AAA IS THROWN OUT AS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

"Dog and Pony" Show Here First Monday; "Pitchmen" Busy, Too

Trading was the order of the day yesterday, and in passing down the streets there were offered for trade, mules, horses, sheep, goats and dogs, more than you ever saw, principally coon hounds, cat dogs, wolf dogs. Also, there were offered pigs, and even a motorized wood saw.

The Pitchmen, in the vernacular of the profession, were hawkling their wares from the end of cars, one exhibiting a "Gila monster from Death Valley, and using it as a come-on. His specialty was a spot remover. Another was selling some other item, which we didn't get razor blades, and other similar merchandise. Still another had a crowd watching him demonstrate, an amplifier to get better results from the old bus.

Crossing the square, we saw everything imaginable, and several men had fruit trees. Hides came in for their play, with the trading going at a brisk pace. New halters were put on mules, horses, cattle, etc., and followed proudly behind new owners, or were loaded in trucks and hauled—probably to Italy or Ethiopia before they stop traveling.

At any rate, it was a big trades day!

"THE REMINDER" NEW GEORGETOWN PAPER BY LOCAL BOY

To our desk yesterday, came Volume I No. 1 of "The Reminder," "A Williamson County Institution," which is published in Georgetown, Texas, by Vernon Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Perry of this city.

This is a very newsy paper, carrying personals, a continued story, features of different sort, printed 4 pages, 6 columns to the page.

Mr. Perry has been operating a job shop in Georgetown for some time, and now is to be congratulated in bringing out his first issue of "The Reminder."

O. L. Brazzil First To Announce for Co. Treasurer in Coryell

To the voters of Coryell County: At the solicitation of many voters from various sections I have decided to become a candidate for County Treasurer, for which office I was appointed to, occasioned by the death of my father, J. K. Brazzil. I am very thankful to the Commissioner's Court for this appointment.

I intend to fulfill the duties of this office like they have been in the last few years. Any favor shown me will be greatly appreciated.

O. L. BRAZZIL.

Evan J. Smith Offers For District Clerk; Statement to Voters

To the voters of Coryell County: In announcing for the office of District Clerk, I wish to state that I think I am fully qualified to fulfill the duties of this office in a satisfactory manner; while physically handicapped with bad eyesight and other disorders which hinder me from heavy labor and outside work, I can think of nothing which would keep me from filling this office to the satisfaction of every voter.

I am 38 years old and have lived here in Gatesville for twelve years, during which time I have been associated with my father, Mr. J. G. Smith, in the grain business. I have four children.

I have nothing whatever against Mr. Post and only hold him in high respect and esteem. I feel however that he has had this office long enough and that being a public office it should be divided among the people at certain intervals.

Thanking you for any favors of votes or influences you may turn my way, I wish to again assure you that in case you elect me to fill the duties of the office of District Clerk, that these duties will be filled to the utmost of my ability.

Thanks you.
(Signed) EVAN J. SMITH.

LOCAL FFA WIN IN WACO POULTRY MEET

At a banquet in the Roosevelt hotel Thursday evening, Prof. D. H. Reid, head of the poultry department of A. & M. presided and awards were presented to the winners in the F. F. A. judging contest, these prizes going to Gatesville, first; Riesel, second; and Mart, third. Boys from these clubs who "know their chickens" were H. F. Miers, Jr., of Riesel, first; Clyde Boyd of Gatesville, second; and Adolph Grochoske of Mart, third.

"MISS GATESVILLE" TO BE SELECTED AT REGAL FOR EXPOSITION

"Girls here's a Leap Year break for you!" You gotta chance to be elected "Miss Gatesville" and represent this section at the Texas Centennial Exposition, according to the contest promoter, Vernon Hart of Waco.

Each town is to send their "Miss" to the Centennial and the winner in the contest in Dallas will be named "Miss Texas." These contestants will be selected by the businesses of Gatesville and will be presented at 8:30, the evening of January fifteenth.

So far, some 23 or 24 entries have been selected, according to Mr. Hart.

Funeral Rites Held Friday Afternoon for Mr. Malcom Ward

Mr. Malcom Ward of Ames passed away Friday morning, December 3, at one o'clock, at the Baptist Hospital in Waco after an illness of two weeks duration.

Funeral rites were held Friday afternoon at the Weaver Chapel at three thirty with Rev. Barnes, pastor of the Methodist church of Turnersville, conducting the services. Interment was made in the Weaver Chapel Cemetery.

Mr. Ward was born in Mississippi. He came with his parents to Coryell county at the age of twelve. He was later married to Miss Cora Weaver.

He is survived by his widow and twelve children; Mrs. Matie Anderson of Ames, Mrs. Callie Bell of Jonesboro, Mrs. Lorena Herring of Pancake, Mrs. Madena Whatley of San Angelo, and Tom, Hozen, Chess, Evelyn, Faye, Raye, Bobby Jean and Eddie Jean, all of the parental home.

CAR GOES NORTH! WHEEL GOES SOUTH! GLASS GOES SMASH!

Nine little words! That's the story. And—"Believe at it Seems," by Rip-Hix, this is no bologna! "So it come to pass", and it fell off.

2nd paragraph. Sunday a. m. about 8, with Crawford Scott driving a bottling company truck west on Leon street to the square, where he turned to the right and started north—all but one wheel, which turned in the opposite direction. (south to you, dear readers) and attacked Peel's Cafe something awful. Litterly knocked the daylight out, consequently Peel's Cafe is wearing a sheet iron patch over it's right eye.

So, continuing our bedtime story, we'll just say, as in the beginning, Car goes north! Wheel goes South! Glass goes Smash!

Another Act Not Likely, Since Opinion Was So Sweeping

Harry Johnson Enters Commissioner Beat 3 Race With Statement

In announcing as a candidate for Commissioner of Beat No. 3, I am not unmindful of the responsibilities that would be placed on me, if I were elected.

Having served you for a number of years as your Commissioner, I naturally have become acquainted with the many duties of such office and well know of the many things that the Commissioners are required to pass on that are of material and vital importance to our citizens. The spending of your tax money; the fixing of your tax rate; the fixing of your property values for tax purposes and the care of the public roads, are matters vital to every tax payer and citizen and matters which the Commissioners must pass on.

In my past services as your commissioner, I have always tried to conserve and not waste your funds; to keep the tax rates and values as small as possible and as needed to properly run the affairs of the County. I believe in the policy of a dollars worth of tax money getting a dollars worth of service to our County. I believe my experience along these lines would possibly be of some benefit to me in trying to serve as commissioner and would operate to your benefit.

The funds available in Beat 3 are not sufficient to do all the road work on the roads in the Beat that you would like to have done and that I would like to do, if elected; but I would use my best efforts to get the most out of what I had to do with. I believe in a just and equal distribution of road money over the Beat as a whole. The present Federal Work program is the best proposition that has ever been offered to the County; and I would favor co-operation as far as possible. When I went out of office as Commissioner, I left the Beat clear of debt; and if elected commissioner, I would understand to keep the Beat clear of large debts and obligations that would be saddled on the backs of our taxpayers for years to come. I think with the Federal funds available, I could do more for my Beat than in the past and I would be happy to serve you.

If you can vote for me, your vote will be greatly appreciated and if you honor me by making me your commissioner, I assure you I will do my best to merit your confidence.

Sincerely,
HARRY JOHNSON.

A history of the motion picture from the beginning to the present day has been produced in France.

Final say on validity of the AAA came from the U. S. Supreme Court yesterday, as they declared the law unconstitutional in its attempt to control production.

Striking at the very heart of the law, the decision held that control of crop production even by voluntary agreements and the payment of bounties exceeded the limitations placed on the power of the federal government.

The decision was in such forceful terms that it left no doubt that the Bankhead cotton control act would also be declared invalid. In line with it also appeared to scrap the Kerr-Smith tobacco act and the potato control law. Also to strike down the processing taxes on wheat, rice, tobacco, corn, hogs, beets and sugar cane, paper, jute, peanuts and rye, as well as cotton.

Cotton production control programs for all these commodities fell with the decisions.

The court based its decision on the finding that AAA was an invasion of the right of states. It also held that the plan itself was "in itself not voluntary."

The government was expected to be liable for benefit payments to farmers already contracted for.

Justice Owen J. Roberts, who read the opinion, said as he proceeded that the Bankhead act was merely "a step further" along the same route as AAA, compulsory as AAA.

President Roosevelt received news while at his desk and "just held the sheet of paper in front of him and smiled."

The court's decision in the NRA case last May was unanimous, but yesterday Justice Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo dissented from the opinion which was read by Justice Owen J. Roberts.

The majority opinion was supported by Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justices McReynolds, Vandevanter, Butler, Sutherland and Roberts, making the decision six to three.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who has been directing head of the AAA declined to see newspaperman or comment.

Radio reports last night at 11:30 were to effect that a "blanket suspension of processing taxes would be made until further notice, and also a blanket suspension of payments as announced by Secretary Morgenthau."

Friends of little Misses Perry Ellen and Janice Ray Ford, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ford, will regret to learn that they have been ill with pneumonia.

SAND AND STREETS

Years of hard work, and a considerable amount of good old American Kale have been spent by the citizens of Gatesville in paving the square, Main, Leon, Lutterloh, north and south, east and west, and the least we could say about this work is that it is certainly appreciated and needed.

Now—, pavement won't last always! At least when it is not taken care of. The foundation may or may not be good, we can't say. The top surface is or was, we know that.

But, you can hardly see the top in a great part of this paving owing to the sand and gravel. This sand and gravel acts as emery dust, sand blasting material or a grindstone, and continues to grind, grind, and grind, cutting into the top layer of the streets, and the first thing we know, we're going to be bumping over the sub-surface pavement.

Our suggestion, (and by all means, this is all we can do), would be to find some method to clean these paved streets so that this deterioration, and ruinous wear will not continue. Our suggestion for this is either sweeping or flushing down with fire hose—anything to save this pavement, which no doubt is not paid for yet, or is it?

Besides the harm to the pavement, it is very unsightly to say the least, and dangerous to traffic in places, on account of the "loose gravel and sand" danger of skidding.

Coach Earl Worley, Fred Prewitt, Pat Holt and his son, Mayo, the localites who witnessed the Rose Bowl game in California, are back home after a very fine trip.

We talked with Coach Worley concerning the game and received some very interesting comments. Worley stated that in his opinion S. M. U. could have beaten Stanford 6 out of 7 games, but due to the fact that S. M. U. was a little overconfident, cast them the game. The quick kick that Paulman got over Wilson's head, putting the Mustangs in the hole coupled with S. M. U.'s fumble on the Indians' 5 yard line were the deciding factors. Worley also had a word of praise for Paulman's kicking the entire game, who, on several occasions seemingly tried to kick the pigskin out of the bowl. There was no doubt in the local Mentor's mind but what Wilson was the best back on the field and that Stanford boasted of two of the best ends any team ever had at one time.

Although the party was disappointed in the Methodists loss, their trip as a whole made up for this, the one bad spot.

While in Los Angeles they visited the Universal Picture Studio, getting to see several of the stars in person, also seeing Forrest Lawn Memorial Cemetery, where the celebrities of Southern California are buried and where the California funeral rites for Will Rogers were held. The party also visited San Pedro, the U. S. Naval base for the West Coast as well as going to Long Beach, the play ground of Hollywood.

Coming back they stopped off at the Grand Canyon for several hours and as this is a never-to-be forgotten sight, this stop in itself should have made the trip a success.

The party left Los Angeles at 2 p. m. Friday and arrived at Dallas Sunday at 7 p. m., and it is the writers guess that a good time was had by all.

SHOTS AT THE BASKET

Saturday evening the local quint and quintet defeated like teams from Copperas Cove. Neither team had difficulty in disposing of their opponents who put up a game but futile fight.

For the local lassies Miss Clemons looked impressive on the offense while Miss Bates showed to advantage both on offense and defense, playing both at the guard and forward positions. Miss Wiegand played goo offensive ball while the entire team passed the ball in fair style, and played heads up all the way thru.

Practically everyone played in the boys game with no outstanding performer unless it was "Tooter" Hall, who played a big part in the offensive both with his goal tossing and skillful handling of the ball. Henry McDonald looked good what time he was in the game as did several others.

Thursday evening the Commercial League got underway with the Merchants, Levita and Pearl, beating Flat, C. C. C. Camp and Conoco teams respectively. Next Thursday finds Conoco playing Levita, C. C. C. meeting Flat and the Merchants tangling with Pearl. At this writing the Merchants and Levita have the two best teams. After this week all Commercial League games will be played Monday evenings instead of Thursdays.

To see some "big time" basketball, fans will have an opportunity to do so this evening (Tuesday) at Waco when the Baylor Bears meet the Rice Owls in the conference debut for both teams. Rice was one of three teams who tied for the conference flag last year and has a veteran team while Baylor has shown fair form in their pre-season play which points to the contest as being a rather interesting game.

Games thru Thursday of this week all to be played on the local gym floor are as follows: Tuesday—Gatesville vs. Crawford girls; Gatesville vs. Crawford boys and Turnersville vs. Copperas Cove boys.

Wednesday—Ewing vs. Levita girls; Ewing vs. Star boys and Ewing vs. Levita boys.

The games start at 7:00, 8:00 and 9:00. The admission is 10 cents.

POWERFUL, MOVING LOVE STORY REVEALED IN "WAY DOWN EAST"

If a woman pays the price of her sin in remorse and suffering, has she won the right to love and happiness again?
 An ageless conflict between stern rockbound morality and the spirit of liberality and forgiveness, becomes a living issue again in the dramatic conflict of "Way Down East," which comes Thursday to the Palace Theatre.
 Adapted from the play which through years has grown to the position of America's greatest melodrama, the picture stars Rochelle Hudson and Henry Fonda, with Slim Summerville, Edward Trevor, Margaret Hamilton and Andy Devine in the chief supporting roles.
 The story revolves about the character played by Miss Hudson. Appearing from nowhere, she applies for work on Russell Simpson's farm, soon wins the love of his son, played by Henry Fonda, but for some mysterious reason fails to reciprocate his affection.

 The reason becomes apparent with time, however, as malicious gossips bring tales of the girl's dubious past to the Squire's ears.
 The drama races to its thrilling close as Simpson reveals the story of the girl's shame, then relents in his judgment before his son's fury, his wife's pleas for mercy.
 In one of the most thrilling climaxes ever filmed, Miss Hudson is rescued from an ice jam onto which she had ventured in her agony, and the man who had wronged her pays his debt with his life in a moment of remorse and gallantry

JOHN BOLES and GLADYS SWARTHOUT in
ROSE of the RANCHO
 Serialized by Wallace West from the Paramount Picture of the same name.

SYNOPSIS

Shortly after California's admission to the Union, Joe Kincaid, an American land-grabber, begins to plunder Spanish ranchos and file claims on them under the new law. He is opposed by Spanish vigilantes led by a mysterious Don Carlos. Jim Kearney, a secret government agent traveling incognito, saves Kincaid from a vigilante hanging party and gets his confidence. Later, Jim meets Rosita, daughter of a wealthy, high-caste Spaniard, and falls in love with her. Her father, Don Pascual, warns her that she is engaged to Don Luis and that she must stop seeing Jim for good.

CHAPTER VI

Kearney was pacing the quiet, flagstoned patio of the Mission when Rosita and Guadalupe arrived. "Rosita," he cried, laughing as he caught the girl's hands and brought them to his lips. "Why are you laughing, Senor Kearney," she asked sadly. "I thought you weren't coming, and you're here," he answered gaily. "And you have a sunbeam on the end of your nose." "I have not." She stepped into the deeper shade.

cried the girl. Then to Kearney: "I told you . . . remember?" "Haven't you found out better by now?" asked the American in disgust. "I haven't . . . I am to marry Don Luis very soon. I came to say goodbye. Nothing but goodbye!" "Not to me. Oh, no you don't." Ignoring the presence of the maid, he caught Rosita by the shoulders and shook her gently. "This marriage was planned before I was born," she pleaded. "So was the county jail, but you don't want to live there." "I gave Don Luis my promise." Her voice was full of tears. "I can't go back on that." "How about me?" "I never promised you." "We promised each other every time our eyes met," he argued tenderly. "That's better than any words. Then, as she hesitated, her hands at her throat, he began to sing softly an old, old song.

him upon the back in a fury, but he had lifted his sweetheart's face and was kissing her lips tenderly. Neither of them paid the slightest attention as Guadalupe pleaded that Rosita was breaking her promise. Late that same afternoon a mysterious old woman led a burro laden with faggots of wood through the Spanish section of Monterey. "Carlos sends the wood," she would say softly to the various shopkeepers, tortilla vendors and workers whom she approached. "Come at midnight to the shack by the road. You must stop Kincaid and his gang tonight." Then, before anybody noticed her, the hag would drag her burro on down the street. She was just delivering her last bundle of faggots to Juan, the busboy of the Golden Eagle saloon, when a flashily dressed stranger pushed her aside and swaggered through the swinging doors. As he did so he caught sight of Kearney who was just finishing up a chorus of "My Gal in Californ-I-A"

"I am to marry Don Luis soon," Rosita said. "I came to say goodbye. Nothing but goodbye."

"It's no use," he teased. "It's a freckle by now. Did you know that you have a beautiful collection of freckles?" "I'd hoped that my skin was like a camelia," she retorted, falling into his mood. "It's a darn sight prettier." "Listen, Senor Kearney." She became serious. "How often have I told you not to call me that. The name is Jim." "It's not the custom of my country, Senor Kearney," she answered, glancing apprehensively at Guadalupe, who was listening to the conversation with great disapproval. "Now will you listen, please . . . Jim?" "That's better. Could you say it again, now?" he grinned. "Tell him what you came to say," cried Guadalupe, waddling down upon them, quite outraged. "Tell him you are going to marry Don Luis, as you should." "He knows. Go away, Guadalupe,"

"Why should we lose forever this sacred thing that Heaven gave us, this sacred trust?" his voice rang through the Mission patio. "Why rob my world of all its beauty and change a dream to dust?" "My heart is yours, but ask your own if you should leave me . . .?" "Leave you!" Rosita's voice was but an echo of his rich tenor. "If I should lose you the stars would fall from the sky," he sang softly on. "If I should lose you the leaves would wither and die. The birds in Maytime would sing a mournful refrain, And I would wander, hating the sound of rain . . ." As he ended he held out his arms to Rosita. Unable to help herself, she flew to him and hid her head on his chest. Guadalupe, who had been watching the scene with mounting frenzy, now ran forward, crying wildly: "Miss Rosita Miss Rosita!" Reaching Kearney, she pounded to the delight of other members of Kincaid's gang. "Who was that feller?" the stranger asked a bartender as Kearney put on his sombrero and hurried out. "One of the boys. Name of Kearney. You know him?" "I thought I seen him somewhere . . ." muttered the stranger as an evil grin spread over his face. Meantime Jim was riding by the City Hall in a great hurry when Mayor Hill stepped out of his office there. They both look around to see if they were alone. The street was deserted so the mayor approached. "Got Kincaid and his men to trust you, I hear," he said. "Trust me? I'm their pet canary and their best pal, just because I sing and drink with them." "Good work, son. Where you off to now?" "Were you ever so much in love that you just had to go and sit and look at a girl's window?" answered Kearney merrily as he started off. "Well, that's me."
