"BRUNO" MELBERN NOW EMPLOYED AT JOE HANNA'S STORE

B. H. Melbern, better known probably as "Bruno" Melbern, has accepted a sales position with Joe Hanna's store, and invites his many friends to visit him at his new location.

Mr. Melbern, who has been selling drygoods for years, is thoroughly versed in the needs of the people of this vicinity, and his advice can be taken as authentic in anything in the "clothes line."

County FFA'S Outline Work to Be Completed During This Year

The State department of vocational agriculture demands all organizations supervised by them to do a certain amount of local work each year. The two classes in Gatesville High School under the supervision of the instructor, Mr. W. E. Lesetter, selected eighteen items suggested by the state for this requirement. These were:

- 1 Weekly news story in paper.
- 2 Each member earn at least two certificates of merit.
- 3 Have one regular meeting per month.
- 4 Have project show sometime during the year.
- 5 Attend Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.
- 6 Hold Father and Son banquet in December.
- 7 Each member enter Future Farmer's improvement contest.
- 8 100 per cent of the membership of classes of vocational agriculture belong to F. F. A.
- 9 100 per cent of F. F. A. members in Texas centennial program.
- 10 Have an all year publicity program.
- 11 Have summer project tour.
- 12 Attend area encampment.
- 13 Put on F. F. A. play.
- 14 Conduct Sweet Heart Contest.
- 15 Have boys use pure seed for contest.
- 16 Prune 500 fruit trees, cull 1,000 hens and top work 100 pecan trees.
- 17 Establish educational classroom exhibit.
- 18 Attend district and state judging contests.

Several of the farmers in this community will be helped by this organization. It is not possible for all of them to receive such aid but the farmers who have boys enrolled in this class will probably be helped if the work they wish done is necessary to the Future Farmers training.

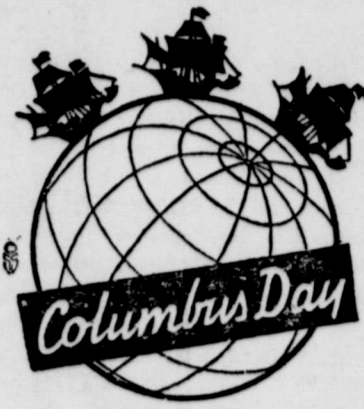

PINK PEACOCK POSTER PRICES PRODUCTS PERFECTLY AT HANNA'S

On what is claimed by some to be "the best circular ever printed in Gatesville," Joe Hanna, on Pink Peacock Poster put prices below his low prices selling winter merchandise at mid-summer prices.

Joe Hanna's Cut Price Sale Prices are calculated to bring in the trade, and for this very reason the prices are made this way, according to Mr. Hanna. This sale is store-wide. Nothing is held back. All articles priced are priced at Cut Price Prices.

If you didn't start this story Tuesday, read the synopsis today and start. This story is laid in a country similar to Ethiopia, where the present war is going on now. It will give a good idea of the country in which the fighting is being done, besides, having an interesting love story and fascinating plot. Incidentally, watch for billing of this story at one of the local theatres, as it is a Paramount picture serialized.

CHRIS COLUMBO

This old guy was just a poor man with an idea. He put it over with a Queen's help, and like lots of queens, she gossiped too much, listened too much, got jealous and had Chris put in jail. His idea was a new way to a new country—there must have been a "depression" in Italy and Spain—anyway—he's credited with the discovery of America. Came over here four times but couldn't stay.

Christopher Columbus, in all seriousness, did something for the world, and was not "just a good man" (not belittling a good man). His idea probably stopped more wars than all the peace conferences because, he gave crowded people a place to stretch themselves without hitting the other fellow, as is the case in Europe today.

We, reverently, do honor to another historic personality, the one and only CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, this four hundred 43rd anniversary of his.

Delmer Ramsey, who is in the CCC camp near Tyler is visiting his father, J. W. Ramsey.

QUINTUPLETS! FOUR! THAT'S NOTHING! 1 YR. OLD TREE HAS 111 GROWN PEARS

Of course, no Dr. Dafoe had anything to do with it! One hundred-eleven full grown pears produced at the tender age of one year. Born, reared, and carefully nourished under the expert hands of none other than Dr. M. W. Lowrey, and as a nurse maid to this unusual family, a male nurse by the name of Lawrence McCarver, who is also caretaker for the farm southeast of Gatesville.

These pears are Douglas pears, and are named Douglas, Douglas, Jr., Douglas III, IV, V, and on up to Douglas the CXI—one hundred and eleven to me and you. So far, no movie contracts have been signed, or no breakfast food has their pictures on the box, and the government hasn't agreed to act as their paternal parents and take charge, fortunes have not been spent on feature stories and photographs.

In a staid, solemn, dignified language, Dr. M. W. Lowrey has a pear tree one year old that has 111 pears on it. It is on Dr. Lowrey's farm, southeast of Gatesville.

Today Turnersville Is In Full Dress With Pure Food Show

All roads lead to Turnersville today and tomorrow, as the Turnersville Pure Food Show opens at 2 p. m. today. Programs will be presented both today and tomorrow beginning at 2 p. m. and lasting till 5 p. m. in the afternoons, 7 to 10 in the evening.

String bands, including the Ames String Band, the State Juvenile Training School colored quartet, who are a "perfect double" for the famous Mills Brothers. The Ames' Band features "Big Joe" Ward as soloist and the youngest Master of Ceremonies in the world. Many other enjoyable features will be heard, and there will be many attractive exhibits and booths.

Under the direction of Rev. Van P. Morrison, and the auspices of the Turnersville Methodist church, this celebration and Pure Food Show, is sure to be popular.

BROADCASTS OF INTEREST FEATURED OVER QUALITY NETWORK STATIONS

Extension Service broadcasts which will be of interest to farmers will be heard over Stations WTAW, WBAP, WFAA, KPRC, and WOAI, October 3 to 31 inclusive from 11:30 to 11:50 a. m.

These programs are as follows: October 8; How the Commissioners' Court Can Cooperate on Terracing, 10th, Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest; 12th Feeding the Turkey for Market; 15th Achievement Days With Home Demonstration Club Women; 17th, Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest; 19th, 4-H Club Work; 22nd Winter Campaign for Cut Ant Control; 24th, Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest; 26th 4-H Club Work; 29th, Trench Silos in Fayette County, and 31st, Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest.

FORMER CORYELL JUDGE DIES IN ARKANSAS; AGED 97

George Marshall Baines, 97-year-old Confederate veteran and former Texas jurist, died at Berryville, Arkansas, Monday, October 8, at the home of his son, George A. Baines, after a lengthy illness.

Judge Baines went to Texas when a young man. At Gatesville, he served as prosecuting attorney and district judge of Coryell county. He returned to Arkansas 42 years ago.

Dr. Ralph Bailey of Gatesville is a nephew of Judge Baines, and older people of the county will remember Judge Baines when he was district judge and prosecuting attorney.

POST OFFICE NOW OPEN SIX DAYS EACH WEEK FROM 8 A. M. TO 5:30 P. M.

Gatesville Post Office which has been closing Wednesday afternoon, will be open six days each week, according to Postmaster Wesley Ford.

Hours for the week days are from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Senator W. R. Poage Writes About State Laws Being Enacted

Only one week of this session remains, and, while none of the three major measures required by the adoption of the constitutional amendment have been finally passed, the session has made somewhat of a record for hard work. No time has been lost, but the matters before this session are simply of such a nature that it is hard for reasonable men to see them alike. This fact has, of course, prevented any hasty action, but now with only a few days remaining, the representatives of special interests are using the shortness of the session as a means of preventing the passage of any tax legislation. It is an old and simple trick to get four or five different measures pending at the same time and seek to put each one ahead of every other one so as to prevent the passage of any. The only piece of really important legislation that has passed up to this date has been the Stone-Poage bill which has already borne fruit in the approval of a $30,500,000 grant by the President for the development of the Brazos River Project.

A great deal more progress has been made on the liquor and fee bills than has been made on the pension bills, simply because the pension question involves such a wide range and is so all-embracing in its ramifications. It seems that the liquor and fee bills have progressed to such an extent that they could probably be finally passed this session, if we would take them up at this time and work on them. On the other hand, no pension bill has been worked out to such a stage that it can receive anything like united support. At least this is true in the Senate. The Senate sub-committee, which was supposed to write a pension bill, did practically nothing more than report back a portion of one of the measures introduced and made no provision whatever to establish any rule for qualifications or eligibility to receive a pension and made no provision whatever to raise the funds with which to pay it. It seems to me to be perfectly silly to pass a pension bill without a revenue measure embodied in it. We could promise every citizen in Texas a comfortable living at public expense, but if we had no money with which to provide it, the promise would be no more than a sarcastic gesture. The State of North Dakota pays only 69 cents per month in the form of an old age pension. If we pass a pension bill with revenue, we will pay even less than this, but if we continue to spend our time on this subject at this session, we will probably wind up without any kind of legislation either on liquor, fees or pensions, and incidentally those who are opposed to any tax on natural resources, public utilities, etc., will accomplish their objective of leaving the session with no new tax bills. If, how-

Recent estimates by government officials place the number of unemployed at 9,750,000. This includes those working on temporary government projects. Harry Hopkins works' progress administration expects to have 2,500,000 of these on work relief jobs by Nov. 1, according to a recent announcement. Hopkins has $12,100,000,000 (billions) with which to give these people employment for nine months, from Nov. 1 to July 1. By then it is hoped private industry can absorb most of them. At the present 1,126,000 are on work relief jobs and 1,400,000 are employed on the emergency work financed by the relief administration. When those on relief are transferred to the works relief administration, a total of 2,500,000 will be receiving employment, or 1,000,000 short of President Roosevelt's goal.

It becomes increasingly evident, regardless of outward Washington optimism, that this country is to be confronted with a permanent unemployment problem. It is the opinion of the writer that private industry can not absorb 10,000,000 unemployed by next spring or by the following spring, although boom times might return. For many of these millions there will be no place in the new set-up that is to follow the depression. An adequate pension system would help, leaving the new jobs open to the young. The two million odd unemployables—those who can not work because of physical handicaps or weak minds—should be returned to the care of the States and counties. This would help. Another step, drastic yes, but one that should be taken is the deportation of all foreigners that are not naturalized citizens. This would include at least 4,000,000 Chinese, Japanese, Mexicans, Italians, Russians and others. It would materially decrease the present relief burden and create many new positions for naturalized Americans.

There were 2,000,000 unemployed in the United States in 1928—the best year this country has ever seen. Many of them simply would not work, others were unemployables, others could not find work. This may be called a permanent class of unemployed and it is just that. The government didn't take care of them then—why should it now? We speak of the Federal government. We heartily approve of charities expended by local and State authorities for the old age, maimed and those otherwise unfit for work. How large must the permanent unemployed group be from now on? A conservative estimate places it at 3,500,000. How long will Washington continue to maintain 10,000,000 unemployed men? We pay. May we not rightfully demand an answer?

For three years President Roosevelt's crop reduction program has been in effect. During the next season 75,000,000 bushels of wheat will have to be imported to meet normal domestic needs. The 1935 wheat crop is now placed at 600,000,000 bushels or 50,000,000 short of this country's usual requirements. This information is furnished us by E. J. Smiley, secretary of the Kansas Grain Dealers' Association.

Throughout the world wheat crops have been smaller this season by some 25,000,000 bushels. Now when an opportunity is presented for the profitable exportation of grain there is no grain to export—and the crop reduction program was for the benefit of the farmers. If another major European war should develop out of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, crops in the Old world would tend to be smaller still and a serious bread shortage might follow. And there would be no grain from the States to feed Europe's soldiers.

Most important news on the Italian-Ethiopian situation is the action taken by the League of Nations in branding Italy as aggressor in the current war and voting to apply sanctions. If Article 16 of the League covenant is applied, all trade and financial relations between the League members and Italy must be severed. Great Britain is for a stern enforcement of sanctions under Article 16 but France would temporize and make haste slowly. The French fear that a stern policy toward Italy would bring about a combination of Italy with Germany. The French viewpoint will probably prevail and only mild sanctions will be applied that will hinder Italy little or none in its campaign.

Contrary to warnings of Premier Mussolini that "sanctions" applied by the League powers would mean Italy's resignation from the Geneva body, the Fascist Dictator announced this week that Italy will not leave the League because it has been branded as a war maker. This startling announcement pleased friends of the League the world over, but it wasn't such good news to one European dictator, Adolf Hitler, who would like to see the League as Germany, you remember, left the League in 1933 and was expelled by Japan last year.

On the war front, the Italians are consolidating their position, bringing up more troops, artillery and supplies for an attack on the mountain fastnesses west of Adowa, where the Ethiopians are expected to offer stiff resistance. Webb Miller, United Press correspondent with the Italian army, reports that Italian casualties thus far are negligible. This writer adds that, although the heat is terrific and the marches through day and night long, the condition of the Italian troops is excellent. The capture of Adowa (also spelled Aduwa and Adua) enabled Italian general headquarters to establish a single front on a line from Adigrat to Adowa. A road has been constructed along this thirty-mile front, being completed in forty-eight hours by Italian engineers and sturdy native laborers.

Emperor Haile Selassie is now in personal command of his troops facing the Italian advancing from Eritrea. The King of Kings, with 120,000 warriors, is expected to make his first determined stand against the invaders at Dessye, at the edge of the vast central plateau, which lies at a middle point in the triangle formed by Addis Ababa, Adowa, and Mussa Ali. (See map of Ethiopia.) In two weeks Selassie expects to have 600,000 well-armed men in the field and 400,000 others variously armed. (The Italian forces, advancing on three fronts, number more than 200,000 men, including friendly natives.)

R. L. BOWEN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF UTILITY FIRM

R. L. Bowen, formerly vice president and general manager of Community Public Service Company, was elected to the presidency of this concern at a meeting of the Board of Directors held in Chicago on October 2.

Mr. Bowen, who has many friends in this community, having made a number of business visits here, is a native of Van Alstyne, Texas, and has been connected with this company and its predecessor companies in various capacities since 1921. He began his utility career as a line walker at Graham, Texas, and worked his way up in successive steps to his present position. His election to the presidency completes the roster with the predecessor concern, of officers for Community Public Service Company. All are native Texans, and all have Texas-Louisiana Power Company. They are: N. R. Parsons, treasurer; Bennett L. Smith, secretary; and W. Z. Leatherwood, assistant secretary.

As president, Mr. Bowen will carry on with the active management of Community Public Service Company, which will continue to function as an independent operating company, serving electricity, gas, water and ice in over 200 towns and communities in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Kentucky. The concern has no holding company affiliation.

Pensions at 55 for unmarried women are urged in Glasgow, Scotland, where spinsters pay more into the pension fund than they take out.

Twin Sisters of Texas Sought by Centennial Commission For Fair

Austin, Oct. 9—Where are the "Twin Sisters" of blessed memory? Were they buried, burned, or carried far from Texas?

The Texas Centennial state publicity department at Dallas, delving into the remote archives of Texas history, today issued an appeal for old-timers thru-out the State to plumb the recesses of fading memory to solve the mysterious disappearance of these "heronies" of the Texas revolution.

The "Twin Sisters" were not girls. They were guns—two six-pound cannons donated by the city of Cincinnati to the struggling Republic of Texas a century ago. They were all the artillery Houston had at San Jacinto, and they were used, history records, "with terrible effect."

The "Twin Sisters" remained in Texas until the republic became a state, when the federal government sent them to Louisiana and they were later sold for junk. But an appeal from the Texas people for the historic guns, which were called the "little darlings" of the revolution, caused Louisiana fifteen years later to contribute $700 to remount the cannons and restore them to Texas. They then spit "grape and cannister" through the War Between the States.

Late in the war, when federal forces landed at Galveston and demanded the surrender of men and arms, three Texas soldiers and a negro cook are said to have slipped away under cover of night and buried the "Sisters" near Harrisburg. That much is legend, to be sure, but it was substantiated years later when one of the group "confessed" his part. But those whom he named as his confederates had passed away, and their stories with them.

There are many who believe that the rusty cannons now standing guard before the state capitol in Austin are the famed "Twin Sisters," but historians are uniformly agreed that they are not the San Jacinto pieces.

So now, nearly a century after that warm April afternoon at San Jacinto when they became immortal in Texas history, the "Twin Sisters" are again the objects of a State-wide search. Are they in truth buried in Texas soil? What old-timers still live who can supply the answer?

SUBSIDIZED COMPETITION

It is an obvious fact that subsidized competition is unfair competition.

That is especially applicable to the transportation industry.

At the present time, only one common carrier—the railroad—entirely pays its own way. All other carriers are subsidized, directly or indirectly. All other carriers, in brief, receive benefits from public funds, which assist them to divert business from the railroads.

Worst example of subsidization is still the waterways. Economically speaking, many waterways have little right to exist. Seasonal influences make certainty and efficiency of service uncertain. They get business, not because they are faster, not because they offer higher standards of efficiency—but because subsidies, paid out of the public treasury, make them cheaper.

To the end of 1932, the United States government had spent about $1,500,000,000 on river and harbor improvements chargeable to navigation alone, and an additional $117,000,000 was spent in 1932. Much of this money was used to keep losing canal lines in operation. In addition, many of the waterway carriers pay no taxes—and whatever losses they incur in operation are made up out of general funds.

This policy of subsidizing waterways is being continued.

There can be no steady progress in transportation, and no stability, until every carrier is made to stand on its own feet, pay its own way, and compete fairly for business.

BOOMERANGS

Laws designed to give artificial aids to small business, at the expense of large business, often act as boomerangs.

An example of this is provided by an editorial in the Corinthian, of Corinth, Mississippi, which says: "Without reference to the merits or demerits of chain store tax laws, independent retailers and others who have supported such laws in the past are beginning to feel misgivings. * * * *"

"They recall that retailers, as a class, have been exposed to perhaps more forms of special taxation in recent years than any other one group of business men. Now they see Florida, for example, in its latest 'chain tax law' raising the license tax on a single store from $5 to $10 and imposing gross receipts taxes on independents as well as chains. Small wonder if these forms of 'chain store' taxes may not open the way to like levies upon themselves."

Thus does boomerang work. Directed at the chain store, it returns and strikes the independent when legislators search for still more revenue. It strikes back at the consumer, by increasing prices—special taxes, levied against either chain or independent stores must be passed on to the buyer. And it strikes at a hundred other industries, as consumer purchasing power is reduced by every dollar of taxes levied.

The tax gatherers are never satisfied. Let them get their grip on one business, or one branch of business, through special taxes and they will never stop until they have gone farther. And those who were supposed to benefit will be the worst sufferers.

"The greatest economic danger in the United States and Great Britain today . . . lies in the fostering of the theory that the people should look to the government for support."—Josiah Stamp.

W. H. Buening Pastor

Church of Christ Has Services Sunday

Services for the Church of Christ are announced to be Bible Study, 10 a. m. Sunday. Communion Services at 11 o'clock.

A cordial invitation and welcome is extended to everyone.

Presbyterian Church

Last Sunday those present at the Presbyterian Church enjoyed a very interesting and enjoyable program. By far the largest number of members were present than there has been for some time. The occasion was Rally Day. By their presence, the large number present pledged their loyalty to the church. It is hoped that every one will be on time at Sunday School. The worship program will be led by Martha Jean Pattillo. The pastor will preach at 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. At the morning hour, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. At the evening hour, the pastor is using the Gospel of Matthew in a series of talks.

Rummage Sale

Next Saturday, the ladies of the Auxiliary will have a rummage sale in the south side of Morton Scott's store. If you have anything that you have discarded, but is still usable, please let the Presbyterian ladies have it. The girls of the Y. P. C. will sell home-made candy.

Services for the Week

Sunday School. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:0 p. m. Young people of the church at 5 p. m. and the Woman's Auxiliary each Tuesday afternoon.

The public is most cordially invited to worship with us. You will receive a hearty welcome.

"The Friendly Church"

First Baptist Church

Honesty is the best and only policy. Why not give God His Day?

"I Am Stolen from God"

I am the Day—the holy sabbath day.

Out of a plenteous week of seven days. He—the Giver of All—has reserved me for His own.

The other days are also His; but he lends them to His children for their labor.

I am for sanctity, for worship, for communion, for the sacred joy. I am set apart from all the rest, as the time in which the spirit and the body shall renew.

And how am I used by many of His children?

I am turned to a madness of pleasure seeking. My morning is a wild impatience. My noonday is a feverish speed. My evening is a hopeless weariness.

I am stolen from God and given to Satan.

—Christian Statesman.

Organized departments, classes and well trained teachers for all ages in the Sunday School Sunday 9:45 a. m.

Likewise there is a place for every member of the family Sunday evening at 6:15 in the Baptist Training Union.

The W. M. S. and the YWA will meet on Tuesday.

Wednesday night 7:15 Church night.

Preaching by the pastor Sunday morning.

Sunday night at 7:15 the pastor will occupy the pulpit.

Gospel preaching and gospel music both hours.

Clarence A. Morton, pastor.

FIND 65-YEAR-OLD SHALLOW GRAVE

Los Angeles, Oct. 6.—A shallow grave at least 65 years old came to light today during excavations on a ranch near El Monte.

The skeleton of a woman was unearthed, along with eight 50-cent pieces dated from 1858 to 1871, a tumbler, and a spoon. Squatters inhabited the neighborhood for many years.

EVANT NEWS

Yesterday we were thrilled at the sight and sound of wild geese seeking sunny climates, which is a certain harbinger of winter for the supreme intelligence who created all things, made no mistakes in giving the wild things the instinct of self preservation in fleeing from the wintry blasts.

Wedding bells rang in our midst last week when Mr. Herbert Lester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lester took as his bride Miss Katherine Wilder. Their many friends are wishing them happiness in their choice of the most sacred relationship in the world.

Mrs. Wassie Austin and daughter, Catherine, were shopping in Waco Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lois Collins of Port Arthur are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henley White.

Miss Zelma Scott spent the week end with relatives in Gatesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hardwick and son, Warren of Adamsville were Evant visitors Saturday. While here they were guests of Mrs. Hardwick's mother, Mrs. Tilda Warren.

Friends here were sorry to learn that Mr. Theodore Gholson is in a Lampasas hospital for appendicitis operation. Everyone is wishing for him a speedy recovery. Theodore was formerly deputy sheriff here, but is now serving in that capacity at Lometa.

Misses Ione and Irene Connor, daughter of Mr. Tom Connor, of Bee House have apartments upstairs at Mr. and Mrs. John Whittenburg's and will attend school here. We're hoping they will be pleased and find their work a pleasure. Evant always has a welcome for those who desire to come and dwell among us.

Rev. and Mrs. Ben Reynolds of Pearl were here Sunday attending the funeral of "grandpa" Joe Dixon. Rev. Reynolds being one of those who assisted in conducting the funeral services.

We are sorry to report Mr. M. J. Brogles on the sick list this week.

The entire community was deeply moved by the passing of "grandpa" Dixon, a long time resident of our community, who died at the home of Mrs. John Allen on the old Gholson home place south of here. Had Mr. Dixon lived till Nov. 28 he would have been ninety years of age. He was born in Atlanta, Ga., and came here as a young school teacher, having taught in Hamilton and Coryell counties a number of years. He is survived by his wife, who was Margaret Stinson, and the following children; Joe, Robert, Mack, Grover, Mrs. Ella Waddell, Mrs. Celia Hoda, Mrs. Van McGilvray, and Mrs. John Allen, all of whom were present for the funeral, except Grover.

He is also survived by several grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. George Bennett, pastor of the Methodist church here, assisted by Rev. Ben Reynolds of Pearl, and Rev. Baker, an old time friend and pastor, also Mr. David Carter gave a historical sketch of his life, which was indeed very useful, and he will be greatly missed. The entire community extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

PEARL SCHOOL NEWS

Monday we began our third week of school and found everyone working earnestly. Several are back working extra time in order to make up work that had to be neglected in order for students to help gather the cotton crop.

The inspirational talk made to students, teachers and patrons by Mr. C. E. Alvis seems to have reached the entire school for "we have never had such a fine working group in high school" commented Nona Jane Franks, president of the Senior Class. We indeed feel grateful to Mr. Alvis for the inspiring talk he made. We are always happy for Mr. Alvis to talk to us and invite him to come to see us just any time.

The enrollment for the present term is gradually increasing. Many are having to pick cotton, but with the favorable weather, most everyone should soon be in school.

The present enrollment for grammar school is seventy-three and for high school ninety-six.

The new teachers for this term are Mrs. Bagly, science and math in high school; and Miss Upton, fourth and fifth grades.

The new bus, which travels the Slater route, made the first trip Monday. It's hard to tell who is happier the driver or pupils.

Pearl High School is very proud of their new Science Hall which is being constructed by Mr. Mangum of Turnersville. The building is located where the Home Economics and Manual Training building was located. It is estimated that there will be about one hundred and fifty dollars worth of equipment placed in the building. Our Biology class has many of their specimens on exhibit in this building.

The Senior Class of '35 and '36 did not lose any time in getting organized this year.

Before all the text books were issued, the seniors were found in the auditorium trying to decide on someone suitable to lead the class for the coming year. The honor fell to Miss Nona Jane Franks, Vice-president was bestowed upon A. V. Freeman, and Gracie Reaves was chosen secretary. Erma Lee Brown was appointed class reporter.

After a great deal of discussion and arguing the colors lavender and white were chosen as class colors with the lilac as the flower.

The class was filled with pep and eagerness to do something that would really be worthwhile. I'm sure if all the enthusiasm that was exhibited that day would be showed every day, we would have the best senior class that Pearl has ever boasted of; and would accomplish much more than the former senior classes have accomplished.

Projects Notes

Actual work on the concession building, recently authorized, was begun last week. This building will be located under huge burr oak, pecan and elm trees, in one of the beauty spots of this section of the country; but the site is only a hundred yards from the Leon River and gets three or four feet deep in water in flood time. A terrace five or six feet high is being built to put the concession building on. The cess pool was finished this week.

Roads that were cut and washed by recent rains were repaired this week.

Superintendent C. R. Byram has just made a bargain that enables enrollees to harvest the pecan crop in the park on the halves. The proceeds from the pecans will be put in the company funds for the benefit of the company. What do you want to do, or buy with the money.

The Indian skelton that was unearthed in the cave several months ago, will be placed back in the same spot from whence it came, for its final resting place. A head stone of copper will be placed at his head with a few words inscribed on it.

Official Visitors

Company 817 got acquainted with its new Sub-District Commander, Lt. Geo. P. Parker, during the latter part of last week. He spent two days at this camp.

Two other visitors at the camp over the week were; ex-Governor Pat M. Neff and Colonel R. O. Whiteaker.

Educational

The cooking class that for three or four months was one of the strongest courses ever offered in the educational program here, but that had to be discontinued two weeks ago, will begin again Monday, with Mess Sergeant Bill Morgan teaching.

Miss Nellie Mullins, book-keeper in the McGregor Bank, has volunteered to drive out to camp two nights a week to teach the bookkeeping class.

Camp Improvements

The dirt taken from the drainage ditches was put into good use last week. To further beautify the camp grounds it was removed and placed around the cabins to prevent the wintery winds from going under them and so on into the cabins.

Services Held

Reverend Shuttlesworth, Baptist pastor at McGregor, and others from McGregor came out to camp Sunday morning and gave the camp a religious and song exercise. Nearly every enrollee in the camp came to the services. This is the third consecutive Sunday service Reverend Shuttlesworth has held for the camp.

Coming soon a wrestling match between "Wip 'um" Whiteside vs. "Kanteen" Kay

Everybody is invited to attend the match. Mr. Kay reports that he has never been defeated yet, and it will be very interesting.

LANTERN FLAME FROZE. PRIZE TALE RECOUNTS

Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 6.—Flames in Paul Bunyon's lanterns froze solid one Winter when it was 68 degrees below zero and the only way he could put out the light was to break off the flames and toss 'em outdoors. The next Spring they thawed out and burned the St. Mary's River in two.

This tall tale won the championship for Perry Allen of Shepherd, Mich., at the Paul Bunyon story telling contest.

TOOK OFF 17 LBS. OF UGLY FAT

HEEDED DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Mrs. Robert Hickey, Roseville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

Get a jar of Kruschen to-day (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle). Simply take half teaspoonful in cup of hot water every morning. All druggists.

Hornets in First Conf. Tilt Tonite With Clifton

ODDS HEAVILY AGAINST LOCALS AS THEY ARE PITTED WITH CLIFTON TONITE IN THEIR 1ST. '35 CONFERENCE TILT.

By TED HARRIS
News' Sports Editor

With the odds against them, the undefeated Gatesville Hornets will take on Coach Jim Smith's powerful, smooth working Clifton Cubs tonight at 8 o'clock in Clifton.

In the first conference tilt of the '35 season for the locals and the second for the Cubs, the Worleymen are pitted against a team that last week defeated the McGregor Bulldogs. The Bulldogs gained more yards from scrimmage than did Clifton, and made more first downs. Going in the game tonight as the underdogs the Hornets may surprise Clifton fans with an amazing attack that could prove prosperous as did Clifton last Friday night against the McGregor club.

With an unmarred record of two games this season, and pondering over the 38-to-0 defeat suffered at the hands of the Clifton team last year, the locals will be primed for the fray tonight, and will have Coach Smith's club shooting the works before this evening has become history.

The mainstays of the Cubs' team are the fast Dahl brothers as well as the Bronsted kin, who displayed excellent brilliance last Friday night on Wood field to defeat the Bulldogs.

Some one hundred fans are expected to make the trip late this afternoon with the local Hornets.

Probably starting line-ups: Gatesville; Clark and McDonald ends; Myers and V. Adams tackles; Chapman and Lowrey guards; Royce Davis center; Sonny Hair quarterback; Dickie and Colgin halves; Culberson at fullback. Clifton; A. and H. Bronstad ends; A. Dahl and Alfie tackles; Hoff and Rystad guards; Pool center; P. Dahl quarterback; Orbeck and Stryker halves; and Spange at fullback.

Dick Miller and Theo Sagebell of Temple were visitors in Gatesville Wednesday night.

Miss Margaurite Colwick of Clifton is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lee Colwick.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brown returned Tuesday night from Dallas where they visited several days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Honeycutt of Waco spent last week end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brown of this city.

Miss Clara Shedd of Arnett became the bride of Mr. James Lucas of Karnes City, in a quiet ceremony at the home of Rev. C. A. Morton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at six o'clock, Saturday afternoon, with Rev. Morton reading the rites.

Tonight at eight o'clock will find some one hundred local fans on hand rooting for the Hornets as they take on a much superior team, the Clifton Cubs. Not until last Friday evening were the Cubs rated so highly, but proved powerful as well as being fast against a green crew of McGregor Bulldogs. Making more first downs and more yards from scrimmage, the Jenkinsmen fought madly but bowed to a 13-8 defeat at the hands of the Cubs. With six lettermen back this year the Clifton team, under the direction of Coach Jim Smith, have improved rapidly, and are overwhelming favorites in the game tonight with the Hornets.

We quote Jinx Tucker, News-Tribune scribe, regarding the Methodist Home team of Waco, who are to play the locals here November 15.

"One of the strongest teams in the B class of this section is the Methodist Home team of this city. It has been making a most remarkable record this season."

The McGregor Mirror of Oct. 4 carried a statement by Joe Abb, sports writer, to the effect that Clifton had a light and inexperienced team. I am afraid the young man 'wasn't up to par on his dope or had been misinformed. Everyone in the district save him it seems knew Clifton was to have a few lettermen returning and as to their lack of size, I imagine Mr. Abb was more than shocked as the big Cub team trotted out on the field Friday evening for their game with McGregor.

The Clifton Junior College club, after losing to both Tarrant and North Texas Aggies, will take on the Ranger Junior College eleven Saturday night in Clifton at 8 o'clock. This game should be a thriller.

Mrs. Jim McClellan left Thursday for Temple where she will be in the King Daughters' Hospital for the following two weeks.

McGregor Bulldogs Out Play Clifton But Have To Take a 13-8 Defeat

By TRUMAN BLANTON
Staff Sports Writer

Last Friday evening quite a few local football fans saw the tussle at McGregor between the Bulldogs and the Clifton Cubs under the lights. They were impressed by two things.

First by the power and speed displayed by Clifton in winning 13-8. Clifton with six lettermen and a host of likely prospects was expected to be strong but their showing Friday evening was more than distinct rivals had bargained for and with improvement that is sure to follow the Cubs have a wonderful opportunity to crash thru to a championship.

Second the strong running attack put on by the Bulldogs. Harold Jenkins in his second year at McGregor and with one letterman back was expected to fight it out with Coaches Worley and Ewing for the cellar position. The McGregor fans can rest assured that the Bulldogs as the season rolls along will be mighty hard to take and have a splendid chance to finish their season without another defeat. They got a bad break when they played Clifton so early, a break the Hornets get to. However, the Bulldogs should feel alright as they outplayed the Cubs as well as this writer could tell from every standpoint but the score and would have accomplished this but for their inexperience.

In our opinion we believe that McGregor made more yardage and more first downs than Clifton and on three occasions lost the ball on downs around the ten yard line after long drivers bogged down due to a poor passing attack and faulty generalship.

Sunday School Class Entertains Tuesday.

Members of the ladies' Wesley Bible Class entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. D. McCoy on Bridge street.

Mrs. Bud Rivers, president, presided over the business meeting. Mesdames J. O. Potts, Reid Powell and J. F. Wright conducted the social hour which followed the business meeting. A lovely salad course was served to some thirty guests.

Joint Hostesses Entertain Friends.

Mrs. Charles Powell and Miss Jewell Witcher were joint hostesses Tuesday afternoon when they entertained a group of friends at the home of Mrs. Powell on College street.

Tables were attractively arranged for games of contract which furnished the diversion for the afternoon.

Refreshments were served to the following guests; Mesdames E. W. Jones, Jr., Rufus McKinney, Ramsey Searcy, Peyton Morgan, George Phelps of Waco, Miss Lindsay Belle Dickie and Miss Elaine Cross.

Missionary Society Has Silver Tea.

The members of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church entertained Wednesday night with a Silver Musical Tea at the church.

Worship service was held in the main auditorium preceding the social hour. The local choir furnished special music. Mrs. E. L. Stewart and Mr. Lee Colwick sang a duet. Mrs. A. C. Boaz, of Fort Worth, Conference Spiritual Life Chairman, rendered three vocal numbers. Mrs. J. W. Spivey of Waco, President of the Woman's Central Texas Conference, led the devotional. Prayer was led by Miss Mary Sue Brown. Mrs. W. B. Landrum of Tyler made a very interesting speech.

The social hour was held in the basement of the church which was very beautifully decorated with roses and queen's wreath. The table which was laid with a lace cloth was centered with a large silver basket filled with pink roses. Silver candle holders with yellow tapers burned at each end of the table. Mrs. J. H. Hamilton and Mrs. E. G. Beerwinkle presided at the tea table. Miss Robbie D. Simpson, Miss Ha Faye Selby, Mrs. Frank L. Williams and Mrs. Byron Leaird, Jr. assisted in serving.

A lovely refreshment plate consisting of sandwiches, cookies, mints and tea was served.

Dole Riders Being Cut Off Gradually by Texas Relief Commissioners

Austin, Oct. 9—Work relief in Texas, discontinued September 26 when Federal funds for October were indefinite, will not be resumed except for administrative projects, the Texas Relief Commission announced Wednesday following a meeting of the Board of Control.

Federal funds assuring continuation of the relief program in the state during October have been received, with $1,000,000 (million) allotted for general relief, $90,000 for the transient program which will end November 1, and $9,225 for the research program.

The limited work relief program will include only enough help to gather and distribute fresh vegetables produced in community gardens, and watchman and janitor help at relief offices, Assistant State Relief Director J. T. Duke announced. All projects were shut down September 26 pending announcement of the amount of Federal funds to be available for Texas in October.

"There will be no exceptions granted to the shut-down ruling and local government units contributing to projects are notified that any continuation of their projects is entirely their responsibility," Duke said.

The special Federal research projects, specifically authorized, and the Emergency Education Projects will not be discontinued, it was pointed out. The latter has been assured thruout October at least.

Continuation of the general relief program after October remains uncertain, though Washington officials have expressed hope the Works Progress Administration will be far enough advanced to allow termination of relief November 1. In a few states the program has already been discontinued.

Texas Relief Commission officials said they had no idea when precisely the program will end in this state, though it is known its days are numbered.

There are still a sizeable number of persons in Texas depending on the Relief Commission. At the end of August, date of the last report, the case load stood at 149,024. Compared with the 154,340 cases for July, the decrease was slighter than had been expected, attributed to the poor cotton crop in many areas of the state as well as the lateness of the crop and the consequent failure of pickers to obtain work, and to the slowness of the Works Progress Administration in getting started. The latter program had no effect at all on the relief rolls for August or September, it was pointed out, as the first projects are just now beginning to take employables off the Relief Commission rolls.

Due to the short cotton crop and the oncoming of winter, increases in the relief load are already being felt and will continue heavily this month. As a relief client is not taken off the Relief Commission rolls until he has received his first day pay checks from the WPA, and as the WPA pays only every two weeks, the full effect of the WPA on the relief rolls will be delayed into November, officials pointed out.

TO FIT YOUR LEG

• Of course, correct length is important but...if a stocking is too wide or too narrow...it's no help at all in giving legs that well-groomed look.

So we give you Belle-Sharmer Stockings, individually proportioned in width and in length. There are four leg sizes in Belle-Sharmer and they really fit! Brev, for petites, is both shorter and slimmer; Modite, for mediums, is exactly right in width and length; Duchess, for tall, is longer and wider; Classic, for plumps, is definitely fuller. All foot sizes, of course. Chiffon and service weights... exclusive here.

SYNOPSIS

Captured by Kurdish irregulars while fighting on the Eastern Front, Captain Michael Andrews, attached to a British armored car division, is taken to Turkish headquarters in a captured village. As he awaits his fate in a stable-prison, he is amazed to see the leader of the Kurds, Selim Bey, enter and knock out the guard. After Andrews' release, the pair flee on horseback.

CHAPTER II

It was morning before Selim and Andrews completely outdistanced their pursuers. Safe at last, they halted beside a stream in a ravine to allow their horses to drink. As the Englishman dismounted he groaned and placed his hand to his side.

"Wish you had kept your feet to yourself," he growled.

"Unfortunate necessity," Selim answered. "Kurds don't understand any other treatment for prisoners. Just consider yourself lucky I was able to persuade those irregulars to let me take you to the Turkish Major—and that he didn't get a chance to shoot you."

"Who are you exactly?" demanded Andrews as he rose to his feet after taking a long drink at the stream.

"Member of the British Intelligence Service. Branch M. I. 3B." The slim, bearded man in the Turkish uniform did not raise his eyes as he said this.

"What's your name?"

"Not permitted to give it." He bent down to tighten the girth of his pony. "Smith'll do."

"No one's called Smith," laughed Andrews as he prepared to remount. "But have it your own way. Anyway, I...er...seems to me I've got a lot to...I mean if it hadn't been for you..."

"Wait before you thank me," answered "Smith" sourly. Now he was looking fixedly at the tall and handsome young man before him. "You're not a third through your troubles. You're out of the frying pan. That's all."

"If we go due south we're bound to hit up with one of Cruickshank's parties going to our base," said Andrews. He was frowning and there was a renewal of suspicion in his face and tone.

"Your armored car base was wiped out three days ago—just after they took you. Besides we've got a job to do. The Kurds are moving on the Armenian Balkari—settlement—southeast of here. They'll massacre them and then use their cattle to live on to launch an attack over the mountains into Mesopotamia. We've got to get to the Balkari first and make 'em move with their cattle."

"Make 'em move from their lands! How can you do it?"

"I know their chiefs. They trust me."

"Your optimism is infectious, Mr. Smith—or was it Jones?"

"Call me anything you like." The answer was short.

"Then let's make it Carew—the Mad Carew." As they remounted and spurred their ponies forward he began to sing gaily.

"Mad Carew by the subs at Khat-mandu."

He was hotter than they felt inclined to tell. But for all his foolish pranks, he was worshipped in the ranks, and the Colonel's daughter smiled on him as well.

That evening the two travelers reached the Armenian Balkari of Chief Haidar. It was a collection of mud huts set upon the bank of a deep river under the frowning cliffs of a great mountain range.

Riding up to the one stone house in the place, the weary and travel-stained pair were confronted by Haidar, a man of late middle age, with a harsh, strong face which, nevertheless showed wisdom and power. For a moment the Armenian stared at them in distrust. Then he recognized Smith under his disguise.

"Koorderi zenkever yen (the Kurds are in arms again)," began the secret agent without preamble, and quickly outlined his plan for moving the settlement.

Haidar brought the newcomers to be introduced.

"I'm Cullen. Political corps. But how in the world did you fellows get here?" he said, smiling engagingly and holding out his hand.

"My name's Andrews. Late of Field Armored Car brigade," answered the captain. And this is Mr.—er—Smith. He's in our intelligence."

"Very interesting! I didn't know any of our intelligence were actually in Turkey," answered Cullen as he led the way into his tent. "What branch are you in, Mr. Smith?"

"Never mind that," answered Andrews' rescuer. "There's no time for that now. Two divisions of Kurdish irregulars are on their way here. The Turks plan to wipe out the Balkari. Therefore, the Balkari must move...themselves, their goods; their cattle!"

"But they can't move," protested Cullen frantically. "They can't cross the river and if they did they

"Never mind that," Smith said, "the Turks plan to wipe out the Balkari. Therefore, the Balkari must move... themselves, their goods, their cattle!"

As the two talked they were surrounded by frightened Armenians who listened tensely. One of them, a man of different type, shorter than his fellows and more neatly dressed, soon turned and slipped away from the rest. Hurrying to a natural depression on a nearby hillside, he located a man in the field uniform of a British officer who was busily engaged in sending dot and dash signals on a heliograph.

"Two strangers have come," he told his master excitedly.

The officer held up his hand for silence as he studied through a pair of field glasses the answering twinkle of a faraway heliograph.

"Pack it up," he said at last, motioning to the machine and its canvas case. Then he hurried back to the Balkari, a puzzled frown on his face. He was standing unconcernedly in front of his tent when would starve in the mountains. This is madness!"

"Call it what you like...they're going to move." Turning to Haidar, who had been standing silently beside him, Smith demanded:

"Badrast yes? (Are you ready?)" For answer the chieftain opened the tent flap and pointed toward the river. Already the people, loaded down with their belongings and driving their cattle before them, were moving toward it in a body.

"Who said they wouldn't go!" laughed Andrews. "Hats off to Smith."

"I can't make that fellow out," muttered Cullen, looking at the bearded man with growing suspicion.

"Neither can I," chuckled Andrews. "But he does get results." "I hate to think of that river," groaned Cullen.

FAMILY REUNION HELD AT WACO OF INTEREST TO LOCAL PEOPLE

Last Sunday, October the 6, the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of Rev. I. B. Young began to gather at the home of Mrs. P. A. Wood at 1008 Speight St., Waco. It was soon discovered that surprise birthday party was in progress, Mr. Young being ninety years old that day. When a sufficient number had met, the old gentlemen was escorted in state to the park at Lake Waco where a feast was spread. Mrs. Ethel Schilling of Fort Worth brought the big angel food birthday cake which was decorated with 90 candles. After the cutting of the cake a speech was called for and Mr. Young made a very interesting talk after which he received many useful gifts. The writer so far forgot herself as to give a picnic supper at the old bridge at Jonesboro on his 100th birthday and invite every body in the country. Remember the date folks, it's only ten years off.

Those attending the party were: Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Kelly of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Kelly and children of Waco, Mrs. P. A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. George Williams and son, Ralph, Mrs. Grace Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Young, all of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Neel and son, Du Edwin, Mrs. T. C. Bryson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schilling, all of Fort Worth, Walter Young, Mrs. Sarah Neel and children, Maxine and Merlin of Jonesboro and Mr. and Mrs. L. Young of Gatesville and a few friends. —One who was present.

of age, plays the part of an orphan who is adopted by two men living by their wits.

She wins their hearts and eventually brings about their reform, with the aid of Glenda Farrell, who has an entirely different role to her usual vamping, gold-digging parts. In this picture she is a check-room girl who knows all the answers, but she longs for a home in the country and love.

Robt. Armstrong and Edward Everett Horton have the roles of the two near crooks, who fall in love with little Sybil and risk their own necks to get her back from a gang of kidnapers.

Armstrong and Horton are responsible for the hilarious laughter in the piece, and also for many tender scenes. Sybil, besides having a real acting role in which she amazed the hard boiled film colony, also sings, dances and mimics in this picture.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ETHEL BAKER

There is a time to everyone, A loss of one so dear, Yet it almost breaks our hearts, To have them leave us here.

And yet we wonder at it all, We know that God is good, That what ever His will may be To bear it all by His help, we would.

For trusting in Jesus' loving care,

We know we are yet to win, Over world cares and sorrows, He'll guide us e'er from sin.

Yet there's a home that seems broken,

Hearts that are torn apart, But there'll be another meeting In a land of no more broken hearts.

So sleep our darling loved one, Your troubles now are o'er, We have, we know, all loved you, But God has loved you more.

May God grant to the family, And loved ones left behind, A closer walk with Jesus, And ever walk in His love devine.

Composed by a friend, Mrs. Stevie McCoy.

ever, we could devote our time to liquor and the fee bill, I believe we could pass these measures and probably a chain store tax in the meantime. The Governor will then immediately call another session at which time we will be able to consider the pensions and the means of paying them without being lead away from our objective by a consideration of the liquor and fee measures, but I would not be at all surprised to see the session wind up in a gang fight blocking every major measure. This would not only result in immediate victory for the special interests groups, but would give them the same weapons with which to fight any tax measure next session. The only tax measure that has come out of the Senate State Affairs Committee has been the chain store tax which was reported favorably after three days of most intense argument.

Yesterday afternoon witnessed a typical and disgraceful hearing on a utility tax. The House of Representatives had sent over a bill by Shofner & Tennyson increasing the gross receipts tax on utilities by from one-half to one per cent. This is a graduated tax and even under the terms of this new bill the highest tax that any of the utilities would have to pay is only 2 per cent of their gross receipts. It occurs to me that very few of the patrons of these utilities escape with a tax as low as this, and these very people are themselves now advocating a 3 per cent sales tax which would be equivalent to a 3 per cent gross receipts tax on all of our less wealthy citizens. I think the bill should pass, but friends of the utilities have succeeded in practically destroying every chance of hearing it this session. The measure was set for hearing last Friday. At that time the utility people suggested that they should have an opportunity to be heard, and that they would be here Monday afternoon. This bill was specially set and yesterday afternoon they were all here, their lawyers filling half of the Senate Chamber, but when it came time to hear them, the motion was made and carried by one vote that the hearing be postponed until Friday. This, of course, means that there will be no real consideration of this bill this session, because today (Friday) it is so late in the session that will require a miracle to enable us to get the bill up even though it should receive a favorable committee report. I am not a member of the State Affairs Committee, but I was present at the meeting to do what I could to get the bill reported favorably at that time. It is in committee meetings of this kind that much of the effective work of the utility and other interests is accomplished. These gentlemen who succeeded in postponing this bill will never get on record as voting against it, but they killed it just as effectively as if they had done so on the floor of the Senate, and it is the same group in every instance that accomplishes this kind of work.

For the information of those who are interested, the roll call in the committee was yes: (in favor of postponement) Holbrook, Hopkins, Martin, Rawlings, Regan, Small, Stone, and Nays (opposed to postponement) Collier, DeBerry, Hornsby, Isbell, Oneal, Sulak.
