CONGRESSMAN CROSS IN LETTER TO NEWS SENDS COPIES OF SPEECH

In a letter to the News, Congressman O. H. Cross, tells of his recent speech before the Congress of the United States in the House of Representatives, January 28, on the subject "Shall the People be Governed as Subjects by The Supreme Court, or, Shall They Govern Themselves as Provided in Their Constitution Through Their Chosen Representatives."

Congressman Cross' letter in part follows: "I am enclosing you a copy of a speech which I delivered on the Floor of Congress.

"The question of the Supreme Court's assuming the right to nullify acts of Congress, contrary to the Constitution, is becoming a burning issue. I received an ovation when I delivered this, the House rising and applauding wildly, and I was told by many members who have served here many years that they have never heard anything that so captivated the House."

Mr. Cross' speech followed closely Constitutional Law, relative to the Supreme Court, and he also quotes a number of important cases decided by the court in its history.

Highlights of Congressman Cross' speech will be carried in Tuesday's News. Watch for it.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY HAS GOOD RUN WITH FULL HOUSE

Playing to a full house both nights, the Senior Class Play, "Hold Everything" went over with a bang, and under the direction of Miss Virginia Worthy, was better taken than senior plays have been for the past few years.

Receipts for the play were considerable, but so far, no official statement has been given.

Several boys from Baylor U. in Waco called on David Franks Tuesday. They were with a class in sociology visiting the State Juvenile Training School here.

Commissioners' Court Ready to Get RWY For Hwy Department

The following is an official statement from the Commissioners stating that they will secure right-of-way for construction of Highway 7 west from Gatesville.

A copy of this statement was sent to the State Highway Commission at Austin, and another to Evant Brooks of Evant, Chairman of the Highway 7 Association of Mills, Hamilton, Coryell and McLennan Counties, and shows that the Commissioners here will furnish a "clean bill of health" for Highway 7, to the county line west. State of Texas, County of Coryell

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Commissioners' Court of Coryell County, Texas, in special session on the 27 day of January, 1936, that the State Highway Department has made location on Highway No. 7 from Gatesville west of the Hamilton County line, provided Coryell County, through its Commissioners' Court, agrees to secure a minimum of 100 foot right-of-way clear of all obstructions, except standing timber, and furnish without cost to the State, clear title to the necessary right-of-way, including all standing timber, through each and every tract crossed by said highway, and to do the fencing, on location which has been approved by the State Highway Engineer.

It is, therefore, ordered that Coryell County, acting herein by and through its Commissioners' Court, agrees and obligates itself to secure a minimum of 100 foot right-of-way, and do the fencing, on Highway No. 7 from Gatesville west to the Hamilton County line, and to clear such right-of-way of all obstructions, except standing timber, and furnish a clear title to each parcel secured, including all standing timber, without cost to the State, through each and every tract crossed by this highway, on location which has been approved by the State (Continued on Page 4.)

DISTRICT COURT STILL ON "CIVIL"; PROGRESS VERY SLOW

Docket for the District Court during the past week has been rather slow, according to information we have, and, most of the cases for trial have been hotly contested and the juries rendered few verdicts.

Since the News report Tuesday, the following cases have been disposed of:

Dr. O. G. Gilder vs. Arthur Schlecht; suit in trespass to try title; settled and dismissed.

Norma L. Lewis vs. Ernest R. Lewis; divorce and custody of children; judgment for plaintiff as prayed for.

Ella Hubby Williams vs. Harley Williams; suit for divorce and custody of minor child; judgment in favor of plaintiff.

Bertha Wood vs. Henry Wood; suit for divorce and restoration of maiden name; granted as prayed for.

Leroy Ledger vs. Lovett Ledger; suit for divorce; dismissed for want of prosecution.

Wm. H. Summers vs. Joe Hicks et ux.; suit to try title and for damages; judgment in favor of defendant.

G. J. Baize vs. R. L. Calhoun; suit for damages and injunction; jury failed to reach verdict and were discharged.

I. F. John et al. vs. First National Bank et al.; suit to cancel deed of trust and breach of contract, now on trial.

Criminal cases not reported before, the State of Texas vs. Ray Burt, charged with operating motor vehicle while intoxicated; jury waived and defendant plead guilty before court; given one year in penitentiary, suspended, and prevented from driving motor vehicle for 30 days.

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE
BURNS

WHEN Congress agrees, that is new, and the news is that the Senate unanimously agreed to remove from the statute books the Bankhead cotton control, Kerr-Smith tobacco and potato control laws on the recommendation of President Roosevelt.

"This recommendation is made," read the President's eight-line message, "because of the termination of the program of agricultural production adjustment under the act of May 12, 1933, as amended, known as the agricultural act, to which the three acts mentioned were auxiliary."

Members of both parties agreed this should be done and by the time you read this, the House will probably have taken the same action as the Senate.

One bill introduced in the Senate, of interest in view of the recent far-reaching decisions of the Supreme Court, would require a vote of at least seven of the nine Supreme Court Justices before a law could be held unconstitutional. Senator Pope (Dem) of Idaho introduced the bill, stating that the people by their votes had approved the AAA program and added that he did not propose to see the Nation under the absolute rule of nine men.

Much criticism of the Court has been forthcoming, since the AAA decision but, generally, the public does not seem inclined to alter the Constitution or the body which sees to it that the lawmakers stay within the Constitution.

AFTER the withdrawal of Japan from the London Naval Conference, the other four powers (U. S., Britain, France, Italy) seem to be making some progress. The four powers have agreed to adopt a plan for the annual exchange of information of naval construction programs, in advance of construction, so as to lessen the danger of construction competition. This information will be shared with German and Russia if they agree to the treaty, but not with Japan unless it also signs.

The treaty will be accepted with a grain of salt by most American navy men. They recall that in other treaties Uncle Sam informed Japan and the European powers of all naval construction and awoke last year to find these nations possessing "invisible navies," constructed outside the treaties and unknown to Washington.

Britain and France have clashed over the former's insistence that Germany be allowed to participate in the discussions. The Paris government contends that participation by the Nazis would constitute open approval by the powers of Germany's violation of the Versailles Treaty. Britain has already recognized the abrogation of the treaty by concluding a naval treaty with Germany by which it is allowed to build a navy 35 per cent of the total British tonnage.

Despite German protestations of friendship, the French fear the increase in the Reich armaments—air, land, and sea—and is seeking to build another "iron ring" around the Teutons. Russia has been invited to replace Italy, now embroiled in the African affair, in a promise to fight off Nazi ambitions in Austria. The French are trying to bring the Little Entente (Rumania, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia) into closer accord with Russia and Bulgaria, which fought with Germany in the World War and is making strong revisionist claims.

Would it not be better for the French to accept the hand of friendship offered by Hitler and abrogate the alliance with Communist Russia, which a united Europe will some day have to face?

A man whose political soundings and forecasts carry much weight in the higher circles of the Democratic Party gives the Republicans (as of today) only eight sure states, according to "Today." They are New Jersey, Delaware, and the six that are New England. Five states he rates as "borderline" Republican—among them Pennsylvania, because, though Mr. Hoover carried it in 1932, current polls the President's popularity to have suffered less in Pennsylvania than in any other Eastern state.

"Today," which is strongly Democratic, believes Mr. Roosevelt will not only lose New England but also New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. Granting this, "To- (Continued on Last Page.)

Miss Ernestine Durham
Miss Durham was born in Hamilton, Texas. She attended the Coggin Ward School in Brownwood, then the Brownwood junior and senior high. She entered Daniel Baker at Brownwood and graduated in the spring of 1934, where she obtained her A. B. degree, and majored in English. After finishing college, Miss Durham went to Zephyr, where she taught departmental work in the fifth and sixth grades. When school started last year Miss Durham came to Gatesville and now she teaches English in the sixth and seventh grades in grammar school and English I A and B in the high school. She also keeps the home room for the 5-Y class.

F. F. A. News
The Gatesville Chapter of Future Farmers are now studying the care of orchards. Several items have been discussed, but pruning has been the most general subject.

It has been decided that there are three general factors that make pruning necessary. These are: (1) shaping the young tree for the desired shape and to avoid splitting at the crotch, (2) Removing dead wood to let in sunlight and have a better development of fruit, and (3) to enable spraying and survesting to be done conveniently and thoroughly.

Several other subjects have been discussed such as: the best orchard site, the most successful type of trees for this locality, setting out the tree, protection against insects and diseases and the distance apart that trees should be planted.

The Future Farmer boys will do several pruning jobs over the county, under the competent direction of Mr. W. E. Lasseter, Vocational Agriculture instructor. Anyone desiring some pruning done at a reasonable price may see Mr. Lasseter for information. He can also quote some interesting prices on fruit trees.

High School Library

The Gatesville High School library is composed of about four thousand books. Five hundred of them are fiction books and the rest are books of drama, grammar, history, literature, religious, etc. The library subscribes to about twenty different magazines. It has two sets of America's one set of World Books, one set of Britannica's, and one set of Americanized Encyclopedias. Juniors and Seniors assist Miss Lois Scott in the library.

Senior Class

About one hundred students constitute the senior class of Gatesville High School. Sixty of these live in Gatesville. Many others come from various places. Twelve come from Jonesboro, four from Leon Junction, four from Ames, four from Mound, four from Purnella, three from Ireland, two from Killeen, one from Levita, one from Hamilton, one from Bee House, one from Coryell City, and one from Bledie.

The sponsors of the class are Miss Virginia Worthy and Mrs. John P. Reising. The officers are: President, Earl Powell;

Vice-president, Dave Culberson; Secretary, Frankie Mae Blair; and Treasurer, Albert Dickie.

In a recent class meeting, they decided upon the gift that they should leave for he school, but this will be announced at a later date.

Campus Lowdown

We've scribbled this column for the last two editions, but because of censors and other nuisances it wasn't printed. Frankie Mae (Let's do it again) Blair made 100 on the final Latin quiz. Wonder if anybody ever swept Marjorie Flentge off her feet? The Seniors cleared about 80 berries from their production. The class intends to buy banquet ware. BaBa Holt went the first nite—said he wanted to be a first nighter. Lunette Wicker had to take four exams on one day—can she take 'em? Hot Man Chamlee has been escorting one of the Simpson gals lately. Buster Cummings is happy again—his old running mate, Joe Satterfield, is back in school. Chile Smith is telling this one on Turkey Straw:

Jane: "My Scotch boy friend Jack Straw, sent me his picture."

Helon: "Was it good?"
Jane: "I don't know. I have not had it developed yet."

Look alike: Billy Malone and Slim Summerville. That skating fad during exams was almost as spontaneous as the 'Music Goes Round and Round.' Dorothea Dillashaw will be wearing Royce Davis' football sweater one of these days. A fist fight between the engineer and the conductor decided who would be in charge of the first train. Brack Curry has been editor of the "Hornets' Nest" for two years. He plans a journalistic career. Laurels go to Bess Bates for her performance in "Hold Everything." Incidentally, she resembles Katharine Hepburn. John Frank Post thinks Anita Lowrey is cute. Jerry Franks intends to be a stenographer. Today makes the twenty-ninth day that Jack Reesing has been out of school. Ted Brazzil's heart interest lives at Flat. Joe Baker made 99 on the Bank exam—He spelled those "thoes." Cookie Cook has a knack for scribbling short stories—mostly about a boy, a girl, and all the trimmings—and she's pretty good too. At the Bachelor's trial the other night, the prosecutor asked Coach Ewing which of those school marms did he like best—he declined to answer. Our nomination for the most outstanding boy of the school year "Pelly" Powell (PS He's an onion addict). Wonder how many in school now remember those "Takeademerit" days. A suggestion for Miss Scott—"Stay as Sweet as You Are."

Sport Shots

After seeing the Hornet quint in action, it is hardly truthful to say that the team ranks with last year's five. With a little more practice under their belts, the Hornets may get started right. In the tournament, the Hornets have a man-killing schedule. First they take on Evant—then comes Turnersville. If they survive these two frays, then battle the Thorp Dragons of Pearl, and if they emerge victorious from this encounter, they fight it out with Jonesboro. So, the reader can see that the Hornets have a long rocky road before them and the chances for the duplication of last season's champions seem slim.

Joe Satterfield is back in school again and will be eligible for football next fall. The refusal to pass the eighteen year age limit is the cause of his return. If he lives up to the expectations, he will be the sparkplug of the '36 eleven.

Some basketball critics are saying that what this year's team needs is another McLarty and Ward—Hall is the McLarty. All that is lacking is the Ward.

While discussing sports with a graduate of G. H. S., I asked him who, in his opinion, was the greatest athlete ever to wear the Black and Gold. He named Paul Colgin.

Cracks From the Campus

By the Jester

John R. Colgin: "There's only one thing worse than trying to shave with a razor after your sister has sharpened a pencil with it."

Edwin McDonald: "What's that?"

John Rufus: "Trying to write with it."

This is Jack Hestilow's favorite verse to the girls, we are told:

I think that I shall never see a billboard lovely as a tree perhaps, unless the billboard falls, I'll never see a tree at all.

Here is a story that is being told on Nettie Jane Thomson:

Nettie Jane Thomson, learning to drive a car: "But I don't know what to do!"

Mrs. Thomson: "Just imagine that I'm driving."

Miss Lawrence: "How can you tell the approach of winter?"

Belva McCoy: "It begins to get later earlier."

BING CROSBY FINDS FAME "JUST COMES"

Ask Bing Crosby to explain the secret of his success, and he will admit failure. The why baffles, but he can relate how it happened in three words. "It just comes," the singing star says.

Thanks to his versatile gifts, Bing Crosby coasted to fame. He finds the voyage has been swift, breath-taking, and surprising.

He was always looking round the corner, as it were. As a student, instead of concentrating on text books, he was playing in an orchestra. As a drummer, he extended himself and sang a little. As a singer he drifted into vaudeville. His radio broadcasts transformed him into a radio star, and his screen appearances changed him into a screen star.

Music cast its spell around him during his high school days. He tried out for the school band and became a drum beater. At the age of sixteen, he was busy lumbering. A year later, college football and baseball engrossed him. To earn his law tuition fees, he organized a band and bought a set of drums from a mail order house. Though none of the band could read a note of music, they learned the popular tunes by studying Paul Whiteman and Isham Jones phonograph records.

When Bing, then earning forty dollars a week as a singer, learned that the average lawyer in town earned only thirty, he forsook law, and left for Los Angeles.

The rest is entertainment history.

The singing star heads the cast of Paramount's "Anything Goes," the mirthful screen presentation of the stage hit. It will be the attraction at the Palace Theatre starting tomorrow.

Others in the cast are Ethel Merman, Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino and Grace Bradley.

The History of Coryell County

By FRANK E. SIMMONS

Authorized by County Commissioners, as Official History for Texas Centennial Celebration.

CORYELL COUNTY

The county as organized, embrace an area of 1,085 square miles in central Texas. It was originally a part of Milam County and later a part of Bell until organized as a separate county. The county was named for James Coryell. In 1854 when the county was organized, it had a population of 250 or 300 people, including a number of slaves and some free negroes. The 1930 census showed a population of approximately 20,000 or about 18.4 per square mile. It also showed the wealth of the county to be approximately $30,000,000.

The county is located in that part of Texas known as the Grand Prairie. The terrain is a rolling prairie cut by deep valleys. The prairies present a table land toping a rugged hill country. The prairies belong to the rich black lime lands, while the valleys are composed of black land, and rich loamy alluvial and sandy soils. Cotton, corn, and grain are the predominating crops while all fruits and vegetables known to the temperate climates do well in their proper location in the valleys. This is said to be the greatest oat producing county in the state.

It is the ideal country for poultry, stock raising, and general farming. Gatesville, with nearly 3,000 population, is one of the leading produce markets in the state.

The school and church organizations are as good as can be found. There are but few high schools in the state that are as highly rated at the Gatesville School.

The beautiful scenic hills and valleys of this county present a park-like view from whatever angle they are viewed, interspersed with blue cedared hills and ranges spreading and reaching into the blue distance and wide valleys dotted with farms. Every landscape inspires beauty. The location of every farm house is romantic. It is a poetic land with music and harmony expressed in every line.

In the beginning, this county had its trials, the first few years were marked with recurring droughts of severe intensity. Crops were short and the people suffered for bread stuffs, however, the range was good, and livestock did well and game was plentiful, so that the hardy pioneers with great fortitude maintained their homes.

The Civil War came on and Coryell County offered her full quota of volunteers for the Confederate armies. The ranchmen furnished large numbers of horses and beeves for the armies of the South. Companies of men went to the armies, and other companies were sent to protect the frontier from raiding Comanches. The close of the war found the flower of our young manhood had been laid to rest on the battle fields of the South, but the homes had been maintained by the heroic women and children who had been left behind.

From 1865 to about 1880 saw a period of lawlessness prevail in this state that more or less affected Coryell County during the same period. Ruffians flocked to Texas. The cattle business reached its zenith on the open range. Contending big cattle interests, disputing the rights of the range, brought on range wars, during which time some outfits were entirely killed out or driven out. There was another element of free-booters—the cattle and horse rustlers that stole stock from all who were not aligned with them. Out of this condition grew a period of mob rule during which time there was no effective law. Each clan was a law unto itself. It thus came about that mob violence dispatched the lives of many outlaws and some good citizens. One old pioneer related that "We buckled on our six shooters as often as we drew on our boots. There was no law."

In 1872 a new courthouse was built, occupying the site of the present building, but it was to be occupied for only about twenty-five years, for in 1897 the present courthouse was erected. By this time outlawry had been stamped out and Coryell County, whose foundations had been laid by a people of sterling worth, was again a progressive, peaceful community.

An event of great importance to Coryell County was the entrance of the St. L. S. W. Railway in 1882. At first, a narrow guage line was operated. It, however, enabled the people of the county to obtain speedier deliveries of consignments of freight.

Previous to 1882 goods had been freighted into the county by wagon trains. In earlier years by ox teams from as far away as the Gulf ports. As the railroads penetrated farther into Texas, shipping terminals for railroads were Bremond, Waco, and other points along the advancing railroad lines, so that with each extension of rail transportation the wagon haul for goods to Coryell County was shortened. With the coming of the railroad the old team freighting and stage lines were relegated to the past. A short time after the Cotton Belt line reached Gatesville, the G. C. & S. F. crossed the southwest corner of the county and Copperas Cove became a railroad town.

In this outline of Coryell County history we deem it quite appropriate to quote a part of Judge Robt. W. Brown's report as of July, 1935, at the time he resigned the office of county Judge, showing the further progress and latest developments in roads, public building and excellent financial condition of the county. He says, in part:

"We have bought Right-of-Way and had three highway construction jobs. Our jail was condemned and we built one of the best modern small jails in Texas. We have built lateral roads and our Commissioners have graveled more roads than was ever done in twice the time. In the early days of the depression I was the first judge in Texas to advocate and put through a general reduction of tax values. Our county owes less than it has owed for fifty years. All our funds except one road beat is on a cash basis. There are only six small counties in Texas that owe less money. Considering our population and tax values, there is no county in Texas in better financial condition."

EVANT NEWS

Mr. Putman Sawyer has resigned his position with the Brooks store, and is salesman for Mr. Geo. Manning, who has a car agency.

Quite a little excitement was created one day last week when the smoke house of Mr. S. B. Winters was discovered on fire. With quick work on the part of the hands at the gym, who rushed to the scene of the fire, were able to extinguish the flames and save the dwelling which stood nearby. The meat and lard were saved. The fire originated from hot coals Mrs. Winters had used in an attempt to thaw some frozen pipes.

Mr. and Mrs. Pressley Curry and sons, Don and James, of Dallas, and Mrs. Pet Curry of Hamilton were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Christian.

Miss Ellen Douglas Brooks, student at Southwestern U. at Georgetown, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evant Brooks, over the week end.

Miss Zelma Scott, member of the faculty, spent the week end with her parents in Gatesville.

We are glad to report Mrs. Nora Lovelady as much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Rabe Preston and children, Tom and Doris, and Melba Jean of Pearl, were visiting in the home of his father, Mr. W. B. Preston last Friday.

A nice crowd of youngsters enjoyed a "42" party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Christian last Saturday night.

Mr. Kirby Warren and Miss

Tressie Meharg carried the boys and girls ball teams to Santa Anna to a tournament Saturday, but we have not been able to learn the results of the games.

Bro. George Bennett filled his regular appointment at the Methodist Church Sunday with good crowds and an inspiring message.

EWING NEWS

The farmers are wishing for a heavy rainfall in this community, and prospects have been very favorable.

Mrs. Rex Clawson has been visiting her parents several days.

Out of the community relatives who attended the funeral of their grandmother were: Mr. and Mrs. Rex George and son of Rio Hondo, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sanderford and children of Llano County, Mrs. Joe Watkins and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bell and children of Purlmela, Blaine Bone and mother of Schley, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Daughtery and daughter, Mary Edna of Brownfield, and Mrs. Rex Clawson of Houston.

Mrs. Kellogg attended the funeral of her niece of Caulfield Friday.

Nathan Wittie who underwent an operation recently in the Central Texas Hospital at Waco is doing nicely.

Mrs. G. H. Short is at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Ludwig at Bland.

The people of this community hearts were made sad when the death angel visited in the home of Bill Brown and took Grandmother Daughtery away from us.

GOOD LIGHTING PREVENTS THIS

in your bridge hand

EVER get a spade mixed with your clubs! It won't happen if you have enough light on the bridge table. For it's a scientific fact that good lighting automatically draws your attention to such mistakes.

And good lighting does another thing for your bridge game. By making it easier for you and your guests to see the cards, it relieves the strain—puts new pep into the party. Psychologists have proved that good lighting is stimulating even for tasks that do not require close, prolonged eye-use. Try using 75-watt or 100-watt MAZDA bulbs in your floor lamps and see how much more pleasant it makes reading, sewing, study and recreation.

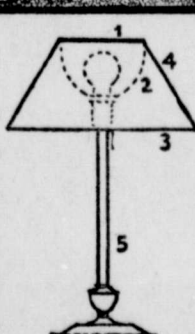

Good lighting costs only a few pennies a day more than poor lighting and is dirt-cheap protection for the most precious asset you'll ever have—your eyes. Consult us today about your lighting problems. We'll gladly advise you on the recommended sizes of lamps and the proper placement of fixtures.

This I.E.S. Better Sight Lamp Helps Prevent Eyestrain

1. Wide opening at top of shade throws light to ceiling, eliminating shadows.
2. Glass reflector softens light, prevents glare.
3. Wide shade gives ample light over your work.
4. Shade lining is white to reflect more light.
5. Lamp is high enough to light a large working area.

HERBERT MARSHALL starring JEAN ARTHUR
 Serialization by Emmet Kent by arrangement with Columbia Pictures

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

James Buchanan, wealthy car manufacturer, wants a last fling before marrying Evelyn Fletcher. He meets a lovely young girl, Joan, on a park bench, and she induces him—not knowing his real identity—to take a cook and butler job at Rossini Manor. Jim tells her he is an automotive designer, and when she sees his car designs, she tries to sell them to the Atlas Motors Company. Recognizing the Buchanan touch, the Atlas president has Joan arrested, thinking she stole the drawings. Rossini, furious, has Joan bailed out. Meanwhile, Jim has been persuaded by his friend, Bob, to give up the wild game. Jim, heartbroken, leaves a note for Joan, which Rossini shows her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

It was hard for Joan to realize that Jim was gone. Nothing left of those few days of heaven but a note. Rossini tried his best to console the heartbroken girl, but Rossini wasn't versed in the gentle art of consoling a lovelorn woman. "...somehow," he said, "I sensed you weren't married all along..."

"But I didn't know what I was talking about. If anything happened to Jim, I'd never forgive myself!"

that's why I made that play for you that night. I'm sorry I was so crude about it. I misjudged you... but you appealed to me—appealed to me a lot."

"You make it hard for me to stay, sir," Joan was uncomfortable. "Unless you treat me like a cook." Rossini made a wry face. "I don't want to treat you like a cook. I want to treat you like—like—you were Mrs. Rossini!" Yes, it's a proposal—when I make up my mind I make it up fast. He squeezed Joan's hand. "And you've got everything. If you say yes, I'll change my whole life around. I'll quit the rackets and start dealing from a new deck—that's more than James did for you."

Joan smiled. Rossini's speech had touched her. "I'm sorry. But when I make up my mind, I don't make it up so fast." She walked hurriedly into the kitchen.

Flash burst into the room waving a newspaper, his face excited and red. "Chief! Take a gander at this—" He thrust the paper in front of Rossini.

Rossini read, "James Buchanan to wed Evelyn Fletcher at—so what?"

Rossini looked and his mouth hung open. "That's James!"

"That," said Flash with emphasis, "is Buchanan!"

Rossini's mouth tightened now. "—fooling around with Joan when all the time he's going to marry this pain-in-the-neck." His eyes were cold as steel. "A punk like that ought to be rubbed out." He nodded. "Yes—rubbed out." Rossini turned to Flash. "Flash you're going to a wedding—with some of the boys." His tone had a sinister ring. "This wedding isn't going to come off, see? Buchanan deserves it!"

"But—but she's only your cook!" "I'm going to marry her, Flash—and what I'm asking of you will be part of the wedding present."

Flash left, his mind filled with the unpleasant duties on hand.

Joan was called in and shown the newspaper. Her eyes flared. "He must have been laughing at me all the time—getting a great kick out of kidding me along."

"He isn't going to worry you any more—just leave him to me!"

Joan was still furious. "I'd like to see you wipe up the floor with him."

"I'm going the limit for you, sister—and no matter what I do, it's better than that skunk deserves!" Rossini sat down, satisfied. "I've got it all fixed—there'll be no wedding—and no Buchanan!"

Fear crossed Joan's face. "No Buchanan! Oh—don't—don't do anything rash, Mr. Rossini!"

"Buchanan's off your knife—forget him."

"Oh—this is terrible." Joan shuddered. "Mr. Rossini you've got to stop Flash—you've got to stop him fast!"

"What's the idea?" Rossini was bewildered.

"But I didn't know what I was talking about. If anything happened to Jim, I'd never forgive myself! Don't you see, Mr. Rossini—what I've been saying is just a lot of words. No matter what he has done—I love him."

Rossini's gaze turned from Joan's pleading eyes. He scratched his head. "Ain't love grand! The more I'm around women, the less I know about anything!" Rossini shrugged. "You've got my word—nothing'll happen."

Joan reached up suddenly and kissed Rossini on the forehead. "You—you are a sweet guy."

That was how Jim Buchanan came to be spirited away from his own wedding at the points of several guns. Spirited into a car and whisked away to Rossini Manor, where odd things were about to happen.

NEW OLIVE SCHOOL

The Leon Junction P.-T. A. will meet Wednesday night of this week.

Lucille England has enrolled as a 9th grade student. We are glad to have her back in school.

Tuesday night the Senior boys play Plainview at Gatesville. Friday the Senior boys will play in the tournament at Gatesville.

Last Tuesday night the Junior girls played the White Hall Junior girls in the gym. White Hall won by a small score. We are anxious to play them again before so very long.

All of the students are glad that the mid-term examinations are over.

1 and 2 Grades

The primary pupils are all working very hard. One pupil has already read enough library books for a reading certificate. Several pupils have read as many as twenty books.

We have been studying about the far north, and we have learned many interesting things about the way the people travel and dress.

Mount Whitney is the highest elevation in the United States—14,501 feet.

CANDIDATE FOR STATE SUPT. PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

In announcing his candidacy for State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Texas, subject to the July Democratic Primaries, A. A. (Pat) Bullock, retiring Director of Adult Education in Texas for the Federal Government, declared that his action is prompted for the good of the schools of Texas and to bring back harmony to the school officials of the State. "I am resigning my position with the Federal Government to offer myself as a candidate for State Superintendent at the urgent request of hundreds of school executives, classroom teachers, school board members and school patrons over Texas, and because I know there is a strong demand for a change in the administration of the State Department of Education," said Mr. Bullock.

Mr. Bullock is 41 years of age and has been active in the schools of Texas for the past 20 years as teacher, school superintendent, and county superintendent, and for two and a half years he served as Director of the Rural Aid Division of the State Department of Education, going to the Works Progress Administration on September 3, 1935, where he established the Works Progress Administration Emergency Education Program in Texas. This program is now well set up and is in progress over the entire State. "I will take up issues of interest to the public from the platform, through the press and radio as the campaign," concluded Mr. Bullock.

BARBARY COAST OF 'FRISCO RECONSTRUCTED FOR FILM

On the shores of the lake at Warner Bros.' studio, carpenters rebuilt a forgotten city—the young city of San Francisco which in 1854 sprawled across the sand hills.

Few Californians would recognize this San Francisco, for it resembles not at all the great city overlooking the Golden Gate in the year 1935. And nearly everyone who lived in the days following the gold rush when the Barbary Coast was more than a name and when the vigilantes built Fort Gunnybags, has long since died.

The city was built for "Frisco Kid," which comes to the Regal Theatre on Saturday night at 10:30, also showing Sunday and Monday with James Cagney in the stellar role.

Building a town that exists only in faded photographs is not an easy task. The architectural magician was Art Director John Hughes. He took a series of photographs and from them recreated the waterfront, Portsmouth Square, Knob Hill, Telegraph Hill, portions of Pacific, Kearney, Clay and Washington Streets of the year 1854. All the old sets on the east side of the lake were cleared away in a three acre area. The mine used in Paul Muni's "Black Fury" disappeared. The docks, erected ten years ago for another San Francisco waterfront picture, were removed and new docks took their place.

Beyond the docks was Pacific Street—the Barbary Coast—with its scores of saloons, gambling houses, cheap hotels and bagnios. Then leading away from it were the other streets with the buildings getting more and more respectable until Portsmouth Square was reached.

On Portsmouth Square stood the "Hayworth" theatre, an exact duplicate of the famous Jenny Lind theatre built in 1851, which burned the following year. Also on the square was Fort Gunnybags where the Vigilantes held court and hanged not a few of the Barbary Coast characters.

On a sound stage the more elaborate interiors used in the picture were constructed. The International Hotel, Morra's gambling hall, the Tribune office, the Bella Pacific, the Occidental Hotel and the Hayworth theatre interiors were built almost complete.

Hughes hasn't stopped there. After Cagney is swept from his position of power by the forces of law and order back to the Barbary Coast, the settings follow him down and at the end they are as drab as they were at first.

"Frisco Kid" is a dynamic drama of the days when vice and crime were rampant on the Barbary Coast and the vigilantes represented the only potent law.

Cagney heads the cast which includes Margaret Lindsay, Ricardo Cortez, Lili Damita, Geo. E. Stone, Donald Woods, Barton MacLane and Joseph Crehan.

NATIONAL SCOUT WEEK

FEB. 7 TO 13

Scouting Versus Crime

Look at the Scout Oath! In itself, what more would you wish for your boy to follow? Scouting is built on "guided effort and energy."

Boys from the age of 12, and below, start running in gangs. If there is guidance, by men of character and influence on boys of this age, anything is liable to happen. Scouting is not sissy; it teaches, directs, and gives direction to pent-up interest, energy and activity that must go somewhere. Scouting is town, county, state, national and international in scope. It is the preliminary directing force to the future manhood of the nation and world. Unguided, this zeal, interest and ambition becomes chaos and crime.

Urge that young bundle of energy of yours to align himself to some troupe and learn to do, learn to play and to work so that he may be better able to do, to play, and to work after he is out of the scouting age.

Someone has said "As the the twig is bent * * * " and what better fits the idea of Scouting?

For the boys both in the town and the country, many others may be added, including: Photography, Plumbing, Pottery, Printing, Journalism, Radio, Stamp Collecting, and an unlimited number of very important studies in which the young boys might become interested.

MEMBERSHIP FIGURES FOR SCOUTING IN THE UNITED STATES

Scouts of all classes in the United States for 1935, are in number, 725,889, divided into divisions, Sea Scouts, 20,738, Scouters, 218,736, Cubs, 54,251, and Cubbers 8,920. These figures include all classes of scouts, showing what has happened in Scouting since it's organization the first part of the century.

minates any members having to fall out of a game, thereby losing interest in the activity.

A lawyer works for hours and hours in search of something that will take him only a few minutes to tell the jury. So it is in the case of Scoutmasters and leaders. It takes much more effort of preparation on the outside, time spent in planning, to put over in a very short time a snappy troupe meeting. It is here, in Troupe meetings that the boy gets ideas and suggestions that carry him through the following week. A Troupe, in nearly every case can be classified by the type of troupe meetings conducted.

GATESVILLE SCOUTS

Gatesville Scouts include in their number all the grades from the "cubs" up to the staid old Star Scout, who has the privilege of displaying five Merit Badges.

This roster includes Star Scout Joe Ned Brown with Merit Badges in athletics, Book binding, first aid, handicraft and one other; Jim Welch, the other first class scout has not enough merit badges to classify as a Star Scout yet.

Second Class Scouts are John Frank Post, Thomas Richerson, Duncan Kirkpatrick, Esteen Poston, Julian Smith, Danny McClellan and Jack Hearne.

Tenderfoot Class: Oran Baker, Jan Jones, Byrne Jones, Billy McBride, Steve Lindley, Bayne Blankenship, Billy Oldham, Elmer Sparks, Wayne Strickland, Theron Dildy, Charles Sydow, Johnnie Hughes, Erin Gorden, Hulan Thompson, Oce Lovejoy, G. L. Schley, Bob Ables, Hupert Davis, Dayton Brown, and Jimmy McClellan.

Cubs are: Dick Anderson, Bill Lassefer, and Fred Post.

Scouting Interest Covers City and Country Alike

Interest in Scouting has spread thruout the county, as shown by a recent meeting in Gatesville, called by George W. Powell, of the Heart o' Texas Council, with Headquarters at Waco.

At that time E. D. Shelton of Gatesville was made District Chairman, V. F. Lemmons, Gatesville, Vice-Chairman; P. T. Lemmons, Jonesboro, Vice-Chairman; Andrew Kendrick, Gatesville, Treasurer; and Rev. J. M. McLean, Gatesville, Recording Secretary.

J. M. Witcher was appointed to serve as District Scout Commissioner.

Various information was received from Pidcoke, Jonesboro, Pearl, Purnela and Evant, relative to organizations there, and the probability of organizations.

Men interested in this movement, present, and not heretofore named were: Rev. C. A. Morton, C. E. Alvis, Jr., H. Earl Culp, Rev. M. M. Chunn, P. H. Olsen, J. H. Hughes, John Ed. Hughes, Jack Odell, R. C. Summers of McGregor, M. Tharp, A. V. Freeman, R. S. Dillard of Pearl, Homer Smith, E. C. Martin of Slater, S. M. Anderson of Pidcoke, and A. R. Pointer of Purnela.

SCOUT WORK IS PLAY-TEACHING

From the time a boy becomes a Scout right on through the First Class work he passes tests as the result of play. And play is what he is chuck full of. Not only is this play good for the beginner, but also for the Scout of higher rank, for it refreshes him in Scouting that possibly he has long since forgotten. Then, too, it causes the Scout of higher rank to assist or teach the beginner, so that the Patrol in which they are both members will not be the losing Patrol in the game to be played.

In running Relay Races where the Patrols are not evenly divided as to number present, it is best to have members of the smaller Patrols run or three times—until number have participated in the largest Patrol.

World Comment—

day" gives the Republican candidate 191 electoral votes (writer's figures), or only 75 short of the 266 votes needed for election.

So, if Republican strength should continue to increase at the pace of the last year, the G. O. P. might succeed in electing its nominee next November.

"The Literary Digest" last week carried a chart on "Federal Income and Expense."

From fiscal year 1930 (beginning July 1, 1929) through fiscal year 1937 (beginning July 1, 1936), the budget for which is now under discussion, we find Federal receipts increasing from $4,100,000,000 (billions) to $5,600,000,000 (billions), an increase of $1,500,000,000 (billion). Expenditures in the same period have increased from $3,400,000,000 (billions) in 1930 to $6,100,000,000 (billions) in 1937, an increase of $2,700,000,000 (billions). Thus the increase in Federal expenditures is little short of double the increase in Federal revenues. The 6.1 billions' classed as total expenditures for fiscal 1937 is exclusive of 2.5 billions for the bonus, 2 billions for additional relief, and costs of the new farm program.

Covering the same period, fiscal 1930 through fiscal 1937, the chart shows the Federal public debt increasing from $16,100,000,000 (billions) in '30 to $31,300,000,000 (billions) in '37.

In respect to the debt, let us point out that the increase during Hoover's one term was $6,400,000,000, and the increase to date under Roosevelt $8,800,000,000. Under Hoover, the 6.4 billions went for naught in so far as returning prosperity, which the Nation has noticed recovered under the second Roosevelt.

READERS of modern periodicals frequently are reminded of the "War" of the World War. Sam but last week, first time since 1918, officials gave out.

Startling it was to the writer and we are sure it will be to you, but just remember that not one but twenty-one nations fought in this great struggle.

Payment of the soldiers' bonus will bring the cost to the U. S. to $45,200,000,000 (billions), the Treasury reports. But the cost will not stop there. Ever since 1921 the continuing costs—interest on Liberty Bonds, veterans' compensation and the like—have been 1 billion a year.

Of this amount, $6,391,000,000 (billions) have gone in payments to veterans, exclusive of the present bonus payment of 2½ billions due June 15, and 9½ billions in interest on the war debt.

Mrs. R. D. A. Tharp of Stephenville and her son, Robert, and Pate Rattan were visitors in Gatesville yesterday.
