Paul Revere's Ride April 19, 1775; America's Most Famous Horseman

He was a printer, making the plates used in printing the first paper currency in Massachusetts.

Longfellow wrote a poem about his famous ride. Someone has recently written a song about this midnight jaunt of his.

Maybe he originated the idea of signaling, anyway, a lantern was hung or hanged in the steeple of the Old North Church tower.

"The British are coming," he said and the song, "Here Come the British with a Bang, Bang."

That's one horseman, we certainly won't forget.

CORYELL COUNTY LEADS WORLD IN MULE PRODUCTION STATISTICS FOR 1935 REVEAL

Statistics compiled are to the effect that Coryell County leads the world in mule production according to the report made on January 1, 1936, according to Guy Powell, County Agent.

Texas leads for the states and Coryell County for the Counties in Texas with 171 mules under the age of two years at this time.

Despite this, neither the county, nor the state are raising enough young mules to supply replacements needed. Wayne Dinsmore, Secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America, who has just sent Mr. Powell a very valuable report on the successful management of jacks for mule production, advises that there is a great shortage of young mules in the United States, as there are only 11 mule colts coming three years of age this spring where there should be 52 for replacement purposes alone.

The limiting factor in mule production for the next few years will be the number of jacks available. There are not nearly enough jacks; hence, it is highly desirable for men hav-

Baptist Revival to Open Sunday; Pastor Morton Will Do Preaching

The annual Revival meeting of the First Baptist Church of this city will begin Sunday morning at 10:50, and the Sunday night services at 7:30. Gospel music will have a large place in the meeting with Mrs. Ola Mae Parks, pianist, and the choir assisting Gospel Singer Joe Trussell of Brownwood. Mr. Trussell has led the singing in several revivals in the First Baptist Church of this city, and will have a gracious welcome by many who will go along distance to hear his singing.

The preaching will be done by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Morton, who states that the officials of the church have pledged their cooperation in behalf of the meeting, with the belief the membership of the church will lend their wholehearted support. Services will be held twice daily except Saturday morning. The morning hour is from 10 to 11 o'clock and the night services are at 7:30.

Rev. Morton further stated that the center of the revival will be John 3:16, and in the language of a great evangelist of other years, a revival may be expected in these words:

"We may expect a revival when the wickedness of the wicked grieves, humbles, and distresses Christians; when Christians have a spirit of prayer for revival; when ministers' preaching and other efforts are aimed particularly for the conversion of sinners; when Christians begin to confess their sins one to another; when Christians are willing to make sacrifices necessary to carry on; when ministers and other Christians are willing to have God promote it by whatever instrument he chooses".

NEGRO ATTEMPTS BURGLARY OF SHEPHERD MOTOR CO. WEDNESDAY NIGHT

"Red" Chappel, colored, broke a window in the rear of the Shepherd Motor Company in an alleged attempt at burglary.

Chappel was an employee of this company. Nothing was taken as Chappel never entered the building, it is said.

Noise of the breaking window attracted the attention of J. B. Graves, who rushed out, but was unable to see or catch the man. J. M. Johnson, traveling man who was in the Moon Hotel, is reported to have seen the negro pass the east side of the Shepherd building, his attention being attracted by the breaking glass.

Chappel was jailed on a charge of attempted burglary.

High Davis Family Has Annual Reunion Sat., April 11, at Oglesby

Easter Saturday was the date set for the relatives and friends of the High and Loyce Davis families to pay them a visit, one of those enjoyable spend-the-days, one of those memorable times in which you are entertained every minute from the time you arrive at your hostess' home until you leave. Fortunately no one forgot to be present and practically everyone remember to be on time for the barbecue.

As usual Mr. Davis presided over a series of pre-planned games, ball, races of various kinds, etc. This time, though, there were so many activities that one could not see everything at the same time. You know you have been, haven't you, where you had to have the reserved seats or you missed something you most wanted to see? That was true Saturday. "Under the big tent" of sky-in the "big spacious, airy, comfortable, beautiful"—pasture arena, there were the exciting boxing matches. On the side-admission (just walk in) there were the most unusual horses. Trained? Well, I should say "yes". The riders most effectively prostrated the Centennial idea as to the hats and boots.

In the very midst of the excitement, under the supervision of Miss Vera Sams, the Easter rabbits announced their arrival. The little children on the ground found great joy in finding their bright colored eggs. Exclamations of "Oh! here's one!" "I've found one." "I've found anotherun'", and such were prevalent for an hour or more.

Target shooting had its same important place as an event. Mrs. Raymond Barber of Waco came the nearest to the bulls-eye.

Those of you who weren't there may be wondering if there was anything special done during the noon hour. Those of us who were, know exactly how special, how very special the spread was. Mr. and Mrs. High Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Loyce Davis' treat to their guests was barbecue. Bert Davis was at his best in the role of chief cook. Many said the meat was the best that had ever been served, there, that was saying a lot! Besides the delicious barbeche, they donated bread and pickles. Guests brought any other known high class picnic eatable. Admiration coffee representatives served hot coffee. Mr. Jeff Gill and Mr. M. Jenkins donation was their 40 pound catfish.

Winford Clemons, realizing how warm the weather had gotten, favored the crowd by having a cold drink stand on the grounds.

The climax to the most largely attended private picnic ever held at Mr. Davis' was reached late in the afternoon with the scheduled goat-roping contest. Lot of excitement did you say? Yes! Yes! Sorry, I don't have a record of the time on the various contests, but official score-keeper, Jeff Gill, failed to pass on that information in time for the press.

Mrs. Gordon Davis of Gatesville presided over the register in which there were 348 names recorded, an increase of 43 in number over any previous year.

Space does not permit very many names of out-of-community guests who were present but among the large number were Mr. and Mrs. Childress Buford, Hobby, Texas, Mr. Vert Buford of Houston, Texas, Mrs. Marvin Davis, Dallas, Mrs. Willa Reeves and other of Fort Worth, all the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. High Davis of Pecan Grove and Turnersville, Mr. Davis' brother, Mr. Jess and family of Turnersville, Wes Davis and family of Hackney, Mrs. Davis' brother, Mr. George Vandiver of Hackney, and sister, Mrs. Morris of McGregor, and aged father, Mr. Charles Vandiver, Mrs. Margaret Davis and son, Elvin, of McGregor, H. D. Davis, Mesdames T. N. Edwards, and Paul Morris and several others of McGregor, Oglesby, Pecan Grove, Crawford, Gatesville, and other near by towns were well represented.

Out-of-State guests were Dr. and Mrs. John Davis of Seminole, Okla. Their being here is one of the things that is always and added inspiration. With the fine attendance, there were some who were missed by their absence.

Ford - FOR ECONOMY

"The Ford V-8 uses less fuel and oil for the power it gives than any other car we have ever made

AND ITS UP-KEEP COST IS THE LOWEST"

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But drivers ought to know better. For, the fact is, it's way down the list.

The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor.

Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than $10 for a whole year's average driving (8400 miles at 18 cents a gallon). Here are the big items that make the Ford the most economical car:

More value for every dollar you pay.
Lower cost for repairs and service.
Long life. Slow depreciation.

Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost.

$25 A MONTH WITH USUAL LOW DOWN-PAYMENT, BUYS ANY NEW FORD V-8 CAR ON NEW UCC 1/2% PER MONTH FINANCE PLANS.

SPORTS

Saturday and Sunday the County Base Ball League swings into the second week of play with the teams matched as follows:

Saturday Division: Jonesboro vs. Turnersville at Turnersville; State vs. Osage at State; Mound vs. Pidcoke at Mound.

Sunday Division: Flat vs. Levita at Flat; Pearl vs. Gatesville C. C. C. at Pearl; Seattle vs. Neff Park C. C. C. at Neff Park.

The Managers of teams playing each week are urged to send in results of the games Monday morning as we wish to have them in Tuesday's issue of the News. We suggest that the manager of the home team send in the results. These reports can include the score, the leading hitter, the outstanding fielder and the batteries for each team.

The stands for the new athletic field are taking shape as readily as are the next season's grid hopefuls and football fans are assured of some fine games next fall and as equally a fine place to see them.

Three teams are being organized for the coming softball season and anyone desiring to enter a team is requested to get in touch with fire chief Roger Miller. It is hoped that four strong teams from town will be entered along with two teams from the C. C. C. Camp. If only three teams from town are possible then three teams from the camp will try to be arranged.

The three teams being organized are the Fire boys, Doc's Sandwich Shop and "Lasses" Anderson's. Any one wishing to play and who hasn't been signed should get in touch with one of these managers, the fire boys of course being limited to members.

Ben Sellers of the local golf club is trying to promote a new and very interesting golf scheme.

His idea is to have a tri-county high school golf tournament between the high schools of Hamilton, Hico, Clifton, Valley Mills and Gatesville. The tournament to be held here at a date satisfactory to all schools.

The local school is heartily in favor of the plan and Mr. Sellers will get in touch with the other schools very shortly. The plan sounds fine to us.

CLUB NEWS

Busy Workers Club

The club met with Mrs. Leota Wilkerson Saturday, April 11. The afternoon was spent quilting on a double wedding ring quilt and embroidering cup towels. Birthday showers were given Mrs. Lizzie White and Miss Minnie Brookshire. They received several nice gifts. Delicious pineapple and banana cake and hot chocolate were served to eleven members and one visitor. We are always glad to receive members and visitors are always welcome.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Minnie Parker Wednesday, April 22. Birthday showers will be given Mrs. Minnie Whalley and Mrs. Leota Wilkerson.

Harmon 4-H Club

The club girls met Tuesday, April 14, with their sponsor. All members were present. We have completed our cup towels, and have almost finished our trunks. We also looked over the slip pattern, and talked about the material to be used in making the slips.

Our reporter resigned and Mary Elizabeth Perkins was elected.

At the present we are practicing a play entitled "Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown," and we are planning to put it on Friday night, April 24.

4-H Club Gardens

The 4-H Club girls have been busy for the past month planning and beginning their spring gardens. We have learned that for every member in the family, there should be one hundred and forty-five feet of leafy or green vegetables. The following plan would be suitable for a fish peas, 75 feet of snap black-family of five: 100 feet of Eng-eyed peas, 75 feet of string beans, 50 feet of mustard, 75 feet of turnip greens, 75 feet of cabbage, 50 feet of radishes, 50 feet of lettuce, 50 feet of pepper, 50 feet of tendergreens, and 75 feet of spinach.

A number of these plants should be started in shallow boxes or tubs to which fertilizer has been added. Loose soil should be placed on top of the beds and they should be sprinkled with warm water frequently. The plants should be kept in a light window until the second leaf forms, then on a damp day or late in the afternoon, the plants should be transplanted into the garden.

It is a known fact that American people should eat more vegetables. When our present 4-H Club girls become homemakers, it is believed that Americans will eat more vegetables.

"CORYELL COUNTY LEADS THE WORLD"

Figures substantiate it! In what? Mules. Anyway, Texas ranks first in the production of mule colts under two years of age in January 1, 1935, as shown by the census figures.

AND:—CORYELL COUNTY leads the state in the same period with 171 mules under two years of age.

AND:—Getting Hawksawish, we'd say, the United States would lead the world in mule production.

THEREFORE: Coryell County leads the world in the production of mules, according to the census figures published January 1, 1935.

Now, there's an idea for a Centennial Celebration; the slogan being, "You gotta have a Jack to get Jude." We could call it Coryell County's Mule Convention, or something.

Anyway, there was bound to be some something that Coryell County leads the WORLD in, and it turned out to be MULES, that combination animal, cross between a horse and a jack, which even medical science has been unable to figure out.

Giving a little dope from the encyclopedia, we find: "Designed to be facetious, the statement is literally true that the mule is without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity. The mule is reviled by fashion, abused by army teamsters, abhorred by musicians and ridiculed by humorists. * * * The mule is a type of obstinacy. * * * The mule is a surefooted pack animal, treading mountain trails in single file with great intelligence and docility. In medieval times it was a mark of dignity to ride a mule richly decked in gold-embroidered trappings and decorative bridle. Wealthy merchants and dignitaries vied with each other in the expensive riding equipment with which they bedecked their mules."

On research, we find that also in 1922, Texas led in mule production, the United leading the world, with Brazil following a close second.

So, Coryell County IS a leader in world affairs.

IN MEMORY OF J. W. LOFLAND

The death angel visited the hospital and claimed as its victim Master J. W. Lofland, the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofland of Turnersville.

J. W. was born December 30, 1921, and passed away April 10, 1936, making his stay on earth 14 years, 3 months and 10 days.

Oh, how we will miss his smiling face, for he had a smile for everyone. To know J. W. was to love him. He was loved by everyone that knew him.

All was done [that loving hands, doctors, and nurses could do for his recovery, but God knew best to take him home.

It is impossible to reconcile one self to the loss of such a child. But God will lead the sorrowing ones into the light in the sweet by and by.

Little did we think, little did we know, the suffering J. W. was undergoing. But a quite voice said "Come," and the "Pearly Gates" were opened wide, and he was welcome over there.

A link has gone from the family circle, to the home of the pure and good, where he is resting safely with God.

Weep not dear father and mother, for your darling son is waiting at the "Pearly Gates" of heaven to welcome you. He is through with his suffering. His short stay with us was so sweet. But God knew best to call him home from the world of suffering to the home of rest.

J. W. is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofland. Three sisters, Pearl, Irine, Syble, two brothers, Wesley and Freddie Joe. A host of relatives and friends to mourn his death.

He died at the Baptist Sanitarium at Waco and was prepared for burial by Waco undertakers.

Bro. Barnn of Turnersville conducted the services at the Turnersville cemetery.

—A relative.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to each one of our friends and neighbors for their many deeds of kindness during the illness and death of our loved one, J. W. Lofland. May God's richest blessings be yours.

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

A GLANCE at the map of Europe reveals the seemingly impregnable strength of the nations aligned with France in opposition to Germany and German expansionist aims.

Germany is isolated by an iron ring of seven nations with a combined population of 275,000,000 standing armies totaling 2,800,000, reserves of 8,000,000, and a total of 10,000 planes. Germany's standing army is estimated at 600,000, with reserves of 1,000,000 and 2,800 planes.

On the west of Germany is France, with a population of 40,000,000 and protected by a string of concrete, bomb-proof and gas-proof fortresses along its northern frontier. Belgium, subjected to German terrorization for four weary years during the war, has a similar group of forts along its German border.

The Little Entente, composed of Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, with a combined population of 65,000,000 is irrevocably opposed to the Nazi schemes or aggrandizement in Central Europe and the Balkans and is in military alliance with France.

Poland, given a corridor through German territory when it was re-created as an independent state at the close of the war, wavers between France and Germany, but is in alliance with the former. Although not a major power, the Poles boast a population of 30,000,000 and one of Europe's strongest and best-equipped military machines.

Recently concluded between Republican France and Communist Russia was a mutual assistance agreement providing that if either is attacked (by Germany) the other will come to its aid with military force. Russia possesses the world's largest standing army, numbering 1,300,000, and an air force of 2,000 planes, second only to France. Five hundred thousand Red troops are stationed in the Ukraine from Kiev to Polotsk in expectation of an attack by Germany and Poland, both of which covet the rich grain fields and coal mines of Russia's second largest republic.

This completes the list of nations committed by treaty to help France against a German attack. But all of Germany's neutral neighbors fear the growing strength of the Nazi army and air fleet and are taking measures to strengthen their defensive forces.

Holland, neutral with Spain, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries in the last war, is fearful of invasion by Germany should war ensue between France and Germany out of the present state of affairs engendered by the latter's re-occupation of the Rhineland. Under the famous "Schlieffen Plan," the German armies in 1914 were scheduled to invade France by a limited advance into Holland (the Netherlands). At the "Horsepower" Picture Thrills 500 at Showing At Regal Tues. A. M.

Five-hundred saw "Horsepower" a motion picture at the Regal Theatre last Tuesday morning which was made available by the Horse and Mule Association of America and sponsored by local parties interested in horse and mule breeding. L. B. Brown gave the use of the Regal Theatre and its equipment.

With comments from the President of the Horse and Mule Association of America, the picture showed different classes of horses at work, play, in sports, and the various ways these animals could be used.

Pulling tests conducted by a specially built truck by the shown. Judges pointed out the University of Illinois were fine points and things necessary for fine horses. One expert showed how to fit harness and hitches.

Included in those who enjoyed the picture, were farmers, business men, vocational agriculture boys from Coryell and McLennan Counties, 4-H boys and many ladies and other interested parties.

HARTLEY FRANKS ENLISTS IN U. S. NAVY

"GOVERNOR JOE'S AMEN" TO BE STAGED FRIDAY AT TURNERSVILLE

A play, entitled "Governor Joe's Amen," will be presented by the senior class of the Turnersville High School, Friday night, April 17, with a small admission charge being made.

The play is exceptionally good, and has a well chosen cast of characters that will do justice to this comedy-drama.

Everyone is invited to come and enjoy the evening.

—Try your home merchant first.

Last minutes Germany decided to respect the 125-mile long Dutch frontier, and swung its armies far to the south through Belgium. With the support of Queen Wilhelmina and Premier Colijn, the Dutch Parliament recently appropriated $32,000,000 for construction of forts along the German border.

Austria, which fought with Germany twenty years ago, is now desperately seeking to prevent its absorption by its more powerful Teutonic neighbor. League of Nations money, London financial backing and Italian and French support have all failed to make Austria a solidified and strong nation. With a third of its population living in Vienna, the capital city, Austria has been compared to "a head without a body."

TWO LOCAL STUDENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN EVENT AT GEORGETOWN

Many representatives from affiliated high schools of Texas have accepted the invitation of Georgetown and Southwestern University to participate in the Centennial Celebration for Williamson County, which will be held in Georgetown on April 17 and 18, including Mr. Neal Chapman and Miss Fred Byrom of Gatesville.

Students in District 23 of the Interscholastic League will come to Georgetown for the annual meet. All literary and athletic events, and the Southwestern Music Meet will be held on the campus, under the supervision of Professor R. J. Kidd, Director General of the Meet.

The Sing Song of Centennial Songs, which will be held Saturday, at 1:30 p. m., in which a large number of children from schools throughout the county will participate, will attract many who are interested in the promotion of the study of music in the public schools.

One of the high-lights of the Celebration will be a Centennial Parade, on Saturday afternoon, April 18, at 4:00 o'clock, in which each organization on the campus of Southwestern University, and many towns in Williamson County will participate. It is reported that other organizations in Georgetown, including the Lion's Club, the Young Democrats, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, are planning to enter floats in the mammoth parade. The parade will proceed from the campus to the Court-house, and will pause on the square for a few brief addresses of historical interest by distinguished visitors, including Governor James V. Allred.

The History of Coryell County

By FRANK E. SIMMONS

Authorized by County Commissioners, as Official History for Texas Centennial Celebration.

LEGENDS OF FORT GATES

Aside from the historical interest we have of Fort Gates, there has grown up around it a number of romantic legends. These may or may not have a historical value. At any rate, they may serve as a barometer to gauge the minds of a people fired by the glitter and jingle of gold. Just at the time the events narrated in these legends were taking shape, the world was all excited over the discovery of gold in California, and at that time gold-hungry men could imagine anything.

The Army Payroll

There is prevalent in Coryell County, a legend to the effect that one army payroll of gold, is buried along the old military road between Fort Gates and the place where the road crossed the Bosque River at Clifton. This legend had its origin in the fact that a payroll was once stolen from Col. A. S. Johnston while he was paymaster for the soldiers, who garrisoned the frontier forts. It became necessary for Col. Johnston to go before a military court and prove his innocence.

A Gold Hunt

From the earliest settlement of Coryell County, her population has furnished their quota of lost mine and buried treasure hunters. The gold fever, which the discovery of gold in California in 1849 created, spread all over the world. Many expeditions were organized in Texas for the purpose of crossing the trackless, waterless, sand wastes, and mountain wilderness of the west to find the coveted metal.

In 1853 a Captain Stewart raised a company of 106 men at Fort Gates, to go to the Rio Grande River in search of an old Spanish Fort named Sicora. They crossed the waterless wastes of sand beyond Sweetwater, and on to the Guadalupe Mountains, but the vicissitudes of the pitiless desert climate, and the watchful energy of the Apache Indians, the most relentless of all tribes, decimated their numbers until the band was broken up. On one occasion they left their wagons 200 miles behind near the Pecos River. Upon returning to the wagons, they found that they had been burned. They found the site of the Fort Sicora, which appeared to have once been populous, and which Stewart had visited in 1849, and reported plenty of gold was to be found there. There was no town. The entire population, according to legion, had been killed by Indians, but the legend of gold clung to the place.

After intense suffering from hunger and thirst, and finding no gold, a part of the company started to return to the settlements. Captain Stewart and a scouting party rode too far in advance of the company and were killed at a water hole near the Pecos River. Some members of the company finally reached home, among them was Calvin McSpadden, who for many years was a prominent citizen of Bosque County, and who related this story to the author in 1905. A subsequent expedition in 1858 likewise failed to find the legendary gold, having had to turn back from that vast wilderness adjoining the Pecos on both the east and west, on account of severe drought. The country was waterless.

The Forty-niners

An old legend that has stamped itself into the minds of the people of Cave Creek and of Coryell County, is to the effect that about the time Fort Gates was founded, a party of prospectors, returning from California to the east, pitched camp one night on Cow House River. They prepared their meal of dried buffalo meat, black coffee, and a short supply of bread, and swapped yarns of adventure, and then lay down for the night.

During the night, a band of robbers assailed them and murdered the entire company. The robbers then took

World Comment—

Recently universal military conscription was decreed and a standing army of 6,000 created, probably at the instigation of Italy's Duce, who fosters the Austrian Fascist government and fears the "anschluss" movement fostered by the Nazis to unite the two German speaking nations.

Italy can be counted in the list of nations lined up against Hitler. Premier Mussolini is determined to prevent the incorporation of Austria into the German Reich, as all his ambitions in the Balkans would be nullified by such a German wedge into southeastern Europe. The ambitions of the world's foremost dictators are likely to come even more into conflict in the future with the Balkans as the battle-ground, for both Hitler and Mussolini hope to open new fields of economic endeavor for their respective people in this region. That Il Duce envisions a great empire of Balkan nations with Italy as the guiding hand and perhaps himself as the crown head has been stated in this column before.

The Balkans hold some of Europe's richest and most bountiful resources. In Czechoslovakia are located the great Skoda munitions works, along with Krupp and Vickers the world's greatest manufacturers of implements of war. The plains of Hungary and Yugoslavia are among the world's great grain growing sections.

Rumania's oil fields are now maintaining Italy's mechanized armies in Ethiopia, as the latter nation is laboring under League of Nations sanctions. Today both Italy and Germany import Czechoslovakian glass and munitions, Hungarian grain, Yugoslavian hogs, and Rumanian oil. It not the Balkan region a prize to be coveted by nations as poor and as ambitious as Germany and Italy?

Turkey opens the gateway to the riches of the East and has been for centuries the object of much wooing by European Powers. Has Hitler revived the Kaiser's plan of a "Mittle Europa" and conquest in the Near East? Does not Mussolini envision a revivification of the Roman empire on the shores of the Mediterranean and in the East?

With Britain determined not to fight, with Russia as yet unprepared, with France racked by internal dissensions, the ambitions of Hitler and Mussolini in southeastern Europe may result in a singham-dog and calicoat episode which will eliminate once and for all from the European herterioscope the bugaboos of conquest by the Fascist dreamers.

SYNOPSIS
Serving a life sentence for conspiracy in the assassination of President Lincoln, Dr. Samuel Mudd received word from his wife, Peggy, that she had chartered a schooner which was moored within sight of his prison on "Shark Island" — the Devil's Island of America. With the aid of a friendly negro guard, Dr. Mudd escaped out of his cell. But before he could get through the gate, leading onto the only bridge crossing the shark-filled moat surrounding the prison, his escape was discovered. In desperation the doctor let himself down the wall of the moat by a rope.

Chapter Nine

He found himself on a ledge, about twelve feet above the black water of the moat. Here he was, for a time, safe from the searching rays of the prison light.

For a few minutes he stood on the ledge, trembling with weakness which came from exhaustion and realization of his extreme danger. Then, forcing his nerves into control, he began cautiously to make his way along the narrow ledge toward the bridge, clawing the masonry to keep his balance.

If he could only reach the bridge he would be safe, for his loyal friend, Buck, the negro guard who had once worked on his plantation, had arranged to be the sentry on the bridge that night.

But when with great difficulty he reached the bridge, glimpsed the dark figure of the sentry moving slowly along its large shadowy span, and whispered the name of his friend in renewed hope and courage, he discovered himself in worse danger than before.

For the man on the bridge was not Buck.

Wheeling quickly about, the sentry brought his rifle to his shoulder. "Halt!" he said sharply. "Halt or I'll shoot!"

At the sound of the sentry's voice, Sergeant Rankin who had been waiting on the other side of the gate, with his pistol ready, leaped down from his hiding place, dragged open the gate and rushed onto the bridge.

Just at this moment the revolving light fell directly on Mudd clinging to the ledge below. Simultaneously both men fired. The escaping man heard the sting of the bullets, but they had landed harmlessly on the wall behind him.

A bugle sounded; a great mechanical bell began to ring; excited shouts sounded from the prison yard. The chase was on. In another moment the light would pick him out again. There was no alternative, but the dark waters of the moat.

The doctor took a quick breath and dived. Instantly two black fins moved toward him.

On the bridge could be heard the shout of "Guard! Guard!" There was the sound of pounding feet on the wooden planks. Several shots rang out.

"Line the bridge and get him!" yelled Rankin.

"There he is!" shouted a soldier as the light again flooded the moat.

There was a rain of bullets in the black water. The desperate man coughed out the vile water he had swallowed, and dived again.

Above, on the bridge Rankin was gloating. "He'll never make it. If we don't get him the sharks will!" Dr. McIntyre, the prison physician, who had appeared on the scene when the bell began to ring, said sarcastically, "What sharks?" "What sharks d'you think?" Rankin snarled.

"Sergeant, with that barrage on the water, you're lucky if you've got a shark left in a hundred yards of this spot!"

"Stop firing, you fools!" yelled Rankin in a fury. "You want to drive those sharks away?"

Stragglingly the firing ceased. In the darkness the soldiers strained their eyes for a glimpse of the man in the moat.

But the revolving light showed no sign of Mudd.

Beneath the bridge he was clinging a vent pipe in the sea wall. Struggling to get his breath, and expell the water from his lungs at the same time, the hunted man saw the black fins bearing down on him again and heard the triumphant shouts of the soldiers overhead.

"There are the sharks. They're coming back!" Drawing another deep breath Mudd dived head first into the vent pipe. A swell from the sea beat him back. But he pushed in again just escaping a black fin.

"Just leave him to the fish, they'll get him!" Rankin gloated staring down into the dark water. A wave washed over the sea wall and as it receded, Mudd, half drowned, fought his way back through the vent and without pausing for rest, struck out for the open sea.

A soldier on the bridge yelled, "He's out. He's outside!" "I'll get him!" Rankin muttered grimly, as pushing the men aside, he strode toward the great gate...

The firing began again, with renewed frenzy.

Swimming with the strength of despair, Mudd plunged through a wave and was lost to view. But all around him he could hear the bullets splashing.

Back on the bridge the Commandant searched the sea with night glasses. Finally he lowered them, saying sharply to Rankin, "There's a boat putting in toward him. I want that man back... alive! You understand?"

Saluting sulkily, Rankin replied, "Yes, sir."

Bullets still striking around him, Mudd struggled on, but now his breath was coming in painful gasps. His strength was almost gone. Just then he felt a sharp stab in his shoulder; his arm became useless. Wallowing, striking out desperately with the other arm, he felt himself go under.

He did not see the shadowy form of the boat which had put out from the schooner, or feel himself being dragged out of the sea by strong and tender hands.

He knew nothing until he opened his eyes and looked up into his wife's face. Tears raining unashamed from her eyes, Peggy was holding his cold, wet form in her arms. "Oh Sam, my darling!" she cried. "You're hurt!"

"It's nothing," he whispered. "Nothing. Oh, it's too good to be true, to be here... with you..."

Then he became aware of the Colonel, his wife's father, standing beside her, his hands full of bandages.

Beaming, his whiskers bristling with pleasure, the old man inquired gruffly, "All right now, son?"

Her black face shining with joy, Rosabelle, hovered at his elbow.

"You're an angel," Mudd said softly to Peggy. "Don't cry now, honey. It's all over. Everything's all right."

"Yes," she agreed eagerly, smiling through her tears. "It's all arranged! You're going to have a new trial! And soon, very soon, darling, you'll see Martha."

Then, assisted by the Colonel and Rosabelle, she set about the bandaging of his shoulder wound.

His eyes dim with happiness, the doctor gave himself up to their ministrations. It was unbelievably good to be lying here fussed over and babied by his loved ones. Already it seemed as though his horrible existence on "Shark Island" was just a bad dream.

"How soon will we be in Key West?" he asked.

"Oh, soon, darling. The skipper is wonderful, a loyal friend. He knows... all about what you've been through. He's just as anxious as we are to get you out of danger."

But as they drew apart their faces went white and they stared at each other in horror. For they had heard the sound of a shot. Then another.

The Colonel who had been pulling his whiskers and stomping about the cabin, in an effort to conceal his pleasure in this reunion of husband and wife, galvanized into action.

Stomping to his locker, he brought out a long cutlass.

"I—Gad, if that's those Yankees, I'll stop 'em!" he shouted.

He slammed out of the cabin.

Slowly, almost paralyzed with dread, Peggy Mudd sank to her knees beside her husband.

Suddenly they heard the Colonel give a blood-curdling rebel yell. "Yankees!" he roared.

The firing stopped as suddenly as it had begun. There was only the sound of the creaking of the ropes as the sails filled with wind.

Peggy Mudd whispered, "I wonder what has happened to father. Don't you think I had better go to him? He may... he may need help."

The doctor tightened his arms around her. "No dear, he's all right." He tried to speak with confidence. But his heart was heavy. The silence on deck was ominous. Intuitively he knew that all was not well.

Anxiously they watched the cabin door.

But the Colonel did not return.

He had been shot as he came on deck, defiantly waving his cutlass.

He had died, as he had lived, gallantly. And of all deaths, he would have chosen this one, to die in defence of his loved ones.

Stumbling over the Colonel's body in the companionway, Sergeant Rankin cursed. He was sorry the old duffer had been killed. Not because he was an old man, unarmed, except by a ridiculous cutlass, but because he wasn't Dr. Mudd.

So, cursing under his breath, he thumped down the stairs to the cabins below. His pistol was in his hand as he groped his way in the semi-darkness of the schooner's bowels.

Before him a dim light gleamed from beneath a cabin door.

Sergeant Rankin kicked it open. Speechless husband and wife stared at him.

Will the vengeful sergeant kill Dr. Mudd? If not, what new horrors will the doctor suffer back on "Shark Island?" Don't miss this tomorrow.

Work Starts on "Cavalcade of Texas"

The history of Texas, under the six flags which have flown over it from the days of the first Spaniards to the present, will be set forth in pomp and color in "The Cavalcade of Texas," an expansive pageant to be presented each night during the Texas Centennial Exposition, which runs in Dallas from June 6 to Nov. 29. Above J. Mark Hamilton, director and expert on lore of the Southwest, and Jan Isabelle Fortune, well known magazine writer, confer over the script.

Texas Exposition
150 Per Cent Over
Original Size Plan

Dallas, Texas.—The Texas Centennial Exposition today turned the home stretch toward its June 6 opening, two and one-half times larger than its sponsors originally anticipated.

From $10,000,000 value, estimated when the project was begun, the first World's Fair of the Southwest, has grown into a $25,000,000 affair, the steel framework of its construction jobs stretching down mile after mile of parallel concourses.

With the signing of the Chrysler Motor Corporation for a huge display space the Exposition boasts the largest motor exhibit ever shown at a World's Fair.

Originally the $400,000 hall of Transportation was intended to house exhibits of both transportation and petroleum industries.

So large was the space taken by Chrysler, however, that Exposition officials were forced to hurriedly realign their plans and build a separate Hall of Petroleum.

Ford, with its own building, General Motors, with a huge, air-conditioned auditorium where changing shows of radio and screen stars will be presented in one-week engagements throughout the June 6-Nov. 29 Exposition period, and Chrysler with an elaborate participation in the making, will give Dallas a record-breaking representation of the motor industry.

Further, the big fair will boast the largest livestock show ever assembled.

Other exhibits keep the pace, with the display space at a premium and officials assured of an exhibit "sell-out" long before the opening day.

The City of Dallas, the State of Texas and the Federal government are keeping step with their important Exposition building programs.

W. A. Webb, general manager of the Exposition who has an international reputation for his railroad construction work, has announced every building will be completed by the June 6 opening date.

The spirit of the Old West will be recreated at every turn.

In a city as metropolitan as any in the nation, the frontier days will live again.

Ten-gallons are blooming on every corner. Service stations are garbing their attendants in the cow-puncher's regalia. Department stores are clothing their elevator girls in cowgirl uniforms similar to those of the Exposition Rangerettes. Other stores are donating the big hats to their employes with instructions to wear them on all occasions.

Even the Exposition police will be in full Old West attire. Not a single detail has been overlooked by the Exposition chiefs in their efforts to make the Southwest's World's Fair the most colorful in history.

Vocational Agriculture
By Elwood Young

What is Vocational Agriculture? The National Vocational Agriculture Act describes it as "that type of instruction in agriculture that shall fit the boy for useful living." There are four requirements: First, it shall fit for useful employment; second, it shall be of less than a college grade; third, it shall teach one the necessary qualities of tending a farm; and fourth, that provisions shall be made for at least six months of directed or supervised agriculture and actual farm tasks.

The most important part of agriculture is the home project. Without a home project one cannot receive credit for his work in vocational agriculture. This project consists of caring for some item of farm life, which may be poultry, orchards, field crops, cattle or any other thing pertaining to farm life. The requirements of this project are to keep records of expenses and receipts carefully and accurately; to care for the project by the supervised practice plan, and to make a profit of twenty-five dollars or more.

The vocational agriculture organization believes in giving credit when credit is due. That is why it gives Certificates of Merit. In order to receive a certificate one must be able to do a task a little above the average. Certificates are given in several cases such as: budding and grafting, testing milk for butterfat, caring for certain livestock, planting various field-crops, and any similar farm task. A pupil may receive as many Certificates of Merit as his ability allows.

The Future Farmers organized for the first time in Coryell County on September 26, 1935. Officers elected were: Reb Brown, President; Nathan McDonald, Vice-President; Ray Byrom, Secretary; Henry McDonald, Treasurer; Elwood Young, Reporter; Woodrow Hall, Farm Watch Dog; Earl Scott, Parliamentarian, and Milton Coward as Custodian.

Since that time these officers have conducted a meeting every Thursday in the vocational agriculture laboratory.

The Future Farmers have made various tours over the State which have been more or less profitable from an educational standpoint. At a poultry judging contest in Waco several of the boys received honors and returned with a silver loving cup. Clyde Boyd received a bronze medal as the most proficient judge.

The Future Farmers have sponsored several contests during the year. Among these is the Home Improvement Contest. Vocational agriculture is indeed a necessary subject for young farmers and is progressing very rapidly under the able leadership of Mr. W. E. Lasse-ter. It not only provides for education but for amusement and pleasure as well. The F.

Spring Training
 Spring football training will last five more weeks. Scrimmages were used the second day and fundamentals are being stressed. Coaches Earle Worley and Maurice Ewing are drilling the boys daily and these practices will stand them in good stead next fall when the real training gets underway.

Around forty boys have been reporting for the afternoon sessions. Five lettermen, John Colgin, J. C. Byrom, Clovis King, Royce Davis and Cotton Davis will be the mainstay of next season's eleven, which should be heavier and faster than the past fall's team.

Sport Shots
 By Jack Hestilow, Sports Editor
 After six weeks of training this spring, the candidates for the football eleven next fall should be in excellent physical condition.

It is known definitely that Joe Satterfield will be out for the team next fall.

It is too early to be making predictions on next fall's grid-iron destinies for the Hornets but the team will not lose over two games if that many.

By next year, Gatesville should have one of the best football fields in Central Texas.

Friday's Assembly Program
 The Sophomores, under the direction of Mr. McLaughlin, rendered the program last Friday. Helen Chamlee started the program by singing a very enjoyable number. The next number was a tap dance by Nettie Jane Thompson. A very interesting talk was given by Betty McCoy. Our next treat was two songs by Jack Hearn. The first was "Goodie Goodie" and as an encore he sang "Rhythm In My Nursery Rhymes." The last number was several piano numbers played by Miss Kinsey.

Basketball Sweaters Awarded
 Sweaters were awarded Tuesday to twenty-one boys and girls who lettered on the basketball teams this year.

Coach Earle Worley presented sweaters to the following:
 Girls: Melba Goodwin, Irene

Rutherford, Blanche Clemons, Utense Sellers, Jimmie Young, Ethel Wiegand, Letha Murphy, Sarah Henson, Arline Bates and Miss Lois Grantham, coach.

Boys: Douglas White, Ben Curry, Clovis King, G. T. Moore, Woodrow Hall (capt.), Irvin Schaub, R. D. Myers, Herbert (capt.), and Coaches Maurice Ewing and Earle Worley.

The girls' team won third place in the county in the county meet. The boys' team was ruled out of the county race because of an ineligible player.

Typing Club
 The Typing Club is an organization that was organized the second semester to meet a request of the students. The club is not primarily for typing alone, but those who are interested in the business world or any form of business may become a member.

The primary purpose of the club is to acquaint the members with the ways, needs, and customs of business; the students learn what they need to do in order to be prepared to meet these needs and customs.

A program is put on by the members each meeting day, which is at the activity period on Thursday. Some of the programs put on recently have been on the subjects of "Seeking Employment," "Some Things the Employer Expects of an Applicant," and "Forms of Communication." Those students who are rapidly approaching graduation need to realize that it is time they were getting ready to seek employment, if they intend to do this when they finish school. In order to be successful in looking for a job, the student needs to know what the employer expects of him, and be prepared to meet those requirements. There is an attempt made in the Typing Club to help the students along

The deceased was a pioneer citizen, having settled near Topsy in the year 1892, he encountered the many hardships of those times.

Mr. Frase was a good law abiding public spirited citizen, every ready to help with schools and churches. A good father and neighbor, leaving behind a host of acquaintances and friends who lament his going.

Mr. Frase was laid to rest in the Copperas Cove Cemetery on Easter Sunday, April 12th.

Rev. S. S. Vardiman of Topsy and Rev. Ira Grantham of Hamilton, Texas held a joint service at the Frase home and the First Baptist Church of Copperas Cove.

MENUS INTRODUCE FISH

If you are one of those people who welcome fish at any time of the year you'll appreciate the opportunity Lent brings to enjoy this wholesome and delicious food in abundance. For now is the time when markets feature many deep sea delicacies—some you may be familiar with—others offer a pleasant surprise if you'll be daring enough to "take a chance" on something unusual and unfamiliar.

Here are a number of old favorites and some not so standardized.

FILLETS OF SOLE

Select and rinse lightly a fillet of sole per serving. Dry well and rub each over 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and let stand half an hour. For four servings prepare a filling of 1 cup of soft bread crumbs, 1 very small finely chopped onion, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1/4 teaspoon salt, with pepper and paprika to taste. Brown in 1 tablespoon of butter. Drain the fillets and spread with the filling. Fold or roll and fasten with toothpicks. Toast nicely trimmed slices of bread on one side only. Arrange one on each baking dish, toasted side down, brush with butter and place a thin slice of Virginia ham, trimmed to fit on each slice, with the fillets arranged on the ham. Sprinkle lightly with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven—allowing 20 minutes for rolled fillets, 15 for folded. Garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

CREAMED HADDOCK

Soak for 12 hours the fillets of Haddock in milk diluted one half in water. Then boil in milk and water (half and half). At the moment when they commence to boil put the saucepan to the side of the fire and allow to simmer slowly for three-quarters of an hour. Make a cream sauce and add to it thick fresh cream.

FISH A LA REINE

Put 1 tablespoon of butter into a saucepan and when melted add 1 tablespoon of flour, mix well and add 1 cup of fresh milk and cook until smooth. Remove from the heat and add the yolk of 1 egg and 3 mushrooms finely chopped, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1/2 teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Add to this 1 1/2 cups of baked fish—any cold boiled or canned fish will serve. Heat over hot water and serve in potato nests.

CODFISH BALLS

Four cups potatoes, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon butter, pepper, 2 cups salt codfish. Cut fish in pieces, wash and put in cold water, then let boil and pour off water. Cover fish again with water, cook thoroughly. Drain and shred. Mix with other ingredients, form small balls and fry.

CLAM CROQUETTES

One can clear meat, 1 cup crumbled butter crackers, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon parsley salt and pepper.

Roll or crumble crackers (about 18) fine; add clam: meat (4 tablespoons) well beaten eggs, seasonings and parsley. Mix, shape into rolls and fry in a little cooking oil.

LOBSTER IN CHEESE SAUCE
3 pound lobster, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup soft yellow cheese grated, 1 cup heavy cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne.

Cook meat from a 3 pound lobster (or use 12 ounces canned lobster meat) in butter, add cream, cheese and seasonings. Serve when hot, in covered bowls with 2 toast diamonds on top of each.

BAKED SALMON

Clean the fish, rinse it, and wipe it dry; rub it well outside and in with a mixture of salt and pepper and fill it with a stuffing made of slices of bread, buttered freely and moistened with hot milk or water; add sage or thyme to the seasoning if liked. Tie a string around the fish to keep the stuffings in, lay muffin rings or a trivet in a dripping pan, lay bits of butter over the fish, dredge with flour, and put it on the rings or trivet. Put a pint of water in the pan for basting, bake one hour (if a large fish) in a hot oven, baste frequently. When the fish is done remove from pan. Place thin slices of lemon in the pan with the remaining juice, dredge in a teaspoon of flour, add a small piece of butter, stir to brown without burning. Remove lemon and serve gravy in a separate dish.

Selfishness Insurance Is New Idea

Local Accident Insurance Agent Says New Name Will Help Field

"A rose by any other name" doesn't quite apply at all times," says Mr. P. A. Walker, local accident insurance agent.

"Accident and Sickness Insurance has been sold for a good many years, yet most people still do not know what it is all about.

"Suppose it were called 'Selfishness Insurance'—then it might mean more to people.

"Accident and Sickness Insurance really is a form of insurance that is entirely selfish. When you buy life insurance, you do it to protect you heirs.

"When you buy Accident and Sickness insurance, you do it to protect your self—so that when you do become sick—when an accident does occur, your income goes right on.

"It is one time that it pays to be selfish."

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

The Changing Schoolroom
Gradually the picture of the typical schoolroom is changing. There was no special campaign for change at first, but now the watchword everywhere is "beauty." Some prefer "attractiveness." Whatever the term, the idea is to get away as rapidly as possible from the old picture, the drab, dismal, barren, semitragic schoolroom of not so long ago. Teachers are taking it up in a big way. Color predominates. Any table book rack, shelf, cupboard must have its cover or curtain. Flowers, real and artificial. Pictures, Murals, Frieze. A host of ideas peculiar to women.

Some claim the effect is to change bad boys into good boys. Whether it does I can't say. But I can with conviction say that the modern classroom is a much pleasanter place in which to spend five hours a day for many years than the classrooms I knew as a boy.

It is simply this: we perk up in pleasant, attractive surroundings. We are happier, more congenial and more law-abiding, and we work better. Consider that in terms of the school instead of being a place which children hate, it becomes a place they like. The influence of beauty goes deep, for it is more, much more than an effect that is merely seen.

CORYELL COUNTY HISTORY—

the prospectors gold and other valuables, and prepared to make their escape. The next day they met a company of Texas Rangers, who defeated them in battle. The outlaws escaped to the hills. It is said that they took refuge in a cave in the Coryell or Cave Creek hills. Here they stayed in hiding until danger of pursuit by the Rangers was over.

The story goes that the robbers remained in the cave most of the winter. They had an Indian scout and hunter, who they sent out to get supplies. Once the Indian remained out too long to suit the outlaws, so they suspected he was treacherous. A second time he remained out too long, so he was killed and buried in a position that he appeared to be looking under a large boulder, which lay in the mouth of a cave, where legend says, a vast treasure is buried.

Once a member of the party was seriously ill. A runner was sent to Fort Gates for a doctor. The doctor was found and started to administer to the sick one. A short distance from the Fort the doctor was blindfolded. He was taken about ten miles facing a northwest wind. The party dismounted. He was let down a shaft, into a large vault or room, where his blinds were removed. To his astonishment, he beheld a vast amount of gold bullion. He attended to the sick as best he could. When time came for the doctor to go, he was urged to take whatever he would of the treasure. It is said that not a mite was taken by the doctor. He was then blindfolded again and returned to Fort Gates. The story was not revealed for a long time afterward. The doctor could never locate the cave after his blindfolded visit there.

This legend has become associated with the Pancake mine. Local legend says that a cave, a few hundred yards from the mine, is the place where the treasure was hidden by the robbers. In the archeological research made in the vicinity of the mine, Mr. Pancake found at the entrance to a cave, a large boulder. On excavation, a skull was found, face looking under the boulder. Associated with this were fourteen others. However, the artifacts found belonged to the Neolithic Stone Age—mortars, pestles, and other finished flints.
