-President in modern times. He is the presiding officer of the Senate—but his real work began when he turned the chair over to a colleague and wandered down to the floor to confer with Senators, when he chatted with Senatorial friends over a few highballs in his offices, when Leader Robinson and other Administration big-wigs dropped into consult him. For he is recognized as a wise old man or Congress.

Little known in Texts is ALBEN BARKLEY of Kentucky, assistant floor leader, who surprised his colleagues with the brilliance of his generalship. Barkley attracted national attention by putting the ubiquitous Huey Long in his place and dared what no other senator would do—went out of his way to provoke the Kingfish, then slapped him back into his corner.

The rookie stars of the session, Louis B. Schwellenback of Washington State, Sherman Minton of Indiana, and Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania, copied the front-page by taking the measure of Huey in his ill-fated one-man filibuster. With this as a starter, they have been hitting on all cylinders ever since.

One of the most striking personalities among House newcomers was MAURY MAVERICK who hails from San Antonio. Maverick is the grandson of a founder of Texas Republic and of a Confederate general from Virginia. He came out of the war with two distinctions. His great passion is freedom of speech, press and assembly.

ALL TEXANS ON RELIEF ARE REPORTED WILLING TO WORK

Austin, Aug. 28.—Hearing repeated reports that relief clients "won't work," Mrs. Val M. Keating, Director of Social Service for the Texas Relief Commission, has termed them mostly untrue rumors, and declared that the number of persons on relief rolls who don't want to work are so few as to be negligible.

"So often we hear complaints that relief clients do not want to work," Mrs. Keating said. "Relief clients," she reports go, 'are shiftless, worthless people who had rather lie around living off the government than work. They have been ruined by the dole and wouldn't work if they had a chance.' But so far all stories I have ever heard on the subject proved to be false.

"Now I don't deny that there are a few persons who might be called downright lazy, who won't work now and didn't work during prosperous times; but I do deny that they are the typical persons on the relief rolls. Some counties have had as many as a third of the population on relief, and I for one am not willing to believe a third of the population of any section of this country is worthless. On the contrary, I believe practically every person on our rolls infinitely prefers a job to relief, and I challenge any doubting employer to test this by offering a few jobs."

As substantiation, Mrs. Keating pointed to a survey made recently in Memphis, Tenn., on alleged work refusal by relief clients.

Out of a total of over 11,000 persons on relief in Memphis, the survey found, it was possible to locate only 39 instances of alleged refusals to accept work, and investigation of these revealed only two cases where no reasonable explanations were offered. In some cases the client was not fit for the work offered, he would have to leave a family of children, etc.

"A job is not always a job, so to speak," Mrs. Keating emphasized, pointing out for example that "for a man who has always worked in an office to get out in the hot August sun and try to pick cotton would be almost suicidal."

Relief administrators in Texas have standing instructions to strike off the relief rolls anybody who refuses a job in private employment, yet so far the rule has had to be invoked scarcely at all, Mrs. Keating continued. "No relief offices in Texas have been shut down to force clients into the cotton fields, because the clients are eager for work, as indicated by the fact that farmers have not complained about not being able to get pickers." The National Re-employment Service has reported similarly, saying its offices are being flooded by cotton pickers asking for cotton picking jobs, rather than by farmers asking for pickers.

"I have instructed case workers to be on the look-out particularly for relief clients who won't accept work," Mrs. Keating concluded. "Until some are found, I'll continue to believe the people who are on relief rolls are the same Americans who weren't afraid of work in 1929, who aren't afraid of work now, and who, in fact, had rather have jobs than be on relief and will prove it if given a chance."

SCHOOL LUNCHES BY RELIEF NOT IN PROGRAM FOR 1935

Austin, Aug. 28.—Sounding another reminder that the days of "relief business" in Texas are numbered, the Texas Relief Commission has informed district administration offices that the school lunch program which last year aided in providing lunches for 51,000 children weekly, will not be resumed this year.

Following up repeated suggestions that citizens look to their own resources, officials have urged that Parent Teacher Associations, men's and women's service clubs, church societies, and other organizations continue the school lunch program in communities where it is still needed.

"With our funds definitely limited, we would not be justified in making plans for a year's program for needy school children when we probably could not carry it out," Mrs. Val M. Keating, Director of Social Service, said in recommending that private, local organizations continue the lunch program.

Last year the Relief Commission sponsored projects in 94 schools, furnishing daily lunches for 9350 children a week, and jointly sponsored projects with local organizations in 721 other schools, furnishing lunches for 42,091 children a week.

MOTHER OF MRS. A. SHIRLEY PASSES AWAY AT HER HOME

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Merrell departed from this life August 18, having reached the age of 93 years, 10 months and twenty days. She was born in Hemstead County, Arkansas, September 28, 1841. In 1842 she moved with her parents to Union county, Arkansas, where they remained seven years. In 1849 they moved to Jasper County, Texas. Her mother died December 25, 1850, leaving her an orphan, the youngest child in a family of eight. She professed religion at the age of ten in prayer around the altar and in her home. At the age of 13 she joined the M. E. Church South. She has been a constant and faithful member of that Church for the past 80 years. November 29, 1857 she was married to Alexandria Merrell. She and her husband moved to Hill County in 1870 and settled near Irene.

She is survived by eleven children, one deceased; E. R. Merrell of Shallowater; Mrs. J. J. Davis, James A. Merrell, O. O. Dale, Mrs. W. B. Merrell, all of Irene; Mrs. A. P. Northern of Coolidge; Mrs. T. L. Shirley, W. W. Merrell, both of Frost; J. E. Merrell of Mertous; Mrs. Nora Reed of Irene and Mrs. A. Shirley of Gatesville.

Mrs. Merrell has fifty-one surviving grandchildren, one hundred great grandchildren and six great-great grandchildren.

A vacant place in her home that can never be filled, her face here on earth we will see no more, "but weep not" for she has gone to a place of rest. A good true christian has gone from this world to a better place. Her good life has a great inspiration to her sorrowing relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. M. C. Calley, assisted by Rev. Pitman of Frost. Her remains were laid to rest in the Salem Cemetery beside her husband who preceded her in death 29 years.

BETTE DAVIS IN NEW FILM DRAMA COMING TO REGAL

Bette Davis, cast at last in a role in which she will be loved instead of hated by her audiences, is coming to the Regal Theatre Saturday night at 10:30 also showing Sunday and Monday in the First National picture "The Girl From 10th Avenue," a screen drama based on the sensational play by Hubert Henry Davies.

Miss Davis' work in "Of Human Bondage" established her as one of the screen's outstanding emotional actresses. Opposite Paul Muni in "Border-town," she added to her prestige. Now she has a part in which there is not only ample opportunity for her to display the dramatic ability for which she is famed but to which she can bring her fine, if seldom recognized, talent as a comedienne.

Supporting Miss Davis are two brilliant English stage and screen stars, Ian Hunter and Colin Clive. Others in the cast are Alison Skipworth, John Eldredge, Phillip Reed, Katherine Alexander, Helen Jerome Eddy, Gordon Elliott, Adrian Rosley, Andre Cheron and Edward McWade.

"The Girl From 10th Avenue" relates the adventures of a young shop girl who marries a society derelict at a cocktail party and then makes a man of him despite his addiction to drink, wild women and foolish friends.

Ian Hunter was brought to this country to play the part of Theseus in Warner Bros.' "Midsummer Night's Dream," and was immediately engaged to play the role opposite Miss Davis. Colin Clive has the role of an old rake who marries Katherine Alexander, who portrays a married and flirtatious gold digger who don't care how many lives she ruins to further her own ends. Alfred E. Green directed from the screen play by Charles Kenyon.

A national bicycle sprint race is scheduled for Sept 6 on Atlantic City's boardwalk.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE AND RELATED SUBJECTS

By W. E. LASSETER
 Instructor in Vocational Agriculture, G. H. S.

It is only a short time now until oat planting time. Coryell County boasts of being the banner oat county of the state. That is a thing to be proud of, but how many of you oat growers are proud of your yields? As you prepare for the next season's planting, have you given due consideration to the factors that influence your production? Other than a fertile soil, the three most important factors in the production of a high yield are good seed, a well prepared seed bed, and plenty of moisture. The first two of these factors are controlled directly by the producer, while the third may be partially controlled.

All are familiar with the statement that 'like begets like.' Poor quality seed will produce a poor crop no matter how ideal the conditions otherwise. It is to the best interest of every one to secure the very best planting seed that can be obtained. Just as long as we do not demand quality in the seed we purchase, just so will we continue to produce low yields and poor quality products. Too many seed are purchased for planting just because they are cheap. Cheap seed are nearly always expensive when the returns are measured.

Next to good seed comes seed bed preparation. The practice of breaking the land when it is dry and letting it lay rough and cloddy until enough rain falls to melt the clods, seriously affects the yield. Cutting the stubble before and after breaking will give a much better pulverized seed bed, better contact between the surface soil turned under and the subsoil, and a better place in which to plant the seed. You may raise the question as to whether or not you can afford to put in the extra time on preparing the land. Such a practice is justified if by doing so you can increase your yield from three to five bushels or more per acre, which is not unreasonable to expect from a well prepared seed bed.

Hazel Kelso returned home Sunday afternoon after an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kelso of Liberty.

Mr. Earl Davis is a guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Allen of Cherokee.

There will be an election of new officers and teachers in our Sunday School next Sunday morning at 10:30. All members are urged to be present.

Little Miss Charleen Kelso of Liberty visited last week in the home of her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelso.

The Davis families enjoyed a fish fry on the Leon River last Wednesday. Special guests were Mrs. Julia Hanna and grandson of Chicago.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Requirements for graduation from the Gatesville High School are as follows:

A total of 16 regular units of credit and two student activity units among which must be the following required courses:

English I, II, III and IV; History I and American; Algebra I and Plane Geometry. One unit in natural Science.

For students expecting to enter literary college algebra II and two units in the same foreign language are strongly recommended. Most colleges will admit pupils without these courses, however. Students expecting to enter agricultural and mechanical colleges, or other technical colleges, are advised to familiarize themselves with the requirements of that particular college.

There are only a few colleges in Texas requiring algebra II and partially none require foreign language for entrance.

Home economics will not meet the natural sciences requirement listed above. Neither will vocational agriculture.

COURSE OF STUDY FOR LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

The Gatesville High School has 30½ units of work affiliated with the State Department of Education. They include the following courses:

English I, II, III, IV; History I, II; American History, English History; Civics (1 unit); Latin American History (½ unit); Algebra I, II; Plane Geometry; Solid Geometry (½ unit); Advanced Arithmetic (½ unit); Vocational Agriculture (1); Home Economics I, II; General Home Economics; General Science; Physiology (½ unit); Physical Geography (½ unit); Biology; Physics; Latin I, II; Spanish I, II; Typewriting (½ unit); Bookkeeping; Economics (½ unit); Commercial Law (½ unit); Public Speaking; Music; Band Music (½ unit).

DUO ENTERTAINS LIONS AT REGULAR WED. LUNCHEON

A "sister act" consisting of popular vocal numbers was the treat in store for the regular

Rev. E. W. McBride, former pastor of this church, was the only visitor.

FORMER CORYELL COUNTY TEACHER KAPPA DELTA PHI AT NTSTC

Miss Ruth Rankin, a senior in North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, has proved to be one of the institution's distinguished scholars. She has been studying there during the summer terms, and was elected to membership of the KAPPA DELTA PHI Society, which is a National Honorary Scholarship organization.

Out of the approximately three thousand students enrolled, there were only thirty-three initiated into the Kappa Delta Phi. Miss Rankin is specializing in Home Economics and has done outstanding work in that department.

She has formerly taught at the Antelope and White Hall Schools respectively. Before moving to South Texas, where she is making her home now, Miss Rankin was a resident of the Ireland Community, and all of her teaching experience has been in this county.

Miss Rankin for the coming year has a position as head of the Home Economics Department in Harper School system near Kerrville, Texas.

The producer in his second check will receive 20c per bu. for corn, and $7.50 per head for hogs, less expense of the association which we do not know at this time.

In estimating corn payment the bushels in consideration are those derived from multiplying the reduced acres by the adjusted yield. Checks have been received for most of Group L and Group II, and Group III has been approved by the state board and contract will be ready to sign Saturday, Aug. 31.

As to how the Groups are arranged, Group L is that signer who had a Corn-Hog Contract last year and made no change this year. Group II is that signer who didn't have a Contract last year (and who does not have a hog base) and the last year signers who have changed this year. Group III is the signer who is establishing a hog base this year for the first time.

The reason for delay of Group III is due to extra procedure that is required in establishing a hog base.

It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make it a home,
 A heap o' sun an' shadder, an' ye sometimes have t' roam
 Afore ye really appreciate the things ye lef' behind,
 An' hunger fer 'em somehow, with 'em allus on yer mind,
 It don't make any difference how rich ye get t' be,
 How much yer chairs an' tables cost, how great yer luxury;
 It ain't home t' ye, though it be the palace of a king,
 Until somehow yer soul is sort o' wrapped round everything.

Home ain't a place that gold can buy or get up in a minute;
 Afore it's home there's got t' be a heap o' livin' in it;
 Within the walls there's got t' be some babies born, and then
 Right there ye've got t' bring 'em up t' women good, an' men;
 And gradjerly, as time goes on, ye find wouldn't part
 With anything they ever used—they've grown into yer heart:
 The old high chairs, the playthings, too, the little shoes they wore Ye hoard; an' if ye could ye'd keep the thumbmarks on the door.

Ye've got t' weep t' make it home, ye've got t' sit an' sigh
 An' watch besida a loved one's bed, an' know that Death is nigh;
 An' in the stillness o' the night t' see Death's angel come,
 An close the eyes o' her that smiled, an' leave her sweet voice dumb.
 Fer these are scenes that grip the hear, an' when yer tears are dried,
 Ye find the home is dearer than it was, an' sanctified;
 An' tuggin' at ye always are the pleasant memories
 O'her that was an' in no more—ye can't escape from these.

Ye've got t' sing an' dance fer years, ye've got t' romp an' play,
 An' learn t' love the things ye have by usin' 'em each day;
 Even the roses 'round the porch must blossom year by year
 Afore they 'come a part o' ye, suggestin' someone dear
 Who used t' love 'em long ago, an' trained 'em jes' t' run
 The way they do, so's they would get the early mornin' sun;
 Ye've got t' love each brick an' stone from cellar up t' dome;
 It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make a home.

PAINT COSTS ARE BASED ON ANNUAL OUTLAY

The annual cost of upkeep painting cannot be based on initial outlay. Instead, the home owner should consider his expenditures for surface protection from the standpoint of annual cost.

Use of cheap paint, for example, may seem to save a few dollars in initial cost, but most "cheap" paints need relacing in less than half the normal life-time of a good quality paint. Counting these replacement operations, low grade materials usually run up to three times the annual cost of better paints.

Here is an actual case: A home received a "cheap" paint job, costing $148 to put on. After a year and a half, the paint began to scale off and crack, unable to resist the weather. Another painter was called in, and he pointed out that the house must be "un-painted" before it could be re-painted. By this he meant that the scaled paint must be burned or scraped off, at an added cost of $90. The total cost thus far is $238, or $158 a year, and still more must be laid out for a priming cost.

On the other hand, the home owner could have had the original job done with a good grade of paint for $162. Had he done so, his property would have been in good condition after three years' wear. Good paint will not crack or scale. Instead, it wears down by gradually chalking, leaving a perfect surface for new paint. No burning and scraping will be necessary at repainting time, and no new priming cost will have to be applied.

Touch Walls

Wall materials that will withstand much rough treatment are found to be a necessity in bath and shower rooms. Wainscoting materials that are durable and now available that can be easily applied directly over the old surface. These materials will not warp, corrode or strain and are easily washed. Similar installations also modernize, beautifully, and make kitchens more hygienic.

Cover Floors

Covering old floors with any of the new floor coverings now on the market makes for cleanliness, better insulation and beautification of the home. Soiled scratched or cracked floors may be improved in this manner at small cost.

Any Building Investment Is as Sound as THE MATERIAL USED

When a home or any remodeling on a home is being planned—it is planned to endure. Hence, it becomes an investment—in time, in labor and in money. And, like all other investments, it must be a sound one. Reputable, quality materials, more than any other element in the building of home improvements, are essential to the soundness of the investment that those improvements represent. If help is needed in selecting the right materials for your remodeling job, we can help you.

LAKESIDE For Lazy Summer Days

With vacation days upon us, and with them the call of the woods, streams and mountains, it is only natural that our interest should be centered on making the vacation as pleasant and as enjoyable as possible.

To add zest and sparkle to those summer week-ends, or to make the prolonged sojourn at some deepset, wooded lake more comfortable, the little cottage pictured above comes as a timely suggestion.

With its exterior walls of heavy wood siding, and a roof of weathered shingles, it becomes a part of the woods itself. The heavy chimney of fieldstone, and the random joints heavily pargeted with cement mortar, add a note of solidity and permanency.

The plan is simple and straight-forward, providing a large living room, which is also used for dining purposes, a compact kitchen, two bedrooms and a small bathroom. The spacious porch opening off the living room is a desirable feature and, as is usually the case with summer cottages, may be used for additional sleeping accommodations.

While the house has been designed as a summer cabin, it may be elaborated to answer the purpose of a year-around place.

The appealing charm, so well portrayed in the picture, is the result of careful attention to architectural and construction details as shown on the working drawings. The location of windows and doors; their sizes and general design; the manner in which the shingles are laid upon the roof; size and construction of fireplace chimney; kind of shutters, the style of the fireplace mantel; details of kitchen cabinets, bookcases and other interior features; all are important details to be carefully considered. These things and others, are clearly shown on the blue prints, and all go to make a satisfactory and pleasant result in the home.

Construction costs vary; and it is impossible to determine what they will be in this vicinity without complete working drawings.

Send $1 to Home Features Service at 84 Mobile Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Georgia, for the blueprints describing construction and architectural details of this little cottage. Submit them to several contractors for complete figures in order to establish, accurately, the construction cost of this little summer cottage.

FHA Plans Are Easy as Explained by Authority

FINANCIAL AID FOR THE HOME BUILDER

By EARL McMILLEN

Under the provisions of Title 2 of the National Housing Act, the home-owner and prospective home-owner is given the simplest and cheapest financing that has ever been available. He is given an 80 per cent (maximum) mortgage, with interest at 5 per cent, and twenty years to retire it. This type of loan eliminates the dangerous and expensive second mortgage; and is available now.

About Article 2

Before considering the mechanics of loan procedure, it would be well to understand something of the facts concerning Title 2.

First and foremost, it would be understood that the government is not advancing the money for these loans. It comes rather, from properly qualified and approved local institutions—referred to as mortgages; and all applications for loans should be directed to them. Title 2 made into a law, a device known as Mutual Mortgage Insurance, whose function is to insure the payment of principal and interest of mortgages. This is an instrumentality of the Federal Government, and is operated under the supervision of the Federal Housing Administration. It is a permanent measure and is designed to give both security and "turnover" to the real estate mortgage market. Now for the details of the financing set-up.

Approved Mortgages

All loans will be made by local institutions that have qualified under the requirements of the Federal Housing Administration.

Procedure

For those wishing to apply for an insured mortgage loan, application must be made at the office of an approved mortgagee. Complete working drawings and specifications covering the proposed new home will be necessary; and a detailed application blank, setting forth facts pertaining to the applicant and the proposed new home, will be filled out.

Eligible Properties

While this account deals mainly with the financing of new construction; nevertheless, homes already constructed—provided they meet with FHA requirements—are eligible for insured mortgages. (The charges in connection with these loans will vary, slightly, from those for new construction.)

Borrower's Requirements

The borrower must show a "reasonable" ability to make the payments called for under the terms of the mortgage. He will not be allowed to burden himself with an indebtedness which he cannot comfortably handle. His credit references will be investigated carefully.

Restrictions

$16,000.000 is the absolute limit for any mortgage and this must represent not more than 80 per cent of the combined value of house and lot.

Payments on all mortgages must be made monthly and must amortize the loan in full, in periods up to twenty years. The loan may be paid out in a shorter period of time if desired. Loans will be made on 1, 2, 3, and 4 family dwellings.

Costs

Compared to the mortgages loan costs of the past, the expense to the borrower is most nominal. He will pay interest at the rate of 5 per cent, computed on a decreasing monthly balance; a service charge of 1/2 of 1 per cent per annum, based on a decreasing monthly balance; and mortgage insurance premium of 1/2 of 1 per cent computed on the original face value of the mortgage. In addition—but for his benefit—he will be required to deposit, monthly, with the mortgagee, one-twelfth of an amount estimated for annual taxes and special assessments; and one-twelfth of his annual fire insurance premium.

There will be the ordinary charges which accompany any new mortgage, such as: continuation of title and legal opinion; appraisal fee—fixed by the FHA at $3 per $1,000 borrowed; and any reasonable brokerage fee which the mortgagee or lending agency may require.

Amortization

Twenty years is the maximum time allowed to pay off an insured loan. Because of the variation in time taken to repay the loan, the amounts required for payment of principal and interest will vary.

It will take a payment of approximately $9.80 per month to pay off a $1,000 loan in twenty years—including principal, interest, service charge, mortgage insurance, taxes and fire insurance. It will take a monthly payment of approximately $11.10 to pay off the same amount in 15 years.

Because the Federal Housing Administration, through its instrumentality—the Mutual Mortgage Insurance, is guaranteeing payment of principal and interest on the mortgages, it has a logical interest in the house that secures the mortgage. For that reason, the applicant's plans and specifications will be subjected to careful scrutiny by competent architects in the technical division of the FHA before a loan commitment is given.

Sound construction, good design and neighborhood conformity will be the main requirements.

5 1/2 Foot Tub is Best Seller

Bathtubs vary in length from 4 to 6 feet, the in-between lengths being 4 1/2 feet and 5 and 5 1/2 feet. The latter is the best seller because it allows the average person to stretch out with feet against the end of it. The 6 foot tub is slightly too long for comfort as the bather is likely to slide around in it.

Adequate Lighting Need

The boy will need adequate reading and studying light. On or beside his desk there should be a lamp with a parchment shade. The shade may be decorated with ships, airplanes or other designs dear and familiar to the growing boy. Another lamp should be on his dresser or chest of drawers.

Sturdiness characterizes the boy's room. All the furnishings, from the lamp shades to the rugs, should be selected with a view to giving them hard wear. Monk's cloth makes excellent draperies for the boy's room.

Hide Unsightly Devices

The tendency today is to cover up all mechanical devices, important to comfort, but unsightly. In the cellar, insulating board can be used to partition off wash basins and coal bins, while a guard made out of fire-proof wall board around the heating system keeps dust from filtering thru the house.

Radiators can be covered over with protectors and used as window seats or bookshelves. In the attic the ugly framework can be covered and homey rooms created by covering over the studs with insulating board.

Wash Stone Walls

Before painting, wash moss-covered stone or brick with water to which has been added to per cent by volume of carbolic acid followed up with the application of plain water with a stiff brush. The growth should come off easily under this treatment.

Build Cabin With Insured Loan

If you have a wooded tract of land, a log cabin for rental in the summer may be a profitable investment. Trees of from six to ten inches are usually employed, although larger ones may be used if a more rugged effect is desired.

If it is intended to use logs with the bark peeled the tree may be cut down at any time (preferably in the spring). If, however, logs with bark on them are to be used the trees should be cut in the late fall or winter before the sap starts to flow freely in the spring. All ends, knots, peeled surfaces and scars should be treated with a chemical wood preservative, such as creosote.

New Wallboard

A new type of wallboard is available now that can be applied over curved surfaces. It can be cut with an ordinary saw and nailed without drilling.

Noise Affects Nerves

Tired, jangled nerves after a day at the office are usually the result of too much noise. By treating office walls and ceilings with sound deadening material this can be reduced to a minimum.

Chateau Yquem is considered to produce the finest Sauternes wine.

Water proof wall paper that can be washed with soap and water is reported by interior decorators to be boosting sales of this material. Advantages of a washable wall covering are obvious for the bathroom, kitchen, playroom. But motion picture theatres have discovered its value for lobbies, hallways, and rest rooms; while churches also have found it suitable—especially for their social parlors.

Use of this type of wall paper is not confined, however, to places where washability is a prime consideration. It is available in many attractive patterns, and its long life makes its purchase and economical investment for general use in the home, theatre, church, or elsewhere.

Light Over Sink

An electric light placed over the sink is considered a necessity in every modern kitchen. It reduces eye strain, eliminates shadows, and provides needed light.

Build Utility Fences

Property owners who wish to build decorative or utility fences need not wait for delivery of seasoned posts. Records show that there is practically no difference in the length of life between seasoned and unseasoned posts.

Apply Brick Siding

Many houses dating from the 'nightmare' nineties, with jutting gables and overstuffed bay windows, have been changed into modern residences by applying brick siding, right over the old walls. Such siding completely transforms a house, and at the same time double thickness of old and new sidings means added protection against winter cold and summer heat.

Laundry Chutes Save Steps

Many unnecessary steps can be saved in a home by installing a laundry chute extending from a hall or room into attic down through the house to the laundry room. A door installed in the chute on each floor permits disposition of soiled garments and clothes without letting them lie in piles on the floor or on chairs, or kept on hangers or hooks until it is convenient to carry them to the basement. The appearance of the home is then improved as a result of neatness.

Value of Color

Among the interior decorators, most colors used for walls and built-in equipment in homes are classed as warm and cool.

Of interest to those who are modernizing their home during the warm months is the fact that warm colors include all modifications of red and yellow, from the palest straw tint down through orange and brown. Blue, green and grey are considered cool colors.

New Bathtubs Streamlined

Streamline bathtubs, modernistic lavatories and artistic shower curtains are among the 1935 offerings to the home owners who plan to modernize their old bathrooms or build new ones. And, at the same time, it is said that costs are the lowest in twenty years.

Practically everything that goes into the equipment of a bathroom has been improved in design, both from the engineering and artistic viewpoints; in durability, ease of operation and reduced cost of maintenance.

The 1935 bathtub is streamlined, fitting snugly against the wall with its sides built low for easy access and with a flat bottom to minimize the danger of slipping. As an additional protection, handrails and grab bars are available for the tub and for the walls. The spout has been enlarged to allow quicker filling, and the drain area increased for faster draining.

New wash basins are made with glistening surfaces which retain their high luster indefinitely and are as easy to clean as china plates. Some have gracefully slender pedestals, while others have metal legs of modernistic design.

Shower equipment also has been improved. Beautiful fabrics which are both water-repellant and mildew-resistant are available for shower curtains. Handsome shower cabinets come in a variety of styles. New types of shower heads require less water and are non-clogging.

Closets also present a wide range of types—the wash-down, the reverse trap and the siphon jet—and a variety of styles. The newest development in design is a fixture with tank and bowl made in one piece.

The 1935 model bathroom is not only handsomer and more efficient than older models, but also easier to keep clean—a favorable factor in the eyes of the modern housewife.

About Oriental Rugs

Many home owners wish to eventually, have nothing but Oriental rugs on their living room floors but are unable to buy them all at once. One rug dealer suggests that they purchase a plain, inexpensive overall carpet and one good Oriental. This Oriental serves to give the floor an atmosphere of richness and the carpet underneath is far more comfortable than the uncovered floor. As the budget will allow, other small Orientals may be purchased from time to time until the floor is adequately covered, then the plain carpet may be discarded.

Insulation Blown In

An effective way of lowering fuel bills when modernizing a building is to remove a piece of the siding at ceiling height of each story and then fill up the hollow spaces in the walls by blowing rock wool into them through a pneumatic hose. This lightweight rock material also provides fire protection.

Paint Window Edges

Painting the edges of storm windows and doors, as well as the flat surfaces, besides adding to their attractiveness and beauty, protects them from deterioration by retarding the absorption of moisture which may cause them to swell and stick. Moisture resistant paints are usually preferred for this purpose.

Create Personality in Rooms

Many rooms in a house have a definite personality, possessing either an essentially feminine or masculine atmosphere. An idea which has become popular lately is the extension of this principle to the bathrooms in one's home—bathrooms one immediately recognizes as either masculine or feminine. Tile or composition Wainscoting with lighting fixtures to blend, and an inlaid tub, create a room very suitable for milady. Wainscoting running up the walls with perhaps a few prints on the space above; a shower partitioned off and wainscoted with the same material—means a bathroom strictly masculine in character.

Allow Paint to Dry

One of the most common mistakes of amateur home painters is that they put the next coat of paint on before the previous coat is dry. The rate of drying varies with different paints, with the ventilation of the place where the painting is being done, and with the humidity of the atmosphere. Whatever the conditions, be absolutely sure that the previous coat of paint is thoroughly dry before starting with the next coat.

Add Shower Bath

Nothing is more invigorating in the morning than a tingling shower. Why not partition off a corner of your bathroom, finished off with wainscoting.

Cabinet Type Sinks

One more step toward compact efficiency in the kitchen can be taken with the installation of one of the several types of kitchen cabinet sinks, developed recently by manufacturers of plumbing fixtures.

Cabinet sinks usually are made with a low back, so they will fit under windows. Drainboards, back and basin in most types are made of one piece, although there are all designed cabinets which permit the drainboards to fit over the sink. A narrow rim, plus a toe recess at the bottom of the cabinet, permit easy access to the basin for washing dishes. Provision also is made for ventilation.

HEALTH and COMFORT

... depend most of all on plumbing — good plumbing. Modern plumbing is good. It provides added comfort thru perfected convenience and dependability; it assures better health by supplying clean water and by disposing of all sewage safely and completely.

French Provincial Cottage

Five rooms and a bath—on one floor; as French as school girl's beret, and radiating more atmosphere than a Hollywood movie set. That's what about this little French Provincial cottage shown in this special "Better Homes Co-operator Section."

Talk about houses having personality! Here is proof of it. Charming! Rustic! Distinctive! Quaint!—they all apply, every last one of those descriptive adjectives, and more too. And that isn't all! It won't take a bootlegger's ransom to get this home. Waste mer time—the screened porch. In one corner is an open cupboard for dishes. A few steps away is the kitchen with its built-in cabinets and cupboards conveniently arranged. Downstairs, there are two corner bedrooms with a bath in between. Off the living room is a stairway leading to the second floor which offers the possibility of a third bedroom.

In studying this picture of the fireplace side of the living room, you find that the interior is as attractive as the exterior. The doorway to the dining room is arched, slightly; space has been eliminated and room sizes have been kept to adequate thrifty dimensions.

For the exterior walls, the working drawings call for the use of stucco over metal lath. However, white washed common brick, or a natural stone—painted white—could be substituted effectively. Natural wood shingles, laid in careless, uneven lines, cover the room. The entrance door is unusual and so simple that it can be made up at any mill without trouble or too much expense. On one side is a window light made of bottle glass set over a brick panel of the style and pattern indicated (see working drawings). On the other side is an attractive lantern.

The pattern is the brick of the chimney (see working drawings again) is of checker-board design and should be followed closely in actual construction. The planting indicated is as much a part of the finished job as the materials going into the house. It is the background and setting, so important for the display of this architectural gem. Don't forget the batten type shutters. They're simple but effective.

The dining room is large enough and opens, via French doors, to just about the nicest part of the house in the sum-and the mantel design is as simple as it is attractive. The sidewalls are given a sand finish coat of plaster; the three little casement windows are treated simply but effectively with a checked material in the manner shown. The door on the extreme left is the door to the closet. Beams overhead are not only decorative, but are constructive; they carry the second floor.

In planning your color scheme and decorations, an effort should be made to portray extreme simplicity. This little home is handed down from the French peasantry. Their tastes were simple; so, to be in keeping, should yours be. Keep the colors of the sidewalls, ceilings, floors and wood trim plain and subdued. For the brighter, more gay touches—get them in your rugs, dishes, curtains and other decorative accessories.

It is impossible to estimate accurately, the cost of this home without the complete working drawings; for on them are shown all the important construction and architectural details which go into the home. Write the Home Features Service, inclosing $1, at 84 Mobile Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga., for the blue prints complete. Have a reliable contractor, then, figure the cost for you.

peding their own progress and that of the entire program. It is hoped and believed that this type of delay will be avoided in the future.

With the Texas relief load composed largely of unskilled and semi-skilled laborers, projects offering work for this type of employee will find much favor. Road-work, for example, is most easily adaptable to our available supply of man-power.

Replacement of rickety, worn out culverts, erosion work on roadways, removing of sharp, blind curves, establishment of roadside parking places on scenic drives, and building of rock retaining walls on hill-country roads may be considered as typical road projects which will be welcomed by our examiners.

Possibly the best example of careful planning which has been presented for consideration is a Fort Worth school ground project which, although remaining well within the $600 per man-year expenditure restriction, anticipates a cost of a million and a quarter dollars. Replacement of gravel grounds and well-sodded, planted campuses and playgrounds is contemplate. Installation of side walks, retaining walls, drinking fountains, out-door theater, seating arrangements for spectators, and fencing on 21 school grounds in that city reflect the result of intelligent planning.

School houses in many smaller Texas towns are sadly in need of side walks, especially in rainy weather. Numerous proposals for side walks, gutters and curbs are expected from small towns.

Although our $600 per man-year expenditure restriction prohibits the construction of large buildings, WPA can do much improvement and modernization work on public buildings. County recreational projects, roadside parks, and similar projects may also be undertaken.

Sewer plant and water supply works, both needed in many small Texas communities, are expected to form a considerable item in our list of project approvals.

Often a neglected, stagnant pool or creek can be transformed into a parkway encircled by a smooth, pleasant drive with a small amount of labor. Civic-minded persons should study the potentialities of their own communities for projects such as this. Swimming pools and wading pools for children certainly can be assets to any town.

Useful surveys and research work providing jobs for white collar workers are acceptable but sponsors must offer proper management and supervision in order to secure state approval. Women's work, under the direction of Mrs. M. K. Taylor, will encompass such enterprises as sewing rooms, libraries, home hygiene, visiting housekeepers, and certain types of white collar work.

WPA Ready to Act on Applications

By E. A. Baugh, Project Director, W. P. A.

San Antonio, Aug. 28.—Possibly the greatest opportunity that Texas counties and towns have ever enjoyed for the development of their public facilities is offered today by Works Progress Administration.

That hardly a city or county in the state is not in need of some type of public improvement is a statement which cannot well be denied. Works Progress Administration is prepared to provide funds for the of different types of projects.

employment of labor on scores Equipped to handle thousands of project proposals promptly, the state and district WPA offices are at the service of every section of the state.

It is upon their own speed in submitting proposals and upon the care of design and planning exercised by Texas sponsors that each section of the state must depend for its participation in the benefits of WPA. Unfortunately, many sponsors failed to plan carefully the early projects which were submitted to the state WPA office, consequently im-

ALPHABET COTTAGE Named for Government Agencies

Did you ever hear of "planned economy"? Well, here it is in cottage form. We call it Alphabet Cottage, because it reminds us of those clever little houses designed by the government for use in the various alphabetical programs, such as the FHA, TVA, PWA, NHA, and other euphonious but perplexing abecedarian combinations.

Our Alphabet Cottage is small but attractive. Its architectural ancestry is English with a slight cockney accent. It is an ideal design for either a young honeymooning couple; or an elderly couple living alone. It would serve nicely as a guest house for a large estate, or it would make a pleasant cottage for the sea or mountains. It would be at home on a plantation in Mississippi, a ranch in Wyoming, or a farm in Iowa. All because it is correctly and efficiently designed.

The exterior walls are of brick—a common brick of soft, red shades. They are laid with studied carelessness, unskintled, and as though an inexpert mechanic had done the work. The roof is covered with wood shingles—the thicker the better—laid without precision in an inexpert manner. The door, casement windows, dove-cote, rain barrel, swinging gate, dormer, and foundation planting are all important details necessary for a satisfactory completion of the picture. These details are carefully shown on the working drawings, and should be followed for actual construction.

Inside, three rooms do the work of five. Off the entryway, there is a large closet for coats and out-of-door clothing. A wider than ordinary partition comes out into the living room to form one side of a dining alcove, and to make a combination closet and space for an in-a-door bed.

The bedroom and kitchen are separated by the bathroom and a stairway leading to the basement. The bedroom, which is in a corner and is airy and well lighted, has ample closet space. Just off the basement stairs, is another closet for the storage of brooms, vacuum cleaners, and other cleaning equipment. The kitchen is extremely well planned, having built-in spaces for the stove and refrigerator in addition to a wall made up of cabinets, work tables, drawers, cupboards and sink.

Because there is a basement, many of the storage problems usually associated with small homes, is eliminated. In this part of the house can be found the heating unit, laundry room, cool room, fuel rooms, and storage room.

In the bathroom there is a built-in tub, pedestal lavatory with a steel cabinet over it, and a quiet-action type of toilet. The walls of this room, for the sake of economy, may have a wainscot of either linoleum or oil cloth—both are good. This is true, also, of the kitchen. The floors, of course, would be very adequately protected by a covering of inlaid linoleum.

The most of this house will vary, depending upon the contractor chosen, specifications used; percentage of financing necessary; and the locality of its compactness and size, the cost should be comparatively small. To get an accurate figure, send $1 to Earl McMillen at 25 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, for complete working drawings—and then get accurate estimates from local contractors.

MOTION PICTURES TO BE STUDIED IN SCHOOLS

The extent to which motion pictures will be studied in schools and colleges during 1935-36, is evidenced by a report that sixty-three photoplays of educational interest will be released during the coming academic year. Seven pictures have been tentatively selected for use in motion picture appreciation courses and study guides will be provided to supplement a study of the selected photoplays.

This report was made today by Dr. William Lewin, Chairman of the Motion Picture Committee of the National Education Association's Department of Secondary Education, to Dr. Ernest D. Lewis, President. Dr. Lewin recently returned from a two weeks' stay in Hollywood. He is one of the first educators to visit the motion picture studios on an official mission. Dr. Lewin reported that he found producers, writers and directors interested in the Motion Picture Appreciation study and that he received the fullest cooperation from all officials while in the film center.

The success of the National Education Association's program last year has increased interest on the part of the Motion Picture Producers. "The producers recognize fully the value of the Motion Picture Appreciation Study and the relation of this movement to the future of the screen," Dr. Lewin said.

Among the new pictures of interest to educators Dr. Lewin listed Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" and "Oliver Twist," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Tolstoy's "Anna Karenina," Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," Scott's "Ivanhoe" and Kipling's "Kim." Other notable productions from an educational standpoint he said will be "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Knights of the Round Table," "Marie Antoinette," "Forty Days of Musa Dagh," "Three Musketeers," "Quality Street," "Last Days of Pompeii," "Faust," "Carmen," "Crusades," "Crime and Punishment," "Dogsworth," "Little America," "Life of Pasteur" and "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." Every studio is contributing its share of pictures taken from high literary sources.

"The steadily rising levels of motion picture quality accompanied by a rising standard of photoplay appreciation are forces that have helped to inaugurate production programs that will include grand opera, light opera, and photoplays based on the works of Shakespeare, Dickens, Barrie, Kipling and Toystoy," Dr. Lewin declared. Dr. Lewin also visited teachers colleges and universities and found intense interest manifested in the photoplay appreciation movement. The University of Southern California, Columbia University Teachers College, New York University and Colorado State Teachers College are among the score of universities that have already successfully instituted these courses. In view of the upward trend in the number and quality of photoplays of interest to teachers and students, it is Dr. Lewin's opinion that the picture appreciation movement will be rapidly adopted in schools throughout the nation.

LABOR

"Labor," five little letters, that spell civilization. Nothing is gained without it. Without it, nothing is appreciated. Even our nation honors labor and laborers, on each first Monday in September—September 2 being the day we honor LABOR this year.

Satisfaction, achievement, desire, pleasure, and a complete dictionary of human wants and aspirations could be spelled LABOR and mean one and the same, because labor, or application of yourself to the job at hand, is the sum total of human desires, and IT is the means to that end.

In relation to this LABOR DAY, we honor any worthy achievement, endeavor or honest application. Labor is technically and factually on the pedestal of glory this day of days.

Labor to the most of us means manual labor, and it is executive or, as we may say, "the brains" does, and each of them are as relatively important as the other. These "common laborers" do not receive the credit when the building is done, but they say, the architect did a beautiful job on that building, but the architect's hands would be tied without LABOR, and in realizing this, he gives labor its due credit, knowing full well, labor has made his dreams come true.

Labor may not be confined to manual labor entirely, because the laborer who has been a "white collar" worker will tell you that while he was a "white collar" worker, he also labored.

So, in summing up this labor business, may we not all be included—we all fill some spot in the very necessary set-up that civilization has for us, and unless we labor, labor in every sense of the word, there will be no advance in civilization, and what does not advance of necessity, retreats. So LABOR, we salute you, on this day of days!

this we are celebrating. Men who till the soil, miners, factory workers, mechanics, machinists, and last but not in the least, the day laborer, or "common laborer," who in the final analysis, furnishes as much to the progress of civilization as anyone we could name. Each of these deserves his place in the sun, and carves his niche in the historic annals of modern civilization. By the sweat of their brow, they do their job with the same zeal that the

PROPER CARE PREVENTS HOUSE SETTLING

Cracking of walls in a house or any other structure is caused most frequently by settling of the foundations, which usually can be prevented by proper precaution.

When foundations rest on filled or soft earth, they are apt to settle unevenly in the course of time and cause the plaster, stucco or walls to crack.

To prevent this settling, it is advisable to test the bottom of the foundation excavation to determine the adequacy of the bearing surface to support the loads to which they may be subjected. Test pits or borings will reveal the character of the earth beneath the footing and indicate the depth to which the excavations should be carried.

Whenever foundations or walls have cracked through settlement or any other cause, repairs should be made at once in order to prevent more extensive damage.

The majority of steel cabinets have a baked enamel finish. Wood cabinets are either enameled or heavily painted in white or color.

Railways of South Africa are handling much more freight than a year ago.

INCINERATORS AID TO HEALTH OF HOME

In modernizing or building a home where the owner does not have the advantage of having garbage and rubbish collected currently, it has been found that an incinerator is an excellent investment. It eliminates the necessity of making many trips, often to dispose of or burn rubbish and garbage, which often becomes unsanitary if not disposed of promptly.

Modern incinerators, some of which require no fuel, are now being used for the disposal of combustible trash. They also eliminate the fire hazard which occurs when trash is burned in open piles outside of and near the house or other buildings.

COLOR PRESERVES LINEN

Painting the interior of linen drawers blue not only makes them smooth, sanitary, and easily cleaned; but also helps to keep the linen white and accessible. Such drawers are especially convenient for keeping everyday linen.

Painted Furniture Into Vogue

Painted furniture, with the trend toward combinations of natural finished with color, is reported to be gaining favor in furniture fashion centers of 1935.

Modern furniture has been found effective in color. Bedsteads, chairs and bureaus especially, are adaptable to this mode. Prominent decorators are reported to be repainting old mahogany and walnut pieces. The same practice is noted among housewives in many cities. Paint dealers in many sections co-operate by furnishing suggestions in color combinations and provide patrons with color charts.
