EVANGELIST WILL CLOSE MEETING SUN. NIGHT

With Rev. John Kidd of Austin doing the preaching, the revival at the Presbyterian Church has been in progress during the whole of this week. This meeting closes Sunday evening.

Due to the rains and much sickness, a large number of the members have not been able to attend. Nevertheless, there has been a great deal of interest shown, and the congregations have been good.

Rev. Kidd's morning messages on the Holy Spirit have been helpful, and have been received with enthusiasm.

Five more services remain in this series of meetings: two today, Friday, one Saturday at 7:30 p. m. and the two Sunday hours.

There is a number of Presbyterians in the city who have not as yet placed their membership in the Gatesville Church, according to the Pastor, Rev. Jas. M. McLean, it is hoped that these will come and unite with the church. Bro. McLean also stated that membership in the church will help you to live a better Christian life; it will encourage the church; and it will encourage and help others to take their stand.

B. T. U. REVIVAL OF LEON RIVER ASSOCIATION

There will be a mass meeting Sunday, September 29, at the Dan Graves Bible Class room, at which time all the churches in the Leon River Baptist Association that plan to enter the B. T. U. Revival should attend.

The workers from the colleges that are to help us will be there and be introduced to the body. All churches are invited to attend.

FFA ORGANIZE AND ELECT OFFICERS STARTING FIRST CLUB HERE

Two classes in Vocational Agriculture of the local High School met late last week and organized the First F. F. A. Club in the county.

Officers of the club are Rev. Brown, president, Nathan McDonald, vice-president, Ray Byrom, secretary, Henry McDonald treasurer, Elwood Young reporter, Woodrow Hall, farm watchdog, Bernard Maxwell and Earl Scott parliamentarians.

This club will be a part of a statewide organization with its purpose to learn the principles of agriculture so as to be able to farm economically. Different livestock will also be studied with an occasional visit to fairs where farm exhibits are shown. The club plans for its first visit to be to the Brazos Valley Show at Waco on September 28.

HORSEY SHERIFF BUYS NAG WITH CITY WAYS

Sheriff Joe White has gone "horsey." Mr. White went to the local metropolis and got in a huddle with city officials there and they said they had a "nag" that craved the quiet country life, so a deal was made, and the City of Waco is short one boss, and Coryell county and Sheriff White are "long one boss."

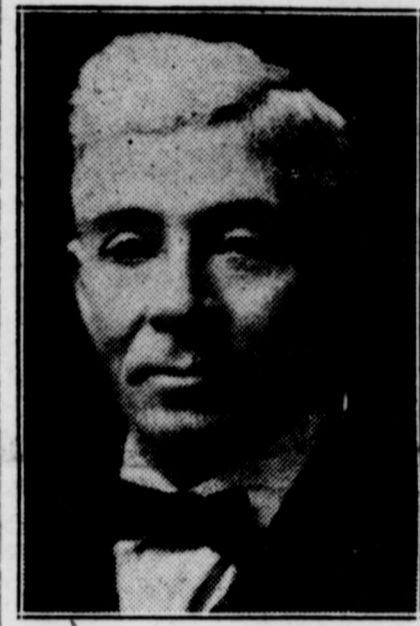

Looks like Joe's going back to the farm in a big way. A little later, we saw him pass with a wagon wheel on the side of his car, going east on Main street, destination unknown. Yesterday noon we overheard, accidentally, a conversation with a certain saddle seller seeking to secure a sale of a saddle to the Sheriff. Plug-gone it, we don't know but what we'd like to own a horse. But may be Sheriff White went to the Brazos Valley Free Agricultural Show and saw the "society nags" there.

LEADING CITIZEN PASSES AWAY WEDNESDAY

J. R. Curtis, prominent resident here for forty-two years, passed away at his home here Wednesday night, September 18, at ten o'clock after an illness of several months.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, September 20, at four o'clock with Rev. C. A. Morton, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Gatesville, conducting the services. Music was furnished by the male chorus of the First Baptist Church. Interment was made in the Masonic Cemetery.

J. R. Curtis was born in South Carolina. He came to Texas fifty-three years ago and in 1885 he started his railroad career as a telegraph operator in Waco. He was then transferred to the agency of the Railroad in Hubbard. Forty-two years ago he was transferred to the agency in Gatesville, where he lived the remainder of his life. Mr. Curtis' grandfather, and father came from England. His grandfather, Dr. Thomas Curtis, founded the oldest Womens College in South Carolina. Limestone College. After the death of Dr. Curtis his son, William Curtis, the father of J. R. Curtis, continued the operation of the school. J. R. Curtis was married to Miss Lee Bell. His only child, Knox Curtis, was killed in action in the World War in France in 1918. One year later his wife died leaving him the only member of the immediate family. The local American Legion Post was named in memory of his son, Knox.

Mr. Curtis has gone in and out before the people and has been one of the most useful and honored citizens of Gatesville. His honesty, fairness and thoughtfulness of others has commanded the admiration and respect of all with whom he dealt. His true christian spirit expressed itself in his innate kindness not only to his loved ones and friends, but to every living creature. He was the oldest agent in the entire system of the Railroad. In 1932 the entire group of officials and directors came in a special car to Gatesville to honor Mr. Curtis on his fifty anniversary

The overall and apron dance that was scheduled to be held last Friday night, which was rained out a week earlier, has been postponed until Monday night. This time, however, the C. O. says it's going to be held rain or shine; we'll move to the mess hall if the rock quarry gets wet.

HOW MUCH DID IT RAIN? ANSWERED HERE— MORE COMING

Dark Clouds are approaching, and we'll probably give the next rainfall report in feet or yards from the looks of things, but for the first part of the week, up until Thursday afternoon about 4:00, the rainfall so far is 4.52.

AGE LIMIT FOR CCC CAMPS LOWERED

Austin, Sept. 24. (Spl.)—Minimum age limit for CCC enrollees has been lowered from 18 to 17, State Enrollment Supervisor Neal E. Guy announced Saturday.

The ruling will apply for the October enrollment, when every eligible person in the state is expected to be given a chance to enlist in the CCC.

Enrollment will be open for all unmarried men between 17 and 28 whose families are on relief rolls. The dates are inclusive, and a person who has passed his seventeenth birthday is eligible, as is one who has not reached his twenty-ninth.

Mandatory discharges have been discontinued, and enrollees may stay in camps indefinitely. Also, persons honorably discharged may re-enlist, provided their previous service was not less than four months. Eligible enrollees, however, honorably discharged prior to October 21, 1933, may be re-selected without regard to length of previous service.

Guy advised persons in the lower-age brackets, particularly the 17-year-olds who are in school, to continue their schooling as long as possible, with the hope of enlisting later. For those who cannot continue in school, the CCC conducts an educational program in each camp, he pointed out.

GORY AND BLOODY

Only last Saturday we were asked, "Why didn't the local papers warn people about reckless driving, car accidents and help avoid some of these terrible and gasty accidents?" That's exactly what we've done—to no avail. They happen anyway.

From the Reader's Digest, a magazine of composite selected magazine stories from magazines throughout the United States, we ran a series of about ten articles headed ". . . AND SUDDEN DEATH." We do hope you took time to read them. They were all about such tragic and terrible accidents as that that happened on our own Main street Saturday afternoon. We quote from one of them which was published in the News:

"Cracked pelvis, for instance, guaranteeing agonizing months in bed, motionless, perhaps crippled for life—broken spine resulting from sheer sidewise twist—the minor details of smashed knees and splintered shoulder blades caused by crashing into the side of the car as she goes over with the swirl of an insane roller coaster—and the lethal consequences of broken ribs, which puncture hearts and lungs, with their raw ends. The consequent internal hemorrhage is no less dangerous because it is pleural instead of the abdominal cavity that is filling with blood.

"Publicizing the total of motoring injuries—almost a million last year, with 36,000 deaths—never gets to first base in jarring the motorist into a realization of the appalling risks of motoring. He does not translate dry statistics into a reality of blood and agony."

Now, the way we see it is this. FIRST: See that your own vehicle is in first class condition, including lights (front and rear), brakes, steering mechanism (all of it) motor (so that you can get out of the way if possible and necessary) and transmission and differential. SECOND: Obey all traffic regulations—Not some of them, when the cops are watching, but all of them. THIRD: Drive the car you are in, and don't just let it "roll" of its own free will and accord, and keep your mind on your business—which is or ought to be driving. TRY THAT!

World Comment

By JOE BURNS

Throughout the first two years of the World War, until Germany declared unrestricted submarine warfare against neutrals and belligerents on Feb. 1, 1917, Americans lauded at predictions that this nation would be drawn into the conflict then raging in Europe. But, unknown to the man in the street, irresistible forces were at work to draw the resources and manpower of Uncle Sam into the war on the side of the Allies.

As war clouds hover over the European horizon once again, thoughtful Americans wonder if this nation can be kept out of the next conflict that is sure to sweep Europe, if not today, tomorrow.

"Today" magazine in a recent issue carried an interesting article, entitled, "The Admirals View Neutrality." Mr. Raymond Rice, the author, asks the questions, "Must America choose between profits and peace?" and "In case of war in Europe or the Orient, can she protect her citizens and ships on the high seas and remain neutral?" In this, the first of a series of articles in this periodical, Mr. Rice tells us what Uncle Sam's Admirals think about it.

Mr. Rice first reviews an address recently made by Admiral Williams S. Sims, wartime Commander-in-Chief of all our fighting ships in European waters. This seasoned veteran who knows world diplomacy and the intrigues of politics as well as he knows battleships warned, "It is a choice of profits or peace. Our country must remain at peace. Our trade as a neutral must be at the risk of the trader. Our army and navy must not be used to protect this trade. We cannot keep out of war and at the same time enforce the freedom of the seas—that is, the freedom to make profits out of countries in a death struggle."

The Admiral, continuing, asserted that peace must prevail over politics, and then charted the dangers of any embargo policy and proposed an alternative course, about which this article is chiefly concerned.

It was precisely the lure of wartime profits, he pointed out, which defeated the Jefferson embargo before the War of 18-12, after leading some of the New England states to the verge of seceding from the Union and joining Canada. Moreover, in the desperate early part of the World War, and indeed until the U. S. entered the war, English merchants had successfully defied the British Government in shipping quantities of supplies to the Scandinavian countries, destined through the goods were for their own country's enemy, Germany.

It would, the Admiral declared, be not only politically difficult, but in all probability impossible, for any President or Administration to enforce an embargo on American exports during a prolonged war. "But," Admiral Sims added, "there is another course open to us. This course is for our Congress to declare that all trade in contraband, which nowadays means nearly everything, would be at the risk of the traders; and that no compensation for loss by action of belligerents would be demanded by our government." That is, he advocated nonprotection, rather than prohibition, a course which would require only passive steps by the government rather than prohibitory action.

The Admiral's views aroused the widest interest. They were important as coming from the man who had so vast a practical experience of the workings of our traditional freedom of the seas policy. But the question at once arose: Was the Admiral alone in his opinion? What do the other senior officers of the navy think, those upon whom would rest the responsibility in the event of war, men who all their lives have had to consider the problems of naval policy. Why not ask them their proposals for keeping America out of war?

The staff of the World Peace Foundation undertook to get the navy's view. It addressed three questions to every Captain and Admiral of the navy, active or retired. A total of 130 Admirals and Captains responded, which is ample proof of the navy's keen interest in the problem.

The first question was:

"Do you think the application of the plan suggested by Admiral Sims would be politically possible in time of war?"

Navy opinion is equally divided.

Fifty-six of the senior officers were inclined to believe it would be possible; fifty-four were inclined to think it would be impossible.

Those on the affirmative side felt sure the plan would be feasible if it were established in peacetime, so that the country would be prepared for the new American policy. Many emphasized the prerequisite of adequate public education, if the policy were to be politically possible. Those on the negative felt that business acquisitiveness and greed were more patent than patriotism. Many doubted the practicability of the plan because it seemed to involve all our neutral trade.

The second question: "If politically possible, do you think the plan desirable in the interests of the United States?"

To this the navy says: "Yes." Fifty-two officers say "yes"; thirty-six say "no."

The third question goes right to the heart of the matter: "Are you in favor of the adoption of the Sims plan as a policy tending to keep us out of war?"

Sixty-two are for it; thirty-nine are unqualifiedly against it.

A majority agree that our trade as a neutral must be at the risk of the traders; our army and navy must not be used to protect this trade. This central fact is of striking significance, points out the author: A substantial number of our most influential naval officers are eager to protect the U. S. not only in war, but even more important, FROM war, a picture utterly contrary to that usually painted of the naval swashbuckler.

Many of the Admirals and Captains who warmly support the Sims plan are doubtful of its ability to withstand internal political pressure. There is a questioning of the influence of American business interests and a suspicion that desire for profits may defeat the measures which would lessen the danger of war.

In effect, there, this searching question is put squarely before the American people:

Are we willing to risk the trade of certain groups as one of the steps toward avoiding the results of war for the entire nation.

Legislative Doings Told By Sen. W. R. Poage

Austin, Tex., Sept. 26.—The Legislature has been in session for a week and a day, and, as I see it, has gotten off to a very good start on a number of very large problems. I do not believe that it is hardly possible to expect this session to complete all of the work for which it was called in 30 days, but this does not mean that the membership has not been actively working on the various subjects submitted. It simply means that if the members are to study the legislation that comes before them, they must take more time than the public usually expects. Should you gather 181 men in any community, you would find a very wide difference of opinion in regard to all of the measures that are now before the Legislature. It would probably take more than a month before you could get 120 of these to agree upon any one course in regard to the liquor question alone. It would take an equally long time to get them to agree, if you ever could, in regard to the pensions, and then they would not have determined the salary that should be paid county officers, or the system adopted of taxation that should be adopted for the support of the old age pensions. This is not all that will be before the Legislature, however.

The writer has spent most of the past week working on the Brazos River Project. At the very beginning of this session, we were faced with the necessity of amending the Brazos River Act to meet certain objections that were raised in Washington. Senator Stone and myself worked until after midnight two nights preparing the bill and then were very fortunate in securing its passage without any delay. The House finally passed the bill last Friday, but put two amendments on it and sent it back to the Senate. Senator Stone was sick at that time and I had the full responsibility of handling the bill and succeeded in getting the amendments concurred in and the bill finally passed and yesterday secured the Governor's signature and forwarded certified copies of the bill to Washington.

A large number of validating bills have been introduced that are supposedly made necessary by rulings from Washington in regard to various Federal aid projects. In fact, it seems that this session will resemble the Regular Session in that one-half of its time will be consumed in acting on legislation to enable various communities to secure federal funds.

Both House and Senate have been working diligently on the three major purposes of the call, but the only bill on those subjects that has yet passed out of committee is the Small Liquor bill defining the term "open saloon." This bill is set for special order in the Senate Thursday morning. It does not attempt to set up a system of regulation, but simply defines the open saloon and prohibits it leaving the way open for any regulatory system. The definition would prohibit the sale of liquor by the drink, but would not prohibit private sales. I think this bill will probably be amended before it is finally passed. In the House a state wide monopoly of the liquor business has been proposed.

Both Houses have a number of old age pension bills and the differences are so great both as to the amount and method of payment, as well as to the means of raising revenue, that no one can intelligently guess what will be the final result. I have been especially interested in the matter of providing revenue to meet the pension bill, and have prepared a tax measure on this subject throwing the major portion of the burden on our natural resources. As is generally known, I favor the payment of an old age pension and I recognize that in order to pay any pension we must raise revenue. There have been some measures introduced at this session that would on their face provide liberal pensions for everyone, but which do not even take into consideration the matter of raising the money with which to pay these pensions. I think that such proposals are very unfair in that they encourage our people to expect payments which they cannot ever receive. I think that it is better that we restrict the number of those receiving the pension and the amount thereof, and then pay what we promise, than it is to promise a large amount to everyone and be unable to raise the money. Too many people forget that the state is in the same position that they are. It cannot pay more than it take in. It can only pay pensions out of the money that it collects, and if no money is collected in taxes, no pensions can be paid. I am enclosing some comments on the tax measure which I have suggested.

W. R. POAGE.

Stories From Reader's Digest Circulated by The Millions in U.S.A.

In a letter from the Reader's Digest, published in New York state, their article by J. C. Furnas, " . . . And Sudden Death," was published by newspapers thruout the United States.

Orders for over a million reprints in leaflet form flooded the offices immediately after its appearance, and indications are that this figure will soon be doubled and tripled.

Among the scores of large corporations placing large-quantity orders were life insurance and casualty insurance companies and organizations operating fleets of trucks or salesmen's cars, such as public utilities, oil companies, railroads, automobile companies, taxi operators, department stores and manufacturing and wholesaling organizations of many kinds.

Civic organizations, chambers of commerce, police and traffic officials, automobile associations, public libraries and school superintendents throughout the country have placed orders as have also many retail shops and banks, particularly in smaller towns. Several Y. M. C. A. secretaries ordered copies as did directors of CCC camps.

The Secretary of State of Wyoming obtained copies to enclose with every new license plate, and in the Province of Ontario, Canada, the leaflet is accompanying all official correspondence.

The New York City Port Authority is distributing the article to motorists using the Holland Tunnel and the George Washington Bridge. A judge in the state of Connecticut requires minor traffic offenders to write out the text of the article in long-hand in lieu of a fine. In New York City, Magistrate Thomas A. Aurelio of Traffic Court starts the day by reading in slow measured tones the full text of the article, amid the silence of the several hundred persons awaiting a hearing.

In scores of newspapers the article was reprinted in full, and where editorial reference was made, there was general agreement that the steady deluge of motor car fatalities is nothing less than a ghastly social tragedy of truly national dimensions.

A secondary circulation running into millions is the result of requests for permission to reprint granted to editors of weekly publications in the religious, farming, insurance and other special fields, as well as to the editors of house organs of many companies. IRELAND NEWS

The Ireland High School opened last Monday morning, September 23, and is to continue nine months. The school was standardized at the close of last school year and now affiliation is being made with the state to teach the Eleventh Grade. The board of trustees have purchased a new bus that will arrive Thursday and a bus out of Gatesville is being used which Bill Richardson of Murrell has contracted to drive, bringing students from Murrell and Levita to Ireland. We had a large attendance present on the opening with Levita and Murrell adding to our list. Quite a number of patrons were present to greet the teachers and pupils. We are looking forward to making this the best school year in the history of Ireland. We have seven teachers who have the cooperation of the patrons and students to make this a state affiliated high school of the eleventh grade. May their efforts in this great work be crowned with success.

POPCORN EXPERIMENT PAYS VALLEY FARMERS

A selected group of fifty lower Rio Grande Valley farmers has marketed 300,000 pounds of popcorn for $7,500 in an experiment for the Cracker-Jack Company of Chicago, which paid 2½¢ a pound. Signing of contracts for 1936 acreage is awaiting final results, but the good crop made is expected to result in an increased acreage.

The black walnut, formerly farmers' "pin money," is now a cash crop in North Carolina.

HORNETS MAKE '35 DEBUT TODAY 3:30 P. M.

LOCALS TO PLAY BRUCEV'LE-EDDY, COACHED BY FORMER CORYELLITE

This afternoon at 3:30 p. m. on Hornet Field Coach Tommy Schneider of Bruceville-Eddy, formerly of Coryell county will throw his young and inexperienced team against the Gatesville Hornets in an effort for revenge of the 7 to 0 defeat suffered by his squad at the hands of the locals here last year. Hornets of this year with much enthusiasm, and under their new Coach, Earle Worley, making their 1935 football debut will endeavor to overthrow the Scheidermen.

With the seven lettermen of last year Coaches Worley and Ewing have moulded a fair team around the veterans, and are in top form for the opening canter. Sonny Hair, veteran, blonde, diminutive back will probably start at the barking post. His mate in size, however, with not as much experience, Albert Dickie will open at one half, the other halfback position will probably be filled by Hall of Plainview or John Rufus Colgin, Dave Culberson will start at the full-back position.

The Hornet line which is to carry the burden of the team, and which is capable of doing so, in our opinion, will probably consist of; ends, McDonald and Clark; tackles, R. D. Meyers and Lester Williams, also the Adams brothers are slated to see service; guards, Wear and Chapman, also Lowrey; center, Royce Davis. Many others not named above will probably make the football debut this afternoon.

Coach Schneider with four veterans of last year, three of which are backs, will put an inexperienced team on the field speaking generally, but his backfield men may deal the locals plenty trouble.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand this afternoon to see the locals "shoot the works" over their hurdle Bruceville-Eddy.

COMMENTS ON TEAMS AND GAMES OF THIS DISTRICT

For the benefit of the local fans who are very much interested in the Hornets and their chances this year—A little dope such as it is.

Last Friday the McGregor Bulldogs were humbled by the Mexia Blackcats 37-0. Although Mexia is playing class A this year their rout of the Bulldogs was rather surprising. Mexia as a class B contender was never more than fairly good. Still McGregor was at a more than usual handicap, having only 2 lettermen back, around which to build a team. It will be noted right here that the team will be strictly a Jenkins coached team, as the team of last year was chiefly a product of Carrol Wood's making. Today McGregor tangles with Belton, a very strong team of a strong district. The Bulldogs will probably suffer another defeat, but hardly as great as their first.

For the fans who wish to see for themselves, on the night of Oct. 4 at McGregor the Bulldogs play host to Clifton, a team the Hornets tangle with the following week at Clifton. Last Friday Clifton was defeated by Rosebud a strong team in the district with Belton. This should be a good game in itself, outside of the opportunity to see in action two of the Hornet rivals. Clifton has six lettermen returning and the prospects of a strong team. The Cubs should take the Bulldogs.

You know of course the outcome of the Lampasas-M. E. Home game, two teams which the Hornets have on their schedule, playing Lampasas Oct. 4 here and the Home at a later date here. The chances of the locals winning over Lampasas are good while their chances at THIS TIME against the Home are nil. But it is quite a while until Nov. 15, the date for the Home game and quite a bit can happen between now and then.

Mart who in the writers opinion will repeat as district champions won over Teague, a district winner last year, 13-0 last Friday and takes on Hillsboro a class A rival today. White Marlin strong favorites to capture the district crown this year was the victim of an upset at the hands of Carrol Wood's Cameron club, district winners themselves last year, in that same district with Rosebud and Belton.

We're not trying to dope the outcome of the district race, for nothing is known, and there is no way of knowing this early, the comparative strength of the various district winners. But as the title hunt takes shape and the various teams swing into action against one another we will try to give a more exact idea as to the possible winner, and let us say right here "do not count the Hornets out."

In a recent vote on its "blue laws," Fayetteville, N. C., decided to allow the sale of gasoline and soft drinks during church hours, but voted against dancing after midnight on Saturdays.

We're kinda' blue, or maybe I should say this writer is. We were trying to give complete sport information in this section, and received many comments to the effect that "what we had was good." For that reason the writer has added two new members to his staff, and will cover the Southwestern Conference more thoroughly. Jack Hestlow, member of the local High School Press Club will assist the writer throughout the busy football season. When Does Straw Hat Season Officially Close?

We don't believe there is any specified date for Fall Hat Day. We've been watching the papers, and we have seen a dozen or more designated. It's the weather or the occasion that makes Fall Hat Day or No.

Seems to us, the first Football game played locally should be Fall Hat Day. With no objections, we designate (unofficially) Today, Friday 27, as Fall Hat Day.

Go to your favorite haberdasher or hat shop, advertised in this paper, and select your hat to appear at the meeting of the Gatesville Hornets and Bruceville-Eddy, this afternoon. We'll see you there!

Many Schools Opened This Week; Others Open Mon., Sept. 30

Coryell county schools are beginning the school year. The larger schools that were not running opened their doors last Monday. Gatesville, Turnersville, Evant, Oglesby, Copperas Cove, Pearl, Coryell City and Ireland are doing school work now. Flat was delayed until next Monday Sept. 30, on account of moving a school building.

The following schools have stated their intentions of beginning school next Monday Sept. 30: Enterprise, Mound, Fields, Coryell Valley, Schley and The Grove.

Schools that have reported opening date for Oct. 7 are: Plainview, Bee House, Topsey and Harmony.

School trustees should give the public notice of school opening two weeks in advance if possible. The opening date may be changed after notice has been given by an act of the school board and the consent of the teachers.

Teachers' contracts should be signed before school opens. Valid certificates of all regular academic teachers must be filed in the County Superintendent's office before trustees or the county superintendent can legally sign contracts. Trustees are showing splendid interest in their respective schools by making all necessary preparations for school opening.

Budgets of school receipts and estimated should be in Austin October 1. These budgets are made by the county superintendent working with the principals and board members.

State Aid blanks must be filled out as quickly as possible after budgets have been mailed. High school tuition blanks should be filled out and signed by the local trustees within thirty days after school opens.

The state score card which has in it most of the helpful factors of a good school calls for definite support and co-operation from patrons. This support is shown by attending opening and other programs. Children of parents who believe in the school, work with much zest and good will and usually receive good returns. These children grow naturally into places of leadership and progress.

Teachers' Institute for Coryell county will take place during the latter part of October. Standard tests will be given through out the county soon after the institute.

School news and suggestions concerning the school progress will be found in Notes for the County Superintendent's Office each week.

IN MEMORY

Miss Katie Bell Ward was born June 24, 1884, and at the age of 20 she was married to J. W. McKenzie. To this union three children were born, Otha, Wanda and Walter McKinzie, of La Porte, Texas. She lived in and near Patton for twenty years, where she reared her two fine boys and her daughter. Nine months ago Mrs. McKinzie and family moved to La Porte.

Mrs. McKnzie died in a Houston hospital and was buried in the La Porte cemetery beside her husband and children. She is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ward, seven sisters, Mrs. N. C. Holt, Mrs. L. E. Patrie, Valley Mills, Mrs. S. P. Merritt, Mrs. Troy Simmons, Mrs. E. D. Wilkins, La Porte, Mrs. T. L. Lack, Turnersville, Miss Bessie Ward of Dallas, and her brothers were G. F. Ward of Lamesa and John K. Ward of Gatesville.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ray Claark of the Patton Church.

Allred Appoints Parole Boards in Counties to Help Those Paroled

Austin, Tex. Sept. 26.—Governor James V. Allred announced today that parole boards had been approved in the first eight counties in Texas through the co-operation of district governors and presidents or local service clubs.

These county parole boards are to be charged with the community service responsibility of rehabilitating paroled or pardoned criminals and making periodical reports to the Governor.

In the past, convicts out of the penitentiary on parole or pardon have been "on their own" and the inclination to return to a life of crime has been ever present. Governor Allred believes that with responsible citizens in each community ready to aid these unfortunate men that the constructive and worthwhile purpose of making honest, law-abiding citizens of them can be accomplished.

It is the Governor's hope that service clubs throughout the State of Texas will respond immediately to the call for board nominations.

Governor Allred originated the idea of county parole boards as a means to aid the pardoned or paroled prisoner get a foothold on life again. The idea is completely new and has not been tried out before in any state.

Parole board appointed nearest to Coryell county is in Falls county. Those appointed from Falls county are J. G. Bargainer, Marlin; R. V. Walker, Sattin; H. P. Curry, Sr., Marlin; N. E. Stockton, Rosebud; G. H. Olinger, Marlin.

TRAFFIC WARNING

I wish to beg to state that in as much as our traffic regulations are being violated to such an extent that, for our best safety there are a few regulations that we must adhere to in the future.

Speed limit for Gatesville is 20 miles per hour. (This applies to all streets in the City Limits not just around the Square.)

Do not double park. (This is to leave your car behind another car that is parked in at the curb or in center of the square.)

When parking, be careful and park your car within two feet of the car beside yours. Do not leave five and six feet space, that destroys one half of our parking space.

Always stop at "Stop Signals" and intersecting streets, this is a great aid for safety.

Do not cut corners or drive across the lines on the square, back out (and watch where you're backing) then drive forward to corners and turn around buttons to make your turn. Do not park within fifteen feet of any fire plug, we must have this space for our fire service. Watch for the fire plug at corner of Perry's Lunch Room.

I earnestly ask that every citizen co-operate with us in this much needed caution and same will be deeply appreciated.

For those who do not abide by these rules and regulations we will be compelled to use other methods of enforcing them.

Respectfully sibtmitted,

CHARLES E. BAKER,
Chief of Police.

Even If Served Cold, This Recipe Will Receive A Warm Welcome

Baked Peaches With Wine

AUTUMN brings us a splendid variety of fresh fruits which the alert housewife may serve to her family. Even the most languid appetite will respond to the many dishes which can be prepared with peaches, apples, pears and many of the other harvest time fruits and vegetables.

Many of these fresh fruits will no doubt find their way into delicious pies, cakes, dumplings and other tasty dishes. Of course, a standard way to serve peaches is with cream and sugar. However, if your family grows weary of this method of serving them, here is a recipe which will provide just the right tangy blend to delight the palate.

Recipe is baked peaches with wine. The ingredients and method of preparation are simple and easy to follow. This makes a delicious desert served either hot or cold. If home packed peaches are used add 1 tablespoon Muscatel wine to replace the fresh peach pit flavor. A decorative touch may be given by placing a spoonful of whipped cream on top of each peach and garnish with a marachino cherry.

Baked Peaches With Wine

- 6 large peaches
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/2 teaspoon mace
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons any domestic white wine or brandy.

Peel the peaches and put them in a covered baking dish and add the butter, water, mace, sugar and domestic white wine or brandy. Grate the rind of the lemon over the top. Cover and bake in 400 degrees F. even until the peaches are tender. The pits flavor the fruit so delicately, they should not be removed.

WORLEY UNVEILS HORNETS TODAY

After three weeks' strenuous practice, the Hornets of '35 will make their debut this afternoon on their home grid-iron when they open their schedule by taking on the Bruceville-Eddy crew who is coached by Tommy Schneider, star guard of Gatesville a few years back.

The Hornet line cannot be called the line of steel but it is far from weak and is due to hold their opponents scoreless today.

With Culberson's line plunges; Hall's end sweeps; Byrom's blocking! and with the elusive ground-gainer, Hair, the back-field department is expected to cross the touchdown line about three times in this afternoon's fray.

COACH SCHNEIDER IS MUCH PESSIMISTIC ABOUT TODAY'S FRAY

When the Bruceville-Eddy eleven take the field this afternoon at 3:30, they will be getting their baptismal battle as well as the Hornets.

Coach Tommie Schneider, former star and who later made the Bear team of Baylor, is piloting the '35 squad of the B-E high school.

In a letter from Schneider, he stated that his gridsters were rather light, but the backfield is due to be strong as three of his returning lettermen are backs.

The two rivals are rather evenly matched and the public can be assured of a fast, 60-minute affair as the pupils of Coach Schneider meet the snappy Hornets.

Red and White Stone Effects Provided by All-Steel Bldg.

Visitors to the Texas Centennial who go by Rosedale and Snider Plaza will see what appears to be an attractive red and white building of stone set off by green shrubbery and constructed with careful use of harmony and color. Appearances will be deceiving because when Millard Storey, superintendent of Atlas Metal Works, gets through with construction work on Oct. 1 it will be an all-steel fireproof structure to prove that metal buildings may be beautiful as well as useful.

Attractive metal ribs on each side of the thirty-foot square building will give the effect of stone as will the roofing over the individual parking stalls. The place, designed by Mr. Storey, will resemble the State Capitol on a much smaller scale. The metal roof will be of imitation red tile with a dome seventy-five feet in height. An air-conditioned system will be installed.

NORMANDIE "TOOPLESS"

New York, Sept. 24. — The Normandie, the largest ship in the world and possessing perhaps the loudest whistle, came up the bay today without tooting once. At quarantine, officials of the line told the captain about Mayor LaGuardia's anti-noise campaign and he did his part by carefully traversing the most crowded harbor in the world without a single blast.

Spain lists its population from the United States at 1012.

What is a TATOOM?

ANIMAL, vegetable or mineral? Is it something edible? Yes. It's a vegetable. In fact, if it were not for the present fad for puzzles and mixing up the letters in a word and then defying you to unscramble them, you would recognize it immediately as a tomato!

You recognize it immediately, too, whenever you meet it in physical form, whether it is scrambled up with eggs or mingled with many other foods. For the particular virtue of tomatoes is that they add their own individual touch of flavor to any dish in which they are included.

Always Recognizable

Take a tomato omelet, for instance. Here's the way to make a most appetizing one. Chop one small onion and half a green pepper fine and sauté in one tablespoon butter till tender but not brown. Add one cup canned tomato sauce, one-half teaspoon sugar, salt and pepper if necessary, and three tablespoons chopped ripe olives. Heat to boiling and pour over the omelet before folding. Do you think you would ever mistake the tomato in this combination for onions, green pepper, olives or an egg?

Or take scalloped tomatoes and pecans. Here is the way to prepare this dish. Mix contents of a No. 2 can tomatoes with three-fourths teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar and a few grains pepper. Have ready one-half cup finely chopped pecans and one-third cup grated cheese. Then put alternate layers of the tomatoes, pecans and cheese into a buttered baking dish. Cover the top with three-fourths cup buttered crumbs and bake in a hot 400 degree oven for twenty-five minutes. Serves six. The pecans and the cheese contribute their distinctive flavors to this recipe, but it is the tomatoes which make it a triumphant success.

CARD OF THANKS

God alone can express the love we shall always have for the many friends who were so sweet and kind to us in the loss of our darling Christine. We pray God to bless each and every one of you and may you know just what a comfort you have been in this trying hour of sadness. We especially thank those who prepared the meals and brought the beautiful flowers.

Even in the old days women were forever saying they had nothing to wear, but now it looks as if some of them have not.

THE columns show how funds were spent in the first two years of the wheat program under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. All of the money, except a small percentage for the necessary administrative expenses, went for adjustment payments to farmers. For the first two years these payments amounted to $200,250,000. A reserve held for refund of floor stocks taxes at the conclusion of the program amounts to $18,900,000. Refunds on exports and funds used to promote exports totalled $10,500,000. The cost of administration was $5,900,000. Refunds made to millers who had paid the tax on flour that was used for relief purposes amounted to $3,500,000. The funds for all these purposes are advanced from the U. S. Treasury. Against these funds the Treasury has the income from the processing of wheat. The two are about equal.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

THAT THIRD MEAL

Every well-informed parent today knows that growing children need three full meals a day. They also know that school work calls for as much nourishment as a day of active play. As a result we find more attention being given to the school lunch problem. Not only are mothers providing better box lunches, but school boards are accepting their responsibility. Attractive lunch-rooms are being added. Competent cooks and dieticians are being employed for the large schools. Even the smallest schools now have a gas or electric plate or an oil stove. Equipment, however, is not the most important thing. It is what the child gets to eat that counts. Next to that we should think of pleasant surroundings and a congenial atmosphere for lunchtime at school. For most children who are compelled to remain at school over the noon hour, the school lunch is one of the three daily meals. That fact needs emphasis, for it is too often overlooked. It means that we should give just as much thought to the selection of food and the amount as we do to any meal at home. Leftovers such as cake and bread thrown into a bag don't supply the all-round nourishment the child needs. With a little more effort, the essentials for body building, energy, and health can be provided. In brief, some fruit every day, vegetable fillings for sandwiches, a jar of milk, soup, or custard, and a tasty sweet.

FOOTBALL CHATTER—

green crew of locals will go on the gridiron for their initial canter of the 1935 season. It is interesting to note the Hornet opponents are coached by a former Coryell county boy, Tommy Schneider, who after leaving here graduated from Baylor University, where he played on the Bear teams during his stay in that institution. Tommy is bringing over a green crew of lads, but they are well coached, and anything could happen.

Last year the Hornets defeated the Bruceville-Eddy aggregation 7 to 0. Schneider has four lettermen back, three of which are backs, and are capable of delivering the mail.

In the Hornet backfield this afternoon Sonny Hair will probably start at the barking post. Albert Dickie at one half, and Colgin or Hall at the other half. Dave Culberson is slated to start at the fullback position.

SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE

The non-conference games in which Southwestern Conference teams participated the past week end were nothing more than brisk work-outs and proved little or nothing of their strength in respect to each other. The scores were all rather large and pretty much the same in each game. In most every instance the score was run up, not by the overwhelming superiority of the victor, but by the loose play of the loser. So the scores of the five teams, Arkansas and Texas being the exceptions, proved very little.

This week end is some what different. While all the seven members play non-conference games, three of them take on different aspects. Baylor U. takes on the strong Hardin-Simmons aggregation of Abilene. The 9-0 loss the Cowboys suffered at the hands of Red Raiders of Texas Tech last week will leave them in a better frame of mind for the game than the Baylor victory over Southwestern will leave the Bears. The game to be played at Waco Saturday night therefore is apt to prove quite a battle with the Bears coming out on the long end of the score. It will be remembered that Baylor won only by one touchdown last year.

Texas plays her first game when the Longhorns tangle with the Texas A. & I. Javelinas. The Javelinas of Kingsville along with Hardin-Simmons rate as the best non-conference teams in the state. The Longhorns should win but only after they shoot the works.

Arkansas, also playing her first game, has as an adversary the Kansas State Teachers. The Teachers usually have a fair team but the Porkers should prove to be too big a "hawg."

S. M. U., T. C. U. and A. & M. take on about the same calibre competition they met last week. The Mustangs oppose Austin College. The Frogs take on the Teachers from Denton while the Cadets mix punts and passes with the Huntsville Teachers. The three conference teams should win quite handily.

Now for the game of the South—Yea for the entire nation. The Rice Owls, led by their two back field luminaries, All-America Bill Wallace and quarterback John McCaulley, invade the lair of the Tigers of L. S. U. This is the outstanding game of the nation for the day. The Owls seem to be in splendid shape, winning from St. Marys of San Antonio last Saturday night quite easily, using the second and third teams the majority of the game. The Tigers who played the Owls a 9-9 tie last year are expected to be as strong again this year. Yes sir! It should be quite a game, nothing more than a toss-up. But after the fur and feathers have ceased falling on the Baton Rouge gridiron I expect the Owls to be the winner by a feather.

So Sunday morning you can pretty well tell the true strength of Rice—What chance Baylor has in conference play—

How Texas and Arkansas stack up in comparative scores with the five who played last week and how much improvement has been shown by S. M. U., T. C. U. and A. & M.
